ng out daily warnings of tornatoes, Tom Waters recalls the one that hit so many people around McLean. It was in May, 1923. about 6:00 o'clock one evening when, standing in front of the cellar on their farm northeast of town, the Waters family cited the funnel drop down south of town and head northeast. It demolished the Rish Phillips home, blew away the Franklin place, and destroyed the Hinton's and Kid McCoy's houses, as well as doing extenblown away and their house moved from its foundation ten or fifteen feet to the south.

Sue (Young) Hovey of the M.H. S. Class of 1950 now lives in Moscow, Idaho. She won honors as a poet here in high school and shows that prolific use of her wonder just how you managed to pound anything into those of us who were a bunch of harumscarum adolescents without as a lily pad?" Speaking of the down where Jane Simpson holds forth, she reminises," I can imagine you were a complete success at selling insurance. Any-Thanatopsis to a bunch of kids who couldn't care less and make us enjoy it could certainly sell insurance to someone who probably knows he needs it any-Sue reports that W. C. Carpenter, also from McLean, went out to Idaho as pastor of the only Southern Baptist Church in the state. This was at Lewiston. During the 14 years he was at Lewiston, the church there organized seven other churches, one o these being at Moscow where Sue and her family attend services Imagine her surprise when she opened her song book the first night and found written on the Ph. fly leaf these words: "Kellerville

Baptist Church - Kellerville, Texas." She can tell it better than we can, so here are her exact words "When the church at Kellerville disbanded, we got all their supplies, and I think all their bank account, too. In many ways, we can never go home again, but there are times we find that we have never completely left. One of our closest friends went to school with Joe Cooper in Tu cumcari and knows the John Coopers quite well."

Incidently Sue went back to school in 1965 after acquiring a husband and three children. Last spring she graduated Magna Cum Laude from the University of Idaho and has accepted an assistanceship in history there Vida Montgomery Lonsdale, former McLeanite who was the leader in young people's activities in her youth and worker in PTA, club and church work later on, now lives in Santa Monica, California, where she is enjoying her children and grandchildren She writes of her mother and father, Dr. and Mrs. Montgomery, as follows: "When Daddy asked mother to go somewhere with him, no matter what she was doing at the time, she dropned it and went. Once she was baking a cake. It had been in the oven only about ten minutes and he asked her to accompany him sive damage to many other peo-ple. The Waters had their roof turned the oven off and went along for company. She said she could always bake another cake but she might not always be around to go with him or he might not be around forever ask ing her to go along Vida, do you have your father day-by-day register? If we could vocabulary in a recent letter in have that or the list of the babies which she "looks back" a bit he brought into the world around herself. She says, "Do you ever McLean, as we have for Dr. Donnell, what a treasure we would have for our museum!

Winnie Floyd Biggers said, "I can live without arithmetic; much sensitivity as a frog on My dentures fit just fine; I can see without my glasses, but oh time when we were in business how I miss my mind!" So true. Winnie! Those are my sentiments, too.

Don't miss "Ma and Pa Hindman Day," next Sunday, June one who could sell Macbeth and 23, at 2:30. Come to the school cafeteria. See you there!

ORANGE AND GRAPEFRUIT TABLETS?

Orange and grapefruit may one day be served in tablet form. USDA scientists have made the tablets in research conducted to find new uses for citrus.

Meat cooked at low to moder ate temperatures is generally more tender, juicy and flavorful than that cooked at higher temperatures. In addition, there is less loss through evaporation, shrinkage and drippings.
