Barstow Scout Troops Record Unusually Good

BARSTOW—Boy Scout troop 61 of Barstow, although organized slightly more than a year ago, has become one of the most efficient scout organizations in the Buffalo Trail Area Council.

The troop was organized January 1, 1931. J. E. Echols, the present scoutmaster, took charge in May, 1931. After two or three months the scoutmaster, so he says, decided he "didn't know enough about scouting to make it a success. He, therefore asked for a couple of experienced Scouts to assist. Sylvan Friedman and Owen Galbraith were sent from troop 42 at Sweetwater and spent a week in which Barstow scouts passed more than 100 tests.

From July of last year to the present the troop has raised 100 per cent every month. Twenty-four scouts were registered January 1, 1932. One of these was lost when he left the city but a new recruit brought the ranks back to the original number.

The boys were disappointed recently when they learned the annual area Jamboree would be held on the same days as their district inter-scholastic League meet, at Alpine. Six of the boys were entered and attended that meet, two were ill and two were unable to attend for other causes so only 14 of the members attended the Jamboree.

It was the first Jamboree any of them had attended so it is justly proud of the record it made, especially by the winning of the gold medal for signaling, which was captured by Pollard Rodgers.

The troop now is a year and four months old. It has two Life scouts, one Star scout and others ready to pass the requirements for Star rating at the next Court of Honor. It is the aim of every Scout to make an advancement at the next Board of Review.

Candidate

O. C. FUNDERBURK, above, has announced his candidacy for associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals for the eleventh district, at Eastland, which includes Howard county.

Mr. Funderburk is asking election for his first full term, having been appointed and later elected to an unexpired term.

In issuing his announcement, Mr. Funderburk made the following statement:

"All of the industry if which I am reasonably capable, and all of the ability with which nature and training have endowed me, have been given to the impartial discharge of this important function of our government. From time to time we have been encouraged by voluntary expressions from numerous lawyers and judges all over Texas, commending our court, and making favorable comparisons with other Courts of Civil Appeals.

If this, your court, has merited any special praise, you may be assured it is because, by bringing our different types of mind to the solution of our problems, we have labored with the common aim and purpose of correctly determining and declaring the law applicable to the cases reviewed. In doing this we have never sought to make a particular disposition of any case. The disposition of a case

Sport Dress PATTERN NO. 193

Simplified illustrated instructions for cutting and sewing are included with each pattern. They give complete directions for making these dresses.

Sport-wear does not necessarily have to be straight-lined or severe. 1932 sport clothes bear the mark of simplicity, underlined with feminine softness. Curves are no longer hidden. They are considered smart. 193 is a chic example of what Miss 1932 will look like. Simple molded lines achieve shoulder breadth, snug hips and skirt flare. A cowlled encrustation at the neckline of contrasting fabric or color corresponds with the inserts in the modified bishop sleeves. The slim line of the hip is accentuated by a front and back elongated inset. Designed in sizes 14, 16, 36, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 3-4 yards of 36-inch fabric, 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch fabric, and 3-4 of a yard of either 36-inch or 39-inch for contrast.

To get a pattern of this model send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins.

Please write very plainly your NAME AND ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER AND SIZE of each pattern ordered.

simply follows as a matter of course from the decision upon the questions of law and fact.

[That we have worked with reasonable industry is suggested by the fact that, since I became a member of the court, besides the numerous motions, original proceedings of mandamus and injunction, cases studied and afterwards certified, and cases in which an outside special judge has participated,--all involving a great volume of work, and often written opinions, we have decided and handed down written opinions in 457 cases. Each of these opinions is that of the court and not merely of the judge who wrote it, except where contrary views are expressed. I have indicated disagreement in 12 of the cases. The ratio of 12 to 457 certainly suggests no more than a wholesome independence of thought. In 244 of these cases our decision has been accepted as final; in 5,

Program For Box Supper Announced

The box supper which will be held at the First Christian Church Friday evening will be more than a box supper; it will be an answer, for the time being of that plea, "Let Me Be a Child Again Just For Tonight."

Before the boxes, which every woman will bring well provisioned for two, there will be a clever old-fashioned program in the setting of an old-fashioned parlor. This program will consist of musical numbers and readings and will be called "The Old-fashioned Album."

After the rendering of "Among My Souvenirs," by Mrs. Ned Beaudrean, the following will take part in the scenes to the accompaniment of the songs listed: Grandpa and Grandma, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bohannon, while the church quartet, composed of Mrs. Willard Read, Mrs. Joe Earnest, Steve Baker and O. M. Shaw, will sing, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie."

Mother (unannounced) while E. W. Potter sings, "That Wonderful Mother of Mine."

Baby brother, D. R. Lindley, while E. B. Bethell sings, "Sonny Boy."

Belle of the Town, Miss Allyn Bunker, while Mildred Creath reads "That Old Sweetheart of Mine."

Town Duds, "Omar Pitman" while D. R. Lindley gives a reading. A Couple of Old-fashioned Lovers, Mrs. Joe Earnest as the girl and Mrs. L. A. Eubanks, as the boy, while Mrs. Read sings "When You Were a Tulp and I Wore a Big Red Rose."

