FCC Asks Congress For Additional Control Over Telephone Industry

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission asked congress today to give it additional control over the $6,000,000,000 telephone industry, but toned down some of the previously published recommendations of one of its members.

The report, approved all seven most far-reaching suggestions of commissioners, omitted some of the Commissioner Paul A. Walker, who directed a two-year investigation of the industry at a cost of $1,500,000.

Among Walker's recommendations not included was one urging the FCC be authorized "to review, approve, or disapprove all Bell policies and practices promulgated by the central management group" of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Despite substantial revision of his proposed report, Walker expressed gratification that the commission approved it "in principle, and largely in substance."

Major recommendations of the commission included:

1. The FCC be authorized to prescribe basic cost accounting methods for the Western Electric company, described as the "manufacturer and supplier" for the vast Bell system.
2. The FCC be given jurisdiction over issuance or refunding of securities by telephone companies subject to its jurisdiction.
3. The FCC be authorized to prohibit abandonment of any interstate line operated by any firm subject to its jurisdiction.
4. Filing with the FCC of applications for consolidation of telephone companies be mandatory, instead of optional, as present.
5. FCC approval be required for all acquisitions by one company of the stock of another company for purposes of control.
6. The Bell system be required to license its patents to others who can use them beneficially. The present practice, officials said, is for the Bell system to refuse patents to others who are engaged in the same field.

Governor Will Rule Kas. City Police Dept.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 14 (AP)—The legislature handed the Kansas City police department, a patronage prize, to Gov. Lloyd C. Stark today—climax of his intra-democratic party fight against imprisoned Boss Tom Pendergast.

By an overwhelming vote, the senate last night passed the house bill. It added an emergency clause which makes the act law the minute Stark signs.

"The Pendergast organization has met its Waterloo," Stark jubilantly told reporters.

The bill places the Kansas City police under a board of four to be appointed by the governor. For years until 1933 such a board directed the police, but in that year the supreme court ruled the law unconstitutional on a technicality.

Stark, who turned on Pendergast shortly after his election in 1936 with machine support, last March demanded control of the police. He declared racketeering, gambling and prostitution in Kansas City "smelled to the high heavens."

A bitter three-month legislative battle followed. Pendergast supporters gradually lost strength. Their boss pleaded guilty to income tax frauds at the height of the police bill fight and was sentenced to Leavenworth federal prison.

Kansas City's police force numbers 633 men. About a score recently have been discharged following a civic shakeup in which Mayor Bryce B. Smit seized control from City Manager H. E. McElroy, who immediately resigned.

Police Director Otto Higgins, who had held office at the pleasure of McElroy and Pendergast, was forced to resign a few days later.

BOSTON, June 14 (AP)—AM M. Landon, unsuccessful republican nominee in the last presidential election, predicted today President Roosevelt would decline to become a candidate for a third term.

and those who urge the president "We are in the sixth year of extraordinary government spending-to-save policy," Landon asserted, "yet discouragement and chronic unemployment are increasing. This, indeed, is the Roosevelt depression."

"The citizens who are proposing and urging a third term for President Roosevelt will be marked by the future historian as bringing disaster to the republic if they succeed in their unworthy ends."

CLAIMS PRAYER RESTORED SIGHT

HEMPHILL, June 14 (AP)—Mrs. Mattie Boyett, 69, today believed prayer restored her sight after 15 years of blindness.

Ill of an incurable malady, Mrs. Boyett prayed for two days and nights that she might see her grandchildren before the death she felt was near.

Monday she awakened to find she could see dimly. Yesterday her sight was stronger.

A prominent Sabine county physician, who requested his name be withheld, examined Mrs. Boyett. He said she apparently suffered from glaucoma, but could not account for her restored sight. He said he never had heard of a similar case.

Mrs. Boyett lost the sight of an eye 32 years ago. A film grew over the other and she was blind for 15 years. The film has disappeared. No physician has treated her eyes for several years, she said.

Her relatives looked upon her new sight as an expectable answer to prayer.

Private Capital Is Ready To Join PWA On New Projects

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—PWA Administrator Ickes, it was learned today, soon will tell the federal monopoly committee private capital would invest a half billion dollars in any new public works program which congress might undertake.

Aides said Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) asked Ickes to prepare to testify before the committee, which President Roosevelt recently charged with ascertaining "why a large part of our vast reservoir of money and savings have remained idle in stagnant pools."

