The West Texas State University freshman is receiving treatment for a ruptured spleen.

Bailey County Sheriff Dee Clements underwent surgery Friday at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock.

IT MEANS DON'T CROSS OVER...Muleshoe City Police Chief Buddy Black points to the double stripe which has been painted down the center of Main Street. Citations will be issued for crossing the double stripe in any manner, he cautioned. Fine for crossing the double stripe is up to $200, warned the chief.

morning to discuss the approval of three promotions for local businesses.

Lindal Murray, chairman, explained the group is attempting to promote townwide promotions and following discussion by various merchants, the first promotion was approved. "Crazy Days" will be conducted on the weekend of May 18-20, with merchants to offer various items of extraordinary buys in merchandise and products.

"We are trying to do things to bring people to Muleshoe," said Murray. "We need to treat the people in ways that they'll come back."

He explained that the promotions will be in an effort to keep Muleshoe dollars in Muleshoe. Johnny St. Clair urged as many businesses as possible be contacted to participate in the promotion which will include, in many instances, costumes, and unusual displays to attract people to the various stores.

Two other potential promotions

Jaycees Will Host Reese As Speaker

were also discussed during the day.

As the businessmen discussed the dollars being spent out of town, one of the businessmen suggested, "Six months ago, the farmers came to the merchants for help. The merchants came through for the farmers, and it's time for the farmers to back the local businesses."

Also discussed was a promotional slogan along the lines of "Make Your Money Work for Your Town."

Morris Sheats Will Be Here Next Wednesday

Morris Sheats, a candidate in the race for U.S. Congress from the 19th Congressional District, will be in Muleshoe at 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday, May 3, at the county courthouse for a public rally.

He said he is emphasizing his campaign promise to visit each county twice each year, is ending his primary campaign with a tour of the entire district.

He began his campaign in Bailey County on a similar tour on September 24, 1977 on the courthouse lawn.

Soil Stewardship Week Is Observed

The United States' annual loss of five million acres of rural land to non-agricultural use is a special concern during this year's celebration of Soil Stewardship Week. April 30-May 7, Doug Bales, chairman of the Blackwater Valley Conservation District announced Friday.

This year's Soil Stewardship Week theme, "Compelling Ventures," also stresses the importance of controlling water pollution caused by run-off from unprotected farms, ranches, roadsides and construction sites, Bales added.

Soil Stewardship Week is a nationwide observance which emphasizes man's responsibility to protect and observe soil, water, and other natural resources. Traditionally, churches and local citizen's groups participate.

"Nearly 3,000 conservation districts throughout the U.S. will focus their attention upon conserving and preserving America's best farmlands during this 21st annual observance of Soil Stewardship Week," Bales said.

"The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that of the five million acres annually lost to agriculture, nearly one million acres are classed as 'prime' land --the best and most productive land we have. We are encouraging the preservation of these top-quality farmlands for farming rather than their indiscriminate use for housing developments, highways, shopping centers and the like."

Chairman Murray said he had discussed the double striping of Main Street with Muleshoe with Muleshoe Chief of Police Buddy Black, and the chief informed him citations will be issued for violations of the no crossover on Main Street where the double lines are striped.

It was explained, that even since adding the double striping, many motorists continue to either drive across the double lines or back across them.

Chief Black also said that presently two men are patrolling during peak crime hours at night with the addition of one city patrolman.

Also coming under some discussion was the proposed traffic changes according to a recent traffic survey released. Murray asked persons who objected to the traffic lights being removed on Main Street to attend the meeting of the City Planning Commission on May 8 and designate their opinion on removal of the lights, as suggested by the traffic survey.

St. Clair predicted Main Street would become a drag strip if the lights were completely removed.

Burglar alarms were also talked about. More and more, local businesses are installing burg-

Muleshoe Country Club golf pro Jeff Smith commented, "The Skip Magby, Terry Hutton match highlighted completion of second round play in the Muleshoe City Golf Tournament."

"The players appeared equally matched as they exchanged holes and found themselves deadlocked after 18 holes. Skillful execution on the number one playoff hole found victory for Magby. What made this match tough was that 12 holes of the match were played in a down-pouring rain."

Time Moves Forward For Spring, Summer

Fellow citizens, it's that time again! Today, Sunday, at 2 a.m., it was time to change. Time to change your clock, that is. At 2 a.m. today, time officially moved forward one hour for Daylight Savings Time until the last Sunday in October.

