OIL SCOUTS HERE FOR WEEKLY CHECK MEET

Gather In Big Spring First Time In Four Years

For the first time in more than four years, scouts of the eastern part of the vast West Texas district convened here Thursday for their weekly check meet.

Scouts of thirteen companies were represented in the meeting held from the Crawford hotel and Petroleum building.

At noon the scouts were guests of the Chamber of Commerce for a luncheon held in the Crawford lounge.

W. T. Strange, Jr., chamber manager, welcomed the oil men here and offered cooperation of the city in affording needed facilities.

J. C. "Peck" Cunningham, who is dubbed by other scouts as "kingfish" of the organization, responded by expressing appreciation for cooperation extended the scouts.

The morning session was held from the Crawford, but scouts moved to the Petroleum building for sample cutting in the afternoon.

On hand for the meeting were Earl D. Cypert, Magnolia; Joe Clingam, Shell; Gordon Asbury, Atlantic; Henson Alagood, Amarada; Frank Clark, Empire; Charles Chase, Sun; Ed Keeler, Phillips; Sam Glessey, Standard; John Cram, Continental; J. C. Cunningham, Humble; H. B. Dickson, Sinclair and Prairie; Bill Brown, Gulf; Bob Brennan, California.

Although it does not possess as many wells, the east end of the West Texas district has as much if not more mileage to cover. It extends to Childress on the north and Kerr county on the south and takes in territory as far west as Howard, Glasscock and Reagan counties.

Rains Help To Avert Freeze

The premature breath of winter engulfing this section Wednesday was softened Thursday by rain and threatened freezing temperature did not materialize.

Minimum temperature for Big Spring was recorded by the U. S. Weather Bureau at the airport at 37 degrees. The Texas Electric Service sub-station four miles east registered a low of 35.

Lameza got perilously close to freezing with 34 degrees. The weather moderated somewhat with a steady fall of rain all Thursday morning.

The weather bureau rain gauge showed 40 inches of precipitation falling to 2 p. m. Thursday. The U. S. Experiment farm gauge had 58 inches at 8 a. m. for the 24 preceding hours.

Fields over most of West Texas were soggy from slow rains; and cotton picking, already weeks behind, was delayed several days more by the moisture and sharp decline in temperature.

THE WEATHER BIG SPRING—Overcast with light mist and light fog. Warmer tonight and Friday. WEST TEXAS—Occasional rains tonight and Friday. Warmer Friday and in the north and west portions tonight. EAST TEXAS—Occasional rains tonight and Saturday. Slightly warmer in the interior Saturday. NEW MEXICO—Unsettled tonight, fair and warmer Friday.

Jockey Is Put Under Bond On Murder Count

Examining trial in death of woman is set for October 31

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 24.—Murder indictments in the death of Mrs. Evelyn Sliwinski were returned by a grand jury Thursday afternoon against Willie Saunders and Walter Schaeffer.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 24. (AP)—Willie Saunders, the race jockey who rode to fame as winner of this year's Kentucky derby, Thursday was under bond of $5,000, on charges of murdering Mrs. Evelyn Sliwinski, tailor's wife whose death was the aftermath of a gay party.

SAUNDERS was arraigned Wednesday, and his examining trial was set for Oct. 31.

After county police formally charged the jockey with murder, Walter Schaeffer, a race track employe, named by Saunders as the driver of the automobile that crashed to death the 25-year-old woman, was picked up near the Pimlico race track by Baltimore police at the request of Louisville officers.

In Baltimore, Police Lieutenant Alfred Cormack said Schaeffer admitted he had been driving the automobile.

Four In Party Cormack quoted Schaeffer as saying he, Jockey Saunders, Mrs. Sliwinski and Mrs. Agatha Mackison had visited several Louisville roadhouses Saturday night and had had several drinks.

Schaeffer denied he was drunk. He said Mrs. Sliwinski was and that she had been drinking straight whisky.

The women, he went on, began to quarrel and both got out of the machine.

Schaeffer said he and Saunders rode on for a mile-and-a-half or two miles and then turned back. Mrs. Sliwinski, he said, was lying in the road, about where she had got out of the machine, and another car had just passed.

Schaeffer said Mrs. Mackison was no longer at the scene.

The implication in Schaeffer's statement was that the woman was struck and fatally injured by another automobile. He denied that he or Jockey Saunders were in any way responsible for her death.

'Rooting Regiment' Formed By Students Some 75 boys met in the high school auditorium Thursday morning for the purpose of organizing a "Rooting Regiment." This group of boys under the direction of Coach Brown will assist the school in its activities at football games and pep rallies.

Suit Filed As Aftermath To B'Spring Fair

Breach Of Contract Is Alleged In Petition Of VFW Post

Ray E. Fuller post of the VFW Thursday brought suit against W. H. Rice and Jack Ruback for $400 for an alleged breach of contract.

The suit was an outgrowth of the VFW fair held here last week. According to the plaintiff's original petition, a contract was entered into with Rice on May 11 to bring the "Industrial and Farmers Exposition" here for a week beginning Oct. 14. The contract, continued the petition, was that the VFW post should share 50 per cent of the proceeds after expenses had been paid.

Jack Ruback, it was alleged, brought the Western show here in an attempt to fulfill the contract. According to an agreement all receipts were to be placed in a local bank subject to check when countersigned by representatives of the show and the post.

Although a written statement was given the post, the petition said, that receipts amounted to $2,708.74, only $1,706 was placed in the bank and allegedly all of this was subsequently removed with the exception of $30.

It was further charged that Miss Jeanne Hostetter, winner of the Miss Prosperity award, was given only $50 in prize money. The petition related that Miss Hostetter was presented with a check for $100 as winner of the contest; that the carnival management urged that she endorse the check and be paid in cash, and that she was given a roll of bills in return for the check, but later found that only

FILM STARS' BEACH COLONY IN DANGER AS FIRE SPREADS

Brush Blaze Driven By Wind, Takes Heavy Damage Toll; Scores Are Injured

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Oct. 24. (AP)—A treacherous wind Thursday shifted the direction of a million-dollar brush fire for the second time in a day and drove it toward the now-deserted Malibu Beach exclusive motion picture colony threatening its destruction.

Scores were injured and property loss was immense.

No deaths have been reported, but fears were expressed that a few victims may have been trapped in the Malibu area. The fire in the Malibu hills, fanned by high winds, destroyed a score of homes and cabins.

Scores of brush fire fighters received hospital and emergency station treatment.

System More Liberal Than Senate Plan

Benefits Would Go To Persons With An Income Up To $720

AUSTIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Texas house Thursday passed a bill providing for the establishment of an old-age pension system.

