Paul Keim, Easter Seal Representative

Mr. Paul Keim will serve as Easter Seal Representative and Treasurer for the 1968 Easter Seal Appeal in Gray County, it was announced by Robert W. Milam, M. D. of McAllen, President of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

Residents of Gray County will receive the annual Easter Seal Appeal letters in the mail beginning March 1. The Easter Seal Appeal, conducted yearly to provide disabled persons and their families treatment and service adapted to specific community needs, will be conducted until Easter Sunday, April 14.

Mr. Keim is one of 169 men and women throughout Texas who are serving in this capacity. The cost of the state-wide program is over one million dollars, financed mainly by the Easter Seal Appeal. Almost 90 per cent of all funds raised by the Easter Seal Appeal remain in Texas to support the growing needs of the disabled in the state.

Special emphasis is being given in the 1968 Easter Seal Appeal to the disabled citizen or his family in Gray County who may need assistance and not know where to obtain it. Any disabled person can contact Mr. Keim at First National Bank, Pampa, Texas 79065, who will refer the request for services to the Easter Seal Society. A determination of the extent and type of assistance needed and the most efficient means of obtaining that assistance will be made. Arrangements for needed treatment or service will be made by the Easter Seal Society.

Dr. Milam stated that funds received as a result of the annual Easter Seal Appeal now aid 47,622 disabled Texans but that there are many more not currently being aided. These disabled citizens and especially those in Gray County who contact Mr. Keim can now be guided to the proper sources of assistance. They or their families are urged to contact him or the Texas Easter Seal Society in Dallas, regardless of age, race, cause of disability or financial status.

Remember, how as a child, you were eager to have your mother and father notice your achievements — encourage your aims and ambitions? Stop to think about it, and we find that even as adults, attention once in a while still feels good.

It's the same for your children. That's why Public Schools Week in Texas is such a good idea.

The McLean Masonic Lodge started the Public School Week off by giving the teachers of the McLean School System a dinner Tuesday night, February 27. Jack Riley was the guest speaker.

This year, March 4th through 8th is Texas Public Schools Week, and it's your chance to visit your child at his school. You'll meet his teachers, and see first hand what he's accomplishing — the progress he's making toward his goals.

Besides offering him encouragement, a visit to your child's classroom will let you see how your tax dollars are being spent for modern education. You'll marvel at the many advancements Texas education has made in just the last year.

Texas teachers and the newest innovations in Texas schools are readying your child for tomorrow's world. You can help your child, and our public schools with a visit to your child's classroom during Public Schools Week in Texas, March 4th through 8th. This visit is your responsibility. But, it's one both you and your child will enjoy.

Any member of the public desiring to protest or support the closing of this office may communicate in writing with Federal Communications Commission, Washington 25, D. C. on or before March 20, 1968.

F.B.L.A. BRAVE SNOW - ICE FOR STATE CONTESTS

February 23, was a day of anxiety for the members of the McLean Future Business Leaders of America Chapter. It was the day they were to leave for the state convention in Arlington, but there was snow and ice on the ground and on the roads.

To have worked so hard on all entries in this year's convention and not get to go would disappoint many people, so at 3:30 p. m. members and sponsors set out on the long trip. After ten and one-half hours of bad roads and uncomfortable seats, twenty-six tired but happy people arrived at the Six Flags Inn at Arlington where they were to stay.

Friday morning approximately six hundred members and sponsors of FBLA chapters gathered at Sam Houston High School, Arlington, where the first day of the convention was held. At 9:00 a. m. the Scrapbook and Exhibit were set up and then began the long waiting which did not end until Saturday night. Mike Simpson is head of Exhibit and Bryan Going is head of Scrapbook. Other contests entered Friday were Mr. and Miss F.B.L.A. and Spelling. Jim Hester entered the finals of Mr. F.B.L.A. and Susie Seaney entered the finals of Miss F.B.L.A. Joe Parr placed 6th in State Spelling contest. An informal dance was held Friday night for all FBLA students attending convention. A great deal of campaigning was carried on at the dance, for the election Saturday.

