From Over The Panhandle

The biggest crowd ever attending a fourth of July celebration was in Clarendon Tuesday. A splendid entertainment was furnished during the whole day.

The auto of B. E. Shutterly of Higgins caught fire from the gasoline lead pipe and was burned entirely up. Fortunately the occupants escaped without injury.

Thirty-two conversions were reported by Rev. J. W. Story who is holding a Methodist meeting at Plainview.

A daily mail route has been secured for route No. 1, going out from Mobeetie. Service began on the first of July.

Wheeler celebrated with a picnic on Tuesday of last week. All communities in that vicinity united in making it the best picnic ever attended in that section.

In the ball game at Amarillo on the Fourth, the Shamrock team was defeated by a score of 6 and 7.

J. A. Gerner and sons of Lelia Lake realized the neat little sum of $2,000 from their "wool clip" this season.

In the road bond election in Roberts county for $30,000, the proposition carried almost three to one.

A. J. Blackwell, near Floydada, reports an average crop of 23 bushels of wheat to the acre and testing 63 pounds to the bushel.

On account of so much still weather in the Hereford country last week gasoline engines had to be put in use in order to get water for cattle.

Eight cars of live stock were shipped from Plainview last Saturday.

Fifty percent is the net annual profit from a small bunch of sheep owned by H. D. Rosser of Abernathy.

Building Fund Is Growing

Committees in charge of the work announce that satisfactory progress is being made toward the creating of a fund among the local Masons for the purpose of constructing a modern brick home at the corner of First and Main streets and as soon as details can be worked out the actual construction work will be commenced.

This new building will be the handsomest of its kind in the city and will add materially to the attractiveness of our business section.

Tentative plans indicate that the building will be twenty-five by ninety feet with a frontage on Main and First streets. An attractive plate glass front and plate glass openings at the side will furnish the light for the first floor. The second floor will be reached by a flight of stairs from the outside, landing in a spacious hall. To the right of the entrance will be a suite of office rooms and directly in front the hall will open into the lodge parlor and library. From this room entrance will be made to the Tiler's room and thence to the Main lodge room, which will be twenty three by forty feet.

Definite plans as to the finish, etc., are not available but it is certain that the structure will be both substantial and handsome.

A Safe And Sane Fourth

As to safe and sane Fourth's, McLean is, the easy winner against the field. Tuesday was celebrated in the quiet sedate manner agreeable to the most ardent advocate of the safe and sane bug. In fact there was nothing doing here whatever, except that the men building the city's street crossings worked steadily through the long hot day. Those of our citizens who did not attend the celebration at Clarendon, either stayed quietly at home or journeyed to various picnics for a day's outing.

A crowd enjoyed a basket dinner at the Geo. Weaver place, a crowd went to Hackberry creek and still another crowd picniced at the Rowe ranch.

Picnic Committees At Work

Circulars have been sent out this week all over this section of the Panhandle and advertisements placed in numerous papers calling attention to the big two days picnic and free barbecue in McLean on the 18th and 19th of this month.

No plans nor expenses will be spared in making this event one of pleasure and profit to those who will find time to attend and the invitation is general. McLean wants to be host to the greatest gathering it has ever been her pleasure to entertain and she is making arrangements to that end.

Committees of one have been announced to have charge of the different branches of the work as follows:

- Concessions—W. H. Holt.
- Barbecue—J. M. Noel.
- Advertising—D. H. Nunn.
- Baseball—T. J. Coffey.
- Races and Contests—J. W. McAdams.
- Finances—Bee Everett.
- Speaking—Dr. W. C. Montgomery.
- Program—Clay E. Thompson.

These committees are expected to summon such aid from the business men as they may need to facilitate the committee work and it is believed that nothing will be lacking to make the event a most successful one in all its departments.

Kindly bear in mind the dates and remember also that McLean wants you to be her guest on the 18 and 19 of July.

Two Hundred Cattle Pass For Exhibit.

O. H. Nelson, president, and R. M. Stephens, secretary, of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association, returned to Amarillo lately after having visited practically every town of importance in the Panhandle in the interest of the Hereford Exhibit Sale which is to be held in connection with the Panhandle State Fair.

Messrs. Nelson and Stephens have passed on all stock which is to be exhibited by the Association. Plans have been made to make the cattle show this year one of the best in the west. Only stock which has passed a rigid inspection will be allowed in the exhibit. Mr. Stephens states that two hundred and forty head of Hereford cattle have been inspected by them and passed for exhibit.

Fair representatives are planning to double the size of the department on the Fair grounds by the erection of a row of new buildings north of the old stock pens and around the swine section. Mr. Welty, assistant secretary of the Fair, stated lately that the Fair is going to be much improved this year—a sort of young Dallas Fair.

City Builds Crossings.

City Marshall Sparks has had a force of men at work this week on the cement crossings on Main street and it is the announced intention of the City government to continue the work until suitable crossings have been built to connect every block that has continuous walks, or at least that have walks in front of all business buildings.

The concrete work is under the direction of Mr. Free.

St. Paul Garden in Which Only Weeds Are Grown

ST. PAUL, MINN.—There are 175 varieties of weeds in the garden cultivated by W. L. Oswald at University farm, St. Paul. The garden is the largest in the United States which grows only weeds, but is as carefully laid out and cultivated as the best gardens raising dahlias, nasturtiums and pansies.