Each six months, time changes in most of the nation. You will move your clock forward unless you are a resident of Arizona, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, American Samoa, or that portion of Indiana within the Eastern Time Zone. These areas don't observe daylight savings time and leave their clocks alone all year.

Don't forget, Spring Forward and Fall Back! That means you will get up one hour earlier for the next six months until it is time to start retiring an hour later in October.

VIII Future Farmers of America when he visited Muleshoe Tuesday night.

He spoke to members and guests at the annual FFA awards banquet in the Muleshoe High School cafeteria.

The speaker used some of his own childhood dreams, including wanting to be a public speaker, and graphically demonstrated a dream as he used juggling balls to show how he had mastered the art of juggling.

Brantley admonished the FFA members to set their goals according to their dreams, then work to make them come true. "With a lot of work, and faith in God, your dreams can come true," he commented.

Conducting the banquet as master of ceremonies was Kirk Lewis, president of the local FFA chapter, with the welcome given by Dwayne Shafer and response by MISD school board member, Ronnie Holt.

Introducing guests was Johnny Estep and Brent Gunter gave special recognitions.

Individual and group awards were presented during the ceremonies.

Farm Bureau Gives Check To Firemen

This week, the Bailey County Farm Bureau presented a check in the amount of $75 to the Muleshoe Volunteer Fire Department. The check was in behalf of the fire department's efforts at the tenant house on the J.L. Calvert farm on April 17, explained a FB spokesman.

Each fire department working the scene of a fire in rural areas, except grass or brush fires, involving property insured by Texas Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance Company or Southern Farm Bureau Casualty Insurance Company, received a payment of $75, provided there is payable insurance claims.

"This is Farm Bureau's way of expressing thanks to fire departments outside the city and in rural areas," said the spokesman. "They have contributed to reduce the amount of loss by fire."

Governor Says Hill Support Has Failed

"John Hill has failed to generate significant support from either business or labor because he puts big government ahead of economic expansion and new jobs," Governor Dolph Briscoe said Monday as he began a week-long campaign tour.

"While my opponent makes billion-dollar promises for new state spending, I promise to continue policies which have made the Texas economy the envy of the world and which enable us to improve all state services for the people," Briscoe said.

"Working people and small business people know this is best for Texas. That's why I have their support in this race for re-election and why they are rejecting John Hill."

Briscoe pointed out that average personal income in Texas has risen 52 percent since he has been Governor, a faster rate than 48 other states.

"But we have seen to it that Texans get to keep more of that income than the residents of other states," he said.

"For three consecutive legislative sessions we have avoided any new or additional state taxes. My administration has encouraged new industry and new jobs instead of big government and big tax increases.

"John Hill doesn't have this kind of commitment," Briscoe said. "He is too busy trying to buy votes with big promises. When he speaks out for big spending, in reality he is making an unspoken promise for new taxes in the very near future and specifically a state income tax. There is no other way to finance his promises."

The survey also showed that the packing plant annual slaughter capacity jumped from 4,990,680 to 5.4 million head and the number of plants increased from 17 to 20.

Thomas also stated that 589,000 of this capacity is not in use but that this industry has made another estimated $8 billion contribution to area business.

"The future of the feedlot industry appears to be the brightest of any period in its history, and this may not be good. Too many people believe this and with great majority acting together, adverse reactions can occur. The price being paid for feeder cattle is a case in point," emphasized Thomas.

Kindergarten Round-Up Set

Near B. Dillman announces that Friday, May 5, from 8:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. is Spring Round-Up at Richland Hills Primary for kindergarten and first grade children for the 1978-79 school year.

Children who will be six years of age on or before September 1, 1978 are eligible to register for first grade. Parents should bring the child's birth certificate and record of the child's immunizations (shots) if available.

4-H Eliminations Held Saturday

Bailey County 4-H'ers joined about 350 other 4-H'ers from across the South Plains at Lubbock Saturday for the final round of district 4-H contests.

Winners and runners-up will represent Extension District Two in Texas 4-H Roundup June 5-7 at College Station.

By far the largest of district elimination events, this round included 30 different method demonstrations and contests. Those entered have already won in county competition. District winners competed against top finishers from the other 13 Texas Agricultural Extension Service districts in the state.

Representing Bailey County were seven juniors. Competing for the top three spots in each of these contests were Tim Sain, Brenda Flowers, Tamara Gilliland, Michelle Logsdon, Mandy Plank, Staci Kirby and Belinda Wheeler.

