An old mill in which Jackson worked as a boy still is standing on praised the work Rev. Norris has the site, and from that structure the camp has received its name. Jackson's home was destroyed by fire before the 4-H center was established by the state legislature shortly after 1921.

Today, the camp is a part of the agricultural extension service facilities of West Virginia university and it represents an investment of more than $500,000.

In addition to 4-H boys and girls, state and national farm, church and educational groups head the list of organizations that meet here on schedule that takes up virtually every day in the year. Since 1923, when only one cottage and the upper floor of the old mill were available for housing, the camp has grown to comprise 13 cottages, many of them made of stone, with housing accommoda- ings valued at more than $3 miltions for 350. Each cottage has hot and cold running water.

Russia Provides Big 'IF' In Presidential Campaign

WASHINGTON, SEPT. 28. W-RUSSIA and Communism provide the big "if" in the presidential campaign.

1. Will there be war with Russia? 2. Will the nations of western Europe become prosperous and steady enough to stop the spread of Communism?

So far the two top candidates, President Truman and Governor Dewey, have kept our foreign policy out of the political eampaign.

That's because both parties, Democrats and Republicans, have helped shape our Europe, we'll probably have to spend foreign policy toward Russia and Europe. In that field, at least, they've been able to work together for the good of the coun-

SO FAR, MR. TRUMAN HAS MADE sew promises. He's spent most of his time denouncing Republicans.

Governor Dewey has said quite a bit about bringing down prices and cutting government spending and taxes.

But Dewey very carefully put a big "if" in his promises as you can see from what he said in New Mexico last week: "America's No. 1 domestic problem is in a world at peace." As an example of how Russia puts the big "if" in there, take this:

THERE HAVE BEEN WIDESPREAD ty that the conference revolved about these points, among other: (1) Russian annexation of one or more of the satellite states. and (2) a tightening of military co-operation in the Soviet bloc in view of the tension arising from the Berlin deadlock. So let's take a look at it on that basis. To my mind those two points dovetail perfectly, and they seem logical enough. This isn't by any means the first time that the possibility of Russian annexations has been in the news, as this column has reported. Romania and Czechoslovakia have been named as possible victims.

But why these two countries in particular? Because their absolute possession would give Russia a military and political stranglehold on its entire satellite bloc, and it would vastly strengthen Russia's military position in the event of war with the western powers.

IF YOU WILL TAKE A LOOK AT your maps of Europe you will see what I mean. Czechoslovakia and Romania are adjoining states, and the Soviet frontiers touch both of them. However, Russia is separated from Bulgaria, Hungary, and Yugoslavia by the Czechoslovakian-Romanian corridor. Possession of that corridor would put Russia into direct contact with all her slave-states and even more important, with Austria and Germany. The significance of that is clear to half an eye. Moscow could flood that corridor with military forces, thereby not only putting herself in position to handle any revolt among the satellites but acquiring a powerful base in the event of war with this column published an extraordinary letter written by Sen. Elmer Thomas of Okla., democrat, to Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, republican, threatening to expose Ferguson if he did not call off his investigation of Thomas's commodity market speculation. Before he wrote that letter last Feb. 13, Thomas sent his campaign manager. Marty Heflin, prother of movie actor Van Heflin, to Detroit to investigate Ferguson; while Thomas himself went to Chicago. Together they collected the "pertinent facts, the memo of the stockholders, the number of shares and the official positions held by each such stockholders" which Thomas threatened to make public

This reference pertained to the 'Chrysler Airtemp sales corporation" at Grosse Point Farms. Mich a lucrative sales agency which the Chrysler motor company tossed into the lap of Ferguson's young son-in-law, Charles R. Beltz. With the public clamoring to buy airconditioning units this kind of agency could be nothing short of a gold mine.

Senator Thomas's "Pertinent" facts, though unpublished, also showed that son-in-law Beltz, though president of the company owned only 120 shares of stock, while his wife. Amy Beltz, owned five shares and Senator Ferguson's wife, Myrtle, owned 125 shares. According to Sen. Thomas's information, they were the sole stockholders. Thus it was possible for Sen. Ferguson's wife and daughter to outvote the president of the firm.

Thus, also, Mrs. Ferguson appeared to be the largest benefic-

Thomas also collected information purporting to show that Myrtle Ferguson, the Senator's wife, had been designated as the resident-agent for Airtemp in Washington, which indicated that the company either did business or tried to do business with the government. (A Senator is not supposed to profit from any fee or business transaction with the government.)

Sen. Thomas also said in his letter to the Michigan senator that he had reports as to "where you have spent your summer vacations, whom with, who paid the bills, or when and how you have entertained here in Washington ... swanky parties with all that goes along-including the best of drinks, including good champagne-all paid for by another-is not good publicity. Thomas referred in this case to information he had received that Ferguson was royally entertained by B. E. Hutchinson, general manager of Chrysler, and spent summer vacations with Thomas also told Ferguson he had reports that "dresses," which Thomas said he had heard were given to members of the Ferguson family, also referred to gifts from the Chrysler people.