The measure was regarded as more liberal than the senate bill which was approved Tuesday.

The house plan provided that persons with incomes of $720 yearly or less, and net property valuation of $4,000 would receive the age benefits.

A conference committee was expected to write the final draft of the two plans.

The senate's proposal included strict qualifications designed to limit the number of pensioners. Pensioners under this plan would receive up to $15 monthly, and the estimated cost of the payments to the state was $6,000,000 annually.

Amendments approved by the senate would deny benefits to persons with an annual income of $400 and to persons with $600, and to those who had $600 cash.

The house Wednesday had turned back, 85 to 50, a proposal to attach an omnibus tax bill to its pension proposal.

Sponsors of the omnibus plan were confident, however, the measure would be passed after disposition of the pension bill and mustered forces for a new attack. They attributed the adverse vote to opposition to combining taxes and pensions in a single measure.

Speaker Coke Stevenson ruled tax bill was not germane to the pension bill and the vote was on a motion to suspend the rule.

The house revenue and taxation committee last night reported favorably two bills to increase the state's "take" on horse race wagers and the natural gas production tax.

The state now receives 25 per cent of ten per cent of wagers retained by the track. The bill would increase it to 30 per cent. An effort to get the state the "break" was defeated. The natural gas tax was increased from two to three per cent of its value.

Roosevelt Turns To War Problem

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (AP)—President Roosevelt, his long vacation ended, was back at his desk Thursday.

Among other matters, his principal interest immediately was the status of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict and its effect on the United States.

Strange To Speak At Abilene Event

W. T. Strange, manager of the chamber of commerce, will go Friday night to Abilene, where he has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at the Ladies night program sponsored by the Rotary club of that city.

Strange will be accompanied by Shine Phillips.

The Abilene Rotary function will be held at the Hilton hotel there.

Efforts Pushed To Have Activity Continued At Park

SUSPENSION OF PARK WORK WILL MEAN HEAVY DAMAGE TO BUILDINGS NOT FINISHED

Consensus of local opinion Thursday was that the state park would be harmed not only by incomplete structures but that many advantages already gained would be lost if the local CCC camp is abandoned.

Not one permanent structure of the Scenic Mountain is ready for use. The pavilion, complete to all intents, lacks light connections. The concessions building must have more rock work and interior finishing; the caretaker's cottage is only about half completed at the most; and the latrine is useless without water connections.

As much as a 15-day layoff might cause irreparable harm to the concessions building and caretaker's cottage considering the stage of construction.

The former must have several hundred surface feet of rock laid yet, have wiring installed, gas and water appliances fixed, flooring poured and interior finishing must be done.

Greatest damage, it was stated, would come to the caretaker's house. About 85 per cent of the rock work is complete but the roof has not been covered and practically all timber is exposed to the elements.

Fears were also expressed that (Continued On Page 6)

Seek Pair In Dutch Schultz Is Wounded Badly, Two Of His Henchmen Slain

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (AP)—The outbreak of violent gang warfare that critically wounded Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, Fliegenheimer, killed two of his henchmen and wounded two others last night, sent police Thursday on a hunt for Albert Stern, accused in wholesale hoodlum slayings, and Charles Luciano, called "Mafia's most powerful gangster."

Stern already was wanted for the murder of Louis Amberg. Schultz was shot down with his chauffeur and two bodyguards in a Newark, N. J. tavern. The bodyguards, Otto Berman and Leo Frank, died. Another aide, Martin Krompfer, was shot as he left a New York barber shop.

Police thought it possible that Luciano's associates had decided to massacre the Schultz gang in one sensational coup, and seize control of every New York racket.

Schultz was critically wounded, and hospital authorities said, they did not expect him to live. The shooting apparently occurred without warning and the gunman, who fled through a back door of the restaurant supposedly escaped in an automobile.

The wounded men were taken to a hospital. Schultz, although struck by more than one bullet, remained conscious long enough to walk to an ambulance.

Schultz has been at liberty under $50,000 bail on a charge of income tax evasion. Arrested a month ago in Perth Amboy, he has fought removal to the southern district of New York, where the indictment charging him with income tax evasion was returned.

At the present time, his attorneys are engaged in a move to have Federal Judge William Clark declared ineligible to sit at the removal proceedings. They filed an affidavit charging the jurist with prejudice, but Judge Clark ruled himself eligible to hear the case. Schultz immediately filed an appeal with the U. S. circuit court of appeals.

Long Ago Had Talked With Psychologist

Testimony In Support Of Insanity Plea Given By Many Others

AUSTIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—Howard Pierson's elder brother, William, Thursday testified at the former's sanity hearing that he believed Howard is insane. He said that the two had discussed Howard's trouble, and that Howard had consulted a psychologist long before his parents were slain.

William Pierson said the youth had a delusion that he was not the son of Justice and Mrs. William Pierson, for whose deaths he is charged with murder. The witness testified "there is no doubt in my mind that he is insane. He does not know right from wrong."

William said he did not know whether Howard knew of their father's $17,000 insurance.

Dr. A. L. Aulick, Shawnee, Okla., minister, and a former minister of an Austin church, described Howard as a "queer boy."

Dr. M. D. Bule, Marlin physician, said he had examined young Pierson, and concluded that he is suffering delusions and is mentally unbalanced now. He said Pierson believed he would dominate the human race.

Testimony of these witnesses followed that presented Wednesday by Dr. Joe Wooten, of Austin, qualified expert on mental diseases, who said that he had warned the youth's parents that he was insane and ought to be watched.

With various other experts, relative and acquaintances, Dr. Wooten testified Pierson had acted queerly and given strong symptoms of mental instability prior to last April 24 when he killed his father and mother, Associate Justice William Pierson of the state supreme court and Mrs. Pierson.

Dr. Wooten said that in March, 1934, he treated young Pierson for "attempted suicide by inhaling carbon monoxide in a closed garage," that he perceived symptoms of incipient dementia praecox and spoke to Justice Pierson.

"I told his father the boy was suffering from dementia praecox," Dr. Wooten said. "I told him I ought to put his arms around him and make friends with him. Also that he should be watched."

"Did Justice Pierson follow your advice?" asked District Attorney James P. Hart.

"I don't know," Dr. Wooten replied.

Both Dr. Wooten and Dr. C. H. Standifer, superintendent of the Austin State Hospital, testified Pierson was a paranoid type of dementia praecox and was living in a world of delusions and unreality. They said he did not know the difference between right and wrong and was incapable of making a rational defense.

