Pies to Pay Her College Tuition

PAULINE MALLINGATE, who has been strangely absent from her home in London for 18 months, is believed to be "Mrs. Creswold," mistress of "The Moat," a mystery house in Yorkshire, not far from the place owned by Mrs. Bertha Northwood, a friend of the family.

HENRY EMERSON, wealthy step father of the two girls, has now vanished mysteriously from a summer resort where he was staying with Lorna and her mother.

DR. JULIAN EMERSON,, claiming to be related to the missing man, persuades Lorna and her sick mother to leave the resort with him, after telling Lorna that her stepfather had no right to marry her mother. Lorna, however, has told her mother that her husband was taken to London because of sudden illness. Dr. Emerson, instead of taking the two women to London, as agreed, is holding them virtually prisoners in a strange country house near the metropolis.

GERALD CRAVEN, Lorna's lover has joined forces with Mrs. Rertha Northwood and Noel Shannon, British war ace, in trailing the missing family. Through information obtained from Ellen Storey, a maid at "The Moat," Craven and Shannon have a rplaned from London to Paxton Common. There fortune gives Saannon the opportunity of offering his services to Julian Emerson, who is willing to pay handsomely for a quick trip to Yorkshire.

Craven, remaining at Paxton, has made his way over the wall into the grounds of the Mulberry House where he meets Lorna. Following affectionate meeting, the couple takes refuge in a wood-shed near the house, where Craven tells her about Ellen Storey, "The Moat," the strange woman in charge, and suspicions that her stepfather imprisoned there.

Now Go on with the Story

"It is Pauline, my sister, who is there at that funny old house! Fauline, who calls herself Mrs. Cresword! Pauline, who is helping to keep poor steplather a prisoner. Pauline! Oh, Jerry! This goes to my heart of hearts!"

'I don't think she is doing whatever she is supposed to do willing-in her turn she poured out the story of all that had happened. "What Shannon and I think,

Lorna, darling, and we have talked must have made over a very large they might insult you." sum of money to you, and that through you."

"But dear stepfather has never said anything to me about money, Carter. What is he? Who is he?" Jerry. Of course, he has been generosity itself. You know he has lavished all kinds of things on me? He opened a banking account for me only a week or two ago, but I know exactly now much he put in there. It was £500. Of course, that signifies a great deal of money to me, but it isn't enough to make people do the dreadful things that are being done to us and to him,

With this Gerald Craven agreed, but he had another theory.

"I don't suppose he intended you to know, Lorna, but I daresay he wanted to make provision for you in case anything happened to him. Moreover, of course, he must have settled a big sum of money on your mother when they were married. I suppose she had her own bank account also?"

"Yes," said Lorna, "but I am convinced she has no more money at the bank than I have."

Then Gerald put a very important question to her.

"Lorna, dearest, car you remem ber the name of the firm of lawyers who acted for Mr. Emerson at the time of your mother's marriage?"

She answered him promptly. "Oh, yes, of course! It was Wilde & Pettigrew, and their offices are in Gray's Inn. A very nice head clerk attended and witnessed the marriage. Then, of course, there are stepfather's bankers." She gave him the name of the

"And also he had a great friend." she added, "who is the head of a big shipping firm, Mr. Macnaughten. It was this Mr. Macnaughten who gave us a reference for Mr. Emerson when he came to live with us in the first instance. Jerry! What you have to do is to go back to ondon and get in touch immediatal with these people—the lawyers, the bank and the shipping friend.' But Gerald Craven clung to her. "My darling, how can I leave you, knowing that you will perhaps be exposed to bodily ill-treatment. Knowing that your heart is so distracted about your mother?" Suddenly Lorna ceased speaking and crounched closer to her lover.

"don't you hear someone coming?" She drew him back still further into the shadows of the hut, and they stood with hearts beating wildlistening intently.

Sure enough there was the sound of footsteps on the gravel path beyond, and then a whisper in a low vibrant voice, calling Lorna's

The girl drew a deep breath and stepped forward.

"I am here, Mrs. Brown," she said in her quiet voice.