Sweet Girl Graduate, Mrs. J. R. Parks, while Mr. Bethell sings "My Wild Irish Rose."

Barefoot Boy, Virgil Smith, while someone reads Whittier's "Barefoot Boy."

Ten-year-old Twins, Mr. L. A. Eubanks and Mrs. F. M. Pursor, while Mr. Bethell sings "School Days."

The men's quartet will sing old-fashioned tunes during the serving of the suppers and it is probable

Rheumatism

Uric Acid Poison Starts To Leave Body In 24 Hours

All Pain, Agony and Inflammation Gone in 48 Hours

Make up your mind that unless you treat Rheumatism, Neuritis, Neuralgia or Sciatica in the RIGHT way--you'll periodically suffer the rest of your life!

The superb ingredients of the Allenru prescription are favorably known and its marvelous pain-ending power banishes all discomfort. It's compounded to drive out of muscles, joints and tissues those excess uric acid deposits which cause agony of mind and body.

What a joy to know that never again need you sit up all night suffering terrible pain--what a blessing to know you can conquer this insidious affliction without harmful drugs, opiates or brain-numbing tablets which relieve only for a short time.

A large 8 oz. bottle of Allenru costs but 85c. And Collins Bros. Drugs and prominent druggists all over the U. S. say, "If one bottle of Allenru doesn't end your pain more quickly--if it doesn't give more lasting results than any other treatment--we'll gladly return your money."

Allenru for 48 hours--then back on the job again--adv.

pending motions for rehearing, we have certified questions to the Supreme Court, not yet answered; in 20, applications for writ of error are still pending and in 23 the time to file applications has not expired; in 165 cases applications have been acted upon by the Supreme Court, resulting as follows: Dismissed, 56; refused, 38; granted, 31. Of the 31 granted, 20 are still pending. Of the other 31 cases decided by the Supreme Court, 20 cases (with modification in 5) have been reversed. In other words, 389 cases of the 457 cases have up to now, been finally disposed of, with the result that our decision has stood up in over 95 percent of them.

"Upon this record I confidently seek your indorsement and support."

Local People Visit Submarine In Gulf

On a recent trip to the Gulf coast S. T. Eason of Big Spring had the interesting experience of inspecting a flotilla of U. S. submarines which were anchored in Galveston harbor.

Relating the features of these craft which impressed him Mr. Eason said that "there were seven of the vessels, all chained together and at first appearance reminding one of seven lead pencils sharpened at both ends. When we got near them we learned they were 231 feet long with 21-foot beams. Each carried one gun, eight torpedoes and four torpedo tubes. After we had inspected them carefully and they seemed "gentle" we stopped aboard. We landed on the S-11, whose deck was covered with sailors. They all appeared to be pretty young men. They talked freely and all wanted to go home. We went down into the ship and looked back from under the sea at the world through a periscope."

Mr. Eason's party consisted of himself, Mrs. Eason and their son, and Neil Story, who was reared in Big Spring.

Wilson & Clare Formally Open Enlarged Grocery Store

The Store Complete Has Many Entirely New Features Giving Service, Convenience To Public

Better Homes Week is being observed in many cities. Nowadays you hear and see a lot about "complete homes."

Big Spring has fallen heir to "the grocery store complete."

It is Wilson & Clare's enlarged store at East Second and Runnels streets, which is holding its formal opening in larger quarters Friday and Saturday.

Not only has the floor space used by this firm been doubled—it now totals 5,000 square feet—but numerous comparatively small but nonetheless useful and valuable refinements and improvements have been added to make it one of the most interesting stores in all Texas.

For one thing it is, insofar as can be learned, the only Texas grocery store which has a completely furnished women's waiting room with a rest room and other things installed for comfort and convenience of customers.

It Pays

"We have found all along that the best-lighted, best-equipped store is the one that pays," declared F. D.

and a signal sounds near an extension telephone which is placed near the meat department, the store office and the woman's waiting room.

Parking Signos

The store was enlarged by taking in a 25-foot store space adjoining the original store on the east. This additional store space is on the corner. The store now has a total of 150 lineal feet of parking space along its south and east sides. The corner location also affords greater opportunity for lighting. The entire front from ceiling to near the floor is of plate glass. Four large windows, which may be lowered in warm weather are arranged along the east side. Several sky-lights further improve lighting and ventilation.

Even then, in the words of the proprietor, "with all these lights turned on you can have more light in here at night than in daytime."

When you walk into Wilson & Clare's store you're usually greeted with a smile and a cheery word from Miss Polly Webb, who presides at the "knick-knack" counter. It is her duty, and she likes to perform it, to watch each customer. If he or she indicates by word or action or otherwise that she wishes to inquire about something Miss Webb seeks to learn what he or she wants. Polly has a city directory, and other things to help her give customers any information, whether it be where to find something in the store or about matters entirely separate from grocery buying.

The lobby is 15 by 24 feet, with a double door entrance on each side. On the west side of it is Miss Webb's counter on the east side the fruit and vegetable department.

