Jap Cabinet Purge Nearing

TOKYO, Sept. 19 (AP)—General MacArthur's headquarters announced today it would issue soon a new and lengthy list of suspected Japanese war criminals, while reliable Japanese sources predicted an imminent purge of reactionary elements in the cabinet of Premier Higashi-Kuni.

Demonstrating its resolve to keep a firm grip on the conquered Japanese, headquarters suspended for one day a second Tokyo newspaper—the English language Nippon Times.

The paper was ordered 30 minutes before press time to withhold publication of its Thursday morning edition, because its editors had failed to submit for American censorship a printer's proof of an editorial.

Sources who spoke of impending cabinet resignations said Vice Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye probably would lead the list. He is a minister without portfolio. Two other cabinet members without portfolio who may step down at the same time, the sources said, are Lt. Gen. Toshihiro Obata, and Taketora Ogata. The latter, who also is chief cabinet secretary, was named by MacArthur on a list of members of the "Black Dragon" society.

The Japanese predicting the cabinet resignations said a "wide gap" existed between Premier Prince Higashi-Kuni and the three they expected to leave the government.

They said Konoye and the others had opposed the premier's attempts to smooth relations between the Japanese and American governments.

The cabinet has been criticized by the Japanese press for delay in solving pressing problems such as food and housing shortages and increasing unemployment.

Higashi-Kuni himself said of Mamoru Shigemitsu, recently resigned, that "he was foreign minister during the war, and now we are launched in building a new Japan."

Konoye, Obata and Ogata, the sources recalled, also had been associated with the war-minded segments of the Japanese government since 1937, Konoye as two-time premier.

And out in the Pacific the largest carrier task force ever assembled was being formed in special "Carrier Division 24" to carry back home the victorious army of General MacArthur.

The gladness task of demobilization will be carried out in part by at least 26 carriers. At Pearl Harbor, the navy announced the Saratoga, 25 escort carriers and a seaplane tender, capable of taking 20,000 or more service men home monthly, will operate for that purpose under Rear Adm. Henry Kendall. If that means a demobilization program so vast that mainland railroads can't handle the task, the task force will even pack some of the men through the Panama Canal all the way to east coast ports.

And, said Admiral Kendall, he'll get more ships if they are needed. Even so, the admiral estimated a year would be required to finish the work.

The first concern of the navy was to take out Allied prisoners of war. One ship, the transport Colbert, removing liberated Goups from Port Dairen, Manchuria, struck a floating mine 100 miles west of Okinawa. A check after the explosion disclosed one man missing and two injured. The transport is being towed to Okinawa.

New Typhus Cases Result In Crack Down On Stray Pets

Fifteen new cases of typhus fever in the past two days have brought city and health officials to the point of cracking down on dogs running loose without licenses and vaccinations.

Most of the new typhus cases were in high school, a doctor's report shows.

In connection with the recent poliomyelitis epidemic, Mrs. Ann Fisher, city-county health nurse, under the direction of Sam Landrum, state sanitarian, is taking blood specimens of patients who had polio and contacts of those patients. The specimens are being taken for the state health department for research purposes in order to further the knowledge of polio.

Dog owners are to take their pets and have them vaccinated and obtain a certificate. The certificate is to be brought to the city hall and the owner is to pay a dog license fee. Dogs caught without a license after Thursday are to be put in the pound and kept three days before being disposed of. Health officials have determined that typhus is being carried by pets with fleas.

Cooperation is still being asked of town people in covering garbage containers. B. J. McDaniel, city manager, says 75 per cent of the containers are not regulation type.

Work On Italian Treaty May Put Balkan Issue Off

Big Five Weighs Claims Of Frontier In Peace Terms For Italy

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The council of Allied foreign ministers weighed the Italian-Yugoslav frontier claims today and it appeared that the current meeting would get no further than complicated has that become.

Such topics as the Balkans, the Dardanelles and the western German border probably will be relegated to the next meeting in late November or early December of the foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France and China.

Russia's expressed interest in the Italian African colonies of Tripolitania and Eritrea drew comments from two London morning newspapers. The conservative Daily Telegraph asked:

"Does the Soviet government seriously stake a claim to trusteeship for Italy's African possessions? It would be as reasonable to suggest that Great Britain should become trustee for Outer Mongolia."

The liberal News Chronicle expressed some surprise at Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov's press conference disclosure and suggested:

"If Russia asks for equality of status everywhere, she must concede the same equality to her allies in the areas which at present she mainly controls. It will be a long time before all outstanding problems are settled."

Persons close to the conferees said they were expected to go home next Thursday or Friday, turning undecided questions about the Italian peace treaty over to deputies for detailed recommendations.

Tests Indicate Fleas On Rodents Carrying Typhus

Tests have indicated the strong possibility that fleas, migrating from eradicated rodents, have settled on household pets to give typhus a bothersome hold in this immediate area.

Lawrence Wells, sanitarian for the health unit, said Wednesday that tests by Sam Landrum, state health department sanitarian, had pointed to dogs and cats as possible supporters of fleas which carry typhus.

To combat this possibility, the health unit has packaged a considerable amount of DDT for the convenience of residents who have dogs or cats.

These envelopes, containing about two teaspoons of DDT powder, and directions for use, are available free upon request at the health unit office or the city hall.

After a rather effective rodent control program, started on a city-wide and now going as a county proposition, Landrum combined fleas from trapped rats, dogs, cats, etc. These were then placed on white mice and given laboratory tests.

Tenacity of typhus, particularly in the urban section, has further supported the indication that fleas may have migrated to pets.

TO ADD TO PRIZE

Wooten Produce is adding $50 to 4-H club calf prizes that will be listed next spring. These will be divided $25 to the top ranking animal in milkfed and drylot divisions which fed the firm's feed. Harvey Wooten, manager, pointed out that Universal Mills was putting up another $1,250 which locals might win at Fort Worth.

Last Laugh On Haw Haw, Sentenced To Hang For Treason

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—William Joyce, Lord Haw Haw of the German radio, was convicted of treason in Old Bailey today and sentenced to hang.

A jury of 10 men and two women required less than 25 minutes to arrive at a verdict after Justice Tucker had ruled that Haw Haw had left this country in 1939 "wrapped up in the Union Jack" in order to carry on German propaganda.

The justice informed the jurors that Joyce was not a British subject but nevertheless he owed allegiance to the British crown when he left the country because of the protection afforded him by a British passport.

Joyce stood quietly while the trial was thus ending with dramatic suddenness in his sentence to death.

When he walked away toward his cell he gave what appeared to be the Nazi salute to friends in the courtroom.

The convicted man's brother, Edwin Joyce, a British government worker, made the sign of the cross when the sentence of death was passed, and after the prisoner left the courtroom he knelt in silent prayer.

Controls Set To Curb Inflation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The government set up some peace-time barriers against inflation today, after knocking down some wartime barriers to a free economy.

OPA prepared to limit steadily the costs entering into new home building—which opens up Oct. 15—although it cannot put a ceiling on the final price of the house.

These developments marked the further march of reconversion, in business and government:

1. OPA told retailers—finally and definitely—that wartime increases in manufacturing costs are not to be passed on to the public in the form of higher prices for long-awaited products.

2. To speed the sale of vast war surpluses, President Truman signed a bill creating a single administrator of the Surplus Property Board.

3. Another war agency—the Office of Economic Stabilization—was killed off.

4. The Brookings Institution held that "a powerful movement for higher wage rates" is the greatest potential inflation force.

5. Builders estimated that 500,000 new homes would be started next year, with building climbing to 1,000,000 houses annually by 1948.

Stricter price controls on lumber, hardware, plumbing and other building materials and contractors' charges for roof-laying and other building services would be tightened up.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards pledged its assistance in the reconversion plan for voluntary cooperation in holding down home prices.