"Listen, she so .. in a whisper "don't you lear somer coming!"

THAT THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW CITIZENS HELP

On May 3rd the citizens of Mc-Lean will have the opportunity of voting on a sewerage system.

There are many reasons why Mc-Lean should have a sewerage system, chief of which is that it will promote the city's interest from the point of health. There is little arrument, if any, in favor of anything that is detrimental to health, that thing can be avoided. From ery standpoint, health is one of he most valuable things any town can have. It is worth much to have the unction and power of the Holy health, and the citizens of a town find it a lar | part of their duty to safeguard the health of its population. Our material progress depends upon physical health. The ducational progress of the youth in our m'dst depends largely upon the condition of their health. All our interests are affected either directly or indirectly by health. So FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH this is the one great thing to be ourne in mind as we are considering the proposition of a sewerage Motor Co.; Mrs. S. A. Cobb, Meador location.

The following figures are submitted for the consideration of those D'Spain, R. M. Williams; $1, Fair attending the hardware convention not later than Saturday noon. who may not have given the matter much thought. The valuations of the town of McLean are $1,200,000. The amount of bonds to be voted is $50,000. The bonds will bear nterest at the rate of 52% and will be 40 year bonds. By figuring the interest on the $50,000 at 51% Harlan, Roy Campbell, Western Lbr. Sunday in Erick, Okla. to be $2,750, and the principal to Lester, Loyse Caldwell, Modern be retired will amount to $1,250, Tailor Shop, Whiteway Barber Shop, McLean on business Tuesday. raised the first year. With each succeeding year, the interest on the bonds will be decreased, and consequently the tax rate will be lessened. A raise in the valuation due to the growth of the town will also help to lower the tax rate necessary to retire the bonds.

Now, taking as a basis, 200 homes and 75 business houses in McLean, the homes pay $6 per year and the ousiness houe pay $12 per year for sanitary work. Or, a total of $2,100 is being spent each year on sanitary work and the town is not kept in sarety to health, not to say any ming about annoyances and inconveniences to everyone in town. inis entire amount of $2,100 could be elimiated by an up-to-date sew erage system such as McLean contemplates building.

Since it is found desirable to keep a sewer maintenance fund, let is assume that an annual charge of $3 is made for homes and a would yield $1,050 revenue per year. Deduct this from $4,000 be raised for interest and sinking fund on the bonds and we have $2,950. This is the actual amount that would have to be raised the first year. On the present valuation of $1,200,000, a tax rate o' $.25 on the $100 valuation would be sufficient to retire the bonds. With each succeeding year it would become less, and after the first three or four years it would be hardly noticeable.

The town of McLean is at the parting of the ways. It is for ward. No greater step can be taken now than that the city vote sewerage bonds and build an up-todate sewerage system. By so doing it will be continuing to add substantial timber to the foundation for a city of which every he Lean cit.zen will be proud.

ricultural, cattle and poultry fair this fall, and if a good representahelp put over the idea, we can have such a fair. Our community's permament prosperity is bound up in those items and we should do everytaing possible to encourage these industries.

Several extra copies of The News were printed last week, but some 30 copies were sold from the office Thursday afternoon and Mr. Dishman reported all his supply sold the same day. Many people were disappointed since that time. We are printing a still larger number this week, but we would like to recommend to our home people that they subscribe by mail to insure getting each week's number.

The home town paper is always goad to give favorable mention to any worthy enterprise. Many times mention is made when it should properly be placed in the advertising columns. Knowing all this, it is strange that any business man would patronize an out-of-town printer. The home paper has only advertising space and printing to sell, and when you fail to patronize it for these essential items you are helping to cripple your community and should not expect anything but an unfavorable reaction upon your own business. Every bit of printing ordered from out of town helps to kill the town. These are not ravin's of an editor, but proven facts. We are glad that there is very little out of town printing sold in McLean, and there is no reason why any should be sold here.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

TILDEN AND RICHARDS PREDICT DAVIS CUP VICTORY FOR U. S .-HOW SPORTS HERE AND IN ENGLAND DIFFER

BY PHILIP MARTIN

BILL TILDEN and Vinnie Richards both emphatically declare that the United States is sure to win the Davis Cup again next summer. Dick Williams, Frank Markey. "Buz" McAdam and other net ex perts chime in with a robust "Dit This gives America a clear lead in the balloting-but the French have just begun to vote.

