Hoover Favors Cutting Departmental Expenses

Suspension Of Work May Be Next Step

Veterans Bureau, Postal And Agriculture Heads Study Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Hoover said Tuesday he believed the best remaining means of reducing federal expenses would be for congress to help decrease or suspend functions of various government branches. The cabinet has been discussing such plans. Frank T. Hines, veterans bureau administrator, proposed alterations that possibly might save $60,000,000 annually. The post office and agriculture departments are considering similar economies.

The United States Society, a non-partisan organization whose board of advisors consists of Calvin Coolidge, Owen D. Young, Ellhu Root, John Grier Hibben and Newton D. Baker, declares that in the opinion of members of both houses of congress as expressed in letters to the society declare that if the American people want better government they must take more interest in public affairs.

Some of the letters declare frankly that "the greatest menace to our nation exists in lack of knowledge on the part of the public generally about public questions and governmental affairs."

The plan of the organization is to distribute data on current affairs in schools, colleges, and adult groups, as a stimulus to greater interest in government.

Representative Hatton W. Summers of Texas, chairman of the house committee on the judiciary, wrote: "I believe we have entire exaggerated the efficacy of the mandates of legislative bodies. We are utterly confused as to where the Constitution is, as to where the government is, and apparently ignorant of the natural laws which govern governments. Due to this fundamental ignorance and confusion, the capacity of the people for self government is being lost through its non-use. The states are becoming governmental vassals, and the Federal constitution a great bureaucracy functioning through an appointed personnel utterly impossible of popular control."

The injuries suffered by the people themselves because of lack of interest or knowledge or both in national government are proportionately extensive insofar as their interest in state, county and local or municipal government.

Such a condition leads individuals not only to misdirect efforts at correcting conditions they deem injurious, but also oftentimes to aim such efforts at individuals or groups in public life not the original or real causes for such conditions.

We take particular pains in this part of the country to hold fast to the doctrine of state's rights. With that doctrine, or a part of it, goes the belief that as much of the governing as possible should be left to rest in the hands and hearts of the people.

As Rev. Summers writes above, many of us have lost sight of the location of government—our idea too often is that the government is in Austin or Washington rather than in the hands and hearts of the people.

We, therefore, often contradict ourselves between our doctrines and our practices. Too many of us spend more time worrying or complaining about why needed reforms in legislation and in governmental administration are not effected and letting fly our criticism without thought or study rather than setting ourselves to work to function as individual citizens toward originating such reforms at the proper and inevitable source—in the rank and file of the citizenry.

This position right now leads many of us to look always to the elect

Seven Men Enter Fort Worth Meet

Dennis, Forrester, Coburn Chief Threats Of Big Spring

A group of six athletes will comprise Big Spring's entry in the Southwestern Exposition track and field meet to be held at Fort Worth this week-end. Coach George Brown announced yesterday. It will be the largest delegation Big Spring has ever dispatched to the Ft. Worth carnival, and despite the absence of Cecil Reid, the one outstanding member of the local squad of cinder artists, and the lack of practice on the part of the athletes themselves, who have been busy with their coaching of ward school gridiron clubs, it will probably be the strongest entry in years.

Big Spring's last entry was in 1926, when Captain Euren Edwards was entered in the low hurdles and the 100 yard dash. He failed to place in either event although he finished high in the qualifying tests.

Heading the list of possible point-makers is "Tack" Dennis, mighty blemish of football fame, who constitutes a one man track team even as he was a gridiron squad within himself. Later in the season Dennis can be expected to make a strong bid for the athletic honors in any such meet, but without more than a day or two of practice he will confine his entry to the high hurdles, the discus, javelin and shot put. Brown said that he would take on a full day's schedule some two or three weeks after track season had actually begun. "Tack" has been hurling the shot in excess of forty feet during physical education classes and should be able to better the mark considerably at the Ft. Worth classic.

Lloyd Forrester and Carleton Coburn, high jumpers, constitute a fairly strong scoring threat in that event while the former will also enter the pole vault and Coburn the dashes. Henry Richbourg is a relay man and a broad-jumper, the latter event is his specialty, Bill Javelin will enter the hurdles and the 220 yard dash, Ralph Denton the 40 and the relay, and Lillian Harris will make up the fourth man on the relay team and will toss the javelin.

From the scent of peach blossoms to the biting fury of the season's most severe cold—that was the change Big Spring had experienced within the 72 hours ending Tuesday morning, when the season's lowest temperature, 15.5 degrees was registered at the U. S. weather bureau. Big Spring was the coldest point in the state aside from those in the upper panhandle. Amarillo's minimum was 12 and Lubbock's 14. Pampa reported 10 degrees and Plainview 12.

