TRI-STATE FAIR OPEN MOND IN AMARILLO

The McLean Public Schools will have a holiday Monday so all students may be able to attend the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, according to Jack Riley, superintendent. The Tiger Band, under the direction of Herb Greer, will participate in the Polk Street Parade Monday morning. Starting time for the parade will be 10:00.

The world's only rocket-powered device which propels man high above the earth in controlled free flight will be a free attraction at the 1965 Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, Sept. 20-25.

The amazing propulsion system, developed by Textron's Bell Aero-systems Company of Buffalo, N. Y., permits men to fly at speeds up to 60 miles per hour.

A Rocket Belt, attached to the body just beneath the arms, consists of a twin-nozzle hydrogen peroxide propulsion system mounted on a fiberglass corset. A motorcycle-type hand throttle allows the Rocket Men to control their rate of climb and descent. Pitch and roll are controlled by movements of the operator's body.

Designed by aerospace engineers for lunar explorations and military use, the Rocket Belts are in the process of further refinement for more general use by the armed forces. Flights by the Rocket Men are said to be the most sensational attraction at the New York World's Fair.

This trio of Rocket Men will perform three times daily at the Tri-State Fair. Flights are scheduled at 12 noon, 4 and 6 p.m.

Hollywood Palace, the nation's leading televised variety show, will present afternoon and evening performances in Fair Park Coliseum. Dale Robertson, Roger Miller, Johnny Tillotson and a host of other nationally known TV, radio, night club and motion picture stars.

This year's fair will be opened with the biggest parade in the history of the 42-year-old institution. The parade, beginning at 10 o'clock Monday morning, Sept. 20, will consist of 80 units. Music will be provided by 32 bands, representing schools in Amarillo and across the Golden Spread, plus the Amarillo Air Force Base Band.

SEPT. 19-25 IS NATIONAL HIGHWAY WEEK

"Building Highways for Tomorrow" will be the theme of National Highway Week in Texas which will be observed this year Sept. 19-25.

The week was designated by Gov. John Connally who said the 66,000-mile Texas Highway system is vitally related to the state's economy and the welfare and pleasure of all Texans.

In the proclamation designating Highway Week, Governor Connally said the system is "debt-free with its design and construction based on the needs of the next generation of Texans."

"In this context, the Texas Highway Department is indeed 'Building Highways for Tomorrow.' This will be of benefit to the citizens of Texas in fostering understanding and support for continuing efforts to improve our great highway system," Connally said.

Highway Week is sponsored by the Texas Good Roads Association, a non-profit, non-political organization which works for better highways in Texas. Since 1913 it has been the only citizens group working for highway progress.

The Texas highway system is administered by the Texas Highway Department. It was created in 1917 by the 35th State Legislature. Administrative control is vested in a three-member State Highway Commission and the State Highway Engineer.

Tigers Down Panthers 8-0

The McLean Tigers defeated the Panhandle Panthers Friday night at Panther Stadium by a score of 8 to 0. A rather small crowd was on hand for the exciting game.

The Tigers got a good start and more than held their own throughout the game. From the kickoff, a touchdown drive was started which ended with senior Fullback Robert McCabe scampering away from the Panther tacklers and across the goal line from about the Panther 15 yard line. Steve Fuller, who played a tremendous game, ran across for the extra points. The only touchdown of the game came with four minutes and 14 seconds remaining in the first quarter.

The Panthers took the next kickoff, but were stopped by a fumble about midway through Tiger territory. Thirteen seconds later, a Tiger fumble was recovered by Panhandle, and again the Panthers were on the move. Clovis Bible intercepted a Panther pass in the end zone and the Tigers took over on the 20 yard line.

Throughout the second and third quarters, the crowd watched a defensive battle between the two teams.

Late in the third quarter, the Tigers broke loose with two beautiful passes from Joe McCarty to Drew Fuller. The first was cancelled by a penalty for waiting too long in the huddle, but the second pass brought the Tigers to the Panther 30 yard line. A determined Panther line stopped the Tigers again, however, and the defensive battle started again and continued until the end of the game.