Plenty of Room

Regardless of where two people may meet in the store they can stop and visit without being in the way of any other customer. You can come straight from the lobby to the meat counter in the back without any "detouring" as might have been necessary in the old "orthodox" "help-yourself" arrangement. Particular care has been taken to arrange the merchandise so that it can be reached without loss of time.

The store is arranged so that customers may move both "up-and-down" and "across" the store along direct courses. There's no "winding around" a course that takes you to every part of the store before you can reach the articles you wish.

The butcher can stand behind his counter at the back of the store and see the Settles Hotel up Runnels street and tell you who is passing across the street. This is because everything in the store is built low.

An ingenious arrangement has been effected for display of some of the stock. Square bases with a metal standard anchored in the middle to the top of which a pyramid price tag is attached in such manner as to keep the tag upright and readable at all times is used. Oftentimes these "tables" or "stands" are numbered. They are covered with packages or cans of one article only. The store's advertising often lists goods according to tables—Nos. 1, 2, 3, etc. This has been found very effective and convenient.

The women's waiting room is very comfortable. Electric fans, an electric clock, magazines and other things make it exceedingly useful.

This room is open to women of all churches and to all rural community ladies. They are invited to use it for food sales of various kinds. On Saturdays it is arranged that the things the women wish to sell may be displayed attractively.

"We are sincere in this invitation," declare the proprietors. "We want the women to use this place at any time."

Numerous apparently trivial features may be found in this unusual store. There is a place for keeping broken cases, plenty of storage space in the rear of the store, where a men's room is located.

Asked about the meat department W. B. Clare, who gives special attention to that department, said "we handle the best meat that can be bought." All meats offered in this store have been inspected by the federal government, and bear the inspector's stamp. Most of the meats are from Armour & Company, Swift & Company, and other recognized packers. Wilson & Clare have handled some of I. B. Caub's fine Hereford baby beef, which is also government inspected.

Mutton of all kinds, lamb, a wide variety of sausages, cheese, fresh fish on Thursdays and Fridays are handled.

F. D. Wilson and W. B. Clare, the proprietors, are assisted in operation of their store by the following: B. S. Hubbard, butcher; Art Kern, produce department; C. A. Johnson, checker; Dwight Heblson, stock man; J. H. Clare, Polly Webb, Joe Clare, Jimmy Wilson, Morris Baas, Junior Hubbard, Frank Mendoza.

Two Latin Cups To Be Engraved By PTA

The Second Year Class in Latin of the Big Spring high school has a loving cup which will remain forever the possession of the high school as a tribute to the honors won by that class in three successive years. In commemoration of this the High School Parent-Teachers' association voted at its meeting Tuesday to pay for engraving the cup.

It has already been engraved for the first year with the letters, B. S. H. S. 1931. It now needs only 1931 and 1932.

The P. T. A. plans also to engrave the cup which the first year class in Latin has won for the past two years, said Mrs. H. A. Stegner, head of the Latin department. This class needs to win its cup for only another year in order to make it a permanent possession of the school.

Polly Webb, Who Always Smiles, Is Member Of Staff

Everybody knows Polly Webb. Somebody ought to offer a prize for anyone finding her without a smile on her face if he wanted a "cinch" that he wouldn't have to buy the prize.

The same delightful enthusiasm and sweet humor that made her one of the best pep leaders in Big Spring high school ever had is making a very useful member of the Wilson & Clare store staff.

Polly is the first person you meet when you enter the store. She presides at a counter in the front where you can buy all those little odds-and-ends that are useful and needed but which you're liable to forget if you're not careful.

Breads and pastries, candles of all kinds, pencils, cold drinks, picnic plates and napkins and spoons, razor blades, hair restorers, fly swatters, face creams, mouth washes, antiseptics, writing materials, tooth paste, cigars, cigarettes, snuff, Syrup of Figs, cough drops, electric light bulbs—

Just a few of the things Polly will sell you. She has her own cash register. There is a telephone placed so that customers may use it from the lobby. She is the information department, the official greeter of the store.

Wilson & Clare Give Reason For Enlarging Store

Why did you decide, during a period when most lines of business are supposed to be depressed, to enlarge your store?

That question was put to F. D. Wilson and W. B. Clare.

Here's the answer: "We have always kept a close check on reactions of the public to various little services offered. We watched closely to discern inconvenient features of our smaller store. We have enjoyed a good business ever since we came here in 1928."

"But, we found that clerk hire was too large for the volume of business we were doing in the past several months."

"Instead of cutting off any employer—that is suicide nowadays—we decided to get more business."

"The only way we figured we could get more business was to offer more to the public. This we have done, and our business has gained steadily ever since we enlarged the store several weeks ago."

"We have never looked for any rapid pickup in volume. We have sought a steady gain and are getting it."

"We've found all along that the best lighted and best-arranged store is the one that pays. People have given us their business and we felt they were entitled to something better. They have shown their appreciation by giving us more business."

"There is no doubt but that things are picking up gradually in Big Spring and her territory. More new people have been in our store in the past month than in a long time."

