Scabies Quarantine Effects Area Livestock Shipments

The national effort toward complete eradication of scabies has been thwarted for quite a few years due to infestation appearing every year or so, usually involving an area comprised of portions of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, and New Mexico. Present infestation and exposure within this general area is more extensive than it has been for many years. The problem is being handled on a regional basis with close cooperation between states in combating this mutual problem.

A State-Federal regional headquarters has been established in Amarillo, Texas, to disseminate information to other states and to supervise and coordinate the work being done in Texas. Texas animal health officials and Federal animal health personnel, extension service personnel, practicing veterinarians, cattle industry organizations and producers are concentrating efforts to eliminate this threat to the industry which involves production as well as marketing cattle.

The condition known as "common cattle scab" is caused by parasitic mites of the psoroptes variety. Psoroptic mites live in groups on the surface

JD Spurgeons Win Home Light Contest

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Spurgeon, 1722 West Avenue B took first place in the Christmas Home Lighting Contest this year. Second place went to Mr. and Mrs. Mesvin Seymore of Route 2; and third place was won by Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Otwell, 919 Hickory.

The judges gave an honorable mention to the block of Avenue F and 19th Street which had three of the entrants.

It has been estimated that losses may run as high as one dollar per head per day for infested animals on full feed. Cattle scabies not only cause losses due to constant irritation, but the economic impact on movements of cattle from Texas to other states is severe when an outbreak occurs. In order to protect the livestock in

Area Cotton Harvest In Full Swing

A week of gusty, dry wind and warm weather aided the local cotton farmers by drying out the fields and allowing strippers to get into the fields.

After a season of slow harvesting, the harvest is in full swing and gins are now operating at full speed.

The U.S.D.A. Classing Offices at Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa and Levelland classed 45,000 samples during the week ending Friday, December 17, bringing the season's total to 194,000. At this date last year, the four offices had classed 1,535,000 samples of the 1970 crop.

Muleshoe Will Host Basketball Tournney

The third annual Muleshoe Invitational Tournament will be held on Wednesday, December 29, and Thursday, December 30. All games on Wednesday will be played in the afternoon due to Wednesday being church night.

This is the first out of state team in the Muleshoe Tournament.

The teams in the tournament and their records are: Tulsa, 5-6; Canyon, 4-10; Hereford, 7-8; Idalou, 11-4; Denver City, 5-7; Lockney, 11-1; Guymon, 5-2; and Muleshoe, 7-5. The combined records of all the teams is 65 wins and 43 losses.

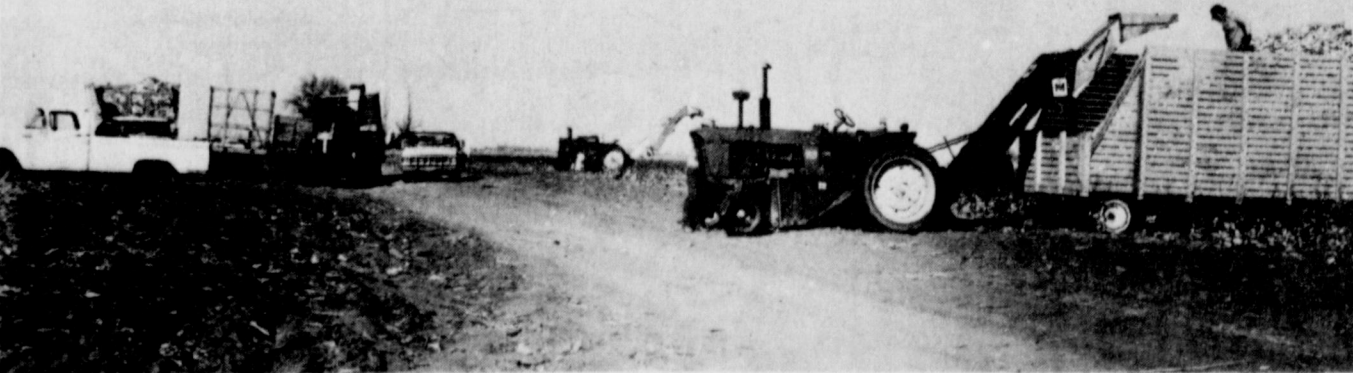

Schroeder also said "We want to encourage the people of the LOCAL FARMERS LEND HELPING HAND...With cotton harvest in full swing this week, many local farmers took time out of their own busy schedule to gather the crops of Ed Little and Jimmy Dale Black, who, due to illness, are not able to participate in the harvest. This picture was taken on Ed Little's place where about 20 men and nine strippers were out gathering the crop last week.

