City Hall Bids To Be Opened Wednesday

Civic loyalty and belief in caring for the needy in a systematic and economical manner will be tested this evening by the attendance at the mass meeting of business men called by the Community Chest directors at the Settles ball room beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

The vitality and soundness of West Texas business and the faith and loyalty of its people are reflected in announcements that practically all West Texas banks that closed recently will be reopened in a few weeks. Dates for the openings have been set for several. Others already have opened. The $1,000,000 stock fund sought for re-opening of an El Paso bank was oversubscribed $19,000.

And a lot of us are under the impression there is no money in the country. Fact is there is a lot of it, but most of it has been inactive—hoarded, hidden.

If all the ready cash in private hands were put to work you'd have a hard time taking care of the business. The towns whose money and people let it work are the ones that get along. Couple active capital with good payrolls of railroads, oil companies and other enterprises using natural resources as to make various products and you have a set-up that will withstand temporary inactivity in national business.

The Chamber of Commerce manager has used real foresight by sending letters, with maps presenting the city's strategic position with reference to oil pools, as well as pictures of the hotels and Petroleum building to 160 oil companies, many of them with West Texas production acreage or royalty. The time is coming as surely as the sun shines when the oil boys will return to their old haunts out here and we don't want to fall to take advantage of the many facilities we lacked when first they stormed the West Texas range.

Only 550 of the 1,000 trees ordered at 50 cents have been reserved at the Chamber of Commerce office. That is a pretty good lot but there is room for a lot more. The city commission has given assurance that an irrigation rate for next spring and summer will allow the customers to use more water for the minimum charge he now pays.

Gil Cotton, the gas company manager, smiled this morning when a sharp, chilling breeze bounded down from the bally plains. More cool weather—more gas consumption. And, since his company has more gas available than the city can use he's ready for winter.

We envy the fellows who today are combing hundreds of thousands of acres in West Texas hunting deer. This weather makes us want to take off and go back down in Presidio county to see Tom Rawls. But the Power of the Press, as it were, works in more than one direction. It may have something to do with verdicts at the polls once in a while—not often—and it may do a lot to improve town and state and the nation. But, it also keeps those who labor in its workshops on the job at least most of the time.

P. S. none of your wisecracks now!

HARRIS AT MARKET

Will Harris, proprietor of Harris, has returned from Dallas, where he bought new stocks of ready-to-wear, women's shoes and other merchandise for his store. It was incorrectly stated in Sunday's paper that Mr. Harris was connected with the Hollywood Shoppe. A. B. Gardner is the proprietor of that store.

.81 Inch Rain Falls In City

Many West Texas Points Report Heavy Precipitation

Rainfall in Big Spring for 24 hours ending at midnight Monday totaled .81 inch, according to the U. S. Weather bureau gauge at the airport.

General rains, heavy in many places, were reported over a wide section of West Texas. Rains varying from less than a quarter of an inch to an estimated two inches at Brownfield, fell over the South Plains early Monday night.

Accompanied by heavy wind which turned over several out-houses south of Lubbock, rain struck that city shortly after dark. The precipitation totaled only .38 of an inch.

A windstorm also was reported at Lamesa. Lighter rains were reported at Levelland, Muleshoe, Littlefield and Floydada, west, north-west and northeast of Lubbock. Spur reported an inch. Amarillo also was in the rain area. Good rains fell at Olton, Plainview, Tulla, Brownfield, Tahoka, Lamesa and Crosbyton.

Heavy rain started at San Angelo at 10 p. m. after scattered showers had covered the area throughout the day. Big rains fell in the Sterling City and Forsan country and west of San Angelo as far as Tustin and McCamey. Winters had several good showers with a harmless dash of hail and Ballinger had a heavy rain late last night.

A hard rain, which had been falling for an hour at Baird, was continuing shortly before 12 o'clock. Breckenridge Albany and Stamford also reported night showers.

Rotary Club Hears Talks On Boy Work

Cunningham, Bristow And Hudson Henley Are Speakers

"What can a man do for a boy?" The Rotary club program of Tuesday at the Settles centered upon this topic, with George Wilke and Dr. M. H. Bennett in charge and Grover Cunningham, Hudson Henley and Obble Bristow as the speakers.