The administrator, they added, expects to present 5,700 applications pending for $1,775,000,000 of new PWA projects. Of this number, 4,500 would be for grants only and involve an estimated local contribution of $703,000,000.

Ickes' exhibit, the officials continued, would disclose the applicants were ready to raise 75 per cent or about $500,000,000 through sale of general obligation bonds, tax anticipation warrants and revenue bonds to private investors.

O'Mahoney's request followed correspondence with Ickes in which the latter wrote that local communities raised 87.7 per cent of their share of construction costs on 1933-39 projects, compared with only 50.4 per cent for the 1933-34 program.

"Private capital," Ickes' letter said, "is entering the PWA construction program in such increasing amounts that necessity for making federal loans to help finance municipal projects has dropped sharply."

Changing Managers

People who have an idea that a city with a city manager has solved all the problems of government...

The theory of city management is good, that theory being that the people elect a board of directors, lawmaking and policy-making in authority...

Unfortunately, it is theory only in many cities. The manager may be ever so competent and be doing excellent work...

Some cities retain their manager for a long time. Those cities really benefit from the manager form of administration, provided always the manager is competent and honest.

Chapter Eight SQUEEZE PLAY

"When I admitted that I was acquainted with Miss South," continued Dorothy, "he said, you'd introduce me to her if I wanted you, wouldn't you? I appeared to think this over, and finally I told him I wasn't sure."

"Very well done, Dorothy," approved the Chiseler. "Well, he said of course he understood that. And he was willing to put all his cards on the table. So he told me his name was Van Ryppe."

"After that, it was smooth sailing. And to close a long story, he's asked me to go some place with him three weeks from Saturday night. I don't know what kind of a racket it's going to be."

The Chiseler waved his hand. "Be quiet, Coletti!" He turned to Miss South. "Dorothy, you seem to have done some first class thinking in this matter. But, like many of your gender, you have concentrated on the lesser or, as I might put it, the side issues, while missing entirely the main or fundamental point."

"Is that right?" inquired Miss South sharply. The Chiseler bowed his head like a monk at prayer. "I'm afraid so. Naturally, it is important to give some attention to loose cash, silverware, wall-safes and the like. But here we have a chance to tap a veritable fountain-head of profits."

"I would very much," said the Chiseler. "Have you, by chance, ever heard of what is vulgarly known as the 'snatch racket'?" Personally, I dislike the term. I prefer, let us say, "the detention of some individual of substance until such time as profitable negotiations have been satisfactorily concluded."

"I would go further," corrected the Chiseler, "and say that it is the only logical idea when faced with such a situation as this."

"The Snatch Racket"

"I fancy," said the Chiseler, pleased, "that I'm not altogether stupid."

"I would go further," corrected the Chiseler, "and say that it is the only logical idea when faced with such a situation as this."

WASHINGTON—A new batch of food and drug regulations go into effect June 25 to make life safer for fat people, bald heads and sun bathers.

One source of danger is constantly narrowing—that is the field of poisonous cosmetics. That part of the act went into effect immediately when it was signed last June 25 by the president.

All of the balance of the act was to go into effect this June 25 but an amendment is about complete to postpone some of the honest label provisions until next January 1, or perhaps even July 1, 1940.

SOME RESTRICTION

Going into effect June 25, however, is a provision stating that a cosmetic will be considered misbranded "if its labeling is false or misleading in any particular."

So if a sunburn oil says it contains certain elements good for shielding off the hotter rays, it better contain them, or fines may be heaped upon the faulty manufacturer.

Outlawed also will be "cheater" bottles and jars indicating they may contain more food or cold cream or hair tonic than they really do.

The administration is constantly surprised by the sort of things women will buy. A six-ounce bottle of perfumed salt water now abolished had a good sale at $1 a bottle as a shampoo which would not remove the wave in the hair.

If the salt water had been called a food or drug the bottle must have said what it contained. But congress didn't get that far in the act with cosmetics. It was skittish about making excessive regulations on cosmetics without more experience. They were not subject to regulation at all until this bill went into effect.

EXPECT TO WIDEN OUT

Administration people believe it won't be long until the law is changed to require hair tonics, face lotions and creams to say what they contain. For our own personal satisfaction we hope that time will come soon as we have tried for months to persuade a young lady we know that she is paying $6 a pint for perfumed horse liniment. We should love to have the government prove it.

Just now the government is doing its best to stamp out harmful reducing compounds but is having no end of trouble doing it. The food and drug administration claims that such business should be done under direction of a physician and not from directions on a bottle wrapper.