While the blizzard whizzed over this section of the state El Paso reported the lowest reading there Monday night was 59 degrees, the highest 73. San Antonio temperature ranged from 60 to 36, Galveston from 66 to 54, Abilene from 40 to 22.

Sub-freezing weather held on through Tuesday, the thermometer rising at the rate of but one to two degrees per hour to 1:20 p. m. Readings were 18.5 at 7:30, 20 at 8:30, 21 at 9:30, 23 at 10:30, 24 at 11:30 a. m., 25 at 12:30 p. m., and 26 at 1 p. m.

The prediction for Tuesday night and Wednesday promised no material relief. Cloudy weather was expected to continue Wednesday, with continued, possibly snow Tuesday night and minimum temperature of near 20 degrees.

The cold wave was centered over the southern portions of the Canadian provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan and eastern and central Montana. The cold belt extended southeastward with freezing temperatures as far as central Georgia.

Snow was reported in the Texas Panhandle, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, the Dakotas, Missouri, Tennessee and from the lower Great Lakes region up the St. Lawrence valley.

South Texas had some rainfall. Moderate.

Weather remained moderate adjacent to the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. The gulf coast temperatures were in the fifties. Lowest and highest temperatures for the 24 hours ending at 7 a. m. Tuesday were reported as follows:

Murray Gains Considerably On New Count

Oklahoma Clubs to Dozen Votes Of Texas Candidate

Nineteen votes, received in a single envelope by the Straw Vote editor Tuesday morning, sent Governor Wm. H. Murray's total in the Herald presidential poll to 54, and placed him just a dozen votes behind John Garner, who has held first place from the beginning.

Garner added two votes while four other readers succumbed to a desire to have a little joke with Edie Cantor and sent his total to nine.

One of them noted on his ballot that "after seeing 'Palmy Days' at the Ritz Saturday night Edie is the man."

The straw vote will be continued through this week. Those wishing to contribute to this effort at determining the real sentiment of the people of Big Spring and vicinity are urged to mail their ballots at once.

Please mark "X" before the name of the man you favor, and do not mark an "X" before and after it. This leads to confusion as to whether you are using one ballot for two votes. Try to use a ballot for each vote, not noting more than one vote on the same ballot.

The standing of the candidates Tuesday at noon was:

Garner	54
Murray	56
Cantor	9
Al Smith	5
Hoover	4
Will Rogers	3
Dawes	2
Joe Robinson	1
Owen Young	1
Roosevelt	1
Coolidge	1

Body Of Sousa Lies In State

Beloved Bandmaster To Be Interred In Congressional Cemetery

WASHINGTON (AP)—A snow-hushed capital sheltered today the body of John Philip Sousa, the best known of American composers, as a bandmaster over 40 years led him to the pinnacle of international acclaim.

Sousa died at Reading, Pennsylvania, early Sunday morning. It was just a few hours after the 77-year-old conductor had directed a rehearsal of a local band. He attended a banquet given in his honor, shortly after his secretary, stricken by a heart attack.

Body Taken Home They brought his body to Washington—home. He was born here and here his father obtained him a place in the marine band when 18 years old. He will be buried Thursday at Congressional cemetery with such honors and ceremonies as his family will accept.

They were gathered today, Mrs. Sousa and two daughters coming from New York, the conductor's son, John Philip Sousa, Jr. on his way from California. The stirring compositions which have made the name Sousa a household word everywhere, brought him not only the enthusiastic admiration of the millions who heard his band in its annual tours, but the friendship of great men. To the end, however, he remained the bandmaster, composer of military marches and operas.

Most popular of his compositions, Sousa always believed, was "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

Suffers Heart Attack On Making Confession At Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Louis Fife, 50, was charged with murder after confessing he shipped the body of his landlady, Mrs. Mattie Schaft, 60, to Philadelphia in a trunk, where it was found in a rooming house yesterday. He then collapsed from a heart attack and was taken to a hospital.

The answers were given a per officers consulted with Colonel Lindbergh. They announced there had been no important new developments. Hundreds of letters, telegrams and telephone calls continued arriving thousands of state, federal and civilian investigators were busy but the kidnaping still was unsolved.

At New Haven, Conn. Tony Mealo, a contractor was arrested and held in $25,000 bond. State police said this opened a new angle in the investigations but detail of any connection Mel might have with the case were not divulged.

