Did You Ever Hear Us Knock?

American National Bank Has New Cashier

C. L. Cooke of Kojwa, Kansas, came in Tuesday to take up his duties as Cashier of the American National Bank.

E. R. Eakins, whom Mr. Cooke is to succeed, will be here for a few weeks to assist the new Cashier in getting acquainted with the details of the position, after which he will go to a sanitarium to undergo an operation for appendicitis, which disease has been troubling him at times for several months past.

As soon as Mr. Eakins has recovered sufficiently from the operation, he expects to enlist in the army.

The News regrets that we are to lose Mr. Eakins from our city, for he has made many friends during his stay here. But we welcome the new man, and hope that he will be able in every way to fill the place Mr. Eakins held, both in a business and a social way.

Organizing Airplane Company

Arthur Poncelet returned early this week from Washington, New York and other Eastern points, where he went in the interest of his aeroplane patent, which is pending.

He and D. N. Massay, who has an interest in the invention, are organizing a company to develop the machine. A number of our people have subscribed to the capital stock, as they have confidence in the future of Mr. Poncelet's idea.

The Company is to be known as the Safety First Airplane Manufacturing Company, and the office and factory are to be located at Wichita, Kansas.

Arrangements have been made for making the first test machine, and as soon as the organization of the company can be perfected and other arrangements made, work will be started.

A corps of experts will be employed and no pains will be spared to insure the success of the invention.

In Line for Another Promotion

Camp Travis, March 20.—Corporal Frank D. McCombs of Company D, 315th Supply Train has returned from a furlough spent in the Panhandle, and reports that everyone at the points he visited seems anxious to join the Army. He was given a fine appointment almost immediately upon his return, viz., that of instructor in the use of motor trucks, in the absence of the commanding officer of his company. McCombs attended a divisional school for motor mechanics a few months ago, and in addition to the experience he had before entering the National Army, he has become one of the best mechanics in the trains. He was appointed a corporal on January 12, and it is rumored that still higher honors are in store for him.

D. B. Stribling of Miami had business in this city Tuesday.

Thinks We Need a Gin

Col. N. S. Ray, who recently moved from Donley county to a farm east of town, was in the city Saturday and called to have his name written on the News' book of live ones, and left the $1.00 registration fee, which entitles him to 52 shots of good literature between now and this time next year.

But one thing Col. Ray came for is, we think, of more consequence than the foregoing, which we only told to let our readers know that Mr. Ray is a progressive citizen and has an interest in the affairs of his home community.

Mr. Ray thinks McLean needs a cotton gin. He is of the opinion that many farmers of this section would plant a considerable acreage of new land to cotton, and that the new crop will not interfere in any way with food and feed production. If such is true, a gin would be of great benefit to the commercial interests of our city, because it would give us money crop to be harvested when there is little of other products being marketed. Mr. Ray says that he will plant several acres to cotton this year, even if he does have to haul it to Shamrock to be ginned. We understand that a number of other farmers in his community are planning to raise small crops of the fleecy staple but will increase the acreage if a gin is built here.

We suggest that the merchants of McLean get together and see what can be done along this line.

C. J. Parke was over from Clarendon Monday.

G. Richardson of Channing, formerly known to his friends as "Pinkey," and former publisher of The News and Assistant Editor of the American National Bank, came in Tuesday night and spent Wednesday in the city. He tells us that Roy has enlisted in the Army, going at first to the Aviation Corps, but was later transferred to the engineers. Richardson tells us that he made application to the Government for some kind of a job in the forces in France, and he is making arrangements to go. Mr. Richardson is over the draft age, but says his wife has been making him a living so long that he feels confident she can get along without him while he is gone, and he has a grudge against the kaiser anyway.

Miss Dora Dean spent the week end with her sister, Miss Verda, who is teaching at the Back school house.

Mrs. Walter Foster is in a sanitarium at Amarillo, where she went for an operation.

"Some" Baseball Player

Camp Travis, March 19.—Edgar L. Newton, formerly of McLean, Texas, is playing third base for the Detachment Quartermaster Corps baseball team, and is proving to be "some" baseball player. This team is out with a challenge to any baseball team at Camp Travis, and they believe they can win, as they are undefeated, having won their last game from 315 Trench Mortar Battery with a score of seven to nothing.

W. T. Wilson, A. W. Haynes, W. J. Keasler and Bert Flynt motored to Groom Monday night to assist the Odd Fellows lodge at that place in degree work. Tuesday night several members of the Groom lodge came to McLean to take part in the work put on here at that time.

A revival meeting will begin at the Christian church on Friday night before the fourth Sunday in August. Elder G. A. Fitzgerald will do the preaching.

WOMEN ARE POWER in NEW RUSSIA

RUSSIAN WOMEN RAILWAY WORKERS

By LIEUTENANT NORTON C. TRAVIS in Philadelphia Public Ledger.

