

Home Talk by Betty

Now that the football season has ended we will all suddenly realize Christmas is almost upon us and begin making what arrangements we can to go through the holiday season in customary and conventional manner.

Things sure looked cheery Thursday evening when the red and green decorations, lights flashed on downtown streets.

Many merchants are expressing enthusiastic support for the Christmas shopping season opening and window display unveiling to be held Thursday of next week.

It will be a mighty good stunt, get everybody in the Christmas spirit, give the merchants an opportunity to flash their Christmas merchandise before the buying public in a striking manner.

Now since Sweetwater has clinched the district football championship we would like to see good delegations, each with a band, attend the bi-district game from Midland, Big Spring, Sweetwater and Colorado and root for the Mustangs.

We are all tied up in the same district. It is a district that has attracted much attention in its first season. If its representative could advance area to the quarter final this year it would mean much to every school in the district.

Next season some of the teams out here may wish to schedule some inter-district games early in the season as Sweetwater did this year and a good reputation for strength of district football would help a lot.

The day will come when cities like Amarillo, Waco, Tyler and other that have been up in the big time games for years will be brought out here.

The community owes much to Coach Erickson and Brown and their boys. We have watched a lot of coaches work but we have never seen one who instills a spirit of fairness, good sportsmanship and genuineness in his men any more effectively than Obie does.

We said we were going to pick up all district team just for the fun of it and as a treat.

FIGHT AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS IS WAGED HERE

Led by members of the Child Study Club this 25th annual Christmas seal sale is being launched here. The seals, issued by the National Tuberculosis Association, are for the purpose of financing a nationwide fight against tuberculosis through preventative measures as well as by treatment of sufferers.

Money from sale of Christmas seals helps establish sanatoria for treatment of the disease, aid in detecting tuberculosis in its first stage in time to effect a cure, makes possible health inspection of school children, teaching of habits that help insure good health and bring real good food sunshine, fresh air and medical attention to sick children.

Rev. R. E. Elount, president of the Child Study club said yesterday that not only are you helping to fight tuberculosis when you buy these seals but you are helping to rid your county and your school of tuberculosis subjects.

Decentralization of Industry Gives Areas of Comparatively Sparse Population Opportunity

AUSTIN, Nov. 28 (AP)—Density of population is not the major factor in the establishment of industrial centers. This is the opinion of John W. Carpenter of Dallas, president of Progressive Texas, Inc., and is gained from an analysis of recent census figures released by the United States department of commerce for Texas. The figures showed that while six counties produced manufactured goods valued at more than $50,000,000 annually, there were four counties that produced between $20,000,000 and $50,000,000; three between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000 and eight between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Seventeen counties, however, were producing manufactured goods valued at between three and five million annually; 10 between two and three million and 31 between one and two million. There

Public Confidence Improves Southwest Business Outlook

DALLAS, Nov. 28 (AP)—Improvement in public confidence and a stronger undertone in business and industry was noted in the monthly business review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, compiled as of Nov. 15, which was released today.

Although unusually warm weather retarded distribution of seasonal merchandise, the report pointed out that department store sales recorded a substantial seasonal increase over the previous month. The total reflected a smaller decline from a year ago than was noted in September. Merchants were described as still limiting orders to immediate requirements but the gradually strengthening consumer demand and the firmer tone of prices in some quarters were found to be creating a more cheerful sentiment.

Debts to individual accounts at banks in principal cities reflected a gain of 19 per cent over the previous month and the 20 per cent decline from a year ago was the most favorable percentage reported since 1st January.

Diplomat With Hand of Steel Leads Rail Men In Wage Fight

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28 (AP)—A hand of steel in a glove of silk. Such is the hand of D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, who as chairman of the labor forces wrote the statement at the close of the negotiations between railway and labor executives signaling the opening of a battle over wages.

Diplomatic, cultured, a polished gentleman, Robertson represents the aristocratic school of the labor movement, yet he came up the avenue of toil and hard knocks. In his fights he has resorted to diplomatic methods and employed argument and persuasion to win his point, yet when diplomacy failed he has been as inflexible as a bar of steel.

The brotherhood chief quit school at the age of 12 to go to work in a Youngstown bolt works. He worked in brick yards and machine shops. He eked out an education from night schools and by correspondence. Polish was added by reading as an engine wiper for the Pennsylvania and continued as hostler, fireman and engineer for the Erie until 1913.

Witnessing "Touchdown" Real Thrill For Football Fans

Greatest Grid 'Huddle' Ever Brought to Screen Makes Picture Success

To enjoy a football game as in stadium-sitting, even the most football-wise stadium-sitter, could not enjoy it as the privilege offered to audiences by the Ritz theatre in the presentation there today and Monday of "Touchdown!"

For this picture, devised and played by the most impressive assemblage of gridiron and film authorities ever to be called into a "huddle" on a big-screen production, takes the beholder right into the hearts of those excited heroes and near-heroes who prepare and serve up the great American Saturday-afternoon thrill-dish.

No Rover Boy Finale
"Touchdown!" is a football story which (at last) does NOT attain its effects through a last-minute, heroic dash across the opponents' grimly-defended goal-posts. The glory and exaltation rather, is wholly moral; and unattained by the customary winning of the crucial game. In fact, in "Touchdown!" the home team actually LOSES the final game.