Mr. Cunningham discussed the subject from the man's viewpoint. Hudson Henley, a high school student, in an unusually interesting address, reviewed the subject from the boy's standpoint. Coach Bristow pointed out the ways men may influence boys for good, especially the opportunities that are presented by the athletic coach.

President E. T. Piner stressed the importance of the tree-planting program being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. He also urged each member of the club to do all he could toward making the Community Chest campaign a success, pointing out that the club, as an organization would not participate as a donor and that individual gifts would be relied upon to fill the chest.

Guests introduced included Reese Allen of Wichita Falls, Mr. Yager of Midland, Mr. Boyce of California, Coach Bristow, B. F. Robbins and Joe Galbraith.

A spirited sing-song was led by Mrs. Bruce Frazier.

Banks Being Re-Opened

McAllen, Cross Plains, Big Lake, Ballinger, Del Rio, San Angelo

DEL RIO, Tex., Nov. 17 (UP)—With citizens cooperating in subscribing funds, a number of banks which closed that have been closed within the last two months are being re-organized and re-opened, a survey showed today.

In southwest Texas, the new McAllen State Bank, which was formally opened after it had taken over the First National and State Bank and Trust Company, both closed October 23. A celebration was being held at McAllen.

A new bank, the Citizens State Bank, opened for business at Cross Plains today, and customers lined the sidewalk long before opening time to make deposits. Accounts from the old First State Bank, which closed October 1, were transferred to the Citizens State.

Eight of eleven West Texas banks which closed recently now are either open or reorganization plans are well under way. The Big Lake State Bank and the Security Bank of Ballinger have re-opened.

The reorganization of the San Angelo National Bank has been completed and it will be opened November 30.

Plans have been announced for the Del Rio National Bank to take over the assets and liabilities of the closed First National Bank and in that way pay off all depositors in full.

The new capital for the First National Bank of El Paso has been subscribed. Approximately all the capital for the Security National Bank of Brownwood has been obtained.

Chest Session Tonight, 7:30

Business Men Urged To Be At Settles For Conference

Every person who has received a notice from the Community Chest committee, announcing the conference of this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Settles ballroom was again urged to be present by George White, general chairman, in a statement Tuesday morning.

Mr. White declared that the uses to which Chest funds will be put were of unquestioned worthiness and that the city's experience of the past year with the Chest plan had shown it to be the most economical and that it had met the needs of the community in admirable fashion.

Seven Cases Disposed Of

Two Draw Terms In Prison On Possession Of Liquor Counts

Seven cases were disposed of in district court Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning.

V. H. Kinard, facing a charge of swindling, was convicted and given a two-year suspended sentence. George Bowman, charged with possession for sale of intoxicating liquor, was given a two-year suspended sentence.

John Strickland was given one year in the penitentiary for possession for sale of intoxicating liquor. The case against G. B. Tumbleton for child desertion was dismissed on order of the court because the law covering the case had been declared void by the court of appeals.

Parents Indicted In Child Torture Case

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (UP)—A grand jury today indicted Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Riley on a charge of maltreatment and torture of 12-year old Edith Riley, the girl alleged to have been held a prisoner in a closet for several years.

Mrs. Riley is the child's stepmother. The jury's report charged that "On November 6 the day Edith was found huddled in a corner of the closet, Mr. and Mrs. Riley with force and arms, then and there did wilfully, unlawfully and feloniously torture, cruelly beat and abuse and otherwise wilfully maltreat the little girl."

Two Held For Thefts From Automobiles

Overcoats, Blankets, Canned Goods, Clothing Are Recovered

Thefts from cars here yesterday were followed by the recovery by local police of a number of overcoats, guns, blankets, canned goods, hand bags and clothing of all kinds and the arrest of two men giving their names as Eddie Williams and Lloyd Murphy.

The loss of several coats was reported to Chief of Police Long and a thorough search by the officers resulted in the discovery in a local rooming house of the stolen articles. The recovered articles are being held at the city hall and the owners are requested to call and claim them.