Winners in junior competition receive honor ribbons. However, no junior will compete in Roundup, which is restricted to seniors.

Already, two rounds of district competition have been staged. The 4-H Food Show was held last November, and one round of team contests was held April 15. Winners from those events joined this Saturday's winners as this district's delegation to 4-H Roundup.

The contests were held on campus of Texas Tech University and the awards program, which was open to the public, was at 1:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Coronado High School, in Lubbock.

Pioneer Gas presented ribbons to winners. Production Credit Association also presented special awards to team and individual winners of the farm and ranch management contests. Monsanto Chemical Corp. presented awards to winners in agronomy events.

Assisting in the all-day event were county Extension agents, subject-matter specialists from the district Extension office in Lubbock, adult leaders and members of the District 4-H council.

District Extension Agent Billy C. Gunter and Catherine B. Crawford were coordinators of the contests.

Texas law now requires the following immunizations for all children: three doses of oral polio, three doses of DPT, one measles vaccine through age 11 and one Rubella vaccine through age 11.

Children who need any of these immunizations may get them from their doctor or Mrs. Joann Head, Public Health Nurse. The Public Health Regional Two office is located at 306 West Second Street, adjacent to the Muleshoe Journal.

Services from the Public Health office are available on Friday, May 5 from 9-4 for all parents who wish to take their children.

Also, on May 5, all children who will be five (5) years old on or before September 1, 1978, are eligible to register for kindergarten.

Children who are now enrolled in kindergarten at Richland Hills are already enrolled for first grade and will not attend school on May 5 so that kindergarten teachers will be available to enroll the new students and to talk to parents.

Muleshoe Elementary PTA will sponsor a vision screening clinic in the nurse's office at Richland Hills for all kindergarten children enrolling on May 5. There will be no charge for this service.

All parents of children who will be five years old on or before September 1, 1978, and who have not attended the Richland Hills Kindergarten are encouraged and urged to enroll the children on May 5, so plans can be completed for the fall term of 1978-79.

If you have questions or know of an eligible child, please contact Milton Oyler, principal at Richland Hills Primary School, telephone 272-4313.

The Yetter

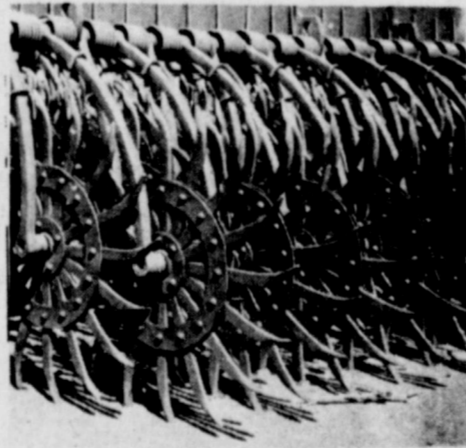

Tool Bar Rotary Hoe

The Yetter 3400 Series Rotary Hoe is the most flexible, and one of the most versatile rotary hoes on the market today.

If you're looking for a durable piece of equipment that can take the hard knocks of field use, then this is it. Yetter's Rotary hoe features arms made of high strength ductile iron. Each spoon-billed tooth is hardened, drop-forged, and self-sharpening. All bolts are zinc plated and hardened.

Other features of this new Yetter Rotary Hoe include independently spring-cushioned arms. This feature permits the 3400 Series Rotary Hoe to follow the contour of any field and it insures rock protection. Yetter engineers built this hoe so there is only one wheel per arm, rather than two or more. They are riveted for durability and turn on sealed ball bearings. There are 16 rugged teeth per wheel.

Wood, of Midland, exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony at the first Presbyterian Church, in Midland, April 29, at 7:00 p.m., with Dr. Ray Riddle officiating. Matron of Honor was Mrs. Jeana Welborn, of Dallas, attired in a formal gown of royal blue quiana with A-line, and thin straps. A sheer cape in a lighter blue was worn over the dress, and nosegay of yellow daisies, and greenery was carried. Bridesmaids were Miss Denise Beckham, of Midland, and Mrs. Kyle Phillips, of Richardson. They were attired in much the same as the matron of honor. Best Man was Mark Dillman, of Abilene, and groomsmen were Ed Mabon, of Abilene, and Dan Block, of San Antonio. Ushers were David Bray, of Muleshoe, and Marshall

