Colorado Lad Is Drowned

Because he could not bear to lose his school pencil, Carl Lee Williams, 6, lost his life. He was drowned Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Lone Wolf creek...

The boys stopped to play on the creek bank and Carl Lee dropped his pencil into the water. In trying to retrieve it with a long stick, he slipped on the mud, stuck from a heavy all-day rain...

His companions ran for help and "Ears" Woods, Colorado high school football player, went into the water and brought the body, which was wedged under a rock, to the surface...

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lee Williams, two younger brothers, Lawrence and Billy Gene, and his grandmother, Mrs. Alice Ida Haselwood.

Commissioners To Canvass Returns, Receive Bids At Session Tonight

By the most overwhelming odds ever given any issue, bonds of $100,000 to finance the city's part in a U. S. Army Flying School, were approved by city voters here in balloting Thursday.

One issue for $30,000, to be used for purchase of 551 additional acres of land at the municipal airport, received the remarkable margin of 130 votes to only 12 against, a ratio of 69 to 1.

City commissioners were preparing to meet at 8 o'clock this evening to canvass returns of the election, in which a total of 847 votes was cast despite adverse weather conditions...

In each case the issues had been arranged for maturity within 15 years and all callable after 1947. The lowest net cost to the city of Big Spring, The municipality has a record low interest of 1 3/4 per cent to shoot at on this score.

Streams Swollen By New Downpours

Downpours of more than three inches sent new rises southeastward down already-swollen Texas streams today. The Trinity river inched past 28 feet at Dallas...

A 2.25-inch rain boosted McKinney's April total to 16.80 and again sent creeks out of their banks.

Trains of the Cotton Belt railroad from Waco to Corsicana were held up for four hours due to high water at Richland creek west of Corsicana. Overnight rainfall there was 1.96 inches.

Chambers creek was over a new highway bridge between Italy and Avalon and traffic to Ennis halted after a 3.50-inch downpour.

Denison and Sherman reported 1.69 inches. A 40-mile wind accompanied a 1.18-inch rain at Port Arthur.

Weather disturbances yesterday included freak winds at Breckenridge where Mrs. Tom Brady, 63, was killed when the wall of a building was hurled through an apartment...

Minute Men Named By Sgt. Gibson

Japs Within 100 Miles Of Mandalay

Three Key Cities Taken In New Offensives Drive

By The Associated Press Japan's invasion armies, seeking a quick knockout of allied forces in Burma, have driven within 100 miles of Mandalay apparently in a lightning 80-mile thrust from Loikaw, British headquarters disclosed today.

A communique said fresh attacks were developing in the Taunggyi area, 100 miles south of the allied base at Mandalay, after capturing three key cities in a new offensive.

Other attacks were reported near Shwemyaung, 10 miles east of Taunggyi. Taunggyi is 80 miles north of Loikaw, the most advanced position previously reported taken by the Japanese in that section of their three-way drive into upper Burma.

Japanese bombers again raided Mandalay. Meanwhile, in Russia Red Star said Russian forces had captured "the Golden Range," a menacing German stronghold in the Crimea, but there were reports that some Finns had moved south to bolster sharp divisions on the Kallin front.

The Golden Range, not specifically located in the Soviet account, was said to have been taken after four days of sharp fighting. The Germans lost 300 killed, several big guns, 50 machine-guns and dozens of trench mortars, said Red Star, the Russian front newspaper.

With the main sectors of the German-Russian front still slushy fighting flared spasmodically in the deep south and the north, where the battlefields were respectively dry and still frozen.

Russian advances said the Red army broke through a sector of the Finnish front before Leningrad last week and knifed through the Finnish lines in Karelia this week.

There has been nothing here since to indicate a lessening of the Soviet drives.

Teachers Instructed In Sugar Sign-Up

Teachers hit the high spots of what will be expected of them in handling the sugar ration sign up, starting next week, at a meeting of the faculty Thursday afternoon.

At the session, W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, Anne Martin, county superintendent, and Tom Rosson, ration board clerk, explained details of plans for effecting the registration.

Merchant Vessel Shelled By Sub

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The navy said today that a small United States merchant vessel had been shelled by an enemy submarine off the Atlantic coast and that survivors have been landed at an east coast port.

Five More Civilian Restrictions

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Five new restrictions on civilian life have been ordered by the government in the gradual move toward a war footing for the whole nation.

The latest orders curtail local and long distance truck deliveries, restrict the installation of new telephones, reduce the amount of electricity used in forests and gardens, forbid the manufacture of fishing tackle and fix prices on chains, pottery and many cotton products such as sheets, blankets, diapers, towels and gingham.

War Scare For Garden City Practice Bomb Hits Near Pump Station

GARDEN CITY, April 24 (AP)—This peaceful West Texas town had its first bombing scare of the war last night and the residents were still jittery today.

Investigators who reported that the crater left by the missile near the Shell pump station four miles southwest of here was two feet in diameter and a foot deep, believe that the small size of the hole indicates it might have been a practice bomb dropped from an army bomber off its course.