Mr. Oswald is head of the seed-testing laboratory and assistant professor of botany at the University of Minnesota College of Agriculture. He uses the seeds of all varieties of weeds that grow in Minnesota to put into collections that are supplied to agricultural clubs and schools. Before the garden was started rarely found varieties of weed seeds sometimes cost $200 to collect. Mr. Oswald said. A man was oftentimes sent to a distant corner of the state and was required to spend a week collecting the weed seeds in sufficient quantities to meet the demand of the experiment station. Mr. Oswald decided that such was poor economy and planted the weed garden.

The garden also supplies weeds for the school's weed herbarium and for laboratory courses. It is also beneficial to farmers who visit the state farm, as it may aid them in finding the names of weeds that trouble them on their farms.

No weed has grown in this garden the spread of which cannot be readily controlled. Quack grass and its troublesome relatives are not permitted in the beds. Weeds that bear seeds which blow away readily are not allowed. There are, indeed, a few varieties of weeds in the garden that do not grow on the rest of the university's farm, but there has never been a field infested with a pest weed from the garden. The gardeners say there never will be.

Seeds are not left to scatter after they have ripened. Two men work in the garden during the planting and harvesting seasons. They gather the seeds as soon as ripe and dry them carefully to supply next season's planting and to be put in cases for exhibit.

The Minnesota weed garden covers about half an acre. The perennials have one part, the biennials have another and the annuals another part, all their own. Each variety has a bed in which no other weeds are allowed to grow.

rings which gather up the silk and shape the garment to the figure. The collar ends in a narrow frill lined with a second frill of white organdie.

The waist line is outlined with rows of shirtings forming a belt, and shirtings confine the fullness of the sleeves at the head of flaring cuffs. The belt is clasped at the front with ornamental clasps of composition.

In the poplin suit at the left a pointed tunic and peplum suggest a flounced skirt. The underskirt is plain and only moderately wide. The tunic is finished with velvet ribbon in black, and the peplum is bordered with it.

Blue georgette crepe over the finest and least conspicuous of wire frames. Leghorns and other straws acquire extra width of brim by the addition of deep borders of crepe, and all the straws used for midsummer millinery are shown draped with shaped flounces of the sheerest crepe in white or in pale tints. Several colors in their palest tones are used together, with the flounces graduated in width. One or two of them are considerably wider than the hat brim they cover.

A hat of black hair braid is shown in the picture, in which the braid is stretched over a very fine wire frame.

AIRY FOR MIDSUMMER WEAR.

In this suit a wide belt and cuffs are made of the silk, with rows of shirtings set very close together and leaving a frill at each edge. The belt and blouse fasten to one side with round silk-covered buttons in groups of three, and they make a pretty finish for the cuffs.

Milliners declare that it is hard to get them wide enough—the hats of midsummer—and nothing so expansive as to brims has been seen since the days of the "Merry Widow" sailor. But they are of lace braids, hair braids in black or white, in gauzy crepes in pale colors, or in millinery braids of various kinds draped with the sheerest fabrics, so there is nothing heavy or cumbersome about them.

SAVING IS MADE EASY

INSTITUTIONS DESIGNED TO ENCOURAGE THRIFT NUMEROUS.

Building and Loan Associations Responsible for 700,000 Homes in United States.

It is not only banks which have in the title the word "savings" that are savings institutions. Practically all trust companies have savings departments and, under the federal reserve law, national banks are permitted to have departments for savings. Such departments are conducted in substantially the same manner as savings banks whose attention is devoted exclusively to this kind of banking. Many life insurance companies issue policies which really take the form of savings accounts, and while realization on the whole amount is deferred until the end of a stated period, the policies have a fixed value after the second or third year. A savings and loan association and a building and loan association are savings institutions. The difference between them and the savings banks is in the form of their investments. While they are designed for the primary purpose of the promotion of thrift, it is the presumption that in their case thrift will find its expression in the form of the ownership of a home. But they also attract depositors who are usually called investors. These associations have no capital stock and the security of their investments is carefully safeguarded through the same kind of inspection and supervision as obtains in the case of savings banks.

At the present time there are 6,613 mutual savings and loan associations in the United States, with a membership of 3,102,935 and assets of $1,357,707,990. It is recorded that in Philadelphia alone 150,000 dwellings have been purchased through the medium of loans obtained from these associations, while in the United States it is estimated that approximately 700,000 homes owe their existence to the building and loan associations.

All of these institutions and departments of institutions have been organized for the gathering of capital that is the expression of thrift. Their profits go in some cases and in some proportion to stockholders, but the great majority of them are mutual cooperative institutions which have no capital stock and their members are the only beneficiaries.

In every case the form of the organization is the direct result of long years of experience, and it is so closely in accord with the customs of the people and is so much an outgrowth of those customs that it must be considered the best institution for the purposes sought.

Not yet have the savings institutions of the United States reached anything like the full realization of the possibilities. Despite the enormous aggregate of funds on deposit with savings banks, when the amount is considered in relation to the potentialities it is below that of the thrifty and hard-working nations of Europe, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Switzerland, Norway and Sweden all exceed the United States in the individual thriftiness of their people. The people of this country will have to redouble their efforts before they get in the class with these countries and, astonishing as it may seem, the earning capacity of the people of the United States is greater than that anywhere else in the world.