The filing of charges against the two men being held are delayed pending a further investigation of their records," Chief of Police Long said this morning.

Many Local Members To Attend District Convention Of Texas Christian Churches Wednesday

The annual convention of the fifth district of Texas Christian churches will be held at the First Christian church at Sweetwater beginning tomorrow morning at nine o'clock. Rev. E. R. Lindley, pastor of the First Christian church of Big Spring, and Chairman of the fifth district will preside. Among the speakers on the program will be leaders of both state and nationwide importance, chief among whom will be Patrick Henry, secretary of the Texas Christian Missionary Society, Charles Marion Ross, southwest director of religious education; Mrs. Bertha E. McMaster of the United Christian Missionary Society, and Dr. E. M. Waits, president of TCU.

F. E. McKenzie Of Colorado To Be Buried

Funeral services for F. E. McKenzie, 73, prominent Mitchell county ranchman and resident of Colorado for more than half a century, were to be held from his residence there at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with Rev. W. M. Elliott, Presbyterian pastor, and Rev. O. C. Reid, Baptist pastor, officiating.

Among out-of-town people who planned to attend the funeral were W. W. Inkman of Big Spring, a cousin of Mrs. McKenzie, and Mr. Inkman's father.

Mr. McKenzie died from apoplexy with which he was stricken while at lunch Saturday. His health had been impaired for several months. Mr. McKenzie was born in Prophetstown, Ill., October 27, 1858, and moved to Colorado in 1880. He established and owned until his death the Lazy X ranch in the southwest part of Mitchell county, and the community there bears his name. He was recognized as one of the county's most successful ranchmen and was a member of the American Short-horn Breeders' association in addition to his ranch interests. He was a large city property holder.

Survivors are his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Ross Dixon of Dallas, and two brothers, Nathan McKenzie of Prophetstown, Ill., and W. L. McKenzie of Laporte. Mrs. Dixon, with her husband and son, and W. L. McKenzie are here for the funeral.

Interment will be held in the Odd Fellows cemetery under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge. Active pallbearers will be W. W. Whippley, W. L. Does, Jr., A. L. Madden, Harry Landers, Charles Mooser, Dean Phenix.

Honorary: J. L. Does, Dr. B. F. Dulaney, A. E. Madden, J. R. Shepherd, J. A. Buchanan, F. M. Burns, J. M. Thomas, J. H. Simoot, O. F. Jones, J. D. Lane, W. G. Jamison, R. N. Gary, F. B. Whippley, H. Dozen Firms Expected To Seek Awards

Stage, Jail Equipment Lettings Scheduled For Friday

Bids for the construction of the city hall and municipal auditorium must be filed in the city manager's office by two o'clock Wednesday afternoon. City manager E. V. Spence declared in a statement this morning.

"The opening of the bids will be delayed an hour and will be opened in the county courtroom at 3:15 p. m. Wednesday," Mr. Spence said.

Seventeen firms have been invited to enter bids on the work but only twelve are expected to be represented at the contract letting, it was indicated.

A questionnaire was sent to all firms extended an invitation. The information asked for by the city is complete in every detail and only bids from the most reliable firms in the state will be turned in, city officials pointed out.

The contract for the stage and jail equipment will be let Friday, according to present plans.

The Woodmen of the World, sovereign camp, has purchased $98,000 of the $200,000 issue of Big Spring city hall, auditorium, fire station and jail bonds, according to a message from W. A. Fraser, president, Omaha, Neb.

Rev. Bailey To Plainview

First Methodist Church Here Prospered Under His Leadership

Rev. W. G. Bailey, who for the past four years has served the congregation of the First Methodist church of Big Spring, will leave Wednesday for Plainview to take up his new duties, assigned by the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist church.

"My period of service here has been pleasant and I leave many friends to go into a new field, but the local church will always have my prayers for a continued growth in strength and usefulness," Rev. Bailey said this morning.