LeMay Alone To Continue Flight As Two B-29's Land For Gasoline

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Two of the three B-29 Superfortresses flying nonstop from Japan to Washington reported to the war department at 1:30 p. m. CWT, today that they expected to land at Detroit because of gas shortage.

The plane commanded by Major General Curtis E. LeMay reported, however, it is expected to reach Washington.

A report from the planes said that they had been bucking headwinds for five hours. The Superfortresses had passed over Edmonton, capital of Alberta province, Canada, at 10:40 a. m. At this point the planes, each commanded by a high ranking air force general, were 2,935 miles from Washington, and averaging better than 300 miles per hour. They were on schedule for the 6,500-mile flight that began at Sapporo, Hokkaido Islands, Japan, at 3:01 p. m. CWT, yesterday and is expected to land them at Washington at 5 p. m. today.

Oil Industry Strikes Adding To Idle Labor

Major Refineries In Texas Closing

By The Associated Press
New work stoppages closed down two more oil refineries in the Chicago area today as labor continued its step by step strike campaign to enforce its demands for a 30 per cent wage increase in the industry.

In simultaneous strikes called by the CIO Oil Workers International Union, more than 1,800 workers of the Sinclair Refining Company, one of the country's largest, and 100 at the Shell Oil Company, both at East Chicago, Ind., left their jobs at 11 a. m. (EWT).

A crippling strike against the nation's oil industry appeared gaining headway today, adding new thousands of workers to the more than 200,000 already away from their jobs over labor disputes across the country.

New groups of workers joined the strike lines today as the CIO oil workers international union pressed its demand for a 30 per cent wage increase. O. A. Knight, union president, predicted the walkouts would extend to the entire industry. Continuation of the strike threatened to cut steel production in the big mills in the Chicago and Gary, Ind., area.

No new developments were reported in the labor situation in the Detroit area, where some 80,000 workers remained idle by strikes and layoffs. The CIO United Automobile Workers declared the union plans to go ahead with its strike vote in some automobile plants if wage increases of 30 per cent were not given.

The dispute in the oil industry, however, was fast spreading and thousands of workers were ready to leave their jobs in refineries, with additional thousands to follow. The strikes hit the Texas area.

Before the week's end, a union official predicted, all major refineries in areas around Houston, Corpus Christi and Beaumont, Tex., would be closed.

In the Chicago area, the situation became more serious as the Sinclair Refining Co. plant in East Chicago, Ind., one of the country's largest, was slated to close. This was regarded as a possible signal for the closing of all Sinclair's bulk stations and pipelines across the country. More than 1,000 workers in plants in East Chicago, have gone on strike since Monday.

Strikes by refinery workers in the Port Arthur area today stopped production at the Pure Oil company's Nederland, Tex., plant and shut off operations gradually at the Texas Company's plant at Port Arthur where 5,000 are employed.

Ray Andrus, member of the District Oil Workers Strategy Committee (CIO) said the Gulf Oil company refinery at Port Arthur also would begin closing almost immediately.

Workers in three synthetic rubber plants at Port Neches, Tex., will hold a strike vote today.

In the Houston area, employees of seven large oil plants were voting on whether to call a general strike. Members of another large local in the same area set a similar vote for Friday.

Eight hundred workers were involved at the Pure Oil plant, 10 miles north of Port Arthur where an agreement between union and management for a peaceful shut-down was arranged when negotiations reached a stalemate.

Workers at Atlantic Refining company near Port Arthur, where 600 are employed, set tomorrow for a strike vote. A strike vote would be held later this week at the Magnolia company refinery at Beaumont. In the Houston area members of local 227, OWIU, numbering approximately 3,000, began a strike vote yesterday.

Members of local 367, which holds bargaining right for various Shell and Texas Company plants in the Houston area, decided last night to conduct strike votes Friday.

A vote at the Pan American Pipeline company, Texas City, was 94 per cent in favor of striking. At Angleside, near Corpus Christi, negotiations were underway between local 316, OWIU, and management of the Humble refinery there.

Field Crop Show Date Set In Colorado City

COLORADO CITY, Sept. 19 — Date for the second annual field crop show for Mitchell county farmers has been set for Saturday, Oct. 6. It has been announced by the Colorado City chamber of commerce which will sponsor the competition. Ted Roensch, county agent, will again direct the show and has invited W. I. Marschall, district agent of the extension service, San Angelo, to act as judge.

Deadline for entries in the cotton and grain classes will be 1 p. m. show day and $50 in premiums will be paid winners. All farm agencies of the county will cooperate in publicizing the event which will again be held on a downtown street.

STRIKE CLOSES REFINERY—Pickets stand about the gate of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. refinery at Trenton, Mich., after 500 employees struck. This strike together with others in the oil industry cut off an estimated 75 per cent of the city's gasoline and motor oil supply. Sign refers to union request for 52 hours pay 'or a 20-hour week. Truman Promises No Army Padding

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—President Truman declared today that there will be "no padding in our armed forces" and that "no one is going to be held in the service a day longer than is necessary."

The president said in a statement that no one can accurately forecast at this time the future military needs and noted that General Douglas MacArthur had revised his own estimates of the number of troops necessary for the occupation of Japan and Korea.

"The army's plans call for the return to their homes of more than 2,000,000 soldiers between V-J day and Christmas, 1945," the president's statement said. "Between now and Christmas the discharge rate will steadily rise from the present daily figure of 15,200 to not less than 22,000 per day and by January, 1946, to more than 25,000 per day."

The president said he wanted to make one thing clear—that the speed of demobilization is not governed "by our future needs for occupation and other forces."

The services, he added, are carrying on demobilization as rapidly as they can and "we shall not really face the problem of the size or makeup of the occupation forces until next spring." By that time, he said, "we ought to know how many men we shall need for occupation and to what extent that need can be met through volunteers."

Saying soldiers are being returned to civilian life at a rate in excess of "650 per hour, 24 hours per day," he added that "such a performance justifies full confidence."

"The army and navy mean to do the task set for them with the minimum number of men," the president continued. "There will be no padding in our armed forces. America is going to keep the full strength she needs for her national commitments. But the rest of the men are coming back home, and coming as fast as the services can get them out."

Forrestal Outlines Postwar Navy Plans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Postwar control of the seas with a navy capable of "delivering atomic bomb attacks" was urged today by Navy Secretary James V. Forrestal before the house naval committee.

Testifying on legislation to determine the size of the peacetime navy, Forrestal said the key to victory and to the freedom of this country "will be in the control of the seas and of the skies above them."

Specifically, he recommended: An active fleet, ready for battle, consisting of approximately 300 modern major combatant vessels including 11 battleships, 15 aircraft carriers, 21 escort carriers, 20 heavy and large cruisers, 29 light cruisers, 176 destroyers, 40 destroyer escorts and 90 submarines in addition to supporting craft.

"A ready reserve" to include ships in commission but manned by nucleus crews and available for active service on 30 days notice. The laid-up reserve would be ships wholly out of commission and tied up with only caretaker crews aboard.

While the active fleet would be numerically smaller than the pre-war fleet of December, 1941, Forrestal said it would be "faster and incomparably stronger in fire power and aviation."

Forrestal said no one knows what effect the atomic bomb will have on modeling navies, but emphasized that the United States navy intends to adapt the atomic bomb to carrier-based planes.

Two additional cases for operating a car without a drivers license were filed in justice court Tuesday by John Wood, state highway patrolman, to bring to eight the number he has lodged since Sept. 1.

Besides these, he filed two more cases against men for refusing to show their licenses, and one for operation of a car without tags. Wood had filed five other traffic cases involving speeding, permitting a minor to drive, permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a vehicle, and others.

Revamped Labor Department To Jump Into Fray

By HAROLD W. WARD
WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Labor Secretary Lewis B. Schwellenbach, armed with new authority, carried out today his promise to "get right square in the middle" of Detroit's troubled labor situation.