You might just as well know that the food and drug administration is pretty uncertain whether there is any cure at all for dandruff. They are keeping manufacturers from making exaggerated claims for their preparations.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD — Speaking of inspired movie titles, I'd rate "She Married a Cop" away down there. But speaking of inspiring real romances, you can bet Phil Regan's high up.

Phil is the star of "She Married a Cop." Phil was a cop once, but he wasn't when Josephine Dwyer, also of Brooklyn, married him. Phil wasn't anything then, except 17 years old and in love. So was Josephine, so they told it to the priest.

That was 16 years ago. Today Phil and Josephine are 33, and the parents of four children, the eldest 14, the youngest eight. And Phil is a romantic singing star, this town's best answer to the old chestnut about the incompatibility of domesticity and children with professional romantic success.

The Regans got their thumbs-up from the public, and very dramatically, several years back when the news broke that "romantic bachelor" Regan was really a papa in a big way. Until that time, Hollywood gossip had freely linked his name with one and another of the local belles in "publicity romances" although his steady date was Josephine Dwyer. Phil never went out with anyone else.

Deception? Sure. But necessary, if you realize what small chance the father of four would have had to get a start in romantic roles.

Look at them, just married, 17, and jobless. Phil's dad, now dead, was a teamster in Brooklyn. Phil worked at it, too, but his first steady job was as a streetcar conductor in the Bronx. The Regans lived in a walk-up, cold-water flat, and sometimes they didn't eat, sometimes the gas was cut off, sometimes they lived on love. Phil peddled, house to house, before he got a job as chauffeur to a New York judge. The judge saw no future in that, either, and advised a civil service exam for Phil to make the police force. Regan got on, became a lieutenant—and learned he could sing when he joined a police quartet. He got on the air with Burns and Allen, but he was far from the big chips when Phil and Josephine, tagged by four, came to Hollywood. Clarence Brown saw him at the Grove, dancing, tested him for a Joan Crawford lead which he didn't get but which led to a Warner contract. And there was a "no-marriage clause."

Admitting marriage meant giving up the big chance to escape, perhaps forever, future walk-up, cold-water flats, Mrs. Regan said to keep her and the youngsters in the background.

He parried the usual questions with retorts, far from untrue, that "I'll be very happy when I can announce that Miss Dwyer is Mrs. Regan." And when it all came to light, the fan mail jumped—not in condemnation but in praise.

"You see, in the police department a man eventually gets a pension," he says. "In this business a man has to provide his own pension, and it takes a pile of capital to provide even a little steady income. We live comfortably, in an 11-room house on an acre of ground, but we figure what we can afford after the annuities are paid for, not before."

A lecturer believes we should have sold war supplies to the Allies at half price during the World War. That at least, had we known it, would have been one effective way of reducing the war debts.

Continued tomorrow. American hotels annually spend $24,000,000 in furniture maintenance.

Devils Defeat Top Hatters, 4 To 1

Evans Holds Waiters To Four Bingles

On the rebound after suffering a licking at the hands of the Foreman Oilers, Anderson's Devils bounced Top Hat, 4-1, in the feature Minny softball league battle at the city park diamond Tuesday evening.

Lonnie Evans surrendered but four base blows in pacing the Devils to their triumph. The Ben Daniel forces tallied once in the second frame when Alton Bostick came home on a Top Hat error, saw the foe deadlock the count when Bowman came around in the fourth, then proceeded to sew up the decision from the fourth on through the sixth.

Alton Bostick beat out three infield hits to lead the Devil hit parade. In the evening's first battle McGee Super Service scored in every inning but the third to rout Collins Brothers Drug, 17-0. Red Denham limited the Drugists to a brace of bingles. Only two men got as far as third.

The Stationmen's 15 hit assault was paced by Herr, catcher, who had four licks and tallied three times.

First game: McGee Super Service 320 75-17 15 0 Collins Brothers Drug 000 0-0 2 4 Denham and Herr; Wisner, J. Harrell and Smith.

Second game: Top Hat 000 100 0-1 4 2 Anderson 010 111 x-4 6 2 Boyett and Busby; Evans and Parker.

CARDS, EXPERIENCING BAD SLUMP, LOOK TO MARTIN

By BILL WHITE
Associated Press Sports Writer

There is a suspicion going around that the St. Louis Cardinals aren't being given full credit for a job well done. Considerable fuss has been made over the Cincinnati Reds, leading the National League, and the amazing Brooklyn Dodgers, but ever since May 26 the Cards have been hanging on the Reds' heels—just close enough so it hasn't been safe to say the race has developed into a runaway.