RUSSIA'S women, alone, stand today shoulder to shoulder with men. They occupy, indeed, a place higher than that of men of their own nation, for the spotlight of the world is turned upon them. In the scales of blind Justice, where are balanced autocracy or democracy for Russia, it is the Russian woman who turns the balance for freedom.

Russian women soldiers, virtually untrained and unofficered, drove back the Germans in their first trial of fire. For eighteen days I was quartered in the first line of trenches with 2,500 of these Russian women warriors. I studied them at close quarters—there are no more intrepid soldiers in all this world than were those women of a divided and bewildered nation.

The Battalion of Death is no more. They were wiped out by German shells and German bayonets, and only four wounded survivors remain of 200 who fought through hell fire to shame the men of Russia into a sense of patriotic duty. To lack of training and of officers is ascribed the annihilation of this first battalion of women warriors in the modern world. They failed in their object—the stimulating of compatriots to defense of their country.

That free Russia fears the power of women is indicated by the fact that those who were connected with the Imperial circle of the former court are confined in the prison of Peter and Paul, guarded by barriers of water as well as by walls of stone, while minor offenders have been banished from Petrograd.

The Russian woman warrior is the product of outdoor life and simple, wholesome food. In the ranks one finds the majority of soldiers from the upper class of Russian society, and by their sides are serfs and peasants accustomed to working in the fields of Siberia and Russia with the men of their households.

Ladies of Russia are noted for their proficiency in outdoor games and sports; they are great walkers, skaters, horseback riders and devotees to sledding, games that require vigor and furnish excitement, and to their summer and winter carnivals and pageants, which occur several times a year. At these times it is their pleasure to indulge in native folk dances, and dancing on the ice is a pastime to which they are devoted, and to which, I believe, they owe much of their muscular development and rapidity and ease of action. The life of the Russian woman has bred her to war's service; she does not care for afternoon teas or any form of indoor amusement during the daytime. Instead you will find her engaged in active sports on the frozen Neva, beside the trolley tracks that link icebound towns in a chain of gay activity, even more bustling than when boats ply the river in summer and fetch and carry between Russia's capital and the Neva's outlying villages.

And now you will find women at the switches along the shining miles of ice-floored single track of the Neva's winter trolley lines.

In singular contrast to the sturdy, muscular build of Russian women, stocky of form and short of stature, are Russian men of the upper class, who, when they acquire refinement and high-breeding, seem, also, to become weak and effeminate.

Not only in trench work, but in the ordinary avocations of men one now finds Russian women. Street-car conductors and motorwomen handle the traffic with efficiency. Conductors call out the streets, and from the second belt on the man's coat that tops their blue skirts, they draw checks of varying colors and hand them out in receipt of fares. These colors represent from one to five fares, and also indicate the distance a passenger expects to travel. One fare now costs fifteen kopecks, or two and a half cents. Under ordinary conditions fifteen kopecks were worth five cents. But two and a half cents is a lot of money in Russia today. On the other hand, while women fill places on railroads and street cars, there are still to be found many men driving motortrucks.

Another avocation of women is the driving of draskeys—Russian dumpcarts—a flat, two-wheeled wagon drawn by one or two horses. In the latter case one horse is always harnessed outside the shafts, leaving the burden to be borne by the animal inside of them.

This peculiar method of harnessing is even carried out in ambulances at the front, and a wounded man transported in this fashion usually has the lid bounced out of him on his way to the hospital. Sometimes, indeed, such makeshift ambulances are drawn by men, for life is accounted so cheap in Russia that the Russian will not use horses when men can serve the purpose of draft animals.

Not only men, but women, take the place of horses. They often draw their field kitchens about, and bivouac to cook their good bread, made of wheat and rye flour; their soup, horse meat and vegetables. Russian horse meat is not half bad, and that is their principal army meat. Horses are plentiful, but very small, and they do not furnish much beef, so that numbers are slaughtered to obtain a sufficient supply. I should judge that Russian ponyskin coats, which have often been so popular in America, ought to be cheaper than ever this season if there has been any way of curing and transporting the skins of these glossy-coated animals of the steppes.

Women's army kitchens are adequately supplied with horse meat, and from ladies of rank to serfs the women soldiers have learned how to prepare palatable food. They have also learned not only to draw their field pieces, but actually carry them.

All women are enrolled in the infantry division of the army, so that theirs are machine guns, which three or four women can carry together. Some of these guns are light enough to be borne on the shoulders of one woman.

While Russians are not good marksmen they are expert at bayonet work, and there is nothing the Germans fear more than a Russian bayonet encounter, when the sturdy dwarf of the North not only sticks his enemy through, but has an appalling habit of lifting him up on the bayonet. I saw one victim of this shocking act slide off the keen blade, dead.