LUBBOCK, Friday, December 17, 1971--"It appears we have avoided a more severe limit on the size of individual government farm program payments for 1972, but the threat of a lower limit for 1973 is now grater than ever." This was the comment of Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based plains Cotton Growers, Inc. following defeat in the House last week of a move to attach a $20,000 limitation rider to the so-called Strategic Grain Reserve bill. The maximum payment specified in the Agriculture Act of 1970, which applied this year and looks now as if it will hold for 1972, is $55,000 per crop per farmer.

Last week's effort to lower the limit to $20,000 was one of many that have been made over the past several years, usually at the time Congress considers the annual agricultural appropriations bill. The House Agriculture Committee sent the Strategic Grain Reserve Bill to the Floor with a rule prohibiting the limitations amendment, and death for the lower limit in 1972 was virtually assured when the House voted not to change that rule. Presumably there won't be another opportunity for a vote on payment limitation before the agricultural appropriations bill comes up next summer, and by then farm program "contracts" with farmers will already have been made.

The Republican Administration in the past has supported maintenance of the $55,000 limitation written into the Act of 1970. But many Republican leaders became enraged when the House Agriculture Committee voted out the Strategic Grain Reserve Bill, which they consider a devastating blow to their "farm platform" in 1972 elections, and have served notice they will now work for a limitation of $20,000 or less.

Representative Wilmer Mizess (R-N.C.), for example, who has previously supported the higher limit, said during Floor debate: "I say to my colleagues, in my opinion bringing this legislation to the floor (the Strategic Grain Reserve Bill) there has been set in motion what I believe will ultimately result in a payment limitation of at least as low as $20,000 and I would suggest the possibility of $10,000 or even $5,000 in the future."

One letter urging support for a $20,000 limit, circulated to all Members of the House, bore the signatures of 18 Congressmen, both Democrats and Republican.

Johnson said "With this kind of activity, and with at least temporary loss of much support for maintaining the $55,000 limit, the danger of a crippling reduction in the limitation level becomes much more ominous." Texas' Nineteenth District Congressman George Manhon, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, sent Johnson and other High Plains farm leaders a copy of the 18-signature letter and a portion of the Congressional Record which he said "reflects the determination of many members who have heretofore supported us to drastically reduce the farm payment limitation."

Congressman Mahon went on to say "In view of the increased threat, we must renew and redouble our efforts to prevent the substitution of a $20,000 or lesser limitation for the present $55,000 limitation...I shall continue my unrelenting efforts to prevent a reduction of the $55,000 figure."

Mizell's statement on the Floor of the House continued "It is true on the parliamentary procedure vote on ordering the previous question this evening, many Members voted to order the previous question who in the past have voted for a limitation on farm payments. But you and I know, Mr. Chairman, on a direct vote as to limitation of payments they will support the lowest level of payment offered. ...I say to the members of my committee (House Agriculture Committee) and to the Members of the House from our agricultural areas, you can begin now to get your houses in order. Lower payments are in the future for you."

Johnson concluded his remarks by saying "Our opponents on this issue will seize every opportunity to force the payment limitation to the lowest possible level, and it is going to require an all-out fight to prevent the limit from being set so low as to drastically change the face of High Plains farming operations of all sizes, small as well as large."

dustry of the states of destination, the individual states impose dipping requirements for movement of animals from scabies infected areas that cost the producers and shippers an untold number of dollars. The Texas livestock industry cannot afford to live with cattle scabies. Every source of infestation must be located and completely eradicated. Symptoms of scabies resemble those of mange, and the diseases are often confused. Mange includes a group of contagious skin diseases.

1. Chorioptic Mange--caused by the Chorioptic mite.
2. Sarcopic Mange--caused by the Sarcopic mite.
3. Demodectic Mange--caused by the Demodectic mite.

Lesions caused by lice are often suspected as being scabies. Cattle may be infested with more than one condition at the same time.

The Texas Animal Health Commission has a statutory responsibility to protect livestock and poultry from contagious and infectious diseases and to maintain open marketing channels for these products. In order to carry out these responsibilities, broad authority is provided to restrict and control movements of livestock and poultry that present a potential threat of exposure to non-infected herds or flocks.

