BIG ENGINE INSTALLED AT POWER PLANT

A big 120 horse power engine similar to the one used by the farmers in this county is being installed at the city power plant this week. This engine is equipped with direct drive, electric generator, and is said to be of the type often used in municipal and co-operative plants. The power plant building is being enlarged to accommodate the new engine. The front of the present concrete and steel structure has been torn out and a wooden stucco addition is to be added, making the front of the building extend to the sidewalk line on the east.

The two 75 horse engines first placed in the plant were installed in April 1923, and they have been loaded to capacity most of the time since, now being completely outgrown by the city's needs. If the present rate of increase in the use of electric current prevails for the next year, the city will be forced to install a still bigger engine than the one now going in.

Not only are new customers being added to the service, but practically everyone is using more current as labor saving electric devices are installed in the homes. The city power plant has delivered 24 hour service ever since it was installed, in addition to pumping water for the water department and furnishing power for the ice plant, with 24 hour street lighting system.

The plant operatives are to be congratulated on the superior service given with the smaller engines and customers may expect the same uninterrupted service with the bigger engine, until such time as a much larger engine is needed.

It is understood that the plant is paying the city a profit at the present rates for lights and water, which are much lower than usually found in towns of our size.

HOW WORLD SERIES GAMES WERE BROADCAST

Hundreds of telephone calls, letters and telegrams are pouring in to radio headquarters as a result of the broadcasting of the World Series games, seen by the eye of one man, Henry L. Farrell, famous United Press baseball reporter on Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, and sent on its way in dots and dashes of telegraphic code, to be translated and read before a microphone in the radio studios.

Thousands listening in want to know how it is all done. Radio, itself a mystery, now connected up with telegraphy, is wizardry they want explained.

As a result, Harold E. Swisher, Pacific Coast manager of the United Press, gave a short talk over the air explaining the whys and wherefores of handling the world series game over wires to the radio microphones.

"I'm here tonight," said Swisher, "to tell you something of the way the World Series games play by play is brought across the continent right into your living room from Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Pa."

"The United Press and other news gathering organizations which speed the report of the games to all parts of the world, went over every possible detail to be assured that nothing would interfere with rapid transmission of the story of the games."

"Necessary telegraph loops were installed, wires tested out, relays manned with experienced operators and everything checked to make certain the transmission to United Press newspapers and the radio studios would be practically instantaneous."

"When the veteran Walter Johnson took his place in the pitcher's box, watching him from the press box above was Henry L. Farrell, sports editor of the United Press."

"Besides Farrell was a telegraph operator, experienced, cool, and a baseball expert himself. As Johnson whipped the ball down the line Farrell watched him and watched the umpire, dictating the decision to his telegraph operator."

"A few clicks of the telegraph and before the catcher had arisen from his haunches to return the ball, the announcer in the radio studios has read the play to the microphone and radio listeners knew whether it was a

'Ball,' a 'strike,' or a 'hit.'

"That's speed, the fastest devised by man, made possible only by a co-ordination of keen-witted men, telegraphy and the even more rapid radio transmission."

"Only one relay was used in transmitting the running description of the games across the continent and it is what telegraphers term a 'visible' relay."

"This visible relay was established in Kansas City."

"The operator sending the description west to us folk on the coast took a position beside the operator copying the flashes as they came through from the playing field. And the west wire operator or reads over the eastern operator's shoulder, or often-times listens to the clicks of the telegraph sounder and, with his hand at the key, rushes the plays on to the coast."

"At the radio studios a United Press operator near the microphone will be receiving the incoming flashes, with the announcer reading over his shoulder the plays, description and progress of the game."

"Before a home run could be returned to the infield, listeners knew about it, no matter where they were, as long as they were in tune with these radio stations. Before the umpire finished the swing for the umpire finished the swing of his emphatic arm as he growls, 'You're out,' radio fans heard the decision repeated, and before the crowd in the ball park had arisen to cheer a spectacular play, radio fans knew what that play was."

TRAFFIC ORDINANCE ADOPTED BY CITY

The new traffic ordinance adopted by the city is published in full as the law directs, on another page of the issue of The News.

Twenty miles per hour in the city, with 10 miles per hour within one block of the school building, is the lawful speed limit, and no child under 14 years of age may drive a car in the city limits.

Many other regulations as to crossing streets, turning corners, etc., are set forth in the ordinance.