And if the Germans fear such attacks of unspirited Russian men, they dread the savage charge of fiery Russian women, and when they succeeded in capturing three in battle they tortured them to death by way of satisfying spite against those hundreds of young women who lay slain—martyrs to patriotism.

I watched women soldiers dig out their own trenches, where rain or bombardment had caused them to fall in; pull around their heavy ammunition wagons and guns, as well as their field kitchens, and set up their barbed-wire entanglements. Many of them were noblewomen and wealthy members of the "upper froth" of Russia; quite a number were wives and mothers whose husbands were fighting in another sector on the line; and every one was a volunteer.

With courage went cheerfulness. In the midst of the hardships of trench life—and they can scarcely be overestimated—these women sang ballads and catchy songs as they worked at the business of death. Some played on musical instruments that they had brought into the trenches, while most of them found time to attend to the comfort of their pets, especially the battalion mascots—a parrot and a cat.

All were short of clothing—simple as was their uniform. It consisted of a grayish khaki colored material, like washed-out khaki, made in overalls and jumper, with a tight-fitting high collar and belt. They wore the same boots as were used by men, and some had their feet encased in shoes and puttees. One of the chief difficulties in equipping women has been to fit the "upper froth" with boots, and to the rigors of trench life has been added the discomfort and, I fancy, pain of dainty feet in coarse, heavy unaccustomed boots, standing often in a mire of mud and water.

Women soldiers had shifts of ten days in first-line trenches of the enemy, with four hours on and four hours off duty. At the least unusual noise or sudden skirmish the whole 2,500 women were out and in readiness for battle.

Every thirty feet in the women's sector stood a "post," or sentry, who fired without ceasing. It was her duty to call out, on occasion, the soldiers who rested in their malodorous dugouts on shelves that protruded from the walls along each side. Mere children were many of these modern Amazons, for their ages vary from fifteen to thirty-five years, and for ten days on a stretch they had no opportunity to change or remove their clothing. When not fighting or on sentry duty the women rest as best they may in their dugouts, where rain of guns does not penetrate very loudly. No ventilation reaches these deep burrows under the hills except that at the entrance to the trench, and conditions are offensive to every sense of comfort and sanitation. Our Red Cross commission sought to remedy some of the worst features of Russian trench life, but modern war is one of unbelievable horrors, not the least of which is the insect pestilence of the trenches.

Every ten days a section of trench is cleaned up and its occupants are stripped, sprayed with an insect destroyer, brushed down with brooms, given a bath and clean clothes. In singular contrast to the many antiquated methods of battlefield existence common in the Russian army are comfortable bath trains provided for the soldiers' fortnightly bath.

As the world knows, the Battalion of Death was organized by Madame Vera Butchkareff, who lived in a small Cossack settlement in Siberia at the outbreak of the war. When Madame Butchkareff's husband was killed in battle she formed the Legion of Death, mainly to shame Russian men into action, and partly to relieve the awful suspense and monotony of village life far from the scene of strife. Therefore, in the original ranks of women warriors were to be found hardy peasants from the vast agricultural region of Siberia, and many such women belong to the present regiments of feminine soldiers.

Far different from their once peaceful, remote lives is the terrific action of the battlefield, where instead of distant sparks of stars in quiet skies, they witness clusters of shells shrieking upward, five a minute, and bursting around a moving speck in the heavens—some airplane target for great guns. Timed to explode at 5,000 or 6,000 feet, as well as the distance of the plane can be gauged, the shell turns to fall at the designated height and shrapnel sprays the night skies with vivid fountains of flame.

In the great Russian upheaval Siberia has determined to achieve an independence of its own. I found the people in this vast storehouse of nature's wealth distinct in type from those in any other part of Russia. They are a mixture of Mongol and Russ; a peculiar young-old folk. Nowhere else in the world have I found as strange looking people. The men have a drawn expression and fixed, staring eyes. Women, too, exhibit this characteristic to a marked degree, and everywhere one finds the form of youth surmounted by the facial appearance of age. I wondered whether this expression proceeded from the squalor of their meager lives. They are an exceedingly dirty, filthy people; ragged for the most part, and with feet shod in a sort of straw sandal. With a land of rare agricultural, timber and mineral wealth surrounding them, they yet wear an appearance of stolid dejection.

HAD A GOOD FATHER.

The store was crowded with customers when a child walked in and with an important air approached the owner of the store, held up a quarter, and remarked in a high treble: "My father said I could buy anything I wanted for my supper."
"Well, you have a good father," said the storekeeper.
"Yes," replied the kidlet, "and it's me that knows it."

Chicago's Battling Dan Loves a Fight and Gets Two

CHICAGO.—Dan Yates, no address, makes a specialty of fighting policemen. If there is anything in particular that Dan loves it is to maul a copper. They didn't know that up in Hinton G. Clabaugh's office, and thereby hangs a tale of much action. Albert Smith, special officer for the Rock Island, who took Dan in tow in Hinky Dink's port of call, weighs 255 pounds. Also Operative Sweepe weighs 319, and is agile, yet Dan Yates himself is no slouch, about 6 feet 3.