The quarantine order restricting movements of animals effective 8:00 a.m., December 11, 1971, in 34 Panhandle counties was issued due to the potential threat existing in an area containing laboratory confirmed infestations. Although infestations at this time are not extensive, this quarantine order was designed to protect clean herds while investigations and inspections are under way to determine the extent of infestations and exposure due to movements of cattle that are currently being traced. Additionally this movement restriction gives assurance to other states that import Texas cattle. Presently New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Kansas are accepting cattle from this area with an inspection stating that such animals are apparently free of scabies infestation and/or exposure. A permit prior to shipment must be obtained from the New Mexico Livestock Board in Albuquerque, for cattle destined for the state. A permit is also required from the State Veterinarian's office in Oklahoma City prior to movement of cattle into the state of Oklahoma. South Dakota, Colorado, and California presently have dipping requirements on certain movements of cattle into those states. Requirements for movements into all states are subject to change. Persons desiring to ship cattle from any area of Texas into any other state should contact the state veterinarian's office to determine existing requirements prior to movement.

Personnel are being moved to the following counties to provide the inspections required under the quarantine order: Armstrong, Bailey, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Collinsworth, Cottle, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Floyd, Foard, Gray, Hale, Hall, Hemphill, Hansford, Hardeman, Hartley, Hutchinson, Lamb, Lipscomb, Moore, Motley, Ochiltree, Odham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher, and Wheeler. It is necessary that all movements within or leaving this area have a certificate of inspection to accompany the shipment.

CREATION...

ISN'T IT AMAZING
... Scientists say that there are no two snowflakes alike! How many snowflakes do you suppose there have been since the beginning of time? Billions? It staggers the imagination when one thinks of all the things that God has created from nothing.

Genesis, the first book in the bible means beginning. It tells of many of God's more major creations, and how He created all these things for the benefit of man. Attend church, study God's word and learn more of God's plan for man.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Easy Care Houseplants

COLLEGE STATION-- You can add beauty and enjoyment to your home with easy care houseplants--even if you don't have a green thumb, reports Pat Bradshaw, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A and M University.

Feathery dracena marginata is a popular houseplant that suits any decor and is tops in adapting to various home conditions, Miss Bradshaw says. The plant is available as small single-stem specimens or multi-trunked ones of most any height you want. The stems bend in odd directions as they grow. If you want a sculptural effect, select a tall plant with slow growth.

Water a feathery dracena twice a week or when the soil dries, depending on pot size, she suggests. This rule applies to all plants, though some (including the feathery dracena) can run drier than others. If the foliage feels soft or droops unnaturally, give the plant a drink of water.

Norfolk Island pine with its tiered growth is a good conversational piece for your home, Miss Bradshaw notes. Popular in Victorian times, the pine faded out of style but is now favored again for its unusual form, slow growth and tolerance of dry conditions in the home. The houseplant will thrive anywhere except in a totally dark corner, but will do better if moved occasionally into bright light--but not full sun--for a few days at a time.

Be careful not to kill the pine with kindness, Miss Bradshaw cautions. Water with one cup only every two or three days. If you skip a watering, the plant won't suffer.

Another good houseplant is the sansevieria in rosette shape, the specialist says that the common, taller growing variety is called snake plant. Hahn's variety is equally durable and is useful in limited space since it is small and low. And it doesn't have to be propagated; it propagates itself by sending out suckers to the side. When these suckers develop their own roots, they can be cut and potted individually.

Water sansevierias lightly once a week and no more, Miss Bradshaw says. Sanssevierias can get quite dry without suffering. If you're going on a two-week vacation, the plant will survive without any difficulty.

If looking for a plant that cascades or climbs, the specialist suggests selecting devil's ivy. Devil's ivy can be grown in a loose soil mixture or in plain water; the roots are interesting in a clear glass container. The ivy's leaves can reach a tremendous size, except when grown in the house.

Rebekah Lodge Has Christmas Party

Thursday night, December 16 the Muleshoe Rebekah Lodge No. 114 had their annual Christmas party with families of the Rebekahs as special guests. Members and guests were served a salad supper. Gifts were exchanged, all gifts being items donated to the kitchen of the Lodge hall. Following the meal, the group sang Christmas carols. Approximately 35 persons attended the party.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Colds seem to be almost ubiquitous especially at this season of the year. They are most prevalent in winter and spring.

To most people the common cold is only a minor disorder that is often regarded lightly and left to cure itself. Yet it is one of the most dangerous and baffling problems that confronts scientific medicine today. We know that colds are contagious, and that they often grow to epidemic proportions.

Children are particularly susceptible to colds, as they lack the resistance of older people. The running ears, mastoid complications and other serious chronic diseases which afflict children frequently have their inception in colds.

