...New Life On Death Row
The 26 men on death row in Huntsville, and others around the state, now have a new chance at life.

...U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that the death penalty cannot be imposed by a jury from which persons opposed to capital punishment have been excluded. Unsettled.

...der the Texas system a potential juror may be excused if he states that he is opposed to the death sentence in a capital crime. Under this new ruling, however, such persons can't be excluded, and according to State Attorney General Crawford Martin, "it will probably do away with the death penalty." A jury must unanimously agree on capital punishment in a case for it to be imposed.

...It is presumed that the court's decision also will permit those people now under sentence of death to appeal in federal court.
Ruling, however, did not specify whether the decision would cover persons already sentenced. "I seriously doubt," Attorney General Martin commented, "if the courts will let a man be executed until the question is decided."

...Courts Speak
State Supreme Court agreed with the lower court on dismissal of a suit filed by a woman who claimed she was given a contaminated drug at Good Shepherd Hospital in Gregg County.

...Controversy over whether Texas or Louisiana law controls a $150,000 damage suit filed in Texas after a Louisiana was killed in a traffic accident near Eunice, La., will be reviewed by the Texas Supreme Court.

...Attorney General Rules
Aid. Gen. Crawford Martin held constitutional a bill granting tax exemption for fraternal organizations on property used for charitable, benevolent, religious and educational purposes as defined by the constitution.

...Purchaser who has paid sales or use taxes on a motor vehicle to another state is entitled to a credit on use tax due Texas.

...Educational Spending Below Average
Texans spent, on the average, $127 less per child in its public schools last year than did the rest of the nation. That, according to Texas State Teachers Association, is the size of the state's "education gap."

...Texas spent $492 on the average for each public school child while the national average stood at $419.
State's spending has increased 61 per cent in this area over the last ten years, but across the nation it has increased 91 per cent, says TSTA. Yet Texas' population has grown one-third faster than the rest of the country.

Oil And Gas Wells Add $38.4 Million To Gray County
Oil and gas wells provide approximately $38.4 million a year of Gray County's economic output, according to statistics released this week by Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Based on most recent U.S. Bureau of Mines production figures, the Association compilation showed that Gray County produced crude oil valued at $34.7 million in 1966 and natural gas worth $3.7 million.

Texas oil production in 1967, responding to demands for more domestic crude as a result of the Israeli-Arab conflict, totaled 1,050,000,000 barrels, a statewide increase over 1966 of about 5 per cent. Production last year varied widely among state Railroad Commission districts, however, ranging from 3.5 percent below 1966 to 15 percent above.

"Production from Gray County last summer helped prevent any oil scarcity for U.S. consumers at a time when one-third of the world's supply was cut off," said Corbin J. Robertson, Houston, Association president. "We must keep in mind, however, that it may be difficult for Texas fields to sustain production in future emergencies if the discovery of new reserves continues to lag, due to lack of exploratory drilling."

The annual study showed that Gray County ranked 31st among Texas counties in total value of its production of some 11.7 million barrels of oil and 28.2 billion cubic feet of natural gas.

Texas oil men, according to Rinehart's yearbook, drilled 65 wells in the county risking some $4.4 million. Seventeen percent of them were dry holes, costing about $642,000.

County landowners and others with mineral interests cashed royalty checks totaling about $4.8 million during the year. Like wise, the county's flow of oil and gas generates $1.9 million a year in production taxes paid by producers and royalty owners to the state treasury.

Reports from the Texas Employment Commission show some 1,237 persons directly employed by the oil and gas industry in the county, with an annual payroll of $8.8 million.

Plants which convert crude oil and natural gas into useful products also add to the value of a county's output. The Oil and Gas Journal lists one carbon black plant, one petrochemical plant, and six gas processing plants, with a total capacity of 266 million cubic feet a day for the county.

Remain Calm In A Tornado Alert

Anywhere that you are: Keep calm. It does not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, the chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are slight. As a rule, tornadoes cover such a small area that relatively only a few places in a warned area are affected. However, you should know what to do "just in case."

Keep tuned to your radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio and television stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

For those who are still fortunate enough to have a storm cellar, the Safety Association has this advice:
Be sure you have an air outlet to equalize the air pressure.
Keep cellar fit for use - free from water, gas or debris.
Keep pick and shovel handy in case you have to dig out.