The local church has prospered greatly under Rev. Bailey's leadership. More than 700 new members have been added to the church by profession of faith and by letter. A debt of $30,000 which was hanging over the church when Rev. Bailey came here has been paid and more than $67,000 raised in addition. There is a debt on the church at Plainview, and Rev. Bailey expressed determination to see it retired within two years.

Four Forsan Men Get Season's First Deer

Frank Hamblin, of Forsan, and his party consisting of Roy Lamb, Bill and Vernon Phillips have brought back the first deer of the season. Each man got a deer apiece.

They found the deer Sunday morning after pitching camp Saturday night about 60 miles below Marathon in the Big Bend country. They left home Saturday and returned today at noon.

A Huge Crop

THE essential strength of the cotton market—if anything so low can be referred to as possessing strength—was well shown when in the face of a government crop estimate 619,000 bales above that of a month ago, the market not only did not recede, but actually picked up a few cents on the bale.

Market observers attributed the steadiness of the price, in the face of such a bearing report, to below-normal stocks of cotton here and abroad, making the spinners feel free to enter the market for future requirements because at prevailing prices the staple is a good buy.

The South's great crop is now estimated at 10,902,000 bales, which is exceeded by the record crop of 17,777,000 bales produced in 1925.

And there are some indications that the price is due for higher levels. One of them was cited by the Associated Press, which said that the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York reported unfilled orders at the end of October showed the greatest improvement for a single month since statistics have been gathered, rising 31 per cent. The association, it was added, believes that hand-to-mouth buying is being abandoned.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

A Very Wrong Kind of Economy Wichita Falls Times.
MOST Texas counties are hard up these days and commissioners courts are cutting down expenses in every way that they can.
One of the first suggestions usually made when the commissioners get ready to wield the pruning knife, is that the office of county agent and county home demonstration agent be abolished.

It has been gratifying to note that very few Texas counties have actually taken this step. In several instances the emphatic protests of farmers have prevented its being taken. As a rule the commissioners have been slow to realize that of all the wrong kinds of economy in times like these, doing away with the county agent is the wrong-est.

HOW'S your HEALTH? LADY with a PAST BY HARRIET HENRY

Preventing Pneumonia We cannot prevent pneumonia in the same sense that we can prevent smallpox, typhoid fever, or diphtheria, for we have no vaccine or other specific agent which will render man immune to the disease.

But we can ward off the disease by avoiding those conditions which favor its development.

In a number of communities, famed once for their high prevalence of pneumonia, it has been demonstrated that by precautionary measures applied to groups and individuals the disease can be controlled.

Though pneumonia occurs in all climates, in the tropics as well as in the cold countries, it is distinctively a seasonal disease.

It is most prevalent when weather is cold, wet and chilling.

Probably the most important of all precautionary measures that can be taken to prevent pneumonia consists in paying more attention to and taking better care of ordinary colds.

Influenza, bronchitis, sore throat and all forms of catarrhal inflammations of the respiratory system are often associated with the germs of pneumonia and predispose to pneumonia.

Exposure to cold and severe weather with inadequate protection of the body, over-exertion, whether due to excessive work or play, and fatigue tend to weaken resistance against the disease.

Anything that tends to reduce vitality predisposes to pneumonia.
Worry, overwork, the loss of sleep, dissipation, alcohol—all of these must be avoided.

Proper diet is a protective against pneumonia.

In recent years it has been observed that a vitamin-poor diet predisposes to a variety of ailments, among them respiratory infections.

Overheated and excessively dry air should also be avoided.

Crowding and carelessness in disposing of the secretions of the nose and throat are largely responsible for the spread of the germs of pneumonia.

Chapter 8
ON THE STAIRS
"What else is there?" Venice

"Mother's always showing me how you can never amount to anything without popularity."

Drake gave her a long, grave look. There was penetration in his stare. He was trying to make out why any one with apparent intelligence should yearn for the empty laurels of purely social recognition. A question of bringing-up of course. Something that had been taooteo into her with a slow, insidious dye.

He's stuck with me, Venice suddenly thought. He's been sorry for me and is being kind. I shouldn't have said that people rarely bother with me at parties. She got slowly to her feet.