He delegated his newly-appointed chief of the U.S. Conciliation Service, Edgar L. Warren, to study the Detroit strikes to determine whether government intervention is required. Warren, who flew to Washington from Chicago last night, also considered calling principals in the Michigan city's strikes and threatened work stoppages to a labor-management conference.

Schwellenbach became the government's labor "boss" under the department's reorganization. He held a presidential grant of broad new authority—although few new powers—to deal with industrial disputes.

President Truman shifted the War Labor Board, the U.S. Employment Service and the War Manpower Commission to the labor department. By that action he conferred all the authority inherent in those agencies on Secretary Schwellenbach.

Yesterday's White House action was attributed to the labor storms which appeared to be gathering last weekend over Detroit's automobile industry and elsewhere.

Along with his news conference announcement of the labor department revamping, Mr. Truman also disclosed that he is holding up the Office of Economic Stabilization and turning over Director William H. Davis' duties to Reconversion Director John W. Snyder.

Although he collects little new power under the reorganization, Schwellenbach gains in prestige as the government's spokesman in future labor-management contention.

Motives Of Free Men Discussed At Post Graduation

The common motives that have impelled free men of three republics to train here for possible combat as bombardiers were emphasized today in the principal address at the graduation of class 415 at the Big Spring bombardier school.

First Lt. Stanley S. Swenson, research psychologist and returned combat bombardier, told graduating bombardiers of France, America and Brazil that by their completion of such training they have shown again the spirit of their forefathers' fight for freedom.

Addressing Big Spring's second peace-time class of graduates, Swenson briefly reviewed the histories and freedom-day leaders of the three republics, and remarked that when the time comes to put away the uniform, the graduates should consider as their first duty the upholding of the dignity and personal freedom of the common man.

He was introduced by Lt. Col. Albert W. Satterwhite, acting post commander, who also presented the graduates with their wings and their commissions and appointments as second lieutenants and flight officers in the Army Air Forces.

Satterwhite, a returned combat pilot who had completed the 24-week bombardier course with this class, also received bombardier wings.

Graduates honored as outstanding were 2nd Lt. Donald A. Thompson, best student; F/O Wilbert T. Chung, best bombardier; 2nd Lt. Joseph L. Harrill, best soldier, and F/O John T. Devitt, Jr., best athlete.

Oath of office was administered by Capt. Frank N. Chambliss, acting school secretary, and depositions were led by Capt. Francis B. Baldwin, Protestant chaplain. Master of ceremonies was Capt. Vincent W. McKouen, commandant of cadets.

Texas Looks Good With Veterans, But Returnees Generally Arriving

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Sept. 19 (AP)—The University of Texas started the season with the most veteran material, thus was the No. 1 choice to win the Southwest conference football championship.

Texas still has the most experience and still is ranked at the top but the way service discharges are drifting into other camps some teams is likely to catch up before the conference race opens the latter part of September.

Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Arkansas have received lettermen in the past week through discharges from the armed service, adding to already experienced squads and serving a warning that the Longhorns, although they still have high hopes of their first undefeated season in years, are going to find the gridiron trail full of rough Saturday afternoons.

Texas has six lettermen of its own and eleven from other schools through the naval training program. Also, the Longhorn coaches did a thorough job of bringing in ace schoolboy players. In fact, at least three of the latter have broken into the starting lineup. Byron Gillory is causing the most raves down Austin way. The all-star from Marshall is likened to Jack Crain and Pete Layden, Texas greats of 1941. He runs like Crain and has developed into a passer like Layden.

Texas appears to have its strongest defense in years featuring two of the biggest tackles in the nation—veterans Jimmie Plyler and Harlan Wetz—and all-America end Hubert Bechtel.

The consensus of coaches and critics puts three teams in the top contender class. These are Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Arkansas. And Texas A. and M., also bulging with veterans, is considered very much of a dark horse. In fact, some quarters push the Aggies into the class with SMU, TCU and Arkansas.

The conference returns to pre-war strength with Baylor University resuming football after skipping two seasons. And the Bears have come up with one of the classiest squads of freshmen the conference ever saw. More than 90 started this season.

Less Than $700 Will Fill Bible Fund Goal.

More contributions boosted the high school Bible class fund to $1,317.61 Wednesday, leaving less than $700 to go to the minimum goal of $2,000.

Included were gifts from W. L. Mead, who paid $25 on a $100 pledge, Burnice Ramsey Hope $10 and Mrs. W. L. Baird $2.

With donations coming in steadily, there was ground for hope that the goal will be attained in a reasonable length of time. Checks or cash contributions may be left at The Herald for deposit and acknowledgment.

Steers May Be Minus Two Ill Players Friday

Illness put a damper on prospects for the Big Spring Steers Friday in their game here against the Cisco Lobos, but Coach John Dibrell was hopeful Wednesday that not more than two if his regulars would be out by game time at 8:30 p. m.

With full strength, the Steers may rule as favorites—but not heavy favorites. In the first place, the Lobos average 157 1-2 pounds for the first team, or about seven pounds over the Steer starters. The line averages 163, which is considerably heavier than the Steer forwards who will run around 150. In the secondary, Cisco runs 147 1-2 per man against about 143 for Big Spring.

Another factor is the presence of some veteran material in the Cisco line-up, including Elbert Tipton, whose running is said to be much improved, and whose passing is even more accurate than last year when he worried the Steers no end.

With Charles Pence, a 175-pounder, and Stanley Williams, 165, on ends to grab the heaves, the Lobo aerial combination is said to be particularly potent. Against Cleburne it helped pile up four touchdowns, although Cisco lost the game by one touchdown.

Bobo Hardy, stocky Steer half-back, probably will be out Friday. He is confined to a hospital with a case of typhus. Several other Steers are on the ailing list with colds and sore throats.

Gerald Harris, tackle, missed practice Monday. Hugh Cochran, veteran back, was absent with sinus trouble. George Worrell was missing due to a cold and fever, and Paul Shaffer and Harold Berry were on the backfield ailing list.

In the line Ike Robb, Pete Fugle, Tommy Clinkscales, Roy Lee Reaves have been wrestling with sore throats.

In the Tuesday workout, the Steers put in lots of practice on full speed maneuvers, and brushed up considerably on their punting and passing. Hugh Cochran was doing most of the booting.

Jackie Barron, starting quarterback, is in fine fettle, but Horace

Rankin, the next bet on the heaving chores, will probably watch from the sidelines due to a sprained ankle suffered in the Tahoka game.

The T will be employed freely by the Steers, and chances are that they will open up some on their passing game Friday. Since all signs point to a free scoring affair, the air may be filled with footballs.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the Big Spring Hardware, Shaw's Jewelry, chamber of commerce and school tax offices.

Mitchell County POW's Freed

COLORADO CITY, Sept. 19 — All Mitchell county prisoners of war held by the Japanese government have been accounted for since the message received here late Tuesday afternoon from Guam telling Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Miller of the safety of their son, William Floyd Miller, yeoman third class, United States Navy. Yeoman Miller cabled that he is "feeling fine" and that he hopes to see them soon. The Millers lost an older son, Lt. Bobby Miller, during the battle for Germany.

Two of this county's heroes died with the sinking of a Jap ship carrying prisoners of war last Oct. 24. They were Pvt. Velton Hampton, son of Mrs. Emma Hunter, and Pvt. Lewis E. Duke, son of Mrs. Mary M. Duke.

Liberated were the Raglin brothers from Loraine, Pfc. Stanley Raglin and Pfc. Lloyd Raglin, sons of Mrs. Ola Bell Raglin. A cablegram from Stanley received by his mother this week began, "Lloyd and I both well." They were interned together at the fall of the Philippines.

Also released is Kinard White, former Col-Tex refinery employee and brother of N. H. White, Jr., Colorado City. White was liberated Aug. 24 from the Mukden, Manchukuo, POW camp and has written his father, Frank White of Kerrville, that he is "feeling fine."

