Thunderstorms Bring Additional Moisture

Local Rains Benefit Farming Operations

Booming thunderstorms brought rain, hail, wind and sand to the Muleshoe area this week. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the rains came to this area bringing almost .8 of an inch of rain, all together.

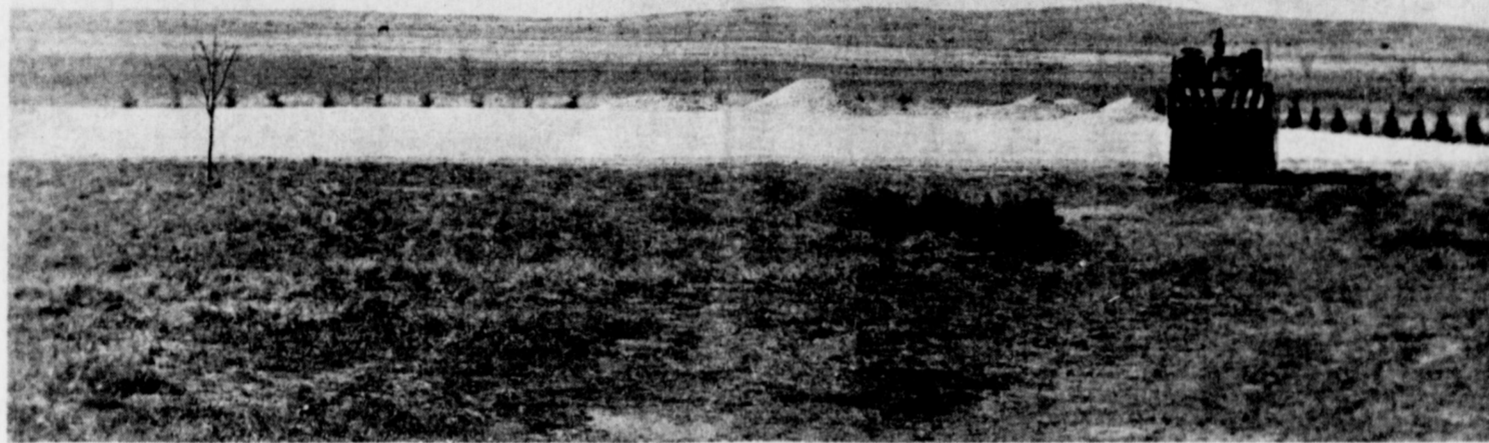

On Monday, the official weatherman in Muleshoe recorded .34 inches; on Tuesday, .19 inches; and on Wednesday, .34 inches. The moisture seemed most beneficial to the farmers in the area, adding to their already abundant water supply. Severe weather also accompanied the rains as civil defense workers were out both Monday and Wednesday afternoons watching menacing clouds as they approached the city.

Wednesday afternoon, a funnel was reportedly spotted near West Camp, but never touched the ground.

Pea-size hail pounded Muleshoe for about 15 minutes Wednesday with some of the outlying areas west of town reporting much larger and more damaging hail.

At the present time, Muleshoe has recorded over six inches of moisture, whereas last year Muleshoe had only recorded .28 inches at this same time. The total amount of moisture for 1972 was over 16 inches.

DEVELOPMENT CONTINUES ON PARK . . . Development is continuing on the new Muleshoe City Park on West Avenue D. Construction of the new park began last year and quite a bit of work has already been done on the new park facility. Recently over 400 trees were set out in the new park. Plans call for tennis courts to be built along with Youth Football Fields, and other recreational equipment.

The agricultural outlook for Bailey County is looking better than it has in years. J.K. Adams, former Bailey County Agent, talked with the Journal this week and reported that the underground moisture in this area is the best it has been in 20 years. He said that the deep moisture is there and conditions couldn't be much better.

Local farmers have already planted the biggest part of the corn crop for this year and most of it is up and coming up. Cotton farmers should start planting cotton this weekend. The conditions have been real good this year except for the delay in warm weather which has put some of the farmers behind schedule in planting, especially cotton planting.

As soon as the sun starts shining for several days in a row, Bailey County should have some of the best looking crops in many years.

Along the vegetable line, there has been quite number of onion plants set out in this area this year and tomatoes should be planted in the very near future.

