

Chinese Reject Major Japanese Demands Steers Even Title Series By Defeating Eagles 25-16

Deciding Game Scheduled Saturday Evening In Abilene Gym; Brown's Charges Show Reversal of Form

CITIZEN OF BIG SPRING

The reason Mr. Allen selected Big Spring as a place of permanent abode was not because of the future he saw here but because a man stole his horses and left him no means of getting out of town. That was back in the '90's. He had an itching foot in those early days. A trip to old Mexico through bands of marauding Indians was nothing in his life; he made the journey twice. Finally in New Mexico—near Carlsbad—Mrs. Allen became tired of being hauled around. She told him that if he would move back to Texas and set her down under a mesquite tree to stay, she would be satisfied. So he started. Not more than a day's journey out of town he met a very friendly stranger, who knew Big Spring and who offered to ride to town ahead and find a house for him and the family—which he did. The friendliness increased. One day the stranger suggested that he take Mr. Allen's horses, along with his own, to a ranch near Iatan Lake, for free pasturage. Mr. Allen let the horses go. He never saw the stranger again and when he went to get his horses they, too, were gone.

He returned to Big Spring and worked for the railroad for a time; then hauled wood and coal, finally going into the hamburger business. He operated one of the first hamburger stands in West Texas in the space now occupied by J. and W. Fisher's new store.

Selling newspapers appealed to Mr. Allen, as a pleasant relief from hamburgers, and he obtained the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram agency and increased its circulation here almost 500 per cent before the agency was taken from him. He still sells the papers, but in connection with Allen News Stand next door to the post office which he operates with his son and son-in-law.

The prediction made in this column, and in a number of other newspapers, many weeks ago, that John Garner would become a serious contender for the democratic presidential nomination and that he very likely would be the nominee, are being borne out; more and more as new developments in the national political situation occur.

This should be a year of victory for the Democratic party. If the party will stand together and select a candidate who can draw the full voting power of the party, as well as enlist many votes from dissatisfied republicans, its nominee will be elected.

John Garner offers to the party the best opportunity of holding it together that it has enjoyed since Woodrow Wilson left office. His ability to lead has been demonstrated in a big way since he became Speaker of the House. He is eminently qualified to fill the office of President of the United States. He is the smartest politician in Washington and is a man who holds steadfastly to the things he believes in right, regardless of partisan politics.

The party should have learned a lesson from the 1928 race. It nominated a man of fine personal ability, a colorful political figure. But a man whose political background was a Tammany member, whose record with reference to prohibition and whose religion presented complications that, in our Displaying a complete reversal of form over the first game the Big Spring High Steers evened the playoff series for the District 8 cage championship with the Abilene Eagles by defeating the Taylor county clan on their home court 25 to 16 Thursday evening. Abilene had won the first game in Big Spring Tuesday night by a score of 33 to 28.

The third and deciding game will be played in the Abilene gym Saturday evening, Coach George Brown having called the loss of the coin wrong after last night's contest.

Almost shut out for three periods by the sterling defense of the Howard county loop brigade the Eagles made ten of their points in the final quarter. The rally was much too late, however, to start overtaking the Steers, who had practically cinched the contest in the first half, and who never led by less than eight points during the last two quarters.

Few Chances Abilene had few chances to get in close to the basket Thursday night, and the long shot act proved nothing but a ham vaudeville stunt as Chapman and his cohorts found themselves missing frequently. Bill Flowers and Lloyd Forrester of the Bovines were defensive masters in the neighborhood of the basket, and Captain Cecil Reid of the visitors came through with one of the best combinations of defense to play and offensive tactics seen on the local court in many a day.

The tall, slender captain of the Howard county team obtained the tip on Coppinger, Abilene center, consistently throughout the game and outplayed the left-handed Eagle pivotman to lead his club to victory in the second game of the series. Big Dave Hopper, forward, shared honors of the evening with Reid as he sunk six field goals and one free try to take point honors and assist in a great defensive game as well.

