HEREFORDS OF EXCELLENT BEEF QUALITIES.

"Peace in Europe does not mean cheap meats, as a world shortage exists and years will be required to remedy it." This is the opinion of L. W. Conover, Union Stockyards, Chicago, who addressed a meeting of cattlemen at the Missouri College of Agriculture recently. Mr. Conover discussed the present cattle market conditions and attributed high prices to a scarcity of meat animals.

beef animals, Mr. Conover said that the prospect warranted him in the assertion that cheap beef is not possible. "Present feeding conditions would be materially alleviated by one good crop season," continued Mr. Conover, "but cattle are not made in a few months and the prospect for the breeder is all that could be desired.

PEANUT GAINS FAVOR

Insistent Demand for Information Regarding This Crop.

Acreage Will Be Materially Increased All Over Growing Area of United States This Year—Likes Sandy Loam.

(By FLETCHER DAVIS, Texas Department of Agriculture.) The disasters that befell the cotton crop in 1914, when the price fell below the minimum cost of production, and in 1916, when the ravages of the boll weevil curtailed the yield, coupled with the present scarcity and high price of all kinds of feed stuffs, has stimulated as nothing else could have done, an interest in diversification. In casting about for available crops that promise a reasonable profit, the peanut seems to be the most popular. From every direction, therefore, there comes an insistent demand for information about this crop.

A FARMERS' PATRIOTISM

The shortest definition of patriotism is service for one's country. There are many ways in which you can serve your country while at home. Here are some: Plant a larger garden than ever and can sufficient from it to tide you through this year and part of the next. Plant more potatoes, especially sweet potatoes, as these are staple food articles. Every acre should be planted to corn or kafir, and receive the best cultivation possible.

Parasites Cause Lumps on Backs of Animals—Kerosene Oil Will Destroy Them.

(By GEORGE H. GLOVER, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.) Several letters have been received lately respecting "lumps" on the backs of cattle. One party made the important discovery (?) that "worms had eaten big holes through the backs of his cattle and were found at the bottom eating their way."

KEEP GOOD BREEDING STOCK

Don't Sell "Goose That Laid Golden Eggs"—Retain Sows for Production of Pork.

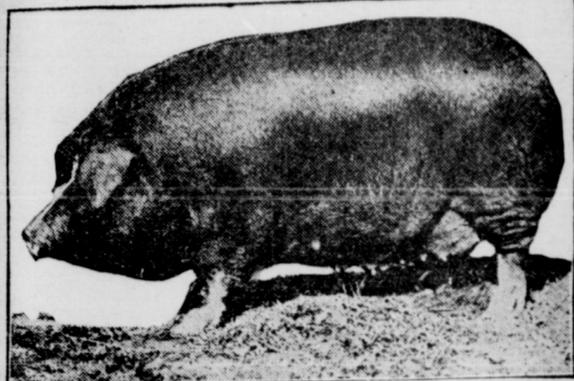

SHEEP RELISH PEA SILAGE

Cabbage and Roots of All Kinds Must Be Supplemented by Concentrate Feed of Some Kind.

Pea-vine silage that is free from mold is a good feed for sheep at any time, as a part of the ration. As with any kind of silage, cabbage and roots of any kind it contains too much water to be fed in large amounts. All such feeds must be supplemented by some concentrate. There is no reason why pea silage and cabbage should not be fed together, but they should not be fed to the exclusion of all other feeds.

FOOD SUPPLY NEEDS TO BE INCREASED

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Sows must be bred before the end of June if fall litters are to be obtained. The pigs will then come before the last week in October, and will have attained growth enough to be able to shift for themselves before cold weather arrives. If the breeding can be done in early June or in May, so much the better.

CHAMPION POLAND-CHINA SOW FROM MISSOURI.

should be bred this spring. By breeding them this spring the feed given them through the summer will have been more completely devoted toward food production. It will help to produce a greater meat supply and a supply ready for market six months earlier than if they were not bred until fall.

the pigs retards the growth of the young sow, but this permanent retardation of growth is small and of minor importance when the sow will produce a good litter of pigs. Obtain Large Litters. Larger litters are obtained by flushing sows before breeding. This is done by feeding in such a way as to have the sows putting on weight at the time of breeding. The suckling sow should have her pigs weaned shortly before being bred. Her udder should be dried up by a reduction of feed. She should then be flushed and in a few days can usually be bred. After breeding, the sow should be watched to be sure she has caught. If she has not, 21 days later she will again show indications of heat and can again be bred.

A good purebred boar should be used, preferably of the same breed as

WRONG METHODS OF FEEDING ON SUNDAY

Serious Disorders Often Caused by Overfeeding Animals Which Are Working Hard.

More work horses are sick on Monday than on any other day in the week. This is good evidence that something is often wrong with the method of feeding on Sunday, declared Dr. C. W. McCampbell, associate professor of animal husbandry in the Kansas State Agricultural college. "One form of illness to which the work horse is subject occurs so often just following the Sunday rest that it is popularly known as 'Monday morning sickness,'" said Doctor McCampbell. "This trouble is noted most frequently in those cases where horses are working hard, require heavy feeding, and are given the regular feed on Sunday while they remain idle in the barn. This is a serious disorder often resulting in death."

Elections in Land of Nippon. The Japanese people are satisfied with the result of the election of April 20, but agitation regarding expense attending a canvass for a seat in parliament is renewed. The same argument is heard as those after the last general election, according to East and West. The Chugai Shogyo estimates the cost of 800 candidates at not less than $2,640,000! This is more than representatives in the United States expend, but senators have been known to pay half a million for seats in that body. The Chugai says the government spent $200,000 for supervising the election, which, to Americans, will appear moderate. This sum includes "stumping trips" through the country by cabinet ministers; members of the opposition paid their own expenses. The editor regrets that so many men entitled to vote fail to exercise their high privilege. Repeated dissolution of the diet not only causes political disturbances, he argues, but imposes heavy financial loss upon the nation and upon individuals.

