The man who undertakes to accomplish too many things at the same time generally pays a high toll in the end. He may succeed for a while, but he does so at fearful risks and without properly reckoning the cost to himself. He is the exception, though, rather than the rule and often "makes good" at the expense of his physical and mental well being, says the Charleston News and Courier. Giants among men are raritfes even in this day of surprising developments and record achievements, and as a rule the man who follows one line of work with close attention and conscientious regard will lay by for himself greater success and more enduring results than he who dabbles in any undertaking that may come his way. It is not an easy thing to shut ourselves away from tempting influences and conditions that may appeal to us, but having once fitted ourselves to do a certain work, and having expended time and energy in its accomplishment, it It only natural to suppose that we can obtain more certain results by developing it to the best of our ability. Sometimes the way is hard; long hours of application are necessary, but often when we least expect it the clouds begin to lift and we see the realization of the promises for which we have labored

What clever prankishness was that of the boys of West Lafayette college, Ohio, who put oil in the milk for the girls' dormitory, causing twenty of the co-eds to become so ill as to require the attendance of physicians! They were nearly as daring as the young men of the Pacific coast institution of learning who raided the girls' dormitories and frightened some of the occupants into hysterics by pulling them out of bed. The twentieth century young man does many things that would hardly have occurred in any earlier age. Is it because of the disappearance of the birch as an aid to education?

An automobile in New York picked up a stone in its wheel and flung it inte a window, almost striking some persons. The automobile is perhaps the most striking instance of the innate depravity of inanimate things. It has been known to try to climb a tree or a lamppost and to turn somersaults in the open, to say nothing of its running down the general public. But now it has taken to throwing stones at people, something imperative toward curbing its impetuosity will have to be done.

We are accused of being the most wildly speculative nation in the world. But in the year London has run wild

VERY good specialist finds his level by and by, but many who are vain of their specialty get a start with difficulty.

The friendless, trust-to-luck one who comes to the city with just one little talent to depend on doesn't succeed as does the girl who can boast of doing one thing well, another thing better, and one particular thing best, and who isn't too proud to do either to get a start.

That sanguine specialist who comes to the big city with grand dreams ought to be prepared to make some sacrifices before she can get the big positions.

There was a music teacher once-the kind who sneered at every other occupation but that of running delicate white fingers over piano keys. Her home town showered her with compliments until it became too narrow for her, and pastures new in Chicago was the natural alternative. She would have a choice studio in a choice locality and get choice pupils from choice families-in fact, her whole dream was so choice that Providence chose to bestow some choice disillusionments. She came and saw but didn't conquer much-not even fifteen pupils wherewith to pay her studio rent.

Her funds gave out and she was too vain of her specialty to fall back temporarily on something less pretentious, also not wise enough to realize in the first place that Rome isn't built in a day where there is fierce competition.

During this period of stress a friend offered her the position of cashier in a jewelry store and suggested that she take the place for a month or so until she could get more pupils, and was also advised to get a position as piano player in one of the stores. She only sniffed haughtily that all these positions were beneath her, and passed the matter up because "sliding along that way" was awfully distasteful to her and "not her style at all," and that "her art was too dear after all." Perhaps so, but if she had really loved her art she would have been brave and strong enough to make some sacrifices for it.

The versatile girl in the city who is willing to utilize her lesser talent in behalf of her beloved specialty can float along quite a while without danger of sinking.

> One girl with artistic ambitions kept accounts and did the correspondence in a crossroads cheese factory. She went to the city to take a course in art with $50. Her fifty had melted at the end of two months, when there wasn't the slightest prospect of getting returns from her drawings, and it was up to her to secure night work of some kind or go back to the cheese factory.

> The upshot was that she diligently followed up half a dozen ads one Saturday when the future looked particularly murky. Her versatility and willingness to make use of her lesser gifts while perfecting her specialty has been her main boost to victory. It verifies the truth of the idea that all great people are not afraid to appear small when a good object demands it.

> > Whether to give a boy a high school education or give him a chance to learn a trade is a question that is bothering me. I have two sons. I, like a good many other fathers, would like to make good men of my boys, but I can't decide what to do for the best, though the time is short. I would like to send one to high school, as I always desired to have him study law. Of course that means four years in high school and two years to a university, which is six years more of schooling. As he is now fifteen years old all but three months, he would then be nearly twenty-one years old.