THRIFT MAKES HAPPY HOME

Use of Budget System in Regulating Expenses is Good Means of Preventing Waste.

Happiness in the home depends largely upon system in finances. If it is lacking, waste and extravagance naturally ensue.

It is one thing to read about thrift and it is another thing to practice it. There are numerous rules and regulations, budgets and plans, any one of which, if carried out, would produce greater efficiency and a happier home. It is not easy, however, to find the plan which is most adaptable to the needs and requirements of the home. In a recent contest for the best story on household economy a contestant gave several rules of thrift, as follows:

- Pay cash.
- Keep an accurate record of your income and expenditures.
- Deposit a definite amount every pay day and make yourself get along with the rest.
- Realize that no sum is too small to save.
- Start now.
- And that is all there is to saving.
- Another described how four in a family lived happily on a salary of $2,000 a year divided up in this way: Shelter (rent and carfare), 21 per cent.
- Food, 19 per cent.
- Clothing, 21 per cent.
- Operating expenses (service, light, heat, etc.), 18 per cent.
- Savings, 10 per cent.
- Luxuries, 6 per cent.
- Advancement (medical bills, books, gifts, education), 5 per cent.

The budget system of keeping track of expenses is a splendid means of obtaining a greater degree of thrift and efficiency in the household.

If thrift is not practiced in the home through proper buying of food and clothing it is obviously impossible to save any money. It is the very root of the problem.

His Identity.

We met a man with the most astoundingly lugubrious cast of countenance that we had ever seen. Gloom sat on his brow like a brooding condor on her nest and an abysmal sadness seemed devouring him.

"Ah!" said we, "we perceive that you are a celebrated wag, for, in sooth, we have never before in all of woe's appointed ways beheld such a personification of wretchedness."

"No," he replied, "I am not a humorist. I feel as sad as I look. I am a pacifist, and believe that preparedness will inevitably bring on war."

"You do well to mourn your awful condition," we returned. "If you were a humorist you might get over it. But you are a dad-burned fool, and there is no help for you!"

"There's a Reason"

Mystery of the Disappearing Goldfish Solved

NEW YORK.—The mystery of the disappearing goldfish which has for months interested diners, waiters, cashiers, and porters at a Harlem restaurant was settled definitely as the seven-hundredth victim went cavorting to his fate. As a result there was a sunrise-shooting service in the rear of the eatery last morning.

For two years one of the principal attractions at the restaurant has been the large aquarium in the left front window. In it German carp, goldfish, crabs and a couple of real Florida alligators have waded or swum endlessly, attracting attention to a large menu on which appeared the day's best bets in the matter of fodder.

However, during recent months it has been almost impossible to keep the goldfish in the building. At night they would receive their daily dose of fried chicken and port wine and in the morning they would not be found dying or suffering from indigestion, but absolutely absent.

Waiters who were merely waiting took to peering into the aquarium at all hours of the day. The porters stopped cleaning the windows a score of times per pane to see if they could solve the mystery.

The other afternoon a newsboy ran into the restaurant and called to the cashier:

"Hey, mister, yer alligators is eatin' yer goldfish! What's the idea?"

The cashier looked quickly and saw the larger of the alligators carelessly munching what appeared to be about 20 goldfish. A count brought the total up to 700 lost in two months. The alligators were quickly removed with ice tongs, and next day were executed.

Husbands of Cardplayers Aided by the Police

NEW YORK.—The police as the refuge of the hubby whose wife insists on gambling away her allowance is the latest product of fertile Washington Heights brains. It seems a group of young married women started a friendly afternoon poker game among themselves. It was very quiet and all that at first, and the limit was ten cents.

Hubbies raised their eyebrows but said little. Then the "girls" began to get reckless. The ten-cent limit was dashed aside. Many and many a young wife returned to her little flat and reported herself "broke." The furor spread. Promises to pay, an invention of the devil himself, were introduced by some wife whose husband is in Wall street. Oh, yes, there was also a "kitty." It repaid the woman holding the session for expenses and damage, if any.

There was a hubbies' mass meeting. The next quiet little wives' gathering was startled by the announcement: "The police are at the door." Chips and money were quickly swept into hiding places. The police were very gentlemanly. "We are just seeing that no law is being violated, ladies. Of course, you know, ladies, 'kitties' are not allowed."

Then they departed and the game went on, but without quite its accustomed zest.

The next day, in another home, the same thing happened. It was very annoying, really. The police just stood around and did no more harm than a well-disciplined butler. But it looked bad. Attendance at the games, as days went by and the police remained steady visitors, diminished quickly, and finally fell to zero.

It is remarkable how many Washington Heights policemen are smoking big cigars of the quarter-kind when off duty.

Newton Horse Ate 36 Feet of Clothesline

NEWTON, N. J.—One of the most remarkable veterinary operations ever seen in Newton occurred here when a horse belonging to Nicholas Brazz, a vegetable peddler, bit off far more rope than he could chew and swallow. The steed, known to his associates as Gladiola III, is resting comfortably, but his owner, Nicholas, cannot sleep a wink.

Mr. Brazz was delivering a consignment of new potatoes at the home of Mrs. Pason F. Hoyt, and left Gladiola outside. When he came out he saw the horse with his head at an awkward angle, making a noise like the last words of a bicycle pump. The horse had kicked the last of the new potatoes in the general direction of Newark, and was just punting Mr. Brazz's business coat over the barn, when discovered.