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in a formal gown of ivory silk organza, styled in an empire A-line silhouette. Molded bodice was designed with a scalloped english net yoke. The long full sleeves were gathered onto lace covered cuffs, and the full skirt ended in a flounce, and was trimmed in chantilly lace. The two-tiered veil of french illusion, edged in matching chantilly lace, attached to a matching lace, and pearl-covered cameo headpiece. The bride carried a spring bouquet of carnations, spider mums, baby's breath, and greenery. The reception was held at the Sheaton Inn, in Midland. Shelby Bray, of Muleshoe, served at the groom's table. The bride's table was done in yellow and green, with a candelabra set on the serving table. The Energy Department

Over a year ago President Carter named full-time bureaucrat James Schlesinger to head a newly-created department of energy and asked Congress to appropriate a whopping $10 billion budget to carry out an emergency energy program.

The President at that time spelled out the crisis in grim terms and said the nation faced an emergency equivalent to war. In response to that dramatic appeal, Congress voted ten billion dollars of the taxpayers' money for Schlesinger's new department.

A year later, little has been done. Congress decided the crisis is not so all-dramatic (though an energy bill is obviously needed). And, instead of a developing oil shortage, there is today, actually a glut of oil.

In a recent speech in Detroit Lee Iacocca, president of the Ford Motor Company, noted that the 1978 Department of Energy budget amounted to $500,000 for every employee, or $50 for every member of the U.S. population, or 10 cents for every gallon of gasoline consumed in the U.S. in 1976!

Obviously, Schlesinger's bureaucracy has been overfunded, especially so since it has been partly idle in its first year of existence. Iacocca also noted in his Detroit speech that federal salaries are now so high they are draining away talent from smaller and weaker private businesses.

He is on solid ground in warning of the excessive spending and growing regulatory power of the federal government. Unless this trend is reversed, America is certain to continue on the road to British and European-type socialism, which has considerably curbed individual freedom, earning power and economic opportunity in most western European democracies.

Hayakawa On Slavery

Senator S. I. Hayakawa (R-Calif) told a party gathering in Jacksonville, Florida, recently the guilt complex which plagues whites, about slavery, is leading many to re-enslave the nation's blacks.

He said misguided and well-meaning charity programs, offering something for nothing almost indefinitely, tend to enslave recipients. Hayakawa said blacks today need a strong, free enterprise system far more than they need welfare, food stamps and handouts, although this might be hard for many to understand.

Hayakawa says the Republican Party's strong belief in the free enterprise system distinguishes it from many Democrats, who tend to believe bigger and bigger government can solve national problems.

He says the poor and jobless will find more permanent employment, and a better life, in gaining jobs in an expanding free enterprise system than in accepting government charity. And if all the historic economic achievements of America in the past are not to be ignored, he is, generally speaking, right.

will no doubt continue to be. The main argument supporting salary increases centers around the influence of inflation. Statistics indicate a drop in teachers' purchasing power when compared to the Consumer Price Index figures. This phenomenon is true in nearly all sectors of the economy and presents problems to everyone, not just teachers.

The Legislature is often chastized for not doing its part in supplying proper salaries. There is frequent mention of the fact that the State guaranteed only $8,460 for a ten month contract in 1977-78 to a beginning teacher. However, other information must be considered. The average state-guaranteed salary for all teachers in 1977-78 amounted to approximately $11,565. The average actual salary, meaning the state guarantee plus local enrichment funds, was about $12,820. This was almost an 11% increase in actual salary over the 1976-77 amount. This percentage hike is certainly more than the projected 6-7% inflation factor.

From the 1972-73 school year to the present, actual teachers' salaries increased over 50%—a fact which indicates the interest of the Legislature and the support of local school districts. This amount represents an effort by the State to provide adequate salaries. President Carter's frustra-

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Carter's New Fight—At Crossroads—Salt II—The Energy Bill—

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Carter's current fight against inflation may be critical to the later measurement of his administration and to his political future. At the outset skeptics complained voluntary restraint wouldn't do the job.

But the stock market seemed to like his approach and while it's too early to foresee the outcome, if inflation can be checked and if private business and organized labor exercise restraint, the economic future may be better than pessimists are predicting, at least for a year or two.

This may also depend on the energy bill Congress seems about ready to pass. Something must obviously be done to reduce the importation of oil, and reduce the resulting trade deficit. If Congress acts in this direction, it will help.