Taking colds is an evidence of lowered vitality. The chronically tired person whose diet is inadequate, who goes on insufficient sleep and is irregular in his habits is an inviting host for cold germs. Consequently he catches cold easily and finds it difficult to throw off.

Don't leave the cold to cure itself. There are many sufferers from chronic sinusitis, bronchitis, mastoiditis and other respiratory disorders, all on account of the neglected cold.

Plan To Lose Weight As A New Year's Resolution

COLLEGE STATION--'Tis the season of the year to conjure up a host of new year's resolutions, and among the many that seem to crop up year after year is losing weight. Make it easy on yourself this year and follow the five simple steps to get reduction, suggests Sally Springer, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A and M University.

First you must decide that you really want to lose weight, Miss Springer points out. Doctors and nutritionists may report you need to trim off those extra pounds, but it is up to you and what you eat--that counts. Or, it's what you don't eat that counts.

Check with your doctor to make sure it is safe for you to lose weight, especially if your goal is 10-20 pounds, the specialist advises. Also ask a physician about exercising.

Choose a sensible diet, she adds, that is 500-1,000 calories lower than what you normally eat. For women this level is generally around 1200 calories. Also make sure the diet is nutritionally balanced. Here is a diet that supplies all of the needed nutrients for only 1200 calories:

Breakfast--(a very important meal)--one eight-ounce glass of skim milk, one poached egg, one piece of dry toast and one-half cup tomato juice.

Lunch--cheese sandwich, carrot and celery sticks and one eight ounce glass of skim milk.

Dinner--meat pattie, broccoli, tossed salad with oil and vinegar, roll and iced tea or coffee.

Snack--apple or pear.

According to the specialist, this diet uses lower calorie foods from the basic four food groups including milk, meat, bread and cereal, and fruit and vegetable.

A fourth step in proper dieting is to exercise daily, Miss Springer says. Remember that body weight is governed by two factors--the calories eaten in food and the calories expended in exercise. Just think how much quicker you will lose weight if you work on both diet and exercise!

Also remember to be patient, she notes. Don't try to achieve your weight goal all at once but follow a safe routine of losing one to two pounds a week. It is harder to gain back lost pounds if you lose weight slowly.

50th Anniversary To Be Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Williams will be honored with a reception in celebration of their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Sunday, January 2, 1972, from 2 to 4 p.m. at their home at 523 South Main Street in Muleshoe. Members of the Northside Church of Christ will host the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams were married January 1, 1922, at Afon, Texas, by Justice of the Peace Mr. Newberry. The Williams have two sons, Harold of Clovis and Edward of Stinnett.

WEEKLY RECIPE

Sarah Anne Sheridan

Here are two holiday sweets that are easy to make and keep several weeks. The holiday season always puts me in the mood to have guests come by often and the more I can do ahead and have on hand just makes company that much more enjoyable.

Date Loaf

- 1 lb. graham crackers, rolled fine.
- 1 pkg. dates, chopped.
- 16 marshmallows, chopped.
- 1 c pecans, chopped.

Mix with enough cream to hold together. Roll into logs and wrap in waxed paper. keeps well in refrigerator or freezer. Slice and serve.

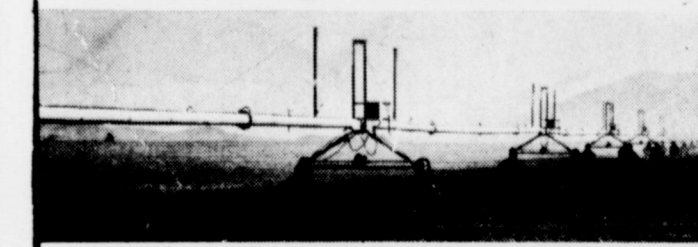

Brandy Balls

- Vanilla wafers, 3 small boxes, crushed.
- 2 T cocoa
- 2 T karo
- 1 c powdered sugar
- 1 c broken pecans
- 8 T Bourbon whisky

Mix all ingredients together and form into balls about one inch in diameter. Roll in more powdered sugar and place in sealed cans.

The reason truth makes such slow progress in the world is that it's in competition with pretense.

Delivery of several truck loads of food, clothing and toys to 262 children by the Goodfellows of Muleshoe was made last Friday and Saturday to 61 families.

Sixty-one families were surprised by the group of anonymous Muleshoe citizens. This is twice as many as last year's group, a representative of the Goodfellows said Monday.

The delivery was the final item on the busy Goodfellow agenda and marks the completion of the eighth annual and successful year of operation for the group.

Their only goal was to make sure that needy children are not forgotten Christmas morning. Their activity, hitting all sections of Muleshoe, is financed by donations of the local citizens and businesses.