Bill Wimberly at Texas Sesame reports that they have contracted 3,000 acres of Michigan white beans in Bailey County on Page 3, col. 6

Certification Services Offered By Local County ASCS Office

The following article comes from the Bailey County ASCS office and concerns certifying set-aside acres and other services of the office.

Compliance by certification is a do-it-yourself system by which farmers report crop and program acres to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Office. The system has been used for several years.

Certification can help avoid inconveniences during the busy season as farmers can stop at the ASCS office to report at their convenience.

It also gives more personal involvement in the administration of farm programs.

The Bailey County office will give persons a photograph of their farm to help certify the acreages correctly. This photograph, commonly called a photocopy, will show boundaries of the farm and the most up-to-date field acreage information available.

The photocopy is a useful tool, not only for certifying acres, but also for planning farm plantings and other farming operations.

The county ASCS office stands ready to give all possible help in correctly certifying acres. Or, if a problem arises, the county committeemen can help.

The county office can also provide many types of measurement service in determining acreages. Under one type of service, farmers can have a trained man measure and stake off the exact amount of land they wish to plant to a crop or set-aside from production. If farmers keep within the staked areas, compliance with allotment, history, or set-aside requirements will be guaranteed. Even after a crop is planted the measurement service can make sure the acreage planted conforms to program requirements.

Measurement services are provided, upon request, at actual cost. Charges are usually quite modest. The cost of this service can be taken out of payments due under ASCS program.

wanted, be sure to request it as early as possible so that trained men can do the work when wanted.

Most farmers participating in ASCS programs are familiar with the "spot check" system. After certification, certain farms are picked at random. These farms are visited, and program acreages measured. Accuracy of the certification is determined by comparing measured acreage with that certified by the farm operator. Operators found out of compliance by spot check may not dispose of crops to bring themselves back in compliance.

Be sure that acres are certified before the final certification date. The ASCS office will inform farmers of the final date for each crop. If farmers have not been notified of this date, they can find out from the county office.

Be sure that acreages are reported correctly; an incorrect report can be costly, through lost or reduced pro-

Young Men Still Must Register For Draft

Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, has issued a statement reminding young men of their responsibility under Federal Law to register with Selective Service.

"The recent nationwide announcement that the draft has ended has misled some of our young men into thinking they no longer are required by law to register with Selective Service. This is incorrect!" Glantz said.

The State Director pointed out the fact that Selective Service is being reorganized into a stand-by operation to keep draft machinery operative and ready in case of a national emergency that requires the drafting of young men again in the future. He pointed out that although inductions have ended--the Selective Service System continues to operate and the law continues to require each young man to register with Selective Service within 30 days before or after his 18th birthday.

Failure to register makes a young man subject to prosecution under Federal Law with a severe penalty upon conviction.

During the reorganization of the System into a stand-by basis, registration may be completed at any one of the 63 Selective Service System Area Offices that will remain open in Texas -- or at points in every Texas County where volunteer workers will assist the young man in the simple steps of registration.

The registrars for Local Board No. 4 in this area are: Local Board Office, 117 E. Ave. D, Muleshoe, and Judge Glen Williams, County Judge's Office, Court House, Muleshoe.

Note Of Optimism Sounded After Water Import Report

Water, Inc. officials expressed a collective note of optimism following a briefing on the West Texas-Eastern New Mexico Import Project studies in Lubbock, A. L. Black Water, Inc. president from Friona called the report "progress" despite an assertion that when viewed under traditional Bureau of Reclamation standards for evaluating such undertakings, the import plan would not be justified.

Norman Flaigg, Texas area planning officer for the Bureau, presented the briefing to the more than 400 persons attending the special Water, Inc. board of directors meeting at the Ko-Ko Palace. Flaigg said that the Mississippi River Commission had determined that there is water in the Mississippi River in excess of foreseeable needs and that some eight and a half million acre-feet per year might be available for the import project, providing however, that the diversion be made during the three high - flow spring months. He noted that such diversion would be contingent upon its having no adverse effect on the Louisiana estuarine system.

Flaigg presented two cost-to-benefit calculations, one: the traditional Bureau calculation showing the project not to be economically justified, the other based on the Water Resources Council's proposed project formulation standards showing benefits in excess of costs. The WRC standards are being seriously considered at the national level and prospects of their adoption in the near future are likely.

Garden Treatment For Nematodes

Home gardeners complain each year about root knot nematodes in their tomatoes, okra, beans and other vegetable crops. These microscopic worms may be the reason for sickly plants that do not respond to fertilizer or water. Nematode presence can be recognized by galls and knots on plant roots.