The city marshal now has a stop watch to apprehend speeders, and it is expected that the new ordinance will be enforced in every particular without fear or favor.

Dr. Montgomery in Car Accident Monday Night

While returning from a call late Monday night, Dr. W. C. Montgomery met a team of four mules and wagon in the road through the Y O U pasture, and the wagon tongue smashed the top windshield and tore a big hole in the roof of the doctor's coupe.

The lights on the car had gone out, and a lantern was being used hung on the front of the radiator, which did not give light enough to see very far ahead, and the wagon driver was stooping down in the wagon trying to light a cigarette when the accident happened.

The mules stepped to one side and were not injured, however the breast yoke and straps were broken by the impact of the car.

The car was moving only about eight miles per hour at the time of the accident, and barring the glass and top, was not injured in any way with the exception of a slight dent in the top of the radiator which guided the wagon tongue through the windshield.

Luckily the doctor was alone, or whoever would have been on the right side of the seat would have surely been killed.

DAMP WEATHER RETARDS COTTON PICKING

The prevailing foggy and rainy weather of the past week has retarded cotton picking in our community to some extent.

A night rain fell here Wednesday afternoon with heavy rain reported at Shamrock and hail and rain from Conway to Amarillo.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Garrett attended the Baptist associational workers meeting at Midway Tuesday.

C. H. Harbison of Heald was a pleasant caller at the News office today. Mr. Harbison gave us $1.50 for The News a year.

F. M. Faulkner was a McLean visitor last week.

According to news received here yesterday, Gray county won sixth place at the Dallas state fair this week. Harrison county won first, Garza county third and Hartley county third.

Gray county has not been represented at the state fair for a number of years, and this year's award is the highest ever held by this county at the state fair.

County Agent P. E. McMeans has had full charge of the exhibit, with the co-operation of the McLean Chamber of Commerce in securing and preparing the various entries.

Gray county won fifth place at the tri-state fair at Amarillo this year, and these awards are mighty good advertising for the diversified farming country around McLean, as it is said that all the exhibits, with the possible exception of one or two, were secured in the south part of the county.

EXHIBITOR PLEASED WITH McLEAN FAIR

By C. H. Harbison

The writer was at the McLean fair last week. It was the best community fair he has ever taken a part in. Six community booths competed for the large prizes that were offered, the fair being a success in every respect. The writer believes he has spent more money and time in trying to advertise Wheeler county and Heald community than any other man in the county in the last five or six years. We are glad the catalogs are to come out early next year.

Everybody ought to get behind the fairs. It is the best way to advertise their community, county and state; it brings more good people to our country than any other one thing.

In preparing your bundle of hay spread it out in some shady place to dry. Then roll it up like you would a roll of paper, then wrap it. That shapes the bundle. In placing your exhibit, group each class and you won't go wrong.

Head community has to its credit $300 from the fairs, and twenty ribbons, twelve first prizes. Be a booster for your community.

TIGERS WIN FROM PAMPA HARVESTERS

The McLean Tigers won with a 3 to 0 score in the football game with the Pampa Harvesters played last Friday on the Pampa field.

The Pampa team had only two eligible men in the lineup; the rest of the team being mainly former Harvester stars.

The results of this game will have no bearing on McLean's standing as they did not oppose an eligible team.

A full account of the game will be found in the school notes on another page.

TEN REASONS FOR CLUB WORK

Here are ten reasons why farm boys and girls should be club members:

1. Club work enlarges vision.
2. It stimulates interest in rural life.
3. It enables one to make some money for himself.
4. It furnishes recreation and amusement regularly.
5. It trains boys and girls to keep records.
6. It encourages modern methods in farming.
7. It emphasizes the dignity of farm work well done.
8. It directs the thoughts of the youngsters in proper channels.
9. It stresses the importance of organization and co-operation.
10. It helps in building the four ship: Ownership, Partnership, Leadership and Citizenship.

BUYING AT HOME

The editor of this paper has been accused of being too enthusiastic in the matter of buying at home. If that statement is made in the nature of a criticism, we accept it for what it is worth. In one instance it was made by a business man who said that the place to begin was with the business men themselves, for he said that he noticed that when other business men wanted something in his line they took advantage of their wholesale buying from department stores and supplied their household wants. This is unjust to the business man at home who specializes in a given line. The saving may be a few per cent of the cost, but he thereby sets an example for the local merchant in that line to "go and do likewise." The retail business of the business men of a community is a considerable item, and the buy-at-home campaign should start at home. If the business man wants a rug, or a piece of furniture, a harness, auto accessories, radios, coats and suits, or anything else, why not give the local dealer a chance to supply those wants? Reciprocity is a splendid thing to practice. Let's be fair to each other and then we can with better grace ask the community at large to be fair to us.—Brodhead (Wis.) Independent-Register.