The getaway was rood for the Abilene club. It started with a free throw by Street on Flowers' foul, a one-handed field basket by Coppinger, and a nice throw by Stanley Smith from several strides out in front of the basket after Morgan had batted in a rebound. That made the Eagles in the lead 5 to 2 after the first five minutes of play. Then and there, however, the Steers decided that this job of a playoff series had gone in favor of the Eagles long enough. For more than an half the Taylor county cagers were unable to score as a great defensive club in black uniforms covered the court like a blanket of snow. The Steers came on to lead 16 to 6 at the quarter and by 15 to 5 at the half.

More than half the third chukker dragged by without a point from either side. Then Coppinger got a charity try on Morgan's third and last foul and converted. Hopper rebounded almost immediately with a like scoring contribution, and the third quarter came to an end with the score 16 to 6, still in favor of the Bovines.

The fourth quarter opened with a bang and ended the same way, containing more action than all the other periods combined. Abilene gave up its waiting defense and its deliberate offense, rushed the attacking Steers who were now willing to take their time, and getting possession of the ball rushed toward the basket. It was the only frame in which the Eagles outscored the visitors, and then the margin was of only one point as the advantage rested 10 to 9 in favor of the home club. Before the peak of the comeback was reached, however, the Steers had galloped ahead 21 to 8 and the last efforts of the Eagles were useless though noble. Hopper and Reid of the Big Spring team held scoring honors with thirteen and seven points respectively.

State Wins Rich Land In Pecos County

2468 Acres Valued At Twenty Millions; Yates Winner

AUSTIN—The state today emerged victor in one of the most important land suits in Texas history.

District Judge C. A. Wheeler, in Travis county district court awarded the state judgment against all defendants in its suit to quiet title to 2,468 acres of rich oil land in Pecos county, brought against R. B. Whiteside and approximately 150 other defendants.

George T. Wilson, assistant attorney general who handled the litigation for the state, said it had been estimated that property involved in the suit was worth in excess of $200,000,000.

J. H. Walker, commissioner of the state general land office estimated that the permanent school funds royalty interest in oil already produced and yet to be recovered from the pool underlying the land, would aggregate $20,000,000. The state receives one-sixteenth royalty. It had collected about $3,000,000 before the litigation started.

The Humble company alone has $25,000,000 in escrow. The total amount impounded from all sources pending final determination of the litigation amounts to approximately $50,000,000 in cash at this time, Wilson estimated. This money will be distributed to the state land owners, lease holders and royalty owners, Wilson said.

Yates Favored Judgment in favor of Ira G. Yates against the Douglas Oil company, claimant under Whiteside interests also was awarded. The oil company has filed a cross action against Yates in the suit. Yates, under the court decision, was given full title to the land on which is located the Yates oil field, one of the most prolific producers in the world. Yates held title under grant from the state.

The state sold the land to Yates and others after a land office showed vacancy. The state vacancy existed between block 194 and the Pecos river survey.

When oil was discovered several years later, the right of the state to sell the land was contested. Whiteside and others claiming no vacancy existed and that the east-west section of block 194 did not receive their full acreage quotas.

In his decision, Judge Wheeler declared the state land office surveys were accurate and that the vacancy had existed as claimed by the state.

The state had reserved a royalty interest in the vacant land in favor of the public school fund. Had Judge Wheeler decided in favor of the defense, the school fund would have lost its royalties since the defense claimed it as part of a railroad survey in which the state did not receive a mineral interest.

Notice of appeal was given by the Douglas Oil Co. which dismissed all its cross-actions against claimants to the land under patent from the state except the Ira G. Yates estate, land owned by the Yates estate, land in sections No. 21 and No. 33 and land set out in the state's second amended petition.

Under the decision approximately 50 vacancy suits pending in Pecos and other West Texas counties will be ousted. The decision upheld validity of the state's sales of the land and declared there was no more vacant land in the area.