Saturday other contests were held at the Inn of Six Flags. The Parliamentary team, Vocabulary team, and public speaking contestants began competition. Saturday morning McLean Chapter reached a new goal. Jerry Don Dwyer was elected State Vice-President. This is the first state office that McLean has held. Our Parliamentary team did well in written tests and advanced into oral finals. This team is made up of the following students: Dick Beck, Donna Glass, Calvin Van Huss, Janet Harkins, Mike Darsey, and Joel McCarty. Terry Taylor and Judy Kingston represented McLean in the vocabulary contest. Terry entered the finals. James Harkins, speaking for the first time in any contest, won second in his group.

Saturday night the FBLA students gathered for a banquet in the Golden Ball Room in the Inn of Six Flags. This is the Awards Banquet. By this time, tension has mounted pretty high. Very few contests results are known before this banquet. McLean Chapter feels that it did very well. Our Chapter received a trophy for placing 1st in Exhibits. We received certificates for placing third in Parliamentary Procedure and third in Scrapbook contest. Dick Beck received an individual award for scores on the written Parliamentary Procedure test. Our bus pulled out of Arlington about 9:00 p. m. Saturday carrying a tired but exceedingly happy group. We arrived in McLean about 5:30 a. m. Sunday.

lawn means you have had a better than average turf maintenance program. Few, if any, weeds are able to compete with a well maintained lawn grass. If you had a good lawn last year do about the same thing you did then, which probably means you followed the four cardinal rules of turf care.

1. A good fertilization program with the first application in the spring containing an insecticide such as chlordane, heptachlor or dieldrin. Grass is a ravenous user of fertilizer especially nitrogen and needs a minimum of two applications of fertilizer a season.
2. Once a week mowing not lower than 1-1/2". Close mowing saps the root system and does not give the leaves (food factory) time to get food manufactured and back to the root system. Close mowing also allows the sun to bake the ground effecting the root system and wasting moisture.

3. Not too frequent but thorough waterings. Grass should be allowed to wilt before watering. Frequent (2 or 3 times a week) watering causes a shallow, weak root system and encourages fungus.
4. Disease control as necessary. Starting about the middle of July keep a sharp look out for fungus and use a fungicide at the first sign of trouble.

If you had a poor stand of grass which is usually accompanied by numerous weeds and wish to have a more attractive lawn this year, you should start now. In addition to the four rules above a good pre-emerge applied this month will do more to help than all of the post emerge weed killers you can put on the rest of the year. By applying now you kill the annual weed and grass (including crabgrass) seedlings when they germinate in March, April and May. Several years ago the arsenicals appeared on the market and did a respectable job on crabgrass and some weeds. More recently superior pre-emerges such as Dacthal, Betasan and Tuperson have been developed which are safer to use and give more consistent control. These products are carried by Garden Supply centers as crabgrass controls since this is the main market for a pre-emerge.

LOOKIN' BACK

Special thanks to the following for their encouraging words concerning the work of the Alanreed-McLean Historical Society and its efforts to tell the story of our part of the county: Keith Watson, freshman at ACC in Abilene; Jack Buck, son of Cecil and Gil-emma, now working in California; Irene McCoy Romer, a former McLean girl and daughter of the Kid McCoy's (Irene lives in New York); and Donna Meacham Vineyard, the Jewel Meacham's daughter now married to Charlie Vineyard.

Irene wants one question answered: What DID Ruby Cook do with her ripe olive pit at that teacher's dinner in 1912? Donna is interested in our museum project. She says Glen Rose, a small town of similar people as has McLean, is proud of the museum which has been visited by tourists from 33 states and several foreign countries.

Alice Short Smith joins Jewel Cousins and the committee appointed by president John C. Haynes, in saying that the museum might be a shot in the arm for this part of the county.

That committee, composed of Ruby Cook, Boyd Reeves, Vernon Rice, Loree Kinard Barker, and Jewel Cousins, has already had two meetings. If the rest of us would spend that much time on some phase of the society's work, we'd have bigger turn-out at our meetings and accomplish something really worthwhile.

Incidentally, a number of other names were added to the museum committee last Sunday. Those people will be officially notified this week and are expected to fall in line and help bolster the work.