Juice of Lemons! How to Make Skin White and Beautiful

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier. Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. # TRAVELS 40 MILES FOR MORE TANLAC

A. D. Hawkins Says His Wife Gained Fifteen Pounds on Three Bottles.

SUFFERED 20 YEARS

Wife's Improvement Has Been Wonderful—All Her Neighbors Talking About How Much Better She Looks.

"I'm taking a forty-mile trip to get more Tanlac," was the remarkable statement made by J. D. Hawkins, a well-known and prosperous farmer, in Jacob's Pharmacy, Memphis, Tenn., recently.

"Yes, sir," he continued. "I live at Bartlett, Tenn., and I drove eight miles to Raleigh this morning to catch the trolley to Memphis, which is twelve miles more, so when I get home that will make forty miles I've traveled to get this Tanlac, and that's proof enough of what I think about it."

"I declare I never saw or heard of a medicine doing as much good as this Tanlac has done my wife. She has actually gained fifteen pounds on three bottles of it and besides it has relieved her of troubles that have been weakening her down for nearly twenty years. She suffered with indigestion and everything she would eat made gas and gave her severe pains in the stomach. She had no appetite at all and suffered with nervous headaches until she couldn't sleep at night. She was so tired all the time that she couldn't do any of her housework at all. I was just about to give up in despair, for we had tried everything we could get hold of, when I read about Tanlac and got a bottle for her."

"Well, sir, she has taken three bottles so far and her improvement has just been wonderful and that's the reason I am making this trip, because I don't want her to be without Tanlac. She can do all her own housework now and is relieved of the indigestion and has a good appetite. Her nerves are quiet and the headaches are all gone and she can sleep well at night. She is gaining in health and strength all the time and the neighbors are all talking about how much better she looks."

"I certainly do endorse Tanlac, for after what it has done for my wife, I believe it is the best medicine in the world."

There is a Tanlac dealer in your town.—Adv.

Fish Are Misnamed.
Apparently every popular name for fish is a misnomer. There is a fish plentiful on the coasts of Alaska known as the atka mackerel. The bureau of fisheries patiently points out that it is not a mackerel and nothing like a mackerel. But it is an excellent food fish, and can be shipped salted. Alaska canneries have been encouraged to salt this fish, which will be known as the atkafish, and it should make its appearance in our markets in the coming winter.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers as a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrup and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly discredited, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

CULTIVATE! CULTIVATE!

Produce More Food, But at the Lowest Cost.

A trip through most of the grain growing districts of Western Canada, and information received from authentic sources, reveals that the spring seeding of wheat, barley and oats is finished and the grain is having a most rapid growth. Men of farming experience here say that the conditions are similar to those years when there was an abundant harvest reaped. During the past year a number of new settlers came into the country, and they will undoubtedly have a good crop this year. This added to the normal acreage, made considerably less by the lack of labor owing to the number who have gone to the front, will give a fair general yield. It is surprising the growth that this country is capable of producing.

Wheat has this spring germinated and shown three or four inches growth in five or six days, and with anything like favorable weather, harvesting should commence about the 15th of August, or a little over one hundred days from first seeding. Hundreds of farmers throughout this vast country paid for their entire holdings out of one year's crop and it would not be surprising if the same experience met a great many more this year.

The best authorities on the wheat situation give it as their opinion that for many years a case, wheat prices will be high. They base their opinion on a scientific calculation and their reasoning seems to be sound. Anyway, it is quite evident that for some years to come, the producer of wheat will be amply rewarded for any effort he may make to develop this branch of agricultural industry. Money may be made on the high-priced lands of the wheat-growing districts of the United States, but it is a question if these high-priced lands would not be more profitably employed in other branches of farming than in growing the smaller grains, leaving it to lands just as productive for wheat, less expensive to operate, and with a much smaller initial price, to provide the world with this necessity of life. Here is where Western Canada, with its vast rich fertile plains, its low railway rates, its exceptionally good shipping privileges, its excellent climate, and its perfect social conditions, has a combination of advantages not possessed by any other portion of the continent.

Furthermore, these lands, of unexcelled quality, are extraordinarily cheap, while for the man who does not care to undertake farming on so extensive a scale there is the free homestead which offers him all the opportunity for which he is looking.

The prospective purchaser will have no difficulty at all in making a selection of a fine piece of land, well located and convenient to transportation, which may be had for from $15 to $25 an acre, and the railway companies or other holders of large tracts are always glad to sell on easy terms. Or if he desires a farm that is already under cultivation and improved, many such are to be had from farmers who already have made comfortable fortunes and are ready to retire.

It is not to the grain grower only that Western Canada offers great opportunities. If one wishes to go in for cattle raising, there are great stretches of range land both free and for lease; and in many sections of the country there are the finest of grazing lands that may be purchased at very low prices.

The appeal which has been sent out both by the United States and Canadian governments, for an unstinted, unlimited production of food stuffs to prevent what might otherwise be a famine throughout this great continent—and then consequently, throughout the world—should in itself arouse all the ambition and desire in the heart and soul of the man who is not fighting at the front, to produce all he can. In addition, there is the potent fact that chances are being taken in answering the appeal. Take it from either standpoint you answer the country's call, although not fighting, and you are also insured against any loss by the high prices that are bound to exist for some time. Whether it be in the United States on its excellent grain lands or in Canada on its splendid grain lands, all should do their bit.—Advertisement.