The golden anklet with bangles has appeared in Chicago. This is probably a decoration intended to go with the harem skirt and shows again the inconsistency of the feminine mind. While the inhabitants of the eastern harems are taking to Paris styles fashions to the Orient.

People who live in New York complain that the place is becoming too notsy at night. The people who make the noise will find it difficult to understand why men and women who long for peace and quiet insist on living in New York.

Members of a club in Atlanta say they will go to jail before they will tell what they know of women drinking in the club. The poet was mistaken. The world's male chivalry has not perished out. It has joined the Atlanta club.

Problem of High School for Boys By WALTER LEUTZ Chicago

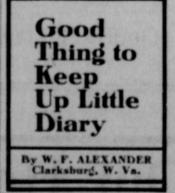

Hard

If all went smoothly I could afford that, but my son says that the teachers in the grammar grades are now preaching that when people enter high school they must be prompt in their studies all around and if they are slow or drop behind the class they are suspended and can't enter any western women are looking for their other high school, and that there are many who enter high school who in a short time are expelled.

All this is rather discouraging. I might send him a year or two and then he might be expelled. He then would be no more the wiser, as an ordinary business man, than if he never entered high school.

At this point he might feel too big for common work and yet would not be educated enough to make a better man, and at length, after lingering around he would become a young man of no account.

I find that people who give their boys a trade are about the most satisfied, but as I would like my boy to be superior to his father I am willing to try him, at least to give him a chance, so he can't say that he had no show.

For many years past I have been in the habit of keeping a diary and have found it of the greatest use in my business.

By quick reference to this record I can tell where I was and what I was doing on any particular day during the last ten years. Time and again my diary has saved me money.

Not long ago I was about to bring suit against a man who owed me $500, but who refused payment because he did not believe in the existence of a contract. He was honest in it, but mistaken, as the contract had been negotiated by his business manger. This manager, for reasons of his own, repudiated the agreement. Before starting on the litigation I called on the principal and asked him to inspect my diary, which contained a complete account of the transaction in dispute.

I showed him that it contained accurate briefs of that and similar agreements for many past years. He looked over many pages of the leaflets, both those anterior and subsequent to the statement in which he was especially interested, and saw that my evidence was too authentic to be overturned.

Then he drew me a check to extinguish the debt, remarking that there was no doubt of the justice of my claim.

A good many contrasts of coloring and actual pattern, too, are notable in the new foulards; an absolutely diverse design being often interwoven in the one length of material, while several model gowns combine spotted foulard and plain twill silk or fine face So one has quite sufficientcloth. and Parisian-precedent for bringing together the plain and spotted blue foulards, and, for further introducing -in the manner suggested by the sketch-graduated bands and flatly folded rosettes of black satin, a collar of the finest lawn, and a little frilled band to match, being other accessories of the corsage.

Surah Twill Silk.

Surah twill silk in solid color is material which is claiming much favorable attention, says a fashion exchange. This is being used by the best model houses in Paris for making tailored suits and three-piece costumes. This new surah has a highuster surface and is used in exactly luster surface and is used in exactly the same manner as satins have been so freely employed recently. Burah is especially well adapted for summer use in America. It is durable, sufficiently dressy for a handsome suit, light weight, and therefore com-fortable for summer use in many parts of the United States. More than this, domestic slik mills are equipped to produce surah slip about the forehead is the immense popularity of the short center parting. which is just a little trying without their softening influence; and another is the reinstatement of the heavy plait or the twisted drapery of hair which is used to frame the chignon. When the plait weights the hair over the forehead the counteracting effect of a few gossamer-like tendrils of hair below is requisite for the sake of elegance.

One of the colffures of the moment illustrates the conical dressing that is becoming to the girl with a small face and mignon features. It is built up by means of a twisted drapery of hair which resembles a plait, and be low it is a thick coll held in place by tortoise-shell prongs. The hair is carelessly ondule beneath, so that the ears are hidden, and there are a few stray lovelocks on the forehead.

In another the plait is used as a coronal merely, and all the rest of the hair is curly except the childish-looking straight fringe.

The Volatile Waist Line.