Tigers making good defensive plays were Clovis Bible, senior end, who intercepted a Panther pass late in the game, and Bryan Parker, junior tackle, who did a fine job in penetrating the Panther line.

The Tigers have an open date this Friday before facing the Lefors Pirates on Duncan Field on Sept. 24.

SOME FACTS ON THE DEADLY RATTLESNAKE

The rattlesnake is not the swift, smart and deadly creature that its reputation might indicate.

The only "facts" of rattlesnake life that most people know are that it grows an extra rattle every year, reveals in blistering heat, is fast and unforgivingly deadly. Not one of these "facts" is true, according to an article in the June issue of Reader's Digest authored by Colin Fletcher.

The number of rattles is almost no indication of age. A rattler soon dies if the temperature around it rises much over 100 degrees, and it crawls so slowly that the only dangerous rattler is the one you don't see, states the article.

Nor does it attack with great speed—a rattler's strike is slower than a man's punching fist. Although bites are serious, especially for children, few prove fatal.

Outside eastern diamondbacks may grow to weigh over 20 pounds and measure almost eight feet in length, but most of the 30 different species grow to no more than six feet. They may live for as long as 20 years.

According to Fletcher, rattlers have good eyesight only at short range, and are highly sensitive to ground vibration. They have no hearing at all, but their two small facial pits contain nerves so sensitive to heat that they can strike accurately at warm-blooded prey in complete darkness. Many species hunt mostly at night.

Defense is not the main purpose of a rattler's fangs and venom. Primarily, they're for securing food.

First-aid treatment recommended by many experts for snakebite is cut and suck. Have the victim lie completely still, to slow the blood circulation and the spread of venom. If the bite is on an extremity, tie a bootlace an inch above the bite (between it and the heart) only tight enough to make surface veins stand out. Then, using a razor blade or knife, sterilize the blade in a match flame, and open the fang marks with shallow cuts. Make the cuts in an X running lengthwise on arm, leg or hand, about 1/4-inch long and 1/8 deep—just enough to cut through the skin without severing a nerve or artery. Then suck out the poison-filled blood with your mouth or a suction cup—the vital time for sucking is the first few seconds or minutes. Get the victim to a doctor as soon as possible.

Snakebite's greatest danger is probably hysteria. People bitten by harmless snakes have come close to dying from fright, and it is probably true that what a snakebite patient needs most is rest and reassurance, says Fletcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Goodman of Pampa visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Goodman, and other relatives Thursday of last week.

Easterner Gives Views On Plains Hospitality

Before you leave, you come to believe what you have always heard: "Out West, where men are men and women are darn glad of it." The warmth evinced by those who proved the truth of the saying beyond any doubt.

With an easterner's ingrained conception of the "rough" life on a ranch, it comes as a jolt to discover that the Trew ranchhouse has every comfort known to man built into it: all the way from multiple bathrooms (with formica on both countertops and floors), through color TV with stereo, to the biggest electric dishwasher in captivity. The need for this was evident when the reunion was at its peak and all those people had to be fed.

The rough part of the life, of course, still exists in the chores which must be performed every day.

Thurman, although he could leave the chores to the hired hands, always get out "ahorse" (as they say it, meaning opposed to "afoot") when there is something to be done; and there is always something, whether it is water gaps needing repair or a recently altered bull calf that needs to be checked for that scourge of the range, screw worms.

Jim Rice, Thurman's top hand, during a tour of the range, noticed blood on the little critter's hind legs, and you are invited to go along "ahorse" to the "Southwest 80" and watch them minister to its well-being. One throw, and Thurman lassoed the calf.

The day before, you spent several hours in a four-wheel-drive jeep pickup checking and repairing water gaps which had gone out during the night following the heavy rain. The gaps are just that: "gaps" in the fence line across the creek beds, standard fence at one end, but closed with quick-release wire wraparounds on the terminal post at the other. When the creeks expand with rushing water, the debris catches in the wire and sweeps the gaps back along the creek banks—taking the strain of the main fence.