It was Al's busy day. He had just turned in a report on a cache of barreled booze, and the revenue department had made the guilty man pay $3,000 revenue and penalty after digging the stuff up. Now, Hinky's was a safe haven for those who sought to escape the rigors of shoveling snow.

Dan, fighter of policemen, was there, and, witnesses saith, was cursing certain persons named Wilson, Hoover, and McAdoo in no uncertain terms. He reviled them individually and collectively in rare words. Albert Smith, fresh from one victory, put the comealongs upon Dan and he landed in the federal building.

They had got the search of him just as far as a bottle of heroin when Dan cut loose. My, but he cut loose! In a flash a flood of red blood was spurting from Al's head and his lip shed more.

Dan is all fists in a fight, except his woodsmen's boots, hob-nailed. It was right brisk! When they pulled 255 plus 319 pounds off of Dan's form he wore more bracelets than a queen and was storming with his mouth.

Down at Harrison street, where they booked him on a collection of charges, they searched him again and he tried to whip some more policemen. Dan shed cocaine, heroin, bottles of mysterious liquid, and some unidentified collection of drugs as the skies shed snow.

Dan was the only one thereabout that wasn't damaged much.

"Refined Gentleman Escorts" Available in Gotham

NEW YORK.—Add to the list of uncommon professions that of the Refined Gentleman Escort. Ladies or gentlemen escorted to the theater, business or sightseeing. Excellent references. Rates reasonable. If anybody has a grudge against fat, self-satisfied old Father Knickerbocker and would picture him as others see him he would do well to talk for half an hour or go with J. Frank Kerrigan, the town's leading, perhaps its only exponent of the gentle art of refined gentleman escorting. After nearly a year's experience with escortable visitors Kerrigan has summarized the general outside of little old New York about as follows:

Broadway is less attractive than Main street in Lansing, Mich. Manhattan's Chinatown is slower than the Celestial colony in Birmingham, Ala. The Bowery is a joke to tourists from Pueblo, Colo. To anybody from south of Philadelphia or west of Buffalo the greatest city in the world is insufferably tame; to the men, at least.

"But New York isn't entirely to blame if men from the short grass don't always like it," said the gentleman escort. "Most of them belong to town boosters' clubs back home and come here loaded down with figures intended to convince us that we are just a few laps behind their own budding metropolises."

"A gentleman from Indiana wouldn't concede that New York has a single thing that isn't matched in Muncie till I took him to the Aquarium. Then he had to give in. He had never been so close to salt water before and was forced to admit this exhibition was something new to him."

Detroit Girl Posing as Boy Held Her Job One Year

DETROIT.—Frances Tarillion is the handsomest kind of a boy, with just a bit of debonaire swagger, but you must speak to her as Miss Frances, for though yesterday she was a boy, today she is a girl—a rather involved way of saying that the police discovered her to be masquerading.

Frances has the appearance of a ruddy-cheeked boy of fourteen years. No one would think of calling her "Miss Frances" as she stands there in a natty brown suit, stylish shoes and jaunty soft hat tipped rakishly up on one side.

And for a year no one ever did know. Frances walked the streets of the city as an errand boy, she worked in a grocery owned by B. J. Worthman. There wasn't any task too hard nor weather too disagreeable and for weeks the grocery man valued the services of a cheerful worker.

Miss Tarillion seemed somewhat surprised that anyone should be curious to know just why she preferred to be a boy.

"Why, I can make much more money as a boy," she said, thrusting hands in trousers pockets. Her voice is deep and full, with a pleasing, sonorous quality.

"I would rather drive a car, but this is no kind of weather for a girl to be out." Miss Tarillion is expert in the mysteries of cylinders, transmissions and other automobile complications.

"I wouldn't be here, either, if it wasn't for some of my friends who knew me well. It is probable they tipped off the police. Well—" and Frances smiled and there was pride in her success. She had her hair cut in the latest mode and combed straight back in the manner affected by high school lads.

"Oh, yes, my parents know all about it," she said as unconcerned as if her escapade were an everyday matter.

Risks His Life to Save Wolfhound From Icy River

NEW YORK.—"By golly! That's a fine specimen of dog," exclaimed Patrolman McCarthy, as a wolfhound trotted up and down in front of the Pennsylvania ferry house at Cortlandt street. The bluecoat addressed the remark to Joseph Cane, a Staten Island shipworker, who stood near.

Cane, a friend of the patrolman, has deep regard for his opinions.

"Well, Mac," said he, "if you think the dog's a good one, he's worth having."