CATO SELLS PRAISES MERITS OF ADVERTISING

Judge Cato Sells, a distinguished visitor in Canyon last week, looked over the Randall County News and remarked that the advertising was the most interesting part of the newspaper.

"A few years ago small town merchants did not realize the drawing power of advertising, and consequently they did not do much business. Today the small town merchants who advertise are doing a good business, and the small town enjoys a good newspaper. Advertising certainly has been profitable for the small town."—Randall County News.

OTHER FELLOW'S BUSINESS

You know that there are a lot of men who can stand on the outside of anything and tell you how it ought to be run, but when they are put in charge of the same thing they were trying to tell you how to run, then there is always something wrong about the thing itself, and not about the way they manage it.—Lamesa Reporter.

Amen! There are just whole cow pens full of us in this boat, Smith. Many a man who never saw the inside of a printing shop a half dozen times in his life could tell you, Smith, just how you ought to run a newspaper. And you know that it is the newspaper man's prerogative to tell the courts where to head in and the legislature how to legislate and the governor how to govern, etc. This is a funny old world, anyway.—Lynn County News.

EASY MONEY IN CHILDRESS

A few days ago a man who was promoting a scheme remarked to a local citizen, whom he was endeavoring to interest in the scheme "There's easy money in Childress."

After some thought along this suggestion, it is perhaps true. Yes, much more than many of us think. Think is the word to use, for in parting with our money on schemes we seldom think. We listen only to a silver-tongued salesman, one of the fellows who has a good "line and highpowered."

Childress merchants are throwing to the four winds thousands of dollars annually on schemes that are not worth a dime or return to the merchant a penny profit.

There is a way to rid Childress of this trouble and expense. Other towns have found a remedy and it costs nothing. In fact we are paying for such a service now but have asked that nothing definite be done.

The Chamber of Commerce is the place to correct the trouble. Let the directors appoint a publicity committee, whose duties will be to study and approve all kinds of publicity schemes. If the committee does not give written approval of the plan then local merchants who contract for the advertising violate a pledge of good faith in not living up to the committee's report. That places the merchant who desires to decline scheme advertising in the clear.

There are two newspapers in Childress. The papers do not expect, or even desire, all the money spent for advertising. There are some things that are worth the money spent, such as calendars, maps, novelties, and other things of like character. But it works an injury to the newspapers when they fight for more trade for local merchants, refuse juicy advertising contracts from merchants in larger cities and then see their home merchants spend money with an out-of-town advertising salesman.

Please read that last paragraph over from top to bottom, and if you don't see the point, read it over again.

The two newspapers in Childress employ a number of people, whose families will number at least 60 in buying and consuming power. These people are here every day of the year and spend their earnings with the local merchants, thus their advertising dollar to a large extent returns to them.

Otherwise these misspent dollars go away from Childress, the second loss suffered by not thinking.—Childress Index.

THE ULTIMATE
It is regal to be the chief guest of a feast,
Or the chosen one where there are few;
Yet some hold it servile to dine with the least,
As the teacher of brotherhood oft chose to do.

It is virile to stand when the cheering has ceased
And espouse the unfavorable view,
For he he a commoner, statesman or priest,
The popular thing is the easier to do.

It is puerile to quail when the load is increased,

Or to weaken when given your cue,
For zephyrs and perfumes of the Mystical East

So when we are numbered among the deceased,
May they carve as our epitaphs true

GRAFTER "WORKS" MERCHANTS
A transient grafter "worked" some of our business men last week to the tune of $5 each, which they paid in advance, on an advertising scheme. Had the News worked up a similar proposition at one-third the cost, and offered to collect only after the service was rendered, it would probably have met a cool reception by many business men. It seems that a stranger with a proposition of most any kind can secure some business in most any town, notwithstanding the fact that most such propositions are unfair in one way or another and all the solicitor is after is a chance to pick up some easy money, at the expense of the small town merchant.—Pampa News.