Pessimists are forecasting a recession, any time from 1979 to 1981. (Alan Greenspan leans toward the later date.) But Democratic spending, if it doesn't cause two-digit inflation, might mean good business for two or three years — if Congress exercises some limiting influence on the impending budget deficit. (Federal Reserve Board Chairman G. William Miller is currently urging less tax cutting and a reduced budget deficit.)

Meanwhile, business is somewhat reassured that Congress may not change the tax laws as drastically as Mr. Carter first proposed. And business is guardedly encouraged by House Ways and Means Chairman Al Ullman's announcement he opposes income tax cuts at this time. This offers a chance to hold down the budget deficit.

Because Congress also has acted to ease the blow of greatly increased social security taxes, a refusal to vote income tax reductions may be justified — if enough lawmakers can resist the temptation to offer voters tax-cut goodies just before an election.

tion in not getting either an energy bill or a new Salt II agreement with Russia could end by summer, and Mr. Carter may have played a shrewd hand when he hesitated to go ahead with the neutron bomb.

The bomb is controversial and Carter's holdback might induce the Russians to make minor concessions in the interest of an agreement—which the President was so optimistic about last October, prematurely as it turned out.

This is a critical year for Mr. Carter, as the public opinion polls show. He must get an energy bill of some sort, make progress in Salt II talks, stabilize the dollar to some reasonable degree and avoid a recession or soaring inflation in the process.

If business remains good, as recent evidences hint, and if Congress refuses to vote tax cuts, Mr. Carter might not come off too badly in the final assessment of 1978 if his current anti-inflation efforts are reasonably successful.

It's no trick of nature. As a matter of fact, the way we lease you Gifford-Hill's 360, the trick's on nature.

First, you get the very best electrically powered pivotal irrigation system on the market.

However, the advantages of leasing it are what you'll be just as interested in.

You know what it's going to cost from the time you sign the lease until the lease ends. That keeps inflation from getting to you.

It simply comes down to this, when you lease a rain from us, you've got your money in something that's going to appreciate instead of depreciate.

Come talk to us. We want you to get the most for the lease.

Mullettes Impressive At Regional

The Muleshoe Mullettes put on a pretty impressive show when they journeyed to the regional track meet on Friday and Saturday April 21 and 22. The girls took their team to a very outstanding fourth place finish with an accumulation of 36 points.

The 440 yard relay finished in the fourth spot with a time of 50.2. Team members are Frances Brown, Evelyn Grace, Debra Washington, and Shelly Dunham. Evelyn Grace turned in a time of 26.2 to finish third in the 220 yard dash. Shelly Dunham threw the shot 36'9". This throw was good enough to put her in the third spot.

The most impressive part of the meet for the Mullettes was the 880 yard relay. The Mulette team, Frances Brown, Evelyn Grace, Debra Washington, and Shelly Dunham, set a new school record of 1:45.5. But the impressive part about this team is that they qualified for the state track meet to be held in Austin May 5 and 6. Their time finished them in second place. Lupe Pacheco will serve as the alternate. Congratulations to this fine bunch of girls. Good luck in the state meet.

Letters To The Editor

I recently had surgery at West Plains Hospital in Muleshoe. In the past, I have been in large hospitals and have had other surgeries.

At West Plains Hospital, the doctors, staff and nurses have a personal touch with their patients than a larger hospital. The nurses and aides were so good and helpful.

The food was good, not like most hospitals where you have a hard time eating.

There are some things about the hospital which need to be said. We should be proud and lucky to have a hospital like the one we have.

All the staff at West Plains Hospital knows their business. God Bless you all.

Farmers Union Calls For New Parity Support

Officers of Texas Farmers Union from counties all across the state have officially gathered to renew the fight for parity goals in farm legislation and pledged continued support of "all farmers and groups of farmers who are fighting for this cause."

The TFU Board of Directors stated in a unanimous resolution "to build stronger coalitions and efforts of ALL farmers for new work toward the goal of parity in government programs for the survival of family agriculture."

Pointing toward the shared goals of Farmers Union with the American Agriculture Movement, the local farm leaders indicated a need to more closely associate all factions who are willing to work actively for reform.

Said one representative spokesman, "Farmers have learned many things in the past few months. Among them has been an awareness of which individuals and groups are fighting for them and which are fighting against them. Farmers are learning how to take care of their own business, and item number one is to support your friends and quit feeding your enemies. Family agriculture will be saved only when those who are willing to get out and work start working together. I think the farmers on our side of the fence are in the majority, but we're going to have to put it all together and push and push until there's no one left on the sidelines. We must stop beating ourselves and start building a bloc of supporters of 100 percent of parity."