So Cane ran for the dog and the dog ran for the ferry house. Down the pier they went, dodging in and out among trucks and motorcars. The ferry boat Chicago was just pulling out. She was only a yard or two away when the dog reached the end of the slip hard pressed by Cane. Hasty decision between leaping for the boat and falling into his pursuer's hands was necessary, and the dog chose the former course. The leap fell short, however, and the boat drew out, leaving the dog standing on a cake of ice in the water.

Seeing the animal's plight, the Chicago's captain stopped his boat and backed up. A deckhand lassoed the dog, but the latter wriggled out of the noose. A crowd gathered and watched the dog struggling in the water amid the ice. After desperate efforts he reached the end of the slip rack and pawed at it, vainly trying to climb. Cane went out on the top of the rack, dropped between the piles and pulled the dog out of the water.

Climbing with great difficulty to the top of the slippery rack, Cane swung the big dog to his shoulders and, amid yells of approval from the folk on boat and shore, slowly retraced his steps.

The dog was taken to the house of Engine No. 6 at 113 Liberty street to await his owner. On his collar was a French license tag with the inscription: "T. N. Planter, Hotel Bristol, Paris."

The dog was emaciated, indicating that he had been without food many days.

territory, the death rate has been exceedingly low. But if McLean fails to clean up and an epidemic of typhoid comes next summer, five caskets may be seen in as many weeks. Let's clean up and be decent.

The News is rather late this week, owing to the sickness of the editor on press day. True, it did not put him in bed. He was only sick enough to be dragging around, but so far as capacity for work is concerned he hasn't been worth killin' for the past two days.

Dirt may be healthy—just plain old sand—but dead chickens, cats, dogs, and other filth commonly seen in McLean these days can increase the population of our cemetery this summer if not removed.

Putting up screens to keep out the flies is a good safeguard for health, but we should also remove the breeding places. Less filth means less flies.

If we don't clean up soon, the traveling public may be saying, "Hold your nose when you go to McLean."

Income Tax Man Coming

A Federal Income Tax man will be in McLean on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 26th and 27th. He can be found at the Citizens State Bank, and all who are subject to this tax and have not yet made their returns to the Government will do well to see this man while he is here.

Josh Turner left Wednesday for Ft. Sill after a few days visit with home folks and friends.

Miss Della Barrett of Amarillo is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. F. Reagan.

Dr. Montgomery went to LeFors Wednesday.

Our Part in Feeding the Nation

Special Information Service, United States Department of Agriculture. DUNCE OF PREVENTION—BUCKET OF WATER

Fire at an Unprepared Farm Usually Makes a Clean Sweep.

PREVENT BLAZES ON EVERY FARM

Fire Buckets Should Be Handy in Buildings Not Otherwise Protected.

LOSS ANNUALLY IS INWENSE

Salt in Water Keeps Emergency Supply From Freezing—Special Fire Pails With Rounded Bottom Are Most Favored.

SAWDOUST CHOKES OIL BLAZE

Have a bucket of sawdust ready to choke an oil blaze—especially in the garage or around the gas engine. Adding two or three pounds of common soda to a bucket of sawdust improves it as an extinguisher.

Millions of dollars worth of agricultural wealth—much of it food—is destroyed by fire in the United States every year.

This is a dead loss to the nation—for the fact that most individual losses are partially reimbursed through insurance does not in the least reduce the drain on our national resources.

The fire bucket, according to the writers of the bulletin, is the oldest, simplest and cheapest fire extinguisher, and should be in every farm building.

Any kind of bucket filled with water and placed handily is good, but special fire buckets with rounded bottoms like a bottle are best.

Needless to say, the fire buckets should always be kept filled by replacing the water lost by evaporation.

STORE GASOLINE UNDERGROUND

Gasoline is never safely stored until it is in an underground tank. The vapor from a simple pail will render the air in an ordinary shed most explosive.

full of dust and dirt and become offensive. Water can be kept from freezing in all except very low temperatures by adding a couple of pounds of common salt to each bucketful.

There is a right and a wrong way to throw water on a fire. Don't become excited. Spread the water with a sweeping motion all over the flaming material.

Examine Beets for Poisons. The post laboratories of the bureau of chemistry of the United States department of agriculture are giving special attention to detecting poisonous beets offered for import to this country.

AMERICA'S AGRICULTURAL ARMY

In the field of agriculture we have agencies and instrumentalities, dominantly such as to other government in the world can show.

The number of extension workers under the Smith-Lever act and under the recent emergency legislation has grown to 4,500 men and women working together in the various communities.

Needless to say, the fire buckets should always be kept filled by replacing the water lost by evaporation.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAY POWNER

MR. BROWN BEAR.

"Hello," said Mr. Brown Bear in his growling voice.

"Hello," answered his cousin, Mr. B. Bear. Now, these bears looked very much alike, and they were both brown bears.