FHA Loan Funds Available In Area

There are many low and moderate income rural families still living in substandard housing in Armstrong, Donley, and Gray Counties. This need not be the case. Housing credit from the Farmers Home Administration is now available to a broad range of families under legislation enacted in 1966. Under the expanded rural housing loan authorities, this three-county unit has been able to provide assistance to: An elderly couple in danger of losing their home, built in 1962 when the husband was able to work. His health failed and the monthly house payments of $78.80 could not be met from Social Security benefits. They became delinquent and were requested to pay the loan in full. Due to his age and health, money was not available from conventional credit. Farmers Home Administration refinanced the loan and the payments were reduced to $34.00 per month, enabling them to keep their home.

are well within her income. Farmers Home Administration housing loans are made to applicants unable to obtain credit from private lenders at reasonable rates and terms and are tailored to individual needs. There is no appraisal fee. Investigate the housing loan program at the Farmers Home Administration office in the City Hall in McLean, from 10:00 to 12:00 noon on the fourth Wednesday of each month, or call Claude Moore, the Gray County Supervisor, at 874-3431 in Clarendon.

A widow who applied for a loan of $1500 to repair her home, install a bathroom and pipe water to the house. The house was found to be unrepairable and efforts were made to find a small dwelling to be purchased, which could be paid for from her Social Security benefits and old age assistance payments. On the basis of a co-signer, she now has a suitable home with modern conveniences, financed by Farmers Home Administration, and the monthly payments of $21.00

Third annual Pasture and Forage Crops Short Course will be held June 27-28 at Texas A&M University. The program is designed to meet the needs of farmers, cattlemen, professional agricultural workers and others interested in current information dealing with improved pasture production and utilization, according to Dr. Neal Pratt, Extension agronomist.

Conservation Nationwide
4-H Project

What is conservation? If 10 people were asked, in all probability there would be 10 different answers.

But if they were asked who is responsible for conservation of the nation's natural resources, they would undoubtedly answer, "Everyone!" And they would be right.

4-H'ers Participate

Conservation is everyone's business, even youngsters. Proof of this is in the national 4-H Conservation of Natural Resources program which involves parents, children, educators, and conservation specialists. The 4-H members carry out projects in soil and water conservation, wildlife preservation, reforestation, and anti-pollution.

The farm boy works to prevent soil erosion, water contamination, forest fires, drought and damage to crops and livestock. This boy wants to learn about soil testing, irrigation, land management, weed and insect control to insure profitable farming operations.

Urban 4-H'ers are concerned with protecting towns and cities from air and water pollution, blight and deterioration. They want to enjoy fishing and swimming in recreational areas where they can catch a prize fish instead of an old boot, or dive into a clean lake instead of one contaminated with rubbish or harmful bacteria.

Raises Pheasants

Among the nation's leading 4-H conservationists last year was a teenage boy whose project included raising pheasants for the New Jersey State Division of Fish and Game in connection with wildlife preservation. Another lad perfected a conservation demonstration for television viewers in the West Central part of Colorado. Both boys were involved in county-wide conservation activities.

Awards Offered

The 4-H Conservation club members now exceed a quarter million. They are guided and assisted in their individual projects by adult leaders, county extension agents and other qualified persons. Parents often team up with their offspring in tackling the large, long-range projects.

Another participant is John Deere, the 4-H Conservation program sponsor. For the fifth straight year, John Deere has provided funds for county, state and national awards given annually to 4-H'ers who have completed the best conservation projects in the three categories of competition. The highest award is the $600 national scholarship presented to six national champions. State winners are delegates to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, and county winners receive the conservation medal.

The Role Of The Editor

The role of the newspaper editor continues to be a confusing one to the average server. Worst of all, the politician always fails to understand this role. The politician, in search of help and wonders why in the world editor throws an advantage the winds so often, and why so often deliberately those who are in power.

A good editor is not a nice, agreeable person. Truth is that, if he tries to be himself popular, he is not a good editor. His main should be honesty and and his forte is the courage revolt against some of niceties which he observes, to refuse to cater to the person whom he would naturally whom he would naturally. Who wants to read after a editor who has nothing but and "commendation for thing"? A bit of hell-raising become tiresome but never tiresome as the habitual ling of an editor.

