

Britain Shapes Policies For A 3-Year War

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The British government announced today it would base its policy on the assumption the war would last at least three years.

The ministry of information, which made the announcement, said the decision was agreed upon at a meeting of the war cabinet.

The war cabinet is "confident that this significant decision will meet with the whole-hearted support of the British people and will be welcomed by our allies and friends," the ministry said.

Urgent instructions have been issued to all government departments to prepare plans for the future on this basis, it was announced.

The ministry of supply is to take immediate steps to insure productive capacity for all kinds of munitions is increased "on the scale required to meet every possible demand."

Coordinating arrangements are being made by the admiralty and the air ministry.

The cabinet's decision was regarded as a blunt reply to the peace feelers put out today by Germany's Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering in a broadcast speech to German munitions workers.

The decision was interpreted as emphasizing the government's determination to achieve victory over "Hitlerism" regardless of how long it takes.

The communique said that "the measures, for which preparation has already been made, are being brought fully into active operation."

In another communique the ministry of information declared that in the first week of the war Britain had established her supremacy on the high seas.

It announced that "the cutting off of Germany from overseas sources of war supply is now virtually complete except for the Baltic."

British sea communications, it added, proceeded "without serious interruptions."

Canada Opens Way For Declaration

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (Canadian Press)—Canada's parliament tonight approved the government's policy, which is expected to lead to an early declaration of war against Germany.

After the senate had approved the government's policy unanimously, the house of commons at 10:25 p. m. also endorsed it without a record vote.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King earlier had told commons that parliamentary approval of the government's policy would be followed by immediate steps "for a formal proclamation of a state of war" existing between Canada and Germany.

The prime minister's office declined tonight to name the exact hour when the proclamation would be issued, but stated it might be within a few hours.

Immediately after the house rose following the vote Mackenzie King called the cabinet into session.

The prime minister has suggested that one of the best ways Canada could immediately help Britain would be to dispatch "trained air personnel" overseas.

Government Leader Raoul Dandurand speaking in the senate said Canada would help Britain and France with airmen and supplies.

Echoes And Sidelights On The War

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The question of contraband, what it is and what it isn't, which raised so many controversies for the American government during the World War, seems likely to cause little trouble in the present European conflict.

Contraband means a product useful in war which a belligerent—say, Britain—could take from a ship—say, American—if destined to another belligerent—say, Germany.

The British government already has presented this government with a list of what-for-the-moment—it will regard as contraband. It embraces everything likely to prove useful to the German army, navy and air force. It has been received here without a murmur. Why? Because it is, almost word for word, the very list the United States itself issued when it became a belligerent in 1917!

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The maritime commission told a union leader today it would press for seamen's war risk insurance legislation, "if event of a special session of congress, but urged that the matter not be allowed to interfere with bringing American troops home from Europe at the present time.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 9 (AP)—The end of the first week of the war found at least 31 British, 30 German and three French ships anchored in South American east coast harbors from Belem, northern Brazil, to Mar Del Plata, Argentina.

German merchantmen have not left the harbors since blockading British cruisers were reported to have seized and sunk at least three Nazi vessels.

Vigo, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Spanish government tonight ordered 30 German merchantmen interned and their radio broadcasting apparatus seized.

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK BY JOE PICKLE

Crop prospects took a nose dive during the past week. That's hardly news to farmers, for they have watched immature cotton start to open and young feed to twist. But to those in town who two weeks ago had a good right to expect a fine crop, the sudden collapse may be news—bad news. However, things are not so far gone but a rally within the next week would once more change the picture.

It begins to look as the real problem for the average American concerning the European war is not so much what to think as what to believe. This country ought to take a lesson from the thorough censorship imposed by involved nations.

Big Spring bowed out of the West Texas-New Mexico League play-off with a maximum amount of dispatch. This leaves the city free to turn its attention to the opening of the football season here Friday evening against Mineral Wells. Now we can abuse the referee instead of the umpire.

A report from the Big Spring National Tractor Loan association last week showed more than $1,200,000 in loans on the entire books. It would be difficult to say how much, if any, of this is

Russia Calls More Classes Into Military

Soviet Govt. Puts Foreign Trade On Cash-Carry Basis

MOSCOW, Sept. 9 (AP)—Tass, Soviet official news agency announced tonight the government had decided to call to the colors parts of several military classes as a result of the German-Polish war "which acquires a wide and menacing character."

To Strengthen Defense

The news agency said the decision was reached as a means of "further strengthening the defense of the country."

It said that reservists called into the Red Army were from the Ukraine, Byelorussia, Leningrad, Moscow, Kalinin and Orel military areas.

The announcement came as Russia was strengthening her western frontier while at the same time putting her foreign trade on a virtual "cash and carry" basis.

War and raw materials were being rushed to the western border, where there appeared the possibility of Germany's establishing a frontier with the Soviet Union.

Raw materials, including foodstuffs, petroleum and other supplies have been sent to the west.

Doctors, chauffeurs and nurses were summoned along with reserve troops. In some cases they were recalled from vacations.

A train jammed with reservists departed tonight from the station where trains usually routed westward leave.

Some wore uniforms and sang military songs. Wives on the platform alternately wept and smiled.

An unofficial report said the military classes of 1901, 1905, 1908, 1907 and 1911 were affected.

The newspaper Gudok, organ of railway workers, said 23,600 women had completed training for railway work, indicating they might relieve those called to bear arms.

A new decree, which would affect France and Great Britain particularly, it was believed, reserved for the Soviet government the right to restrict or forbid the export of goods and stipulated such goods must be paid for in advance. It was not clear what effect the decree would have on the August 20 trade agreement with Germany.

Mexican Woman Is Slashed, Husband Held In Jail

Alahondro Ramirez, Abilene, was held in the Howard county jail Saturday night following the cutting of his wife, Petra Stolks Ramirez.

While she suffered two deep slashes, one of them into the jugular vein, attending physicians at the Big Spring Hospital told officers they believed she would recover.

Deputy Sheriff A. J. Merrick said the couple had come here for the cotton harvest and had become embroiled in an argument; at the place of V. Mancha in the Mexican section of town.

Witnesses said that she was thrashed across the left side of her throat and behind her knee with a razor.

Sheriff's deputies placed Ramirez under arrest and said that he likely would be charged Sunday in connection with the cutting.

Some Ocean Freight Rates Doubled

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9 (AP)—Shipping circles today reported ocean freight rates from gulf ports to Great Britain and continental ports had jumped as much as 100 per cent or more over pre-war rates.

Following cancellation of freight rate contracts as result of the war, rates on cotton to the United Kingdom and continental ports jumped from 45 cents to $1.00 per hundred pounds, lumber mounted 100 per cent, while lubricating oil rates to England jumped from 48 cents per hundred pounds to 90 cents.

Shippers stressed these rates are open and non-contractual and subject to change without notice, indicating they may go even higher if warranted by war conditions and further submarine losses.

Leonard Nelson of Albany was reported to have received bad cuts on the face, but his condition was not considered serious. He was given treatment here.

POLES SEEK TO SET UP NEW DEFENSE; NAZI REINFORCE LINES IN THE WEST

GERMANS TIGHTEN THE PINCHERS

This is the picture of Poland as three giant German pincers slowly moved together, retarded by stubborn Polish resistance. The shaded area indicates Polish territory already occupied. Heavy fighting was reported on the line from Plousk to Pultusk, north of Warsaw. Berlin claimed the Nazi armies were closing in on Warsaw, while Polish announcements claimed the recapture of some of the lost territory north of Pultusk. In the northwest, another drive was reported advancing toward Poznan. In the south the invaders moved onward from Krakow and through Nowy Sacz. The spearhead of the German southern army apparently moved closer to Warsaw to execute the German maneuver of cutting off the Poles in the area west of the capital that is caught in the pincers.

White House Staff Revamped By FD

'Emergency' Step Said To Mean End Of Brain Trust

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 9 (AP)—In an executive order which was described officially as tossing such things as the old so-called brain trust "out the window," President Roosevelt revamped his White House staff tonight to put it in better shape to handle problems arising "in the time of national emergency" as well as those incident to normal government operations.