Before receiving this letter Ferguson had a staff of investigators at work on Thomas and had fought several democratic members of his committee who wanted to drop the Thomas probe But following receipt of Thomas's letter, Ferguson never let out a single, solilary peep. The investigation of his democratic colleague from Oklahoma was dropped like a red-hot ingot. KIPLINGER'S

Cereal Box Offers Much Besides Crunchy Flakes

The big prizes given away by radio quiz programs have come in for a lot of ridicule even in the comics. In a late Lil Abner script, radio men mopped their foreheads of a sweat over what to flit away in their next show-the previous prize had consisted of "The Empire State Building, the island of Tahiti and the Battleship Idaho." But the satirists are overlooking another "amazing offer" promoter-the cereal box.

Every morning over my bowl of Post's products, I am told how I may receive . eloth dolls of Snap, Crackle and Pop, my favorite little characters; or how I can get a miniature, exact reproduction of Mr. Blanding's "dream house"; or I am promised by Fireball Twigg that my "explorer's ring" will be the envy of the neighborhood. If I save just 60 of these coupons, it says here, I can trade them for a piece of "absolutely beautiful" silver, thus beginning my FREE set-think of it! One morning in the course of two bowls of Grape-Nut Flakes, I figured that one out: Complete service for eight would cost you just 1,920 coupons from as many boxes of the cereal, of course. Or, for the average eater, just 76 years and six months of breakfasting. Yes, just think of it!

up this five-foot battleship, (or fire-truck or DC-6 or anything.) Even a child can assemble this circus offered here-complete with miniature tent and scores of little animals. People with no sense at all can learn Dick Tracy's super code, can operate this sundial. In other words, the cereal box would become a life-saver for simpletons. Apparently all kinds of people are considered when printing the carton.

And when I have pondered sufficiently the big offers made by my breakfast food I still cannot put aside the cereal box. The cardboard parcel provides me with games resurrected "from etchings on walls of Egyptian tombs" or "from Old English folklore" (I can produce copies of such games). On the sides, top or both tom I can find anything I seek: recipes. how to read palms, adventures of the "Brownies" or Little Blue or most anybody, or good commercial info on how my favorite popped rice sounds in 10 per cent cream.

Thus, while most breakfast tables are overshadowed by the morning paper and silence, at our house we munch food while thoughtfully looking over the week's cereal box.-LEATRICE ROSS

Hairline Formula Is Latest Way To Pick Out Good Wife

NEW YORK, P-ONE WAY TO PICK a sign the girl has a liberal turn of mind a wife is to look at her nape-of-the-neck hairline and find out what dance step she

A Manhattan hair stylist and a society band leader say in this way a bachelor can quickly discover a girl's secret personality.

Mark, a coiffeur who features a cozy $50 uturistic coiffure, said that after studying several thousand feminine napes he had reached these conclusions:

"A girl with a three-pointed hairline is generous, open-handed, and will put herself out for friends. But if the two outer points reach lower than the center, beware-she is the type of person who, if taken advantage of, will retaliate with "A straight hairline indicates a gambling instinct and executive ability.

"A five-point hairline shows a rare sense of humor. A girl with a mushrooming, sprawling hairline is artistic, moodyand very unstable. If the hair has a tendency to swirl from left to right, that is

IF HIS SWEETHEART PASSES THE hairline test, the bachelor can then assay her character according to a formula evolved by bandleader Ruby Newman.

Newman divides women into five dans ing types-waltzers, fox trotters, provocatives, weird-anticals (jitterbugs), and stumblers or non-dancers.

"A girl who loves to waltz is a good bet for a good home-maker," said the maestro. "She is lovable, sensible and understanding. And she can be as happy in a one-room flat as in a 26-room mansion." He thinks the fox-trotter is almost as good a marital bet.

The provocative type, said Newman, is "an exhibitionist who rhumbas and sambas in sophistacated manner. She's not reluctant to test the kitchen chinaware on your skull, and she loves and demands a good time. Household chores are out of her world. To keep her happy you have to give her lots of attention as well as your paycheck."

Dewey Win Doesn't Assure Success For GOP's Solons

ST. PAUL, Minn.-If the states of Iowa and Minnesota are at all indicative, the Republican party had better watch its step. There is little reason here to doubt that Governor Thomas E. Dewey will defeat President Harry S. Truman. But in this Midwestern area, which is the very heart of Republican strength in the country, one can already see the handwriting on the wall. The handwriting announces the eventual doom of the peculiar brand of Republicanism peddled by the Eightieth Congress The figures speak for themselves. Usually reliable polls show Dewey leading Truman in Iowa by the immense margin of 51 to 30. But the same polls show a ding-dong battle between Republican Senator George Wilson and Democratic Senator Guy Gillette. Wilson is an aging, ailing Midwestern right-wing Republican of unblemished ordinariness. In the end, he will probably return to the Senate on Dewey's coat-tails. But without Dewey's coattails to assist him, Wilson might well be retired.