Brazos Funds Are Released

Ruling McCraw To Mean Early Start On Dam Construction

AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—An opinion by Attorney General William McCraw Thursday released diverted state tax funds to match FWA money, permitting the start of construction on one or more units of the thirty-million-dollar Brazos river flood control and water conservation project.

One of the major FWA jobs contemplated for Texas, the Brazos project has been long delayed by difficulties over funds. FWA approval has been on a part of the needed funds, and the addition of state money was expected to clear the way for a start on the gigantic project.

McCraw's opinion was required to release $300,000 of general fund taxes diverted annually for twenty years in ten Brazos watershed counties.

The start of work on the project was considered assured. It was planned first to construct a $3,000,000 dam and reservoir in Palo Pinto and Young counties.

Club Officials Give Entrance Deadline For Flower Exhibit

Flowers and plants to be entered in the Garden Club show Saturday will be received to 10 a. m. on that day, officials of the club announced Thursday.

The show will be held from the show rooms of the Big Spring Motor Company and all persons having plants or flowers to exhibit are urged to bring them to the show rooms.

Officials Promise Help; Transfer Is Started

While the first detachment of the CCC camp at the state park left Thursday for Sweetwater efforts were being pushed by Big Spring civic and business interests to have the work maintained here until the local project is completed.

A move was launched on a wide front to get state and national authorities to arrange for continuance of the CCC work here; and local leaders expressed the hope that the bombardment of demands for action may get results.

Telegrams by the score were dispatched Wednesday to Senator Morris Sheppard, messages and a phone call were sent to D. E. Colp, chairman of the state parks board; the chamber of commerce discussed the situation with Governor James V. Allred by telephone; photographs showing graphically how many units at the park were being left unfinished by the CCC evacuation were sent by airmail to Conrad Wirth, director of the national park service.

Assurances of cooperative efforts came from many of these sources. Senator Sheppard replied to most of the Big Spring telegrams with the words that he would do the best he could in Big Spring's behalf. Governor Allred told W. T. Strange, C. of C. manager, over the telephone that he would make an effort to remedy the situation. The Washington office of Rep. George Mahon promised action, and said contacts would be made with Wirth and C. C. Fechner, CCC chief.

Asked Extension Colp, in a telephone conversation with Strange, and also by wire to the chamber of commerce, asserted that application was made through Mr. Nason to Mr. Ambler (both officials of the national park service), for continuation of the Big Spring camp until Dec. 31. "We took it for granted," Colp's telegram said, "that the extension was agreeable and planned accordingly."

Local interests thus were working through both the national park service and the state parks officials in an effort to have the local project continued.

Meanwhile, a detail of 25 under command of Lieut. Albert H. Bankert, left the local camp for a Sweetwater project Thursday; and transfer of the remainder of the unit was to be started Saturday, under command of First Lieut. Frank B. Farr. Evacuation of the camp will have been completed by the first of the week, unless orders are changed; and work at the park will be suspended unless further provision is made for CCC labor.

Gets 15 Months On Narcotics Charge

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 24. (AP)—Fleeting guilty to a narcotics sales charge, Fred C. Keyes of San Angelo, was sentenced to serve 15 months in the Leavenworth penitentiary by Federal Judge William Atwell. The judge said that he had information that Keyes' sales extended to Abilene, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa and Eden.

A. Julius Gray and E. J. Red Griffls, both young men, were sentenced to six months in jail but Judge Atwell suspended the terms during one year's probation.

WPA Allotments Received Here

Allotments were received by the district WPA offices here Thursday morning for the Odessa school and Big Spring mattress factory projects.

Receipt of the allotments will make possible the beginning of work on the Odessa job by Tuesday. Making of necessary arrangements will probably delay the beginning of the local community service project for about 15 days.

First WPA pay day was scheduled to take place in Seagraves Friday when $102.51 will be distributed to half a dozen men for a few days work before the Seagraves Loop job was shut down due to lack of available man power.

TO AMARILLO F. D. Wilson left Thursday for Amarillo, where he will spend a few days on business.

Around And About

The Sports Circuit

By Tom Beasley

FOUND ON the desk this morning: "Ole Cordill says that as long as the fans razz him, they are letting the rest of the team alone, and when they want to razz any individual, razz him instead."

FROM THE mail bag: Dear Tom: "I noticed a good bit of criticism of our team in yesterday's Herald and of Cordill as an individual. Probably this fan and former coach didn't know San Angelo's scouts were here for the Cisco game, and the Steers were only using three or four of their regular plays. I am sure he saw the yardage gained by Cordill when the other backs were stopped at the line of scrimmage."

"Cordill, for the past two years has not been good enough for college; that is, good college football. He has enough fight to make him start out and look better than the average."

"If this fan knew the full details of this year's team, and its quarterbacking, I am sure he would have no comments to make. My suggestion to this fan and former coach, if he is so over-burdened with football brains, would be to start coaching football instead of writing little petty letters of criticism about those who try. Yours sincerely, Cecil Reid."

ANOTHER LETTER comes signed "A Fan" who wrote in part: Dear Tom:

"I too, would like to know what is "late" to some of our esteemed high school students. If necessary, I can give the names and addresses of a full half dozen players on the team who are out every night until one or two o'clock. I work at this time so I am in a position to know. You know, before the Abilene game, the boys (some of them) were in Abilene to see the Tech-HSU game, and got out "ill 3 a. m. Last night they were in Midland. They lost the Abilene game. What will they do now?"

THE LETTER writer then launched into a stinging criticism of the Steers' training methods, and wound up the missive with: "I don't believe that some of the boys believe in SCHOOL SPIRIT, or they don't know what a spot they are in with Ackerly."

Would the writer please furnish this department with the boy's names, and sign the list?

HERE'S ANOTHER hot one: Mr. Tom Beasley Big Spring Daily Herald Dear Tom:

"To begin with I can't hard to understand why the writer of said article signs his epistle a FORMER coach."

"It has been our understanding ever since Bristow has been in charge of Big Spring football that he has welcomed any and all visitors to his daily practices and has been more than glad to listen to such suggestions as the fans might have to offer, using those suggestions that he felt were of value to the betterment of the team."

"As to the giving or not giving "As to the giving or not giving is customary for a football team to indulge in a form of preparation before playing a game, called practice usually about two hours each day preceding the game of the week. The boys that are to play in the forthcoming game are chosen from the results of these practices and not from suppositions as to what they MIGHT do in a game."