The goal went over the top Saturday with the 61 boxes of food and approximately 3,000 pounds of Christmas goodwill.

Jehovah's Witness Seminar Scheduled

Members of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses are leaving this weekend to attend the three-day Bible seminar of the group at the High School Auditorium in Calyton, according to Boyd Lowery, local presiding minister.

Delegates are expected from points as far distant as Pueblo, Colorado, and Muleshoe, Texas. Peak attendance at the assembly is expected to swell to 600 by Sunday afternoon when E.R. Brandt, District Supervisor for the Witnesses in this area discourses on the topic, "Can You Live Forever--Will You?"

According to Lowery the four meetings regularly conducted at the Kingdom Hall over the weekend will be cancelled in favor of the Clayton engagement.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Bill Boykin

Austin, Texas-- Texas Democrats were scheduled to get their first look last week at a draft of proposed new party rules which are stirring some friction among state party leaders.

State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Roy Orr of DeSoto said the SDEC rules sub-committee will hold a public hearing on the proposals here January 12 at 10 a.m. Findings will then go to the full SDEC.

Some top-ranking party officers, including National Committee woman Mrs. Carrin Patman of Ganado, fear Orr has little enthusiasm for "reform" procedures recommended in the rules draft. Orr insists he has an open mind and wants a broad-based study. Last month, he headed 12 new members to the original 10-member rules-drafting panel.

Among provisions in the new rules draft are these:

*Those who accept party office including positions as convention delegates must pledge to support all party nominees or face removal.

*Eighteen-year olds can participate in Democratic conventions.

*Conventions must make "every feasible effort" to encourage youth, women and minority group representation on national nominating delegations.

*Delegate states should reflect a fair proportion of presidential preferences in line with the state division.

*At least 75 per cent of national convention delegates would be elected by senatorial district caucuses and others at large by the June presidential year convention on the basis of a "straw poll" on presidential preferences.

*Two alternatives are suggested for precinct convention delegate selection--by slates of candidates backing rival presidential contenders or by "candidate caucus."

*At least one-third of any delegation at any level must "be of sex opposite to that of the rest of the delegation."

*SDEC would include three youth representatives.

AG OPINIONS--State Highway Department full-time hourly employees are entitled to the same general fringe benefits as monthly employees, but part time employees cannot get sick leave-with-pay or group health insurance payments, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

*The State Department of Health can purchase identifying shoulder patches for those operating public and private emergency ambulances licensed by the state.

*Athletic coaches not paid as "trainers" may use such devices as ultra-sound, diathermy and whirlpool on athletes without special licenses. A member of the Texas Board of Athletic Trainers may not be employed by the Board in the position of executive secretary.

CONGRESS' PAY HELP ASKED--Texas congressmen have been urged by Gov. Preston Smith to give their support to retroactive pay for Texas state employees and teachers.

"It is our hope that the conference committee on the Economic Stabilization Act and the Congress itself recognize the unique situation of the State of Texas with regard to the wage freeze," said Smith. "Pay raises for our state employees and teachers were approved by the Legislature, the necessary funds were appropriated and taxes were levied to support them considerably before the wage freeze went into effect."

HOSPITAL AID APPROVED--More than $5.2 million in retroactive loan guarantee subsidy applications and a $160,000 Hill-Burton program grant were approved by the State Board of Health for hospital projects.

St. Mary of the Plains Hospital, Lubbock, was cleared for a $3,250,000 loan, and Wadley Hospital of Texarkana, for $2 million, subject to unannounced federal guide-lines. Under the loan program, the federal government insures the loan and makes a three per cent interest payment.

A $160,000 Hill-Burton grant was awarded Brazos Valley Rehabilitation Center at Bryan.

The Board also approved a state plan outlining priority areas within the state for construction of hospital and public health centers, long-term care institutions, out-patient facilities and rehabilitation centers. Other hospital applications will be taken up in January.

AID TO NURSING HOMES HIKED--The State Board of Public Welfare authorized a 4.5 per cent increase in state aid to nursing homes subject to federal approval under the economic stabilization program.

Cost of the nursing home program is estimated at about $13 million, with the federal share at two-thirds. About 44,000 receiving welfare assistance are now cared for in 875 nursing homes.

The Board also adopted controversial federal guidelines requiring participating counties to assume full responsibility for administration of food stamp programs by next Sept. 1. The decision affects most of 29 counties providing food stamps which needy families may exchange for food.