Here in Minnesota, the situation is still more interesting. The polls actually show Truman ahead of Dewey by a modest margin, while the Democratic Senatorial nominee, Mayor Hubert Humphrey of Minneapolis, leads Senator Joseph Ball by a thumping 49 to 39. Partly, these results may be explained by the state's obstinate loyalty to Franklin Roosevelt in 1944, when the Midwest as a whole plumped for the Republicans. But in the main, the only possible inference in that in Minnesota it is Truman who is riding on Humphrey's coat-tails.

Humphrey has great assets as well as great handicaps. His chief handicap is a complete lack of campaign funds. His personal assets are unbounded energy, a remarkable record as Mayor of Minneapolis, and a special standing in the state (won by nearly 2,000 speeches in the last two years) which big-city Mayors cannot ordinarily attain. This spring, Humphrey and the group of very young men around him almost single-handed drove the Communists and fellow-travelers from the key positions in the state Democratic organization which they had slipped into earlier as a result of the Democratic-Farmer merger. Now Humphrey and his private youth movement are out to capture the

First among the Humphrey assets, however, one must count his opponent, Senator Ball. Ball has the touch of mysticism which often afflicts politicians with a vaguely Lincolnian appearance. And since his surprise vote for Roosevelt in 1944, Ball's mysticism has taken a downright comical new twist. It is centered on the English nineteenth century economists. He studies Jeremy Bentham and John Stuart Mill as religious mystics study St. John of the Cross and St. Theresa of Avila. As a fervent Benthamite, he

As a fervent Benthamite, he also treats his farm audiences, whose votes are his main hope, to long, gloomy lectures about nineteenth century ecnomics. These he spices, rather inadequately, with charges that Humphrey is pro-labor and "Come munistic." (Juding by his precedent, the time is evidently coming when persons who oppose shooting the poor and have mastered the dangerous secrets of reading, writing and arithmetic will be denounced as Communists in some quar-

Under the circumstances, Ball is a poor match for Humphrey. The real struggle is for the dominant farm vote, since the labor groups hate Ball like poison anyway. The farmers do not like labor's attachment to Humphrey. But the farme ers get hot under the collar when Humphrey points out, for example, that Ball went along with the Repbulican economisers in slashing the rural electrification program. Rural electrification and the other New Deal farm programs are what held Minnesota for Roosevelt in 1944. The farmers evidently suspect Ball's love for Jeremy Bentham may overpower his love for his farm constituents. There is no other er simple explanation of the lead which the polls give Humphrey even in the normally Republican farm districts.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Tues., Sept. 28, 1948 7 Mesa Addition Offers Setting

Persons in Big Spring who wish prices go up in months ahead. It to establish their own homes are likely will be next summer before offered on excellent opportunity the price a- ' ty in butcher the new Mesa Addition immediateanimals come back to the present by west of the city, where a number of choice building sites are available at moderate prices.

Located just south of Highway Mesa addition is composed of a tact with topogrophy which requires a minimum amount of grading, and surroundings are pleasant and of a type usually sought by a would-be home owner.

Some 32 lots are for sale in the addition now, according to A. Mc-Nary, who is developing the project. Prices range from $150 to $250 per lot, and purchasers are permitted to pay $25 down and retire the balance in monthly installments of $10 each. Further information can be obtained from McNary who can be contacted by telephone at McNary also is operating the Hitching Post Trailer court on West Highway 80, which is a popular headquarters for trailer houses in this area, The Hitching Post boasts plenty of space, and lays claim to possessing the best sanitary facilities in this part of the country. The spacious parking area precludes any waiting in line.

In addition to the above named projects. McNary offers Big Spring residents a complete tile and floor covering service. Tile in various patterns is furnished and installed for remodelling business buildings or providing attractive fronts for new structures.

It is not generally known that Frank Leahy and Company have desperately been trying to get on the University of Texas schedule for some time now. The Longhorn coaching staff doesn't fear the Ramblers but hasn't been able to work the Irish into their plans yet. When the Chicago Cardinals and the College All-Stars played the last All-Star game at Soldier's Field in Chicago, the pros went all out in preparation for the collegians because Leahy was coaching the Stars Team and had picked no less than ten of his former players as members of his team.

The cry in the Cardinal camp was "Beat Leahy and Notre Dame" and not "Beat the All-Stars." The results speak for themselves. The Red Birds handed the collegians the most crushing defeat in the history of the series (28-0).

After the game, one of the Cardinals, a former University of Texas