Judge Wheeler's decision also definitely set the boundaries of block 194, establishing the east line of block 2 as the true west line of block 194 and the north line of block 176 as the south line of block 194.

The decision also established the northeast corner of block 194 by declaring it to be a line run from the east line of block 2 to a right angle connection with the meridian line established by Captain R. S. Dodd. The meridian line was one of the chief points in controversy and Judge Wheeler's decision said it to be accurate.

Chinese Refuse To Dismantle Forts As Requested

NANKING (AP)—The national government reported it had instructed General Tsai Ting Kai at Shanghai to tell the Japanese that it will withdraw twelve miles from the city as demanded in Japan's ultimatum, only on condition that the Japanese do likewise.

The government announced its unconditional refusal to dismantle the Wootung and Paoshan forts. It was considered unlikely that the Chinese reply would delay the expected Japanese attack.

SHANGHAI (AP)—Chinese artillery again became active, as a prelude to the battle expected when the Japanese ultimatum expires tomorrow.

Elaborate preparations for defense have been made by General Tsai Ting Kai, who said everything was ready. The 'defense has been prepared for miles behind the lines.

The Japanese general, Kenkichi Uyeda, said that he expected resistance. Many American citizens evacuated the Honkew area and came to the International Settlement, where they were believed to be safer.

TOKYO (AP)—Mukden reports said that the executive committee of the new Manchurian state unanimously chose Henry Pu Yi, former boy emperor of China, to be its executive. It was uncertain whether he would become monarch or president. It had been known for many weeks that he probably would head the new state.

TOKYO (AP)—Government officials were conferring on the Shanghai situation. They were believed to be planning large reinforcements there. Minister of War Araki said it was reported General Chang Kai Shek was bringing Chinese reinforcements. There are now about 90,000 Chinese in the Shanghai area. Japanese general sightings will be held tomorrow. Both the Minsetto and Seiyukai parties are anti-Chinese but the Seiyukai, now in power, is more militaristic. Election issues are chiefly economic.

GENEVA (AP)—Twelve neutral members of the League of Nations council overruled the Japanese objection to the Chinese proposal to submit their difficulties to a meeting of the full league assembly. It will be held tomorrow. The Chinese were preparing to protest formation of the new Manchurian state, as a violation of territorial integrity, prohibited by the league covenant.

Garner Waxes Warm Against Hoover's Plea

President Wants To Form More Bureaus, He Declares

WASHINGTON (UP)—Speaker of the House Garner waxed eloquent in the plain-spoken Texas manner today in denouncing President Hoover's proposals for reorganization of the government departments to achieve economy.

"I thought he wanted to abolish a lot of bureaus—but he'll believe he wants to create some new offices," the speaker commented. He was referring to the president's recommendations in his message yesterday suggesting additional agencies to handle such matters as reclamation and public works, among others.

Shortly after Garner's explosion, the scheduled Democratic luncheon was opened in the house by Chairman Bryan of the appropriations committee, who declared President Hoover "has created more commissions and boards—some of them without legal authority—than any other president."

"I think he could make a start by abolishing these," Bryan said. He intimated that President Hoover had sent his message to congress at this time to take the edge off democratic plans to abolish bureaus and consolidate agencies to achieve economy.

I.C.C. Decision On T&PN Petition Expected Soon But Final Action Not In Prospect For Some Months

WASHINGTON — Decision on the Texas & Pacific Northern's report on the application across the South Plains to Vega is likely to be made soon, but the final action in the case might not be taken for some months, it is believed here following the oral arguments before Division Four of the Interstate Commerce Commission recently.

The full application was the subject of the arguments and the attorneys went into the whole case thoroughly in a session that lasted from 10 o'clock in the morning until the middle of the afternoon.

The proponents of the application stressed the need for better rail facilities in the affected area and declared that development which would follow the building of the complete rail project would cause an increase in the amount of traffic and tonnage. Opponents argued that the line was not needed. The Santa Fe, the Denver and the Rock Island lines were represented by attorneys in opposing the plea.