Two men were arrested in Boston while trying to telephone Lindbergh. One claimed he knew a man who knew where the baby was hidden. Officers began an inquiry.

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Edward J. Mulrooney disclosed that a New Jersey police yesterday asked him to take no action on a note left by the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby. They had promised to send him a copy of the note, which was not received.

Vincent Man Is Winner Of Cremo Automobile Award

Manufacturers of Cremo cigars perhaps were wondering Tuesday what manner of man reside in the eastern edge of Howard county, Texas.

Heldom if at all in the past few months when Cremo has been giving away automobiles to those who compose the best 2 ward reasons why men should smoke Cremos have two of those automobiles been awarded to men residing so near each other as G. H. Prewitt and H. F. Logan.

Mr. Prewitt residing a mile and a half south of Vincent just a few miles up the road from Coahoma was notified Sunday night that he had been announced as the winner of a Cremo automobile.

Only a few weeks ago B. F. Logan, lumber yard manager and mayor of Coahoma, received a Cremo automobile. Mr. Prewitt was notified of his good fortune by an automobile salesman from Abilene who reached the Prewitt place 30 minutes after the announcement had been made over the radio. He sought to convince Mr. Prewitt that his make of car should be selected—those winning these prize cars have their choice of several lines.

Mr. Prewitt was reported Tuesday morning to have chosen a 1932 Chevrolet coach from the showroom of the Carter Chevrolet company here.

On Writing A Book

THE YOUNG MAN who sets out to write a book usually fails entirely to realize that he is entering one of the most sharply competitive fields there is. Offhand, it seems as if the man with a good yarn in his system ought not to have much trouble getting it printed. Lots of books get published every year, and some of them are, to put it mildly, middling poor. It should be fairly simple to put one over if it's any good at all.

A RIOT IN THE MORNING

By some supreme magic one was able to buy a white Persian kitten, age six weeks, for nine dollars. This, explained Dickey, only because the old lady had once been in love herself, and her old man had given her a cat when she was just a year married and that was how she had started in the business! Greatly did Hope and Dickey appreciate this largess. Especially since Hope truly understood the value of such a "gift." The old lady, in the man's coat and the enigmatic curl-papers, handed over the white kitten, along with considerable advice; and Dickey manfully handed over nine perfectly good dollars.

LET'S PULL Together

*We can't let Idle Money
keep Men out of work —*

There's a job waiting for every idle dollar in America. And what a job active dollars can do to speed up business—to create new jobs for men eager to work. You can do your bit to help yourself and your country by drafting every slacker dollar you can lay your hands on—and putting it back in circulation, back to work!

GIVE us a hand . . . America has a big job to do!

Here we are . . . the richest nation in the world. We've got the tools . . . factories, machines, men.

And we've got the money, too: But some of it's lying idle.

That's it . . . idle money is crippling business. Forcing men out of work. Slowing down the wheels of industry. Smothering the entire country's system of credit.

Today . . . right now . . . there are over a billion and a half American dollars lying idle . . . not working.

Oh, it's easy for the average man to say . . . "That's no problem of mine . . . I haven't a lot of money."

But it is your problem. It's everybody's problem . . . rich and poor alike. A ten dollar bill withdrawn from circulation means a hundred dollar loss to credit. Don't you see how quickly active money multiplies?

Of course, you should save. But save wisely. Release your money in a conservative way that will benefit everybody.

If there's any question in your mind . . . talk to the able business men in your city.

But the net of it is . . . put your money where it will bring interest to yourself . . . and employment to others.

This isn't the first time that America has had a tough job to do. We had one in 1917. And we licked it by pulling together. Let's do this one the same way.

This is one of a series of advertisements printed through the co-operation of a few business firms in the city and this newspaper. They have done this in a patriotic cause . . . to tell you these vital facts. For this great public service they deserve the nation's thanks.

Alcohol Classified With Narcotics

Alcohol is a habit-forming narcotic and its distribution should be controlled just as opium, morphine and cocaine are controlled, Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan, professor of surgery at the University of Chicago, and formerly president of the American Medical Association, told a Senate subcommittee studying the feasibility of legalizing 4 percent beer.

"Such control does not mean tyranny—it means evolution and civilization," Dr. Bevan declared. "I haven't any question that ultimately opium will be eliminated from our civilization and I haven't any question that the evil effects of alcohol will also be ultimately eliminated."