THE ULTIMATE
It is regal to be the chief guest of a feast,
Or the chosen one where there are few;
Yet some hold it servile to dine with the least,
As the teacher of brotherhood oft chose to do.

It is virile to stand when the cheering has ceased
And espouse the unfavorable view,
For he he a commoner, statesman or priest,
The popular thing is the easier to do.

It is puerile to quail when the load is increased,

Or to weaken when given your cue,
For zephyrs and perfumes of the Mystical East
Produce not the strength that the cold north winds do.

So when we are numbered among the deceased,
May they carve as our epitaphs true
These words, which by eulogists are rarely released:
"He did what nobody else wanted to do."

GRAFTER "WORKS" MERCHANTS
A transient grafter "worked" some of our business men last week to the tune of $5 each, which they paid in advance, on an advertising scheme. Had the News worked up a similar proposition at one-third the cost, and offered to collect only after the service was rendered, it would probably have met a cool reception by many business men. It seems that a stranger with a proposition of most any kind can secure some business in most any town, notwithstanding the fact that most such propositions are unfair in one way or another and all the solicitor is after is a chance to pick up some easy money, at the expense of the small town merchant.—Pampa News.

SO WHAT'S THE USE?
A Kansas editor has figured it out this way:
If you stay home in the evening you're afraid of your wife.
If you stay out until ten o'clock at night you're a rounder.
If you spend your money you're foolish, extravagant and improvident.
If you hang onto your money you're a tightwad, a grouch and a mutt.
If you admire a woman you're a trifter, a flirt and a home-wrecker.
If you don't look at them you're a mesaback and a moron.
If you own a car you're a spend-thrift and are putting on airs.
If you don't own one you're a hick and a back number.
If you wear good clothes you're a stuck-up dude and a cake eater.
If you don't wear a slouch and a shiftless nonentity.
If you walk fast on the street you will have blood pressure.

GAS PEACH TREE BORER

"Tell me how to kill peach tree borers with that chemical with a name as long as your arm. I have forgotten the name of it."

The substance referred to is para-dichlorobenzene. It is sure death to the peach tree borer and every person having peach trees should apply this material early in the fall, as most all peach trees have borers in them just below the surface of the ground.

The proper time to apply it is from late September to the latter part of October, depending on one's location. In the upper portion of the south, apply from September 1 to 10, and in the lower South, from October 10 to 20. Be sure to apply it about the time mentioned.

Do not apply it to trees under three years of age, as the younger trees will be injured by it. The dose for a three-year-old tree is 1 ounce; four and five-year-old trees, 3/4 of an ounce; six years and over, 1 ounce; and for very large and old trees, 1 1/4 ounces.

In applying this material, first remove all weeds, grass, stones, or any other obstruction of this kind from around the trunk of the trees. Then smooth up the ground with the back of a shovel. The crust on the surface of the ground should be broken, although it is not necessary to dig down to any depth. It is not often that these borers work above the ground. They usually are below it. However, when one finds that borers are working above the surface of the ground, a mound of earth should be piled up around the tree to a point where the borers are just below it. This is necessary because gas given off by para-dichlorobenzene to kill the borer, is heavier than air and sinks. The para-dichlorobenzene is put around the tree in a circular band about 1 1/2 inches from the trunk of the tree. Do not put any closer or any farther away, and do not put in piles, but spread out carefully so as to produce a band about 1 or 1 1/2 inches wide.

When it is thus applied, put a few shovelfuls of dirt on top of it, and pack with the back of the shovel. Use only soil that is free from trash, stones, etc., and put on in such a way as not to move the para-dichlorobenzene up closer to the tree or farther away from it. Do not pack the soil tightly, but merely smooth it with the back of the shovel.

At the end of the 28th day from the time the material is applied to three to five-year-old trees, the mound should be torn down to prevent injury. On trees above five years of age and older, it will not be necessary to tear down the mounds at all unless there has been a lot of cool, wet weather during October and November. In this case remove the mounds during the latter part of November.—L. A. Niven, in The Progressive Farmer.

A FIFTY-FIFTY PROPOSITION

TO MOTHERS: When you were a child it is probable that you used the street as a playground. There was little danger then. But with the heavy traffic brought about by modern automotive conveyances it is woeful neglect for you to permit your children to play in any public street.