If Lon Warneke and Curt Davis can keep up their recent pitching performances, aided by Bob Bowman, who looks like a real find; Bill McGee, who is pitching good ball, and Bob Weiland, who has a tendency to blow hot and cold, the Cards look like one of the best bets to chase Cincinnati out of the throne room.

But there's cause for considerable worry around St. Louis right now, for those Dodgers open a three-game series in Sportsman's Park today and Pepper Martin won't be in there doing the usual amount of damage. Pepper's comeback—not that he has been far away—is one of the main reasons why the Cards are up where they are. The "wild hoos" has been going at a pace reminiscent of the days when the Gas House Gang threw cold chills up and down every National League's spine.

Undistinguished most of last season, the madcap Martin has compiled a .330 batting average, driven in 14 runs and scored 22 himself—most of them probably aiding on his stomach, one of his favorite ways of getting home. But he took one slide too many and cracked up a wrist, so the Cards sent him home while they were in Boston.

Right after that, the Cards ran into a slump that has cost them four of their last five games and now they tackle the Dodgers with only a game and a half margin to work on. The Dodgers, on the wings of a victory streak that gave them seven wins out of their last home stand of 11 games, and clicking like a dollar watch, are a first division club—on the say-so of no less authority than Will McKechnie, boss of the Cincinnati. If they can get past the Cards into second place and at the same time prove they can win on the road, or if they fall dismally, this series may have a vital bearing on the race the rest of the way.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Colomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Sit stubbornly refuse anything else.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE BRIEZE

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—This Berg golf firm may wind up with a monopoly. Patty has a toe-hold on the women's division and now Brother Herman is showing so much stuff he is being touted for a shot at the big time. Herm's 18, certainly red-headed and has just grabbed off the Minnesota high school title. Judge Landis will make your hair stand straight up when he announces his findings in that long-drawn-out farm club probe.

Missed A Putt

On one of those quiz programs the other night, Tommy Armour was asked this question: "What golfer has won every open title?" "Sarazen," replied Tommy and got the gong. The answer was "Armour."

Rice football coaches have the jitters waiting for news from those final examinations. The American league has asked the managers to have their players tone down the cussin' from the dugout. Sometimes the boys tee off so loud you can hear 'em all over the stands.

Today's Guest Star

Gordon Cobblestick, Cleveland Plain-Dealer: "Wes Ferrell is in a tough spot. He is too old for the other clubs and too young for the Dodgers."

Tony Lazeri

He don't stay in long and he don't stay out long. It just doesn't look right to see the New York papers playing the Dodger games over those of the Yanks and Giants, but that's what they're doing.

We're Asking You

Nine hundred turned out to see the world champions in St. Louis the other day. We don't know whether the Yanks are slipping or business in St. Louis is picking up. What do you make of it, Watson?

Free Speech Dept.

Some days ago, Bill Cisell, Hollywood second sacker, did a bit of popping off in words and music. He was quoted in an Oakland paper that W. C. (Two Gun) Tuttle, coast league president knew nothing about baseball and recommended Empire George Hildebrand for the job. Tuttle slapped a $200 fine on Cisell. A Seattle paper conducted a "man-on-the-street" poll and the unanimous verdict was Tuttle went too far—that Cisell was entitled to air his views even if they were a bit hard on some ear drums.

Help, Help

Here's a howdy-do... Paul Derringer, Red pitcher, lost an $8,000 court suit here. There's a warrant out and if Paul sets foot in New York, they'll pinch him and throw him into the clink. Can't get into Beantown, either, unless he goes around by Nova Scotia. Red fans are thinking of putting on a "Derringer Day" to raise the dough before the next crucial series with the Jints or Dodgers.

THREE CARDINAL ARGUMENTS—Here are three reasons for the St. Louis Cards' climb in the National. Left to right: Infielder Stuart Martin from Rich Square, N. C.; Pitcher Curt Davis, who won 12, lost 8, last year; Infielder James Brown, switch-hitter from Jamesville, N. C.

5TH TERM—He's against it, said Maury Maverick, fiery mayor of San Antonio, dodging reporters' questions about a third term. Said he: "I'm against 4th, 5th terms."

HYBRID—Viewed upside down, it might be a salad bowl. This British hat is a cross between a polo cap and shako.