Mrs. Edna E. Jordan, mother of T/Sgt. Murry G. Jordan, and Mrs. Sydney Hill, mother of Pfc. William D. Hill, have learned of the safety of their sons. Hill, along with the Raglin brothers and the Miller's son, was held at Osaka on the Japanese mainland, after having been transferred there from Java.

Old Settlers Plan Reunion On Friday

Old Settlers of Howard and surrounding counties will hold their postponed annual reunion Friday at the City Park.

Under rules of the reunion association, those who have resided in Howard county 20 or more years, or who resided in Howard or any of the judicially attached counties (Martin, Borden, Dawson, Glasscock and Sterling) in the early days, are eligible to participate.

Family groups are to bring basket lunches, which will be spread in old fashioned picnic style. There will be impromptu talks about old times, some fiddling contests, old fashioned dances, etc. Families of old timers are invited to participate.

Flight Of The Angel Makes A High Grade

ANGEL'S FLIGHT—The roadbed, but not the fare, is steep.

By RALPH M. DIGHTON
AP Newsfeatures
LOS ANGELES—Angel's Flight Railway company, unique among public-conveyance corporations, has added another to its long list of singularities: It does not plan any postwar improvements.

R. M. Moore, its elderly president, is a shrewd businessman, and Angel's Flight is a reflection of the way he likes to do business. The railway is making money, so why change it? The railway runs up and down a steep grade (33 per cent) between Hill and Olive streets in downtown Los Angeles. Its two rail cars are secured to opposite ends of a seven-eighths inch wire cable. Carrying an average of 6,000 persons daily, they travel the 340-foot distance in 50 seconds, one going up as the other comes down.

A mechanical marvel when it was built in 1902, Angel's Flight now is an anachronism. City fathers have offered to build and deed to Moore's company a big elevator in exchange for the right to tear down old Angel's Flight. But Moore won't hear of it.

Even in this age of 90 m.p.h. autos and 400 m.p.h. planes Angel's Flight is fun.

A bell rings and the car starts its grind up the hill. Before you can count to ten thousand you're halfway to the top.

When you reach the top you step off and pay your fare—five cents for the trip.

FACTS about the FUR TAX

- The Luxury Tax Law was passed as a temporary wartime emergency measure, to be continued at least SIX MONTHS AFTER the President has officially proclaimed the cessation of hostilities.
- To date, no such official proclamation has been made. No one knows when it will come.
- Even if the proclamation of the cessation of hostilities should come TODAY the tax would still be on for at least SIX MORE MONTHS—that is, until some time NEXT SPRING.
- Remember, this tax is a law, like any other law. Only an Act of Congress can repeal it before the termination date now provided.

If you need a fur coat now, by all means, BUY IT NOW. It may be a long time before the war tax on furs "comes off".

In the meantime, Montgomery Ward offers you the finest fur values that money can buy. Because we are the nation's largest retailer of popular priced furs, it is possible for us to bring you an unusually large selection of prime quality furs, superior in workmanship and design, at LESS than you'd planned to spend.

Had Enough Excitement--

Saco Member Wants To Think Over Adventures

By BETTY BOB DILTZ

Traveling 80,000 miles in more than two years didn't add to R. R. McKinny's want for excitement-- only lessened it. The oldest man of the Saco organization in China now wants to settle down and spend the rest of his time in Big Spring thinking over his adventures.

Saco--of which he was a member--was only recently revealed to the public as the Chinese and American underground network which covered occupied China. McKinny was sworn to secrecy before he returned to the states in Sept., 1944, until the ban was lifted Sept. 13.

McKinny, 48, is a veteran of both World Wars and received his second discharge April 11, 1945, while he was awaiting assignment at Little Creek, Va., after completing minecraft training. In a recent news story, guerrilla armies, with which Saco worked, were credited with killing more than 25,000 Japanese in the past year. The organization was more than a secret police force for it provided guerrilla armies, junk masters and crewmen who became saboteurs, anti-Japanese fifth columnists and agents of every description.

McKinny, chief quartermaster in naval intelligence, was a member of a naval group in China facetiously known as the "Rice Paddy Navy." His duties included instructing Chinese in demolition, sabotage and the use of modern fire arms. It was also his duty, while disguised as a missionary, civilian and Chinese peasant, to obtain all information possible concerning the Japanese. He and the men who worked with him were smuggled across the lines by Chinese using various types of travel such as ricksha, airplane, ox carts and walking.

The closest contact McKinny had with the Japanese was once in a hotel when for three nights he had a room across the hall from several of them. He was disguised as a missionary. A close call once was when the Japs blew up a bridge only 20 minutes after he crossed with his small group. Another time the Japs bombed the wrong ox cart when trying to hit his group.

McKinny was proudest of his group when they brought down a Japanese reconnaissance plane with only their rifles. He kept as a souvenir several rounds of ammunition taken from the plane.

During McKinny's career as QM 1/C in World War I, he made 12 trips across the Atlantic. The navy man has been in every state, Mexico, Canada, South America, West Indies, Azores Islands, Tortuga Island, Australia, France, England, Ireland and other European countries, as well as stops in many parts of Asia.

McKinny has lived in Big Spring since March, 1929. He was called to active service Nov., 1942, and after receiving all types of training went to Washington, D. C. He crossed the Equator Feb. 20, 1943 and also the 180th meridian (International Date Line). He is a member of the Trustee Shell-back and Golden Dragon Society. Going over, he went to bed on a Wednesday night and woke up Friday morning. He arrived at his headquarters in Chungking, China, April 13, 1943.

In speaking of the Chinese, he said they are the easiest people to get along with. Some parts of China have never been visited by foreigners. He found most people of China to be backward. Their customs are vastly different from ours; for instance, he gained the impression, the more noise made while eating the more polite a person is.

Everyone eats out of the same bowl with chopsticks. In case of a death, the Chinese observe with a feast, firecrackers, etc. The Chinese are buried in coffins placed on top of the earth and then covered.

An idea McKinny jokingly thinks should be introduced in the states is the wife waiting on the husband--hand and foot. The girls are almost considered slaves in marriage. McKinny is now manager of the shoe department at Montgomery Ward and lives at 1307 Settles with his wife and family. His son, R. R. McKinny, Jr., has been in Germany and is expected home soon. A son-in-law, E. O. Wilkinson, is in England. Two daughters, Joan and Mrs. Wilkinson, reside here.

Farm Loaners Plan Term Credit Service

Annual meeting of the Big Spring National Farm Loan association will be held at the association office in Big Spring on Oct. 6 at 2 p. m. Ira J. Driver, secretary-treasurer, announced Wednesday.

"There is considerable interest among stockholders in the meeting because, as landowners, they are interested in maintaining a strong, home-owned association for long-term credit service," he said. Non-members who may be interested in the association are invited to be at the meeting. The association recently paid a five per cent dividend on its stock. It has a total of $1,391,540 in outstanding loans in this territory and has a capital stock of $54,500 owned by members. Reserves and surplus amount to $38,063.25.

Directors of the association are Walter Robinson, M. M. Edwards, A. J. Stallings, C. H. DeVaney and D. F. Bigony.

RATIONER-RESIGNS SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 19 (AP)—J. K. Black, OPA district rationing executive, has resigned to enter private business in Corpus Christi, C. T. Giesen, district director of OPA, announced today. Black will be succeeded by Eugene Kurtz of San Antonio.

The Nation Today— Labor Boss Has More Warpowers In Peacetime Than In Wartime

By JAMES MARLOW DETROIT, Sept. 19 (AP)—Labor Secretary Schwellenbach now in peacetime has more wartime power for settling labor disputes than he had in wartime.