By employing the talents of men who know their football and who know their human nature, Paramount here presents, in effectively touching realism, the inside goings-on, the fears and joys, the pain and glory of an heroic national pastime.

Arlen and Starrett Heroes
Richard Arlen, himself a college footballer before joining the aviation forces in the world war, is the central figure in the story—a coach who builds up a great team, and loses his final game because of a moral precept.

Charles Starrett, who played varsity football at Dartmouth, is the leading player-interest in the tale as the brother of Peggy Shannon's wealthy father who has built the big stadium for his alma mater Midwest. As the coach at Midwest Arlen falls in love with Peggy, and almost loses her when he loses the final game by refusing to let Starrett play because of an injury. But because of his tenacity to this high principle, Arlen in effect saves Starrett from being a permanent cripple—and the encouragement with Peggy is a happy one when she realizes the full import of the situation.

Francis Wallace, who was Knute Rockne's press representative for several of his most successful years as the world's greatest football coach, wrote the story. He is an eminent authority on football, and has written two novels, "Huddle" and "Stadium," about the grid game.

All-Americans in Cast
Regis Toomey, Jack Oakie and J. Farrell MacDonald are featured members of the cast. In addition there are many football notables in the lineup. Among them are Howard Jones, U. S. C. football coach; four U. S. C. all-American griders—Morley Drury, Russ Sanders, Jesse Hibbs and Nate Barringer; Dale Van Slyke, all-American end for Florida in 1929; Herman Ritz, Washington tackle in 1927; Roy Riegle, California varsity captain in 1929; Tom Lieb, chief assistant to Knute Rockne in 1929; Jim Thorpe, Carlisle Indian, Olympics champion, and rated as the greatest athlete of modern times—and many others.

Norman McClord, director of "Monkey Business" and many others—himself a football player in his undergraduate days at the University of Washington, directed "Touchdown!"

Coming! Collins Bros. 1c Sale.

Barrymore Stars

Lionel Barrymore as the merciless menace who cloaked his brutal deeds in a nation's uniform in the Fox drama, "The Yellow Ticket," to be at the Ritz Thursday and Friday of this week.

Myrna Loy Stated For Queen Today

Myrna Loy, who comes to the screen of the Queen theatre today in the Fox picture, "Skyline," can't forget the result when she tried to vamp Thomas Meighan, who plays a featured part with her. Meighan imperiousness a great construction engineer anxious to break with Miss Loy. She tries to hold him and exerts all her allurements. "When I did so," she says, "he looked at me so coldly and penetratingly that I forgot we were acting and almost lost my grip on the scene."

Hardie Albright, Maureen O'Sullivan and Donald Dillaway are the other featured players in "Skyline," which Sam Taylor directed.

"Transgression" Stars Kay Francis

"Transgression," opening tomorrow at the Queen theatre is a vivid film of contrast. From the quiet, pleasing panorama of an English countryside, the picture moves swiftly to the night life of Paris with its kaleidoscopic parade of women flirting with the danger of pleasure, and thence to a romantic setting of the Dons in the wilds of Spain.

Directed by Herbert Brenon, "Transgression," boasts a splendid cast with Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez, Paul Cavanagh, Nance O'Neill, John St. Polis and Cissy Fitzgerald portraying the leading roles.

The film was adapted from the novel "The Next Corner," by Kate Jordan.

A. B. Barrow of Abilene was here Friday on business.

'Shot Gun Pass' Stars Tim McCoy

Colonel Tim McCoy, the screen's dashing western star and idol of many a young boy, is to appear Friday and Saturday at the Queen theatre in "Shotgun Pass," a Columbia picture. It is a story of vengeance and romance in which strange wars play an important part in developing and unraveling the plot complications. A herd of stampeding horses is said to furnish much excitement. Production officials report that they were rounded up by Tim McCoy and a band of men from a herd of wild outlaw horses who had strayed from small ranches and were roaming at will in the back ranges of the Sierras.

Tim McCoy enacts the leading role—that of courageous young ranchman who, through the cowardly murder of his father, is precipitated into a series of range wars. His hostile neighbors are played by Joe Marbra, Monty Vandergrift and Ben Corbett. Virginia Lee Corbin who will be remembered by many for her charming contributions to the screen as a juvenile actress, plays the leading feminine role.

Juvenile Stars In 'Rich Man's Folly'

In "Rich Man's Folly," George Bancroft's latest starring picture, there are two very interesting juvenile arists who are great favorites with their older professional associates. Their names are David Durand and Dawn O'Day.

During the filming of the picture whenever either of these youngsters appeared on the set, the eyes of their associates followed their work closely. And, in between times, they had plenty of admiration and attention.

War Pensions Saved In Great Britain From Political Expediency And Party Wire-Pulling Operations

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series of seven weekly North American Newspaper articles telling what the United States, Great Britain and France have done for their war veterans, and what they contemplate doing.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—One of the few vital subjects about which little or no grumbling is heard in England is war pensions. It is generally admitted that the question is too serious and concerns the nation's honor too closely to be left to the mercy of political expediency and party wire-pullers, and the result in the whole is sound and good.