Though the waist line is less ver satile than it used to be, and is more and more inclined to assume the conventional position, the Empire effect is still to be seen. For reception and dancing gowns it is very graceful, and the soft outline it gives to the figure is delightfully picturesque. But for the street all this is out of place; it gives the wearer a silhouette that is untidy, and suggests a looseness that is altogether objectionable. In regard also to evening gowns the same fault may be found. So long as a tollette is to be worn chiefly while walking or standing, the short waist is permissible-even desirable-but for a dinner, concert or theater it is no longer so. The bust, unconfined, falls out of shape, and it is the realization of this fact that has led to so many of the newest evening bodices being made with swathed draperies and close fitting lines.

The Season's Colors.

Navy blues promise to predominate to a very great extent for outdoor wear. In the materials woven of two colors navy is often combined with deep plum, black or a brighter dark blue. Trimmings of red and white are vouchsafed to navy serges. Greens are very far from holding as high a place in the preparations for the open-ing season as they have done this wining season as they have done this win-ter, but combinations of blue and green are fancied, while mustard and resedas figure prominentily with all shades of deep yellow in the harmon-ies carried out in chiffon and satia.

Problems of Panhandle Say, You! the Fireside

The American home is the throne and fountain head of greatness and the des tinies of the human race must depend upon the wisdom of the fireside. Politilans may make party platforms; legtslatures may pass laws, but the fundamental questions of public importance must be finally settled by the man of toll as he quietly sits by the fireside after the day's work is over.

The Struggle for Power.

The outstanding ambition of the human race today is power. Financiers. with the inventive genius of an Edison. are seeking to associate capital in such a way as to multiply power. Labor, with the mighty trend of a nation marshaling its army, is seeking to arrange its forces so as to increase power. The farmer, with the patient and honest endeavor typical of his occupation, is seeking by organized methods to gain power. Each is endeavoring to combine two or more economic units of their class in such a way as to increase the power of both. The purposes are laudable, but the methods each must employ present problems in which all humanity is involved and they must be finally settled at the fireside.

The Problems Upon Us.

To destroy or limit power is to strike down progress and return to the dark ages, and is an acknowledgment of our neapacity to cope with human affairs. We must quickly recede from this position or pass rapidly on to government ownership.

To acquire the highest degree of efficiency in civilization, we must develop every pound of energy and power for usefulness there is in all things and multiply this power as many times as human ingenuity can devise, minimizing, as far as possible, the element of danger without weakening the source of power.

The problems in the industrial horizon today are gigantic and their solution awaits the patriotic and careful consideration of men of noble minds al big hearts as thy sit by the fire-Sunday between Amarillo and side.

NEUMONIA now has its anti-toxin It has been tried in four hundred cases with only four failures to cure, and those four were in extremis when first treated. And, in many instances, with pneumonia traveled its brother assassin, typhoid fever. It has been tried out in a new, raw country where pneumonia comes at its most violent and collects its heaviest death toll, but. even under these extreme conditions, it has been tried and apparently proved. Broadly the remedy is simple. A culture of the germs in a patient are taken. From each a vaccine is developed, and an anti-toxin, made by mixing the vaccines in the exact proportions in which the germs are found in the body, is injected in very large doses. Moderate doses are regarded as ineffectual, merely serving to further entrench the causitive germs. But, by this remedy, they are not left standing room. They are cleansed from the body as with a hose.

The three germs which combine to kill pneumonia patients are pneumococcus, the direct cause of pneumonia; staphylococcus, which is responstble for localized pustules and ab cesses; and streptococcus, which causes erysipelas and blood poisoning and is ever ready to attack the weakened human structure. Each of these germs develops a metabolic fluid which can be transformed into an anti-toxin. As the doctors put it, the remedy is auto-genous. Combine these self-created enemies. and send back an army of them, and the germs are annibilated. That is why all the two thousand cases treated have recovered Once the anti-toxin was administered. the germs did not have a ghost of a chance.