"The unprofessional-like remarks about Ole are to say the least, ridiculous. A more conscientious, hard working, modest boy hasn't represented any Big Spring team in several years. Bristow is quite aware of his abilities and quite naturally instructs Ole before the game who shall punt—pass—carry the ball on certain plays, etc., and Ole will carry out the instructions to the best of his ability, unless comments such as published on Wednesday interfere. Maybe some of the fans don't understand why Ole didn't start out the first of the year with Ole at quarterback. This situation invariably arises when it is necessary for the outstanding offensive man on a football team to call signals."

"In conclusion, we would like to find out just what it is that some of these fans want. When Big Spring loses they holler their heads."

ACKERLY'S FIRST TEAM IN HISTORY

Talley's Bulldogs Have Won Two Out Of Three Games

COAHOMA, Oct. 24.—The Coahoma Bulldogs, anxious for a comeback after suffering a stinging 15 to 0 defeat at Snyder, will trek to Ackerly Friday afternoon for a game with the Ackerly high school gridder, the first football team in Ackerly's history. It will be Ackerly's first game—the fourth of the season for the Bulldogs. Loss of the Myers brothers, two of the heaviest boys on the Coahoma team, sliced the average weight down to 135 pounds per man, and weakened the attack. Wide end runs have been gaining most of the ground for Coach Talley's men.

Terrific Struggle Is Expected Saturday As Longhorns Clash With Kitts' Team

HADLOCK AND ARNOLD READY Star Texas Backs Against Wallace, McCauley

AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—Besides a terrific struggle between well balanced, well schooled football machines, the game between the Rice Owls and the Texas Longhorns here Saturday promises to develop several outstanding individual battles between the stars of the two elevens. The "Touchdown Twins," Bill Wallace and John McCauley, are apt to see Jim Hadlock and Jay Arnold challenging their right to the honor of being rated as the leading scoring combination in the Southwest. Hadlock has fully recovered from the injury sustained in the L. S. U. game, and with two weeks of rest should be ready to give the 30,000 spectators in prospect some of the thrilling broken field running that has characterized his play during the past two seasons. Arnold, coming back into his own after having been out a year due to ineptly, has demonstrated early season form on an equal with that of any back in the conference. His powerful driving, his stellar pass receiving and his dependable defensive work have been the surprise element of the Longhorn team. But should Hadlock and Arnold fail to match the heralded Rice ball boys it may develop that Pitzer and Sands or Pitzer and Atchison will team up to compare their wares with those of the Feathered scorers. Sands and Atchison have used their great speed to supply most of the touchdown punch for the Longhorns to date, and either of the pair is apt to break loose. Nor will the backfield be the scene of the only individual battle for honors. Clint Small and "Primo" Miller, junior tackles on the Steer and Owl elevens respectively, are due to determine fairly definitely which is to win All-Conference honors this season. Small has been the defensive star of the Longhorn forward wall, and his offensive work has left little to be desired. Miller started the season slowly but has regained his 1934 form. He holds a 30-pound weight advantage over Small, but the latter makes up for much of that disadvantage by his greater speed.

THE average monthly farm wage without board in Texas Oct. 1 was reported by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics as $27.50, well below the national average of $30.38. The lowest paid farmers were those of South Carolina, with an average monthly pay envelope of $15.50. Rhode Island's were paid the best, receiving $65.25 each month. In Texas the average pay with board for farm labor was $19.50, or 18 cents daily. Without board, the daily rate was $1.20. The national average pay with board was $20.57 monthly and $1.11 on a day by day basis. In Oklahoma this average was $19; Louisiana's, $14; New Mexico, $25. The bureau reported the Texas farm labor supply was 102 per cent of normal, demand was 75 per cent of normal and the supply was 136 per cent of the demand. Farm wages the country over were reported by the bureau to be about 25 per cent higher than Oct. 1 a year ago. Gib Sandifer of Abilene is handling ticket sales for West Texas. A team from the Southwest conference, Price said, will play a Southeastern conference team, to be selected by sports writers.

T.C.U. PLANS FOR BIG HOMECOMING

FORT WORTH, Oct. 24.—"The biggest homecoming Texas Christian University ever held" is the claim that is being made by the committee in charge for the 1935 Horned Frog homecoming, scheduled for Nov. 29 and 30 on the occasion of the S. M. U. T. C. U. football game here. "Already, more than a month before the event, more interest has been displayed than at any time since 1925," says Stewart Hollman, Fort Worth attorney, who is in charge of local arrangements. Dan Rogers, famed Frog supporter of Dallas, has announced that the Dallas alumni will all be in Fort Worth for the reunion activities and the game. Mack Clark, assistant business manager of athletics in charge of ticket sales, reports that advance sales are already running heavy and that the stadium that day will probably hold a record crowd for football in Fort Worth.

Blue Bonnet Bowl Game Is Ballyhooed

ABILENE, Oct. 24.—Bud Price of Dallas, ballyhooing a proposed football game in Texas to be known as the Blue Bonnet Bowl game, was here this week in the interests of the post-season grid classic. First game is ticketed for Fair Park stadium in Dallas on Dec. 28.

FORD TO BE STARTING QUARTER

125-Pound Youngster To Bark The Signals Friday

Jimmy Ford, 125 pound youngster who played with Ben Daniels' Devil team last year, jumping to the Steer squad this season, will start at quarter against the Plainview Bulldogs here Friday night. Small but speedy, and a brainy player, Ford will be getting the chance many fans have asked for him. He saw a little service against the Austin Hi Panthers in El Paso this year, turning in a good performance. Other than testing the inexperienced Ford youngster at quarter for the signal calling, coaches indicated the line-up would be about the same as last week's array against Cisco. However, Woodrow Coops, starting halfback, has been on the sick list and may not be in good trim for the fray. Head coach Bristow has had work-outs disrupted all during the season by failure to get all of his backfield men out for practice at the same time. Rain late Wednesday forced the players to take to cover after only an hour's practice.

Chevigny Never Held Scoreless

AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—The unique distinction of never having been held scoreless in his career as a head coach goes to Jack Chevigny of the University of Texas. The young Longhorn coach is only in the midst of his third season as head director of a college football eleven, but in the 23 games that short career he has never yet failed to score at least one touchdown. In his first year as a head coach he piloted the St. Edward's university Tigers to their first Texas Conference championship with seven wins and two losses. His team scored 110 points against 33 by the opposition and held six of the nine teams scoreless. That was in 1933, three years after he entered the coaching profession as an assistant at Notre Dame. In the 1934 season as head coach at the University of Texas, his first Longhorn team won seven games, lost two and tied one, but were never held scoreless. Two shutout victories were gained by that team as it amassed 137 points against 55 by the opposition. This year the Longhorns have won three out of four, but have never been held scoreless nor shut out any of their opponents. Over the two and a half year career, Chevigny's teams have won 17 games, lost five and tied one, and have gathered a total of 322 points to 162 by the opposition. In spite of the fact that only 17 points have been kicked after 48 touchdowns, Chevigny's teams have lost only one game by a one-point margin. On the other hand, three games have been won by one point, indicating that while Chevigny's point kickers are not very consistent they do deliver in the pinches.