An inquiry at the headquarters of the British Legion, great organization of English ex-service men, confirmed this impression. Except for certain matters of detail, the legion has no fault to find either with the amount of the various grades of pensions or with the principles governing their grant.

The assessment and payment of pensions to British war invalids and their dependents, and to the dependents of those who fell in action or died from wounds, injury sustained in war, or of sickness judged a direct result of war service, are in the hands of the ministry, a department created during the World War to deal with the enormous number of pension claims which were accumulating every day at the war office and admiralty.

Pensioners Decrease Yearly
This ministry, now in its fourth year, has outlined its business period, and its officials speak of their occupation as a decaying industry. The reason is that yearly war pensioners of all classes decreased.

The ministry deals only with claims made on war services given up to the class of the World War. The attainment of sixteen years of age in the case of children reduce the pensioners about 100,000 a year. In March, 1922, the Ministry was paying more than 2,500,000 pensions and allowances. In March, 1929, the number had sunk to 1,473,000. In the same month last year it had fallen to 1,370,000. Since then there has been a decrease of about 100,000.

Deaths in 1929-30 numbered 24,000. About 75,000 children attained the pensionable age limit of sixteen, and about 2,000 widows remarried. Every year a number of invalids receiving temporary allowances are struck off the rolls as cured. There have been corresponding decreases in expenditure. In this financial year 1929-30 the ministry spent $538,227,530, its highest appropriation. In 1928-29 its outlay was $288,662,500, and in 1929-30, $288,317,500.

Table of Payments		Lieut. Col. Major or 2nd Lieut.
Per Cent.	MaJ-gen.	Brig-gen.	Col.	Lieut. Col.	Major or 2nd Lieut.
100	$2,100	$1,850	$1,650	$1,500	$1,350
90	1,350	1,175	1,025	1,250	1,215
80	1,080	1,260	1,220	1,200	1,080
70	1,470	1,365	1,125	1,050	945
60	1,260	1,170	990	940	810
50	1,050	975	825	720	675
40	840	780	660	600	540
30	630	585	495	450	405
20	420	390	360	300	270

These pensions are allowed in every case to officers retired by disablement. The Ministry has power to grant further payments to officers who served less than fifteen years before their retirement, varying from $1,000 a year for a lieutenant-colonel to $350 for a second lieutenant. These sums are ready to be considered as adjusted long service pensions, which the beneficiary was prevented from earning in full by his premature disablement.

O'Brien Wins Favor Among 'Real' Riders

Turns Stampede During Filming of 'Purple Sage' Any hand who can turn a stampede can ride for my money.

"Vinegar" Roan, "Outmeal" Martin, Herman Nolan, Dick Hunter, and "El Yi" Lyon are veteran range riders. They've rounded up herds since their people legs could straddle a cayuse. They're not very easily impressed—especially by movie cowboys—but they think a lot of George O'Brien.

The reason for their good opinion of George is that while they were working with the burly star on his latest Fox western feature, "Riders of the Purple Sage," which patrons of the Ritz theatre will see beginning Saturday, for one day only, they watched him perform the feat referred to above, the most dangerous a cattle hand can be called on to execute; turning a stampeding herd, during a sequence of the picture.

The scene occurs when enemies of Marguerite Churchill, the feminine lead in the picture, stampede her herd of longhorns. O'Brien, who is staying at the ranch to protect her from these foes, sees the danger and rides to the rescue. So far the scene progressed according to plan but one of the "menace" players became too zealous. He roveled a steer along the flank with his spur and a prepared stampede turned on the instant into a real one.

By this time O'Brien was near the head of the herd, which was bearing down on the tent location where the players lived on location. It was too late to stop. Tearing round the vanguard, O'Brien came up with the leading steer. He flung himself from his saddle onto the animal's horns, put every atom of his strength into a bulldogging twist and threw the brute to the ground. Deprived of their leader the attimilled round, slowed down and stopped. The stampede was halted and a scene of extreme realism photographed.

Nosh Beery and Yvonne Pelletier are also to be seen in featured roles in this famous Zone Grey frontier romance which Hamilton MacFadden directed.

'No More Children' On Queen Schedule, Strong Study of Birth Control

LILLIAN BOND

Any attempt to interfere with the laws of nature is apt to be a dangerous experiment, especially any interference with the sex life of the individual. This fact is powerfully illustrated in "No More Children," which comes to the Queen theatre Monday and is heralded as a serious discussion of the problem of the unwelcome child.

In this picture which is based upon a recent court decision in a midwestern city a judge orders a young married couple to have "No More Children" with a threat of a prison sentence if the mandate is disobeyed. The young wife's futile efforts to obey the judge and the inevitable disaster that follows form the theme of one of the most unusual and sensational photographs ever unreeled upon the screen.

Lewis Sargent, best remembered for his marvelous portrayal of the immortal Huckleberry Finn, plays the young husband with dainty and directed the production.

Russian Secret Police Practices Seen In Picture

In the Museum of the Revolution in Moscow today there is a chamber draped in black. It is a chamber of horrors filled with relics of the reign of terror under the czar. All of these torturous instruments are mementos of the Ochrana, the most dreaded and powerful secret police system of history, whose activities form much of the plot of "The Yellow Ticket," Raoul Walsh's Fox production, featuring Elissa Landi, Lionel Barrymore and Laurence Olivier and which will play at the Ritz Thursday and Friday.