"You've been nice," she said, proffering a hand.

He took it and held it a moment.
Noticing the strong, firm clasp of hers he gave her another quick observant glance.

"But where are you going?"
"To—powder my nose."

"Oh, that's all right." He released her hand and watched her an instant as she went up the stairs. Then he crossed the hall to the living-room.

Venice heard some one cry, "Hi, Drake."

She went slowly into Lola's room and sat down on the bed. She rubbed the hand that he had held and looked at it as though she expected it to appear changed. He was the nicest person that she had ever met. He was so kind and natural and easy to talk to. Had he been sorry for her or had he really liked her? Undoubtedly he had been sorry for her. She had asked for it, telling him right away like that that no one was ever nice to her at parties. She wouldn't go back into the living-room and watch him busy with other girls.
She'd sneak away and telephone Lola in the morning to say what a lovely party it had been. How many times she'd told that lie in the last few years. A wry smile caught her lips with the speculation as to whether this would be counted against her in the hereafter. Or did God appreciate and discount such little social niceties?

Walking up Park Avenue to Eightieth Street she took deep breaths of the clear air. It was like clean water after a muddy draught.
Ann Duryea and her debut party.
Popularity the reward. Great innouences sped by, appearing ominous until a red or green light turned them into obedient servants of the city's laws.

A few years after the war he was elected to the legislature in Ohio and served two terms. And by the time he was 30 President Hoover had called him to Washington and made him a member of the junior cabinet—assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics.

All of which is quite enough to make a young man—an exceedingly ambitious young man at that—feel rather confident of himself and his ability to get along in life.

After Governorship That's how young Ingalls feels And he feels it so strongly that he will make an attempt to be elected Ohio's next governor. He has announced that he will file for the May primary in that state.

It occasioned no surprise when he came out with the formal announcement. He's been toying with the idea a long time. A man of his youth and enthusiasm who has had a taste of politics and liked it, could hardly be expected not to have such thoughts.

He has not lost touch with Ohio since his stay in Washington. He dumps into his speedy "Heldiver" on a moment's notice and flies to his native state and back. It is in a plane that he expects to do most of his campaigning.

If Ingalls is successful in his bid for the governorship, there are those who believe that he may attempt to go even higher up the political ladder.

That he likes politics is a well-known fact. Two terms in the Ohio legislature and his service as assistant secretary of the navy have whetted his appetite considerably.

Looking Ahead
There's going to be a campaign for the United States senate out in Ohio in 1934. That republican stalwart, Senator Fess, comes up for re-election at that time.

If Ingalls were to be elected governor, he would take office in January of 1933. Two years in the governor's chair might possibly go a long way toward making him a strong opponent for Fess.

But even if he is defeated in his bid for the governorship, not a great deal will be lost. He is still young and has plenty of time ahead of him. And a campaign, were it to be a losing one, would give him some excellent advertising value.

At any rate he'll bear watching.
Youth and enthusiasm such as his perhaps will be hard to down.

Venice saw Drake Farrelly's client hazel eyes and wavy hair like carved oakwood. It was dull hair, not shiny. She heard his laugh and felt again the pressure of his hand.
How she would have cherished his really liking her. She longed for his approbation, earnestly desiring his friendship.

Sitting opposite her mother at dinner, smooth candles shining on silver that had only escaped Sherman's march through Georgia by being hidden in a cellar, Venice suddenly hated the decorum and background to which she belonged.

"I have such a headache," said Mrs. Muir. "I haven't felt really well all day."

"I'm sorry, Mother." Venice's tone was a trifle empty. Her mother continually complained of the small ill or that, trifles that other people wouldn't bother to mention.
An ordinary filling at the dentist's became a painful operation in her recounting; a common cold, a really worrying congestion in the chest.

Venice watched her mother eat a hearty dinner.

Three days later something happened that lifted Venice from her monotonous round, made her feel a human being, an individual with private affairs of her own. It was only a telephone call but it gave her a sudden warmth and something all ill or that, trifles that other people wouldn't bother to mention.