The order set up five principal divisions: The White House office, the budget bureau, the national resources planning board, a liaison office for personnel management, and an office of government reports.

In addition, it provided "in the event of a national emergency, or threat of a national emergency," for "such office for emergency management as the president shall determine."

In general, the order listed in detail the duties of White House officials in accordance with changes already made in the set-up of the executive offices under a plan for government reorganization.

Mr. Roosevelt said it was intended to establish systematic procedures "so that the flow of work will be speedy, smooth and effective."

"Only after this has been accomplished," he said.

3-Year-Old Is Struck By Car

Donald Hall Garlington, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Garlington, Vincent, was in the Big Spring Hospital for treatment of injuries received Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a car on a downtown street.

Lloyd Butler, Chalk, whose car hit the child, rushed him to the hospital where extent of the injuries could not be determined immediately.

Officers investigating the mishap said that Butler apparently had stopped for a red light at the E. 3rd and Runnels streets intersection when someone called to him from the curb. Meanwhile, the light turned to green and the car behind honked.

The child was hidden from his view by the radiator and when Butler started his car, he unknowingly struck the youngster.

Artillery And Air Force Go Into Action

Paris Claims Advance Continuing Despite Stiff Resistance

PARIS, Sept. 9 (AP)—German planes and heavy artillery swung into action today in a roaring counter-attack against the French on the western front.

Reinforced German advance guards moved into the attack behind an artillery barrage, striking across the Saar river on the northern flank of the front in an effort to blast the French from some 200 square miles of German territory cleaned out during the first week of Europe's new war.

Advance Continues

Despite German resistance "along the entire front," a French general staff communique said the French advance continued.

The communique added tersely "a brilliant attack by one of our divisions assured us possession of an important section of territory."

The fact that the communique for the first time mentioned the use of forces as large as a division indicated the battle was one of growing scope.

It indicated, too, that the first part of the second week of the war might see an end to preliminary action and the beginning of operations on a larger scale.

During the first week the general staff insisted on operations limited to local advance guard actions.

During the last two days French scout planes have reported roads leading to Trier sector, on the extreme northern tip of the front, jammed with German troops, convoys, heavy artillery and ammunition moving up to reinforce the Nazi Siegfried line.

It was these Nazi divisions which apparently the German general staff threw into the battle for possession of the strategic heights and wooded areas that cover a 100-mile long strip of no man's land from the Moselle to the Rhine river.

Warsaw Is Determined To Resist

BUDAPEST, Sept. 9 (AP)—A Warsaw radio broadcast tonight described the Polish capital as "drowned in the noise of roaring airplanes and the explosions of heavy bombs," but still resisting German attacks on the outskirts of the city.

The announcer said "high flames are leaping from the buildings against a pet black sky."

"Warsaw will die to the last man, woman and child," he declared, "we will never surrender."

At 10:05 p. m. the Polish station at Lwow came on the air with an appeal to Polish women to fight side-by-side with the men against the Germans.

"The heroic Polish women are not only supplying soldiers with food, but in many places they have thrown hand grenades at the onrushing Germans," the announcer said.

"The German army which fights Poland will shrivel," the broadcast added.

"Polish women: Faith is now necessary like that of great Polish women of history. Hand-in-hand Polish soldiers and women will destroy Hitler."

An impassioned appeal was broadcast earlier, pleading with Warsaw citizens to resist invasion.

The broadcaster identified himself as Warsaw's mayor and said he was speaking from the Warsaw radio station.

The Warsaw radio at 6:30 p. m. admonished the population to refuse to listen to "false reports" circulated by Germany which declared Warsaw had fallen. The broadcaster asked the station Lwow and

COMMISSION MEMBERS CAN'T AGREE ON CRUDE ALLOWABLE

AUSTIN, Sept. 9 (AP)—Wide divergence of opinion both in the ranks of proration officials and the industry itself made it hazardous tonight for anyone to forecast whether Texas oil production will be cut after a proration hearing here Monday.

Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler was on record in favor of boosting the state's allowable 115,000 barrels per day, with all the increase to go to the East Texas field. Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson insisted, however, that the statewide allowance be slashed 15 per cent with East Texas bearing its share of the reduction.

Commission Chairman Lon A. Smith, who may have the deciding vote once more, said he would not reach a definite conclusion until after the hearing but any cut likely would be less than 15 per cent. He voiced the opinion the East Texas allowable would have to be raised because of federal court decisions in the Humble and Rowan & Nichols cases.

Indications were that the hearing would attract a large attendance, both from East Texas and from districts whose oil producers are concerned lest their allotments be materially reduced to offset an increase to East Texas.

From Lubbock came a report that a sizeable delegation of operators in the North Permian Basin would be on hand.

The effect of war on demand for Texas oil was one of the questions confronting the commission.

Overwhelming Odds Against Defenders

Invaders Press Forward In 'Pincer' Drive On Warsaw

By LLOYD C. LEHRBAS
LWOW (Lemberg), Poland, Sept. 9 (AP)—(By Courier to Bucharest)—Poland's armies, battling overwhelming odds and tremendous German artillery, aerial and man power for possession of Warsaw, today attempted to establish new defense lines along the Vistula as a major battle progressed which may be decisive in the German-Polish war.

Three Directions

German invaders have advanced swiftly into Poland since Sept. 1 from three main directions—north, west and south—hoping to strike a death blow before France and Britain can launch a major offensive on the Rhine front.

German forces from the north now are on the right bank of the Vistula which flows through the heart of Warsaw. (This presumably is northwest of the city. Berlin communique reported the Germans also had reached the right, or east bank of the river at Sandomierz, 125 miles south of Warsaw.)

There the Poles, heartened by a memory of a previous victory when they repulsed a Soviet Russian army at the gates of Warsaw in 1920, hoped to stem the German military tide.

But Warsaw's fate probably will depend on whether a gigantic German pincer movement is successful in shutting off Warsaw from its narrowing link with unoccupied territory to the east. And even greater importance is attached to whether the Polish army must withdraw eastward before the north-south points of the pincers meet near Warsaw, bottling up any Polish forces still resisting to the north, south and west.

DIRECTED VERDICT SOUGHT FOR WEISS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9 (AP)—Federal Judge Wayne G. Borah today took under advisement motions for a directed acquittal verdict of the five defendants in the Seymour Weiss mail fraud trial, which began Tuesday.

It's A Feminine World At Ritz, With 'The Women' Headlining The Program

Shearer, Crawford, Russell, Goddard Head The Cast

The ladies—they laugh, they lie, they love, they live—they even fight a little, and certainly they talk about men.

One gets a true-to-life glance at the women's world in "The Women," heralded as one of the most unusual films to come out of Hollywood, and which is gracing the Ritz screen today and Monday.

The story is unusual in that not a man appears in the cast. There are 135 feminine roles, headed by Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford, Rosalind Russell, Paulette Goddard and Mary Boland.

The story, based upon Clare Booth Luce's Broadway stage success of the same name, weaves the everyday experiences of women into an exciting comedy-drama into which laughs and tears are skillfully blended. Ultra-modern settings, smart clothes and a fashion parade add eye-filling beauty as a background to the razor-sharp dialogue.

Miss Shearer appears as Mary Haines, her first modern society role since "Riptide." Joan Crawford is seen as the shrew Crystal Allen, and Rosalind Russell as the inveterate gossip, Sylvia Fowler.

Others in a powerful supporting cast include Mary Boland, Paulette Goddard, Phyllis Povah, Joan Fontaine, Virginia Weidler, Lucille Watson, Florence Nash, Mariel Hutchinson, Esther Dale, Ann Morris, Ruth Hussey, Dannie Moore, Mary Cecil, Mary Beth Hughes, Virginia Grey, Marjorie Main, Cora Witherspoon and Hedda Hopper.

Nothing was spared to bring to the screen women in their natural habitats. The largest set of its type ever built in Hollywood comprises a modern beauty salon and every type of treatment known to such establishments is covered.