We have been missing some of our faithful Alanreed members the last few meetings. We hope you can lead a big delegation down next time, Rose Hall.

Last week's snow reminded us of other white days in McLean: the cold winter of 1911-12 when it was 12 degrees below zero, the wind was terrific, livestock was suffering, and the west-bound passenger train stuck in a snow bank three miles west of town. It had to be pulled backwards into McLean where passengers were cared for at the Hindman Hotel, the Rock Island Railroad picking up the ticket.

This was the winter Joe Hindman and John Williams had their ears and feet frozen while working on the Pursley Ranch north-east of McLean.

Remember when Texas women were given the right to vote in 1918? Mrs. J. A. Sparks (Nee Nora Phillips) was the first woman to register in McLean. Mrs. Sparks was also the president of the first home demonstration club organized here (1918).

At that time (1918) we were living in the old sod house at Skillet Creek Camp of the Rowe Ranch and accompanied Mrs. Jasper Stephens to Jerico to register and then beat the other women of the community to the polls to cast the first vote in the primaries at Skillet Creek School. R. S. Thompson, father of Mrs. Willie Boyett, was elected judge. Re-acting to our enthusiasm, he appointed us to represent our community on the Donley County Democratic Committee, but the six-months old daughter took the whooping cough and our political aspirations vanished.

The Zion Baptist Church was organized at the Gracey School House on Oct. 14, 1906 by L. L. Lusk, missionary of the Palo Duro Association, with the following charter members: George Loyd, Annie Loyd, Sam Kunkel, Sarah Paddleford and Mrs. H. M. Colebank were received by letter.

Of the charter members, only two survive: Mrs. Callie Kunkel Haynes of McLean and Mrs. Mary Etta Hudgins of Erick, Oklahoma.

Loree Kinard Barker treasures the book containing the minutes of every business meeting of that organization from the time of its organization until June 1923. Her grandfather, Sam Kunkel, was the first clerk and her father, M. H. Kinard, succeeded him.

How far "a little candle throws its light!" Margaret Hess Coleman has a beautifully bound and printed booklet that all McLean would enjoy seeing and reading. It is a group of essays on the leading characters of the Old Testament. The essays were written by members of Bessie Sitter Hess' Sunday School class of boys. There is a group picture made in 1913 of Mrs. Hess with her six students. Roger Hearne told the story of the creation; Donald Beall related the trials of Jacob. Noel wrote of Joseph, Roscoe Spencer recounted the life of Abraham, Malcolm Wadly described Noah and the flood, John Stockton wrote of the life of Moses.

A wonderful booklet inspired by a wonderful woman who did much in making McLean a better place to call home.

The historical society meets every fourth Sunday at 2:30 at the school cafeteria.

NEWS OF CONSERVATION

By Jim Turner
 "Brush is one of the biggest profit robbers of Texas ranchers today," according to Jim Turner of the Soil Conservation Service. "Most brush species have such well developed root systems, and can pump water so efficiently that grass plants just can't compete with them for moisture. This is why brush is able to 'crowd out' grass."

The main water hogs Gray County ranchers have to contend with are shinnery oak and sand sage. These plants will use about 125 gallons of water to produce one pound of dry material. In comparison, a good grass plant like little bluestem uses only about 60 gallons to make one pound of grazable material. Since brush has very little grazing value, every gallon of water used by it is lost profit to the rancher and stockman.

Figuring two pounds of grass could be grown for every one pound of brush, its easy to see why brush control is profitably.

Brush control and grass deferments go hand in hand. Without a good rest following control, brush treatment effects can be greatly reduced. Once brush has been killed, (usually by chemical spraying in Gray County), the best way to stay rid of it is by taking good care of the grass that will take its place. Since brush keeps grass under it stunted and weak, a three to five month reforestation after spraying is usually needed to allow grass to take over the area treated. This rest enables grassplants to strengthen their root systems, get more moisture, and increase their crown size. They can then hold their ground and compete favorably for all moisture that occurs.