COURTS SPEAK--The court of criminal Appeals held testimony concerning extraneous crimes involving race hatred may be allowed to establish malice in murder cases.

A Waco burglary conviction was overturned because the state failed to establish firmly that the accused man ever actually entered a warehouse where an alarm system was set off.

The State Supreme Court reversed a trial court judgment that a man injured in an elevator shaft fall was entitled to no damages and ordered a new trial.

A marijuana possession conviction was reversed because a strong issue was raised concerning the defendant's lack of knowledge that the drug was on his property.

DDT HOUSEHOLD BAN ASKED--Pesticide Advisory Committee of Texas approved a recommendation to suspend registration of DDT for Texas Household use only after August 31, 1972.

Agriculture and public health would not be affected by the PACT recommendation. About half of DDT now used in the state is for household purposes. General use has dropped sharply in the last 10 years.

OIL ALLOWABLE RAISED--Texas Railroad Commission raised the oil allowable 4.5 per cent for January--67.5 per cent of potential.

Under the January figure, maximum production is estimated at 3,510,035 barrels a day, actual production at 3,148,974. Four of 14 major buyers of crude oil requested an increase. Eight suggested the same amount, and two recommended a cut.

APPOINTMENTS--Sterling K. Miller of Lubbock was named by Governor Smith to the board of trustees, Municipal Retirement System, succeeding Clifford L. Davis of Amarillo who resigned.

Smith designated Burton G. Hackney as his liaison with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in coordinating enforcement of regulations governing nursing home care in Texas.

Governor picked George F. Rhodes of Port Lavaca to serve on the board of directors of Arts and Industries University at Kingsville. He also reappointed Everett B. Braden of Edinburg and J.C. Martin Jr. of Laredo to the A, and I, Board.

Other reappointments included Henry M. Bell Jr. of Tyler and C.O. Chandler of Victoria to the Teacher Retirement System Board.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Deadly Dust

When bugs invaded his field of honeydew melons, a farmer enlisted the services of a crop dusting company. The company promptly sent out a pilot to spray the field. But because of prevailing breezes, the deadly dust drifted to the beehives on a neighbor's farm.

Bees languished and died by the thousands. Result: a damage suit filed against the crop dusting company by the farmer who owned the bees.

In court, the company protested that it could not be held responsible for the vagaries of the weather. Nevertheless, the court granted the farmer's claim. The court pointed out that the pilot, if he had been reasonably careful, would have foreseen the danger and delayed his spraying until the wind died down.

Crop dusting zoomed in popularity after World War II. Surplus airplanes were available. So were surplus pilots. And so were new and potent insecticides.

But, like many technological advances, this one has brought legal complications in its wake. Repeatedly, courts have held crop dusters responsible for failing to take reasonable precautions in their work.

One pilot underestimated the carrying power of his spray equipment. Another pilot failed to give fair warning to a neighboring landowner. A third pilot disregarded the special characteristics of the chemical he was using. In each case, a court found enough evidence of negligence to impose legal liability on the company.

In fact, some courts have imposed liability even if the pilot took all the usual safety precautions before spraying. They say that, simply by using such dangerous stuff, the company automatically takes full responsibility for the consequences.

Occasionally the plane itself, rather than the chemical, will cause harm. In one case, the sudden gunning of a crop duster's motor threw a flock of turkeys into panic. They hurled themselves against a fence, with many of them perishing.

Was this also the company's fault? A court decided that it was indeed. The judge said the timidity of turkeys was so well known that the pilot should have known what to expect.

CONGRESSMAN

Bob Price

U.S. House of Representatives
18th Congressional District

Congressman Bob Price has just been notified by the Secretary of Agriculture, Earl Butz, of the selection of Fleming Key, off Key West, Florida, as the site for a maximum security animal quarantine station.

Congressman Price expressed his pleasure with this decision because he was one of the original sponsors of this legislation. Because of his experience as a life long cattleman, Price had a major hand in the development of this needed legislation.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has signed an agreement with the Navy Department to use 16.1 acres of the offshore island as a high security quarantine station for animal importations.

The Fleming Key Animal Import Center will be run by the USDA's Animal and Plant Health Service (APHIS). It will be designed to handle animals from disease exists that would otherwise be prohibited entry into the United States. Initial importations will be limited to cattle until appropriate qualifying procedures are developed for other species.

A USDA quarantine station in existence at Clifton, N.J., since from countries where foot-and-mouth disease does not exist. It also handles a larger variety of species including zoo animals.