returned enthusiastic. After some difficulty he was able to persuade the San Francisco Medical Society to invite Dr. Schafer to deliver an address. The facts of Dr. Schafer's cures were unbelievable, but the audience could not help being impressed by the intense, dynamic aspect of the man. my might doubt the possibility, but they could not doubt Dr. Schafer's earnestness. Against their will they had to take him seriously. When the meeting closed, they arranged for a clinic at the Southern Pacific Hospital, where Dr. Schafer, in the presence of the chief surgeons of the biggest hospitals, agreed to cure every case that was brought before him. He accepted them as they came and the worst was reported cured in eight days. In other words, he was given a trial before a competent jury, and proved his case. At the February meeting of the San Francisco Medical Society Dr. Schafer was to speak at length and the hall was crowded, but there were many physicians present who had not had a first hand opportunity to study Dr. Schafer's methods and, although he was supported by men whose medical reputations were above reproach, they refused to permit the society to endorse him. They held that it was a matter for each member to work out in his own practice. The address was never delivered, but, meanwhile, lives were being saved every day by the use of the anti-toxin.

During that trying month in San Francisco Dr. not to ad He merely showed the results of his experiments and let them speak for themselves. To medical men he was quite open, but a mystery surrounded him because he refused to talk for publication. He refused because he felt the delicacy of his position. As he himself expressed it, he was "the victim of the magnitude of actual accomplishment." It would have been very easy for him to have acquired the reputation of a charlatan. But he is entirely saved from that by the fact that he has been furnishing his anti-toxin free from the beginning. Far from making money out of his discoveries, he has sunk his small fortune of $40,-000 into his laboratory work and at one time, about five years ago, just before he clinched his discoveries, he went deeply into debt. Even at this is being written, he is preparing three hundred samples of his serums which are to be sent to leading physicians and surgeons in all parts of the United States. With them Dr. Schafer has agreed to leave the final verdict as to the value of his remedies.

He was an immaculate servant. To watch him serve a salad was to watch an artist at work. To hear his subdued accents was a lesson in the art of voice-production. He never slipped, he never smiled, and his mutton-chop whiskers marked him as one of the old and faithful stock. But one evening, to the surprise of his master, he showed unaccountable signs of nervousness. When the chicker came on, he confused it with the pheasant. He served everything in the wrong or der, made blunder after blunder, and put a final touch to his shame by upsetting the salt over the only superstitious member of the party. Then, at last, when the ladies had retired to the drawing room, he touched his master on the shoulder. "I beg your pardon, sir," he said in a respectful undertone, "but could you manage to spare me now? My house is on fire."

That Might Be Inducement.

It was during the hot spell and on the hottest night of the week that a South Side teacher took a number of her little charges for a car ride. This way to meet pneumonia's swift thrust is the discovery of Dr. August Francis Schafer, a. country practitioner of Bakersfield, California. If Dr. Schafer had been in Paris, instead of an oil. town in the depths of California, we would have been electrified by his discovery two years ago. As it is, he waited until he could bring it forth with its record of two thousand cases before he even took into his confidence the nearest medical society. Without those two thousand cases doctors would have been free to doubt. With them he has met the professional requirement of an infallible remedy

How has he done it? How could a country doctor discover what all the laboratories of Europe have failed to reveal? These are natural questions. But it was not a fluke. The discovery was not made by accident. Dr. Schafer studied disease germs diligently for ten years and developed a laboratory not matched in the hospitals of San Francisco before he injected his anti-toxin into a human being. Then he tried it on himself to make sure that it was harmless. He is a scientific student, with a thorough knowledge of medicine and surgery. He would have worked out his theories anywhere. The accident lay in the fact that he lived in Bakersfield.

The Pneumonia Test.

No more severe test could have been given the anti-toxin than Bakersfield has afforded in the past two years. In that district pneumonia accompanies most diseases, often in the duplex form. In ten per cent, of the cases abscesses develop in the lung, or pus accumulates in the pleural cavity. Moreover, it comes swiftly and strikes suddenly The oil rushes have built towns in a night. Rapid change, exposure and bad water have been followed by typhoid and pneumonia. Men have gone to bed feeling badly and never seen the end of the next day. They have fallen in the streets as if stricken with a plague. But for two years now most of the physicians in that part of the country have been inoculating their patients with serum provided by Dr. Schafer, and, contrary to the experience of all previous rush settlements, there has been no epidemic of pneumonia.

Extreme cases have been the rule in Dr. Schafer's practice. Even after all hope has been given up, he has pulled patients through. Among the pneumonia cases cured by him, before he took the world into his confidence, were:

Two infants.