The Ochrana began with Peter the Great and ceased only with the recent revolution. It honeycombed all society with its hosts of disguised agents, who watched among the people for the first breath of sedition. If this were heard, a sudden arrest, a secret trial and imprisonment occurred with the speed of a kidnapping.

The Ochrana had its own supply depots of clothing including even horses and cars for agents disguised as hucksters. Like shock troops its members were discouraged from marrying because of the danger of their work.

In "The Yellow Ticket," Lionel Barrymore portrays the sinister chief of this secret police system into whose hands Miss Landi falls. Olivier has the part of the young American journalist who interests himself in her predicament and does much to bring about the startling denouement. The film is the picture-making of Michael Morton's well known stage play that electrified New York some years ago.

District Four's First Season A Thriller

Teams Flash Scintillating Grid Display

New Loop Looked Upon as Future Usurper of Oil Belt Crown

The curtain was rung down on football in district 4 Thanksgiving Day when the Steers battled to a scoreless tie with the Bobcats, while McCamey was downing Colorado 40-6 and the Mustangs stopped the Midland Bulldogs 7-0, to gain the undisputed right to wear the crown as champions of the district for the first year.

Never has a district in the Inter-Scholastic League seen such a hectic year and such bitter competition from the teams comprising the district as has been witnessed in the state. Right up to the last game of the season the race was tight and the fans never knew just which team was going to come out on top.

In addition to the sterling brand of ball played by the teams of the district practically every team in the circuit offers one or two men of unusual ability as candidates for the mythical eleven. There is a wealth of backfield material and some who are candidates for all-state mention.

While the competition is probably more keen among the line men there is some little dispute among the experts as to the outstanding backs of the circuit are. There are plenty good men in one or two particulars but not so many who stand out as proficient in every department of play.

Standing out head and shoulders above the backfield men are Red Sheridan of the district champion Mustangs at a half back post and Tack, Dennis of the Steers in the fullback position. Sheridan is a fast able runner, a fair blocker and a nice defensive man. His place on the mythical club is undisputed and incidentally he is worthy of all-state mention. Dennis is the bright and shining light of the district. Seldom, if ever, has Texas high school football seen a back of his all-around ability. Without argument Tack steps into the fullback berth and fills it as no man in the state can.

Coach Bristow of the Big Spring Steers, the leading scoring team of the district and the club which has only been scored on once during the season, names his eleven and says that he is not picking a field general for the team but would just have the center pass the ball to any man in the backfield and then let the defense try to stop the play.

His choice for an all-district team starts Sweetwater with 4 men, Midland with one, McCamey one, San Angelo 2 and Big Spring with three. Here it is: Ends: Jones (SW), McCall (MD); Tackles: Hopper (BS), H. Barnett (McC); Guards: Grimsley (SW), Strother (SW); Center: Dyer (BS); Backs: Sheridan (SW), Harrison (SA), Delker (SA) and Dennis (BS).

R. C. Hankins, Hank, the scribe who keeps the Midland public informed as to the why and wherefore of district 4 football offers this team. He goes at length into the qualities of the four men in the four men in his backfield. Each man is a triple threat star and would give the mythical eleven a dangerous combination for the opponents to stop.

Ends: McCall (MD), Eldoseo (SW); Tackles: Grimsley (SW), Fimmel (MD); Guards: Hopper (BS), Brooks (SW); Center: Dyer (BS); Quarterback: S. Baugh (SW); Halves: Sheridan (SW), Burris (MD); Fullback: Dennis (BS).

Hardy Pearce, the coach of the Colorado Wolves whose team was soundly whipped by every team in the district picks his men as follows: Ends: Schuhard (SA), McCall (MD); Tackles: Hopper (BS), H. Barnett (McC); Guards: Strother (SW), Martin (BS); Center: B. Baugh (SW); Quarter: Harrison (SA); Halves: Sheridan (SW), Hicks (SW); Fullback: Dennis (BS). Pearce goes further and on his second all-district club names Schwarzbach as quarter and places S. Baugh at a halfback post.

Ed Hennig, Coach Hennig of the district champion Mustangs hops the show when he names his all-district club with six of the Ponies holding down places on the mythical team. Big Spring has two and Midland three.

His lineup would show: Ends: McCall (MD), Eldoseo (SW); Tackles: Fimmel (MD), Grimsley (SW); Guards: Hopper (BS), Brooks (SW); Quarter: S. Baugh (SW); Halves: Sheridan (SW), Burris (MD); Fullback: Dennis (BS). It is not noted that the backfield named by Hennig is the same as that picked by Hankins. These four men would make up a high powered secondary and one that would drive the opposition nuts with its continuous threats in every line of offense.

Blondy Cross, The San Angelo sports scribe picks a good team but his lineup is quite different in many respects from the previous suggestions: Ends: Jones (SW), Schuhard (SA); Tackles: Hopper (BS), H. Barnett (McC); Guards: Strother (SW), Olton (SA); Center: Dyer (BS); Quarter: Dennis (BS); Halves: Harrison (SA), Sheridan (SW); Fullback: Delker (SA).