The story shows Norma Shearer as Mary Haines, who chooses a divorce rather than countenance her husband's temporary infidelity when he becomes enamored of a perfume salesgirl, played by Joan Crawford. The constant gossiping of Rosalind Russell forces her to come to a happy conclusion when Miss Shearer decides to fight back and reclaim her husband.

The settings, which reflect the luxury of modern life, range from scenes of New York and its smart suburbs, to Bermuda and a dude ranch in Reno, Nevada. Of particular interest is a remodeled farm house in which much of the action transpires. Early American in type, it is furnished with a collection of priceless antiques gathered by the studio property department over a period of years. Other interiors include night clubs, beauty salons, smart shops and apartments.

The picture was produced by Hunt Stromberg and was directed by George Cukor, who has such hits to his credit as "Romeo and Juliet," "Camille" and "David Copperfield."

YOU'LL RECOGNIZE THE FEMALE TYPES

Here are three of "the women" who head the all-female cast of that unusual film, "The Women," which plays today and Monday at the Ritz. It's a frank story of how the ladies live and love, and typical characters are to be found. Norma Shearer is a happy wife and devoted mother; Joan Crawford is a designing "other woman" who wants Miss Shearer's husband; Rosalind Russell is the ace meddler of a "gossip" set whose tongue contributes to general unhappiness. There are 135 feminine roles in the picture, and not a man appears. Other major players include Paulette Goddard, Mary Boland, Phyllis Povah, Lucille Watson, and other actresses of stage and screen. The picture, adapted from Clare Booth Luce's stage hit, has luxurious settings of feminine interest, introduces new costumes and new coiffures.

Notes Decline In Quality Of Some Hereford Herds

Back from one of his periodic tours of the cattle raising sections of West Texas and New Mexico, I. B. "Doc" Cauble, veteran Hereford county Hereford breeder, Saturday expressed the opinion that there is a decline in quality among the general run of herds.

Cauble based his conclusion on inspections around Artesia, Cloutier and Hagerman, N. M., Hereford, Amarillo and Childress, Texas. While Cauble had some pointed opinions on the reason for what he believed to be a loss in quality among herds, he listed some general causes as a lack of interest in better breeding among the average cattlemen, a willingness to let top stock go to keep up high sale price records, and difficulty many breeders and ranchers have had in making ends meet, a condition which precluded sinking much money in better sires and dams.

Range conditions, Cauble found, were spotted with the worst outlook prevailing around the Childress area. However, he inspected some good herds in that territory, among them those of W. E. Dameron, Tom Ivy, Coconaugher, D. L. McDonald and White. He sat on the Glenn Ross sale which averaged $318 for 42 head.

Monday R. O. Atkins, an Alabama lumberman, is due at the Cauble farms on Elbow creek to look at some stock with the view of buying after a tour of the southwest.

'Bad Lands' To Be Seen As Sunday-Monday Feature

Revealing with realism another chapter in the winning of the west, "Bad Lands" is the film offered at the top of the Lyric theatre's program for today and Monday.

A notable group of character actors appear in the top roles, with Robert Barrat as the elderly sheriff, Douglas Walton as an adventurous Easterner and Robert Coote as an English remittance man.

Noah Beery Jr., Andy Clyde, Addison Richards, Paul Hurst, Guinn Williams, Francis Ford and Francis McDonald have the other featured roles as possemen.

The plot is simple but is said to be compellingly exciting. A half-breed murderer has killed a Mexican bride on her wedding day and break off into the desert. After him starts the half-crazed husband as a member of a ten-man posse hastily gathered and deputized by the sheriff.

The group hold to the trail, even though it leads them across the waterless wastes to the foot of the forbidding Dragon mountains, and there they find an ample water-hole. There, too, in the ensuing hours, most of them find death for the Apaches have surrounded them in overwhelming numbers and escape is impossible.

And as the mutual jealousies and rivalries among the members of the little party flare into action, their ranks are constantly thinned by desultory firing from the rocks during the night on their outpost. Several of them try desperately to get away under cover of darkness, and bring help from the army post twenty-five miles distant—on each time the watchful savages slaughter the would-be messengers.

But the sheriff, calm as ever, dominates the survivors and keeps up their morale, although by daybreak only three of them are left alive. The trio make one final effort to outwit their beleaguers, and at the same time a passing cavalry patrol, hearing the sound of firing, comes to investigate.

The outcome brings this chapter of frontier history to a thrilling conclusion. For "Bad Lands" graphically reveals what in all probability happened during the early days to scores and hundreds of hastily-organized posses that with more energy than caution, set out after fleeing criminals, and got into situations from which they could not extricate themselves.

Talent Show To Be Staged

Plans and arrangements have been completed to present again an outstanding array of talent selected from Texas youth and presented in "Texas Stars on Parade." The American Legion has sponsored this type of entertainment for the last two years and the local post again will sponsor the presentation. It is scheduled for September 15.

Twenty acts of entertainers will be selected from colleges, universities and high schools, featuring music, song, dance and comedy. Only the most outstanding talent will be selected with each entertainer a star in his own field of entertainment. Three cash prizes will be offered to the three winning acts by the use of an applause meter.

As an added attraction Harlem's Jittering Jitterbugs, age six and eight, of Abilene, will show how the colored folks do swing steps. These youngsters were used in a program before the student body of Hardin-Simmons university and almost stopped the show.

"We have received compliments on our past shows of this type," says Post Commander R. R. McEwen, "and we plan on making this an even better show as only the 'professional' amateurs are to be used."

Steadily gaining headway in a valiant fight against infantile paralysis, Dorothy Dublin is all but permanently free of her "iron lung," according to reports received from the Southwestern General hospital at El Paso, where she is under treatment, by her father, Charles Dublin.

Miss Dublin has remained out of the artificial respirator for as long as two days and a night at a time, her father said; and goes back into the device only when she becomes weary from long treatments.

She has been able to come out on the hospital lawn into the sunshine every day for the past week.

GOERING, CONFIDENT, READY TO OFFER PEACE TO FRANCE

BERLIN, Sept. 9 (AP)—Nine days of war have brought such surprising victories to Germany's arms that Field Marshal Hermann Goering addressing munitions workers today—in reality speaking to the world—felt strong enough to hold out a peace offer to France.

He declared "we want nothing from France," but confidently added Britain could not defeat Germany economically or militarily. "Only America remains for Britain," he said, "but we can get on without the United States—as a source of raw supplies."

Unofficial reports said he believed Warsaw had not fallen; the Nazi steam roller tonight and official German dispatches did not elaborate on a statement yesterday afternoon that armored cars had entered Warsaw. No claim was made that Nazi troops now occupy the city.

The supreme high command merely announced today troops had entered Warsaw; reached the Vistula river, an important Polish defense line at four points and had gained a foothold on the Vistula's east bank at Sandomierz. Sandomierz, center of the Polish munitions industry, is about 125 miles south of Warsaw.

Lodz, the communique said, would fall today although the bulk of troops was passing on either side of the city following the retreating Poles south of the Warta river. Zwolen and Radom 60 and 40 miles respectively, west of Lublin, were reported taken by German troops pushing toward Lublin, to which the Polish government moved from Warsaw several days ago.

Goering said in view of German victories in Poland "it is beyond discussion that we will ever return the industrial region." Observers said this meant that whatever may happen to Poland later, as a result of bargaining, Germany will claim Silesia, Pomerania, Pomerellen and Danzig.

This is so much a part of German official consciousness that one ministry in Wilhelmstrasse officially interpreted a decree by Chancellor Hitler to mean that the frontier was reestablishing Germany's eastern frontiers as they stood in 1914, retaking from Poland those areas which the treaty of Versailles took from Germany and allotted to the new Polish state.

The decree set up civilian administration in areas formerly under military rule.

Ann Sheridan, Pat O'Brien In Racing Drama

'Indianapolis Speedway' Lyric Program

With fast-talking Pat O'Brien, Ann "Oomph Girl" Sheridan, the exotic Gale Page, heart-breaker John Payne and comical Frank McHugh in the leading roles, "Indianapolis Speedway," spine-tugging drama of automobile racing produced by the Warner Bros. studio, is offered today and Monday at the Lyric.