There were only two Frenchmen in the finals for the indoor championship here. The others were too busy to come over.

But the Davis cup matches will be played outdoors and Mr. Tilden et al. may be right. In spite of a bad season last year, Mr. Tilden is still considered the premier racquet wielder (of the amateurs). But the cup matches this summer will be no waltz to victory.

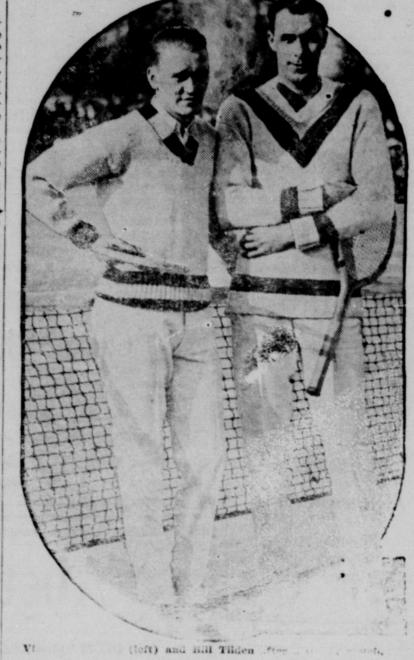

WHY is it so hard to keep our amateurs honest? America has long puzzled over that problem and now comes Howard Savage with a partial answer in his report on games and sports in English universities:

"The Englishman maintains his activity in sport much longer. He may play rugby or association football in an amateur club until he is thirty or more, cricket until he is fifty, and tennis as long as he can enjoy it without acute discomfort to himself or his opponents. Sometimes, but less frequently than an American, he will resort to a gymnasium for exercise. He takes pride in keeping fit.

697777772 American worker who 1 once played football or basefall or ran, appears to reach comacatively early a state of mind which permits his paying admission to watch amateur or professional teams compete, sitting in the bleachers or in the grandstand, and reading accounts of games in the papers. His interest tends toward passivity at a relatively early ane. The Englishman's interest in sport appears to remain active until much later in his life."

MORE and more Americans are makes them feel a days and Sundays-which is fatal. BIG thing-win at any cost. The average farm hen should not only lay at least 144 eggs a year but most of them should be laid from October to March. This can be accomplished by building up the flock from selected females that have these characters and with males produced by such females. Four guides to improvement are the selecting each year of (1) those hens which mature early; (2) those which lay best after they begin; (3) those which seldom go broody; and (4) those which lay well throughout the late summer and fall. Furthermore it is important to hatch the chicks as early as possible. Inasmuch as the general-purpose pullet does not begin laying until seven months old, it is obvious that October or November layers should be hatched in March or April.

is always in demand in every community. And by that we don't mean the fellow who throws your job together, hammers it out on a decrepit press, and hands it to you with an apology. No Sir! Your real printer is capable of giving more than that. Experience has fitted him to handle every situation that arises. The matter of Design, the Engraving of Cuts, the use of Color, the selection of Paper, the proper Binding and a host of other details are familiar to him. You find, when you deal with him, that real printing is more than mere type and ink and paper—and you profit thereby.

CHRIST'S MAJESTY

The Majesty and Glory of Christ. Text: Mark 9:2-10; 2 Peter 1:16-18.

nd after six days Jesus taketh with him Peter, and James, and nn, and leadeth them up into an high mountain apart by themand he was transfigured before them. And his raiment became shining, exceeding white as snow; so as ler on earth can white them. and there appeared unto them Elias, with Moses; and they were talking with Jesus.