Acquisition, establishment and maintenance of a new station was authorized under Public Law 91-239 (approved May 6, 1970). Animals will undergo a rigid quarantine and testing the station insure against introduction of Exotic diseases. Disease-free stock would then be permitted entry to the U.S. Mainland.

In making the announcement, Secretary Butz said the station will enable the U.S. livestock industry to acquire exotic breeding stock from areas of the world not previously accessible for use in improving U.S. breeds and production efficiency.

The Secretary said: "Cross-breeding of domestic breeds and exotic animals has long been recognized as a desirable means of improving U.S. livestock. This has not been possible on a wide scale because of our strict importation safe-guards. The new facility will permit importations previously prohibited without relaxing our safe-guards for keeping out dread foreign diseases."

Foot-and-mouth disease was last eradicated from the United States in 1929. The 1970 Act authorized establishment of a station on an island within the U.S. territory where maximum animal disease and pest security measures could be maintained. Fleming Key is connected to Key West by a restricted-use bridge, is 160 highway miles from Miami and some 60 air miles from the Florida coast. The Act also authorizes the appropriation of funds and the charging of fees to users of the station (importers) to help recover operating expenses. Planning and construction costs are estimated at $6.7 million. Subject to the availability of funds, the station may be operational by 1974.

The station is expected to handle up to 400 imported animals and 100 U.S. contact-test animals at a time. Two groups of animals will be handled each

House Speaker Appoints Bill Clayton To Committee

AUSTIN (Sp) -- State Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake has been appointed by House Speaker Gus F. Mutscher to an eleven-member interim committee which will study several aspects of water development, quality, and conservation in the state.

Also named to the committee were Rep. John Allen of Longview, who will serve as chairman, along with Reps. George Baker of Fort Stockton, Phil Cates of Lefors, Joe Hawn of Dallas, and Lynn Nabers of Brownwood. Also Reps. Walter Parker of Denton, Bryan Poff, Jr. of Amarillo, Bill Prenal of Bryan, Paul Silber of San Antonio, and Lindon Williams of Houston.

In line with the Speaker's announced policy of consolidating last legislative session under House Simple Resolutions 516, 547, and 555; House Concurrent Resolutions 128 and 178; and Senate Concurrent Resolution 116, all dealing with various aspects of the state's water problems.

"I anticipate that the committee chairman will appoint subcommittees to handle specific investigations and proposals requested by members during the last Legislature. Grouping them under a "category umbrella" should permit more efficient sharing of knowledge and use of research time," Mutscher said.

SURCHARGE PRODUCTIVE

The Treasury Department reports that the 10-percent import surcharge is proving to be a productive money-raiser. It brought $99-million into the Treasury in its first 45 days in operation.

ON ADJOURNMENT

The Senate Democratic Leader says the Senate has agreed to try to adjourn Congress by December 1. If limitations on debate could not be agreed to-day and evening sessions are planned.

Strom Thurmond, Senator (R-SC)

"The expulsion of the Nationalist Chinese might well be the beginning of the end of the U. N."

ON BUYING BONDS

The Treasury Department reports the public bought $95-million more Savings Bonds in October than it cashed in. This is the 13th straight month that sales exceeded redemptions.

Grazing Sorghum, Corn Stubble Boosts Profits

COLLEGE STATION--Proper grazing of grain sorghum and corn stubble could boost agricultural income on the Texas High Plains by more than $160 million. And the practice could also pay dividends in other areas of the state.

In 1970 a study was initiated by Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists Dr. Cal Parrott and Ed Garnett of Amarillo and Castro County Agricultural Agent Charles Hottel to obtain new information about the utilization of milo and corn stubble with steer calves. Site of the study was the Bob Anthony farm in Castro County.

"With about four million acres of milo and corn harvested annually in the High Plains, a well-managed grazing program could boost yearly farm income and provide the roughage for raising seven million feeder calves annually," said Garnett in discussing the grazing study.

He said the cattle feeding industry on the High Plains will demand about 3.4 million head of feedlot replacements this year and many of these cattle are shipped in from outside the area.

"A grazing program that is well-managed could provide the opportunity to grow thousands of feeder calves up to 550-600 pounds before they are sent to area feedlots," he pointed out. In the study 421 steers weighing an average of 405 pounds were placed on 230 acres of grain sorghum and corn stubble for a 114 day grazing period. The stubble acreage was 74 percent corn and 26 per cent grain sorghum.

The steers were worked and backgrounded in drylot for 40 days prior to the initiation of the study and were then allowed to graze about 57 acres for 28-to 30 day intervals.