An official of Texas Farmers Union called the spirit of farmers across Texas "good despite their frustrations." New work to build the organization to greater numbers and efforts seeking compromise legislation were discussed at the meeting with positive momentum.

Food Safety Is Enhanced With Grant

Texas consumers will be assured a better margin of food safety as a result of a $403,000 federal grant for pesticide law enforcement, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown announced this week.

by the Texas Department of Agriculture to increase our testing of food products and to enlarge pesticide testing facilities over the state," Commissioner Brown said. "These funds will help us continue to assure citizens that any pesticides used on crops will conform to safety standards and also protect wildlife, water supplies and other elements of the environment."

Commissioner Brown, who is seeking election to his first full term as head of the TDA, noted that his agency has been actively involved in environmental protection for more than 10 years. "Environment and food safety will continue to be a prime concern of my administration," Brown said.

"In answer to recent concerns of citizens about possible pesticide residue in Mexican fresh produce, we are augmenting the sampling performed by the Food and Drug Administration at the border," he noted. "We are increasing our spot checks on produce as it arrives at Texas points as a protective measure."

Brown pointed out that U.S. inspectors are active in Mexico while Texas Department of Agriculture personnel have to confine their activities to points within the state. However, close cooperation is maintained between Mexican, U.S. and Texas personnel, he said.

The grant money received from the Environmental Protection Agency will help enlarge the size and testing capacity of the residue laboratory now operated in Brenham. It will also make possible more work at the San Juan Laboratory in the Rio Grande Valley. The TDA also maintains labs at Comanche, De Leon, Fredericksburg and Elkhart which perform a variety of tests and services.

School Accreditation Studied

by Leonard Morgan
 Currently, the Three Way Schools are engaged in an accreditation process that is mandated by state statute for all public schools; Committees composed of three or four faculty and administration members are examining 24 different areas of concern to the school.
 Some of these areas include School Activities, Counseling Service, Math Programs and Vocational Studies.
 After the preliminary meetings of the school personnel, committee meetings were held which included at least one member from the community. The committees evaluated each area of concern, made recommendations for improvements and noted items that were currently being done well. These reports were then given to a steering committee. This group will take all the reports and determine the feasibility and priority of each recommendation.

 The needed improvements that are feasible will be scheduled on a yearly basis, according to their priority, over a five year period with the most important first.
 A report of the current and projected needs will then be sent to the Texas Education Agency in Austin for their approval. After approval, the plan is used to determine whether or not the district is accredited by the state. A district must be accredited in order to receive state funds. Accreditation is a continuing process and will be revised and up-dated on a yearly basis.

 Our own experience is that time, when allowed to work, will solve many problems.

FIREARM ACCIDENTS CAN HAPPEN ANYTIME

Two Panhandle hunters are officially listed as hunting fatalities by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department as the March reports from across Texas are compiled in Austin.
 Texas game wardens investigating the two fatalities and one injury have found that mishandling a gun was the major factor of each shooting.
 One hunter attempted to remove a loaded rifle from a pickup gun rack and was hit in the chest by the discharging gun.
 Another hunter was holding a friends loaded gun when it discharged striking him in the upper leg causing fatal results.
 A third hunter was injured as his rifle discharged while being unloaded, hitting him in the calf of his leg.
 All three hunters were under 22 years of age and all violated the cardinal rule of gun safety by pointing a loaded gun at someone or something they did not intend to shoot, namely, themselves.

 The P&WD recorded 17 hunting fatalities during 1977 as compared to only 11 in 1976. This year has started with a bang and the fall hunting season will not even begin until September.
 The P&WD suggests that you and your hunting companions attend a hunter safety class this summer before your next hunting trip turns into an unforgettable experience that you might not read about in the newspaper.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek takes a final look at the Panama Canal treaty this week.

Dear editor:
 For a while it looked like it was going to take as long to decide the Panama Canal issue as it took to dig it, but now that it's settled it looks like the terms of the treaty are a masterpiece of writing as great as the engineering feat required to dig the thing in the first place.

For example, some Senators said they'd vote against the treaty if the U.S. didn't have the right to send in troops to keep it open in case somebody tried to close it. Panama in turn said it wouldn't accept such a clause.

The literary scholars in the Senate then went to work and came up with wording saying the U.S. will not intervene in the internal affairs of Panama, no sir, but does retain the right to "unilaterally keep the canal open, operational, secure and accessible."

To the U.S. that means we can send in troops, to the Panamanians it means we can't. Every-

'Only children' are NOT, either!

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — An "only child" is selfish, lonely and maladjusted. Right? Wrong, says a University of Texas social psychologist.

Dr. Toni Falbo, who does research on aspects of family life, says no sound evidence supports the stereotype of the only child. Only children "are not isolated," she says, noting that such children have as much interaction with other children as they will need to develop normal personalities.

Dr. Falbo's research suggests that only children and first-borns may have much in common as adults. "They may be more achievement oriented and readily take leadership positions," she says.

body is happy and the issue is resolved. Everybody includes particularly the lawyers, who'll have a field day after the year 2000 arguing over what the language means.

Put in medical terms, agreeing not to intervene in internal affairs of Panama means we can't use internal medicine but doesn't rule out operating from the outside.

This reminds me of the story of the politician in earlier days who was campaigning in a town where the burning issue was whether hogs should be allowed to roam free or should be penned. Asked point-blank how he stood on the issue, and knowing the town was split down the middle on it, he came up with the classic answer: I'm in favor of penning the big ones and letting the little ones run free."

You suppose one of his descendants worked on the Panama Canal treaty?

Yours faithfully,
 J.A.

Remedies That Work

WASHINGTON—It's an unfortunate circumstance today that about the only thing more inflated than consumer prices are the high-sounding promises from Washington to beat inflation back.

The message is little more than a broken record to weary consumers who have heard it all before, but still see their dollar buying less.

Rising prices must be capped, so we are told again and again, if the American economy is to sustain growth, keep the dollar vigorous against foreign currencies and maintain individual purchasing power.

Diagnosing the illness, however, falls far short of producing a cure and doesn't even speak to the best remedy of all—practicing the art of preventive medicine.

Anyone who has gone to the grocery store, paid a utility bill, or bought a new pair of shoes has a first-hand understanding of the problem. In fact, the average Texas household probably has a better grasp of inflation's impact than do Washington bureaucrats who rely on macro economic theories to predict price trends.

Predictions, in fact, are the easy part. In inflationary cycles, everything goes up. It's when discussions on inflation turn to solutions that Washington seems to fumble for adequate answers.

Since the causes of inflation seem to be well-understood in Washington, it might be instructive to review government's actions of late to meet that one objective of holding down prices.

These developments throw into serious question government's understanding of how its actions contribute to the problem, and pose curious inconsistencies.

For example, should government-endorsed measures to increase the minimum hourly wage to $3.35 in increments over the next three years be viewed as an inflation-fighting measure? Or should it signal still higher wages in other sectors as they clamor to keep pace?

Will a government-backed wage settlement in the coal industry take the wind out of inflation's sails? Or will such unreasonable pay increases contribute to still higher energy costs for all users and to higher priced products such as steel in related industries?

Will increasing the Federal deficit to an unprecedented $60 billion in the next fiscal year move us closer to a balanced budget? Or will it perpetuate the same misguided policies we've clung to in the past which apply additional pressure on the dollar both here and abroad?

Will a proposed national energy policy ignoring our need to explore and produce more energy lessen our dependence on foreign sources? Or will it add to an already deepening dependence on unreliable supplies and at the same time worsen our balance of trade deficit?

Until satisfactory answers to such contradictory policies are forthcoming, consumers have every right to question if Uncle Sam is serious when it comes to fighting inflation, or just talking through his hat.

GOD'S WILL

The greatest commandment is that we should love our God. This is a free choice that man has, but it is God's desire that all would seek Him. He is our heavenly Father, and desires only the best for us.

ATTEND CHURCH

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

If your job has you coming and going

It's time to get something going for you!

Put your future on wheels, as well as your present. Perpetual Money Wheels. It's great commuter fare, and a lot more profitable than the daily crossword puzzle. It shows a man of 40 how $75 a month saved until he's 65 brings him $203.63 income each month thereafter... indefinitely! Plus lump sum savings of over $46,649!

And that's only one of 296 fascinating ideas on our Perpetual Money Wheel. Where can you get it? Only in our lobby. How much will it cost you? Nothing. Come in and ask.

The Perpetual Money Plan is an exclusive copyrighted program. Figures are based on current interest rate of 5 1/2% compounded daily, which is subject to change.