Uncle Sam Barring Camera Shots Of Postoffice Rooms

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (UP)—Elaborate preparations of gangsters for a supposed post office robbery have led to a ban on photographs of post office workrooms, the post office department announced. Five men recently requested officials of a second class post office where large sums of money are handled for permission to photograph the workroom. The men said they were permitted to photograph four out of five offices they visited. Later the five were arrested by police and identified as members of a well known gang. Post office authorities, in issuing the warning, said that "no doubt they intended to burglarize the post office when conditions were such that they were sure they could obtain a large sum of money."

Shipments of Thanksgiving Dinners Will Be Heavier This Year

Shipments of Thanksgiving dinners will be heavier this year. The major portion of Dewitt's 1934 crop was held back for the Christmas market in order that birds might be properly fattened. As Dewitt turkey growers raise practically all of their feed they expect to realize a profit of more than half a million dollars.

Big Turkey Crop Is Expected This Year

CUERO, Oct. 24 (AP)—Dewitt county expects to ship between 100,000 and 170,000 turkeys during the 1935 season. Although the crop is about fifteen per cent shorter than in 1934, the birds are much heavier and more fully developed than those which went on the Thanksgiving market last year. Three dressing plants will operate here and approximately thirty cars of dressed birds will go out. Range and weather conditions have been ideal for the past three months, and losses from diseases have been unusually light.

Del Rio Golf Dates Fixed

Expect Big Spring Players For Three Day Tourney

DEL RIO, Oct. 24.—With dates for the first annual Dr. John R. Brinkley invitation golf tournament definitely set for Nov. 22, 23, and 24, officials of the San Felipe Country Club Monday began preparations to make the first of a series of fall tournaments here rank among the golfing classics of the Southwest. All trophies for the four flights, winners and runners-up of consolation, will be given by Dr. Brinkley, famous Del Rio physician. In lieu of the usual qualifying round, places in all flights will be determined by certified handicaps from the player's home club professional. Thus, there will be no medalist and no seeded brackets, but an open draw. The nine-hole San Felipe Country Club course, over which the tournament will be held, is not only one of the most attractive in the United States, but will offer many a hazard to the visiting golfer. Water hazards on six of the holes, narrow approaches to sloping greens, and no less than 22 traps, will run many a top-notch score over the par 36. Del Rio will offer two of the outstanding aces of the Southwest in Bud McKinney, who 1934 national qualifying round for the national amateur several years, and Welcome Anderson. San Antonio, San Angelo, Big Spring, Abilene, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Corpus Christi, Lubbock, Sweetwater, Ranger, and Colorado are expected to send entries to the Southwest's only major fall tournament. Entrance can be made through Russell Hurd, president of the San Felipe Country Club; James C. Nettis, secretary of the Del Rio Chamber of Commerce; Curtis Bishop, city editor of the Del Rio Evening News; or W. H. Lundberg, pro, San Felipe Country Club. No photographs of post office workrooms may now be made without permission from the Post Office Department here.

First Methodist Women Honor Mrs. Cage With Pretty Shower

Farewell Party Held At Home Of Mrs. J. A. Myers; Novel Presentation Of Wishes Is Feature Of Function

Mrs. Felton Smith and Mrs. J. A. Myers were joint hostesses for a surprise shower honoring Mrs. C. D. Cage Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Myers.

Mrs. E. D. Porter brought Mrs. Cage to the party with the understanding that she was going to a committee meeting. When she arrived Mrs. R. L. Warren at first presided over the meeting as though it were a group of Methodist women in a business session.

The hostess later informed the members that because several hay fever sufferers were present bouquets were impossible and bouquets of the honoree would be showered with bricks. Cards cut to represent bricks were passed and guests asked to write farewell wishes on them. Mrs. Cage did not know that there were intended for her until they were presented to her.

In addition to the wishes, the honoree received a lovely vanity from the Susannah Wesley class of the First Methodist Sunday school and a shower of gifts from all those present at the party.

Refreshments also carried out the Halloween motif that was used for the decorations. They consisted of open-faced sandwiches, nuts, mints, devil food cake and coffee.

Present were: Meses, Emma Davis, J. C. Waits, Sr., F. D. Wilson, Y. H. Flywellen, Logan Baker, Charles Morris, S. P. Jones, Key, Henry Williamson, Horace Penn, J. M. Manuel, R. L. Warren, E. D. Porter, Miss Mattie Heffley.

Gifts were received from Mrs. C. A. Bickley, Mrs. C. F. Lochridge and Miss Ruby Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Cage left this morning for Dallas.

FAT GIRLS GET THE GO-BY—SLIM GIRLS WIN MEN

Less Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation, Diets, Hard, Exhausting Jobs or Weakness, Irritation, Hair-Frizzing Laxatives.

There's a reason why so many people find dining alone and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right. It will fill the blood in your body through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue to reach the same way as a good "draft" sets in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by cutting this gland the substance it lacks—millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out this way.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same scientific method used by doctors. So don't waste your time or money trying to reduce with methods that are harmful, futile or depend on harmful, health-destroying salts and laxatives. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't start Marmola today from druggists.

Flower Show To Be Held On Saturday

Ford Display Rooms To Be Converted Into Garden

The cold, wet weather is not retarding the blossoming of chrysanthemums report members of the Garden club busy with the details of the Flower Show to be held next Saturday.

The show will be again staged in the Ford display rooms.

Mrs. L. E. Eddy, general chairman, has planned many changes from those of previous years, and the club itself has assembled an array of prizes for entrants that will make it more than worth while bringing plants and flowers to the show.

The flower show is a vindication every fall of what West Texas semi-arid soil can produce under unfavorable weather conditions, high water rates, and generally inexperienced gardening, for most of the members of the club are experimenters. The weather of the past week has been a surprise and was an unexpected element, but members of the club look forward to a sunny Friday and a good show Saturday in spite of the low temperatures.

Mrs. Eddy is arranging for a display of floral decorations for tea tables, for a classification of flowers as announced in the Sunday's Herald and for favors for all visitors. She asked that every one bringing flowers bring them around 8 or 9 o'clock Saturday morning, so that the exhibit may be in place early. Those bringing them after the judges start work will not be eligible for prizes.