WCTU Hear Talks Meeting On Voting

The Rev. R. E. Day spoke to the meeting of the local W. C. T. U. Wednesday evening, in its meeting at the First Baptist church, and stressed the point that many fine Christian women fall in their Christian duty by not voting and functioning as citizens should.

Mrs. B. Reagan stressed the necessity for cooperation among Christian women in voting for one dry candidate so as not to let the wet candidate split the votes of the dry forces.

Mrs. K. S. Beckett reported the support which the W. C. T. U. resolution against gambling devices had received.

Mrs. Davis complimented a round table discussion on the subject "Get Out the Vote" and stressed the need of arousing interest in the governmental affairs at this critical era.

Mrs. Rene Grief, accompanied by Miss Roberta Gay, gave two violin solos.

Those present were Messrs. and Mmes. R. Richardson, Nat Shick, R. E. Day, J. R. Creath, E. L. Gibson, K. S. Beckett and Scott Cotton; Mmes. Frank Stewart, Viola Bowles, Nora Scott, Una Covert, A. L. Gilbreath, W. A. Miller, R. C. Hatch, B. Reagan, B. N. Duff, J. M. Choate, M. A. Berry, Geo. W. Davis, C. E. Thomas; Messrs. Jas. G. Wade, D. C. Maupin, S. B. Hughes, H. C. Jenkins, C. C. Harris, Geo. Gentry.

Road Maps Of 40 States Available at Chamber Office

Road maps of 40 states of the union now are available at the local chamber of commerce offices in the Settles hotel building.

Funeral Is Held For Mrs. Purcell

Funeral services were held from Charles Eberly chapel here Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. Alice Martha Purcell, 44, who died at her home here Monday night after years of intense suffering.

Mrs. Purcell had been confined to bed for two years. Despite her long suffering she was kind and patient to the end. She was a member of Chalk Baptist church.

Rev. Sam Horton, pastor of the Center Point Fundamental Baptist church, assisted by Rev. Horace Goodman of the Big Spring Missionary Baptist church, 205 Gollard street, conducted the funeral service. Songs were conducted by C. C. Nance, W. R. Purser, P. A. Pittman, W. A. Prescott and Miss Hazel Nance.

Surviving Mrs. Purcell are four daughters, Mrs. A. B. Burnside of Fort Worth, Mesdames J. J. Phillips and D. W. Waggoner of Big Spring, Miss Susa Mae Palmer and three sons, J. H., C. A. and Marvin Lee Palmer of Big Spring.

James Y. McDaniel Dies In Hillsboro

Funeral services for James Y. McDaniel, about 76, father of Mrs. McDaniel, about 76, father of Mrs. Clyde Tingle and brother of C. H. McDaniel of Big Spring were to be held in Hillsboro, his home city, Wednesday.

Mrs. Tingle and Mr. McDaniel of this city were at his bedside when death came. They left early Monday in response to a message from relatives that the aged man, who had been in failing health for some time, was in a critical condition.

Mr. McDaniel was a former official of Hill county, having served more than 20 years as its sheriff. Besides his wife and several children and the brother residing here he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charles Harris of Dallas. He was an uncle of Uxley, Tommy and Milton Newman and Mrs. Hugh McMahan of Abilene.

George W. McDaniels, Sr., of Abilene, a brother of James Y. McDaniel, died last May 20.

Father Of Local Girl Is Buried

E. M. Tate, 59, father of Miss Olive Tate, of the Settles Hotel Coffee Shop, was buried at Roscoe Tuesday. Funeral services were held from the First Methodist church with the pastor, Rev. Ben Hardy, assisted by Rev. Mr. Walker of Merkel, officiating. Burial was in a Sweetwater cemetery.

Mr. Tate, the father of eight daughters and a son, is survived by them and his widow. He died a few minutes after being stricken by acute indigestion. The family moved to Roscoe last winter from Sweetwater, where it resided five years.

Ollie Tate was accompanied to the funeral by Misses Lorene Land, Lella Latham and other friends from Big Spring, where she has been employed for more than a year.

Mrs. Robert Winn has been moved to her home from a hospital where she underwent treatment for a throat infection.

Mrs. S. D. Hopper, of Brownwood, is visiting her friend, Mrs. W. A. Robertson.

William Fisher left Wednesday for Dallas. He will meet Mr. and Mrs. Myer Blankfield there and motor to their home in Fort Worth where he will stay for a month or more.

Mr. and Mrs. Dornaby of Dallas are visiting here with Miss Ruth Day.

Save These Children

ONE of the findings of the recent White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, that deserves more publicity than it has received is the revelation that there are in the United States no fewer than 5,650,000 school children who are physically or mentally retarded enough to need special attention and education.

Only 3,000,000 children with impaired hearing were found. A million more had defective speech and another million had weak hearts.
About 300,000 were crippled, and 14,900 were blind.

The conference report points out that giving these children proper care, so that they can be educated according to their needs, is far less expensive than neglecting them and letting them become public charges later on. It is a matter that needs the nation's earnest attention, and represents one field of activity where the current demand for economy should not be heard.