"By the way," said Mr. Brown Bear. "To be sure the letter B. in the cousin's name stood for Brown, but then it was not used, so there would be no confusion."

"Have you had a good sleep?" asked Mr. Brown Bear.

"Fine," said Mr. B. Bear. "How about you?"

"Oh, I slept like a top."

"What's a top, and how does it sleep?" asked Mr. B. Bear.

"I'm sure I don't know," said Mr. Brown Bear. "But when folks sleep particularly well they always say that they sleep like tops."

"Give you an idea what type are?" asked Mr. B. Bear, who was quite a curious animal.

"Yes, I think I know. And to know a thing is better than to have an idea about it."

"I forgot for the moment," explained Mr. Brown Bear. "I am still so sleepy that I have forgotten what I know and what I don't know."

"Tell me about the top," begged Mr. B. Bear.

"A top spins around and around and it's a top which children play with."

"Then what is the sense of saying people sleep like tops?" asked Mr. B. Bear. "Surely people do not want to spin around and around when they sleep. They don't do that, do they?"

"I'm not apt to be around when folks sleep," said Mr. Brown Bear. "I've never been a visitor in any house. There's never asked me, and I don't believe they ever will."

"Cheer up," said Mr. B. Bear. "They will never ask me. I am quite sure of it."

"I don't imagine that folks do spin around when they sleep," said Mr. Brown Bear. "I guess that saying has no sense to it."

"It's a pity if it's used, then, isn't it?" said Mr. B. Bear.

"It is," agreed Mr. Brown Bear. "But I don't suppose we can do anything about it. People are not apt to ask our advice on any subject—it's funny that they don't."

"Not so very funny," sniffed Mr. B. Bear.

"By the way," said Mr. Brown Bear.

"By the way," interrupted Mr. B. Bear. "Is there some way by which we can find the best food when the spring comes?"

"That's only another saying," said Mr. Brown Bear. "I mean that I thought of something I wanted to tell you."

"Tell me; I am interested in hearing."

"Well," commenced Mr. Brown Bear, "just before I went to sleep for my winter nap I heard some folks talking as they drove on the wooded road."

"I'll be glad to get home," said one.

"Why?" asked the other.

"Because I'm as hungry as a bear," said the first.

"And, by listening closely," continued Mr. Brown Bear. "I discovered that they seemed to think that to be as hungry as a bear meant to be as hungry as possible for a human being to be."

"Now, it annoyed me, it did, in the first place, we sleep all the winter. Now and then we come out on a good warm day like this, but we go back to sleep in no time."

"We really sleep Brown Bear, all winter. And for that time we don't eat at all. We live on our own fat. We have to regulate meals—and for that matter—we don't even have irregular meals."

"True," agreed Mr. B. Bear.

"So I think it most unfair for folks to say I'm as hungry as a bear, when bears spend a good portion of the year in sleeping and not in eating."

"But we do make up for the time we don't eat when we have such large meals in the fall," said Mr. B. Bear. "We eat ahead of time."

"So named," said Mr. Brown Bear, who listened upon having the last word. "It's unfair, and when I stop to think of it, it's very nearly as senseless a thing to say as that speech about sleeping like a top."

Little Heroine—I guess it means the whole gang jumped on him.

The KITCHEN CABINET

One of our students of the table to that one-third of the food taken into the body is used, the other two-thirds we eat at our joints.

WEATS TO EAT.

We have meals to eat and meals to sip these days. The meals to eat must be confined to those which will not slip and we need bear no hardship for their offer a goodly variety.

Fried Sweetbreads.—Parboiled and remove all the inedible portions, and when cold split in halves and cut in pieces the size of a large oyster, wipe dry and dip in beaten egg, then in cracker crumbs and fry in hot fat. Season well and serve with parsley as a garnish.

Larded Sweetbreads.—Dip two sweetbreads, parboiled in water with a tablespoonful of vinegar added, then chill in cold water. Dry them and lard with the scraps of lard. Put a slice of bacon in a sautépan, a chopped onion, a chopped carrot, spices and herbs with salt, and a small quantity of stock. Cook down until the stock has all evaporated, then brown the sweetbreads and serve.

Roast Sweetbreads With Peas.—Trim two pairs of sweetbreads and parboiled 15 minutes, lard them, dredge with seasoned flour, add stock or water to cover the bottom of the baking pan, and bake 45 minutes, basting often. When nearly done add a tablespoonful of flour to a tablespoonful of boiling-hot butter and mix well; add a cupful of lightly seasoned stock or milk with seasonings, then a cupful of green peas drained from their liquor.

Sweetbread Salad.—Cooked sweetbreads finely minced and combined with peas, celery, a few chopped potatoes and slices with a handful of nuts and a good salad dressing make a most tasty and popular salad.