If nematodes have been a problem in the past, treat your garden this spring before planting, advises County Extension Agent Spencer Tanksley. The most widely used chemical for nematode control contains dibromochloropropane (DBCP). It is available at nurseries and farm supply stores. No special equipment is necessary for treating home gardens, explains the agent. Liquid materials can be applied with a quart fruit jar with a ten-penny nail hole punched on each side of the lid--one to pour from and the other to let air into the jar so the liquid will pour evenly. Pour the proper amount of fumigant diluted with water into each 100 feet of open furrow at least 6 inches deep.

Granular DBCP can be sprinkled by hand into the open furrow, but be sure to wear rubber gloves, cautions Tanksley. For row treatment, place the fumigant in a 6-inch-deep furrow directly under seed rows or transplant rows. Broadcast treatment can be made by opening a 6-inch-deep furrow using a hoe, spade or other implement. Furrows should be no more than 12 inches apart from center to center. A broadcast treatment is much more effective than row treatment; however, more fumigant and expense is involved. Whether using the liquid or granular material, cover the treated furrows immediately to seal the fumigant into the soil. This can be done by dragging a weighted board over the treated area. Then sprinkle the soil lightly with water, adds Tanksley.

An investment in Your Future ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

Mommie ... They want me to come to church."

Yes, Mommie, they do want her in church, for in the church, they have a place for all ages. No child is too young to learn. This also provides you an opportunity to worship and give undivided attention to church services.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

AUSTIN, TEX.--"If we go through an intellectual debate on a new Constitution for Texas, and the Legislature turns down our recommendations, we will be trained as competent lecturers for high school civics classes."

That was the rationalization of Vales Madden, Amarillo attorney, and member of the new 7-member Constitution Revision Commission. He spoke before the Panhandle Press Association on the tedious chore before the Commission, and invited editors and publishers to attend the first public hearing of the Commission on April 5 in Amarillo.

told specifically that there is water that could be available," George McCleskey, Water, Inc., first vice-president of Lubbock, said.

"We were told that the project was not feasible when certain standards are applied," he continued. "But when all the standards are applied, I believe the plan will be seen as very feasible," he said.

"We will continue to press for the plan and I believe that eventually it will be approved and the whole world will see its benefits," McCleskey said.

Water Inc.'s first president, John Kendrick, Brownfield, said, "Despite the fact they've underrated the area's ability to pay for water, the question is not whether we can afford it, but whether we can afford not to follow through on it? The cost-to-benefit ratios are questionable," Kendrick said, "and I believe the secondary and tertiary benefits need to be weighted more heavily."

Another former president of Water, Inc., K.B. "Tex" Watson of Amarillo, said the report failed to take into account the total Texas Water Plan. The projected periods of time when water would not be available from the Mississippi River, he explained, "made quite a bit of difference in the cost" projection per acre-foot. He said that "some East Texas water could be used to balance off" those periods of short supply.

"We are beginning to get a definite indication that earlier reports of when existing underground water supplies would begin to play out were far too tight," Watson said, "and this gives us more time to improve the economic feasibility aspects of the importation plan." Duncan Ellison, Water, Inc., executive director, said that first indications are that the study calculations of benefits may be too conservative. "If this can be demonstrated," he said, "perhaps we can succeed in getting the agencies to include more realistic statistics in the report before it is finally concluded in July."

"and we'll be hard pressed for time to get the new draft of the proposed constitution to the Texas Legislature by November 1, 1973."

The Texas Legislature becomes a ConCon in January, 1974, and has been charged by the voters to write a new constitution by May, 1974.

There will be no changes in the Texas "bill of rights" -- Madden pointed out.

Texas Constitution is the longest in the nation--five times longer than the U.S. Constitution. Voters have approved 200 amendments (out of 317 submitted) to the document since 1880.

"If the new constitution is not approved," he added, "we predict that we'll have 200 more amendments approved by the year 2,000."

Children now attending the Kindergarten in the Richland Hills school will be dismissed from school on May 4 so that the teachers are available to enroll the new students and talk to the parents. Kindergarten students that are now at Richland school will not come this day to register, because they have already been enrolled for the next year.

If any patron knows of a child who will be eligible for these classes next fall, please contact the Richland Hills Primary School or the administration office.