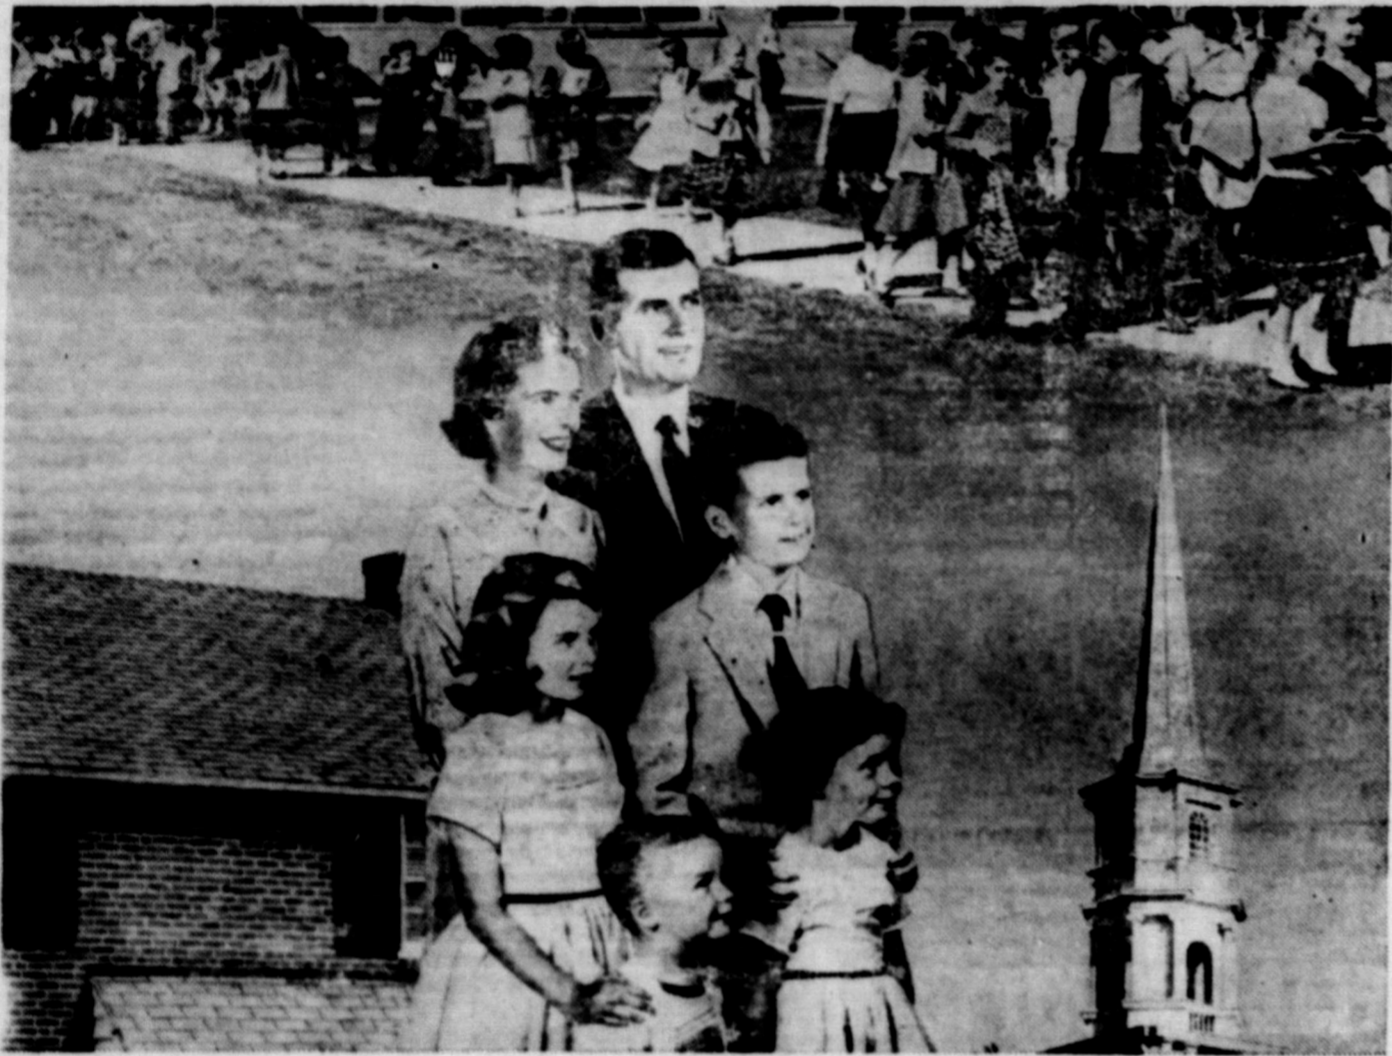

An effective newspaper is not worried about the of his friends. He is more worried about his failure to enemies in the right. When he makes too many and when his enemies do cumulate as fast as they that is the time for him into a figurative mirror, ask questions about himself.

HOME . . . SCHOOL . . . CHURCH! The predominant influences in the life of a child. The Home provides love, security, example—to shape the growing personality. The School develops the mind, stimulates initiative, nurtures social responsibility.

The Church cultivates faith and character, building the spiritual foundations of a noble life. Wise parents understand the vital importance of each of these influences in the growth of their child. They work faithfully to strengthen all three.

THE CHURCH
FOR ALL ...
... ALL FOR
THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

PRETREAT FOR TERMITE CONTROL
Home builders are reminded by Phil J. Hamman, assistant Extension entomologist, that pre-treating a new home for termite control is relatively inexpensive and highly desirable especially for buildings constructed completely or partly on concrete slabs. He suggests hiring a reliable pest control operator to work with the building contractor or architect in getting the job correctly done.

Guess.

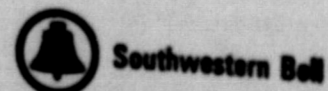

Which of these will be repaired at no extra cost?
(And seldom needs repairs anyway.)

Which of these can save you money every time you use it?
(Lets you get things done without running all over town.)

Which of these can bring help in a hurry?
(Police, firemen and doctors will come a'running.)

TAX SAM SEZ:

TOPIC: June Brides

Since June is the favorite month for matrimony, now is a good time to give the girls another "watch-out-for" - WATCH OUT FOR the Internal Revenue computer. You have changed your name, but the IRS computer still has your number as Miss Jones instead of Mrs. Smith. Get your name changed on your Social Security record right now. Last year a lot of beautiful brides didn't remember to change their name with the Social Security Administration, and instead of getting back that income tax refund, they got a nice little letter from the computer saying "who are you?" Of course, they did get their refund - as soon as they get the name correction form back and their tax return goes through the mail again. So, Brides, as soon as you are sure that you are a Mrs., mail in the new name.