She was sitting at her spinnet desk, weebegonically nibbling at the end of a pencil and trying in vain to work out the second chapter of her book. It wouldn't unfold.

The telephone jangled. She went to the beside table.

"Hello."

"Hello, may I speak to Miss Muir, please?"

"This is Miss Muir."

"Hello, Venice. I'm Drake Farrelly."

"Oh." And she couldn't think of another thing to say. Her heart shortened by two weeks in Ohio.

"Yes, you have, Venice Muir." Suddenly she was at ease with him. She laughed.

"That's the first subject for debate when you return. The lion and the house. Good-bye, Drake."

She sat looking at the telephone.
I wonder how long he'll be gone.
All day her mind played about this unexpected conversation. She looked forward to the passing of the intervening weeks. Something now to anticipate. Not since her debutante days had she had anything to eagerly anticipate.

FRIEND OF TEMPERANCE PROMOTED
The passing on of Dr. David Starr Jordan, noted educator and scientist, recalls the fine service he rendered to the temperance reform. An enthusiastic apostle of total abstenence and prohibition, he made a valuable contribution to the cause through his speaking, writing and personal influence as the president of a big university. The "Christian Century" in its tribute quotes from one of his famous lectures, in which he was wont to say that when one man writes another to have a drink, what he should say if he spoke with scientific accuracy is, "Come, let us paralyze our phagocytes together." Dr. Jordan was also an outspoken advocate of the outlawry of war and abandoned his scientific research work for a time to go from country to country to make sentiment for international peace.

RUDYARD KIPLING ON DRINKING
"Several months ago some prominent member of the W.C.T.U. in the United States wrote to me, saying that the press of her country was making much of a statement attributed to Rudyard Kipling opposing prohibition," writes Miss Agnes E. Slack, first honorary secretary of the World's W.C.T.U. "She asked me if I could discover if that was really his attitude. I knew it was not, and I made inquiries." Miss Slack encloses the following information:

Mr. Rudyard Kipling tells us how, in a concert hall in America, he saw two young men get two girls drunk and then lead them reeling down a dark street. Mr. Kipling had not been a total abstainer, nor have his writings commended temperance, but of that scene he writes: "Then recanting previous opinions I became a prohibitionist. Better it is that a man should go without his beer in public places and content himself with swearing at the narrow-mindedness of the majority better it is to buy lager furtively at back doors than to bring temptation to the lips of young fools such as I fear I had seen. I understand now why the preachers rage against drink. I have said, 'There is no harm in it taken moderately,' yet my own demand for beer helped directly to send those two girls reeling from this place down a dark street to—God alone knows what end. If liquor is worth drinking it is worth taking a little trouble to come at—such trouble as a man will undergo to compass his own desire.

It is not good that we should let it lie before the eyes of children and I have been a fool in writing to the contrary."

New "Colds-Control" Plan Is Welcomed by Mothers

Plan Introduced by Makers of Vicks VapoRub to Reduce the Family "Cold-Tax" Is Made Possible by a New Preparation.

Local Druggists Offer a Test of the New Product and Plan to Vapo-Rub Users an Unlimited Guarantee of Satisfactory Results.

Mothers are constantly faced with the problem of colds and their costs. It is the mothers, therefore, who especially appreciate the Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home—just perfected by the makers of Vicks VapoRub.

The Vicks Plan is made possible by a new preparation, Vicks Nose & Throat Drops, based on a new idea in "preventing" colds. It is a complete product to VapoRub, the modern external method of "treating" colds. The two preparations aid and supplement each other. Together, as directed below, they give you the Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds."

1.—Before a Cold Starts Use Vicks Nose Drops—a few drops up each nostril—whenever you or your children have been exposed to anything which your own experience tells you is apt to bring on a cold—contact with others having fresh colds, crowds, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms, public places—a night on the Pullman or a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes in temperature, wet or cold-inhaling smoke, dust, gases—or when you are tired from overwork.

In short, don't wait for that stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages—Nature's warning that you are actually "catching cold."