Annual Flowering Plants

By L. C. CORBETT
Horticulturist, Bureau of Plant Industry
U. S. Department of Agriculture

VERBENA

The verbena is a low-growing annual, with a decumbent or creeping habit. The flowers are borne on terminal or lateral shoots, which lift themselves from five to seven inches off the ground, and when grown in mass the plants will form a mat which in full bloom will give the soil the appearance of having a carpet of flowers. Because of the ability of the plant to form a compact growth and produce a wealth of flowers over a long period, the verbena is frequently used as a bedding plant where carpet bedding effects are desired. The contrasting colors in the varieties which come true from seed allow of securing pleasing combinations of colors which are effective where low-growing plants can be used. The length of stem and the texture of the flower are such that the verbena is of value for bouquets and table decorations. The verbena can be used with good effect in beds, borders, mounds, and in window boxes.

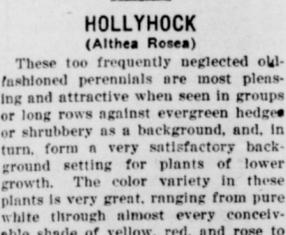

While the verbena grows readily from cuttings and from layers, seedling plants are more vigorous and as a rule produce better flowers. For the earliest bloom in the latitude of Washington, D. C., sow the seeds early in February in a moderately warm living room or greenhouse. For general outdoor planting the seeds may be sown about March 19, either in a living room, hotbed, or greenhouse. Soak the seed a few hours in tepid water and sow in seed-boxes filled with light, rich soil; cover one-fourth of an inch deep, press down firmly, and fan sparingly. When the seedlings are about an inch high transplant them into other boxes, placing the young plants two or three inches apart each way. If thumb pots are available use these in place of boxes. When planting-out time arrives choose a bright, sunny situation. Make the soil rich and compact rather than light, but in all cases provide good drainage. Set the young plants 10 to 15 inches apart each way and give good cultivation until they cover the ground. With such treatment the verbena should give continuous bloom from early summer until killed by frost.

HOLLYHOCK (Althea Rosa)
These too frequently neglected old-fashioned perennials are most pleasing and attractive when seen in groups or long rows against evergreen hedge or shrubbery as a background, and, in turn, form a very satisfactory background setting for plants of lower growth. The color variety in these plants is very great, ranging from pure white through almost every conceivable shade of yellow, red, and rose to ashen-gray and almost black. Although hollyhocks are permanent and hardy, even during the first winter, it is advisable to make seed sowings every year, as the flowers on young, vigorous plants are much finer than those upon old ones. Seed sowings should be made in April or May, and not later than June, to flower the next year. In the final transplanting each seedling should be given a foot or more space each way to allow for full development. The average height of the hollyhock is four feet; many sorts, however, are much shorter, while an equal number are taller than the average above stated.

PORTULACA

This bright-flowered, thick-leaved annual (portulaca) is unrivaled for brilliancy among plants of low growth. It possesses the ability to flourish under extremely adverse conditions; even the hot sun and a light sandy soil, with sparse water supply, will not destroy it. It is satisfactory for beds, edgings, and rockwork, and for filling up irregular spaces or unexpected gaps in flower beds. As an undergrowth for taller plants it is also valuable. It flourishes, carpeting the ground with a mat of succulent foliage that in the forenoon is hidden by the gayest flowers. The plant is particularly useful in the Northwest. The seed does not germinate until hot weather, and should be sown late. Beyond the sowing, this plant requires little care. The hardy character of the plant is shown by the fact that it can be transplanted while in full flower through the driest, hottest seasons. The average height of the portulaca is six inches.

At Washington and southward this plant will perpetuate itself by self-sown seeds. In some soils this is sufficient to cause the plant to assume a weedy character. It never becomes troublesome like its near relative, the weedy garden purslane, or "pusley" (portulaca oleracea).

CALLIOPSIS (Coreopsis)

Coreopsis is a genus of showy annual or perennial herbaceous plants, with graceful long-stemmed flowers well suited for bouquets. The hardy annuals of this genus are generally known by the name calliopsis. This is one of the garden's great forces in yellows, strengthened with rich maroons and browns. Seeds of the calliopsis for summer flowering in situations north of New York city should be sown in March in boxes in a living room or in a gentle heat in a greenhouse or hotbed. In localities south of New York the seeds may be sown in the open in May in good garden soil, with the hope of an abundance of flowers from August until frost. The plants should be thinned or transplanted to at least 10 inches apart each way. Their tall, slender habit makes neat staking and tying necessary. All are fine for cutting, especially coreopsis grandiflora and C. lanceolata.

COCKSCOMB (Celosia cristata)

The cockscombs are prized and planted as an odd and picturesque decorative feature of the garden. The dwarf varieties make novel and attractive borders; the tall ones form striking ing groups, and when interspersed with other lower-growing plants in a border they produce a pleasing contrast. There are both red and yellow forms of the cockscomb, but the bright red and crimson varieties are most effective in gardens and also in winter bouquets, for which they are cut before fully ripe and dried in the house. The young plants can be grown from seeds sown in gentle heat in April and transplanted to the open ground the middle or last of May or the seeds may be sown early in May in the open where the plants are to stand. Transplanting into rich soil about the time the combs begin to form makes the flower-heads much larger. They are bright from midsummer until frost.

Stop using calomel! It makes you sick. Don't lose a day's work. If you feel lazy, sluggish, bilious or constipated, listen to me!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you feel "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store or dealer and get a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it cannot salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.—Adv.

PAIN? NOT A BIT!
LIFT YOUR CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF
No humbug! Apply few drops then just lift them away with fingers.