Mark Williamson, The Herald writer places five Sweetwater men, one San Angelo, one McCamey, one Midland and three Big Spring men on his all-district selection. Dyer is given preference over the other centers of the district for several reasons. He is the most accurate passer in the circuit, he is a tower of strength on the defense and last but not least he has a football heart.

The backfield happens to be the same as that picked by Coach Hennig and Hankins of Midland. Will S. Baugh at quarterback you find the smartest quarter in the district with the ability to run, pass or kick. Sheridan at half is a triple threat man whose powers need no further comment. Burris of Midland is also a triple threat man and would be placed at the safety position on the defense. He is sure in his handling of punts and a nice tackler. Dennis at fullback has everything a player needs to have. Ends: Jones (SW), Schuhard (SA); Tackles: Hopper (BS), H. Barnett (McC); Guards: Brooks (SW), Strother (SW); Center: Dyer (BS); Quarter: S. Baugh (SW); Halves: Sheridan (SW), Burris (MD); Fullback: Dennis (BS). It would be difficult to find a backfield in the district with a greater offensive strength and with each man having such defensive abilities as the four listed above.

Christmas Seal Program To Be Heard Tonight Today several famous people will unite in a Christmas Seal sales program over the radio to be broadcast through the N.B.C. Red Network stations tonight from 11:15 to 11:45 p. m. local time. The program will be a sketch called "A Visit to Santa Claus Warehouse" and in it will be the following: Eddie Cantor, the famous comedian; Sir Hubert Wilkins, Antarctic explorer; Rudy Vallee, famous radio singer; Miss Jessica Dragonette, soprano; Dr. Livingston Farrand, in a short serious talk; Wayne King, and his orchestra; Bill Hay, NDC announcer, will impersonate Santa Claus.

FOUR MUSTANGS, THREE STEERS GAIN ALL-DISTRICT POSITIONS Sweetwater, district champion, placed four men on the composite all-district honorary team of district 4, class A of the interscholastic League. Big Spring placed three. Selections by coaches and writers of various towns in the district were fairly well agreed upon the tackles, one halfback and the fullback. Sheridan of Sweetwater and Dennis of Big Spring were the only players given positions on the mythical eleven by all the coaches and writers. Sheridan was placed at halfback by all pickers. Dennis was placed at fullback by all except one, who placed him at quarter. This is the composite all-district team:

The votes received by the players nominated for berths on the all district club are as follows: Ends: McCall, Midland (5), Schuhard, San Angelo (3), Jones, Sweetwater (2), Eldoseo, Sweetwater (2). Tackles: Hopper, Big Spring (4), Barnett, McCamey (4). Guards: Brooks, Sweetwater (3), Strother, Sweetwater (4), Olton, San Angelo (1), Martin, Big Spring (1), Grimsley, Sweetwater (1), Hopper, Big Spring (2). Center: Dyer, Big Spring (4), Baugh, Sweetwater (2). Quarterbacks: Dennis, Big Spring (1), Baugh, S., Sweetwater (3), Harrison, San Angelo (2). Halves: Sheridan, Sweetwater (6), Harrison, San Angelo (1), Burris, Midland (3), Hicks, Sweetwater (1); Delker, San Angelo (1), Dennis, Big Spring (5).

Curtis Apparently Would Rather Play Than Referee Will Rogers Figures; Finds His 'On the Fence'

BY WILL ROGERS Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and the Birds I run only as I prowl hither and yon. Well, guess who we had out here a couple weeks ago. Not a soul but my good friend (and yours) Vice President Charley Curtis. Yes Sir the Newspaper men were holding one of their Periodicals, and Charley was the Gold Fish. You know he is a mighty human kind of a cuss. He is a Kaw Indian. There is a lot of em' in that little tribe in Kansas and northern Oklahoma. But they are good Indians. Not as good as the Cherokee, but good enough. Charley is mighty well liked among all the Injuns. You know its a mighty fine thing to have a little old western Boy, of part Indian parentage become Vice President of these 'Ex' great United States. He has held about every thing worth holding in the way of jobs in the gift of his State and Country. He was a Senator for years, and became Republican Leader, and a good one. He knew trades, he was raised as a Jockey and rode on all the little half milk-wool tracks and today he loves racing and never misses going to meet at any of the tracks over the line from Washington in Maryland. He would rather have a bet on an old Plug, than to hear Borah speak on "the League of Nations and Why." He sets up there studying the dope sheet while Jim Watson delivers a tirade against Pat Harrison. Then Pat bumps him off with one remark just as the Vice President has found what he thinks will arrive first in the third race at Pimlico.

I go to see him every time I go to Washington. He has always been a good friend of mine. Last time I was there I had lunch with him in the Senate restaurant, and by the way he had Pat Harrison and some other hungry Democrats there with us. You know that's a funny thing about that Senate, they get up there and bellow and rave against each other, and at heart they are all good friends. They know there is a certain amount of "Hoopoe" to be gone through, and they kinder tolerate each other carryings on. They kinder got Vice Pres Curtis sure no though. He is not right sure if he wants to run for the office again or go back home and come out for the Senate again. You know you take an oil football player and he never feels the same refereeing a game that he did when he was down there playing in it. Well that's how Charley feels. He sets up there with hammer, but none of them are close enough that he can really do much good with it. It's a terrible job, and why they ever wished it or as important a person as the Vice President I only know.

There, I thought to be just some clerk or somebody that is drafted for the job. Just a good parliamentarian that knows the rules and he hollers "Order." I tried to find out from Charley which job he was out for. But you cant get much out of these Politicians. But he is "On the Fence."

Well the Senate lost a great Character lately, that was Senator Caraway of Ark., my Wife's old home state. I had known him for years too. He lived at Jonesboro, Ark and I played at his home town on my little tour last year. He has a world of humor, and it had a real kick to it. He did delight in walking up and down the Aisles with his hands in his pockets and when the debate got at its hottest he would just inject "one remark," and that knocked em over, and he proceeded with his daily walk.

They were figuring Drouth Relief one day last spring when I was in the gallery. Senator Gillette of Mass was against the Government going into it. But some Democrats had dug up some old records (that's something too). You got too look out or some fellow will show you how you voted in '98 on the same kind of a question) well they dug up where one time when Gillette

Devils End Season With No Defeats

San Angelo Junior Team Defeated 12 to 0 Here Thursday

The Devils, junior football team of Big Spring, closed an undefeated season Thursday when they downed the Junior High team from San Angelo 12-0 in a curtain raiser to the Steer-Bobcat fray. The two teams battled on even terms until the last two minutes of play when Neal from a running formation passed over the goal line to Franklin for a touchdown. The try for point failed. Neal kicked off for the Devils after the touchdown, and the Angel club after one running play elected to pass. The aerial toss was intercepted by Neal on the Kittens' 25 yard line and he dashed over the back field for the second and final score of the game. The try for point failed and before the club could get started again the final gong sounded. The Devils, coached by Ben Daniels, have won decisions from Angelo, Colorado and Stanton teams.

This And That

Well this is where we start the big fuss of the year, with the all-district selections. We have suggestions from the coaches of the district and the final count from each of these will give the men with the greatest number of first places the berths on the mythical eleven.

There are several things to consider in the picking of the outstanding men of the district. A line man must be able to play a defensive and offensive game. He must be in there every second giving his very best if he is to be rated as the outstanding man at his position.

A back of all-district caliber must be able to do something beside run with the ball, or punt, or plunge the line or pass. He must be proficient in every department of play and above all he must have a football heart. There are several good backs in the district but not all of them have the greatest respect a back can have. The old fighting spirit which together with football ability goes to rank him above the mass, and in line for a place on the mythical eleven.

We expect no little criticism for our suggestions but from every angle we believe that our team could go on the field and lick the socks of any club in the district. Mike Hicks is a nice ball carrier but he is not a defensive back and he is not a good blocker, we know nothing of his punting and passing for we have not seen him perform in either line this season. The ability to run is not enough to earn the Rambler a place on our team. The same thing goes for other men over the district. George Delker is a line plunger second to none but that fact alone is not sufficient to rank him above the four men we have in mind. Harrison is a sweet runner and possibly will be picked by many of the dopsters but his running ability is overshadowed by the same ability in other men who are his superiors in every other department of play.

WHO IS YOUR BEST FRIEND? Someone has said that a friend in need is a friend indeed. Who, then, is your best friend? We are not thinking of the friends of your fate and hearty days, but of the friend when you are troubled. Who is it whose coming you look forward to when wife, mother or husband is ill? Who is it you eagerly watch for every few moments when one of the little tots in the house is sick? It is the physician. Every husband, every wife, and especially every parent has known the thrill — the feeling of safety and relief that comes with the doctor's ring at the door when a loved one has become ill. This is especially true when the sickness develops at night. You have hastened to call your doctor, perhaps you have paced the floor awaiting his arrival. Perchance your family physician is away or on another case. You call another who may not know you. Yet in accordance with the custom and honor of his profession, he answers your call as promptly as possible. Isn't such a man a friend in need? Do you pay him as promptly as he answers your call? It is regrettable that the facts show that many people seem to forget that their physician must be paid. He is your servant. He comes at your call. Certainly you'd gladly pay double and treble if it was necessary. Then why not pay him promptly? If you are too worried at the time of the visit, the least you can do is to pay him within thirty days. You pay all other accounts on this basis. Certainly your doctor — your friend in need — is entitled to the same consideration as any other individual or firm with whom you do business. ## Hyperion Club Members Entertain Noted Author With Christmas Tea

Beautiful Home of Mrs. Steve Ford Thrown Open For Occasion; Junior Hyperion Members and Out of Town Visitors Are Guests

At one of the loveliest teas of the season Jan Isbelle Fortune, of Dallas, poet, feature writer and biographer, related to the members of the Hyperion Club Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Steve Ford, and their guests, her experiences in Europe, in her lecture, entitled "Seeing Europe on a Shoestring and Nerve."

Mrs. Fortune came to Big Spring to visit her sister Mrs. W. A. Stall and consented to deliver this lecture before the club members. The members of the Junior Hyperion were guests, as was Mrs. Stall, and Miss Grace Gaddis, of San Angelo.

The Ford home was beautifully decorated with bouquets of red and white roses from the gardens of the club members. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. O. L. Thomas, chairman of the social committee, who, so ably arranged for the tea which followed the lecture with the assistance of Mrs. C. T. Watson and Mrs. V. Van Gieson also on the committee.

Mrs. Thomas introduced the guests to the hostess who introduced them to Mrs. Fortune and Mrs. Stall. Also in the receiving line were Mrs. R. T. Piner, president of the club, Mrs. Wm. F. Cushing, past president, Mrs. B. Reagan, Mrs. J. B. Young and Mrs. V. Van Gieson.

The afternoon program was dispensed with and the meeting turned over to Mrs. Fortune for her very interesting lecture (which follows in another story in this issue) concerning her trip abroad. The women particularly enjoyed its humorous presentation.

At the close of the lecture a Christmas tea was served in the softly-lighted dining room. The table with its silver service, its centerpiece of perfect red roses, its four tapered burning in tall candle sticks was a lovely setting for the women who assisted in their evening dress.

Mrs. Biles and Mrs. Phillips poured, while Mrs. McNew, Mrs. Frasier, Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Van Gieson assisted the guests.

COMMITTEE TO MEET
The women's committee of the Big Spring Society for the Support of the 18th Amendment, is asked to meet in the home of the chairman, Mrs. Geo. Davis, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

"CANE JUICE"

By John Earle Uhler (The Century Co.)

This "Cane Juice" was a pleasant surprise.

We wanted to read it because the author was fired from the faculty of the University of Louisiana for writing it and because it was supposed to be unusually good; the combination was intriguing.

We decided that it was unusually good but we couldn't discover any reason why the author was fired. Now, it he had been on the Baylor faculty and had written that kind of book, naturally Baylor would have fired him, just to keep in good with all the Baptists, who don't like to think about such things. But a state university is different. It's supposed to be sophisticated—sophisticated. We don't know much about sophistication of that sort (we want to Baylor) but we have an idea that as state universities go, the U. of La. is pretty tame.

The story of "Cane Juice" is of an Aradian boy who wanted to go to school to learn what was affecting the sugar cane of his section. He was primarily interested in the chemistry of sugar, but the many sides of university life appealed to him and pulled him this way and that. They want-

Author and Traveler Tells Club Women Her Experiences

JAN ISBELLE FORTUNE

Mrs. Fortune's lecture on seeing Europe before the Hyperion Club was unusually humorous and comprehensive. Readers who follow Mrs. Fortune's articles in the Sunday Dallas News recognized her sympathetic touch.

The story of her experiences when she related yesterday, follows, in part: "The idea of going to Europe didn't just walk up and smack me in the face; it had been growing on me for 12 long years, ever since I met up with Elizabeth Ney, in fact a 12 months' study of this peculiar woman had convinced me beyond doubt that I could never hope to write an authentic biography of her until I had gone to Germany and visited the place where she was born, and the capitals of Prussia and Bavaria, where she held sway for many years. "For years I meant to go to Europe, but some way I never could get the money together. I have the sort of family which periodically comes down with something, catches something, or falls on sick side-walks and breaks arms and legs and what-have-you. When they run out of something to break, and take they sit on a nearby curb and let mad dogs bite them, so I have to come across with 50 bucks for serum. That's the way it went from one year to the next, and still I hadn't got a chance to sail for Europe. Started With An Ad Then one day I saw an ad in the Dallas News—round trip ticket to Havre, $160, tourist class. I went to the editor of the News and said (CONTINUED ON PAGE TEN)

Howard County Honor Roll

One of a series of sketches on careers of former boys and girls of Big Spring and Howard County who have gained success in their chosen professions.

WILLIAM J. WEEG

The following account of this talented Big Spring boy was written for the Herald by a fellow member of the staff of the Austin American. Bill went to the University of Texas and finished an engineering course (hence the reference to the slide-rule) before considering newspaper work.

William J. Weeg, one of the foremost newspaper writers of the Texas capital city, is the only regular newspaperman in the United States who uses a slide-rule as one of his tools in producing news copy for his paper.

He has a right to use it. Weeg is a graduate of the University of Texas, and holds the degree of bachelor of science in engineering. In his computations, and as a check on the accuracy of other people's figures, he manipulates a rapid and sure-shot slide-rule.

Mr. Weeg is a product of Big Spring, Texas, where his family reside. He came to the University of Texas, and like others by the hundred, stayed on to make Austin his home after he graduated.

The lure of newspaper work, which took hold of him while he was in school, held on, and though he is fully equipped by educational attainments for engineering work, he has adhered to news-writing, and has made good. No little factor of his success has been his engineering training and the accuracy, analysis, orderliness and methodical processes it gave him.

Mr. Weeg joined the staff of The Austin Statesman as his first newspaper work in Austin. After the consolidation of The Statesman and The American, he became a valuable member of the staff of the morning paper, The American.

His "run" is the city hall, the official boards of the city, county and school districts, and business news, at which he is particularly adept. He has friends by the hundreds. He is the counsellor of many high officials. He has been honored by the mayor of Austin in his appointment as a member of the city library commission; and the vision and inspiration he has as a newspaperman has contributed substantially to the valuable work of that commission.

Mr. Weeg is married. He has with him a younger brother from Big Spring, whom he is seeing through the University of Texas.