2.—After a Cold Starts
At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub—now available in "stainless form," if you prefer. Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bedclothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising may be inhaled freely all night long. During the day, use Vicks Nose Drops every few hours—any time, any place. This gives you full 24-hour treatment.

Ideal for Children
Both these Vicks products are external and hence can be used as freely and as often as needed without the risk of too much "dosing." Internal "dosing" so often disturbs the digestion—especially the delicate digestions of children. This impairs the appetite, which, in turn, reduces body strength at a time when resistance to disease is most needed. Don't "dose" colds—especially children's colds—except on advice of your family physician.

Trial Offer to Vicks Users
Proof of this Plan is in its trial—in your own home. Get a bottle of Vicks Drops today. Keep it alongside your trusted Vicks Vapo-Rub. Use them together as directed. Their better "Control-of-Colds" will be noted in fewer colds—colds of less severity and shorter duration. An actual saving to you in money, loss of time and health. Otherwise, the test will cost you nothing. For, unless results are more than satisfactory, your druggist will refund in full the price of the new Vicks Nose Drops.—adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Service Entertain At Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Service were host and hostess to a jolly bridge party at their home Monday evening.

The house was attractively decorated with chrysanthemums and a delicious salad course was served at the close of the games.

Mrs. Parks scored high for the women and received a cookie jar; Mrs. Croft, low, received a telephone memorandum pad. Mr. Faw made high score for the men and received a double deck of cards; Mr. Davis, low, received a single deck.

The guests were Messrs. and Meses Wayne Rice, Tom Davis, J. L. Webb, M. M. Edwards, Van Gleason, Bob Parks, McCall Gary, L. W. Croft, C. S. Blomsheld, Fred Keating and H. S. Faw, and Mrs. J. B. Young.

pressed the sentiments of all the Birdie Baileys:

"As you find new fields to enter, In some other church, we pray, You will not forget to love us, Matters not how far away, You will have our choicest wishes, To go with you through the years, And we all shall miss you greatly, Just the very thought brings tears.

How are we to do without you, So devoted, kind and true? But we know our loving Father Without doubt will see us through."

This And That
By Mark

We could hardly believe our ears yesterday when we heard Cotton Lynn, former Mustang star, voice an opinion that in his estimation Dennis was the outstanding star on the field last Wednesday. Smart boy that Cotton.

Along this same line a couple of rather important business men from the Nolan county center expressed the same idea. Some of the boys over near the Pcony corral evidently know their football.

Reading a little article by Pop Warner and he gives his idea of what it takes to make a real ball player. The plover to rank as great in Pop's eye must be able to run, kick, pass, play a defensive game and be able to think on his own account. A specialist in one line of play is rapidly becoming a thing of the past according to the veteran coach. Ernie Nevers of California is ranked by Warner as the greatest of the great on the All-time, all-American football team. Nevers could do anything a football player ever had any need of doing according to Pop.

It is rumored that Minnesota is going to offer Bernie Bierman coach of the Tulane Green Wave a position directing the destiny of the football teams of his old alma mater. Bierman has one of the strongest teams in the country this year and will in all probability go through an undefeated season. The greensies showed a world of strength last week in running over the strong University of Georgia club.

Plush Yarborough informs us that he took a ride with one of the Flying Aces at the American Legion air show Sunday afternoon and that the aviator gave him everything but the plane. "It was great stuff until I looked up and saw the ground, and then I was ready to leave it with him," Plush said.

The boys on the Concho are preparing for a real battle this week with the invasion of the Sweetwater Mustangs. Just how much of a battle the Taylormen will not realize until the final whistle sounds. Many a Bobcat will be nursing bruises and sore muscles when the shadows fall on the Concho after the struggle.

The Bobcats are going into the game with the Ponies much under the same circumstances that the Steers did. Very little real opposition has been afforded the Angelo club to date. The Mustangs know what real opposition is and the advantage is with the Red and White in the coming tilt. The Taylormen may have lots of stuff we don't know anything about, but regardless—we can promise the boys they will need everything they have to stop the Nolan county crew.