A glance showed Mr. Brazz that Gladiola had eaten a strip of clothesline. Grabbing the charger by the bridle, he backed the entire works into the street, knocking down a hedge which he will have to pay for, and putting in the last desolate stroke on the falling vegetable business. When 36 feet of rope had been recovered from Gladiola's maw the incident was closed, likewise the ambitious jaws of Gladiola.

Investigation proved that Mrs. Hoyt puts sugar in the starch used for washing. A considerable amount of this substance had got on the clothesline and Gladiola is a perfect "nut" about candy.

THE McLEAN NEWS

PUBLISHED WEEKLY

McLEAN

TEXAS

By A. G. RICHARDSON

SUBSCRIPTION.

One Year$1.00

Entered as second-class mail matter May 8, 1905, at the postoffice at McLean, Texas, under the Act of Congress.

We feel awfully sorry for the pessimist. Wheat has turned out so much "better than expected" he will have to turn his conversation in another direction.

Did you know that pupils from the McLean high school have made better records at the Canyon Normal than pupils from any other town in the Panhandle?

The much discussed "Panhandle Hen" is doing her part for this community. Many of our farmers set their tables and buy their clothes from the hens and milk and butter.

McLean is becoming known all over this part of the state by so many beautiful shade trees. The tree planting movement will be continued this fall and many hundred more will adorn the streets.

A Good Paper.

The Clarendon News of the 8th especially caught our eye. It was full of good stuff, and we read it all. There are plenty of good papers in Texas, but the thing that caught us about The News was that it had something good to say for everybody and everything in general and not a hard word for anybody or anything. Maybe the editor is a christian—whether he knows it or not, whether he makes any pretensions or not—West News.

Say, brother Editor, in order to keep this good reputation you had better "suppress" your issue of June 22, as far as your exchange list is concerned.

Superintendent Selected.

The local school board announces the appointment of G. A. Comstock as superintendent to take the place of Prof. L. H. Potts, resigned. Mr. Comstock has been teaching for the past five years at Fort Collins, Colorado, and is recommended as an instructor of superior ability. He has an A. B. degree and is in every way qualified to handle the work of the post to which he has been appointed.

It would appear that Bro. Adams of the News has some inside dope on the course of the Panhandle papers with reference to the race for supreme judge. It would appear that Bro. Pope is to be held responsible and Amarillo is to be sacrificed ruthlessly on account of the fact that certain of her citizens aspire to office. Just what action Amarillo is going to take in this crisis has not been announced, but it is evident that Bro. Pope is not even going to notice the horrible threat hurled at him by the Plainview brother. It must be very humiliating to the editor of a big newspaper and a past president of the great Panhandle Press Association to be absolutely ignored when they are belching forth their most ferocious bark. Keep it up, Bro. Adams, we little fellows will throw rocks at you, even if the really worth while editors do overlook your howling entirely.

For one section of the Panhandle to be continually knocking some other section of the Panhandle is tantamount to a man kicking his own caboose or tying a big weight to his right foot in order to give his left a better chance. The Panhandle must pull together if she would grow and develop and the man who is continually tearing some parts to pieces while ostensibly trying to build up others reminds us that some people's backbone is all above their necks.

BOOST the two days picnic to be held in McLean on the 18 and 19th of this month.

Go to the polls on the 22nd and cast your vote intelligently, keeping in mind the man you consider best fitted for the office.

You could not do better in a public school for your children than sending them to the McLean school. If you are not a resident of this district have your children transferred before it is too late. Indications point to a nine month's term with several credits of affiliation with higher schools.

One More For Wampus Cats

Our beloved Wampus Cats, in spite of the calumny that has been heaped upon them respecting certain defeats in the past, megalotically and conclusively sustained the reputation of the tribe of Wampuses on last Thursday afternoon when they walloped a picked team of ball fumlbers from Erick, Okla., to the score of three and four on the local diamond.

No mention is to be made of any special player or any unusually spectacular play, although they were both numerous, for we are not a proud and boastful people, but that Purvy Cooke did pitch some ball and the fielding was practically flawless. In fact, we have proven conclusively and finally that the Wampus cats can put over a real game when they feel just right. During the picnic, which McLean will hold the 18th and 19th of this present month, we are expecting some further evidences of their superiority, provided, of course, we can find suitable antagonists.

R. B. Cousins May Speak

Dr. W. C. Montgomery, chairman of the Speaking Committee for the picnic states that it is almost certain that Dr. R. B. Cousins, president of the North West Texas State Normal, will speak here on one day of our eighteenth and nineteenth celebration. Dr. Cousins has never visited McLean for the reason, as he told us when in Canyon in April, "I have never been invited." He is one of the foremost educators in the state and is a good speaker and we hope he will accept the invitation to come.

T. J. Bailey Is Dead.

Word was received in McLean early yesterday morning of the death of J. T. Bailey, which occurred in a sanitarium in Fort Worth at midnight Wednesday night. Walter and Henry Bailey left for Clarendon and took the early Denver train for Fort Worth, where they will have the body prepared for shipment back here for burial.

Mr. Bailey has been suffering from an attack of pelagaria for several months and had been in the Sanitarium for treatment for some time. Although it was known that he was slowly sinking, his family was not prepared for his sudden demise.