"The steers received four pounds of a grain-protein supplement daily to supply the extra needed energy and protein," said Parrott. "Grain Sorghum made up 25 percent of the ration with a 15 percent protein supplement."

Ample feed bunk space allowed all steers to eat at once and each day they were checked for sickness.

After grazing out the stubble, the steers were placed in a commercial feedlot where they were fed out to a little more than 1,000 pounds. Complete cost records were kept on each phase of the study, and an economic analysis was made of each phase as well as the overall study.

Each steer gained an average of 162 pounds during the 114-day grazing period for an average of 1.42 pounds per head per day. Including the supplemental feed, each acre of stubble produced 2.6 pounds of beef daily.

According to Garnett, all costs were figured, including a charge for the farmer's land use and labor.

The economic analysis showed a per head net return of $5.98 for the background phase; $23.25 for the grazing phase; and $19.63 for the finishing phase.

"The most important aspect of this study is the overall evaluation which indicates an average net return of about $48 per head," Garnett said. "The cost per pound of gain, overall, averaged 22 cents with a daily gain of 2.26." The specialists emphasized that proper management is the key to this grazing program. The study can be used as a guide for producers in making management decisions.

Grazing out the stubble has other advantages, according to the specialist. The farmer can return to work the soil quicker during the late fall or winter and gain efficiency in utilizing his land. Also, fields that were grazed were void of volunteer grain sorghum or corn even though the soil was worked very little.

The grazing study will be repeated this year to evaluate its consistency.

Economic Stabilization

Questions and Answers

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

Q-What kinds of price increases are permitted during Phase II?

A-The basic policy set by the Price Commission is that price increases will not be allowed except as justified on the basis of cost increases in effect on or after November 14, 1971, taking into account productivity gains. While price in excess of 2 1/2 per cent per year, many adjustments will be below 2 1/2 per cent, and some will be above this figure as justified by cost increases and other factors. Price increases will not be granted to any individual or firm to compensate for losses from increased costs that could not be passed on during the August 16-November 13 freeze.

Q-How do these rules apply to manufacturers and service industries?

A-Prices charged by manufacturers, service industries and professions may not be increased over freeze period levels, except as a result of allowable cost increases in effect on or after November 14, adjusted to reflect productivity gains. In any event, price increases must not result in any increase in a firm's pretax profit margin (as a percentage of sales) as established during the firm's base period.

Q-How are retail and wholesale prices controlled?

A-Retail and wholesale prices are controlled on the basis of customary initial percentage markups which are applied to the cost of the merchandise or service. These customary initial percentage markups cannot be higher than those in the mark-up base period. Moreover, a firm may not increase its prices beyond that amount which would bring its net profit rate before taxes (as a percentage of sales) to a level greater than that in the base period.

Retailers are to post prominently their base period prices for all covered food items and for many other selected items other than food as specified in the regulations. Until all such selected prices are posted, retailers are not permitted to increase any prices. In any event, such a price increase must be posted no later than January 1, 1972.

Q-What is the general pay standard applicable to new labor agreements?

A-The general pay standard applicable to new labor agreements and where no labor agreement is in effect, to existing pay practices, permits annual aggregate increases normally considered supportable by productivity improvement and cost of living trends. Initially, this general pay standard is established at 5.5 per cent.

In reviewing new contracts and pay practices, the Pay Board will consider ongoing collective bargaining and pay practices and the equitable position of the employees involved, including the impact of recent changes in the cost of living upon the employees' compensation.

Q-Next month I am scheduled to receive a pay increase higher than 5.5 per cent under the terms of a contract negotiated before August 15. Can

I get the increase?

A-Yes. Existing contracts and pay practices previously set forth will be allowed to operate according to their terms, except that specific contracts or pay practices are subject to review, when challenged by labor or management) or by at least five members of the Pay Board, to determine whether any increase is unreasonable inconsistent with the Board's criteria.

Q-Are rent increases still frozen?

A-Yes. The freeze on rents will continue, with certain adjustments, until guidelines are developed by the Price Commission in consultation with the Rent Advisory Committee. Land and make available upon request both the unit-by-unit freeze-period rent and the basis for any adjustments.

The following rents, however, have been exempted from price controls by the Cost of Living Council (1) rents on commercial industrial and farm property and (2) newly constructed or substantially rehabilitated dwellings offered for rent for the first time after August 15, 1971.

John Connally, Treasury Secretary:

"I know of no one who believes that the goals of Phase 2 could be reached by April 30, 1972..."

Melvin R. Laird, Secretary of Defense, on foreign aid defeat:

"I am going to assure the Vietnamese that... corrective action will be taken."