Get It Off Your Chest - Write It Down

"Get it off your chest," say the psychiatrists, meaning don't let the children, dirty dishes, mope, the PTA, and a late-working husband get you down. Release those emotions.

But how? Better than screaming at hubby or the kids, one group of psychiatrists explains, is to use creative writing for that all-important need for self-expression.

Pick up a notebook and pencil and start writing: About yourself, your problems, your family and friends; or make up a story.

Creative writing is a superb means of self-expression, acting as a release for all kinds of feelings of anxiety that need to be talked-out, acted-out or written-out. Moreover, it will offer valuable insights into yourself which can be used to good advantage when the only mental resources you can depend on are your own.

Find a time of day when there is least chance of interruption by children or delivery men. Pick a favorite corner. That, together with notebook and pencil is all you need. But don't think too hard. Let the flow of words loose. This isn't a daily "account" or "log", it's letting go. If you wish, find a drawer in which to lock up all that writing.

Your writing may be extremely personal, like a diary, or a letter you never intended to mail. You might even find talents that are saleable, and there are many magazines that buy articles and short story fiction. Not that writing for sale should in any way be the important thing. Relaxation and "letting go" should be primary.

You might even find there's less need to talk about your family problems with your friends or to gossip about your mother-in-law.

Drivers Licenses Test And Renewal Stations Listed

Because of the new regulations put on drivers license renewal, time and places have been appointed to handle renewals and new applications.

Amarillo Pumpa and Shamrock are the official stations that the residents of McLean can use. These license can be renewed and applications for license will be taken.

Pampa Highway Patrol station will be open for renewals Monday and Friday test can be taken Monday, Tuesday and Friday. In Shamrock the Patrol office will be open for test and renewals on Thursday.