Sweetbreads cooked and served in a rich seasoned white sauce, served in timbale or party shells make a luncheon dish suitable when entertaining. In many markets sweetbreads are reasonable in price, but when the costly delicate meat will have to be added to those with fat pocketbooks.

Sweetbreads are rather tedious, so need a highly seasoned sauce and a touch of garlic or onion.

The grasses whisper to the wind. The ripples in the rain. Light-hearted spring goes whispering its melody and its lane.

SOME GOOD DISHES

A dinner which is not at all overdone, but which is most tasty is the following: Cut up one orange or a tangerine and two chopped apples, sprinkle lightly with sugar. When serving mix and arrange a slice of lemon jelly thickened with grapefruit on the top of each. Serve with sugar and cream.

Lemon jelly, grapefruit and a few chopped walnuts is another combination which may be molded and sliced, then served with whipped cream or in cubes and served in sherbet cups with a little ice cream for garnish.

Tomatoes Scaloped With Green Peas.—Take half as many crumbs as usual. For a cupful of crumbs mix a fourth of a cupful of any sweet fat melted. Fry a slice of onion and half of a sliced green pepper in a little of the fat and arrange in layers in a baking dish, leaving the crumbs on top. Bake twenty minutes and serve hot.

Stuffed Tomatoes.—Take small-sized tomatoes, fill with the following mixture: Boiled rice, chopped nuts and a seasoning of salt and pepper with a little dried onion. Fill the tomatoes and bake slowly one hour. Serve with a sauce from the pan which has been slightly thickened with flour. The centers of the tomatoes may be used in a salad or in various ways which will occur to the cook.

Cabbage With Wheat.—To do up a small amount of meat and make a satisfying meat loaf half a cabbage, cut it by letting it stand an hour in cold water, then drop into rapidly boiling water and cook for twenty minutes; drain and press out the liquor. Put into a baking pan, a layer of the cabbage then a layer of any chopped meat, place a few pieces of tomato, the former pieces taken from the can, over the meat, season well with salt and pepper and repeat, leaving a layer of tomatoes on top. Cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for one hour. Any cold leftover cabbage may be used in this way.

Dried peas, which have been quickly dried when they were tender and sweet, make a most delicious addition to the menu. Soak, then cook until soft and use as a vegetable or soup, or in combination with other foods.

American Women No Slackers can well be proud of our American girls and women. In France and England women are taking up the work of men resolutely, and have shown their ability to do almost all kinds of work.

When it becomes necessary women will show their worth in counting shops, stores, factories and offices. No one hears them complain of their hard work. These are the days when American men have cause to respect, love and honor their mothers, wives and daughters.

What Well Dressed Women Will Wear

CONSIDER THE TAILORED SUIT FOR SPRING.

The time has come—it is here this minute—to consider the tailored suit for spring. It is an agreeable duty because the season has in store some happy surprises for us in novel trimming ideas and in ingenious combinations of cloth and silk. Designers have been asked to conserve wool and have responded in a way to reflect honor on themselves by furnishing models that use little cloth but are so cleverly designed, with such attention to good lines and so much originality in finish, that we may give thanks for the necessity which mothered such fine inventions. Make up your mind to have a spring suit for spring; because this year's suit has characteristics all its own.

Among them are to be mentioned the introduction of vests which are made of silk, brocade, crepe, pique and of plain fabrics handsomely embroidered. Somewhere at the front—the sides of the coat may barely meet, or just fall to, they are held together by one or two link buttons. In other models fronts are cut away like a man's dress coat leaving an expanse of handsome waist coat to entice the eye. White cloth collars and cuffs, with collars lengthened into revers are another feature that add to the attractiveness of spring suits and they belong to an attractive class which includes suits with collars, revers and cuffs of figured or plain silk.

Narrow braid and small buttons appear in coats not otherwise decorated, in plaits or folds or tucks or anything that will take up material not absolutely needed and they are from one and a half to two yards wide.

Aprons have always been interesting; they are of so many kinds and proclaim so plainly that they are intended for real use in substantial activities or are merely decorative and trivial. But times have changed with aprons, and now the most wear-resistant and useful of them are required to look well, to possess style as well as strength. Necessity and patriotism have given the apron a boost, and now we have "service aprons" and "bungalow aprons," shapely and neat, worn by women who are doing things for themselves and others which others used to do for them.

Some of the bungalow aprons made of plain percale or chambray in all the light colors, pink, lavender, tan, maize, blue, green and rose, with collars and cuffs of flowered cretonnes, ought to be rechristened, they are so gay and pretty. They deserve to be called bungalow frocks at least—and perhaps that is exactly what they are.