Without grazing pressure during this time, plants are able to do a much better job of feeding themselves and building up strength. Grass plants take about ninety-five percent of their nutrients from the sunlight and atmosphere. They absorb these nutrients through green leaves and turn them into simple sugar and starches. These sugars are then broken down further into simple fats, and proteins, and used by the plants for food and growth. Since this food making process must be done entirely in the green leaf, it is important that a plant has all the leaf surface possible to work with during this time. Periodic rests during spring and summer months are good any time, regardless of whether or not brush is being controlled. Plants that are able to do a good job of feeding themselves will produce the most forage."

SCHOOL FEEDING PROGRAMS

Lunch at school has become part of the American tradition — part of our way of life. The benefits are enormous. The program helps to build strong bodies and alert minds in our children. It also helps teach good food habits to those who will be tomorrow's adult Americans.

School lunch is the largest non-profit food service operation in the world. It is a prime example of how local, state, and Federal efforts can be coordinated. Three-fourths of our school-age children are enrolled in the more than 70,000 schools serving nutritious, well-balanced lunches each school day. A total of 18 million youngsters participate in the program.

Poor Nutrition A Danger
 But bigness is not the sole measure of accomplishment to be applied to school lunch. The interest in school lunch in the United States dates back more than a hundred years. Early in this century concerned physicians and public health workers, as well as educators, had realized that poor nutrition in children was a danger to their health.

Many local efforts were made to meet the challenge. Milk at morning recess was one of the first. Later, milk distribution just before the opening of school was undertaken in many areas. This was done because it was noted that many children came to school without breakfast. The reasons varied. Sometimes, it was just the plain shiftlessness of parents.

Some Lunches Inadequate
 As distances lengthened between home and school, and more parents worked all day, the need for more than just milk at school became apparent. Many of the lunches that children brought to school were nutritionally inadequate. Educators also believed lunch at school could have educational impact. Thus, in 1946 the National School Lunch Act was enacted by Congress. And nowdays, educators coordinate the experience students have in eating nutritious meals with nutrition education in the classroom.

Both the U.S. Department of Agriculture and state departments of education are involved. Federal funds reimburse the local communities for part of the cost of the food, most of which is purchased locally. Some foods are purchased by USDA; some surplus foods also are distributed from this source.

Nonprofit Schools Eligible
 Both public and private (non-profit) schools are eligible provided they operate the lunch program on a nonprofit basis. Established standards provide that the lunch must meet the lunchtime nutritional needs of the children. The four food groups, including milk, are emphasized.

The meals must be served without cost, or at reduced cost, to children who are unable to pay the full price of the lunch. No discrimination or segregation within the school against any child is permitted because of his inability to pay, or because of race, color, or national origin.

Almost a billion dollars' worth of lunches are served in schools each year under this program. But there are still almost 10 million children attending schools without any food service at all, and millions of children who do not participate in schools where lunch is served. More nutrition education is needed to counter this fact. Parents can help, too. Schools in needy areas can get Federal assistance if there is a lack of food service equipment.

ON THE WAY UP

Four years out of college... assistant to a department head... the junior executive considered most likely to succeed.

Fifteen years from now—or twenty—do you think he'll be president of the company? We haven't the slightest idea. All we know is that, right now, he's on the way up.

Many things determine a man's potential for positions of responsibility and trust; one of them is character.

Character isn't easy to define—it is much easier to recognize.

This man goes to church every Sunday... not because he is seeking character... but because he is seeking God.

And the people who know him best figure that is one of the clearest marks of his character.

WINTER 'ANGLING'