This new drug is an ether compound discovered by a Cincinnati chemist. It is called freezone, and can now be obtained in tiny bottles as here shown at very little cost from any drug store. Just ask for freezone. Apply a drop or two directly upon a tender corn or callus and instantly the soreness disappears. Shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it off, root and all, with the fingers.

Not a twinge of pain, soreness or irritation; not even the slightest smarting, either when applying freezone or afterwards. This drug doesn't eat up the corn or callus, but shrivels them so they loosen and come right out. It is no humbug! It works like a charm. For a few cents you can get rid of every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, as well as painful calluses on bottom of your feet. It never disappoints and never burns, bites or inflames. If your druggist hasn't any freezone yet, tell him to get a little bottle for you from his wholesale house.—adv.

THE MCLEAN NEWS

A. G. Richardson, Editor
Mrs. A. G. Richardson, Publisher

WHEN we arrived in Clinton Monday afternoon and found we were the only lady who would attend the good roads meeting we must confess that we experienced a decided feeling of timidity and had concluded to remain at the hotel when a splendid gentleman said to us, "remember, Mrs. Richardson, there is not one woman in Congress." We no longer envy Miss Ransoms. The honors and courtesies extended us by this great audience of four hundred men will long be remembered. The recognition of mental equality is the kind of chivalry that the woman of today wants and appreciates.

BOOZE purchasers are warned that it is unlawful to order or cause booze to be ordered or shipped into dry territory by interstate shipment. The penalty is a fine of not more than a thousand dollars and a right healthy looking jail sentence. One more leg gone off the boozers centipede and it is thought likely that he will soon be too dilapidated to navigate at all.

THE Red Cross is one phase of the war activity on which all should join in common, regardless of church or political affiliation, as it is purely and strictly a humanitarian move, designed to alleviate the sufferings and lend aid to the wounded and sick who are cast aside by the flood tide of battle and left to survive or perish as the fates may decide. If those who are not interested themselves in this splendid cause could but imagine one of their own lying wounded and dying by the wayside, helpless and unable to administer to their own needs or drag themselves without the range of the enemy's onslaught, they would probably be willing for even a Catholic priest to perform this act of charity. It should be remembered that the "true priest is not alone of the temple nor the true Levite of the altar, but he only is the servant of God, and thy brother, who delivers the needy when he crieth, the poor also, and him that hath no helper." And that "he is my brother and friend who had mercy upon me."

Live Funeral In Clinton

The funeral services held at Clinton on last Monday night will go down in history as being the most enthusiastic funeral ever attended by the four hundred men who were present. Realizing that the Ozark Trail had died in Amarillo the bunch of live good road boosters on the Northern route determined to finally dispose of it and build and advertise such a road thru this country that would make Col. Harvey (J. L. Pope says Col. Harvey could have been "General" Harvey just as well) turn green with envy. With this determination in view the name of the association was changed to the Western Division of the proposed highway and the same officers were re-elected. They are:

D. J. Murphy, Clinton, Pres.
C. S. Rice, McLean, Vice President.

L. A. Holmes, Secretary.
Mr. Coleman, Treasurer.

Vice Presidents appointed by C. S. Rice for the Texas towns were: Shamrock, H. B. Hill; McLean, Jno. W. Kibler; Alanreed, F. R. McCracken; Jericho, Tom Kirby; Groom, C. R. Slay. A committee composed of T. A. Adams of El Reno, D. Williams of Weatherford, Judge Gilkerson of Elk City, John Whitehurst of Doxey, J. B. Clark of Shamrock and Senator Mitchell and Senator Sam Hogan were appointed to meet a like committee from the eastern division of the highway and were empowered with authority to form one big association for the entire route, attend to all details and give the highway an official name.

After the routine business had been disposed of splendid talks were made. Mr. Whitehurst explained that the so called Northern routeway was the only road through Oklahoma with official markings and was known as the "Postal Highway." That he was glad we did not get the Ozark Trail, because it always took a good lickin' to wake people up and he had never before seen so much enthusiasm along the line of road building; that the road would not now be limited from Tulsa to Amarillo but would reach out to the north west from Tulsa and on to El Paso and the Pacific coast from Amarillo.

Judge Gilkerson likened the condition of the northern routeway just after the Convention in Amarillo to that of the negro boy who fell fast asleep (with his mouth open) when a devilish little white boy came along and dropped quinine on his tongue. On being suddenly awakened he ran frantically to the doctor for treatment saying he didn't know how it happened but he sho had busted his gall bladder. He also explained that this highway would not touch Oklahoma City but would come from Tulsa by way of Guthrie and that it is already the best road and the only one with a bridge over the Canadian river through the state and is by many miles the shortest route.

J. L. Pope made an earnest appeal for unity. He brought in many rich and sarcastic remarks concerning the convention in Amarillo and the decision of Col. Harvey and his contemporaries. He forcibly established the fact that Oklahoma and Texas were big enough for many splendid highways and that one could not be built by knocking the other. In making his appeal for a unity along the proposed highway he told the story of the two negro boys who

Moving Into New Quarters

The Erwin Drug Company is this week removing their stock of drugs and sundries into their handsome new building just completed next door to the old stand. An entire new set of highly finished wall cases, harmonizing in every detail, have been installed in connection with an elaborate marble soda fountain that lends itself admirably to the total attractiveness of this new establishment. With the attractive show windows, the hard wood floors and the beautiful fixtures this store will be one of the most handsome in this section of the state.

In building and equipping this handsome new store Mr. Erwin has demonstrated the fact that business progresses is possible even in a little town for his growth from the tiny establishment in which he started a few years ago to the present metropolitan store he is just completing is a long step forward.

Here's wishing him continued business.