We expect to be able to enjoy this game no little. The Armistice Day affair was just a little hard on our nerves. The demonstration to be put on by Harrison & Co. should be worth watching. Then on the other side Red Sheridan will be strutting his wares in no mean manner. Two fast shifty teams will be on the field and while the advantage is with the Mustangs almost anything is likely to happen.

Personally nothing would give us more pleasure than to see the Bobcats down the Mustangs and then lose to the Steers next week to throw the district into a three way tie. Stranger things have happened, folks, so don't be surprised.

In case the Amarillo Sandies can stop the Lubbock crew on Thanksgiving day the district to the north will be plunged into a three way tie. We are inclined to doubt the ability of the Sandies to turn the trick, however. Lubbock should romp right on into the state finals.

A changed forward wall may take the field for the Steers next week on the Bobcats come over. Brislow and Brown are working their heads overtime in an effort to plug the places weakened by the loss of Dyer, and Roberts and the injury to Hopper.

Also something is going to take place in the Steer backfield. The touchdown manufacturing section did not manufacture last week and the mentors are going to see what can be done about that little matter also. A backfield fighting as Dennis fought last week could not be kept from scoring. We expect to see an entirely different set of boys take the field in the final game on the district schedule. The experience gained in the last game should prove valuable.

On all sides we hear request for a post-season game between the Presbyterian Women Hold All-day Meeting

The members of the Presbyterian Auxiliary met at the church for an all day meeting Monday with luncheon served at noon by the district chairman.

Mrs. Wm. F. Cushing was program leader for the day and Mrs. W. C. Barnett presided over the business session.

Mrs. L. S. McDowell and Mrs. Fred Campbell made talks on the first three chapters of the book, "Imperative of Home Missions."

Mrs. Geo. W. Davis talked in the afternoon and Mrs. Campbell summarized the day's lesson.

Mrs. J. E. Litter had charge of the music. There was a liberal offering made by the members for home missions.

Those attending were Meses. C. W. Cunningham, Frank Knauis, L. A. White, Emory Duff, Roy Tucker, E. C. Boatler, Elma Scherruble, T. S. Currie, R. C. Strain, L. S. McDowell, Geo. W. Davis, W. R. Howard County Children Suffer More From Under Weight Than Over Weight

Overweight is a defect that is troubling few Howard county children, if two schools can be taken as an example. Two at Midway out of 68 were approximately ten per cent overweight and three at Chalk out of 59 pupils.

The defect of underweight is more prevalent. There were eight at Midway who were 10 per cent underweight and 12 at Chalk.

Mrs. M. R. Showalter, public health nurse, reports that 12 pupils at Midway had 13 corrections and 13 at Chalk had 14 corrections.

The report in full is as follows:
Chalk School Inspection
Fifty-nine pupils inspected; 49 were found to have one or more defects; 5 had defective vision; 14 enlarged or diseased tonsils; 5 habitual mouth-breathers; 36 had defective teeth; 3 had sore gums; 1 pupil had a skin eruption; 2 had poor posture; 12 were approximately 10 per cent underweight and 3 approximately 10 per cent overweight; 81 was the total number of defects.

Thirteen pupils had 14 corrections. Eleven parents and teachers attended the health meeting.

Midway School Inspection
Sixty-eight pupils inspected; 62 found to have one or more defects; 5 had defective vision; 22 diseased or enlarged tonsils; 2 were habitual mouth-breathers; 43 had defective teeth; 6 had sore gums; 2 had a skin eruption; 7 had poor posture; 8 pupils were 10 per cent or more underweight, approximately, while

St. Mary's Auxiliary Plans Thanksgiving Food Sale

The members of St. Mary's Episcopal Auxiliary met at the church parish house Monday afternoon with Mrs. W. H. Martin as hostess. Mrs. Blomshied presided over the meeting.

The members planned for another food sale to be given on the day before Thanksgiving, announced that the lamp would remain on exhibit in Albert M. Fisher's store and devoted the afternoon to sewing.

Those present were Meses. Martin, Blomshied, V. Van Gleson, O. L. Thomas, and Shine Phillips. Mrs. Phillips will be the next hostess.