Dr. Bevan described as the ultimate form of control, "law backed by science and education." The solution, he said, depends on education up to a point where the people will realize that elimination of the effects of liquor is important to themselves and future generations. "I believe the evolution of civilization has shown it is often necessary to protect the individual against himself," Dr. Bevan told the committee.

He charged that "well over 90 per cent" of the liquor prescriptions being written are "bootleg prescriptions," issued not for the benefit of patients but for the consumption of liquor as a beverage.

He said that when there was a possibility of making "as much as $1,300 a year on the issuance of liquor prescriptions, it is a great temptation to physicians to engage in unethical practices."

It is the experience of medical men generally, he testified, that alcohol has a very small place in modern medicine. He described it as a "depressing agent," not a stimulant or food.

The question for all American citizens is whether they are going to be beaten by the liquor trade or learn how to deal with brigandage—George Bernard Shaw.

ed officials of the national government for all the sinures and remedies and preventatives for unemployment and lowering of the cost of government.

When the unemployment problem in this country is settled the people themselves will have or investigate the movement that settled it.

If every community in the nation should take all the steps, and make all the sacrifices possible right now to care for its own unemployed, the entire nation's problem would be solved.

And, when the individual community settles that problem within and unto itself it reaps far more benefit from the settling of it than would be the case if it waited for a government dole of one type or other.

That is why we have always been opposed to a straight-out dole from the national government. Men are human, and we all have our weaknesses. While eight men might abhor the idea of being "kept up" by the government without having to do any kind of work to earn their keeping, two other men might find in such a plan of relief the very opportunity they had been seeking—the opportunity of making unemployment their regular occupation.

The dole, strictly speaking, is not unemployment relief simply because it does not provide employment.

It is equally undemocratic and unsound for capital to take more than it gives in the form of wages and for labor to take more than it gives in the form of work performed.

Chaos, suffering, weakening of the fiber of citizenship and, therefore, of the government itself, always follows when either extreme exists. Let either capital or labor reap without sowing and your government, your security as a citizen, becomes unstable.

Evils and misfortunes of our government must be cured at their source. And that source is the people. Citizens are not restricted to the ballot as the only agency by which they may attempt to correct evils. Today they can and must use other methods. By so doing they will create an overwhelming, unconquerable spirit that will more quickly and more effectively cure evils that may rest in the faults of individuals elected at the polls than by any other means.

Big Spring must and can solve its own unemployment problem. This, obviously, cannot be done unless all employed persons lend a hand.

They must all contribute to a fund—not to be doled out as an unearned gift, but to provide useful employment.

Such employment would be doubly useful. Not only would it directly improve the condition of hundreds of men, women and children. Not only would it stop much suffering and anxiety and unrest. It would improve the condition of every person in the community no matter what he might be doing to earn a living, or how small or great his income might be. It would produce improvements that are needed by the community as a whole. It would set in motion an endless chain, a circle, of benefit accruing in recurrent cycles to each and all.

Large Number Enrolled In Church School

Almost one hundred people have enrolled in the Standard Training School conducted at the First Methodist Church, announced the pastor, the Rev. J. Richard Spann. This number includes several members of the First Christian Church, such as the pastor, the Rev. D. R. Lindley and Mrs. Lindley, and people from Slaton, Coahoma and Colorado.

The advantages of the school for members of all denominations are that it meets the requirements of the International Sunday School Association, concerning length of periods, number of periods and qualifications of the faculty.

On the faculty are D. H. Reed, dean of the school, the Rev. O. P. Clark, of Sweetwater, who teaches "Organizing for Christian Education"; the Rev. J. W. Watson, of Lubbock, "Adult Administration"; the Rev. J. Richard Spann, "New Testament"; Mrs. O. P. Clark, "Junior Administration" and Mrs. Mary Bumpass, "Pupils Study." All of these have taken examinations in their courses of study and have met the requirements of the International Sunday School Association.

At the close of the school Friday evening, those who have passed their examinations satisfactorily will be given certificates that are accepted by this Association.

Thousands Of School Children Visit U.S.S. Constitution While Anchored At Seaports Of Texas

By J. G. TURNER
CORPUS CHRISTI—The stately, heavily-rigged "Constitution," "Old Ironsides," historic battleship which has a raft of traditions longer than her towering masts, is paying Texas a visit. Recently in Corpus Christi municipal port she lay silently at anchor, while thousands of South Texas school children clamored up her recon-structed gangplank, peering into the ancient crannies and nooks where gunners and sailors of two centuries ago served their country.