Twenty children from two to eleven years old. Eight chronic alcoholics, three of whom had had trium tremens.

Sixteen cases with measles as well as pneu

Three with blood poisoning in their hands and tags in addition to pneumonia. Three with peritonitis complications; and

Twenty-two patients over sixty years old. Among eighteen cases of duplex lobar pneu mia was a man of ninety-two, an almost un precedented recovery. There were, besides, two cases following operations at childhirth, one three and the other six days after. The second woman was in desperate straits when Dr. Schafer saw her. She had a pulse of 180, when it could be pal-pitated at all, and her temperature was 105.5. But no time to waste, so in his Bakersfield practice Dr. Schafer worked out a rough formula which was found to be effective in local cases. He prepared what he termed a "mixed infection," which is worth knowing about for the lives it has already saved. As far as experiments have gone, it might be called the pneumonia antitoxin. It is composed of equal portions of the counter-irritants to the three germs predominant in pneumonia. This mixture was the result of long experiment and is unquestionably a certain remedy for pneumonia in Bakersfield. It is made by stimulating the artificial growth of the three germs by ordinary laboratory methods until the metabolic fluid thrown off has progressed sufficiently, when the cultured mass is incubated, macerated and disintegrated. The mixing of the resulting vaccines requires great skill.

This stock anti-toxin will probably prove to be valuable anywhere. In the first few days following the announcement of the remedy in January of this year, when San Francisco physicians could only believe it the work of a quack, Dr. Henry Spiro took a chance with it in a desperate situation, with astonishing results.

"A pneumonia patient was apparently dying," he explained afterwards, "and, in what seemed his last breath, he begged for any relief. But I could do nothing for him, except try the new Schafer remedy. And so, as a last resort, I injected into his veins twice the amount of the anti-toxin Dr. Schafer prescribed.

"An hour later he showed improvement. Before night he was out of danger. In eight days he walked from the hospital. In much less serious cases it would ordinarily have taken him at least. three weeks."

The charts and records of this case are in St. Francis Hospital, San Francisco

In practice the stock anti-toxin has been used. but, unless the patient has shown immediate benefits, cultures have been taken and special preparations made in which the anti-toxins have been mixed in the exact proportions in which the germs were found in the body. And, in every case in which this has been done, the patient has promptly rallied and got well.

Two years ago Dr. Schafer took into his confidence four other physicians in Bakersfield. One of them, Dr. N. N. Brown, alone treated over a thousand cases without a death. Some of them were for publishing thed iscovery to the world. They said Dr. Schafer was hiding his light under a bushel. But Dr. Schafer was against it. He knew that if he had a real, enduring light, it would shine out from under the bushel

First it became known in the surrounding co try that Bakersfield was the place to go to and be cured. Then the news gradually spread, and cure after cure made the light burn brightly under the bushel. But it was not until this winter that it attracted the attention of San Francisco physi-cians. Several, after listening to tales of seeming-ly impossible cures, went down to Bakersfield, dubious but curious.

Among these visitors was Dr. Frederick Fehiol en, a scientific bacteriologist who discovered the time visitors was by the discovered the nism which causes erysipelas. He re mained two weeks, and at the end of that th

Other Tests.

Pneumonia is not the only disease Dr. Schafer has cured, but it has attracted most attention on account of its seeming infallibility. Back of the remedies lies a new theory of medicine. Its principle is revolutionary. It disregards many cherished medical ideas. But it gets results. Little as they have been able to understand it, many of the best physicians and surgeons in San Francisco have recommended it.

"Regardless of all doubts and theories," said Dr. W. B. Coffey, the Southern Pacific surgeon, "I have seen real men who have been made well by It.'

Other diseases in which Dr. Schafer has brought permanent cures with his anti-toxins are scarlet fever, rheumatism, diphtheria, typhoid fever, dysentery, erysipelas, tetanus and certain forms of tuberculosis

With that list let us stop and take breath. Altogether the various anti-toxins Dr. Schafer has produced have been used in 4,500 cases with only ten deaths. Of the 150 people treated in San Francisco only three died.