R. A. Thompson Moves.

R. A. Thompson has shipped his stock of dry goods and clothing to White Deer, where he expects to open up a big new store some time next week. In addition to the goods, he is taking from here Mr. Thompson has purchased a ten thousand dollar stock of fall stuff and the new brick building which has recently been completed for his occupancy will be brim full of seasonable goods.

Mr. Thompson is a splendid citizen whom we shall miss and many friends join with us in wishing him continued prosperity in his new surroundings.

Commissioners' Meet.

We had the pleasure of attending the session of the Commissioners' Court at LeFors Monday. The full board was present but few matters of importance were taken up. Among other things they ordered the delinquent tax list published in the News and the Treasurer's quarterly report printed in both county papers. The first report to appear will be that for the quarter ending August 31st. The county finances are lower now than they have been at this time of the year for some time, owing to the unusual amount of road and other improvement.

House Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther McCombs entertained a house party for the week end last week at their pretty ranch home northeast of town. Composing the party were: Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Veach and Maybelle Veatch, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hedrick; Misses Hattie Thompson, Tresa Snyder of Denver, Marguerite Stulting of Houston, Vida Montgomery, Ruby Cook, and Messers. T. J. Coffey, E. R. Eakins, Roy Richardson and Erwin Rice.

Many unique forms of amusement contributed to the entertainment of the guests, among which was a "kangaroo" court before whose tribunal Mr. Eaking was tried for a grave offence and given a maximum penalty. It was a most enjoyable affair were out fishing. One got a bite but found his line caught so he couldn't pull him out. He dove down in the water after the fish when the other negro jumped in after him, caught him by the kinky wool and pulled him out. About that time a minister came along and commended the boy his heroic action in saving the life of his companion. The boy looked up at him and said "It wasn't that, boss, he had the bait in his pocket." Each town along the route has a piece of bait in its pocket.

Lack of space forbids us mentioning all the splendid talks. Suffice to say that the Ozark Trail may be dead but the Northern Route is wonderfully alive.

Porch swings, settees and hammocks. C. S. Rice.

Are You Losing Money Through Your Chimney?

Poor grade coal does not burn thoroughly. A good part of the valuable carbon goes up the chimney as heavy black smoke. This not only wastes money but dirties your house so that you have to repaint much earlier than otherwise would be needed.

Our NIGGERHEAD and PENNANT coals are the best mined in Oklahoma and Colorado—uniform in quality, economical, clean.

These coals burn to a fine ash without clinkers. You get every heat unit out of each ton—thus saving money. Remember the name—NIGGERHEAD and PENNANT Nut.

BRICK COTTAGE FOR NARROW LOT

Low Fire Risk and the Small Maintenance Cost Make This Type Popular.

SOME STRUCTURAL METHODS

Not Necessary to Spend Large Sum for Decoration in Order to Have Beautiful Home—Be Sure to Select Well.

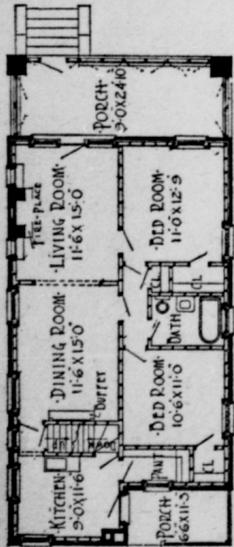

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD. Because of reduced insurance rates, the fact that the interior is warmer in winter and cooler in summer, lower maintenance costs because depreciation is very low and painting is a negligible expense, and the permanent fresh and bright appearance of its walls, the face brick house has assumed an important place among modern residences. Architects and builders have worked in unison to make possible the adaptability of face brick to the construction of the smaller as well as the larger houses.

There are several standard methods of building houses with a face brick exterior wall surface. The two main divisions are those of the solid wall of burned clay material and the wall of some load-bearing backing material or frame of structural members over the outer surface of which a veneer of face brick is built up, this veneer being tied to the structure by means of metal wall ties, cut nails or some other form of tie embedded in the mortar joints between brick at intervals horizontally and vertically. The solid wall construction is made up either of face brick backed with common brick or with face brick backed with structural tile. The solid wall construction runs slightly higher in cost than the veneer, as a general rule. This statement should be modified, perhaps, to include cases in which the face brick are really laid as a veneer over the common brick or structural tile backing, the only connection between the two being the ties mentioned. In this case the building loads are assumed to be carried by the backing, the veneer of face brick being used only for the appearance which it gives.

Floor Plan.

The cost of this type of construction is, of course, closely comparable with that of the solid wall construction, there being a difference only in the saving made possible by the number of face brick replaced by the common brick or tile, in the veneer construction.

Veneer construction consists of brick wall surface over sheathed wood framing and over braced wood framing without the sheathing. The two types of construction just mentioned are probably the most widely used of any in residences. The larger houses are built with the sheathed wood frame while the braced wood frame construction is specially adapted to the smaller houses and cottages where the cost of building is the most important item.

The time when it was considered necessary for a special gang of men to come on the job to lay the brick is rapidly passing. The man who is taking a progressive part in the building field today calls himself a "general contractor" and he is ready to execute any kind of construction work which may be asked of him. This change works to the advantage of the home-builder since it eliminates lost motion, expensive mistakes, and makes one man accountable for the entire job. The live contractor and builder is ready to erect a residence according to any of the different types of construction mentioned.

There is little basis for any man giving up the idea of building a brick house because of cost, if he is able to build a house at all, for an intelligent selection of the design together with the use of the least expensive type of construction, will give him a house which has everything to be desired in external appearance in addition to all of the qualities inherent in this kind of house, making for comfort and low living expense. It is not necessary to spend a large sum of money in decorations in order to have a beautiful home. These little fancy fittings and special trim are the things which run up the cost needlessly in a house which would doubtless look just as well without the "extras." Judgment is also necessary in the selection of the plan for a low-cost house. The number and shape of rooms affect the price of construction. By properly selecting the finish given the interior walls, floors and trim, it is possible to obtain a refined and dignified interior, which is fully up to any reasonable standard, without the use of an expensive layout of rooms. Small corner seats and simple bookcases may be used to add the touch of variety which costs more in the form of bays, alcoves and fancy trim.