T. J. Bailey had been a resident of McLean for a number of years and was one of our most substantial farmers, having accumulated considerable wealth and prominence. Mrs. Bailey preceded him to the grave by only a few months and the large family thus deprived of mother and father have the sincere sympathy of the entire community.

In U. S. A. Consular Service.

J. W. Ragsdale of Roswell, N. M., who recently purchased the O'Dell Hotel, arrived the latter part of last week and has assumed active management of the establishment. He expects his family to arrive within the next few days to make their home with him here.

Mr. Ragsdale is a man of wide business experience, having for many years been connected with the consular service, having posts at Russia and also in China. We are pleased to welcome him and his family to McLean and predict for him a liberal success in his business undertaking.

SUCCESSFUL BOYS FARMERS

THE country lads and lassies, are the nation's hope of future prosperity and strength

By MELVIN RYDER.

DEWEE HANES is my hero." That's what Gov. Frank B. Willis of Ohio said about the seventeen-year-old corn and wheat champion grower of the Buckeye state, after hearing the boy tell over a thousand farmers how they ought to go about raising corn and wheat in order to get three and four times as large yields per acre at much less cost per bushel and much greater profits per acre.

The secret of the success of the boys' and girls' club work and the dozen different projects which the "farmers of the future" are carrying on so successfully is to be found in Governor Willis' five-worded remark. The boys who are showing the men how to farm are the heroes of the agricultural world of today. They are the evangelists who are carrying the gospel of better farming into every section of the state and showing their fathers and mothers how to farm better and how to live better on the farms.

The United States department of agriculture is in charge of this work. Their experts have built up a national organization with each state and county as a unit, and their paid agents are in charge of the details of organization and tabulation of all the work that has been done and is to be done. The season of 1916 is now under way, and even the most optimistic in charge hesitate to predict how far the boys and girls will go before the season's results are known in solving the problems before the farmers of today and leading these same farmers into the bigger and happier farming life that is possible through the use of better methods and the gaining of better crops of higher quality and market value.