In wartime the labor secretary had no power to settle a dispute. Now President Truman has given him control of the War Labor Board (WLB) which is the big wartime stick for ending disputes. Schwellenbach isn't likely to try to use all his new power. This is why:

- 1. If a party to a dispute refused to abide by a WLB ruling, the WLB can recommend presidential action. The president can seize a private plant. WLB has that power until six months after the war is officially declared ended. It hasn't been so declared. 2. It is likely to be months before any dispute arising now can go through all the channels and reach the point where plant seizure would be necessary. By that time we'll be far-advanced into peacetime. And seizing private property in peacetime would be pretty hard to justify. 3. Schwellenbach himself says he is reluctant to use all the power he now has.

In peacetime the government's only agency for settling labor disputes was the U. S. Conciliation Service.

The conciliators couldn't step into a dispute unless one of the parties involved asked them in. They had no authority to do anything. They merely tried to get the disputants to see eye-to-eye.

Pilgrimage Of Thanks That War Ended Soon

By JACK RUTLEDGE Associated Press Staff

Fifteen women walked fifteen miles from their homes near La Paloma to Brownsville. They ignored the heat of the early September sun. They rejected offers of rides.

They were keeping a pledge made late in June. Robert Domanski explained they had made a promise that if the war ended in a certain specified length of time, they would walk all the way to Brownsville. They made good their pledge. They gathered at the Domanski home at 5 o'clock in the morning.

MONTHLY MEETING

Officers and teachers of the First Baptist church held their monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the church. After a buffet dinner, a group of men gave impersonations of women. Ernest Hook outlined plans for the month and the Rev. James Lasater, Coahoma, spoke to the group on the "Seeking God."

FREE ADMISSION

DELAWARE, O., Sept. 19 (AP)—No admissions will be charged for any intercollegiate athletic event at Ohio Wesleyan University this year, athletic director George E. Gauthier said today. Free admission is being granted in celebration of victory year, he explained.

They walked to Brownsville. There they gathered in a church to give thanks in prayer.

Fishing, a young visitor to the Valley has decided, isn't all it's cracked up to be.

He was on his first trip. He threw out his line in the newly-opened pass near Hoca Chica. It wasn't long before he felt a slight tug on his hook and pulled in.

He landed a viciously poisonous stinger. He cast again. He got another bite and hauled in his line. This time it was what is called a porcupine fish.

Grimly he cast again. It wasn't long before friends heard a snort of disgust.

"Confound it," he said, "I've got a snake this time."

He had hooked an eel. "Few Coyote Barbecue Tickets Available" says a headline in the Wichita Falls Record-News.

But the meat shortage really isn't that acute in Wichita Falls. The story explains that the tickets are for a regulation barbecue to be given for the high school football team, known as the Coyotes.

Schools are open again. Students, apparently, are still a little rusty.

The Texas Outlook reports that a teacher of English in a Texas high school found this statement in a test on American poets:

"Lowell married and wrote articles on slavery."

THIRD BEST BOMBARDIER -- HE'S TEMPORARY POST COMMANDER

The third best bombardier in cadet class 415 is a returned combat pilot—Lt. Col. Albert W. Satterwhite, temporarily acting commanding officer of the Big Spring Bombardier school.

When the class graduated Wednesday morning, and the bombing records were analyzed, Col. Satterwhite emerged with an average circular error of 133--just 11 feet outside of the class's smallest "C.E." of 142, established by F/O Wilbert T. Chung.

He dropped the normal 100 practice bombs, 40 of which were for record and 60 of which were for combat practice. On the 40, he scored an even smaller "C.E."—145. During training, he knocked out six "shacks"—bull's-eyes on targets 20 feet square.

"For a pilot to learn the trade of one of his key crew-members is only common sense, when conditions permit," the colonel commented. "For me, the training has been both exceptionally interesting and highly valuable."

He added, "Also, it has been a pleasure to work with and observe this class. They have done outstanding work throughout the course."

Col. Satterwhite, a veteran B-26 pilot from the European theater, was assistant director of training and operations here when in April he enrolled himself in class 415 for the regular 24-week bombardier course.

He was trained in the standard cadet program, by the regular instructors, and was excused from only two flights which were designed to teach subjects with which he was already familiar.

The colonel, who graduated as a pilot in July, 1942, served overseas 21 months, returning in December, 1944. He advanced from first lieutenant to lieutenant colonel with duties of squadron commander.

His decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with eight clusters, and the ETO theater ribbon with three battle stars.

Col. Satterwhite's outfit flew mostly against Nazi lines of communication, including airfields, marshaling yards, bridges and power plants. In addition, they had an important part in attacks on V-bomb sites, and in the D-day invasion bombings.

Cards Ruffle Dignity Of Cubs In Night Ball

By JACK HAND (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Billy Southworth's talented Cardinals continue to act like they own the Chicago Cubs whose first place dignity they have ruffled in 14 of 18 meetings.

With 10 games to play, four against their "cousins" from the Windy City, St. Louis has a good fighting chance to make the grade to a fourth straight flag despite their two-game disadvantage in the won and lost columns.

Baseball followers regard the Red Birds a better bet to catch Chicago than Washington is to close the gap on Detroit even though the Tigers' lead is only a game and a half after yesterday's 12-5 loss to the Nats. The Senators are running out of games with only five to go and no more with the Bengals.

Southworth has either George Dinkins or Art Lopatka ready to go tonight as the after dark series continues. Added to the decided advantage the home club holds over the visitors in season play, is the fact that Chicago has been able to win only four of 14 at night while the Cards have taken 33 of 47 moonbeam tilts.

Charley (Red) Barrett, the fellow who was "thrown in" in the deal that sent Mort Cooper to Boston, hung up his 22nd victory in last night's 3-2 shade of the Bruins' Claude Passeau. That's 10 more than Barrett ever won in the majors before and more than he ever snared since he left Muskogee in 1937.

Sportsman's Park housed its largest night turnout of the Cardinals' season, 22,174, to watch the Birds make their big bid for the flag. They weren't disappointed as Southworth's gang overcame a two-run advantage the Cubs punched through the makeshift infield in the first inning and came on to win. Whitey Kurowski drove home all three runs.

The Detroit-Washington series finale was a nightmarish ball game, played on the muddy turf of Griffith Stadium.

Dizzy Trout was driven to cover in the first inning when the Senators scored four runs but, after they had added another in the third, the Tigers flattened Walt Masterson with five to tie in the sixth. The Nats then opened up on George Caster, Hal Newhouser and Zeb Eaton for bingles of four in the seventh and three in the eighth to tie it. Caster was charged with his first loss since joining Detroit and Dutch Leonard, the third of four Washington tossers, picked up the winning check.

Washington is idle today but Detroit is down to face Bobby Feller in the opener of a two-day stand at Cleveland. However, if the Tigers win five of their remaining eight tilts, the Senators can do no better than tie even if they win all five.

Cincinnati split a doubleheader with Boston in the only other National league game, coming back to grab the second, 6-2 after losing the opener, 3-1, on three successive errors by Kermil Wahl in the 11th inning. Cincinnati's Hank Sauer hit three homers, one in the first tilt and two in the nightcap.

Two doubleheaders, St. Louis at New York and Cleveland at Philadelphia were rained out and the other clubs were not scheduled.

Hubbell Dubious Of Returning Players

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 19 (AP)—Carl Hubbell, head of the New York Giants' farm system, believes major league baseball players must not be able to regain their one-time form.

Hubbell, the Giants' top pitcher for many years, points to Bob Feller, just out of the navy and back with the Cleveland Indians, as an example.

The fireball expert has been experiencing a tightness in his arm, shoulders and back and isn't as fast as he was before his navy hitch, Hubbell said.

"He won't ever regain that blinding speed again," Hubbell believes. "Army and navy exercises are fine for boys in the service but they build up certain body muscles that are not called into play in pitching and batting, and tightness results."