Mrs. E. J. Heywood Elected Secretary Child Study Club

The Child Study Club met in the lodge rooms of the Settles Hotel for its regular session Friday afternoon with Mrs. R. E. Blount in the chair. Mrs. Coffey had charge of the program and presented the topic "Learning by Doing" followed by an open discussion.

The club distributed Christmas seals for sale in 9 business houses; and announced a called meeting of the club at the Crawford Hotel yesterday afternoon. Mrs. E. J. Heywood was elected secretary to fill out the term of Mrs. Emory Duff who resigned. Mrs. Calvin was hired as nurse for the children during the meeting.

The guests of the afternoon were Mmes. Guy Tansitt, Cecil Burnham and Chas. Creighton. The members were Mmes. Blount, J. A. Coffey, E. J. Heywood, Duff, A. Knickerbocker, L. I. Stewart, Lee Wright, Earl H. Glaser.

'First Things First' Dr. Spann's Subject

Rev. J. Richard Spann announced that his subject for the Sunday morning service would be, "First Things First," and for the evening service, "Spiritual Cataracts."

The first studies of the standard training class in young peoples' organization will be held at 5 p. m., it was announced. A light lunch will be served by the Epworth League at 5:30 after which there will be another session of the young peoples' class, which will adjourn in time for church. All adults interested in the work of the young people are requested to attend the afternoon meetings, Rev. Spann said.

Celebrate Thanksgiving Turkey Dinner-Party

A wild turkey and venison Thanksgiving dinner was held on Thanksgiving Day at the home of W. J. Redman, which was a great success and enjoyed in every respect by the hosts and the guests. The four hosts were Messrs. W. B. Pippin, C. C. Cunningham, I. G. Morrow and W. J. Redman.

The guests were J. Phillip, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Waters, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Cunningham, Misses Edith Cunningham, Mildred Franklin, Gertrude Sondridge, Willie Grace Watts and Emily Smith.

SALVATION ARMY REVIVAL

Ensign and Mrs. Grief, of the Salvation Army, extend their thanks to everyone who sent them food for the Thanksgiving dinner. Mrs. Grief states that the response was very generous and that 175 people were bountifully fed. Many of the church auxiliaries sent donations; and the Lions' Service Club was particularly active in arousing interest in the dinner.

Major Ross Goblin, of the Dallas Salvation Army, will hold ten days' revival service for the army, commencing this evening. The meeting will be held first on the streets and the speakers will then adjourn to the hall at 107 Main street for the sermon. The services will be held every evening for the next ten evenings.

Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Surface of Abilene stopped here a few minutes Friday afternoon enroute home from Lamesa, where they spent Thanksgiving with their son, Rev. Eugene Surface.

Filipinos Were Savage Allies, Says Chilton, Who Helped Capture Manila

Alles, more bloodthirsty than Apache Indians, according to Thomas H. Chilton, court reporter of this district, a veteran of the Spanish-American War, were the Filipinos who aided the Americans in the assault on the city of Manila and its capture after Admiral Dewey had sunk the Spanish fleet under the guns of Cavite.

THOMAS H. CHILTON

Chilton is also a veteran of the World War. A Marine boy, enlisted at Dallas May 29, 1918, Chilton was probably the first Falls county man to answer the call of President McKinley for 75,000 volunteers.

for duty, being transported on a Spanish tramp steamer, operated by a Spanish Captain and crew. Wine served to the troops instead of coffee was a welcome innovation to the Americans, Chilton relates. Arriving at Jolo the Spanish garrison was surprised to learn that the war was over.

There were no women in the town except a few Filipino women married to Chinese, the main residents. The town was surrounded on all sides except the water-front by a glass-studded wall, and was fortified with blockhouses, located a quarter of a mile in two directions outside the walled city.

Swimming, boating and other diversions were free and open the year round.

Going across, the five troop ships stopped at Honolulu and the soldiers were feted by inhabitants. Chilton recalls being surprised at large number of American women in Honolulu and enjoying a concert by the original "Queen Lilioukalani's" Band.

Finally the men in Chilton's battalion who had enlisted for the war period were discharged and he started back for America. Being discharged at Jolo Aug 14, 1898, the soldiers only wanted to be paid off on reaching San Francisco, and as each had about $200 coming to him, there was an immediate raid on this "night life" of the Pacific city.

Several new regiments were being organized for the Philippine occupation and many of Chilton's comrades re-enlisted with higher rank, and even with commissions.

Chilton made another trip to the islands in 1900, going as a civilian on board the transport Sheridan. His berth as an officer was so easy as to be a shame, he declares.

Having studied shorthand in the United States between voyages, Chilton obtained work as a stenographer in the Philippines with the Quartermaster Corps at Iligan, Mindanao, where John J. Pershing was in command. One thing he remembers particularly about this second trip is having been assigned to mess with the company of the then Capt. John J. Pershing.

Chilton also participated in the following engagements: Battle of Malinta, in which Brig. General Egbert was mortally wounded; the Battle of Marikina; which at San Pedro Macaris, and operation on Laguna de Bay in connection with the river gunboats.

Chilton has been a stenographer 32 years and an official court reporter for more than 10 years.