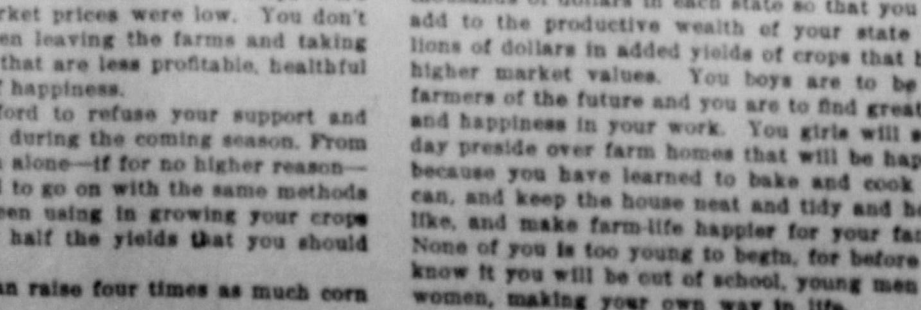

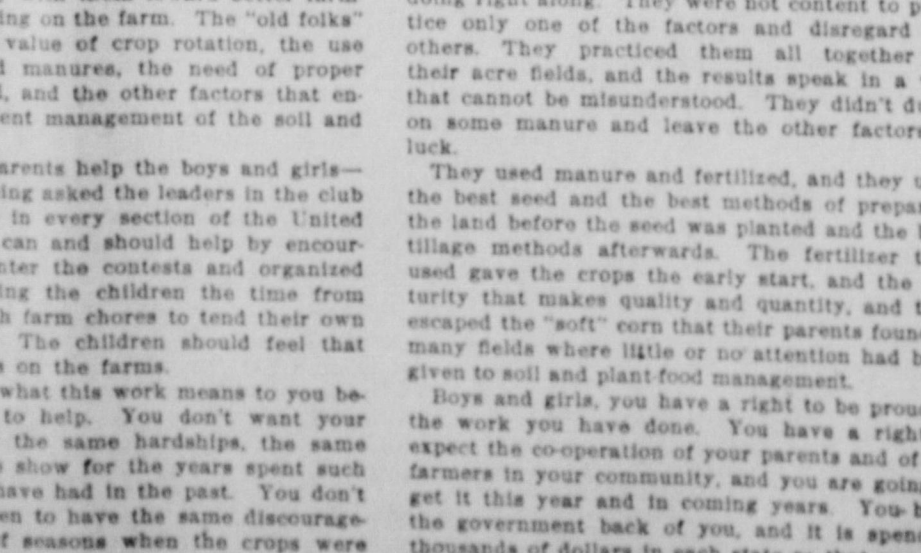

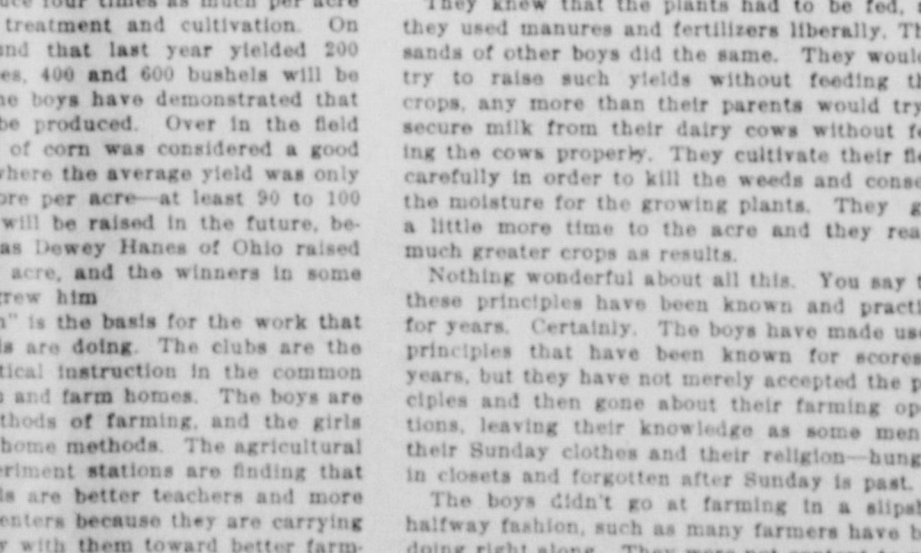

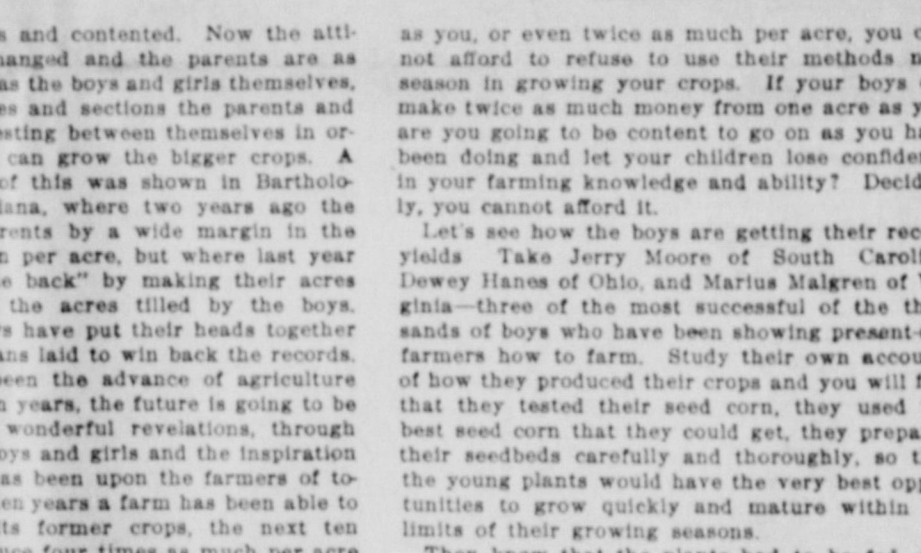

Not many years ago a Southern lad, Jerry Moore, startled the entire country by growing more corn on one acre than many farmers are now growing on ten acres. Newspapers and magazines throughout the country commented on his excellent work, and predicted that farmers would find that they might also grow larger and better quality crops if they would follow his methods. They did not realize until after the next season just what this boy's achievement was worth to the country, not until they learned that the entire South was following Jerry Moore and growing more corn than sold for millions of dollars.

Each year the work of the boys and girls has grown, and the end is farther than ever away. The boys have been specializing in growing crops and live stock, the girls in tending gardens, canning farm products and studying home economics and better home-life. In numbers the boys and girls are several times greater than the standing army of the United States. In enthusiasm they are far ahead of any other organized body in the world. In importance and in recorded results the world has never seen the equal of the same boys and girls. And the season of 1916 has just opened—the season that is certain to double or triple in results the last and greatest season of 1915.

To best understand what the boys and girls found when they started their work, it is necessary to look back through the centuries and see how the science of farming began. The occupation of farming is one of the oldest in the history of the world. When men knew little else, they knew how to plant seed and reap a harvest that was sufficient for their daily needs. During many centuries, the farmer was a plodder, who worked that he and his family might exist. Probably he found little joy and happiness in his work. The production of life in a seed was a mystery to him, and he accepted the mystery without trying to solve it. It was enough that the plant grew and produced fruit, and the early farmer never asked himself how he could treat his soil and the seed so that it would produce twofold instead of one. There was plenty of land, and so when one field did not produce well, he moved to another field or region, and did not bother about the first area.

There came a time, however, when his soil became barren in great areas. The seed no longer grew as it had and the plants were weak and the fruit of little value. Then it was that science stepped in and the really scientific farming had a start. Science showed that soil that had been cropped until it was partly worn out could be restored to its productive ability by the return of the elements that had been removed. Science showed the farmer that the soil was a living thing and that the life in the soil must be maintained. It examined the roots of the plants and studied the way that the plant transforms the raw materials in the soil into the finished product of the fruit of the plant. It found that some plants had nodules on their roots that were filled with bacteria which had the power to take up nitrogen from the air, and it found many other truths that have since been the basis for much of the work done by agricultural teachers.