Sooners In Surprise Game With Airfield

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Oklahoma Sooners, defending Big Six champions, got a surprise yesterday, and a football game for themselves Saturday afternoon when Athletic Director Dale Arbuckle announced the Oklahomaans will play Hondo, Tex., Army Field at Norman.

The game with the Texas service team should serve as a pretty straight yardstick on Oklahoma potency this fall. Hondo won seven of eight games last year and played a 7-7 tie with Ellington Field, Tex., last week.

Softball Champions Competing In Tourney

CLEVELAND, Sept. 19 (AP)—Seventeen teams—11 in the men's division and six in the women's—remained in the running for the 13th annual world softball championship today.

Three teams were eliminated yesterday but seven scheduled contests were rained out. The postponements will delay the finals of the tourney until Saturday.

Finally, this triple-threat Texan writes right-handed—but eats with a heavy left "lunch hook."

Only 18 and one of the lightest men on the squad, Cason is rated on a basis of his freshman performance and spring training as one of the best defensive backs in the Tiger backfield.

Ossie Still Hoping To Win Final Five

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Ossie Bluege sees it this way: "IT CAN HAPPEN."

Bluege was talking, of course, about the possibility of his Washington Senators cashing in their slim chance of winning the American league pennant.

Bluege's boys beat Detroit's Tigers yesterday, 12-5, in one of the wildest games seen in these parts in years. It was played on a heavy field, soaked by a 36-hour rain. The victory came just when the Senators were down and almost out. Now they have a new if precarious lease on life. Both teams have won 85 games. Washington has lost 64 to Detroit's 61.

"If we can sweep our last five games, watch out for what may happen in the race," Bluege said.

Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District News

A. H. Shroyer, district cooperator, is seeding a small trial plot of vetch this month, for the purpose of determining its possible use as a soil building crop. Shroyer has recently completed development of two new water units including well, windmills and storage tanks. One unit will be used for livestock purposes to permit a better distribution of cattle thereby aiding range improvement. The other water supply will be used for irrigation of a small acreage.

District supervisors are urging farmers to keep in mind the value of leaving stalks and stubble on their fields as a protection from wind erosion. Fields consisting of sandy soils will need more protection than those made of heavier soils. The supervisors recommend that at least a stubble height of 12 to 14 inches be allowed to remain, and on sandy soils which are extremely subject to blowing the entire stalk-should be left with only the grain removed in the case of grain sorghums.

On 480 acres of land, M. H. Ulmer has constructed large broad-based terraces which exceed minimum district specifications. Ulmer, whose farm is located in the Vealmoor conservation group, started building his terraces last spring and secured the terrace height. Now he has widened the terraces and shaped them and is making an outstanding system of terraces, according to "Blackie" Morris of the SCS. SCS technicians in cooperation with the district designed the terrace system and surveyed the lines for Ulmer two years ago. Terracing is a part of his coordinated soil and water conservation plan.

B. O. Brown, located in the Vincent conservation group, is planning to develop a soil and water conservation program on his livestock farm comprised of 2,080 acres.

L. H. Thomas, member of the Martin-Howard SCS board of supervisors, was elected vice-chairman of that body at the regular monthly meeting held in Stanton.

Heavy Traffic, TNT, No Brakes, No Thanks

DENVER, Sept. 19 (AP)—One for the books is the hair raising experience of truck driver James R. Lira, 24.

Carrying 2,000 pounds of dynamite, the truck driven by Lira, went out of control when the brakes snapped and for the next six blocks the outcome was anybody's guess.

Piloting the machine through heavy evening traffic Lira managed finally to stop the truck on a slight upgrade after he had threaded his way erratically but harmlessly through a thick stream of cars.

Political Strings To Rent A Place To Live

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 19 (AP)—House hunting since January, Gov. Charles C. Gossett, finally won out but his tenure depends on the length of a political appointment.

Required by law to live in Boise, Gossett spent nearly nine months in a hotel apartment. Now he has moved into the home of Dr. L. J. Lull, head of the state health department.

Gossett sent Lull to Blackfoot as acting superintendent of the mental hospital and rented his home.

Spacing Patterns Up Before Commission

AUSTIN, Sept. 19 (AP)—Awaiting a decision by the railroad commission today was conflicting testimony for a well spacing pattern in the Harleton Field, Harrison county.

Testimony, taken by an examiner yesterday and referred to the commission, sought patterns of 160-, 320- and 640-acre spacing in the field which has three producing wells and two drilling.

Peteca, Peteca, Navy Game Like Badminton

NORMAN, Okla.—Sailors at the naval air station are playing a game called peteca, claiming it is the most popular thing to come out of South America since Carmen Miranda.

Peteca is played with a bird and you can butt it, kick it, smack it with the palm of the hand as long as you get it over the net.

Elements of badminton, volleyball with a dash of hockey's speed are combined in the game.

Any number can play and the game's object is to keep the bird shuttling back and forth until the rally is broken by one side's failure to return it over two 30-inch nets set eight feet apart and about six feet off the ground.

The reason for the two center nets is to prevent kill or drop shots, thus making possible longer volleys and a faster game.

A regulation layout has four nets. One net is placed at either end of the court in a backstop position. Stretched at chin height, these two additional nets are for the purpose of deciding "out points," scoring two for side lobbing the shuttle over both nets and under the back net of the opposing team.

Other points are scored one at a time against the team failing to return a shot over the nets, or obliquely shutting the bird out of lateral bounds.

The bird is pear shaped, filled with shredded rubber and topped with blue feathers.

Do You Know

HOW TO SHAVE?

MANY MEN shave all their lives, yet never learn how! They simply smear a little lather or brushless cream on their face, grab a razor, and shave. Result: scratch, scrape, pull—an irritated skin—an unsatisfactory shave—and much unflattering comment about blade, razor, soap or whatever!

TO SHAVE PROPERLY, the first requirement is adequate preparation. Wash your face thoroughly with hot water and ordinary soap to remove the grit, oil and perspiration that ordinarily coats the face, and to soften the hair. Use good hot water—the time required for proper softening decreases rapidly, the hotter your water is. Then rinse the face thoroughly.

Now apply a good shaving soap (rubbing the lather in well with fingertips) or, if you prefer, a brushless cream. These preparations further emulsify the natural oil of the skin and permit the hairs to be wet more thoroughly. Allow from two to three minutes, or even longer for these simple tasks, and your shave will be quicker, easier, and more satisfactory.

So men, prepare your face properly, use plenty of time and water, get yourself some of those hollow ground blades and learn to make shaving a pleasanter, easier task.

Best Place To Start

May we suggest you have an honest look at your home—not your house—your home?

If you have children of juvenile and adolescent ages, what sort of home life are you providing for them? Do you know where they are, what they might be doing, in whose company they are, what time they come home?

Yes, we realize it is none of our business, but then it is your business. Unfortunately, some few of these youngsters are becoming the community's business.

The so-called juvenile situation here is perhaps no worse than ordinary, and this is likely about on a par with similar communities. There have been some annoying anti-social acts recently which are symptomatic of trouble later on.

Some one, presumably youths who have a lot of unaccountable time on their hands, have defaced certain business windows with un-American quips. Monday night a group in a car shelled the white-way lights out of Washington Boulevard. Others, crowded into jallopies, have created disturbances far into the night.

Eventually these youngsters will run afoul of the law—but not even officers want that to happen. The situation could be better remedied at home—right where it ought to be remedied for lasting results.

We have no quarrel with various existing agencies and those which might be created to solve this problem, but we firmly believe that nothing can approach, much less take the place of, the home in dealing effectively and permanently with the matter.

Symptoms Are Growing

It's all long-distance talk, but over the weekend Big Spring was in a proposed baseball league and now we are out again—all without the formality of contacting Big Spring representatives.