Two Texas & Pacific attorneys, T. D. Gresham and G. O. Bateman both of whom recently argued the Abilene & Southern case before the full interstate commerce commission, spoke. T. S. Christopher, assistant attorney general, represented the state of Texas in favoring the line. Garland Woodward, attorney of Big Spring, represented the affected towns in pleading for the line.

Woodward's talk was a high point in the argument. He predicted his plea on the contention that no existing transportation agency would lose traffic, claiming that a through line from Big Spring to Amarillo would create enough new business to enable the line to be a paying proposition. His talk lasted about 25 minutes.

Commissioners B. H. Meyer and C. D. Mahaffey heard the case.

SUNSET PASS by Zane Grey

SYNOPSIS: Open battle at last flares out between Trueman Rock and Ash Preston. Rock has known that Ash is a cattle rustler, and that he has entangled his father, Gage Preston, in the same business. He must kill Ash to save Gage and his daughter, Thiry, whom Rock loves, from disgrace.

Chapter 47 THE LAST BULLET
Blood poured down. As he swept up his gun Rock shot him through the middle.
The bullet struck up dust beyond and whined away. But Ash, sustaining the shock, fired again and knocked Rock flat.
Like the first bullet, this one struck as if it were wind, high on his left shoulder. He heard two more heavy booms of Ash's gun, felt the sting of gravel on his face. Half rising, Rock fired again. He heard the bullet strike. Terrible fleshy sullen sound! Ash's fifth shot spanged off Rock's extended gun, knocked it flying, beyond reach.

More Entries Ready For Big Toad Derby

Kentucky and England boast their thoroughbred horse races but these events of speed are commonplace occurrences when the horned toad thoroughbreds toe the line for an assault on the speed marks of the world, according to the American Legion.

The Legion officers and committeemen say that history will be made in the world of speed as well as entertainment Friday night, February 26, at the ballroom of the Settles Hotel when a flock of horned toads display their ability to run when they want to.

This great derby will be staged in the intermission of the dance which is being given in connection with the event. Many Big Spring business men have entries and are confident that they can train a blue ribbon racer. The toads will be lined up in a barrier in the center of the circular track. At a given signal they will be released and the race is on.

The idiosyncrasy of a horned toad at times proves baffling and such may prove to be the case next Friday night. What starts out to be a world's record flash may end in a dismal flop. Sometimes the one closest to the tape turns and runs back to the starting point before the goal is reached.

Our Stake In China

THE AMERICAN stake in China is comparatively small—a mere pittance when compared to the whole sum of foreign investments in that country.

Against the United States investment of $300,000,000, Britain has $1,200,000,000, Japan $1,150,000,000, and all other countries $882,000,000.

American investments in China include $100,000,000 in Shanghai of a commercial nature, $45,000,000 in Chinese government securities, and $52,000,000 in commercial investments outside of Shanghai.

Britain, with a stake six times larger than our own, might be expected to take the lead in any movement to head off the Japanese conquest of China. But Great Britain has troubles in India and at home that keep her pretty well occupied. In addition, she had an incipient mutiny in her navy a few months ago, and her financial condition is not of the best. Perhaps, knowing this, Japan decided to go ahead with her conquest in the face of British displeasure. Britain is in no condition to put on a major war just now. From the first of the great world powers, the British Empire has declined until today it has no longer strikes terror into the hearts of ambitious upstart nations like Japan.

Most Americans would agree that this country should go to any length short of actual war to protect our stake in China. If we set ourselves up as a great nation we must make foreign investments, and if we make such investments we must see to it that they are respected.

Outdoor and Indoors Program Feature of February Session

East Ward P-T.A. held a patriotic meeting Thursday afternoon with a large attendance present. Mrs. J. P. Dodge, president, presided over the meeting, which was devoted to the dedication of six trees, commemorating the Washington bicentennial, and of the flag presented by the Council to the school.