Even though lakes and rivers are frozen and snow covered in the northern climes, fishermen having an urge to flex their casting arms can still do so and have fun in the process.
For the angler who received a new rod or reel for Christmas, here is a suggestion from the fishing experts at Mercury outboards for getting the "feel" of the new equipment before that first spring outing.
Place a bushel basket in the yard or driveway approximately fifty feet away. Using a rubber practice plug, try casting it into the basket. When you can "plow" the plug in the basket consistently, reduce the size of the target by substituting a pail. The target can continue to be made smaller by substituting a gallon can, quart can,
etc.
If the entire family happen to be anglers, here's another winter activity that is guaranteed to delight one and all.
Have the kids trace outlines of fish in the snow in various sections of the back yard, making sure the outlines are as close as possible to actual size.
Each member of the family then take turns to see who can come closest to casting the plug right in front of these outlined "junkies."
Non-fishing neighbors may peer quizzically out of their windows, but in addition to being a fine winter pastime, these activities are also great practice, and practice is the one sure way of developing casting skills.
Not only does the skillful fisherman get more strikes and catch more fish, say the Mercury lads, but he also gains a certain amount of pleasure in making accurate casts.
Instead of bemoaning the fact that the favorite fishing waters are frozen and snow covered, use the time to get ready for that first "ice out" day.

Grazing Association Helps Farmers Develop Income

Farmers and cattlemen are acquiring needed land resources by forming grazing associations and obtaining financial assistance from the Farmers Home Administration, the agency's Gray County supervisor, Claude
Moore, said this week.
A grazing association is composed of a group of family farmers and ranchers who join together to acquire and develop land to provide seasonal grazing for livestock belonging to its members. The nonprofit association is owned, operated and managed by its members.
Small farmers, Mr. Moore said, can increase their income, make better use of land and water resources and develop equity in land through use of a grazing association.
Other advantages of an association include providing opportunities to improve livestock quality, gain bargaining power in the marketplace, build more stable operations and strengthen the rural community.
Results benefit the entire community, Moore said, because associations accomplish better use of land and water resources and provide expanded tax bases and more local buying power.
Grazing associations range in size from three to eighty members depending on the number of livestock to be supported and dimensions and quality of the land.
Eligible to form associations are neighboring farmers and ranchers who operate family size units. Financial and technical assistance is provided by the Farmers Home Administration. Additional aid often is provided by the Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

News From McLean

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilson of Abernathy are visiting this week with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sons and children.
The committee has made arrangements with Mr. Cal W.
Yokum, chief psychiatric social worker, with the Kilgore Children's Psychiatric Center and Hospital, Incorporated from Amarillo to conduct a series of seminar meetings. Any person who is interested in learning more on the Mental Health of Children and giving programs on this subject is invited to attend the programs beginning on March 6 at 4:00 p.m. at the Center in Amarillo.
These meetings will continue on the first and third Wednesdays of March and April.
Mrs. N. L. Nicholl, City Council of PTA; Mrs. T. T. Givens, Beta Sigma Phi City Council; Mrs.
Johnnie Spert, Lefors School Nurse; Miss Norma Lantz, Lefors School Librarian; and Mrs.
Forrest Hills, Nurses Association, plan to participate in the seminars.
The committee has contacted different organizations throughout the County to let them know about the program and to see if they wish to participate.
Any one who is interested please contact Mrs. John Spearman or Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, county home demonstration agent.
The Committee met with Mr.
Yokum to plan with him for the coming meetings and learned many points of interest on the subject. For instance, good mental health is the ability to feel comfortable about yourself, right about the other people, and meet the demands of life. Parents can help children to become more stable emotionally.
The causes of emotional illness in children can be varied.
Pressures and stresses are accelerating. The family unit is not as strong as it used to be.
We have more money available and it is assuming a greater importance to the family. Families are participating in more and different activities and sometimes these activities lead each family member in different directions. Our values are changing, weakening, and sometimes become distorted. Our security in the United States today seems to be a security of materialism.
We do not value people as much as we do material things. People become isolated from each other in the family and neighborhood.
It has been confirmed that T.V. is harmful to children if it is not used discriminately.
Statistics show that in the U.
S., one person out of ten need professional help. This applied to children would mean that out of a classroom of 30, three children would need psychiatric help.
A child needs help if their behavior is the extreme of the norms of their age group. Norms are what most people of the same age group do. When these behavior patterns of either extreme interfere with the function of the child and his family, it is time to get professional help.
Symptoms of an emotionally disturbed child may start with one of these symptoms: school fobia, low grades when potential is greater, upset stomach, dizzy spells, bathroom problems, poor speech, thumb sucking, excessively destructive, persecution complex, and stealing.