A service apron for every-day wear is shown in the picture, made of plaid percale with plain white cuffs and collars. It has long sleeves. Many of the good-looking aprons for housework are made of plain percale or chambray, with plaid collars, pockets, cuffs and belts. Usually the sleeves are three-quarter length. They are designed to be easily laundered, and and ingenious cutting redeems the plainest suits from being uninteresting. A suit of this character is shown in the picture, of serge bound with silk braid. Its lines are trim and graceful, the coat original in cut and of medium length; many are shorter and few longer. The fronts just meet at the waistline fastening with a link button there. Skirts might be disposed of very briefly by describing them merely as plain. They do not indulge themselves

TAKES THE PLACE OF DANGEROUS CALOMEL

New Discovery! Dodson's Liver Tone Acts Like Calomel But Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Harmless Liver Medicine for Men, Women, Children—Read Guarantee!

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated, or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.—Adv.

The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre—get $2 a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money—that's what you can do in Western Canada.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a HOMESTEAD OF 160 ACRES FREE and other land at very low prices.

Safe In France

Lieut. Ralph Squire is now some where with Uncle Sam's fighting forces across the waters. His father, Judge A. L. Squire, having received a card last Friday stating that the transport on which he had made the trip had arrived safely on the other side. This card was written the day Lieut. Squires boarded the ship at New York the middle of February; and stated that the card would be mailed there as soon as the authorities in New York received a cable that the ship had arrived safely on the other side. In this way one cablegram serves to give quick notice to the families of the sailing soldiers of their safe arrival in France. —Panhandle Herald.

What the Men Think of Army Life

How does it feel to be picked up out of a grocery store or a bank cashier's cage and be dropped into an army camp as a soldier? What is the spirit of the selected draft men, recently arrived at Camp Travis? Regardless of idle talk, take the following excerpts from the letters of the new "rookies" to their folks at home and their home papers. Let them answer. "One good thing is we have everything sanitary. No uncleanliness allowed and we are well fed; have pies nearly every day. Tell all the boys not to worry. It may be hard for a few days but gets better as we become accustomed to the change. "Army life seems to agree with the men, and from a physical standpoint, it is wonderful. The boys are all satisfied which is due largely to an efficient staff of officers, and few if any would return to civil life now were the opportunity offered. "Everything is in the line with the Government's policy of giving the soldier the advantages offered by clean competitive sport which develops individual initiative as well as offering a diversion." "Army life at Camp Travis is not what most of the people at home think it is. We are treated the very best. The Y. M. C. A. furnishes the boys with good music, good picture shows, church and other pleasures that are possible. We have plenty to eat and a good bed to sleep in, also plenty of clothing to wear. Out barracks are electrically lighted. There are plenty of stoves and lots of coal to make heat."

"We send our greetings to the folks at home and ask them not to worry, for our greatest worry is thinking that the home folks are bothered, when the fact of the matter is that we are having a better time than they can imagine."

"If any individual had a privilege for which to be thankful for your brother, husband or sweetheart has, if they are connected with the National Army and you who are at home should be thankful that your family is represented in this gigantic task, the upbuilding of humanity."

"I have seen service in the navy and in the army. I enlisted in the navy and was drafted in the army. If I had any choice again it would be for the drafted army for one never saw greater opportunities for a man to develop not only a soldier but also as a man, physically and mentally."

"I have no doubt that all of us find things different to what we were accustomed in civil life. For my part, have encountered rules I never knew existed, but don't see how this grand army could exist if it wasn't for them."

"Every day I remain in camp, I have a growing feeling of pity and contempt for the man who seeks by some subterfuge to evade draft and service. Now that we are here, we are going to do everything within our power to accomplish the purpose for which we were summoned. We were ignorant before or I venture to say without any feeling of possible contradiction that nearly everyone of us would have volunteered."

"Never in the history of the world with all its great armies were soldiers so well cared for as we are—housed in well heated houses, well clothed and abundantly fed, with none of the sufferings and inconveniences to bear that marred the paths of all great armies who have fought on battle fields of the world. Because of the broad scope of our training, it is sometimes hard to realize we are training for war instead of getting a training to make one a better man physically and a better citizen generally."

Alanreed News

We have had some new babies; a girl to Andy B. Wood and wife of Eldridge, a girl to Ed Coleman and wife of Rockledge, a boy to H. C. Duncan and wife of Alanreed, a boy to Mescal Moreland and wife of Alanreed.

And say Mr. Editor, the women are going to vote in Texas in primary and general election. Well, let the good work go on; a woman is one of God's curiosities. She does not always know just what she wants and possibly God does not always know just what she wants. At any rate, I am glad to welcome woman suffrage; and in primaries if the women make a worse mess of politics than we men do, it will be better, but the world moves on. For 10 years we have not had a majority vote in State elections in Texas. If there is a State primary election in June I look for 600,000 votes to be polled. Say, all you county candidates came out for woman suffrage and put on your good looks and electioneer among the women.

Well, we are Hooverizing. I have lost 25 pounds in weight and wife has lost 32 pounds, but I hope that when grass begins to grow and greens come in, I will gain some. Uncle John.