This comes pretty nearly being a panacea. Do you see why Dr. Schafer is so canny with his remarks? Suppose he had announced he could cure anything. He would have been promptly dicredited. But when you come right down to it, Dr. Schafer is convinced that he can cure anything. The only disease he has encountered in his practice which he has not been able to cure entirely is tuberculosis. But even that has yielded, except in severe cases.

It is Dr. Schafer's expressed wish not to lay too much stress on tuberculosis. He fears too great credence. He does not wish to raise hopes. Nor does he want to have his office in Bakerfield bedoes he want to have his office in Bakerfield be-sleged by tubercular patients. At the present time he is planning to have his anti-toxins avail-able in every community, where any doctor can administer them. He is firmly convinced in his own mind that he has brought a great boon to humanity, and he wants all bumanity to have humanity, and ne wants all humanity to have the advantage of it. There is to be no patent, no restriction of any kind on the development or use of his remedies. That is one of the reasons why those who have become acquainted with his work in California believe in him so completely.

CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I wish to let you know of a couple of recent cures which I have made by the use of the Cuticura Remedies. Last August, Mr. ---- of this city came to my office, troubled with a severe skin eruption. It was dermatitis in its worst form. It started with a slight eruption and would affect most parts of his body, thighs, elbows, chest, back and abdomen-and would terminate in little pustules. The itching and burning was dreadful and he would almost tear his skin apart, trying to get relief. I recommended all the various treatments I could think of and he spent about fifteen dollars on prescriptions, but nothing seemed to help him. "In the meantime my wife, who was continually suffering with a slight a brace were equal to two quarter skin trouble and who had been trying different prescriptions and methods with my assistance, told me she was going to get some of the Cuticura Remedies and give them a fair trial. But as I did not know much about Cuticura at that time I was doubtful whether it would help her. Her skin would thicken, break and bleed, especially on the fingers, wrists and arms. I could do nothing to relieve her permanently. When she first applied the warm baths of Cuticura Soap and applications of Cuticura Ointment she saw a decided improvement and in a few days she was completely cured. "I lost no time in recommending and this was two months ago. I told him to wash with warm baths of the Cuticura Soap and to apply the Cuticura Ointment generously. Belleve. me, from the very first day's use of the Cuticura Remedies he was greatly relieved and today he is completely cured through their use. I have great faith in the Cuticura Remedies and shall always have a good word for them now that I am convinced of their wonderful merits." (Signed) B. I. Whitehead, M. D., 108 Dartmouth

No Longer Have Small Feet.

Boston, Mass .-- Women's feet are growing larger. A Massachusetts shoe manufacturer is authority for the as sertion. He says a few years ago the average feminine American buyer of footgear asked for a No. 4. Nowa days most women take a No. 5 or a No. 6, and in some cases, it is whis pered, even larger sizes. The width s greater, too. The man of lasts and pegs thinks the increasing activity of women in the last few years and their tailer stature, vouched for by in

W. A. Blackburn has just returned from Shamrock with over 100 head of fine young Tamworth hoge, most of them pure bred. bought these at the sale of fine stock made by W. A. Laybourn. He speaks enthusiastically of that part of the Panhandle and the progress that is apparent there, for where only a few years ago it was only large ranches, it is now mostly divided into small stock farms. Much attention is now given to diversified farming and the raising of better stock of all kinds as was evident at this sale by the inter-

and buyers from many counties. although the sale was ten miles

Laybourn has a ranch, of about two sections, with more than 300 acres in cultivation, planted to alfalfa, oats, emmer, kaffir corn, maize, Indian corn, peanuts, cow peas and even pie melons.

All who attended the sale seemed, according to Mr. Blackburn, well pleased with the good stock offered, and paid better prices for them than has been customary in former years for the common kinds, although not perhaps so much as is offered in an older settled country.

At this sale some 60 head of horses and mules were sold; these consisted of driving and saddle horses, as well as some heavier stock and a number of young mules all went at good prices. The cattle found ready buyers at good figures.

The registered Tamworths did not bring as good figures as they being harvested, is said to be ered, but all that were offered were taken at fair prices.

It is an encouraging feature that such a large sale should have proved so successful, for it is something entirely new to this country and will be of great tenefit to the stock raising industry throughout the entire section.

Speaking of the country and crops, to a representative of the Daily News, Mr. Blackburn said:
