

Three Killed In Highway Collision Near Midland

One Woman, Two Men Dead Result Of Auto Wreck
Ernest W. Bugg, Sterling City, Brother Of Local Men, One Of Victims; Mrs. Wilson, C. Graves Others

MIDLAND—One woman and two men are dead as a result of an automobile-truck collision on No. 1 Highway three miles east of here Saturday about 10:45 p. m.

Mrs. Pearl Wilson, formerly of San Angelo, but residing at Mayo Hotel here since last Christmas, was killed instantly; Ernest W. Bugg, of near Sterling City, died of injuries about five hours after the accident in a Midland hospital; and Clarence Graves, of this city, died Sunday night of injuries received in the collision.

According to reports a car driven by Bugg, and accompanied by Graves and Mrs. Wilson, crashed into the rear end of a truck driven by Jess Williams of Fort Worth. The impact of the collision threw the car over several times and when it was discovered by passing motorists both Bugg and Mrs. Wilson were lying in the middle of the road and Graves was lying in the ditch at the side.

Passing motorists notified the sheriff and an undertaker, but before they arrived, a Midland surgeon, returning from a call in the country, arrived on the scene. Mrs. Wilson was dead when the doctor arrived and the body was taken to an undertaking parlor, while the two men victims were taken to a hospital.

Bugg was first treated by the doctors for a fracture of the skull, broken arm and internal injuries. Graves' injuries consisted of concussion, several lacerations about the scalp and fractures of both arms.

The party, it was reported, had left the Mayo hotel about thirty minutes before and it was the opinion of persons living there that they had driven only a short distance east of Midland when they decided to return.

Williams, driving a truck for the American Manufacturing company of Fort Worth, said he was going west approaching Midland, when the small car struck his truck at the right rear, turning the truck on its right side in the ditch.

He climbed out, giving aid to the motorists, who had stopped by that time, in picking up the injured men and the dead woman.

Williams was enroute to Monahans, hauling a new pump-jack. He had unloaded the bulk of his load at Big Spring and had the piece of machinery stowed on the truck, so it was intact when the truck was righted. His machine sustained a broken drive shaft and was generally smashed at the rear.

Williams was unhurt except for a few bruises, where his face struck the cab as the truck overturned.

Funeral Monday
Ernest W. Bugg, 41, who died of injuries received in an automobile collision Sunday morning, about five hours after the accident occurred, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ollie Bugg, and three daughters, Mrs. C. W. Smith, Starling City; Mrs. Cecil Lindley, Durant, Okla.; and Miss Twila Bugg, Sterling City. His mother, Mrs. Susie Bugg, Sterling City; three brothers, A. H. and Leslie L. Bugg of Big Spring, and John J. Bugg of Florence.

Sapping—
Breakdown of hopes and plans has brought the American Federation of Labor to a crisis. It has failed to capture control of labor. This failure has caused it to misout in dictating terms to the government and industry.

Overplay—
President William Green miscalculated the situation when he figured that through enactment of Section 7A and discriminatory industry, that section in favor of the Federation it would increase its membership to 10,000,000 or even 12,000,000.

Gaps—
The time came for a showdown on the automobile code. Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., and Walter P. Chrysler advised President Roosevelt that surrender to the demands of the Federation would be followed by the shutting down of General Motors and Chrysler factories on the following Monday morning.

Accuses Betty Gow, Wheateley Of Baby Crime

FLEMINGTON, N. J. (AP)—Reverting to the original contention of "an inside job," counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann Monday accused Betty Gow and the late Olive Wheateley of complicity in the kidnaping and murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

Reilly charged the kidnap ladder was "planted" and the baby was not taken from the nursery through a window.

Reilly's summation began after the state used an hour to declare the contention it had proved "not only a reasonable doubt, but conclusively and overwhelmingly that Hauptmann is guilty of the crime."

Utilities (Continued from page 1) senting Dallas Power and Light and Texas General and Light company and generally expressing the viewpoint of the utility people of Texas, testified before the house committee that his people are friendly to the principle of state regulation, if fairly and justly administered. He offered several objections to phases of the administration bill, as explained to the committee by Dr. R. E. Montgomery, economic advisor to the governor. Both Worcester and W. L. Matthews of San Antonio Public Service company questioned validity of the "prudent investment" basis of valuation. That, stripped of 30 years' accumulation of technicalities, proposed to pay the utilities a return only on what was put into properties, rather than on fictitious book figures of "reproduction, new, less depreciation," or the pyramiding of holding company securities.

INCOME TAX DEDUCTIONS DON'T prepare your return without first studying the instructions on the form. DON'T procrastinate. Early assembling of data permits a careful consideration of all tax problems. DON'T destroy the memoranda from which your return was prepared. DON'T omit explanation when such information is essential to an intelligent audit. Attach memoranda to your return.

NO. 7 HUSBAND AND WIFE MAY FILE JOINT OR SEPARATE RETURNS Husband and wife living together may each make a separate return of the income of each, or their income may be included in a single joint return. If a joint return is filed, such return is treated as a return of a taxable unit, and the income disclosed is subject to both the normal tax and the surtax. If a joint return is not made by an agent of the taxpayers it must be signed by both husband and wife and sworn to before a proper officer by the spouse preparing the return, or if neither or both prepare the return then by both.