Lindy—A Legend

THAT was an interesting little story from Minneapolis the other day, telling how Colonel Lindbergh had replaced such a famous character as Jack of the beanstalk legend in the hearts of modern children.

University of Minnesota scientists, as you may remember, made the test. Out of 100 kindergarten children, they found that 90 knew who Lindbergh was and what he had done—and only 85 knew about the famous Jack.

There probably is some sort of moral behind all of this, but what it may be is hard to discover. It certainly does testify, though, to the completeness with which the famous aviator has taken possession of the hearts of American youth.

The man has already become a legend; and the legend is apt to last for a great many years.

Forty per cent of the marriage, the population of the United States is single.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SUSAN CAREY, an orphan lives with her AUNT JESSIE on Chicago's west side and works in the office of ERNEST HEATH, architect. BEN LAMPMAN, a moody young admirer, takes her to a studio party where she meets ARNOLD and SONIA STRINSKY and DENISE AR-NOLD, a society girl. Later, lunching with BOB DUNBAR, young millionaire whom she met at business school, she sees Denise again. JACK WABING, Heath's assistant, tries to flirt and is rebuffed. Lonely when her aunt is away, Susan goes on a party with Wabing and he kisses her. Ben asks her to marry and she temporizes. Her employer's wife snubs her. Susan hears Bob Dunbar is to be married and is heart-broken. Denise Ackroyd asks her to come to a week-end party at her country home. ROSE MILTON, Susan's friend, lends her a party frock.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXIII

If Susan had known her aunt's plans she would have been furiously angry. As it was she met Ben sawily the following afternoon. He came through the coach looking rather more sulky than usual but almost pathetically brushed and tidy.

"Hello," she said. "We're bound for the same place."

"I guess so." Ben threw a shabby black bag into the rack overhead and sat down. Moodyly his gaze took her in from the top of her new brown felt to the tip of her laced oxfords.

"You look nice," was all he could find to say, and that rather grudgingly.

Susan thanked him, reflecting casually that he was scarcely the perfect pattern of an ardent admirer. Poor Ben! On a piano keyboard his fingers spoke the only language that he knew. Otherwise he was inarticulate.

"I don't know why I said I'd come to this racket," Ben grumbled. "Sonia forced me into it—it would be good for my work."

"Maybe it will," Susan told him, determined to look on the bright side of things this glorious fall day.
With the morning her misgivings had dissolved, leaving her confident and happy.

Ben stared at her. "You know why we're asked, don't you?" he demanded. "That kid thinks we're a bunch of freaks. When she comes down to Sonia's she believes she's slumming and gets a terrible kick out of it. She told Sonia it reminded her of the Left Bank."

"I don't think that sounds so bad," Susan said. "What she means form. The Strinskys were not only unconventional; they were weird.

The Ackroyds' chauffeur must have been used to all this because his features remained wooden, his manner perfect. Sonia gave Susan a limp hand and began to chatter animatedly to Ben.

The car wound along the same road Susan had traveled the day before when Mr. Heath's. The lake stretched before them and, overhanging it on the edge of a ravine was a house. A stone house, forbidding, magnificent.

The Strinskys tumbled out with their incredible luggage and Ben and Susan followed. They went up broad steps to a grilled iron door which a man servant swung open for them.

A thin, elderly woman was descending the staircase. She introduced herself as Mrs. Fleury, the chaperon. She said Denise had been unavoidably detained at the club but would be in directly and would Miss Carey and Mrs. Strin-sky like to go to their rooms?

Ben and Arnold lingered below.
Susan was shown into a high ceilinged room, crowded with delicate French furniture. The great, low bed had a gilded head-piece and the coverlet was of faded peach color. It was all subtly elegant.
Through an open door she glimpsed a bathroom done in apricot tile. The glass shelves were crowded with heavy towels and scented soaps. After the maid had left her Susan went to the window and stared out.
The lake rushed and tumbled below.

What now, she wondered? She had a grave sense of foreboding and unreality. Faithful to Rose's instructions, she shook out the white lace gown and disposed it carefully on its hanger. Then, having brushed her hair and washed her hands at the gargantuan basin, she anxiously went down.

The group was animated now.
Denise, vivid in a bright green frocks, greeted her gayly.

"Hello, there! Find everything you want?"

Susan said she had.

"It's early for cocktails," Denise announced, "but we're having them anyway." She turned on a radio "disappeared in an 18th century desk and had a faint, not altogether agreeable, sensation of surprise. Ben danced amazingly. The music gave him release. Self-consciousness flowed away from him and there was grace in his tall, rangy form. Over her shoulder Denise threw this remark to Susan:

"The others will be along in a moment. They've been playing golf and stopped to change."

"Susan glanced down at her blue serge. Well, she had nothing to change to so this would have to be all right. She danced with Arnold, who had a mustache that had been shaved, and a pipe tucked away somewhere on his person. It was not pleasant.

As the music stopped abruptly an announcer's voice began rancously to chatter about the merits of a certain tooth paste. Susan was conscious of a new pair of eyes staring at her. She tried to disengage herself, but Arnold kept his hand on her arm.