GLITTER AMONG 'JITTERBUGS'—The vote of 3,000,000 "jitterbug" members of National Swing Club of America is represented in trophy given the Andrews sisters, Maxene (left), Patti and LaVerne (right), by Ned Harris. The N.S.C.A. voted sisters most popular vocal trio.

CUT-UPS—Unaware of a cameraman, Film Actress Shirley Ross and hubby, Kenneth Nolan, dance at N. Y.'s Waldorf.

THEY'RE EGGS, MISTER—Dark, cluttered city streets have become so much a part of Billy Halop's make-up that this young member of the films "Dead End" gang had some trouble recognizing these products of a hen's conscientious labor.

IT TOOK GRIT—Crippled since birth, 18-year-old James Boyle of Brookville, Pa., got his high school diploma recently, though he'd never attended school. He took home lessons from his mother, a former teacher, and was examined by school officials. "This tiny car, which he built from spare parts, gets him around his father's farm. He's interested in advertising."

MISSED A MILE—Well, maybe Catcher Harry Danning of the N. Y. Giants didn't miss the ball by that big a margin, but there it is, dropping past Danning and Clyde Passeau (left), Cubs pitcher. Passeau hit a foul tip, trying to bunt, and the ball went by faster than a Joe Louis punch. This was in the seventh (lucky for Cubs) inning. The Cubs won, 7 to 1.

BOVINE BEAUTY—Dairymen may have eyes only for flower-decked "Prince's Fran Vogel," a demure Brown Swiss chosen the "world's most beautiful cow" at a Chicago meeting of the Agricultural club. But some observers would find Janet Moore a little more to their taste in the matter of beauty. "Prince's Fran Vogel," from the Savage Marydale Farms of Lafox, Ill., wore her floral horseshoe, emblematic of the title, with all the aplomb of a Kentucky Derby winner.

CALLING ON 'DAVY JONES'—To the bottom of the ocean off Portsmouth, N. H., 20-2 Diver Harry Ross of New London, Conn. He's being lowered from the rescue ship Falcon to the sunken submarine Squalus, in which 26 bodies are entombed. Naval officers now seek to lift the sub which sank May 24, resulting in the dramatic escape of 33 persons by means of a diving bell.

—YEARS DEAL KINDLY WITH THE NATION'S LEADING JUSTICE JUSTICE, CHIEF HUGHES—

AGE MAY RULE—Back in 1866, the present chief justice of the U. S. supreme court, Charles Evans Hughes, was an arm-twisting, silk-hatted orator campaigning for the governorship of New York. He won, and served state for almost two full terms, intending to become an associate justice of court Oct. 10, 1910. Mr. Hughes is 73; he was born April 11, 1862.

OATH—This is Charles Evans Hughes in February, 1890, when he became chief justice. He'd resigned as associate justice in June, 1916, to campaign for the presidency.

SEA FOOD—With relish, Chief Justice Hughes ate the oysters at a Brown university alumni dinner in March, 1937. He has A.B., A.M., and LL.D. degrees from Brown.

A LEGAL HUDDLE—When crowds broke up after F.D.R.'s 1933 inauguration, several of the nation's leading jurists were grouped in one spot. Easily recognized is Chief Justice Hughes directly behind him, to the left, is Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter, since retired. At extreme left is Associate Justice James McKeen, 71-year-old court veteran.

QUIET—Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, wife of the chief justice, is a gentle, retiring person anxious to let the news spotlight focus itself upon her elderly husband.

RARE—Good humor radiated from the usually-austere Chief Justice Hughes on above occasion. Recently an ailment diagnosed as duodenal ulcers kept him from bench.

Scouts Doing Fine In Camp

Everything at the Buffalo Trail Boy Scout camp is ship-shape and the boys are having a fine time, C. S. Blomshield, camp chairman, said Wednesday on his return from Camp Fawcett at Barksdale.

The swimming hole is in good condition, said Blomshield, the food a good substantial fare in plentiful quantities, the climate ideal. Strong breezes have been whipping up the Nueces canyon to keep the campers cool. There were no mosquitos, said the chairman.

Big Spring and Coahoma scouts arrived in camp around 1:30 p. m. Monday after making the earliest start on record here. Thus, they avoided the mid-afternoon heat, having entered the canyon shortly after 12 noon.

Blomshield said that all boys were in fine spirits and apparently having a big time. He said that George Boswell, Coahoma, would return the one week campers on Monday in the Coahoma school bus.

Dr. W. B. Hardy, a district scout official, accompanied Blomshield to the camp. There are 135 boys on hand this week, they reported.