The illustrations show the external appearance and the plan of a simple but very substantial built cottage of five rooms. The house is a framed structure with a veneer of face brick on the outside. Sheathing may be used or not, as desired. Wall surfaces are not large in this house and there will be no difficulty in keeping it very cozily heated during the coldest weather, even if the sheathing is omitted. Foundation walls need not be extra thick for this type of building provided they are carried down to solid clay, gravel or other confined and non-settling soil. The foundation wall in this house should be one foot thick at the bottom of which there should be a footing two feet wide and one foot thick. Architects and contractors who prepare plans, proportion the footings so that there will be an equal pressure on every square foot so that if settling does occur it will be equal in all parts of the building, thus preventing cracks in the brickwork.

After the framing of the house is completed the outside veneer of face brick is commenced. The porch wall coping and the window sills throughout the house are made of white stone, concrete or terra cotta. The windows, cornice and other wood trim are painted white, which, together with the white stone copings and sills and the white porch column ornaments, form a pleasant contrast with the walls. The house can be built on a 30-foot lot with room for a walk around to the rear and sufficient space at the sides so that if the neighboring lots are built on, the light can get in the side windows. Casement windows and screen sash may be made interchangeable for the front porch or the casement windows may be permanently attached and the screens placed on the outside, these being replaced in the winter by storm sash, making possible the use of the porch as a sun parlor.

The plan provides a combination living and dining room separated by a wall in which there is a large casement opening. The kitchen has a handy pantry attached. A notable feature in the arrangement of rooms is the bedroom, bath and hall combination. This makes for privacy, which is a very desirable thing where all rooms are on one floor.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

FLYING.

"Come on, come on," said Mr. Thrush, "we are very late."

"Where are we going?" asked the little Thrushes.

Clocks Go Straight On.

"We must be off on our travels," said Mr. Thrush. "All the rest of our family have gone, and the birds are all settled for the summer. We are very late. And we must hurry."

"Must we start at once?" asked one little Thrush. "I am so very sleepy. Can't we wait until the morning?"

"No," said Mr. Thrush. "We are safer in the night time when we travel then. We will go from tree to tree and take a little rest in each one until our traveling is over with."

"May we join?" asked the Vireo family. They are very shy and they like to travel at night for in the daytime they are so afraid of being seen and hurt.

"Yes, indeed," said Mr. Thrush. "A great many of your relations must be ahead of you too."

"Yes, they have all gone except us," said the Vireos.

"And may we join the rest of you?" asked the Warblers.

"Oh, hello, Warblers," said Mr. Thrush. "Glad to see you. By all means, come right along."

The Thrushes, Warblers and Vireos started off and very slowly they took the trip. They traveled only at night and they flew from one tree to another. They said they all felt too shy to travel in the daytime.

At last they reached their summer home. The Vireo family settled in the woods where some of their relations were. They knew they would be quiet where they had settled for it looked wild and as if few people came along that way.

The Thrushes chose some nice bushes for their homes and the Warblers soon got their nest homes in readiness for the season.

When the other birds saw that they had arrived they were very much pleased.

"You were so late," they said. "We were afraid you would not come at all."

"Oh yes," said Mr. Thrush. "But we kept putting off the starting of our trip and time just seemed to fly by."

"Just as we did, eh?" asked the other birds.

"Yes time and birds are both good fliers," said Mr. Thrush. "But the strange part of it is that one is always hearing about the time flying, and not nearly so much about birds flying."

"True," said Mr. Warbler. "I wonder why that is."

"I am sure I don't know," said Mr. Thrush. "Of course when it is said that time flies it means that time hurries along. For time doesn't really fly. It hasn't wings. It has clocks and hands on the clocks that keep time and go straight on all through the days and nights."

"There are clocks named after us," said Mrs. Cuckoo.

"Yes," said Mr. Cuckoo, proudly. "And they have a little make-believe bird which looks and speaks like we do."

"But clocks often don't go," said Mrs. Thrush.

"The time goes on just the same," said Mr. Thrush. "It simply means that the clock has not been wound up. I really could never understand why they didn't say that time hurried along with its hands. But they always speak of its flying. Very, very funny."

"You did the same thing yourself," Mrs. Thrush said.

"That shows what a habit it has become," said Mr. Thrush. "But I still think they should do less talking about time flying and more about birds flying. For we have wings and we do fly."

"But quite differently from time," said Mr. Vireo, in his sweet, shy voice.

"How do you mean?" asked Mr. Thrush.

"Because," said Mr. Vireo, "time goes on all the time. It never stops. It goes from spring to summer and on to winter and then on to spring again."

"That's so," said Mr. Thrush.

"And it is never late," said Mr. Vireo. "Now you see, though we have wings we are late—quite late. But the time has come on just the same. We are behind the time—see?"

"Yes," said Mr. Thrush. "Though we have wings and though children have legs and feet still the time beats us all for it is never late."

"And so," ended Mr. Vireo, "I think it deserves to have the word flying used for it."

GIRLS HELP IN DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Innocently Assist Woman to Hurl Baby and Self to Death.

CHARMED BY CHILD

Mother, Who Had Been Ill, Enlists Aid of Youthful Bridge Promenaders to Leap Ninety Feet to Ground.