"Wait a bit," he said smugly.
This fellow will be finished in a minute and we can go on."

There was no help for her.
Through the shadows she saw the tall figure of Bob Dunbar advancing. It was not the way in which she would have chosen to meet him after so long a time. Arnold, fresh to the point of laughter, held her possessively.

Susan heard Bob's voice, chill and remote, and in that instant she realized what had happened. Denise had staged this very scene ance before the readers of the Herald.

But this school, in our opinion, needs its own publications. To have to make the copy of The Wheel go "double-checking" is, in a way, an inconvenience to both the Herald and Wheel staff. The Herald prints, arranges, and checks the articles of the Wheel as best possible, but sometimes it is necessary to cut out some news.

The Wheel realizes the fact that hard times are at hand and have been for some time. We do not claim to need our own press at this time; but we do claim it is important as some other literary and athletic projects. Even if we could not get this publication now, we could get to talking about it and as a rule it takes a project some time to even secure prominence, much less to have it accomplished.
Why is that smaller schools, like Odessa and Stanton, are able to have their own publications? Is Big Spring any poorer than these schools? At least was she any poorer during the good times? We think not, yet we had none then. A school with its own publications can make it pay for itself.

GOSSIP

One of the most deadly enemies to progress of humanity is gossip.
The very characteristics of curiosity and inquisitiveness are imbedded in the marrow of our brains.
The desire to pry is likewise in our souls and usually helps cast off some of the curiosity. Sometimes or other the impulse to gossip comes and people of all classes and kind are discussed in a general way. Do you enjoy "stretching" some detail or incident just to appear well informed to your friend?

How often the very character of a person is utterly ruined by this enemy. This has happened again and again and there is no one to take the blame. No one really knows who started it. Some rumors are started about a person and often they are passed on to several "intimate" friends and each adds a little to his personal revision. If the person on whom it was started could hear it after it has been exaggerated, he would be at a complete loss as to how it had circulated.

Even in school is gossip circulated that it causes a haughty "spirit" to prevail over the student body.
This makes the student organizing into their respective gangs, excluding other persons. While this may satisfy a few, there are others who disregard this act and are exceedingly prejudiced to that particular group. Just because some one appears "null and void" to you, is not sufficient evidence that he is that way. Even if he is, keep it to yourself and let the other fellow talk! If this were done, there would be less gossiping and more intimate relations in school. Probably if you had never expressed your opinion, that person might be well liked by all, but one person can start a rumor against the character of a fellow student causing the majority of the school to believe likewise, merely because he holds a false conception of that person's character originating in the carelessness of a fellow student!

If someone does not seem fitted to your character of a friend, and if you think he is not what he should be, do not pass it on! "Mind your own business, doing unto others as you would have the motto unto you." Some accusations may even be right, but why add your derogation remarks? Certainly it does not help any. While you think little of your statement, it might be held against you in later time.
To encourage a student's good traits in the face of opposition is to make a good investment—one that will bring you results in future days. If you must talk or babble idly, or take an interest in someone, have an affectionate inquire. He'll be instead of cursing them. Then it will help you see how you would feel were you in their places, and give you a sympathetic attitude for your friends.

By BILLY ZARAFONETIS

Yes, Junior's are able to play—Seniors, Sophs and Freshmen earnestly, but I doubt if their intellectual plane is much lower than ours.

Being invited to a bridge dance, I attended with a gleeful air. After playing a short while I decided there were twelve systems in use.
(There were 12 of us playing at the time.) When somebody suggested that we dance, everybody agreed since they were not getting their partner's signals.

As I was sitting in an easy chair rubbing my aching shins soothingly, one of my partners stepped up with an indignant air and said, "You came from the same town I did and you don't even know the kick system there—don't you know one kicks means 'and-so-forth'."

Later another approached me with this line, "I smoke continually at a bridge table and when I blow smoke rings it means—"

When I saw Forrester nearby, I looked about for a club but finding none I merely untied a shoe.
He said, "Don't you know chewing gum is the best way in the world to signal? Huh? You don't? Well, whenever I pop, it that means to take me out in your suit when I blow a bubble, you—". After I threatened to beat him with a shoe he left.

Now, what is a person going to do with these various and devious systems?

Localisms of this sort are all right, but to get away from "loppy" bidding and play, a person should know one of the several best known systems.

In all standard systems, the bid is arrived at by logical and personal conclusions.

All in all the systems are practically the same with a few minor differences. Is not a tree a tree whether it is an elm or oak?

30 STUDENTS NOT TARDY OR ABSENT

Records from the attendance officer's office show thirty students have not been tardy or absent from their classes during the semester.

The list includes Donald Anderson, John Anna Barber, Prestis Bass, Wayne Burch, Howard Burleson, Martha Jo Childers, Marguerite Cooper, William Dehlinger, Richard Gibson, Catherine Hanson, Charles Herring, Jack Horn, J. D.

Edward Stag, Evelyn Washington, Marguerite Washington, and Georgia Belle Fleeman.

Miss Lorena Euggins is the attendance officer of the high school.