Those persons who will be applying for their Texas license for the first time must have a birth certificate. The Highway Patrol also asked that each person bring with them the notice card that they receive.

LETTUCE CUPS

To separate whole lettuce leaves from a head, first core the head of lettuce. Hold the cored end up and put it under a strong stream of cold water from the sink faucet, recommends Extension foods and nutrition specialists at Texas A&M University. The weight of the water in the head separates the leaves. Peel them off slowly, pulling them downward from the stem end while the water flows through the leaves.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Crisp attended the Alanreed Homecoming Sunday.

Music Fit For A Chief

When Los Voladores Flying Indians perform at HemisFair '68, the music that accompanies them will be fit for a chief - for José Villanueva de la Cruz, the Totonac chief, plays a flute and small drum while dancing atop a 114-foot pole.

These authentic Totonacan tunes are the accompaniment while the Flyers descend from the top of the pole at the Frito-Lay/Pepsi-Cola Pavilion in a series of 32 revolutions. Secured only by the ropes around their waists, the Flyers eventually fan out to a radius of thirty feet before reaching the ground.

For more than 400 years this ceremony has been performed, because it has a religious as well as agricultural significance for the Totonacs. The climb to the top of the pole symbolizes their desire to be closer to the male god of the heavens-whose essence is fire and earth. Their descent represents the union of this male god with a female god of the earth who is water and cold-resulting in a pleasant climate and a good harvest.

The costumes of the Flyers, too, are symbolic. They wear cloth pants and shirts trimmed with birds' feathers, because they believe that the spirit comes back to earth in the form of an eagle or another bird.

At HemisFair '68, the sound of music will come from the most unexpected places-when Chief José Villanueva de la Cruz raises his flute to his lips and begins the Flying Indians Spectacular.

RANGE MANAGEMENT NOTES

With recent good rains over most of Gray County, stockmen say we are going into an exceptionally good spring season. With this in mind, it would be a good time to let our rangelands "catch up" on the hard times of the past.

A good spring deferment is one of the best and quickest ways to build up vigor and increase production of our native pastures. Grasslands need periodic rests from the pressure of grazing and trampling for a number of reasons. Ninety-five percent of a plant's nutrients is taken through its leaves from the air. So in order for a plant to remain healthy and productive, it must have enough leaves to manufacture food for both itself and the livestock it feeds.

"Come as you are" and enjoy the convenience of eating in the privacy of your own car.

By deferring a pasture at least three consecutive months, especially in the spring when new leaves are coming out, the plants get a "head start" on the coming grazing season. This is the time food reserves, stored in the roots and crowns of plants during the winter, are being drawn upon the heaviest to put out leaves. Therefore, grazing during the spring is harder on most plants than any other time of the year.

Deferments of native pastures need to be carefully planned, however, to fit in with grazing needs and objectives of each seasons rest, from April until frost, should be given whenever possible. But in some cases, a late summer or fall deferment can be very beneficial. Most desirable native grasses build up and store food until about mid June before going into the early stages of seed production. The "boot" stage follows in late summer and seed maturity starts in late September and early October. By knowing when his pastures would benefit the most from a rest, an operator can greatly increase his plant cover and strengthen or help his young seedlings become better established.

When grazing, proper use of grass goes hand in hand with deferments. It is another very important management practice in keeping and improving good grass plants. Proper use is leaving, at the end of the grazing season, at least 50 percent by weight of the yearly production of a plant. By doing this a plant, or a plant community, can feed and care for itself and continue to make more hay for grazing year after year. "Take half and leave half" is a good rule-of-thumb to use. This means more pounds of beef per acre with fewer animals, less overhead, better market prices and more profit to the stockmen. Good management pays in the long haul.

ROUGH... BUT TASTY

The rough fish problem is a lot like the weather — every one talks about it, but no one does anything about it.

Unlike the weather, though, this is one problem that can be solved by eating it up if enough fishermen would let out their belts and overcome their repugnance towards the rough species.

The table qualities of many rough fish surprise even the most finicky eater, observe the experts at Mercury outboards. When properly prepared they become a gourmet's delight, as is the case with most anything that swims, flies or runs.

The list of common "trash" fish is long. It includes such species as suckers, carp, drum, chubs, mooneyes, redhorse and buffalo.