Teachers To Be Feted Tonight At Hi School

The Parent-Teacher Associations of the city are acting as hostesses tonight at the high school library for the teachers of the Big Spring school system. The reception has grown out of an expressed desire on the part of the former teachers to become acquainted with the newer ones in the wards, said Mrs. C. A. Bulot, general chairman.

A musical program has been planned and refreshments will be served. Only teachers have been invited and they have been asked to inform members of the committee if they could not attend.

Presidents and hospitality chairmen of the various units will be present to greet the guests. They are:

Mes. J. C. Loper and Harry Hart of South Ward; L. L. Gulley and Ned Ferguson of West Ward; H. W. Smith and R. L. Beale of North Ward; C. W. Dickerson and J. L. Terry of East Ward; C. A. Bulot and Shine Phillips, Junior High and Mrs. Hayes Stripling chairman of the council.

Night Cactus Club Plays At Settles

Marigolds formed an attractive autumn centerpiece for the dinner table at the Settles around which the members of the Night Cactus club gathered Wednesday evening for their monthly night party.

The remainder of the time was spent at bridge. Scores of husbands and wives were added together and trophies awarded on that basis. The Habas received a pretty table lamp for highest score and the Angels a deck of cards for consolation.

Tallies were cut to represent pumpkins and had to be fitted together for the members to find partners.

Playing were: Meses and Meses, Fahn, Clyde Angel, Lester Short, W. W. Pendleton, Herbert Whitney, M. E. Tatum and R. E. Lee.

The Lees will entertain the club in November.

Lucky Thirteen Low-Scorers Are Entertained In Collings' Home

Hallowe'en Atmosphere Adds Gaiety To Evening Party; Several Guests Play With Members And Husbands

The low-scorers of the Lucky Thirteen bridge club were hostesses to the high-scorers and husbands of the club members for an unusually spooky Hallowe'en party Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Collings.

The guests were required to enter through the rear into a darkened hall of horrors. They were escorted by ghosts and witches to view the last remains of what was said to be the victim who had trumped his partner's ace.

They were then ushered into the lighted living room which was attractively decorated with sheaves of grain, pumpkins and fall fruits, such as persimmons, apples, grapes.

The evening was spent at cards. Hallowe'en novelties were presented to Miss Catherine Young for winning highest score among the women and to Mr. Ogden for making high for the men.

Pumpkin pie and coffee were served at the close of the games. Club members and husbands present were: Meses, and Meses, Joe Ogden, O. M. Waters, W. T. Strange, M. Wentz, Kin Barnett, Hayes Stripling; Meses, O. R. Bolinger, H. C. Keaton and H. N. Robinson.

Chapter 44 BREAKFAST. David woke just as dawn was sifting into his room. He made a valiant effort to go back to sleep, knowing that the household would not stir for at least an hour, but the effort was unsuccessful. He felt much as he had felt as a child on Christmas mornings, when he had lain and tried to decide whether to rise in the cold darkness to a solitary discovery of his presents, or to wait until Judith should wake and share his delight. At last he gave up the attempt, and slipping on a heavy dressing gown he went to sit on the windowsill and watch the sunrise. Frost lay like a lace veil over the grass and shrubs, and the rising sun tinted distant fields with a faint pink glow. For the first time in his life David wanted to level at the window and pray, not to any God above him, but to the earth below. He turned away and dressed quickly in riding clothes, then stole quietly down the stairs and out into the cold, still air. He went straight to the stables and saddled Aubrey's big gelding, his fingers perceiving skilfully and automatically an almost forgotten task. The gelding eyed him suspiciously, and blew warm clouds of mist into the crisp air. He was accustomed to working before breakfast, and he felt, moreover, that he should resent the attentions of this stranger. But, like David, he sensed in the stranger a kindred spirit. He danced restlessly as David swung into the saddle, and David leaned over to pat his shining flank. 'I feel the same way myself, fella,' David chuckled. 'Let's go!' Head out, his powerful body extended, the big horse raced from the dusky stable into the advancing morning. David guided him into a narrow roadway that led across bare fields and through a thicket of pines, then into cleared spaces once more. Mist lay heavy above a stream that wavered across the fields, and the delicate pink light of sunrise was merging rapidly into the pale gold of early morning. Having worked off his superfluous energy, the big horse slowed suddenly to a walk, and David's mood shifted with equal rapidity from exaltation to reticence. His mind went back to the events of the evening before; to Judith and Aubrey, and the feeling of peace and familiarity that had enveloped him from the moment of his arrival at Morton Hall. He came finally and almost reluctantly to the memory of Emily, descending the broad staircase and walking straight into his life again. A very different Emily from the child he had known before—a poised, mature woman, lovelier even than he had remembered her. Not the sort of woman, certainly, that he could ask to share a lifetime, perhaps, of poverty and struggle. He had accustomed himself during the past weeks to the idea of life alone at Carrollton—for several years at least—and Emily's reappearance had deprived him of the idea of his charm. Judith had meant well, bless her, but Judith should have known that it was impossible. As for Carrollton itself; for some reason that he couldn't quite define he was waiting—postponing his visits of rediscovery. It was in terrible repair, Judith had warned him, and Carrollton in disrepair didn't bear thinking about. He wanted a few days to fortify himself; after that he would go and see for himself. He turned his mount towards home, and the horse, mindful of his deferred breakfast, began once more to run. At the stable David flung himself from the saddle and handed the reins to a grinning black boy. 'Give him a good rub-down, son, and no breakfast for half an hour.' The boy bobbed like an automaton. 'Yassuh, Mist' David.' The household had awakened during his absence, and was alive with sounds of activity; the purr of a vacuum cleaner, the tinkle of silver and glass as Dorinda set the table—the faint, distant crooning of Louella as she prepared breakfast. He went upstairs and changed clothes, whisking softly as he went. On the way down again he stopped, as he had stopped so many times before, to bang loudly on Judith's door. 'This is a devil of a way to treat a prodigal! I've been up for two hours.' Judith's voice, heavy with sleep, filtered through the door. 'Oh! all the disgusting energy—I'll be down in a few minutes to have breakfast with you.' 'I'll have to be a very few minutes,' he warned her, 'or there won't be any breakfast to have.' He turned away, glanced at Emily's door and realized suddenly that he was incapable, now, of re-