New York.—Sadie Winkler and Sylvia Klein, wise beyond their years in the sophistication of the East side and as inured to thrills as only the movies can blunt the sensibilities of girls of fifteen and fourteen, respectively, sauntered arm in arm across the Williamsburg bridge yesterday. It was five o'clock of a sunny afternoon in spring, a time when the bridge forms a promenade for the fashionables of the East end of the East side and the West end of Williamsburg.

That was one reason why Sadie and Sylvia were strolling on the bridge. They found the throng eminently satisfactory and had a pleasant consciousness that their own bright ribbons and nodding plumes were not lost in it.

Attracted by Baby. As they approached the Brooklyn anchorage, where the six-foot guard-rail gives way to a granite structure only three feet high, the two girls paused as even movie patrons will at the sight of a toddling, chuckling, friendly baby. The child was not much more than a year old and was dressed in immaculate white from dark curls to uncertain feet. Lurching precariously, it clutched with confidence at Sadie's hand.

"He's a boy," said a woman in a sleek brown suit, of which even Sadie approved, as she noticed Sadie halt at the command of the small fingers. "Will you hold him for me a minute? My bag dropped over the railing."

Instantly the odd feeling that had obscured Sadie's ordinary clear vision at touch of those fingers vanished. She looked over the head of the baby and into the eyes of the woman, and her cool stare had a glint of suspicion in it.

"What do you take us for?" she demanded. "Easy marks, that we should be left with a baby on our hands?" She was wise in movie lore.

"Aw, take the kid," pleaded Sylvia. "She's all right. Sure, we'll take him."

"Yes, but now that we are man and wife, I expect mother will make the best of it," returned young Bandini.

That even friends of the eloping pair did not know of the runaway marriage was evidenced by the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Bandini had managed to gain the shelter of the apartment she has been occupying without anyone knowing they were there.

Efforts had been made by the mother of Bandini to prevent his marrying Miss Harris for more than a year. His mother, Mrs. Ruth McMahon, was appointed to act as the boy's guardian, together with the Title Insurance company, three times caused the young people to be separated, saying her son was too young to think of marriage. He will not be twenty-one until November.

Robert Bandini is a grandson of Alfredo Bandini, a half-brother of Mrs. Arcadia Bandini Baker, over whose $7,000,000 estate litigation waged for many years. The heirs had almost reached a settlement when the boy's claim was advanced and the proceedings were halted. Claimants in the estate dispute the lad's right to a share, but attorneys proved that he was entitled to some $300,000.

Society Girl Determined to "Do Her Bit"

DETROIT.—Service to humanity has been the inspiration which has caused Miss Ella Farr, daughter of Merton E. Farr, president of the Detroit Shipbuilding company, 40 Putnam avenue, to forego social duties for three weeks. She will train in hospital work, which probably will cause her to leave for "somewhere in France" as a member of Harper base hospital unit. Miss Farr said that while she had made no definite decision, it was not unlikely she would accompany the unit, which is expected to leave July 1.

Feeling that she should do her share in the battle against Prussianism, Miss Farr, at the solicitation of Dr. Angus McLean, head of the unit, decided to train for a nurse's aide. She entered a class at Newberry house with strangers, rather than some of the other Red Cross classes, which many of her friends had entered, so that there would be nothing to distract her mind from her work.

The romance of the life of a war nurse in fiction had no part in the thoughts of Miss Farr, she said. When her brother Rothe enlisted for the officers' reserve camp, at Fort Sheridan, and her younger brother Everett announced his intention to take the summer training course at Williams' college, where he is a student, Miss Farr said she decided she, too, should do her part.

Before enlisting for the two-year service, Miss Farr said she first desired to learn the exact duties of a hospital aid, so that she would know if she were qualified for the work.

Weeds as Table Aid Recommended by Expert

CHICAGO.—As a remedy for the soaring prices of foodstuffs Mrs. W. E. Jacques, weed expert, urges housewives to use weeds on their table. She has made a study of each weed's utility and beauty. But most of all, she values them for food. "There are ten weeds that can be used for food," she said. "These are the dock, nettle, sorrel, purslane, milkweed, lamb's-quarter, pigweed, marsh marigold, brake fern and dandelion. They make excellent greens and are nourishing."

"City housewives, however, will find only three out of the ten available for their use—dock, dandelion and lamb's-quarter. The other seven grow in country places."

"The dandelion is universal; every one knows it everywhere. The dock is seen on vacant lots and lamb's-quarter may be known by its dull green leaf with silvery lining."

"As greens they give the minerals for the body, and when cooked with a little fat, a nourishing food. All weeds should be cooked alike."

"Purslane, commonly called 'pursley' is edible. Chinese are fond of it, and it is found in well-cultivated gardens. Purslane will not grow anywhere else, and it can't stand competition. These aggressive plants decorating the vacant lots of the city make a good wartime food. Improvement associations should make the mistake of attacking weeds just because they are weeds."

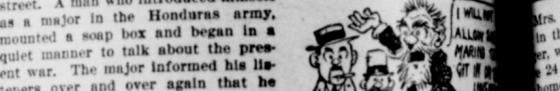

Found big Snake in Partridge.

MILWAUKEE.—A snake 17 inches long was found by F. J. Defnet in a partridge which he had shot. The snake had been filled by the partridge's bill.