Parents should your child be run down by an automobile or truck it will do you no good to say "Careless driving did it!" That may be partially true, but it doesn't bring Johnny or Betty back to your arms. One in every twenty-five drivers is careless and would no doubt, run down your child before he could stop the car. But that careless driver cannot run down your child if he is on the sidewalk or in your yard. Protect your kiddie.

TO DRIVERS: Are you going to be one of the drivers to kill a child?

Suppose children do run in the streets. It should be stopped, but still, you are a full grown man and it is up to you to resume the responsibility that careless mothers won't. Your horn can't blow kids out of the way, hence you must rely on careful driving. Say it with brakes instead of flow-ers. Better men than you have committed suicide for their care-lessness. It is a terrible thing to have a kiddie's soul on your con-science.

TO EVERYONE: A single mo-tor car mishap might be an acci-dent, but multiply this accident by 16,000 (last year's toll) and it cannot be classed as an accident.

A study of the automobile acci-dent situation brings to light the following: The eight "bad spots" are children playing in the streets, blind crossings, great slow-moving trucks or busses, slippery streets, sharp curves, railroad crossings, reckless drivers and careless pedes-trians.

There is only one way to stop these accidents and that is to stop blaming the other person and take an inventory of your own short-comings, then live up to the same safety rules that you expect from Cotton raising in our community will prove not an unmixed blessing if any of the negro pickers now at work take a notion to locate here.

Interscholastic football is getting back in better shape since the rules prohibiting players from just attending school during the season is being enforced. Athletics are valuable only as a part of a boy's training, but they lose their value when they are made the main object in his school life.

We trust our readers are looking over The Tigerette, edited by McLean High School students each week. Many live news items are printed on this page each week. We do not write them up for other pages to avoid duplication. The News is glad to donate this space to the school each week, and we would be glad to do the same for any school in our trade territory who will furnish regular copy.

According to the Wheeler county grand jury, the deluge of irresponsible, unsportsman-like class of hunters that came in this year may mean a closed season at all times on prairie chicken. If hunters cannot be gentlemen, they do not deserve to be allowed to hunt chicken in our section, and most of us would welcome a closed season the year round.

Our readers do not find any cigarette advertising in our columns. We lose a considerable sum of money each year by our refusal to accept cigarette advertising, but we want to publish a family newspaper that any of our subscribers may feel perfectly safe in having in their homes. Nobody attempts to defend the use of cigarettes except the manufacturers; even those addicted to the habit will not recommend the habit to others.

There is only one right way for an officer of the law to administer justice, and that is to treat everyone alike. This is so true that it would seem useless to state the fact, yet there are sometimes cases where it would appear that the law was being winked at for the benefit of someone. Personal feeling should never be considered in administering justice, but the law should be enforced without fear or favor.

'Sfunny world. We were criticised the other day for not mentioning a certain person's visit to another town, when the said person happens to be a non-subscriber to The News and has never phoned and told us a news item in their life. We are glad to mention anyone's coming and going, if we can learn of it at the proper time, regardless of whether they subscribe for our paper or not (we fully realize that everybody reads The News), but we should not be censured for our inability to be mind readers.

County Agent P. E. McMeans is to be congratulated on his success with our exhibits at the Tri-State and State fairs this year. Mr. McMeans had the full co-operation of the McLean Chamber of Commerce in getting the exhibits ready, and we understand with possibly one or two exceptions, everything placed in the exhibits was secured in the south part of the county. However, the greatest credit should be given Mr. McMeans, as without the knowledge of proper placing of the exhibits, we could not have hoped to have won such close places.

Hereford merchants are putting on a co-operative advertising campaign this fall with the idea of selling the town to their customers. It is now generally understood that an advertiser not only advertises his own store when he places an advertisement in the home paper, but at the same time his advertisement indirectly helps every other merchant in the town. It is easy to build up a town where every business man advertises, and the man who refuses to advertise, taking the overflow of business attracted by his competitor's advertising, is a business parasite, and does not deserve the business he receives.

WHEN IS ADVERTISING?

Lubbock business men could save themselves many thousands of dollars every year if they would insist on having all so-called advertising schemes and donation lists approved by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce or the Retail Merchants Association before lending it their support. It seems sometimes that the less merit a proposition has, the easier it is to get the support of many business men.

Clocks for hotel lobbies, thermometers for the street corner, desk blotters with a half a hundred ads on them, roadside sign boards that are supposed to be a business directory of the city, mileage leaflets that are supposed to be presented to travelers, are merely a few of the schemes that business men fall for in Lubbock almost every week.