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—The Pagliacci complex mingled with the invariable wish of clowns to play Hamlet is manifest in the off-stage demeanor of most headline comics. After the grease and paint are removed their droll proclivities entirely disappear and to persons seeing them without knowing who they are often seem to be creatures in the web of most lachrymose circumstances. I have seen Ed Wynn, in street clothes, so morose in aspect that I fully expected him to burst into tears. Fred Allen is another who is sometimes given to brooding melancholy. Jack Benny, wit that he is, occasionally lapses into bleak reveries. And Jimmy Savo is often mired in gloomy meditation. After their moments of drollery on the stage, perhaps such reactions are necessary before their personalities are able to attain a more normal level. Anyway, it should be an interesting question for a psycho-analysis. Those claustrophobia victims who feel themselves hemmed in by the towering walls of skyscrapers and who complain of having no escape from the every day world of reality should go down to the waterfront for any of the mid-night sailings. There, in the glare of mighty lights, the giant ocean liners lie. You don't have to know anybody on board, or even have a pass to go aboard. You just drop a dime in a turnstile slot and saunter up the gangplank, as if you were there to bid bon voyage to departing friends. The confusion and the excitement of passengers finding their cabins, of opening corsages of orchids and violets, of popping corks, and of sharing an hour of the giddy exhilaration that somehow seems a part of a midnight sailing will make you forget the cold asphalt of Fifth avenue and the antagonism of the subway rush. Go out on deck, as I did, the other night. It was approaching the hour of sailing, and the Berengaria had become a trembling, living thing. I was there to say au revoir to a confrere who was sailing on a war correspondent's mission to Ethiopia. We stood there, this tremendously elated scribe and I, looking down into the murky Hudson and then out through the mist-drenched night to where twinkling lights made a neon outline of the jagged Manhattan coast. Sometime before dawn the Berengaria backed into mid-channel and turned her prow toward the open sea. What was so thrilling and exciting about that? Nothing, I suppose, if you pin me to it, but in a way it was—escape! The gent who carved the Declaration of Independence or whatever it was—on a pin-head has nothing on Mr. Farley, who has just succeeded in putting the Grand Canyon on a postage-stamp—Macon Telegraph.

Vote To Test Empire State On New Deal

National Issues Raised In Legislative Race Ending Nov. 5

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 24. (UP)—New York voters go to the polls Nov. 5 in what republican leaders say will be a severe test of the New Deal in President Roosevelt's home state.

The assembly, lower house of the state legislature, will be elected. Numerous local offices also are to be filled.

Republicans, led by State Chairman Melvin C. Eaton, have thrust the New Deal forward as the major issue of the assembly campaign. Democrats, however, have confined their campaign to state issues, saying the New Deal test will not come until 1936.

G. O. P. Dwells On New Deal Thus, Mr. Roosevelt's policies have been subjected to a terrific battering from the stump, almost in the backyard of his ancestral home on the shores of the Hudson River at Hyde Park.

Even Postmaster General James A. Farley, democratic state and national chairman, urged his party assembly candidates to confine their stump utterances to state issues.

The present assembly—a powerful campaign weapon in a presidential election—now is controlled by the democrats, but the margin is slender—77 to 73.

Republicans are prepared to seize upon an assembly victory as "another Rhode Island" rebuff to the New Deal and L. R. Roosevelt. Leaders Invited To Test Eaton and his party's candidates have flooded the state with sharp attacks upon the president.

Eaton has called upon Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and Mr. Roosevelt to throw the influence of their leadership into the fight.

The chairman has accused the president of "dishonesty" and termed the New Deal "an utter failure." Democrats, meantime, determined to save their New Deal campaign ammunition until 1936, have struck back only mildly at Eaton's national issues.

Mr. Roosevelt, it is known, is extremely anxious for his party to remain in control of both houses of the New York legislature. The senate will remain in democratic hands at least until 1936, the next senate election year.

DETECTIVE AND ROMANCERS

CHARLIE CHAN IN SHANGHAI FOR NEW FILM ADVENTURES

Charlie Chan is on the screen with new adventures, and never has that shrewd and amiable Chinese detective seen such perilous times as the famed Warner Oland character does in "Charlie Chan in Shanghai," which is playing at the Ritz theater Thursday.

Again playing an enemy of crime whose barbed epigrams and Oriental wit outwits the cruder strategy of his foes, Oland proves the nemesis of a band of opium smugglers who have defied the secret service of two nations.

Oland's exciting adventures begin almost from the moment he sets foot in Shanghai. His first problem is to find the murderer of the English secret service man who had sent for him.

From Irene Hervey, the English man's niece, he receives clues that set him on the trail of the smugglers. Then Russell Hicks, who purports to be an American federal agent, joins Oland in the pursuit.

In the course of the film, Chan's life is often attempted. Circumstantial evidence points to Charles Locher, Miss Hervey's fiance, as the criminal, and he is imprisoned but escapes with Miss Hervey's aid.

Finally Oland and Russell Hicks venture into the lair of the smugglers to make a capture. The mafeactors are caught after a furious gun battle, but the surprise climax is reserved until after the capture, when Keye Luke, playing Chan's son, arrives with information that changes the complexion of the entire affair.

The romantic problems of Charles Locher and Irene Hervey afford a pleasant contrast to Oland's pursuit of criminals.

JESS SLAUGHTER TO BE ONE OF SPECIAL GUESTS SUNDAY AT CONVICTS ANNUAL RODEO

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 24.—On Sunday, Oct. 27, at 2:30 p. m., Texas convicts will stage their last rodeo of the season. But where earlier rodeos have had only convicts as participants, on Sunday three well-known Texans, Head Ranger Captain Tom Hickman, a noted foe of criminals; Mayor Reese Lockett of Ehrenham, and Sheriff Jess Slaughter of Big Spring will engage in a three way calf roping contest for a small cash prize.

"This contest will be for the benefit of the prisoners; we want to give them something from the outside world," said Lee Simmons, prison manager, here today.

Incidentally, Simmons expects the convicts to be well repaid for the three men he selected are noted for their riding ability.

Slaughter was proclaimed the champion all-around cowboy at Stamford last year. Both Lockett and Hickman are renowned ropers, having performed in times past in Madison Square Garden. Hickman has displayed his wares in London, too.

The regular inmate performance consisting of calf and goat roping, bronco busting, steer riding, mare and wild cow milking, chariot races and varied special events, will take place as usual.

This year marks the fifth year that the convicts have put on their rodeo under the guiding hand of Manager Simmons, a former sheriff at Sherman.

Using a transformed ball park as their arena, the convicts, many of whom are dressed in 10-gallon hats and high-heeled boots, each year make the Old West live in their rodeos with the thrilling prizes they take. Desire to share in chance money draws riders from all the prison systems in the state.

Needless to state, many of the convicts are hoping that Nelson will follow in Simmons' steps in staging the annual rodeo inside the walls of the penitentiary.

Performers must state their quality and also sign a release against the system in case of accident or death before they can enter the rodeo.