Miss Jordan To Direct Showing Of 'The Lost Chaperone' Soon

Plans are being made for the presentation of the annual senior play.
The play, "The Lost Chaperone" will be under the direction of Miss Dorothy Jordan.

The story is of a party of girls and their chaperone who are camped on the river bank. A gang of boys are camped opposite them on the other side of the river. The girls' chaperone becomes lost for twenty-four hours and many various situations arise during her absence. Tryouts for the play will be held the latter part of the week.

Who's Who

Willard Barber is a Junior. He hailed from Goose Creek, Texas, not long ago and has made himself quite popular among the students here.

He had a very prominent part in the Junior Stunt program presented a short time ago and has been in several good assembly programs this year.

He is a member of the Tennis and Choral clubs. He is very interested in church work and is an active member in that club.

His favorite car is a Chrysler and his favorite movie star is Garry Coobper. He likes anything that is good to eat and calls eating his hobby.

Willard plans to go to University of Texas year after next and study law.

America The Land For Literature And Art Says Madam Slaviansky

"I do not mind giving concerts to high school students or to public gatherings, but I get more joy out of appearing before a group of musical lovers and musicians than anyone else," said Madam Slaviansky, conductor of the royal Russian chorus, when interviewed by a Wheel reporter Thursday. "All people applaud and seem enthusiastic, but in reality are doing so because of courtesy. Musicians can appreciate our type of songs," continued Madam Slaviansky.

Madam Slaviansky, quaint little conductor of the chorus, which is composed entirely of Russians, has a very pleasing personality. The reporter interviewing her in the dressing room just before the Matinee performance, was warmly greeted, and at once felt at ease.
The Madam, waving her hands occasionaly to demonstrate her ideas, has a marked foreign accent, but speaks English very well. She will have been connected with this type of work twenty three years on July 24, spending the greater part of her life connected with music. The chorus, which has been in America three years and four months, spent over three days recently making a sound picture, only to have the production destroyed by fire three any public appearances.

We ran for one year in New York, six months in Chicago, and three months in San Francisco. We are very fond of our country and are hoping to make this an annual affair if possible. America, I believe, is the best country in the world for art and literature. In Europe and Asia everything is so grouped together that it is impossible to appreciate art and literature. We hope to be back in the near future; at present we are on our way to our home country after being gone for over three years," said Madam Slaviansky.

Dramatic Club Plans To Give Play May 13

"Anne-What's-Her-Name," a 3-act mystery comedy by Walter Benjamin, will be presented by the Dramatic club Friday evening, May 13.
The cast of the play is made up of members of the 1932 senior class.
The Dramatic club which is under the direction of Miss Nell Brown and Mr. Ralph Houston endeavors to give each year near the end of the school year a play in which the seniors are featured.

Hudson Henley has the lead in the drama, and the most difficult character parts go to Georgia Belle Fleeman and Elvora Gutrie.

"Anne-What's-Her-Name" is a royalty play and was first produced in 1922. Since that time it has enjoyed a longer life and won much popularity than most other plays of its type.

Crude Output Shows Gain

Takes In Oklahoma Chief Cause Of 83,529-Barrel Hike

TULSA, Okla., (UP)—Allowable production taking in Oklahoma fields was the chief contributor to an increase of 83,529 barrels in the daily average crude petroleum production in the United States, the Oil and Gas Journal reported.

Daily average production in the nation last week was 2,260,834 barrels. Oklahoma fields increased 73,530 barrels daily to 468,515 barrels. The Journal said this increase was caused by operators taking their allowable for the last half of April during the first week of that period. A daily decline of from 50,000 to 80,000 barrels in Oklahoma this week was anticipated.

High gains were registered in most of the other fields. East Texas daily average production was up 2,940 barrels to 346,354; total Texas production was up 5,607 barrels to 871,722. California production was up 1,500 barrels a day to 338,500.

Price conditions continued to improve. Yesterday Pennsylvania crude prices were increased 20 cents a barrel. The increased production of last week, caused by the technicality, was not considered as unfavorable.

MAYOR TESTS 10-CENT DIET

The only way Rolland B. Marvin, "fighting mayor" of Syracuse, could be sure a 10-cent-a-day welfare relief diet for the city's dependents contained the proper nourishment was to try it on himself and his family. They will take two weeks to complete the test. Here is the mayor breakfasting on toast, coffee, orange juice and butter substitutes - total cost about 3 cents. Mrs. Marvin, at his side, prepared the meal.

Injustice And Misfortune Of I. C. C. Refusal To Permit Convention Of Texas & Pacific Northern Reviewed

R. L. (Bob) Cook, who is credited with being one of the best informed men in this section of the state on land values and the agricultural resources of the section has written the following thoughtful discussion of the refusal of the interstate Commerce Commission to grant the application to build the Texas & Pacific Northern Railway line:

When the word was received in Big Spring that the I. C. C. had denied the application of the T & P Northern to build a line of railway through the best agricultural land and livestock section of the state of Texas, (although it was one time called a desert) it was a shock, to not only the citizenship of Big Spring, but to thousands of people throughout Texas.