Nine times out of ten these schemes have no merit as an advertising medium, but their promoters can sell them readily at prices no legitimate advertising medium would dare charge.

The average retail business man will find the newspaper about his most economical advertising medium. Then there are legitimate billboards, where a merchant buys an individual showing for a stated period of time, backed up by a responsible local man who can and will see that the merchant gets what he pays for. The city directory and telephone directory come within the realm of legitimate advertising and are so recognized.

The secretary of an organization of Denton business men recently made the statement that the vigilance committee had saved the merchants of that city no less than $10,000 on seven specific advertising schemes that were refused approval during the last year. That much money is worth saving. It is worth a lot to the men who saved it. It would accomplish wonders if added to the usual Chamber of Commerce budget or expended in some of the many legitimate ways of advertising. Perhaps the local newspaper should be the last to complain, because the average fake advertising scheme means a good job of printing at a liberal price. The fake advertising promoter doesn't quibble about printing prices as a rule. He gets plenty and then some from his patrons. A local business man suggested the other day that we ought to quit visualizing the easy mark as a greener from the back woods. He said the easiest of the easy marks are the smartly dressed, sophisticated fellows who sit behind desks and call themselves business men.—Lubbock Plains Journal.

LETTING THE WORLD KNOW

Newspaper advertising is an accurate barometer of the progressiveness and enterprise of the community. The enterprise of the individual merchant may also be measured by the extensiveness and quality of his newspaper advertising. The prosperity of the community depends upon the prosperity of its business, and the prosperity of any business depends in a great part upon advertising.

Merchants long ago learned the wisdom of inviting the buying public into their stores. From the merchants' experience with strangers, communities have learned the value of inviting strangers to visit them. Through advertising, the merchant and communities have succeeded in attracting buyers and visitors.

To succeed in business, one must have more than just something to sell. He must let the buying public know what he has for sale. Here again the community has learned something from the merchant who invites new citizens by apprising them of what he has to offer them.

But from the community the merchant has learned one of the secrets of advertising. The city or town seeking to expand its busness and increase its population does not confine itself to praising one of its many civic achievements or institutions. It advertises them all. So the business man knows that while his small ad in the newspaper will be read and bring him its fair share of new business, the large display advertisement will bring him more buyers.—Eskridge (Kans.) Independent.

Pampa Harvesters vs. McLean Tigers

Last Friday afternoon a very interesting game was played between the McLean Tigers and a Pampa team—combined Harvesters and ex-Harvesters. For those who know the ability and determination that the Tigers possessed when they entered the game, there was never any doubt as to the outcome. The game was a hard fought battle from start to finish. The Tigers remembered the school that was behind them and the black and gold which they were pledged to uphold. They fought every time the ball was snapped, and men who starred on the Pampa team in bygone days found that it was still hard to hold their own when they were trespassing on the Tiger's territory.

One or two of our boys were momentarily knocked out, but Coach Chancey did not see fit to make any substitutions. The spirit of the entire eleven is revealed in the attitude taken by Ned Carpenter, first string right guard. He made a beautiful tackle and downed one of Pampa's 180 pound backfield men for a loss, but in doing so he was struck in the head and stunned. When he saw the coach running toward him, he staggered to his feet and said, "Let's play football!"

The two teams fought back and forth all through the first quarter. If either side had an advantage, it was the Tiger aggregation, for they kept the ball on Pampa's side of the field most of the time and approached within seven yards of their opponents' goal line once.

The second quarter was a repetition of the first, but the third quarter was a decisive victory for the ole home team. They completed a 20 yard pass, Jackson to Clark, and this was followed by a 12 yard gain around right end by Howard. This brought the ball to Pampa's 30 yard line. Jackson made a field goal from this point and at a considerable angle. This was the only score made during the game, and one of the most perfect place kicks ever kicked on a high school gridiron. Jackson is playing the game this year. He has a level head and knows how to use it.

Only two eligible men played on the Pampa team. Five were ex-Harvesters and stars, such as Luder and Brown, who played every quarter of the game.

Our team showed that it had possibilities. It is just what we make it. Coach Chancey is one of the best coaches in the Panhandle. With the co-operation and backing of the school and town the boys will be encouraged to win. Every game the Tigers win is a commendation for our school and community. Everybody should get behind and aid them in all their undertakings.