Many of these are caught commercially, but find their way into the fish markets under assumed (and more palatable) names.

The "white perch" you buy may be drum; "boneless cat" is often the odd-looking paddlefish or spoonbill. Non-sport fish in saltwater receive an even more impressive array of monikers.

To popularize and make use of the tremendous number of rough fish that abound in our waters is a massive undertaking, acknowledge the Mercury lads. First, we must overcome our reluctance to actually bring a mess of "yaller" suckers or "thunderpumpers" home. Then we must know how to turn them into dishes that delight the whole family.

The latter task must be approached with all the dash and daring of a continental chef, for the old "roll 'em in crumbs and fry" methods usually won't do. Contact the state wildlife commission or university extension division for special recipes for marinating, for crockets, for a hundred different approaches.

If every fisherman could be so persuaded, millions of tons of rough fish could be removed from waters where they compete with sports species. Fishing would improve, and the eatin'... well, find out for yourself.

VA Pays For Burial Expenses

Up to $250 for burial expenses for eligible deceased veterans will be paid by the Veterans Administration if the claim is filed within two years after the veteran's burial or cremation, according to Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco.

Burial claims may be filed by the undertaker, if he has not been paid, or by the party who paid the undertaker, the VA spokesman explained.

Coker said the VA would reimburse up to $250 in expenses for the permanent burial or cremation of any veteran who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, if the veteran served during wartime or after August 4, 1964.

Coker pointed out that similar burial expenses are also paid by VA for veterans of peacetime service who were receiving service-connected disability compensation at the time of their death, or who had been released from service for disabilities in line of duty.

(Burial expenses for servicemen who died on active duty are borne by the military, not the VA.)

Almost every deceased veteran is eligible for an American flag for his casket, Coker said. Flags are furnished by undertakers, on request, by any VA office or post office.

Following the veteran's burial the flag may be given to the next of kin, or, if there is no next of kin, to the closest friend of the deceased veteran.

Further information may be obtained at any VA office.

STATE 4-H HORSE SHOW

Yeates, Extension animal husbandman, says 480 4-H members from every section of Texas will participate in the show. They will be accompanied by their parents, other family members, leaders and extension agents numbering more than 1,000. For the first time, teams will be competing in a 4-H mounted precision drill event. Yeates added that there are now more than 10,000 4-H horse club members in Texas. Those in the state show will have already won honors in county and district elimination shows.

Mrs. Sitter Presides At Auxiliary Meet

Members of the McLean Hospital Ladies Auxiliary met June 6 in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church. The president, Mary Sitter presided over the business meeting.

Mrs. Sitter recently attended the State Auxiliary convention in Dallas and from this received many ideas on the do's and don'ts of an auxiliary. These ideas were stressed to the volunteers of the McLean Auxiliary.

Mrs. Sitter also showed two different types of uniforms to the ladies. One, a pinafore with a white blouse, the other a smock with white skirt. Ladies may buy their choice of the two in Amarillo.

The program was turned over to Bonnie Gardner, who told of the different departments of work that the ladies of the auxiliary could choose.

Taming the Kidnapper... Of all the agonies inflicted upon the family of a kidnap victim, probably the worst is the fear that harm will befall their loved ones.

What does that mean? What kind of "harm" are these laws talking about? Obviously there is harm inflicted, calling for the heavier penalty, when the victim has been subjected to a deliberate beating or a criminal assault.

On the other hand, when the only injury was that the kidnapper had gripped the victim's arms hard enough to hurt, the court refused to impose the heavier penalty.

U.S. EATING HABITS ARE SLIPPING—PART 1 The decreased use of milk and milk products, and of vegetables and fruits, has been blamed for Americans having poorer diets in the past decade than before.

This was announced earlier this year by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. A 1965 survey by the United States Department of Agriculture of 7,500 households revealed food consumption practices. The Federal government has been conducting similar surveys since 1936.

The shocking thing about this report is that it comes at a time when Americans have more food at their disposal and more purchasing power than at any time in the past. Certainly it is true that some Americans do not share in the general prosperity and this is of concern to all of us.

Good Nutrition Must Be Learned Thus we have found that many people of means still do not make proper food selections. Nutrition education in every form that will reach and motivate people obviously is needed to a greater degree than we may have supposed.