During the last ten years the advance of the science of farming has been very rapid, but the practical application by the farmers of the principles and practices that have been proved valuable has not kept pace with the discoveries. It is the boys and girls who are catching up, and therein is the explanation of the results that they have been getting. Their parents might have done the same things, but they did not. The boys who are growing corn started where their fathers left off and put into practice the teaching that the fathers considered impractical theories. In most cases the parents kept their hands off, so far as the boys' acres were concerned. Many of them were suspicious of the entire work, and were content to let their boys enter because they thought that would be the best way for the "young uns" to be

Mrs. Sheldon Spent $1900 for Treatment Without Benefit. Finally Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Englewood, Ill.—"While going through the Change of Life I suffered with headache, nervousness, flashes of heat, and I suffered so much I did not know what I was doing at times. I spent $1900 on doctors and not one did me any good. One day a lady called at my house and said she had been as sick as I was at one time, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made her well, so I took it and now I am just as well as I ever was. I cannot praise it enough for it saved my life and kept me from the Insane Hospital."—Mrs. E. SHELDON, 6567 E. Halsted St., Englewood, Ill.

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

Just Once! Try "Dodson's Liver Tone" When Bilious, Constipated, Headachy—Don't Lose a Day's Work.

Live up your sluggish liver! Feel the and cheerful; make your work a pleasure; be vigorous and full of ambition. But take no nasty, dangerous calomel, because it makes you sick and you may lose a day's work. Calomel is mercury or quicksilver, which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

Listen to me! If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest, liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning, because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and cannot sialivate. Give it to your children. Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is almost stopped entirely here.—Adv.

He Had the Price.
Bill McCabe's Poughkeepsie team was playing the Kingston team one day years ago, in the Atlantic league, and a guy named Pogarty was umpire. In the ninth inning, with the score tied, two of McCabe's men played out, and as Bill had only one man extra, he had to rush the bleacher seats to find a man to fill in. He drew a big nick, who said he couldn't play, but for the fun could fill in. There were two out at the time and the fans were excited.

Our hero, the hick, came to bat. He drew three balls and the next one across he pickled over the left field fence for a homer. Instead of running, the fathead stood there while the crowd howled itself mad. McCabe ran out to him and yelled, "Run, you boob, run!"

The hick turned and faced Bill and in a slow voice drawled: "No, sir, I won't run. I'm no coward. I'll admit I lost your ball, but I got the money right here in my pocket to pay for it."

Irrefutable Evidence.
"She belongs to a fine old family, does she not?"
"Oh, yes. She is related to a number of well-known people who never mention the fact."

The Delight of Children

The self-developed, inner-flavour of New Post Toasties bear a unique attraction for the kiddies—they even like them dry from the package for their lunches. A box of Toasties provides "eats" that will delight the children.

New Post Toasties are usually served with cream and sugar, in which form the flavour is more pronounced and the flakes more delicious. These New Toasties do not "chaff" or crumble in the package and they don't mush down in cream—both common defects of old-fashioned "corn flakes."

Then, too, notice the tiny bubbles on the flakes, produced by the quick, intense heat of a new patented process of making which imparts delightful crispness and a substantial body to the flakes.

New Post Toasties are a vast improvement over any old-style "corn flakes."

FOR GROWING CHILD

DIRECTIONS AS TO DIET, PREPARED BY EXPERTS.

Vegetables and Fruits of the Highest Importance—Many Ways in Which They May Be Used—Valuable Kinds of Food.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Vegetables and fruits should have an important place in the diet of every growing child, for although they commonly do not contain a high percentage of nutriment, they contribute certain other important elements which the child either does not get at all, or does not get in sufficient quantity from milk, cereals, meats, and eggs. These two valuable kinds of food supply iron, lime, and other mineral matter to the growing body, and also mild acids (not always in such amounts that one can taste them, such as those which are found in oranges, apples, and tomatoes). Vegetables, unfortunately, often are neglected in arranging a child's meals, according to Farmers' Bulletin No. 717, "Food for Young Children," written by the home economics specialists of the United States department of agriculture.

Vegetables should be served at least once a day, as they help to keep the bowels in good condition. They may be used as flavoring for soups and stews, may be added to milk or meat stews, or served with meat gravy. If gravy is used, it should not be too fat nor made with scorched fat.

Young children can have the young and tender parts of celery and lettuce, a satisfactory way of serving being in the form of sandwiches. For this purpose the vegetables should be slightly salted and the celery chopped or cut into small pieces.

All vegetables, whether served raw or cooked, should be washed with great care. Large vegetables, like potatoes and carrots, should be scrubbed with a brush. Greens should be washed leaf by leaf under running water, or in a large amount of water. To prevent the sand from getting on the vegetables again lift them from the water instead of pouring the water off.

Most vegetables when served as a separate dish should be steamed, boiled, baked, or stewed. If the supply of fresh vegetables is not generous, the juice in which they are cooked should be used with them as far as possible, or put into soups or stews.

Experience has shown that vegetables, and particularly green vegetables, are at their best when cooked until tender, but not until completely wilted. Spinach requires cooking from 20 to 30 minutes.

Vegetables should be served to young children either quite simply or with a little milk, cream, or butter, to improve or vary the flavor. Salad oil may be served on greens instead of butter. These simple methods are better than complicated ones like frying or scalloping. For the smallest children such vegetables as greens should be finely chopped, and if the tougher portions of other vegetables, the skins of green peas, for example, are found to disagree with a child, these portions should be removed by putting the cooked vegetable through a sieve. No such vegetables as raw radishes or cucumbers, which might easily be swallowed in large pieces, should be given to small children.