Because they always put on a thrilling show, the crowds have steadily increased, and now draw spectators from all parts of the state. Among celebrities who have "stayed here are Tom Mix, western actor, and Governor James V. Allred.

Proceeds go to meet rodeo expenses and provide prize money for the winners. The remainder goes into the convicts' recreational fund and later is used for school work, books, movies and the purchase of baseball equipment.

With Sunday's rodeo, Simmons, who for five years has directed the prison system, will make ready to turn the reins of the system over to Dave Nelson of Orange, himself a cattleman.

Needless to state, many of the convicts are hoping that Nelson will follow in Simmons' steps in staging the annual rodeo inside the walls of the penitentiary.

Asks Reports On Securities Act Violation

Dealers In Oil-Gas Instruments Are Told To Register

AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—The state securities commissioner has called upon all department investigators to furnish the department with the names of all unregistered dealers in securities and to point out any violations of the securities act.

"I believe," said securities commissioner D. Leon Harp, "that stock and bond dealers have registered one hundred per cent. Scores of dealers in oil and gas instruments and royalty deeds have been registered as dealers, but there has been laxity on the part of some who deal in such instruments in filing their applications for registration."

Mr. Harp further said that the department has tried to be just and fair with all concerned and he believes that those who deal in oil and gas instruments have had ample time in which to comply with the law. He says that in justice to those who have registered and paid their fees and in justice to the public, the department must now insist that all dealers who have not registered should either register or retire from their field of operations.

"We feel that the public is vitally interested in the enforcement of this law."

The securities act makes it a felony to deal in oil and gas leases and royalty instruments unless the transactions come under some specific exemption. The penalty for violating the law is a term in the penitentiary not exceeding two years or a fine of not more than one thousand dollars.

Cy Hockaday, superintendent of transmission, and George W. Bean, engineer for the Texas Electric Service company, with headquarters in Fort Worth, were business visitors in Big Spring Wednesday. They continued to Midland, where they were to remain Thursday, returning to Fort Worth Thursday night.

Among other things, heaps of crushed rock and partly finished building stones will go to waste. The entrance exemplifies this. With one pillar complete, another half done, one wing partially finished and the other barely started, a big amount of building stone is piled nearby—useless unless put into the entrance.

And so around the park. Much of the good work already done depends solely upon work to come. If the camp is abruptly abandoned, local civic leaders declared Thursday, the mountain will be a monument to waste and extravagance.

Recent rains would wash freshly packed soil out of an improved stretch of road, causing a crushed rock top to get away unless it is maintained regularly.

In addition to this, 3,000 feet of water and gas lines lie side by side along newly opened ditches leading over the key points of the park's summit. Unless used soon, the ditches will have to be excavated again and perhaps much of the costly pipe will have been scooped. It is also feared that a great amount of the good timber and finishings for buildings will be stolen if left alone for several days.

Long's Aide Is Acquitted
Jury Frees Abe Shushan Of Income Tax Evasion Charge

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 24 (AP)—The government today had handed a sharp setback in its campaign to probe the financial affairs of the Huey Long political machine, as Abe L. Shushan, associate of the late Louisiana senator stood acquitted of charges of evasion of $71,000 in income taxes.

A federal jury returned its verdict of not guilty Wednesday night. Disturbances broke out in the courtroom after the judge left the stand. Long's former bodyguards wielded fists and night sticks to punch and club photographers. Several photographers were knocked down, and their cameras damaged. Hugh M. Wilkinson, chief of defense counsel issued the following statement immediately after the acquittal:

"We think the verdict of the jury vindicated the general feeling in New Orleans that these income tax prosecutions have been nothing more or less than political persecution and the verdict of this jury, we hope, will bring to an end the unrest that has been caused by these investigations in Louisiana."

Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, chief of government counsel, declined to comment.

Assignment Made By Oil Company

Howard county's largest oil deal in many months had its sequel Wednesday with filing of an assignment from the Bond Oil company to the Republic National bank in Dallas.

Highway 9 To Be Widened Between Canyon, Amarillo

CANYON, Oct. 24 (AP)—State Highway No. 9 will be widened from a short distance south of Canyon to Amarillo, highway engineers have announced.

Work is scheduled to start as soon as right-of-way of 100 feet or more is obtained. The cost will be $300,000.

Deeds and easements have been obtained from most property owners along the route, extending the right-of-way from 80 to 100 feet. Additional land will be needed at a few places where the grade is high. All of the land so far has been given. Condemnation proceedings probably will be started in cases where easements are not given.

The new pavement will be 30 feet wide and the present concrete will be covered in the process of widening.

A recent highway count showed No. 9 to have the heaviest traffic of any highway in the area.

Big Crowd At Pythian Meet

Large Delegations From Angelo, Abilene For Lodge Service

The season's first cold weather and heavy rain failed to keep some 70 West Texas Pythians from attending a joint initiatory service held in W. O. W. hall Wednesday evening with Big Spring Knights of Pythias as hosts.

Majority of visitors came from San Angelo and Abilene. Chancellor Commander W. M. Riley, District Deputy Beard, and J. H. Norris headed the San Angelo delegation, while Grand Inner Guard Frank E. Smith, Chancellor Commander Bowers and Joe Childers headed the Abilene knights.

Candidates from all places were proven in rank of Page by a capable team of Abilene. High spots on the program were instructive talks by Grand Keeper of Records and Seals Theo Yarbrough, Weatherford, Smith and Grand Chancellor John Birdwell, Mineral Wells.

Grand Chancellor Birdwell, in making the principal address, told of rapid progress being made by the Texas Pythians this year, discussed the condition in spite of a long depression. He also explained how plans had been made to increase the Pythian home permanent endowment fund in order that children of deceased knights might enjoy better privileges, higher education in the home, also that they might be given more interesting summer vacations.

Refreshments were served by local Pythians.

Clyde E. Thomas returned Wednesday evening from Longview where he had been on business. He reported rain all the way.

200 Mules Lost In Ft. Worth Fire

FORT WORTH, Oct. 24 (AP)—Fire, spread by a high wind, Wednesday destroyed 200 mules, valued at $30,000 as the horse and mule barns of the Burnett-Young company were completely gutted.

Only 50 animals in the barns escaped.

Barns of the Fort Worth Horse & Mule company caught fire from sparks, but were saved by firemen after part of the roofs had burned off.

Jack Tindall, brother of Louis Tindall, rodeo star, suffered burns on the hand as he drove panic-stricken mules to safety. His bull terrier followed him into the building and was burned to death.

Radio Patrolman C. E. Neal shoved his pistol into a pocket and kept the milling mules from rushing back into the fire by lashing them with his belt.