Rep. Bankhead Also May Be A Candidate

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Presidential talk buzzing in political circles embraced today the unusual possibility that the names of the presiding officers of both senate and house would be presented to the 1940 democratic convention.

Friends of William B. Bankhead of Alabama, 65-year-old speaker of the house, said there had been some informal discussion of his candidacy, although without any encouragement from him. If President Roosevelt does not run. If the president does seek a third term, Bankhead may be proposed as his running mate.

Boosters of Vice President John N. Garner, 70-year-old presiding officer of the senate, already have announced Garner's name would be placed in nomination regardless of Mr. Roosevelt's decision.

Senator Lister Hill of Alabama, when asked about the Bankhead talk, said:

"The speaker must talk for himself, but friends in Alabama and more particularly members of the Alabama delegation would seize any opportunity to present his name to the next convention."

A somewhat similar situation was developing around the candidacy of Paul V. McNutt, high commissioner to the Philippines and former Indiana governor.

Senator Minton (D-Ind) said the "entire McNutt campaign is predicated on the assumption the president will not run." McNutt is due in San Francisco June 23. He is returning presumably to resign his Philippine post and lead his own drive for the presidential nomination.

Mr. Roosevelt has given no indication whether he will run again. He said yesterday he would make up his mind June 23 whether to make a trip to the west coast July 2 or after congress adjourns. Politicians say such a journey, with the opportunity for sounding out sentiment, might help the president reach a decision.

WTCC BUSY ON EVIDENCE TO SUPPORT PLEA FOR EQUALITY IN NATION'S FREIGHT RATES

ABILENE, June 14—Humming with activity as this week opened was the headquarters office of the West Texas chamber of commerce, from which also stem the activities of the newly-formed Freight Rate Equality Federation.

The two organizations will represent freight rate shippers and consumers throughout Texas in a railroad commission hearing called for next Monday, the 19th, in Austin to investigate the reasonableness of Texas differential and class rates and to hear the WTCC's plea for equality in the level of rates as between this state and other regions of the United States.

The West Texas chamber, joined by the Freight Rate Equality Federation, is entirely financing the fight for Texas, at a cost of several thousand dollars. From Abilene today went a call to the 100 affiliated organizations in the federation for witnesses to present the Texas case. They will include representatives of many lines of business, and they are to meet Sunday afternoon, the 18th, in the Driskill hotel in Austin, to organize the testimony.

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Enlargement of the turning basin at Port Isabel, Texas, has been recommended by army engineers.

They suggested that congress appropriate $127,500 for the work, which would provide a basin 1,300 feet long and 1,000 feet wide, with a flared entrance.

Experts

The case before the commission will be directed by two top-flight traffic and date experts who have been employed by the WTCC and the Freight Rate Equality Federation. They are Frank A. Leffingwell of Dallas, counsel for the Texas Industrial Traffic League; Ed P. Byars, manager of the Fort Worth Traffic Bureau. Leffingwell is in South Texas this mid-week lining up witnesses, and Byars is hard at work on voluminous briefs to present exact information relative to freight rate structures. "This will be the most comprehensive analysis ever made of our territory's rate level compared with other sections of the United States"—so said D. A. Handeen, general manager of the WTCC and executive secretary of the equality federation. He added: "While this fight will immediately cost us several thousand dollars, finally winning it will save hundreds of millions for Texas in reduced transportation charges."

The letter summoning federation affiliates to do battle for freight rate equality, signed by J. M. Willson, Florida, president, and Jess L. Showers of Vernon, finance chairman, said: "Many of us feel that the June 19th hearing, in removing the shackles from the people of Texas, is the biggest day for Texas since San Jacinto."

Campaign a Year Old

The first blow for freight rate parity for Texas was struck by the West Texas chamber of commerce at its Wichita Falls convention a year ago. The WTCC has been notably in action all year, with one successful hearing before the interstate commerce commission. Early this year, to make the movement statewide in scope, it organized the Freight Rate Equality Federation. The organization was completed at the Abilene WTCC convention last month, and the federation has 100 active affiliated organizations throughout the state which pay in dues of $10 per year each. Its officers work without pay, serving the single objective of attacking freight rate discriminations against Texas with the view of obtaining equality as between Texas and other portions of the United States.

The campaign has had the sympathetic intercession of two states, Arkansas and Texas. The legislature of Texas has approved a $30,000 appropriation for financing filing of cases before the ICC to reduce Texas levels to those of the east and north. The two other regional chambers of commerce,