Mrs. Corcoran Hostess For Sew-Sew Club

The Sew Sew Club met Feb. 19 in the home of Mrs. Vela Corcoran.

A delicious luncheon was served at noon attended by Jeanette Kennedy, Laura Goodman, Betty Thacker, Bennie Wayne Smith, Eva Peabody, Sylvia and Tracy Wood of Pampa, Mary and Dory Groves.

The president, Jeanette Kennedy opened the business meeting in the afternoon. Mrs. Sylvia Wood asked for a leave of absence from the club. Request was granted.

Mrs. Betty Thacker gave a demonstration of a table decoration or decoration that could be used as a hanging decoration. An Irish Potato was used as a base. A very pretty decoration resulted that could be used for any occasion.

Meeting was adjourned, and the evening was spent in making tote bags and other hand work and sewing.

Sourdough Bread Recipes Given

A training meeting on Sourdough Bread was held in the kitchen of the Gray County Agricultural Office Building, Monday, February 26 for leaders from the Home Demonstration Clubs of Gray County. Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, home demonstration agent, told how to make the sourdough starter and then made San Francisco Sourdough French Bread, Biscuits and Hotcakes.

Sourdough Starter: In a 1 1/2 quart glass or earthenware container, mix together 1 envelope active dry yeast, 2 cups warm water, 2 cups all-purpose flour. Cover with cheesecloth. This keeps bugs out but lets airborne wild yeasts make contact. Leave in warm room 4-8 hours. Stir 2-3 times. It will ferment, bubble and acquire a slightly sour smell. Makes 3 cups. To use, stir then pour off as much of this starter as the recipe requires. Then add equal parts flour and water (say, 2 cups each) to remaining starter in the pot. Stir and let stand a few hours until it bubbles again before covering and refrigerating. By replenishing the starter with flour and water, you can keep it going continuously. Never add anything other than flour and water to starter pot.

San Francisco Sourdough French Bread: In large mixing bowl, sprinkle 1 pkg. active dry yeast over 1 cup warm water. Let dissolve 5 minutes. Stir in 2 tbsps. sugar, 1 1/2 cups sourdough starter, then gradually add 4 cups all-purpose flour mixed with 2 tbsps. salt. Cover bowl with damp towel, let rise 1-1 1/2 hours in warm place. Turn dough onto floured board, work in about 1 cup more flour until dough is no longer sticky, then knead until satiny (about 5 mins.). Shape dough into 1 large round or 2 long oval loaves. Set on cookie sheet sprinkled with rice flour or cornmeal. Let rise again in warm place for 1-1 1/2 hours. Put shallow pan of water on lower shelf of oven; preheat to 400 degrees. Make diagonal slashes in bread, preferably with razor blade so dough does not fall. Bake 40-50 mins. until crust is medium-dark brown. Set on rack to cool.

Sourdough Pancakes: Mix together 1 cup starter, 2 cups warm water, 2 1/4 cups all-purpose flour. Cover bowl, let stand overnight. With whisk, beat in 2 eggs, 2 tbsps. each sugar, corn oil or bacon drippings, one-third cup milk, 1 tsp. baking soda. Let batter stand 10 mins. Using 1 tsp. batter for each, make silver-dollar size pancakes, using 1 tsp. batter for each. Flip pancakes when surface bubbles form. Makes 4 1/2 cups batter, about 70 small pancakes.

Sourdough Biscuits: 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 2 tsp. baking powder, 1/4 tsp. baking soda 1 1/4 tsp. if starter is quite sour, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/2 cup butter. Add starter and mix. Turn dough out on lightly floured board. Knead lightly until satiny. Roll dough 1/4 inch thick. Cut with floured 2 1/2 inch cutter. Place biscuits in well-greased 9x9x2 inch pan. Brush with melted butter. Let rise 1 hour in warm place. Bake in hot oven (425 degree) 20 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 12 biscuits.

For more information, call Miss Wainscott at MO 4-2671, Pampa.

Visiting in the Truman Smith and Ed Peirce home this week is their grand daughter and niece Ronda Smith of Pampa.