Fruits, which with vegetables make up one of the five important food groups for children, are also very important in the child's diet. They supply mild acids, and are important for their flavor, for their laxative effects, and no doubt for other reasons also. This laxative effect is well recognized in the very general use of orange juice, prunes, and apples. Then, too, the fruits, like the vegetables, have mineral elements which the body requires.

Fruits should be served in some form at least once a day. In general, the same rule should be followed as for vegetables in deciding in what form they should be served. Fruit juices and the pulp of cooked fruit, baked apples and pears, and stewed prunes, for example, are safest. Whether the skins should be given depends partly on the age and health of the child and partly on the way the fruit is prepared. If the skins are very tender, they are not likely to cause trouble, except with very young children. When apples and pears are baked the skins can be made tender by frequent basting.

Not Available This Year.
The Rev. W. H. Book, pastor of the Tabernacle Christian church of Columbus, is telling a story told him by a schoolteacher in a county not far from Bartholomew. The teacher and the township trustee were talking over plans for the annual school commencement. The question of a speaker for commencement arose.
"Let's get this here Rip Van Winkle to make the speech," suggested the township trustee.
"Who?" asked the surprised teacher.
"Why, this here Rip Van Winkle," the trustee replied. "I've heard a good deal about him and I thought maybe he might make a right smart speech."
The teacher had to tell the trustee that Rip was not available for commencement addresses this year.

WAS CONFINED TO HER BED

Almost All the Time for Two or Three Years. Suffered Dreadful Pains. Praises Cardui.

Thomasville, N. C.—Mrs. J. W. Veach, of R. F. D. 1, of this place, writes: "About 15 years ago, I was confined to my bed almost all the time for two or three years, and suffered agony during that time. I suffered dreadful pains in my hips, and head and in the abdomen. I seemed to suffer all over, and I felt I would welcome death. I could not sleep at night and was awfully nervous. I read of Cardui in the Almanac and thought I would try it, as I felt I must have some relief from this awful suffering, for I had lost my flesh, weighing only 94 pounds. I was getting weaker all the time and felt I would die if I didn't get something to help me.

"I sent for one bottle of Cardui, and after its use I was improving. I then bought six bottles for $5.00, for I had seen it was helping me. The pain was relieved. I could sleep at night. My nerves got better. I got several more bottles and had regained my health, strength, and flesh, and weigh my usual weight. My housework is a pleasure now. I have as good health as anybody. I consider Cardui saved my life."

Such letters as these leave no doubt as to the beneficial medicinal action of Cardui.

Proposed Amendment To The State Constitution Relating To Levying Tax For School Purposes.

H. J. R. No. 30 HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION.

Proposing an amendment to Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, authorizing the levy and collection of an ad valorem county tax not to exceed fifty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of property for the maintenance of the public schools of the county, and authorizing the levy and collection of an ad valorem district tax not to exceed one dollar on the one hundred dollars valuation of property for the maintenance of the public schools of the district.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Sec. 1. That Section 3 of Article 7 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended to hereafter read as follows:

SECTION 3. School Taxes.—
One-fourth of the revenue derived from the State occupation taxes, and a poll tax of $1.00 on every male inhabitant of this State between the ages of 21 and 60 years shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools, and in addition thereto there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem State tax of such an amount, not to exceed 50 cents on the $100.00 valuation, as with the available school fund arising from all other sources will be sufficient to maintain and support the public free schools of this State for a period of not less than six months in each year. The Legislature may authorize the levy and collection of an annual ad valorem county tax within the counties of this State not to exceed 50 cents on the $100.00 valuation of property situated within the county; provided, a majority of the qualified property taxpaying voters of the county voting at an election to be held for that purpose shall vote such tax, for the purpose of maintaining the public free schools of the county, and the Legislature may also provide for the formation of school districts by general or special legislation, and all such school districts, whether by general or special law, may embrace parts of two or more counties, and the Legislature shall be authorized to pass laws for the assessment and collection of taxes in all said districts, and for the management and control of the public school or schools of such district, whether such districts are composed of territory wholly within a county or in parts of two or more counties. And the Legislature may authorize an additional ad valorem tax to be levied and collected within all school districts heretofore formed, or hereafter formed, for the further maintenance of the public free schools, and the erection and equipment of school buildings therein, provided, that a majority of the qualified property taxpaying voters of the district, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, shall vote such tax not to exceed in any one year one dollar on the $100.

valuation of the property subject to taxation in such districts, but the limitation upon the amount of school district tax herein authorized shall not apply to incorporated cities or towns, constituting separate and independent school districts.

SEC. 2. The governor of this State is hereby instructed to issue the necessary proclamation for the submission of this amendment to the qualified voters of the State of Texas at the next general election to be held in November, 1916, at which election all voters favoring this amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the words, "For the amendment to Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, relating to the levy of ad valorem school taxes not to exceed fifty cents on the $100.00 valuation in the county and not to exceed one dollar on the $100.
valuation in the district, for the purpose of maintaining the public schools of the county or of the district." And those opposed to this amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the words, "Against the amendment to Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, relating to the levy of ad valorem school taxes,
not to exceed fifty cents on the $100 valuation in the county, and not to exceed one dollar on the $100 valuation in the district, for the purpose of maintaining the public schools for the county or of the district."

Sec. 3. The sum of $5,000, or as much thereof as may be necessary therefor, is hereby appropriated to pay the expenses of carrying out the provisions of this resolution.