Hailed as one of the most exciting and romantic films ever brought to the screen, "Indianapolis Speedway" forcefully depicts all the lure of the great American sport of auto racing on world famed tracks.

The story concerns the efforts of Pat O'Brien, champion race driver, to make John Payne, his younger brother, continue with college and not follow in his own footsteps.

But John is bitten by the racing bug and his added romantic interest in Ann Sheridan, whom Pat dislikes, causes the brothers to feud climaxing in a race in which Pat's best friend, Frank McHugh, is killed in a spectacular crash.

The accident breaks Pat. He gives up racing and vanishes. Gale Page, Pat's loyal girl friend, knowing if she is ever to locate Pat it would be at the annual Memorial Day speed classic at Indianapolis, goes there. She finds him at the track, a seedy, broken figure.

As they watch Payne compete with another driver for the number one spot during the last laps of the race, there is a minor accident. John needs a relief driver and before Pat realizes what is happening, Gale has rushed him to the pits.

In a dramatic, sensational scene Pat again comes into his own and is reconciled to his brother.

Pecos County Ordovician Developing

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 9—The surprising attaining of magnitude by the second well in Pecos county's first Ordovician pool, only the third in the West Texas Permian basin, was the outstanding development in the western part of the state this week.

Magnolia Petroleum Co.'s No. 1 M. I. Masterson, south offset to the discovery Anderson-Prichard and Monte Warner No. 1 M. I. Masterson, flowed 1,025 barrels of pipe line oil of 41.8 gravity, corrected, through a one-inch choke on 2 1/2-inch tubing in 10 1/2 hours, bottomed at 4,614 feet. The gauge followed treatment with 500 gallons of acid. It ended at noon Thursday and the well was shut in for storage. Production the last hour was 75 barrels. Gas was estimated at one million cubic feet daily.

Before acidizing the well had swabbed only about one barrel of oil hourly. In coming to 4,614 feet it had recovered some time showing oil and gas but made only drilling fluid on a drill stem test before 7-inch casing was cemented at 4,597 feet. The Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, was topped at 4,596 feet, 2,167 feet below sea level and 43 feet lower than in the Anderson-Prichard and Warner well. Both drilled directly from the Permian into the Ellenburger time, the Simpson being missing. Both are in the Masterson Permian line pool, Magnolia No. 1 Masterson being 690 feet from the northeast and southeast lines of the west quarter of section 104-10 H&GN.

The Anderson-Prichard and Warner well was completed in June at 4,595 feet, 51 feet in the Ellenburger, for a natural 24-hour flow of only 187 barrels of 42.3 gravity crude through an 18-64th inch choke on 3 1/2-inch tubing. It is 4 1/2 miles south of Buena Vista and about 23 miles south of Ordovician production in the Sand Hills district in western Crane county, found below 6,000 feet. This was the second Ordovician field in the West Texas Permian basin. The first was the Big Lake pool on University of Texas land in Reagan county, with pay from around 8,300 to slightly below 9,000 feet. Ordovician production is widely sought in the district because of its high lubricating content, the deep oil in the Big Lake field commanding a premium.

Douglas Beattie, Baritone, To Appear Here Oct. 10 As First Of Civic Music Assn. Concert Artists

HORTENSE MONATH

DOUGLAS BEATTIE

MARGARET SPEAKS

One month from today the concert season of the Big Spring Civic Music association will open with Douglas Beattie, talented young baritone, as the artist.

Others to be heard during the season will be Margaret Speaks, soprano, on December 4, and Hortense Monath, pianist, on February 22.

As pledged by Civic Music association officials during their drive for members in the spring, only those who reserved season tickets will be privileged to hear the list of artists.

Beattie, whose concert is scheduled for October 10 in the municipal auditorium, has established himself as a singer of importance in both concert and opera. He has appeared with the San Francisco Opera for three successive seasons, and the last year also was a member of the Chicago Civic Opera company.

Radio fans are familiar with the lovely soprano voice of Margaret Speaks, a young woman who also has attained a high standing on the concert stage. She has been acclaimed for a beautifully clear voice, dramatic interpretation and fine diction.

Hortense Monath has won recognition as one of the nation's brilliant young pianists. She presents the works of modernists along with classics of Bach and Beethoven. She studied in Berlin under Artur Schnabel, is today his assistant, and following her concert debut in Berlin gave programs in major European cities. She has been soloist with noted orchestras.

Asserting "the OGPU maintains a large staff in every country, the witness added, "the expense is tremendous but leaders think it one of the most important branches."

NEW RUSSIAN SNUFF DESCRIBED AS A CURE FOR 'FLU'

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—One war specter, another world flu epidemic, can apparently be prevented by a new kind of Russian snuff announced today.

It was described in the printed proceedings of the third International Congress for Microbiology by Prof. Dr. A. Smorodintseff, of Moscow. Owing to war conditions he did not attend the congress.

Immune horse serum, a well known flu material, makes a Russian snuff. This serum is the water-clear part of the blood of horses which have been artificially infected with flu. It is dried and inhaled, Dr. Smorodintseff said.

One inhalation, lasting 15 minutes, and using about a thimbleful of the powder was tried on a big scale this year in Russia, during a real flu outbreak.

The snuff not only most prevented flu, but helped to cure it.

Food Items Up 5 To 20 Pct.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—A special survey by the bureau of labor statistics disclosed today that sugar, flour, lard and pork chops led the sharp advance of retail food prices which followed the outbreak of war in Europe. The increases varied in different cities ranging from less than 5 to 20 per cent.

A companion survey of the wholesale price field covering 30 sensitive commodities, the bureau said, showed that the wholesale price index moved within the narrow range of 1 per cent from mid-July to the end of August, but bounced upward 17 per cent from the end of August to September 8. (In the wake of the increases, President Roosevelt assured the nation steps would be taken to prevent profiteering on foodstuffs and Secretary Wallace declared there was an "abundance" of food on hand.) Looking over the retail price fluctuations of nine key food commodities in 10 cities, the bureau said that while some prices were going up there had been little or no change in such household articles as bread, butter and coffee.

When Profiteering Comes

It may be that congress, when it is called in special session to consider revision of the neutrality act, will be asked to adopt some sort of legislation against wartime profiteering.

He and other officials already are concerned about the sharp advance in prices of various commodities, and the European war is little more than a week old.

It is to be expected that prices on those staples essential to forwarding military campaigns would go up, since the demand is greatly increased.

And it is to be expected, in this particular emergency, that there will be set up some type of governmental control over the nation's economy.

Secretary Ickes in Washington pointed out that this nation is not at war, and that we have large available surpluses.

After A Man's Heart

by JEAN RANDALL

Chapter Five GEORGE WEEKES

Two weeks went by; three, and the only real change at the ranch was Tim's promotion to crutches.

George Weekes came often to visit his partner. "You ought to charge me board," he told Buff.

"That's a darned nice girl," George informed Tim upstairs a few minutes later.

"Her name is Buff," Tim had the air of a man who has performed his whole duty.

"And you think that describes her, my dear chap? Far, far from it. I have an idea it's a nickname, earned by her achievements as shock-absorber.

"Tim shook his head. "It's like gold. Raw yellow gold. You used to be familiar with the color, old man. How come you to miss it now? True, she wears it as unobtrusively as possible, but it's gorgeous hair, just the same. Her eyes—"

"He stopped for Corlias' big hands were opening and closing; there was a fine beading of perspiration along his upper lip.

"George, tell me... I've been trying to get up enough nerve to ask you every time you come. Have you—is there—"

"You're wanting to ask me if there's any further news of Iris DeMuth. The answer is: no; and God be thanked for that," he ended piously.

"Silence fell upon the room. Beneath the open window came the sound of voices: Buff Carroll speaking to Atkins; Atkins' almost inaudible reply. Suddenly words poured from Tim Corlias in a torrent.

into his hands and he sat so still that a belated butterfly sailed in and alighted on his shoulder. George viewed the pretty thing with bitter eyes.