During the tree dedication, the pupils of the entire school marched out the east and west doors to the front for a program which included the singing of an arbor day song, a reading called "Trees" by Mollie Smith, numbers by Miss Hawk's and Mrs. Wilcox's rooms, called "Uses of Trees"; an address by Supt. W. C. Blankenship and a dedicatory speech by little Miss Yvonne Goodpastor.

Mrs. Chas Koberg presented the flag which was accepted by Mrs. Dodge in the name of the P-T.A. and Mrs. Throp, in the name of the school. During the raising of the flag, the children sang "America" and gave the flag salute.

The remainder of the afternoon's program was carried on indoors, with Miss Audrey Phillips' rooms in charge. There was a drill, "Washington's Day in the Primary Room," a reading by Joy Lane, and a drill "What Should Have Happened."

Since February is the month for observing Founder's Day, the program was concluded with a birthday tea. Mrs. Dudley and Mrs. Ringler presided at the tea table. The Home Bakery had donated a lovely white birthday cake which was sliced and served with hot tea, after which a silver offering was taken up for the extension work of the national organization.

During the business session it was announced that six under-nourished children were being fed. The president appointed the following to serve on a committee for the coming year: Mmes. Ringler, Ratliffe, Wallace and Throp.

Fight To Ascend Jones Throne Is Golfing Feature

Confidence reigned in the camp of the Big Spring High Steers as George Brown prepared to lead his black-clad warriors into Abilene for the third game of the playoff series Saturday night. No less an authority than David Hopper himself declared that they would play better in the Taylor county gym, which is larger than the one here.

But while local supporters were shouting the praises of David Hopper, who scored almost a third of the entire total of points garnered by both teams, a great part of the credit for the Bovine victory was given to Captain Cecil Reid, who outplayed Abilene's ace, "Lefty" Coppinger, Reid secured the majority of the tipoffs, outscored the Eagle star, and in general conducted himself like the all-district center that he is.

Flowers, all-district in 1930-31 and the hard-luck champion of last year's gridiron squad, has come through in fine shape to play his best ball of the season in the playoff series. He has been not only a defensive titan but an offensive star as well, scoring three goals in four attempts in the first game in Big Spring when the rest of the club was shooting far below par.

Fight To Ascend Jones Throne Is Golfing Feature

When the shelling ceased over the fairways and traps in the major golfing wars of the year, the mighty kingdom he had welded together with his record-breaking grand slam was divided among four of the lesser barons of the game in England and America—Eric Martin Smith, Tommy Armour, Billie Burke and the veteran Francis Ouimet.

But the Big Spring captain will have to repeat the performance Saturday to win the center's post on an all-district team composed of the players of the two clubs if such a mythical tie is selected. And as far as the western portion of District 8 is concerned it would be fair to consider only Abilene and Big Spring players.

Texas Topic

In their breezy western fashion, taxpayers in two Northwest Texas counties have followed Central Texas in demands for cutting of county salaries and county tax rates.

At Crowell a mass meeting of more than 100 taxpayers demanded the resignation of the Board county commissioners for their refusal of a demand that they reduce assessment valuations 30 per cent. The court agreed to a 25 per cent cut.

Hardeman county taxpayers served up a petition asking that all county officers' salaries be cut, and all possible expenses be lopped off.

One of the county officials came back with the customary and feeble gesture of citing the amount of taxes paid by leaders in the movement. Others pointed out their salaries were allowed by statute and it wouldn't do to tamper with the law by cutting them.

There are two possible consolidations, affecting five eleemosynary institutions and departments, which may not have to wait on the report of the legislative efficiency committee.

The Confederate Woman's home has about 80 inmates and 37 employees. The roster of the Confederate Men's home has been reduced by the ravages of time until only a handful of the original 1000 veterans remain.

The Confederate home has hospitable buildings and dormitories that could be given to the widows. . . . The time has come when the state readily could take care of all its aged wards of the Civil war in one plant, with much room to spare.