Where separate returns are filed by husband and wife, the joint normal exemption of $2,500 must be taken by either or divided between them in any proportion as agreed upon. In certain cases it would be to the advantage of the couple if they should file separate returns and one spouse claim the total joint personal exemption. In the following example which illustrates this point, the husband has a net income of $4,700, all of which represents earned net income, and the wife has a separate net income of $2,500, not earned net income.

Table with columns for separate returns, joint returns, and computation of joint return. Shows net income, normal tax, surtax, and total tax for both scenarios.

Laxative So Many Like Old folks, young folks—thousands of them say they prefer Theodor's Black-Draught when they need a laxative. It does its work so well. I have used Theodor's Black-Draught in my family since 1886. writes Mr. Henson Temple, Smithville, Miss. "We do not feel like we could keep house without Black-Draught. We are quite a good way from town, and a good, simple medicine like Black-Draught, is good to have on hand. All these years I have never changed because it gave satisfaction." ADMIRAL BYRD HEADS FOR HOME (Continued from page 1) gain membership as he predicted and also because politicians and industrialists have tested out his generalship and have found gaps in his armor. They do not have the fear of him that they had even six months ago.

Deciding to leave his antarctic base at Little America while weather conditions were favorable, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd quickly stowed equipment aboard his boat, the Jacob Ruppert and the Bear of Oakland, and started for home by way of Dumedin, N. Z. The map shows the route he will traverse back to civilization.

Ominous Both Green and Lewis savagely attack Richberg for refusing to champion the Federation's aims whenever they conflict with the aims of industry. This attack is not as dangerous as it would have been a few months ago.

Riding Politicians in Congress who make it their business to "size up" the strength of organized voting forces in their respective states and districts are now retailing that President Green made a show of demanding from all candidates in 1934 a pledge that they would stand by the regional banks as well as the Board.

Official The proposal to abandon specific collateral requirements for Federal Reserve notes looks radical and inflationary at first glance. But on this point we are merely imitating some of Europe's most conservative central banks.

Compromise The big banks gained a little more ground in their deposit insurance argument with the reduction of the maximum premium to 1.12 of 1 per cent (as against 1.8 of 1 per cent) of total deposits.

Safeguard Roosevelt lieutenants are confident that eventually the $4,800,000 work-reform bill will come out of the wringer with most of the power the White House asked. They are finding the job of whipping the necessary votes into line harder than usual.

Breaks—The one thing informed observers agree on in this gold business is that the Supreme Court decision won't make any practical difference to the government's monetary and financial policies whichever way it goes.

Burning New York rates the proposed blacklisting of foreign countries which "discriminate" against our trade as the dumbest idea Washington has had yet—and to hear conservatives tell it that's saying something. Financial observers can't see that it would promote anything except a lot of bad feeling.

TEXAS TOPICS By Raymond Brooks

A fraternal organization of national scope, has set out the laudable effort to petition congress to pass laws curtailing activities of those who would seek to overthrow the government by force and violence.

Here are four of the things citizens are asked by it to petition congress for: "That the department of justice be charged with discretionary authority of publication of the truth about organizations and individuals engaged in subversive activities."

advocating, encouraging, or affiliating with any organization advocating or encouraging overthrow of government by force or violence.

Sen. Beck, after consulting with many experts in the field, prepared this bill. He has discussed it with Gov. Allred, whose administration has promised the establishment of a strong state police system.

The Political Anvil Sen. Will Beck, chairman of the senate crime committee and author of the bill to create a state police system, has pointed out that his measure will integrate existing law-enforcement officials and "add only 30 new persons—experts in charge of the headquarters division at Austin."

Communications It will call in and integrate in the system all city marshals, sheriffs and constables, and confer upon each of them all the powers of any other member of the state police, which will mean to extend their jurisdiction when called into service to any part of the state.

Dr. Beck explained the training school for officers, giving the state the opportunity to call in the best experts to help train the men, just as a key feature of the law, just as the training school for highway patrolmen quickly established this service as one of the finest in the country.

Shot From 30-30 Ends Flight Of Automobile Thief MIDLAND—One blast from a 30-calibre rifle fired by City Marshal Lee Haynes into the rear tire of a stolen automobile ended the brief flight of a man who gave his name as Newman Bowman, alleged to have commandeered an automobile at Odessa Friday morning.

Notifying the sheriff's office, a call was placed to the sheriff's office here, Deputy Fisher Pollard and Marshal Haynes drove to the western edge of the city, recognized the car, from the description given, as it sped by El Campo. They gave chase, overtaking the small coupe as it came through the business section of Midland.

But the actual law violators will help pay the cost of administering the state police system. Dr. Beck explained, instead of paying thousands of dollars into the pockets of racketeering constables, the law will levy a $1 additional fine on each violator and put the money in the fund to support the cost of conducting the state police system.

Under The Dome At Austin By GORDON K. SHEAKER

AUSTIN, (UP)—Rumors flew thick and fast that legislators were to be tipped off to a "sure thing" when they visited Alamo Downs. These rumors looked good—a win supposedly would make the legislators return to Austin with a kindly feeling for pari mutuels.

Several House members find it difficult to keep away from the microphone. The urge to speak has them in its grip. One of them had offered a minor amendment to a pending bill. The bill sponsors, foreseeing a speech in favor of the amendment, promptly accepted the amendment. The member made his speech anyhow.

Appointment of Lloyd Gregory of Houston to be deputy state labor commissioner to supervise boxing and wrestling in the Houston area got the new Labor Commissioner off to a good start with the sports writers and with the fans. Appointments for other districts are being awaited eagerly, particularly by sports writers.