Girls' Basketball Team Organizes
 One day last week before ball practice the Kittens elected the following officers:
 President—Vina Stratton.
 Business manager—Lena Sparks.
 The Kittens will play the first game of the season with the Alwood High School girls Friday, Oct. 16, at Alanreed. The Kittens are as "peppy" as ever and are nothing to make an even better record than was made last year. They are expecting some boosters to accompany them to Alanreed.

Tiger Second Team vs. Groom

No League game has been scheduled for this week, but the second team will lay Groom's first team here Friday. No one who plays on the regular team will be in a suit and this will be the only chance you will have to see some of your men in action. Although unevenly matched, the Kittens feel confident of victory. Come see them perform.

Basketball Game

Monday morning Supt. Dean, wondering whether Latin 1 or the physiology class contained the best girls' basketball team, suggested that the two teams organize and play at noon. When the time came for the game the best players from each class met on the court. Although the physiology girls fought bravely, the game ended with the score 12 to 0 in favor of the Latin girls.

It is rumored that the Latin and Spanish girls will play soon.

In Physiology class: Mr. Dean—"Elton what kind of a taste do you get on the back of your tongue?"

Elton—"Oh, you get the last taste."

Dean—"I like to hear Mr. Dean lecture on physics. He brings home to me things that I have never seen before."

Ned—"That's nothing; so does the laundry agency."

THE SUNDAY SUIT

The Sunday suit of clothes is one of the "institutions" that is disappearing in our generation. Years ago—and it was not so many years—the man was rare who did not have his "Sunday best" hanging in the closet for use only on Sunday or special occasions. The idea was to wear the new "for good" and it got every day use when the regular week-day suit fell to pieces. People were not so particular in the old days about what they wore on Saturday or Monday or any other day of the week, except the Sabbath. That was particularly true of men. Patches and mends were nothing to be ashamed of. They reflected the economy that was essential in a period when money was so scarce that the residence of a man making $200 a month was pointed out as the pride of the town to visitors. There was a song, "Every Day Will Be Sunday By-and-By," which has come true in the matter of men's clothes. Even the men who wear overalls in their daily work are apt to wear the same suit week-day evenings as they do on Sunday. The Sunday suit meant most to the boy in knee trousers, for with it the clothier "threw in" a pair of suspenders and perhaps a premium like an alarm clock masquerading under the name of a watch. Since the Sunday suit was not to see daily service for several months, father bought it several sizes too large, for boys grew then just as they do now. The glory of the new raiment was dimmed by the constant fear of tearing or making connections with a grease spot. Many of us would like to turn the clock back to the days when the Sunday suit was one of our best known institutions. For we had not only a Sunday suit, but a good many wholesome things that went with it socially. —Paducah Post.

ADVERTISING GRAFTERS

Most every merchant believes that it pays to advertise, but does not stop to realize that it pays to advertise in the right medium. He thinks nothing of letting a grafter talk him out of $10 to put a few words on a few cards. Advertising in the right way is as necessary as being convinced that advertising pays. The newspaper is the cheapest and best way to reach the people. That is why the big and most successful business houses use space in newspapers and refuse to fall for the grafters.—Randall County News.

SAVE YOUR MONEY

Spend your money for newspaper advertising, if you would be wise, and place little or none into schemes that are gotten up to put money into the pockets of some traveling lark that does not care a straw for you or your business. He is

TO PATRONS OF McLEAN TELEPHONE CO.

The management of the McLean Telephone Co. has been under strenuous circumstances since the absence of Mr. Kibler, and I have found it necessary to make some changes in the future, which I trust will be for the mutual benefit of the patrons and the Telephone Co.

In order to best handle the work outlined, I have arranged for my son, Byron Kibler, who is an honor graduate of the engineering department of A. & M. College, and at present constructing engineer of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., to move his home here and handle all construction work for the local system. I have also planned to construct a system of cables in the business section of McLean costing approximately $4,000, which will greatly add to the efficiency of the service. Due to the above changes and improvements in view, I shall be compelled to raise the rentals on each telephone twenty-five cents a month, effective November 1st, which will place the Telephone Co. in position to render much better service to the patrons. I shall also at the same time extend the closing office hour from 9 p. m. to 9:30 p. m.

I wish to thank the patrons for their extended courtesies in the past and assure you of my sincere efforts to improve the service in the future.