In a still cruder stage of public care for orphans and homeless children than present inadequate welfare measures, the state sought to take the orphans and place them in institutions, where at best they missed all the warmth and gentle influence of home life. . . . Now the state has turned to the more modern system of using its efforts and resources to finding private homes for the waifs.

The state has a dependent and neglected children's home at Waco. The institution has about 250 children in its care. . . . Miss Jennie Burleson, its superintendent, is an able executive, one devoted to the humanitarian work, and guided by those impulses of thoughtfulness for the children that when possible under adequate safeguards, she helps place children with families.

In time it should be possible for all those received to be given private homes. The present institution could be developed into the finest hospital in the Southwest for the corrective treatment of the hundreds of small children whose parents are unable to buy the medical and hospital attention that would adequately fit the children for life.

It could continue indefinitely as a clearing house for neglected children's placement in home, but through it the state could contribute a mighty factor to improving the white lives of people and generations of people as a modern children's clinic.

Japanese Minister Of Navy Minimizes Prospects For War

By ADMIRAL MINEO OSUMI
Japanese Minister of the Navy
Written for the United Press

TOKIO. (UP)—Mischief mongers are spreading talk of a Japanese-American war, using the Shanghai incident in an effort to impose their jingoism on a credulous world.

The extent to which the world gives attention to such foolish propaganda indicated the extent to which it is playing into the hands of sinister agents who are agitating for concealed, selfish ends.

Despite agitation, war does not come to a wise humanity. However, we must be on guard against the propaganda of those parties whose interests are served by Japanese-American agitation.

I have been asked if the Japanese Navy is uneasy regarding American naval maneuvers in the Pacific. Quite the contrary, we do not feel the remotest concern. Nervousness, suspiciousness and hysteria are not characteristics of Japanese sailors. The American Navy is doing just what we do ourselves in training for emergencies. Navy men understand and navy men realize they are fighting hypothetical enemies, not real enemies, and feel a genuine friendliness toward each other.

That is sportsmanlike, it stimulates health and prevents sloth and degeneration.

Regarding the Shanghai conflict between the Chinese and our marines, enough has been said for the world to appreciate the truth despite efforts of propagandists. If the Chinese cease attacking, the fighting will cease.

The Navy is mortified by reports of an attack on U. S. Consul Ringwalt in Shanghai, but we did our best to keep irresponsible persons under control, and have deported many. Our only information so far has been press reports, which are surprising since volunteers to the Japanese cause have been suppressed. It is possible the offenders were not Japanese, or if so, not genuine volunteers.

I am instructing my attaches abroad to explain the various points in connection with criticism of Japanese air bombings. It requires only impartial examination to show they were inevitably necessary because of the overwhelming odds our marines face in fronting the flower of the Chinese army, 10 times superior in numbers, and even worse, the activities of hundreds of provocative agents in plain clothes.

WHITTINGTON CHURCH CLOSED

Famous Bow Church, whose bells recalled Dick Whittington to London, has been closed for want of $13,000. The church cannot be re-opened until roof, steeple and walls have been made safe. Even the bells need recasting or skilled repair. Altogether $75,000 is needed for restoration work. Experts say that the plight of the historic church is due to the ravages of the death watch beetle, which has eaten beams in the roof, the great explosion in Silvertown some years ago, which is believed to have caused cracks in the walls and steeple, and the heavy traffic of Cheapside, which has widened the cracks. It may be years before another service is held in the church.

Three young ladies put their heads together...

THEY WERE TALKING ABOUT SMOKING... whether girls should or should not smoke; but it came out that all three of them had been smoking for a long time. They were asking each other what made a good cigarette. And after discussing one thing and another, they agreed that a cigarette should be milder.

They thought also that it should taste just right—that is, not over-sweet, but on the other hand, not bitter—just sweet enough.

And everybody, they said, wants anything that is placed in the mouth just as pure as can be.

Then they began to think what cigarette, if any, filled this bill; and agreed that CHESTERFIELD was milder—tasted better—and was pure. The girls were satisfied, because "They Satisfy."