In the country and the donations of school children, the ship has been remade in entirety. One is under the impression that he is viewing the wood, the carving, the anchorage equipment, the rigging of centuries, while actually he is not. The boat was built anew from the old and original timber which has been in use since the first keel-laying in 1794 in Hart's shipyard in Boston. But of the original timber used in the rebuilding only about one-eighth was used. The greater part of the new ship is of new lumber, put in place by piece, an actual copy of the former part.

Uncle Sam's navy forces, bunk in the very berths where the crews of such notable captains as Isaac Hull, who manned over the boat during the battle with the Guerriers (August 19, 1812) when she withstood the opposing attack so well that she was named "Old Ironsides," and Captains Brainbridge and Stewart.

Crew Explains
The crew tells of the reconstruction, saying that where the sun had rotted out the star-deck planks, those had to be removed and the pieces which were not eaten away by sun's rays were placed down below the water level where the salt water would preserve them.

Gunners Had a Thrill
An idea of the gunner's thrill while encountering the enemy may be gained by viewing the fifty-gallon "grog" casks and wine casks aboard. These are located immediately back of all gunner's posts in the center of the lower deck.

SCOUTING FOR GIRLS Summarizing Its Benefits; Activities And Influence

By IRMA THOMPSON IRELAND
A Girl Scout's Honor is to be True.
A Girl Scout is loyal.
A Girl Scout's Duty is to be Useful and to Help Others.

The influence of Scouting for Girls is felt not only in homes but in schools, community groups, city-wide enterprises for civic improvement, coordination of district camps, national headquarters in New York City, and in the international rallies held every year in one of our sister nations across the sea.

Imagine in a city like Big Spring, the fun of finding all the points of historic interest and learning the story of each one! Imagine the thrill of leaving a trail across the desert or following one laid by another group! How many grown-ups right now could make an intelligent sketch map of the downtown section of their own city?

Are you handicapped at the office? To put in a full day's work, you need a full man's strength. A man, half-sick from constipation, has less chance to succeed in today's keen competition. This insidious condition often causes headaches, loss of energy, sleeplessness. It takes the edge from your working hours.

er, and give artificial respiration. In every group of girls there are some who have so much energy to expend they long for more exciting outlets than playing tennis and hunting wild-flowers. Perhaps there is in their hearts a regret that they were created girls instead of boys. They want to do what boys do, to wear old clothes and rough it out of doors.

These, too, have been remembered by the wise ones who planned Scouting for Girls, as there is a special badge for the Pioneer, which takes the restless creatures back to the days of their great-grandmothers.

In groups with suitable leaders to direct them they go out into the woods and establish a temporary dwelling place. They must fell trees and erect a shelter, dig a latrine, build an incinerator, and make a cache. They must construct an outdoor oven, cook and serve a palatable meal, and leave everything in order when their "unioneering" is done.

The Health-Winter badge is important not only because it encourages habits of health conservation, filling stations, fire alarm boxes, telegraph offices, and he able to direct a stranger to any of these places if appearer to in an emergency.

Imagine in a city like Big Spring, the fun of finding all the points of historic interest and learning the story of each one! Imagine the thrill of leaving a trail across the desert or following one laid by another group! How many grown-ups right now could make an intelligent sketch map of the downtown section of their own city?

Are you handicapped at the office? To put in a full day's work, you need a full man's strength. A man, half-sick from constipation, has less chance to succeed in today's keen competition. This insidious condition often causes headaches, loss of energy, sleeplessness. It takes the edge from your working hours.

fort and welfare of each family depends upon controlled legislation. A pretty big contract for a 14-year-old girl, but you'd be surprised.

But in order to realize even the least of these wonderful achievements Scouting for Girls must be recognized and loyally supported as an asset to a community.

Let's get behind the Girl Scouts in Big Spring! Let's make it possible for them to grow and be one of the local organizations to which we point with pride—but better than all—let's get out and do some of these interesting things with them as well as for them!

When an aspirant has successfully passed the requirements for becoming a Second-Class Scout she has already laid the foundation for progress toward the Health and Nature merit badge. She must know how to use a compass, tie five knots, have a practical knowledge of fire-prevention, be able to send and receive letters of the alphabet in general service or semaphore code, set a table correctly, cook one simple dish so it can be eaten, make ordinary and hospital beds, and complete some useful piece of needle-work.

The Girl Scout program from Ten-foot tests on up to the most exacting requirements for merit badges emphasize home-making, health-winning, love of nature, citizenship, community service, achievements in practical and esthetic arts.