The gaps are necessary to keep the cattle from straying to neighboring ranches, and must be repaired each time it rains enough to make the "tanks turn around." Gap-repairing is a steady job (you do it twice during your week's stay at the ranch, for example).

Meanwhile, back at the ranchhouse, the reunion had been building toward the crescendo it was to reach on Sunday. There were new arrivals almost hourly, old touches were cut up until far into the night. The great table in the dining room was continuously groaning under its ever-present load of food. Bedding-down arrangements were being made for those who didn't come in campers, and what appeared to be hundreds of children were scampering about.

Gone forever was the picture of lonely ranch life. Smiling hostess Oma was in her glory.

The reunion had been scheduled to coincide with the big events of the year at McLean: a four-day rodeo (most of which, unhappily, was rained out), a fiddlers' contest and a Saturday barbecue, for which a ton of beef was roasted (taking all day and most of the night Friday). Nothing—but nothing—beats the flavor of beef barbecued and served on the very ground where it was raised.

The hundreds of people who came from miles around for the succulent feast already knew this, and you do now. You remember how rapidly that ton of beef disappeared, and how much you enjoyed the strains of the fiddles as you ate your share.

The remainder of your visit rushes by like a view through a kaleidoscope.

One outstanding "evening" (which is any time after lunch) you take a short jaunt of 100 miles each way to Perryton, Texas, where you get an education in wheat farming from Delbert and Don Trew while touring their countless sections planted to the waving golden grain, which is almost ready for the combine. Delbert's wife, O'Leen, and Don's wife, Barbara—both attractive girls—show you more of the same hospitality accorded by the elder Trews at Alanreed.

Comes the time for parting, and many farewells are said through lumpy throats. You and your den mother are last to leave, and the words of Janice—Delbert's daughter—ring in your ears: "I don't care if he is a damyankee—I love him anyway!"

The feeling is mutual, Janice, for all of you out there.

Steal a horse, and you'll die without being sick.

HEREFORD HAPPINESS is having four young and pretty members of the Deep River (Conn.) Fife and Drum Corps give a personal serenade. It's in anticipation of the colorful Yankee Doodlers' appearance at the 1965 State Fair of Texas October 9 through 24 in Dallas. The Deep River ambassadors to Texas will appear the last nine days of the Exposition of the Americas, October 18 through 24.

Over 39,766 Rural Residents Aided By FHA Loans

Over 39,766 families of farmers, ranchers and rural residents in Texas benefitted from Farmers Home Administration loan services during 1965. This is an all-time high, according to L. J. Cappelman, state director for the agency.

Loans made or insured by the Farmers Home Administration in Texas during the fiscal year ended June 30 totaled $88,289,230.

State Director Cappelman said that the Farmers Home Administration preserved its long-standing record for keeping its various lending programs in a sound position during fiscal year 1965. Repayments of principal and interest by borrowers totaled the largest volume collected in the agency's 30-year history.

"This good credit record signifies the initiative and integrity displayed by the people of rural Texas in their vast self-help effort which these loans represent," Cappelman stated.

Included in the number of Texas rural people benefiting from these programs are the members of 28,245 families forming rural groups that use Farmers Home Administration credit. Most of these groups borrowed funds to develop rural community water systems.

State Director Cappelman emphasized that loans to strengthen family farms and build new rural homes continued as the agency's largest programs in fiscal 1965.

According to Claude Moore, county supervisor, loans made or insured in the three-county unit comprised of Armstrong, Donley and Gray totaled $614,820, an increase of $203,350 over the previous year. Of this amount, farm ownership and rural housing loans accounted for $292,380, soil and water loans for $19,500 and operating-type credit for $282,940. Over 100 families in this unit were aided by Farmers Home Administration loans as compared with 84 in 1964.

TAX SAM SEZ:

Every year the good tax folks call in a lot of divorced couples. These unfortunate people have decided that it was necessary for them to get their separate ways, but they forgot to get their tax matters separated.