Press meeting said they believed that the voters would approve the constitution--as submitted by the Legislature.

Madden predicted that the Speaker of the House of Representatives would be the presiding officer of the ConCon in 1974 because "the House has more votes than the Senate on the decision."

"It will be a 'peoples' document," he concluded, "a document of 'all seasons'."

BUSY LEGISLATURE--Returning from a four-day Easter holiday this week, the Legislature is faced with a hurry-up schedule and a mountain of work before its late May adjournment deadline.

The House plodded for days through stacks of mainly fore-doomed amendments before passing its $9.7 billion appropriations bill.

A $9.5 billion version of the state budget for 1974-75, meanwhile, zipped through the Senate finance committee and was expected to pass quickly and smoothly.

Since both houses were ready to bow to Gov. Dolph Briscoe's demand for a no-new-taxes appropriations bill, little hangup is seen for budget conferees in closing days of the session.

Main differences in the House and Senate spending bills lie in the area of public welfare, and that is a fast-changing field, considering federal funding laws are subject to Washington agency interpretation.

While budget remains the principal job unfinished, there are numerous other major pieces of legislation awaiting action. They include:

*Code of ethics and lobby control strengthening.

*Election measures.

*A sweeping variety of environmental bills.

*Penal code revision.

*The newsman's "shield law" to protect information sources, which is stalled in a conference committee, with conferees at odds over whether courts should be empowered to force disclosure.

*Overhaul of the school finance system to benefit poor districts--a job which almost certainly will be left to a later legislature.

nty and the surrounding counties. He said the Navy beans will be used for pork and beans and that they have been further contracted to Stokley's.

He reported that the beans have been test grown in this area for several years. There are 37 growers participating in the area this year.

Wimberly also stated that they have contracted about the same amount of corn this year as last year, 11,000 acres. Most of this corn will be contracted to various food companies this year.

It has also been reported that phosphate is in short supply this year and farmers are having trouble getting the fertilizer they want.

All in all this looks like one of the best years as far as crops are concerned, that Bailey County has experienced in many years, barring any unforeseen events.

Conditions this year seem to be almost perfect for farmers in this area.

Lasso® for cotton... Convenient weed control.

Cotton farmers are taking a good long look at Lasso, the preemergence herbicide by Monsanto.

Because Lasso is convenient to use.

First of all, you don't have to incorporate Lasso. You apply Lasso at planting. It's far less likely to blow away, then, and you've saved yourself an incorporation trip through the fields.

Lasso comes in easy to use liquid. You apply Lasso preemergence on the surface. Broadcast it, or for real economy, band it on. However you apply Lasso, you'll get effective control over Carelessweed, and almost a dozen other annual grasses and broadleaf weeds that compete with cotton.

And Lasso doesn't persist in the soil. So if you get hailed out, for example, you can come right back in with soybeans or corn with no carryover worries. Take a good long look at Lasso. It's the herbicide that's convenient for you at planting.

Candlelight Vows Unite Miss Williams, Warren

Miss Marcella Ann Williams of Muleshoe and John Michael Warren of Windsor, Connecticut were united in marriage on Sunday, April 29, at 3 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Muleshoe. The double ring vows were read by Rev. Douglas DuBose.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Alex H. Williams of Muleshoe, and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Warren of Saugus, Massachusetts.

Large fan sprays of pale yellow gladiolas graced the front of the church. Seven-taper angled candelabra with pale yellow tapers and spring green bows and greenery flanked the white prayer bench. Behind the prayer bench was the symbolic memory candle, where the bride and groom recited special vows at the close of the ceremony.

Miss Patsy Brown of Muleshoe, soloist, and Mrs. Elbert Hamilton of Muleshoe, organist, presented the musical selections of "Melody of Love", "Walk Hand in Hand", and "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white rose-point Venise lace fashioned with a pointed natural waistline. The high laced neckline inlaid with pearls emphasized the lace bodice and full bishop sleeves gathered onto wide pointed cuffs. The flowing skirt of tiered lace was accented by straight side panels of lace. Billowing from the back of the waistline were repeated tiers of lace falling into a cathedral length train. The shoulder length veil of white illusion was shirred onto a Juliet cap of white lace finished with a white satin bow and streamers at the crown.