And Peter answered and said to Jesus. Master, it is good for us to here; and let us make three tabernacles: one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

For he wist not what to say; for they were sore afraid. And there was a cloud that overshadowed them: and a voice came out of the cloud, saying. This is my beloved Son; hear him.

And suddenly, when they had looked round about, they saw no man any more, save Jesus only with themselves. And as they came down from the mountain, he charged them that ey should tell no man what things they had seen, till the Son of And they kept that saying with themselves, questioning one with another what the rising from the dead should mean. For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made own unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of his majesty. For he received from God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. And this voice which came from heaven we heard, when we were 'm in the holy mount.

THE Transfiguration, when to the disciples Peter, James and John was suddenly and startingly revealed the majesty and glory of Christ, is one of the Bible's most dramatic stories.

Along the low levels of life, these three were likely to lose touch with the greatness of the ltedeemer. No matter how great an event is, time dulls the edge of its importance. The incident came at a crucial point in the career of Jesus-the testing time for those who followed him.

It Overwhelms three men were overby the manifestation of spiritual glory there on the mountain top. Their souls were cleared of any slight doubts they may have harbored and the full light of faith broke upon them anew. In the after years, when bitter trial assailed them, and unbelievers battered at the ramparts of their courage, this revelation of glory must have been to them as a magic staff that held them up through all trouble.

This experience of the Transfiguration we all should share. What happened ages ago to Peter, James and John can as well be our experience today when we leave the level and go to the mountain top to see the glory of Chautauquas are coming to a real American basis. Last week one of the old established circuits made a contract to go into Plainview on "non-guarantee" plan. If their programs are worthy they will make Pants keep a man warm money, for they will get the patronage. If they try to run in "artists" incapable of making good on third-rate vaudeville, or youngsters out for the practice, they will lose money, just as they should. There are no better musical critics as a class in in the whole country than the citizenry of Panhandle towns and country. Professional entertainers without the goods have no success out here. The "nonguarantee" system will promote better programs.-Clarendon News.

NON-GUARANTEED

SMART NEW MODES MODIFY STRAIGHT LINES OF LAST SEASON

BY HARRIET

WITH spring already a month old, as styles and the calendar go, the new modes of the season can be analyzed now.

The silhouette is developing a progressive kind of freedom and in many costumes one gets a sense of latent motion. Coats are un belted, with line flowing from the shoulder to the hem, skirts all dresses have tiers with irregular lines—everything accentuates vitalized silhouette, instead of last season's still, straight line.

Strictly feminine are the newest details of trimmings and Dame Fashion seems to let them fall where they will. A ribbon bow seems equally chic whether it tops a slanting coat pocket or ties a surplice blouse. Flowers perch on the shoulder, catch the waistline or are placed at the point of the deep V neck in evening clothes.

Colors Come Rioting

Colors are just rioting to the fore as warm days approach. Vividness for sports-pastel shades for other wear is the rule. But no mere words can describe the innumerable shades that delight the eye and compliment the complexion this year.

Blues still lead in popularity. Any blue, all blues. They run from tropic turquoise through a series of green blues and lavendar blues to a rich blue slightly lighter but more alive than a navy. A type of dress that every woman should know by owning one is the smart afternoon frock, which is equally good on the street or at an informal party. Such an indispersible frock is shown today made of Reefrose crepe Parnas-

It embodies several smart new ctyle notes. Its shallow yoke and "leeves are cut in one piece, its thereI effect is achieved by many wo-inch folds running around the f.ock from bust to hemilne and a trangular neck line, very new, running nonchalantly to the side and tieing in a graceful bow with long ends.

Velvet Trimming

The horsehair braid hat has a brim slightly wider at the sides and a moderately high crown. The only trimming is a smashing bow of velvet-the very lates trimming for summer hats, with the and felt, with straw appliqued in end of the bow running across the design on the felt top is as unfacing on the right side. The sports coat is almost a necessity for every wardrobe this calls for a red purse to complete spring. Oyster linen chintz with the color scheme an all-over blossom pattern in rich red is illustrated here. Its material gives it novelty and chic. and its red bow topping its one pocket and finishing its collar stamps it unusual.