If you are disposing of your spouse, it will pay you to dispose of your tax matters at the same time. It's awfully embarrassing to sit down with your ex-spouse and a tax man and solve problems that you would prefer never to think of again.

Split your income and taxes up to the date of your divorce . . . or wait until December 31 to get divorced . . . so you won't mix up your tax year.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank the McLean fire department and all the men who helped put out the fire on our farm Friday.

FARM CITY WEEK BANQUET
Marvin Webster, president of Gray County Farm Bureau, advises me that Senator John Tower will be the guest speaker at the annual Farm-City banquet in Pampa on Wednesday, Sept. 22. The event, sponsored by the Gray County Farm Bureau, will begin at 8 p.m. in the Robert E. Lee school cafeteria and is open to the public.

Tickets are on sale at The McLean News office at $1.50 per person.

According to Webster, a sell-out crowd is expected.

SOIL TEST
Peb Everett was asking about fertilizing alfalfa. As a guess we recommended 40 pounds of actual phosphorus per acre on alfalfa. However, we would suggest not to guess but to test. Our soil testing laboratory located at Lubbock charges a very nominal $2 per sample and will give you their recommendations based on their unbiased opinions. A great deal of money can be wasted by not fertilizing properly.

We are sending free mailing cartons to Peb and a short information sheet to be filled out and sent with the soil sample.

SOIL DISTRICT ELECTION
Things are shaping up nicely for the soil district election scheduled to be held in connection with the Lions Club Farmer-Rancher Day Oct. 5.

A special program is planned. The election is for the purpose of selecting a supervisor for subdivision No. 2, Gray County Soil Conservation District. James Cllett is the present supervisor.

Term of office will be for five years. There are five sub-divisions in the county. Other supervisors include Milton Carpenter, McLean; Curtis Schaffer, W. C. Epperson and Stan Friend, Pampa.

McCLELLAN WATERSHED
On Monday of this week several engineers and other key personnel from Temple were in the county to do preliminary surveying on the proposed McClellan Creek Watershed. They will not be in the county but a few days. It is encouraging to know they were here and have the project under study.

Luther Petty and Howard Hardin were in Shamrock on business Friday.

Eddie Cunningham of Houston recently visited his mother, Mrs. R. O. Cunningham.

Mrs. Leo Gibson underwent surgery last week in Highland General Hospital, Pampa.

Mrs. V. B. Reagor and Mrs. Marie Carruth of Lubbock visited their father, T. A. Landers, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Peabody vacationed in Arkansas the past week.

Warnings Given On Bicycle Safety

With the opening of another school year at hand, it's time to recall once again the dangers of bicycle riding.

Although exact figures are lacking, in recent years from 500 to 700 deaths and 30,000 to 40,000 injuries a year have occurred in collisions between bicycles and motor vehicles, says Today's Health Guide, the American Medical Association's manual of health information and guidance for the American family.

By far the greater number of these deaths and injuries were suffered by children from five to 14 years of age.

Parents must assume the major responsibility for the safety of their children. Parents must see that their young riders are taught when and where bicycling is safe; they must help get the bicycles in safe condition; they must promote a friendly and cooperative attitude toward law enforcement officers; they must help the child develop an understanding of the purposes of traffic regulations.

It is important to help your child work out safe bike routes to and from school, the park and other areas where he customarily rides. Bike riders using the roadways are subject to the same regulations, responsibilities and privileges as motor vehicle drivers.

The Bicycle Institute of America offers some safety rules—

- Observe all traffic regulations—red and green lights, one-way streets, stop signs.
- Keep to the right and ride single file. Keep a safe distance behind all vehicles.
- Have a headlight on front and a danger light on the rear of your bicycle for night riding. Wear white or light-colored clothing at night.
- Have a bell or horn to warn of approach. Always ride at a safe speed.
- Give pedestrians the right of way. Avoid sidewalks, if possible; use extra care when riding on walks.
- Look out for cars pulling out into traffic. Keep a sharp lookout for the sudden opening of car doors.
- Ride in a straight line. Do not weave in or out of traffic or swerve from side to side.
- Always use proper hand signals for turning and stopping. Park your bike in a safe place.
- Slow down at all street intersections and look to right and left before crossing.
- Be sure your brakes work properly and keep your bicycle in perfect running condition.
- Never carry other riders—carry no packages that obstruct vision or prevent proper control of your bicycle.
- Never hitch on other vehicles, "stunt" or race in traffic. Never ride two on a bike.