HAPPENINGS in the BIG CITIES

New York Street Orator Rudely Interrupted

NEW YORK.—The side streets just off Broadway, in the White Light district, are nightly occupied by speakers who air their grievances or plead to passers-by from soap-box rostrums. But the worst burst of oratory heard the other night in Thirty-ninth street. A man who introduced himself as a major in the Honduras army, mounted a soap box and began in a quiet manner to talk about the present war. The major informed his listeners over and over again that he had found the solution of the submarine problem. He would not say what it was, but he declared that when he learned exactly how to baffle the German submarine commanders forever he would at once impart his secret to the governments of the United States, England and France. He stipulated in giving the secret, however, that it was not to be used at any time to the advantage of San Marino, since of all the allied nations that which he could not tolerate or would not help was San Marino. Inasmuch as the major constantly referred to "my submarine method, of which I tell you presently," the attendance grew and remained. It was just as a policeman joined the throng that the demands for the major's secret became so emphatic that he consented to tell if the crowd would remain quiet. "Gentlemen," he said, "like all innovations of influence in the world's history my secret is as simple as it is great. There is but one way of halting the ruthless warfare of the Hun, and that is—poison the Atlantic ocean. Everyone in the throng placed a tender hand across his own forehead, and a cop coughed once behind his hand. He asked the major if he had a permit to speak, and when it was not forthcoming he questioned him further. The major told him frankly that he was a myth and that in 20 years he will be president of Mexico, the officer excused himself and called on the throng.

Liberty Loan Educational

In addition to the main result, that of selling the two billion dollar bond issue and the equally important result of placing the bonds in every section of the country and among all classes of Americans, the campaign for the Liberty Loan Bonds has had a great educational value. The people of the United States are much better informed now of their Government's finances and methods of finance than ever before. Hundreds and thousands of people whose idea of Government bonds was vague and indefinite are now not only possessors of Liberty Loan Bonds, but know what a Government bond is and the peculiar worth and value of such securities.

They have been informed of what other Governments have done in the way of bond issues, of the wealth of this country compared with its national debt, and the wealth of other countries as compared with their national debts.

The newspapers and the banks of the country were great instructors in this campaign. Scarcely a citizen of any town and scarcely a newspaper reader of any sort in the United States but has had the opportunity during the campaign of informing himself regarding the Liberty Loan Bonds of 1917 in particular and the United States Government bonds in general, and the nature and terms of such securities, and the resources and means back of them.

A new and great source of individual interest in the Government has been created all over the country. The Government is closer to the people and the people have an additional common interest with each other and with the Nation as a result of this Liberty Bond sale.

Sells Floto In Amarillo.

When the medical fraternity expounded the theory that open air was the best treatment for tuberculosis the circus was the first to try out the theory. The first to do so is the Sells-Floto circus, which will be in Amarillo July 16 1917.

For many years the death rate among monkeys with the circus was appalling. Nearly all died of lung troubles. In the course of a season monkeys representing thousands of dollars investment died. Naturally, anything looking toward relief from this loss of life—and capital—was welcomed.

At the winter quarters of the Sells-Floto Circus a big well lighted and well ventilated monkey house was built. The management decided to leave the monkeys out all winter. Nature soon divined this and with the coming of fall the monkeys took on unusually heavy coats of hair.

Since the experiment was made the monkeys with the Sells-Floto Circus have proven the most healthy in the world. In buying new monkeys the newcomers from warm climes are gradually made accustomed to the northern country.

"A Poisoned World."

"We can intellectually, perhaps, visualize the war, if we sit down to think about it, we do not in our hearts feel it yet. It is something apart from us. We shall not realize what the war is until our men, those beloved by us, have been exposed to the dreadful dangers, to the character of wounding that is so horrible under this modern system of warfare, and until we all go to the bulletins and study the names to see whether those who are near and dear to us have been taken for their country's sake. Then the war will come home to us. Then there will be nothing but the war and everything else will be incidental; and until the psychological change has come, we shall not feel the whole measure of our duty as we must feel in order to carry this war through. The Red Cross is the only recognized agency through which we may help to take care of the wounded of our armies and the nations that are fighting our battles.

Think of it! Forty million at the colors, seven million dead, six million on beds of pain, and the whole of Europe taken up with hostilities! You cannot exaggerate the function that our Red Cross will have to perform merely in attending to the wounded of our army and other armies in carrying on this fight. And now, my friends, the one thing for which we ought to be grateful is that in this great war, in this war in which we will have to make sacrifices—oh, such sacrifices, so great that they wring tears from us as we think of them—we should be grateful that we have a cause worthy of all the sacrifices that we can make."—William Howard Taft.

CLEOPATRA AND THE ADDER

What May Have Given Rise to the Story of How the Egyptian Beauty Met Her Death.

Cleopatra, lounging on her tortoise-fur divan, suddenly raised her left eyebrow with a derrick. "No wonder I had trouble meeting the butcher's bill this week," she muttered musically. "I must be spending a fortune entertaining Anthony! And he hasn't brought me so much as a box of mixed dates for a month! I think I'll just count up what I've spent on that pill lately."

And she rang for a slave and had him fetch her account book and her Hotssands' patent lightning spotted adder.

"H'm," she figured, checking up the items. "H'm, $1.80, $14.50, h'm, h'm, so forth and son on, so on and such and such—total, $130.35. Well what do you know about that!"

And in a great huff, she threw the patent adder on the third shelf. Or, strictly speaking, she merely threw it toward the third shelf, for it toppled down again and hit the top of her head between the index bone and the majella.

Hence arose the story of how Cleopatra was killed by an adder.

CANE SUGAR.

Central America's production of cane sugar is not important enough to be listed in tables showing the amount produced by the first 14 countries, whereas Cuba leads the list by a large margin. Cuba's production in the 1914-15 season was 2,592,667 tons (of 2,240 pounds each) and in 1915-16 3,066,000 tons. Java is second with an annual output of 1,000,000 tons, and Hawaii is third with about 600,000 tons. Germany, with 2,500,000 tons; Russia, with 2,000,000; Austria, with 1,600,000, and the United States, with 650,000, are the leading beet sugar producing countries.—Philadelphia Ledger.