For something old, the bride wore a pearl and diamond necklace which had belonged to her late maternal grandmother, Mrs. George T. Andrew. Something new was her gown and veil. Something borrowed was a gold ring set with Oriental cultured pearls and sapphires belonging to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Donald Williams. For something blue, the bride wore a satin garter trimmed with lace, tatted by her sister, Mrs. Shawn Potter. She wore a six-pence in her shoe for good luck. The bride carried a white Bible with a satin cover upon which rested a white gardenia trailing into a bouquet of English ivy and stephanotis.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Shawn Potter of Canyon. Serving as bridesmaid was Mrs. Donald Williams, the bride's sister-in-law. The attendants were attired in long spring green princess style gowns accented with dainty shoulder cap ruffles. Around their necks they wore ribbon and lace chokers. They wore white lace gloves and silver accessories. Headpieces were streamers highlighted with daisies in the matching green. The attendants each carried three long-stemmed white daisy mums trimmed with green ribbons.

Serving the groom as best man was his father, John H. Warren of Saugus, Mass. Lt. Steve Dunn, Reese AFB, also attended the groom. They wore white tuxedo coats with black lapels, black stacks, and white ruffled shirts with black etching. The groom's boutonniere was stephanotis with a tiny red rosebud. The others were green pixie carnations.

Miss Sandra Faver of Muleshoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Creston Faver, served as candlelighter. Ushers were the bride's brother, Donald Williams of Dallas, and brother-in-law, Shawn Potter of Canyon. Registering guests was Miss Annette Williams, cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother was attired in a spring blue fitted street-length dress of polyester with camel-colored accessories. The bodice and elbow length sleeves were fashioned of embroidered blue daisies on sheer nylon.

The groom's mother wore a white polyester crepe street-length dress with a matching coat-jacket and pink flapper hat and accessories. Both mothers wore single white gardenias.

The reception immediately followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was laid with a white solid and lace cloth underlaid with yellow. Centering the table was an arrangement of yellow gladiolas. The four-tiered cake, trimmed with yellow roses, was topped with the traditional bride and groom. Lime sherbet punch and coffee were served from silver and crystal appointments. Presiding at the bride's table were Miss Linda Morrison and Mrs. Terry Williams, both of Lubbock.

Miss Gayla Hooten provided musical selections for the reception. Serving in the house party were Mrs. George Washington, Mrs. Dave Suddeth, and Mrs. Gordon Plyant.

For her wedding trip, the bride wore a pale pink polyester jacket dress with a natural waistline. For accessories, the bride chose white gloves, purse and ankle-strap sandals. A corsage of a single white gardenia completed the outfit.

Following the wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Windsor, Connecticut. The groom is employed as a pilot for Corporate Air of Hartford, Conn. He is a Lt. in the Massachusetts Air National Guard. The bride plans to teach.

TV COMMENTARY

By John Smiley

DON QUIXOTE is a two-hour BBC-Universal television co-operative shooting of the great Spanish classic, seen on CBS April 23. The cost of the production is said to have been in the neighborhood of $500,000. It was filmed in Spain. Rex Harrison, at 65, was the windmill whipping Quixote.

JIM ARNESS, Amanda Blake, and Milburn Stone are the three remaining originals in the cast of "Gunsmoke," which will be back next fall. After 19 years, one supposes that Matt and Kitty have become too accustomed to each other to cap the many years together with matrimony.

A COUNTRY MUSIC SERIES, shot in Nashville and Hollywood, will be the summer replacement for "The Dean Martin Show." Martin will be back on NBC this fall for his ninth season.

JULIE ANDREWS has lost her show, but ABC has consoling news for those who appreciate her beautiful talents. She'll be starred next season in six hours of specials.

WOMEN PLAYERS seem to be moving up in golf society, and in the money that goes with it. In the past two decades Ms. prize money on the tour has inflated from $50,000 to this season's $1.4 million. The Colgate-Dinah Shore Tournament, seen recently on TV, illustrates the truth. It offered $139,000.

LOVERS of history and art appreciated "Upon This Rock," a special aired on April 17 about St. Peter's Basilica.

The choir sang numerous popular and American heritage songs. Mrs. Jerry Hoover is the choir director.

The girls in the choir were dressed in long plaid skirts with matching boleros and long sleeve blue blouses. The boys wore black trousers with blue shirts and plaid scarves. These were purchased with the help of the parents of choir members and the Fine Arts Boosters.

Thanks to the Choir for the fine entertainment.