"Snap out of it, guy!" he admonished his partner. "It's over and done with; nothing left for you—for us—but to forget the whole infernal business."

"If only you hadn't been drawn into it, George!" They had been over this ground many times. Weekes made the only answer that helped the other.

"Yes, I'm coming along, coming along. On another week or two—"

"His friend studied him anxiously. It didn't seem to him that Corlias was making improvement. George thrust his hands in his pockets and pondered. As a result of his thoughts, he approached Buff late that afternoon when Tim was installed in the v.c.s.

"Buff—you don't mind if I call you Buff, do you? Thanks. I'd like your advice, if you'd be kind enough to give it."

"Advice?" She reached for a bit of wild sage, sniffed its clean fragrance. "What about?"

"Tim, I'm worried about him. Not his leg. That's coming along all right. Westland says."

"I know what you mean." Her small face assumed a look of gravity to match his own. "He's upset about something, terribly upset. It isn't only overwork is it—as he told me?"

"No, it's not overwork. Tim's angry as a horse. He he had a shock. A bad one. I wonder if I ought to tell you about it?"

she continued with a hint of malice. "It's about all he can endure to have you here. I let you come—I ask you to come! because it's good for him. But what he'd really like is to sink back into his thoughts and just remember whatever it was that happened to him. That's what he was doing when I got here. It was a love affair, wasn't it?"

"Thought you didn't want to hear about it?" he grinned. "But yes, it was a love affair; at least, that was part of it. What really happened was that one guy fell down on Tim, the earth broke up into chunks beneath his feet—"

"The trouble—is he thinks it isn't worth while. He'd sooner go down into oblivion than make the effort."

"Then why doesn't he? I mean—why is he really fighting to put this experience behind him? Because of you?"

"A little; but mostly because he's a real man," he assured her earnestly. "If you knew the whole story—and some day you're going to know it—you'd realize that Tim's rather taken a beating, in more ways than one. He cleared his throat. "You've been kind to him. Go on being so, will you?"

Just before he left the ranch Sunday afternoon he concluded his Boy Scout endeavors, this time in the direction of Tim.

"Listen, fellow!" He leaned forward, his hands swinging loosely between his knees. "You might show a little appreciation of Buff's efforts to look after you, you know!"

"Look after me? Why should she or any other girl look after me? I'm no child—even if I did be have like one!"

"I mean—showing you hospitality, and all that," his partner hastily corrected himself. "She's a little person and—inspiration descended upon him like a gift from heaven—not too happy herself. I got a distinct impression that she's passing through some trouble of her own."

It was the right note. Tim looked at the girl with a new gaze when they next met; really looked at her. Her blue eyes did seem shadowed, he thought, and he seemed to remember that once or twice they had showed signs of recent tears.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—It is evident already that some surprises are in store for members of congress and the public when they begin looking behind the scenes into the pay-as-you-go scheme of social security adopted this past session.

To a lot of people it looked like the answer to the treasury's prayer to be able to increase benefits and lower taxes. Congress did exactly that. But what has happened is that the cake is being eaten now and a future generation of congressmen and taxpayers will have to decide how much cake is to be eaten in the future.

Under the old plan for social security, the monthly benefits did not start until 1942. Now they start January 1. Moreover, a lot of elderly people who couldn't expect anything out of it before are going to get a share under the new system. They will get more than they paid in.

The reason for this is that the system of financing has been changed. The plan for a big reserve has been abandoned. Only a small emergency reserve will be built up. That means present collection from the payroll tax will more than carry the present load for two or three years.

Instead of the increase in taxes due this year, the increase has been postponed three years. And the benefits have been increased. More old people will get monthly pensions than could have expected them before. Other old people who could have expected small pensions, will get larger ones.

Nobody should be deceived about the thing. The extra money that is being paid out now will have to be made up later by taxes of some kind. The present tax of one per cent on employe and one per cent on employe will carry through to about 1943. Then more old people will be entitled to dividends than are able to get them now.

The present schedule of taxes then will be increased, first to two per cent, finally to three per cent. In fact, the payroll taxes will take care of the whole load until 1954 if the rates are left as in the newly-revised law. In 1954 either the social security benefits that people had been looking forward to will be cut down—or congress will have to appropriate directly from the treasury. The latter course is expected.

It would not surprise some of the inner circle if congress never did allow the tax to go to its limit of three per cent on employe and three per cent on employe. Some quietly expect that the threat of such a load of payroll taxes will compel congress to raise the money from general income or other taxes.

Then will begin a squawk from another section. A lot of people such as farmers, farm laborers, small store owners and professional people are not covered by the social security retirement plan. Yet in time congress will begin to have to tax them along with the rest of us to pay those who are covered. And there will arise lobbies and more lobbies to correct that. And more and more people will get old age retirement.

There is no reason for becoming panicky about it. It will cost lots of money—three to five billion dollars a year in time. But it won't reach that level until another generation of congressmen comes up to deal with it. Then it will be the: headache.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—The local social spotlight focused brightly the other eve on one Maxwell Everett Rosenbloom, sometimes known as Slapsy Maxie. Mr. Rosenbloom, it must be admitted, had quite a bit to do with the focusing, even though normally he is a shy violet in this forest of exhibitionists.

The occasion was the gala world premiere (to end premieres) of Slapsy Maxie's latest short subject, "Slapsy Maxie's." The setting, of picture and premiere, was Maxie's night club on Beverly Boulevard, an establishment made famous when Maxie slapped on a five-cent cover charge, as he explained it, to "keep the riff-raff out."

The setting, of course, was exactly right. Maxie had been reading about movies being "premiered" in their actual settings, so what more fitting than that Maxie's first starrer, which takes place—for a couple of scenes—in Slapsy Maxie's, should be unveiled on the spot where it wasn't made.

So the lights and cops were out, and the mobs came to prove that local mobs will come to anything that has a light in front. Outside the door was a table loaded with dark glasses, for "tired picture watchers," and another equipped with headache tablets—antidotes for the after-effects of Maxie's acting. Also on display was the old, once lush car that was to be given away, plus assorted lures like bank night, bingo, and free dishes.

Inside Mine Host Maxie wore a light grey suit and a worried air. The latter was occasioned probably by the "house"—either because it wasn't big enough to hold the invited mobs, or because the drinks were out in it. In the drawing for "bank night" the winning ticket was held (by odd coincidence) by Binnie Barnes, who works for Zanuck, whereas Maxie works for Warner Bros. In the drawing for the car the winning ticket was held (also by coincidence) by Jane Wyman, who works for Warner Bros. and is a more photographically happy subject for the news cameras than the other guests who couldn't see their tickets, anyway. I mean it was that dark, not that merry.

The picture, to cheers and applause, finally was unveiled. At this point we will sit quietly for a moment's silent contemplation of the beauties of nature, life, and love—and hope we can forget the epic. "Good reviews or else," as the former lightweight champ delicately phrased his summons. (O. K. Maxie, where's Elsie?)

This much, however, can be honestly conceded. Maxie is a smart comedian. In his picture, as in his "floor show," he makes himself the butt for laughter, capitalizing on his dumb pan and his (or his script-writer's) talent for Goldwynisms, such as: "I have an infection for you."

As Maxie goes into his stage act, which isn't one, there is a constant barrage of interruptions, funniest of which is by a disguised waiter who throws up his hands, despairingly, and walks to the kitchen shouting, "Night after night, I have to listen to this!" At one point a huge sign is paraded between Maxie and audience, thus: "Motion pictures are your best entertainment, AFTER all!" which is good for a howl. For the rest, anything goes—and anybody at all can say anything at all, which makes Ches Maxie a madhouse of sorts.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Let us look at Tony Galento, the prize-fighter, the pugilist, the bartender, the beer barrel polka... Let us applaud him for all he has done, and let us kick the tar out of him for some other things he has done.

No run-of-the-mine prize-fighter, no has-been, no man who has taken so many beatings as Tony has assimilated has quite executed as abrupt an about face as he did in his fight with Joe Louis, and for this he deserves his laurels. He deserves the pats on the back that the fight-loving public has given him. He deserves the money he has earned, and only the small in mind, the envious and the mean in heart would wish him ill.

But Tony isn't taking his new affluence any too well. He is training now for a fight with Lou Nova. The other day the sports writers, calloused to the blunt side of the training camp life, returned from an afternoon of observing Tony go through his paces. They were shocked and disgusted. They said in their columns next day that Tony had brutally beaten one of his sparring partners, a man named Silver, because Silver had had the temerity to punch Galento in the nose. Isn't that what sparring partners are for? To sharpen and extend their man? The sports writers I talked with, men who went through the training camp sieges with Firpo and Dempsey, say they have never seen such wanton, unprovoked display. Even after Silver was out on his feet Galento was hitting him with everything but a blackjack. When you hit a man whose arms are limp and who is dazed you are apt to kill him. They say Tony just stood there with a leer on his face and belabored a man who could not defend himself.

Okay, Tony, it took you a long time to get the boys on your side. Why alienate friends in an effort to influence one sparring partner?

The 1st national ice show which Mr. Ralph Hitz has arranged with a great deal of care is a merry, exciting, thrilling, graceful thing to look upon. But the man who ought to be caught up and put into a Broadway comedian's role is not one of the skaters, but the man with the rubber hose who comes out after each performance and sprinkles the floor, which is really a tray that fits under the bandstand. This tray after each show is refilled with water and shoved out of sight to freeze, like the ice-container in your electric ice-box. But the way he does it, his unconcerned manner, is very, very funny, although he does not realize this.

He comes out almost in slow-motion, oblivious to hundreds of diners who are having their dinner in the New Yorker. He unrolls a long line of hose. He looks at the floor, from one angle, then another. He walks here, he walks there. Then occasionally, almost in a zig-zag manner, he turns on the spray. When the floor has a new covering of water, he carefully, meticulously rewinds the hose. Then he rolls it out of sight, behind the orchestra. And after that he disappears. His job is done. He has to come on three times a night. Never yet has he seemed to see a single soul. But everybody in the hotel keeps their eyes on him. A guy? Not at all. He's just one of those guys.

"Flips down, old man," his friend said gently. "Remember it wasn't only Iris. There was—Latahaw, too."

Lint Harvest Soon To Be In Full Swing

A general soaking rain within the next week was all that was needed Saturday to give Howard county cotton producers their best outlook for a profitable harvest since 1937.

Prices were up sharply for cotton and for seed. Pickers were rolling into town from the valley. Gins were ready to handle large volumes.

But young cotton was cracking open in the fields under the punishment it has taken during the past week when abnormally hot and dry weather drew scant moisture reserves from the soil.

Big Spring gins reported a small but growing volume of cotton Saturday. There were indications that the harvest would really get underway this week.

One handicap in gathering the crop was due to be overcome shortly. It was the scarcity of pickers, but trucks loaded to the hubs with Mexicans from the valley were putting into town. Several hundred pickers were expected to stop at the picker's concentration point in the Mexican section this week or to continue northward as sometimes is their custom.

Cotton closed out at 8.90 Saturday and most of the local lint was commanding a better price than that. But the phenomenal advance was in seed. From the $14 a ton at the season's opening, cottonseed had jumped to $22 a ton Saturday. For four consecutive days, seed scored a $2 gain.

ENGINEERS UNIT STOPS FOR NIGHT

By The Associated Press

The 2nd Engineers out of Fort Logan, Colo., last detachment returning from the streamline maneuvers at Camp Bullis, Tex., camped overnight here Friday.

The regiment arrived late in the evening, set up camp in the community center barracks and rolled off toward Amarillo before day-break Saturday on their return trip.

Under the command of Col. Donald H. Connolly, the Engineers traveled in 42 vehicles and boasted 800 men and officers.

The contingent was much smaller than the 20th Infantry which spent the night here last Sunday en route to its post at Fort Francis, E. Warren, Wyo. The Infantry had more than 1,500 men and officers and traveled in 180 motor units.

Military Men Pessimistic Over Poland's Chance To Halt Nazis

By The Associated Press

Military men viewed pessimistically last night Poland's chances of halting the advancing German armies, while dismissing French attacks in the west as without major significance thus far.

The next day or two promises to decide whether the Poles can make a stand on the new and shorter Narew-Vistula-San river line and defend the remaining two-thirds of their country, or whether they will be defeated just as the Russians were routed by the German General Von Mackensen along the same line in 1915.

As then, the German purpose seems to be to destroy the Polish armies as a military threat on the eastern front. The reported capture of Warsaw was of secondary importance to this purpose.

Already, on the basis of neutral reports, as well as German claims, the northern flank of the new position has been turned. If the fast-moving German force from East Prussia pushes further southward by tomorrow, the whole Polish position would be untenable and the Poles faced the tragic alternatives of further retreat or disaster, one authority asserted.

Further, a Berlin communique reported that from the south four Nazi columns, following Von Mackensen's route, had reached the Vistula south of Warsaw and one had gained a footing east of the river at Sandomierz.

A crossing by a small force might not be decisive, but if it were not checked, the southern as well as northern flanks of the Polish defenses would be threatened.

Pushed back without a respite since the war started, the Polish army undertook to dig in along the Narew-Vistula and San rivers and hold their position until the fall rains slowed down the invaders.

Military men said factors favoring the Poles were these:

The defenders have managed to withdraw most of their forces intact from the west Poland "pocket" formed by the jaws of a great German trap that appears to have pinched off all Poland west of Warsaw.

Their new line is less than half as long as the frontiers they undertook at first to defend.

They are favored for the first time by terrain, since they can employ rivers as natural barriers.

German lines of supply and communication have been extended and the Nazis may have to slow up to consolidate before renewing the onslaughts on a large scale.

Fall rains and the resultant mud and high water may come in another week or two, hampering the movement of German tanks and other modern arms in which the Poles are relatively deficient.

Two New Members Named To State Game Commission

AUSTIN, Sept. 9 (AP)—W. O. Yarborough of Corpus Christi and D. K. Martin of San Antonio are new members of the game, fish and oyster commission.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel announced the appointments today, filling the positions vacated by Mrs. Hal C. Peck of Midland and Camille Pilot of Houston whose terms expired Sept. 1.

Martin, an active sportsman, is former chairman of the state highway commission.

Yarborough, a business man is also active in the field of sports and is especially interested in salt water problems of the game department, having co-operated with the commission on several matters.

The commission is scheduled to meet Sept. 12 to choose a successor to W. W. Boyd, director of the game department's coastal division, who died Sept. 1. Boyd had held the position since 1932.

District 12 "Six-Man" Grid Chiefs Meet Here Tuesday

A meeting of intercollegiate league's District 12 "six-man football" representatives will be staged Tuesday, 5 p. m., at the Settles hotel at which time representatives of at least eight different schools will confer with N. F. Taylor, district chairman, on new schedule plans.

The lineup of the south half of the district, comprised of Forsan, Water Valley, Sterling City, Garden City and Westbrook has long been complete but the withdrawal of two schools of the north half—Ackerly and Klondike—leaves that sector without ample representation.

Coaches officials are said to be prepared to ask amittance and it is possible that an entirely new schedule will be effected.

Garber and Courtney hold membership in the circuit but have not been assigned schedules.

Bovine Gridders In Debut Friday

Mineral Wells Eleven Forms Opposition

Pat Murphy's Big Spring high school football machine tees off on its 1939 schedule here Friday evening, 8:30 o'clock, in a non-conference tilt with Mineral Wells, seeking its first victory since 1937.

Murphy called a halt to the week's drills after Saturday morning and said the team "was coming along as expected."

Winsett Nance, Jack Graves, Hal Battle, Pete Pressley, Tabor Rowe, Douglas Pyle and Woford Hardy did not show up for the Friday afternoon drill at the new stadium but most of the team was on hand for the Saturday morning work.

Murphy has had little opportunity to put the team through heavy drills but said he would bear down the first of next week.

SHILL AILING

Lefty Bethell, ace back, is still bothered with blistered feet but the mentor said he would be prepared to start. Other members of the secondary are expected to be D. R. Garman, Owen Brummett and either Johnny Miller or Bobby Martin. Miller and Martin will divide duties at the signal barking post.

Murphy's secondary should average about 161 pounds in weight with the line coming in at 160 even.

Bobby Savage and Jack Graves have apparently captured the first string end posts. Savage will weigh 155 while Graves will tip in at 152 or thereabouts.

Letterman Nance, 180, will have as a running mate either McWade McDaniell, 185, or Fyle, 180. Murphy will be able to start three lettermen in the center of the line with Hal Battle, 146, at one guard, Paul Kauch, 176, at center, and Bill Fletcher, 170, at the other guard slot.

Cy Perkins, Mineral Wells mentor, is bringing a veteran eleven litt town. His forward will in expected to average around 170

Weldon Bigony On Sidelines

WACO, Sept. 9 (AP)—Two sophomores battling for a backfield position stood out today as the Baylor Bears finished their first week's practice with two hard scrimmages.

Big Jack Wilson and Dwight Parks put on brilliant exhibitions during the week in their contest for the tailback spot left vacant by Billy Patterson.

First casualty among the Bruins for the season came in today's scrimmage when Weldon Bigony, sophomore candidate for Big Spring, incurred a dislocated elbow.

BOWLERS MEET ANGELO TODAY

All-star men and women bowling teams of the Casadena Alleys will engage San Angelo representatives in the local runways in exhibitions scheduled to begin at 1 p. m. today.

The Angeloans scored decisive victories over the locals in a previous meeting at San Angelo.

Sundra Rings Up 9th Win Behind Yanx

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—The world champion Yankees burst out with three runs in the eighth inning today to beat the Washington Senators 5 to 2 and give Steve Sundra his ninth victory without defeat this season.

With the score tied at two all in the last of the eighth, Frank Crosetti opened for the Yankees with his second home run in two days and tenth of the season.

Then Red Rolfe doubled, moved to third on an infield out, and scored on Joe DiMaggio's single.

After George Selkirk popped up, Joe Gordon beat out an infield hit and Buddy Rosar walked, filling the bases and setting the stage for DiMaggio to score on a wild pitch by Joe Haynes.

Cats Favored Over Bisons In Playoff

By the Associated Press

Despite club standings when the Texas league's regular season closed Friday, the dope on paper for the Shaughnessy playoff games which begin Sunday shows Fort Worth the favorite over Houston and San Antonio with an edge over Dallas.

The Houston Buffs, who finished at the top with a percentage of .696, won only 10 games from the Fort Worth Panthers while losing 13 to the cowtown team. They meet each other Sunday afternoon and Monday night in Houston.

San Antonio and Dallas, scheduled in night games at the Missions diamond both days, finished the season with .553 each, tied for second place. Dallas outbit San Antonio 16 points but won only 10 games against 13 losses.

The national tennis championships finally passed through their awkward stage at Forest Hills today, and starting tomorrow they should be worth paying to see.

At the completion of today's curtailed program the field had been reduced to 31 both in the men's and women's divisions. The odd figure was accounted for by the fact that Bobby Riggs of Chicago and Dorothy May Bundy put in some extra work and went a round ahead of the others.

Bobby, the only real American hope to stop the Australian Davis cup players, looked keen and ambitious in winning a third round decision over Larry Doe of San Francisco, 6-1, 8-6, 6-4. Miss Bundy won a second rounder from Edna Smith of Cleveland, 6-1, 7-5.

Bryan Grant, Jr., who had been rained out when leading Sidney Wood, Jr., 12-11, in their second set, went on to beat his old rival, 6-3, 10-14, 6-4.

Jack Bromwich of Australia opened his quest of the cup with an easy 6-2, 6-3, 6-2 win over veteran Frank Shields.

Jim Foxx Out For Rest Of Season

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9 (AP)—Jimmy Foxx, slugging first baseman, was lost to the Boston Red Sox for the remainder of the season today after undergoing an operation for acute appendicitis.

Dr. Patrick S. Pasquale said Foxx was in "first class condition and resting easily."

OLLIE CORDILL - RIGHT HALF.

Four of the Rice Institute Owl's football games this fall will be played under the lights . . . THE game of the year for the Night Birds will, of course, be with Fordham in the Polo Grounds, New York City, Nov. 4 . . . Ollie Cordill, the Big Spring youth now playing his third year of varsity ball for the Houstonians, is to make his supreme bid for All-America honors in that classic . . . Fordham, where Jimmy Crowley still teaches the game, is incidentally, making a spirited bid for a Rose Bowl nomination this campaign . . . Easily equalling the Owl secondary of Cordill, Ernie Lahn, Bill Haner and Floyd Mechie in brilliance is the Ram quartet of Bill Krywicki, Don Frinchip, Len Edmondson and Jim Blumenshock, which threatens to succeed the famed Pitt backfield as the East's best offensive combination . . . Many local fans are planning to see Cordill in action at least twice this year, moving to Ft. Worth Nov. 25 when the Owls play Texas Christian and to Dallas Dec. 9 when Southern Methodist will be met . . .

Big Spring youths in college grid, Junior college; Chuck Smith at San camps besides Cordill include Maroon Teachers; Good Graves at Woody Coats and E. C. Burrows, Howard Payne; Cotton Lockhart at both at Hardin-Simmons; Woodrow West, Texas State; Weldon Bigony Harris, Steve Baker and LeRoy at Baylor, and Alton Bostick at Wood, all at Eastern New Mexico University of Texas . . .

Burrus may rate a first string berth under Frank Kimbrough at the Abilene school . . . Graves appears assured of making the Yellow Jacket traveling squad . . . Bigony, who starred for the Wacoans' frosh as a blocking back in '38, may be moved to an end position this fall . . . He is figuring largely in Morley Jennings' plans . . .

Winsett Nance, one of District 12 Wildcat's football games the 3-AA's best line prospects, is being coming full, thanks to Lee Johnson, kept out of grid practice in the Wink school superintendent . . . local camp by eye trouble . . . His Lacy Turner, Wildcat mentor, expects to guide his rugged charges to another unbeaten season this 1938 season . . . The writer is in receipt of a season pass to all of the fall . . .

Bobby Decker, the Baron second sacker whose fielding glistered brilliantly in the Regemen's game with the Hubbers here Friday night, is to make the trip with Neal Babe's all-star team to Venezuela and other parts of South America within the immediate future . . . Incidentally, he's looking for passage to New York City, his home . . . Francis "Salty" Parker, who has piloted the Lubbock Hubbers to a very successful season, may try for a Texas league berth again in 1940 . . . Kumor has it that Hack Miller, the Hubber back stop, is succeeding Jodie Tate at Lamesa . . . The grapevine telegraph also informs that San Angelo is prepared to ask for a WT-NM league franchise in 1940 and Wichita Falls and Abilene may be sold on the idea . . .

The Pampa squad, after scoring club . . . Gordon, who reputedly two successive wins over Midland, played during the campaign at a went on a regular "human's holiday" Friday night, sitting in along with Manager Grover Seitz on the baseball classic here . . . The Oiler he was to be given no part of the offense has been weakened, of playoff's gate receipts, retiring to course, since Gordon Nell left the his farm near Hollis, Oklahoma . . .

The local skipper, Tony Rego, is to go into conference soon with city officials in discussion of a new park for the 1940 season . . . If everything clicks, the Barons of next year will be playing in the best plant in the entire circuit . . .

Musical Event Is Staged At Auditorium

The summer recreational program was brought to a successful close Friday night with the presentation of a brilliant musical and dramatic display of activities at the municipal auditorium.

Under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Strader assisted by members of the recreation staff, a varied program was given.

The entire cast of 40 sang the song of welcome, and then the group immediately went into variations of the Grand March ending with a flag drill and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

A violin duo, "The Eyes of Texas," was rendered by Mrs. Elizabeth Strader and Miss Ellen Lindermill.

"Come Play With Me," an action song, was presented by a little boy and a little girl, and was followed by a reading, "My Kittens" and a vocal solo, "My Buddy."

The Rhythm Band, composed of 11 children, gave two numbers, "Baa, Baa, Black Sheep" and "Are You Sleeping."

"Babies in the Woods" was sung by a little girl and pantomimed by two tiny tots dressed in crepe paper gowns.

"Old Black Joe," a guitar ensemble was presented by 16 members of the guitar class.

A Spanish vocal and stringed trio entertained with "Mexican Rose" and other numbers which were sung in their native language.

This was followed by a stunt, "It's About Time," a girl trying to get her bashful lover to ask her for her hand.

The feature of the evening was a musical play, "Red Riding Hood and the Bear," presented by a cast of 25 boys and girls. Singing, dancing, the appropriate woodland scene, and the gay costumes added to the dramatic element of the play.

The program was brought to an appropriate close as 10 little girls dressed in their "nighties," carrying lighted candles pantomimed the Good Night song by marching across the stage blowing out the candles and throwing a good night kiss to the audience.

A stringed band furnished music before the program began and between the various acts.

An appreciative crowd of approximately 500 hundred persons enjoyed the evening's festivities.

DEFENDERS

The Poles withdrew from their best defenses outside Warsaw and on Aug. 16 succeeded in turning the Polish flank to drive the Russians back and finally save Poland.

Many of Warsaw's citizens, threatened by air raids and the German advance, believed the military miracle might be repeated. They flocked to Victoria bridges to pray for that miracle, addressing special applications to "Our Lady of Czestochowa," the image of the virgin which now is in German-occupied territory.

At least 60 German army divisions and extremely large numbers of artillery and mechanized units have been thrown into the Polish campaign for a swift "kill."

When I left Warsaw Wednesday night with Major William H. Colburn, the United States military attaché, the Germans had advanced almost to within artillery range of the capital. Strong motorized units were spread out to attack from a dozen directions.

The advancing Germans and repeated air raids had left only one avenue of escape open, the road southeast to Lublin.

Highways were choked with Warsaw citizens on foot and using every possible mode of conveyance to try to escape before a major battle occurred on the city's outskirts.

Between Lublin and Lwow I saw evidence of the heavy casualties and severe damage which German air raiders have inflicted far behind the battle lines.

One town of 8,000 inhabitants, Tomaszow, was in flames when I stopped there for more than an hour during the night.

At least 30 persons had been killed, many wounded and over 500 homes burned. Francis village feared there were more casualties trapped in the burning ruins since the result of a bombing raid that afternoon when the town was crowded with peasants on market day.

Disrupted communications and a straggling army made it impossible to file dispatches from Poland, forcing us to go to Rumania.

Along the entire road from Warsaw, we saw retreating Polish troops. All that were moving by day and by night were going toward the front lines.

There was no sign of panic among the populations of towns and villages from Lublin eastward and life went on normally with peasants tilling the fields and harvesting crops.

Scientists say that hot-blooded birds and cold-blooded reptiles have common ancestors.

many today brought stamps sold secretly both inside and outside of Germany for support of an almost mythical mobile anti-Nazi short wave radio station.

Whether the station, supposed to be called "German Freedom," exists or not remains debatable. Some stamp buyers said they frequently had heard it operating, changing its wave length from time to time around 29.8 meters.

PRAGUE, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Czech government warned Czech today against joining foreign military organizations, and said such action would be regarded as traitorous.

One statement was believed directed against the reported formation of a Czech army in France and against a reported Czech Legion of 18,000 in Poland.

PARIS, Sept. 9 (AP)—The post office department tonight "urgently recommends" that the French use postcards for their correspondence.

"This will lighten the work of censors," officials explained, "and hasten the delivery of mails."

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP)—Poland's ambassador to London said tonight in a broadcast to the British people that the Polish army was "fighting single-handed the largest mechanized army in the world" but "our resistance has not been broken."

Count Edward Raczyński, the envoy, said "someone had to be the first to dare to say no to Herr Hitler and bear the consequences. In spite of the untold sufferings endured in the last week by the Polish nation no one in Poland regrets the fateful decision made by the government when it refused to submit to Hitler's tyranny."

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Swedish government today proposed an additional defense appropriation of 300,000,000 crowns (about $17,500,000).

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE
Room 1, Settles Hotel
"Substance" the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 10.

The Golden Text is: "Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed" (John 6:27).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear" (Hebrews 11:3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth, Life, and Love are substance, as the Scriptures use this word in Hebrews: 'The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen'" (page 468).

Calf Projects Are Started In Glascock

GARDEN CITY, Sept. 9—Seven Glascock county 4-H club boys have started their dry lot calf feeding projects, V. C. Young, county agent, said Saturday.

The boys will feed out 16 calves, twice the number fed out last year. The ration will be in keeping with the rules of the annual district show held in Big Spring.

Boys feeding out calves are Belton Cox, whose dry lot light weight animal placed first in its division last year, Cecil Dozier, Euster Cox, Fern Cox, Kenneth Cox, Lester Ratliff and W. E. Chaney. Belton Cox will feed out four calves.

In addition to the calf feeding projects, Young said that possibly 20 sheep would be placed on feed the latter part of this month by 4-H club boys.

The animals now on feed come from the herds of S. C. Houston, George O'Barr, John H. Cox, S. R. & Lee Cox, Clyde Berry and Cook & Currie.

Prices Still On Uptrend At End Of 'Boom' Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—Financial markets today concluded the fastest war-boom week in their history with stock prices still pointing upward but with profit selling inclinations tending to stem the forward push.

The stock market got off to a flying start in the brief session, with blocks of stock as 5,000 shares changing hands at gains running to more than two points. The ticker tape fell behind for a while, then traders began to cash in and there was a slow-down.

A last-minute burst of buying in steel and ship building issues offset selling elsewhere and the recording machinery again was in arrears as the closing gong sounded.

Final prices were below the best in many cases, but, on the other hand, late favorites ended around top levels. There also was an assortment of losers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks retained a net advance of 3 of a point at 51.3. On the week this composite was up 4 1/2 points, largest gain for this period since June, 1935. The day's turnover of 1,555,500 shares compared with 1,791,250 last Saturday. The week's volume of more than 17,000,000 shares contrasted with about 5,800,000 the week before and was the best since October, 1937.

Max Baer To Be Honor Guest

Former Champion To Appear On Lions Club Program

Max Baer, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, will be the big attraction at the Lions club meeting Wednesday noon, Schley Hotel, program chairman, announced Saturday.

Riley was advised by Pao Thomas, promoter of the Max Baer-Babe Ritchie match in Lubbock on September 18, that Baer would appear on the club program.

Baer won the heavyweight title by knocking out Primo Carnera, the Italian man-mountain, and lost it when he was outpointed by Jimmy Braddock. He has been in the top heavyweight bracket for several years and has fought most of the outstanding heavys.

The meeting will be open to other service club members in the city.

Lions club officials announced Saturday evening. Presidents of other clubs are to be invited as special guests.

The U. S., with only 6 per cent of the world's population, has more than half the world's telephones.

PRESENTS SIX IMPORTANT CLOTHES REQUIREMENTS FOR College Bound

Not one campus, not one coast, not one style source set the fashion pace in the really new clothes for the Fall '39-'40 college man. The new clothes are as thoroughly American as football, slang or the Washington Monument. And distinguishing, too, is a colorful, rugged individualism of athletic and broad shouldered modeling of bright fabric color, bold pattern and roughish texture... so if you're open minded to new trends, then here's the suits for you.

25. to 39.50

Upper Right-TWEED IMPORTS

... the latest, and "best example" of rough tweed, woven leisurely, with the Scotch ingenuity for colorful, rich, uncommon blends, styled in a three button drape coat.

Shoes by Jarman

Here's one of the smartest new Jarman styles in our store — it's hand-stained, and hand-ribbed, with a special "antique" finish that mellows the tan calf-skin into a rich, deep shade you'll like and as an added feature it's Cedar Cured. Other styles 6.

Knox Hats

The colorings do it. They're special... new, mixtures, rich and right for your tweedy sports-wear... with a two-tone, specially woven band to harmonize... and the full-brimmed, low-crown smartness that's the top of town fashion.