That part is rather interesting and almost amusing. However, revival of talk about baseball leagues is significant, for it points to the possibility of some practical plans for resumption of professional ball in this area being resumed.

Big Spring has long been a good baseball town—perhaps not the best, but it has enough dyed in the wool fans to make it go. Sometimes there are financial troubles, but somehow most of these have been solved.

We would like to see it back again here—to see youngsters catching on in the national pastime. Remember when a big, clumsy kid by the name of Eddie Stevens was whiffing ignominiously or polling three over the right field fence in a single inning? Monday he batted Brooklyn to a 4-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs, National League leaders. See what we mean?

Hollywood--

Jean Pierre Tired Of War Stuff

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Well, I finally met up with Jean Pierre Aumont. Some months ago I acted as his proxy and took his wife, Maria Montez, on a tour of the Hollywood night spots.

Aumont was relaxing in his dressing room on the "Heartbeat" set, reading a local gossip columnist. "Just like Maria," I commented.

"At least I read the rest of the paper too," he grinned in his charming Gallic manner. "Whenever I see Maria looking at any other part but the movie columns, I tell her it must be some earth-shaking news."

Jean Pierre is a civilian in "Heartbeat," playing opposite Ginger Rogers. And like every other new civilian he is mighty happy about it.

"I don't think we ever appreciate our civilian clothes until we aren't able to wear them," he said, caressing his grey flannel suit. Even before he joined the French army two years ago, Jean Pierre was more often in uniform than mufli.

"I made two war pictures here. 'Assignment in Brittany' and 'Cross of Lorraine,'" he said. "And in France I made lots more. I was in the army, the navy, the air corps, infantry—everything."

He is just as happy that the public appears uninclined to attend war pictures now; he is sick of them.

As far as any readjustment to the civilian job of movie acting, Jean Pierre has experienced none.

"After all, I have been acting since I was 16—I am now an old man of 33—and one doesn't forget the things he has learned in that time."

Like most veterans, the French actor has plans for the future.

"I have four more years on my contract with MGM, and then I would like to do some things on my own. I would like to get back to the stage, which is my love, and I would like to make pictures in France. Something like the deal Charles Boyer had before the war—two pictures in the United States and two pictures in France every year."

I hastily offered to escort his wife to the night spots in case he ever leaves town again. "The only trouble is that she won't dance with me," I said.

"Yes, that is an agreement we had—that she would not dance while I was away."

"Except the rumba, she said." "Oh? But I did not expect the rumba. I shall have to talk to Maria about that."

I hope I didn't start something.

Plans are proposed to create an organization reaching into the state districts, possibly under the direction of an executive secretary. There would be a state committee of approximately 25 persons.

The prospectus of the meeting declared that the hope for permanent security of the nation lies in the education of young people on such basic matters as the national history and constitution, the state constitution, the workings of the state and national government, and the responsibilities of citizens.

With The News

by Dewitt Mackenzie AP Foreign News Analyst

Quietly but inevitably Moscow is staking claims to trusteeship over important Italian colonies which would extend Russia's already vast influence the length of the Mediterranean—long dominated by England.

This column a few days ago described the Mediterranean theatre as "one of the most important zones strategically on the face of the globe." I repeat it with emphasis, for Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov—who is in London for the conference of the big five council of foreign ministers—has now not only made it clear that Russia is anxious to obtain a foothold on that great sea but he has given us a lead as to the specific aims of the Soviet Union.

Mr. Molotov told the press yesterday that Russia is interested in Italian colonies, and that there's "a grain of truth" in the report that she wants sole trusteeship over the North African colony of Tripolitania. Then, in more positive strain, he added:

"I will not conceal Soviet interests in Eritrea" (the Italian colony lying on the Red Sea and adjoining Ethiopia).

If you will look at your maps in the Mediterranean theatre, the picture of what is happening will be clear. Tripolitania is midway of the Mediterranean and is an important base. Eritrea, which lies at the southern mouth of the Red Sea, would be calculated to insure right of way through that body of water and the Suez Canal which connects it with the Mediterranean on the north. Add to this the fact that Tangier, on the southern shore of the narrow Strait of Gibraltar, is to be internationalized, and the set-up is complete.

Russia would be guaranteed freedom over the entire length of the Mediterranean—from the Aegean to the Atlantic—and through the Suez Canal route to the Far East.

Well, should all this materialize, what would be the likely effect on world-peace? The only safe answer is one based on facts and not on fancies. This is that peace demands that the Mediterranean be maintained as an international waterway, with free passage for all nations. Any conflict over control of this sea must precipitate another great upheaval.

The Unseen Audience

With The AEF: From Young "Snotty" On Way To First Sea Lord

By HAL BOYLE

ABOARD BATTLESHIP DUKE OF YORK, Enroute to Hong Kong, Sept. 13 (Delayed) (P)—The top British seadog in the Pacific is 57-year-old "Scottish" bachelors who knows his way around with a Russian balalaika as well as on his majesty's battleships.

He is Adm. Sir Bruce Fraser, whose present assignment as commander-in-chief of the first British Pacific fleet in history, with some 40 ships of all types under his command, crowns 42 years of service in the royal navy.

He began as a 15-year-old "snotty," British navy slang for midshipman, and may well wind up as Britain's first sea lord, the peak of any regular navy man's career.

"Tubby," as fellow admirals call the stocky, five foot eight inch Scot, looks like anything but a ruling English seadog.

He is an easygoing, friendly, approachable man with gray hair and light blue eyes that really smile. Perhaps because he has never been married and has no children of his own, he is especially kind to junior officers, who normally lead lives in the British navy which at best can be compared with that of a plebe at West Point. They idolize him.

When he isn't at sea, this genial pipe-smoking admiral lives with his aged invalid mother in their modest family home near Hampton Palace by the Thames.

Ties between mother and son are exceedingly close and the first thing the British admiral did after Fraser had finished sinking the German battleship Scharnhorst was to send word of the son's victory to his mother, now in her eighties.

The hour of the battle, Dec. 23, 1943, off North Cape, Norway, in the midst of Arctic darkness, Sir Bruce sent the admiralty a two word message. It said: "Scharnhorst sunk."

Similarly, when his ship steamed into Sagami Bay at the war's end, he messaged cryptically, "The fleet is anchored in Japanese waters."

I asked one young lieutenant commander to tell me frankly what he thought of Sir Bruce and he said:

"I would give my life gladly anytime to save him, and I mean it. I wouldn't say that about any other admiral. I like my own life."

Still No Room In Washington Hotels

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Your Capital In Peacetime: The end of the war has brought about no change in the scarcity of hotel rooms in Washington.

You must visit your nation's capital be prepared to take a hotel room story home with you. M. F. Bannell, of New York, representative of Pan-American Airways, did.

Bannell was staying at the Hay-Adams. Notified that his five days were up he said a word or two and would have said more but he managed to talk the management of another hotel, the Washington, into taking him in.

Checking out of the Hay-Adams, Bannell recalled he had left something in his room and hurried back up stairs, only to find the new tenant was an old friend.

"To think that I should be moved out of my room for you," Bannell moaned.

"Don't blame me. I had to go somewhere," said his friend. "My five days were up and I was just evicted from the Washington."

The friends decided to have a tall one on that and set out for the taproom—at the Statler.

In the loud clamor over discharge inequities for the sailors and soldiers, the plight of many men who wear stripes, bars, leaves or eagles has been overlooked completely.

Two days after Pearl Harbor, 44-year-old Dr. Blank kissed his lucrative Baltimore practice goodbye, and offered his services to the medical corps.

He served one year in the hospital in a base training camp in the south, another at a desert training camp in Arizona, two years more (almost) at a base hospital in England (not considered in a combat zone).

Home on his first furlough in all that time, the lieutenant-colonel doctor came to Washington the other day to pick up what he thought was to be his requested discharge.

Instead, he got orders to report to a base hospital for occupation troops in Germany.