SPON FISHING...and other tips

BY TOM ANDREWS

"SILVER" LURES TRAVEL BEST

Some fishermen, like me, travel a lot. Others, and you may be one of them, can only fish new waters once a year at vacation time. Yet both of us have felt the need for a lure that would work well anytime, anywhere.

When I started analyzing this problem some time ago, I discovered that it came in two parts. It wasn't enough just to settle on a particular type of lure. I learned. You also had to be concerned with the color of that lure.

Fortunately, it didn't take me long to nail down the kinds of lures that would serve well no matter where they were used, the season, or the weather. The spoon and the jig won hands down. Why? Well, if either lure has the weight and shape of a Johnson Silver Minnow or "Lucky" Lujon, for example, it can be cast or trolled, fished slow or fast. It will work well in fresh or salt water, swift rivers or sluggish backwaters, deep glacier lakes or shallow farm ponds.

The problems I had in appreciating the importance of color are still kind of embarrassing, but they were finally solved in just one exciting week several years ago. I was out with friends on a San Diego party boat. I had given each of them a "Lucky" Lujon and we were anxious to see how this jigging-type lure would work on yellowtails. Because we intended to cast and retrieve, we were put on the bow apart from the cut-bait fisherman. Well, we weren't apart for long! Within an hour, we were arm-weary from hauling in 15- and 20-lb. yellow-tails — and tongue-weary from identifying our "bait," the "Lucky" Lujon.

Two days later, I was in St. Louis on business, and on Thursday morning was down out to Bagnell Dam at Lake of the Ozarks for a few hours of bass fishing. There were three Lujons left in my tackle box and I shared them with my companion and the guide. The guide had told us not to expect too much; heavy rains had been providing free meals for the fish.

It didn't take us quite half an hour to speed the pace of the action. We had the guide hooting with glee as he netted bass after bass. We just cast our Lujons as far as possible, let them sink for several seconds, then started retrieving with steady reel speed and constant raising and lowering of the rod tip.

The same routine was faithfully duplicated the following Saturday when, with my wife and son, we ran the long swells due east of Jacksonville, Fla., and filled the transom of our 20-footer with Spanish mackerel.

And while filleting those mackerel I realized that, in two oceans and a body of fresh water, I had enjoyed great luck with a jig — one with a silvery finish (the Lujon is nickel-plated).

Since that time, I've never seen a lure that could "travel" better than a silver or silvery-finished spoon or jig.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

50 Years Ago

Miss Ruby Cook, candidate for tax assessor, returned Monday from the north side of the county, where she has been for the past two or three weeks.

Rev. H. D. Heath, state evangelist, will conduct a revival meeting at the Baptist Church commencing Sunday, June 30.

A number of McLean girls left Sunday for Canyon, where they will attend the summer normal, which opened this week. Those who went are Misses Alma Anderson, Ethel Stockton, Grace Bird, Ethel Cash, and Verda Dean.

LOOKIN' BACK

by Vera Featherston Back

Though Bob and Vera Thomas cannot be classified as pioneers, they feel that they really pioneered in our part of the Panhandle. The Thomases came here in September of 1931 when there were no paved streets and sand was knee deep at the King Filling Station where they got their gas and directions to the Humble Pipe Line Station north of town. They burned coal oil lamps and used an old perfection oil stove until the company allowed them to move into McLean in 1932.

Mrs. Thomas was a member of the Pioneer Study Club, Choral Club and member of the First Baptist Church when the Goffs were here. Mrs. Thomas recalls that Mrs. Goff was the choral director and Mrs. Thomas sang bass. "Those were happy days!" said Vera Thomas in a recent letter.

We accompanied Margaret and Jan Coleman to Amarillo last week and meant to interview Uncle John Sublett with our tape recorder. He however, was in the hospital and we had to be content with a visit. We're coming back, Uncle John, so hurry home (Golden Spread Rest Home) and get those stories you've promised polished up. We need them.

The most precious material received lately is the duplicated copy of all the babies born under Dr. C. E. Donnell's medical supervision from 1906 until 1915. This list we hope to get bound in a book form and put in the museum. Yes, the museum is still a strong possibility. Keep your fingers crossed for its success.

Mark your calendar for the fourth Sunday, June 23, at 2:30 at the school cafeteria. See you there for the Alameed-McLean Historical Society.