How could we expect to convince the I. C. C. that this road was needed, when they have been taught that our part of Texas was nothing more than a desert waste country. I am sure since the decision, they still believe it. I doubt if either gentleman, who passed on the application ever saw this country except going through on some of the main lines of railroads or on some main highway. I doubt if either of them would believe you when you tell them that you could go out in the middle of some fifty-thousand acre ranch, survey it out into 160-acre tracts, and offer it to the farmer and stock raiser, and sell every foot of it in two years, no matter how far from railroad, even thirty miles from any city.

That very thing has been done right here in West Texas several times. In fact if you had to wait for a railroad to be built to settle this country or if you had to even wait for a highway to be put through that particular tract of land to settle it then we would not be permitted to succeed in West Texas.

I remember a few years ago on several trips out to show lands twenty and thirty miles from a railroad, the question would be asked, "how long will it be before we can expect a railroad?" That question would never have to be answered by a land man, as the prospective buyer, after traveling for a few hours with you would say that there is no need to worry about a railroad. They would sometimes hesitate in buying, but in most every instance a prospective buyer would tell you that a country that had as much fine land as this country has, need not worry about a railroad as the railroads would naturally have to come.

I am sure there were many disappointments along this proposed route, as naturally these people expected this line of railway to be built, since it was proposed by a bunch of people that usually do things, and do not hesitate. And, too, the Texas and Pacific officials who operate the Texas and Pacific railroad, knew what they were doing when they applied for this permit to build the T. & P. Northern. They know what will follow a new line of railway when it is built. They are the pioneers in West Texas, and they should be the rightful heirs to a big portion of the development that has been taken away from them by other roads. They having built our own Texas and Pacific railroad way back under when no one else would attempt to do so. There are hundreds of settlements along the T. & P. Northern that are now suffering for lack of transportation and if the line could be built it would be safe in saying that one million acres of new land along the proposed route would have been sold out to farmers in twelve months after the line was completed.

This would mean that sixty two thousand five hundred new farmers would move into the country touching along the new railroad, besides what it would have done for transporting livestock to markets that are now hampered for the want of transportation.

The denial by the I. C. C. to build this line of railway has certainly hurt, but I hope the time will come when an application is made that the gentlemen who will have to pass on the application, whether it be one or a dozen, will have to go over every foot of the ground and make a personal inspection of the country and learn first hand just what is needed.

Yes, we have a depression. We have tried to call it every thing else, but the only thing applicable is depression. But I doubt if any individual escaped making a mistake just before the depression hit us. Every office holder in the good old United States is being criticized. Too bad. We all know what is the matter with the country, but we are not able to help it out of this depression. About three years ago we did not worry about anything, we thought we were sitting on top of the world, but today we are thinking about how to get something to eat. Everybody is in the same boat.

About three years from now we will say "I don't know how we got out of it but we are out, and aside from getting a good lesson, we are none the worse off." What we need to do most is quit cussing, and get down to hard thinking and work out of this business. We have some problems here at home we should worry about. If every man and woman in Big Spring and Howard county will work for the betterment of this neighborhood, we will have enough to do. There is a duty that we owe to our neighborhood, work for its betterment, back our officers, back every organization, in our country that is trying to build and bring us back to normalcy, quit cussing the chamber of commerce, and back it to the limit as it is the only medium we have we can work through for the whole neighborhood.

Big Spring and her trade territory, is nothing more than a manufacturing plant, offering products, natural raw materials or otherwise. We as a manufacturing plant, should strive to better our future. Cooperating. Instead of tearing down, do something to help build. Our city is geographically located to make a real thriving center. In spite of the kicks we get, we are bound to grow and go forward. The natural resources in our trade territory are a long way from being developed. I am sure the oil business will probably take the lead as far as natural known resources are concerned, and I would not be surprised to see several oil fields yet opened up within our trade territory. But we can not expect a fast development in the oil business right now as it is just like everything else. If we could develop the resources that naturally belong to our own neighborhood, we would not have unemployed people and we would not have vacant buildings, and we would not have merchants fighting to stay on top.

The only way to have these things is to forget the past, fight for our rights and cooperate in everything that is undertaken. And to you, Texas & Pacific Railway, from the lowest paid employe to the highest official, you are one of us in this fight for the betterment of our local manufacturing plants, and when you want the help of this community, don't fail to call on us. It has been a pleasure to work with you in the past, even though it might seem like we are defeated. We are not, and tomorrow will be a new day. Sincerely, R. L. COOK.

THERE'S SOMETHING DIFFERENT about the flavor of CHESTERFIELDS — something about the blending and cross-blending of fine tobaccos — that gets to you, every time.

THERE'S SOMETHING DIFFERENT about their mildness, too. It is the mildness that comes from the ripest, sweetest, mellowest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. There is no bitterness in them... no harshness.

THERE'S SOMETHING DIFFERENT about the taste. It is that good, pleasing taste that comes from the right kind of tobacco, cured in the right way — cured for two years or more. It means that to make CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes, millions of dollars are tied up in tobacco leaf — but it's worth it.