If your child plans to ride to and from school on a bicycle this fall, make certain that there is a parking area at the school relatively safe from thieves. A short length of chain and a padlock will usually stop the bicycle thief.

The pecan is the state tree of Texas.

Precautions Should Be Taken For Flu

There may be an increase in influenza in the United States next winter.

Many of us can avoid a bout with the flu by proper immunization.

The forecast for the coming season is based on the two to three-year periodicity of the disease, says the Journal of the American Medical Association. The last major outbreaks were in 1962-63, and on the West Coast in 1963-64.

Immunization is particularly recommended for certain high risk groups. These groups include:

- Persons at all ages suffering from chronic disease such as rheumatic heart disease, other heart and circulatory problems, respiratory ailments such as asthma and emphysema, and diabetes.
- Persons in older age groups. Influenza deaths are higher in those past 45, and much higher in those beyond 65 years.
- Pregnant women.
- Patients in nursing homes and chronic disease hospitals.

Vaccination should begin in September and ideally should be completed by mid-December. There should be two doses, about two months apart, to provide full protection. However, the interval can be reduced if an epidemic threatens. Maximum immunity comes about two weeks after the second dose. Those vaccinated within the past two years will need only one booster dose this fall.

The vaccine in common use this season offers protection against five different types of virus, all capable of causing influenza.

The vaccine will not insure complete protection against influenza, but it has shown for some years a marked degree of protection for a large majority of those who receive it.

Ask your doctor about influenza protection for you and your family.

SCS SPONSORS TOUR - TALKS ON WASHITA WATERSHED

The Golden Spread chapter of Soil Conservation Society of America sponsored a tour of the Upper Washita Watershed at Miami on Sept. 3. The group met at Ferg's Cafe at 10 a.m. The morning was spent in listening to talks by various leaders in flood prevention and watershed work. About 50 people were present.

Curtis Schaffer gave the first talk. He is a district supervisor for the Gray County SCD and one of the leaders in the McClellan Creek Watershed project. He stressed the value of educating the public as to the value of flood prevention.

Virgil Brock, a local rancher who was active in the Upper Washita Watershed, discussed local responsibilities in getting the land rights and easements that are necessary before the building of flood control structures can begin.

Don Powell, work unit conservationist for Soil Conservation Service at Canadian, discussed the various phases in the construction of the flood control structures. He discussed relations with contractors and landowners, access to dams, inspections, and actual phases of the construction such as handling top soil, digging the core trench. In addition, he discussed the functions of spillways, plunge basins, berms and other features.

Duane Bartee, area conservationist, SCS, Pampa, discussed and showed colored slides of the various ways used to vegetate the barren dam structures on their completion.

He stressed the importance of seeding the grasses into a good cover. Three different kinds of cover were used in re-grassing the 31 structures on the Upper Washita project. They were sorghum cover, hay mulch and wood pulp. The wood pulp method consists of a mixture of wood pulp, grass seed and water that formed a slurry which was sprayed onto the dam.

In the afternoon, the group was taken on a tour of the Washita Watershed. Tour leaders were Don Powell, Bill Brooks and Duane Bartee. Several of the watershed structures were observed. Dams on the French Arrington and Marion Robinson ranches were visited. The tour ended on the Milton Finsterwald ranch where site 21, one of the largest dams on the watershed, was observed. Also a nearby recreation project on Gageby Creek was visited.

The Golden Spread chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America sponsors two to three agricultural tours such as this one each year. Membership in the society is open to anyone interested in soil and water conservation.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim D. Morris, Jeff and Joe, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Norman of Pampa visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Grigsby, Saturday.