If you think that isn't tough, consult your family physician—if you still have one.

It is such cases that are kindling wrath in Congress. Already legislation is threatened to force the Army to return a portion of its physicians to civilian life.

George Abbott, the Broadway entrepreneur, is probably the only producer on record who can take credit for "discovering" an assistant secretary of state.

Some years ago, John Monks, Jr., and Fred Finkelhoff persuaded Abbott to produce a little opera titled "Brother Rat." It had to do with some high-links at Virginia Military Institute and the authors called in VMI classmate to double-check for technicalities.

Abbott, well known for his discoveries of youthful talent, picked the classmate as a certain-to-succeed young man and hired him on the spot as one of the Abbott press agents. There is no record that the young man made any drumming success as a Broadway drummer, but he's doing all right now. He's 33-year-old Frank McCarthy, the newly appointed assistant secretary of state, who will have charge of reorganizing the department for Secretary James F. Byrnes.

Road By Truman's House Now Paved

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—While Mayor Roger T. Sermon has repeatedly urged the citizenry of Independence, Mo., to clear up the town now that it is the home of the president, there remains n-ear the summer White House one block of pitted dirt road which mars the neighborhood appearance. It is the only dirt street in the entire vicinity of the Truman home. This one block is on West Van Horn Road between North D. Lawrence and North Pleasant streets and borders the summer White House on the north.

Here is the paradoxical reason why it is unpaved:

Several years ago when WPA labor was plentiful at little cost, it was suggested the lone block of dirt be paved. For a time it looked like a sure thing. But the Wallace families (Truman's in-laws) intervened. They objected because it would increase taxes.

Opposition to improving the street came from the First Lady's mother, Mrs. D. W. Wallace, who actually owns the summer White House, 219 North Delaware st.; also from George Wallace, a brother of Mrs. Truman who lives just east of the summer White House at 605 West Van Horn Road; and is a road supervisor for Jackson county; and from Frank Wallace, 601 Van Horn Road, another brother, who is treasurer of the Waggoner-Gates Milling company in Independence.

The Wallace families own about one-third of the property on the south side of Van Horn Road between North Delaware and North Pleasant streets and figured that paving the block would boost their taxes.

This summer, however, things finally changed. What with visitors coming from all over the country to see where Harry Truman used to live, the city fathers of Independence got busy.

So by the time the president of the U. S., who incidentally believes in high taxes, came home on his second trip to Independence this weekend the unpaved section of West Van Horn street had received a coat of tar.

Navy Censorship Japan is not the only place subject to censorship. Though the war is over, a brass-knuckled case of censorship has just occurred at the U. S. naval air station, Banana River, Fla.

Suspected reason for the censorship is a policy put out by navy chiefs in Washington to squelch all news stories critical of the navy discharge system. Navy brass hats were careful not to put this censorship idea in writing, but telephoned to various navy commanders throughout the country.

Down at the Banana River naval air station, young officers and navy men last week published their weekly paper, "Banana Peelings," containing an "inquiring reporter" column of what navy men think of the discharge system. It contained such quotes as these:

From C. F. Robinson, Graham, N. C., age 37: "The navy releases men too slow. I want them to get on the ball. My wife and two kids need me a lot worse than the navy does now that the war is over."

From J. E. Eberhart, Baltimore, Md.: "As to how the point system affects me, I don't know, but if I don't get out soon I'm going to butt my head on some bulkhead. I served my country and now I'm

Fiddlestick To Evelyn

AP Features
NEW YORK — Chances are you won't be hearing it on the Hour of Charm radio program, but Evelyn, Phil Spitalny's violin soloist, has a new fiddle.

It is made from a pot-bellied mahogany walking stick—a novelty popular with German and Hungarian musician-carpenters 150 years ago. Collectors say the instruments are rare today.

The cane becomes a violin when a center panel is removed, revealing the strings. The handle unscrews to open a hollow shaft where a bow is kept. When it is replaced the curved handle fits under the chin.

Evelyn says the violin can play about everything a score, would call for, from pizzicato to harmonics.

The fiddle was sent to her by Fred Wright of Ajo, Ariz., a weather-beaten Irish prospector 77 years old. Wright says his brother, now dead, brought it to this country from Africa in 1901.

He sent it to Evelyn, he says, because she's his favorite violinist.

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE HERALD

Mexican Part In War Reviewed In Laredo

LAREDO, Sept. 19 (AP) — The Laredo Times has published an eight page section reviewing Mexico's contribution to the Allied war effort.

Sixty-three pictures help tell the story of increased U. S.-Mexican cooperation during the war, published on Mexico's independence day.

One closely kept military secret was revealed. In the early part of 1941 Mexico began to export millions of rounds of ammunition to the United States from its arsenals near Mexico City.

"Now that the war has ended, revelation may be made of the vital role which naval forces of Mexico played during the first years of the war," said the Times.

"Mexican coast guard cutters and patrol boats rendered an invaluable service to the United States by keeping the 'back door' closed to enemy subs. Night and day the Mexicans patrolled Pacific and Gulf of Mexico waters."

Grated carrots baked in muffins gives them a delicious flavor and helps keep them moist.

East Texas Wet, West Texas Dry

AUSTIN, Sept. 19 (AP) — East Texas was generally wet and West Texas generally dry, the United States department of agriculture reported today in its survey of crop conditions for the week ending Sept. 17.

Crops were mostly made in the east, with conditions favorable for harvest. In the west, high winds, dryness, and blowing sand caused some damage to young wheat and late feed crops.

Moisture was needed for wheat planting in most western areas. Cotton picking continued active, and first bales were ginned in some northwestern counties. Cotton was being salvaged in some coastal areas hit by the hurricane, and damage was not as severe as earlier indicated.

Livestock was in good condition except in some Edwards Plateau and South Texas counties where ranges were dry and livestock was losing flesh. The supply of range feeds in the northwest was getting low and marketings from dry areas were increasing. Stock water was low in some plateau counties.

No More Warning To Be Given On Parking

Police are not giving any more warnings to persons who continue to park automobiles on streets in the downtown section between 2:30 a. m. and 6 a. m. These persons are violating a city ordinance passed in 1935 prohibiting all night parking.

The ordinance has not been properly enforced during the war but is now being clamped down on. City officials notified the hotels Sept. 1st that as of Sept. 15th there would be only 30 minute parking limit during the early morning hours.

Streets need to be cleaned during those hours and cars are in the way. Courtesy tickets were given three consecutive mornings and the fourth morning, Tuesday, 75 tickets were issued. Wednesday morning found 88 parking violators, police reported.

Shorty, Air Force Pet, Is Global Dog-Trotter

AP Newsfeatures
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.— Shorty — "Sgt. Short Shorter Shorty" to you—is the canine queen of the 2nd Air Force bomber crews.

Civilians draw a growl from the three-year-old Scottie, but around enlisted men or brass she's always friendly.

The globe-trotting Scottie has entered Pullmans, air liners and the country's best hotels, smugled in Lt. Col. William Bowden's bag. For two years the black-haired lady and the Colonel—her Riverside, Calif., master—have been inseparable. Together they've toured the globe to log a thousand hours in the air.

On a B-24 she spanned the Pacific; aboard other bomber craft she's touched New Guinea, Australia, Hawaii, the Fijis, New Caledonia, Cuba, Jamaica, the Bahamas and Puerto Rico.

She's strictly Air Force, too. Although never ill aboard a plane she sickened once at sea — to prove she wasn't Navy.

Alrborne she roams the plane to find a spot to sun herself. With each change in course her GI dog tag tinkles as she hunts a new and warmer place to bask. Her small silk 'chute, the kind used for dropping flares, is always near her side. She eats with her crew.

"Postwar plans?" says the Colonel.

"How'd you like to settle down?" he asks the queen.

Shorty growls, cocks her head and barks—approval.