Labor Issues May Be Forced To Showdown

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Demands for a showdown on the 40-hour week and wartime restrictions on labor activities persisted in congress today with strong likelihood they would be pressed regardless of how President Roosevelt deals with the subject in his message next week.

With widely-varied proposals for labor legislation pending on a half-dozen different fronts, belief strengthened on Capitol Hill that the chief executive, in his drive to stem the mounting cost of living, would:

1. Lay down a general war labor policy, but oppose changes in statutes outlining labor's rights with the argument that industrial harmony and maximum production could be achieved best through cooperation.

2. That steps to prevent blanket wage increases—possibly by issuing a directive order to the war labor board—but leave open the possibility of individual pay boosts and those made necessary by any further rise in living costs.

3. Stand firmly against suspension of the 40-hour week, maintaining it is not now limiting work in war industries and that elimination of time and one-half pay after 40 hours would necessitate widespread upward adjustment of regular wages.

Wheat Excess Causes Worry

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Although much of the world is starving, war curtailment of foreign trade and a record surplus of wheat in this country soon will lead Secretary of Agriculture Wickard to advise American farmers that they must reduce production further or be content with lower prices.

The forthcoming bread-grain crop and the carryover from previous years are expected to provide a supply greater than this country's transportation and storage facilities can handle. Officials predict that the supply will be sufficient to meet the normal needs of the country for two years.

On the other hand, virtually the whole of Europe—particularly Germany—occupied Belgium, France, the Netherlands, Greece and the Balkans, as well as Italy and occupied France, and Russia—are on short bread rations. Germany itself is running short of supplies. Europe normally depends upon overseas sources for much of its wheat.

Britain Urges Second Front

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Creation by Great Britain of a vast second front against Germany in western Europe while Russia still holds the axis in the east is urged by Lord Beaverbrook in the belief Russia "may settle the war for us in 1942."

The British lease-lend coordinator in Washington declared last night that by holding the Germans in check, possibly even by defeating them, the Russians may be the means of bringing the whole axis structure down.

Addressing the American Newspaper Publishers Association's bureau of advertising at its annual dinner, Beaverbrook, himself publisher of the London Daily Express and the Evening Standard, said of the proposed Great British offensive:

US Bomber Which Raided Japan Is Held In Russia

KUZYNETS, April 24 (AP)—Russia announced today that a United States bomber which raided Japan last Saturday and then lost its way has been interned with its crew in the Russian maritime province on the Sea of Japan.

It appeared to be an already completed test of the year-old Japanese neutrality pact but United States embassy officials here said Ambassador Admiral William H. Standley had asked Washington for instructions.

The plane was said to have carried five men, one a captain. The short dispatch announcing the internment said that the aircraft, "losing orientation," was taken to mean that the plane was trying to make a landing in China.

The only official account yet made public was circulated by Tass, official Soviet news agency, under the caption: "Forced landing of American plane in maritime province." The full dispatch follows:

"Khabarovsk, April 23—On April 18th on the territory of the maritime province there landed an American warplane. As stated by the plane crew the latter participated on the same day in a raid by the American air force on the Japanese islands and, losing orientation, committed a forced landing on Soviet territory.

"According to common international regulations, Soviet authorities interned the American plane and crew."

The date of the dispatch indicated the general locale of the forced landing, although none was specifically given. Khabarovsk is about 1,000 miles northwest of Tokyo and 400 miles due north of the main part of the maritime province, Vladivostok.

The internment of the fliers offered a delicate problem for the Russians—how to treat a soldier with whom you are allied on one front (the German front) when he enters your territory on another frontier in war against a nation (Japan) with which you are at peace.

Indications were that Russia was following international law to the letter by interning the fliers.

(Under the Moscow-Tokyo pact, Russia is technically neutral in the Pacific war, just as Japan is technically obliged to keep hands off the German-Russian struggle. Neutral nations are required to intern war parties which stray into their territory. To do otherwise would offend the opposing forces. Such offenses are universally treated with courtesy.)

It's To Be Called The Cost of Living

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt, who has objected to the use of the term inflation, declared today he thought cost of living should be substituted for it.

FD Points Out The Need For More Steel

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt declared today that the war production program was working out extremely well and hinted that more might be piled on top of the one which was called fantastic last January.

In his annual message to congress on January 6, the president set forth a schedule calling for a production in 1942 and 1943 of 185,000 planes, 150,000 tanks, 85,000 anti-aircraft guns and 18,000,000 tons of commercial shipping.

New figures on war spending came from Budget Director Harold D. Smith, who reported that the program had been speeded up to an estimated $28,000,000,000 this fiscal year and to $70,000,000,000 in the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

Attributing these revised figures to a better than expected rate of war production, Smith said they compared with previous estimates of $20,000,000,000 for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, and $28,000,000,000 for the next year.

Smith said weekly cash outlays for war already have increased from $400,000,000 in the week of Pearl Harbor to $600,000,000 per week.

The intimation that these tremendous goals might be expanded to assure a United Nations victory came when he was asked at a press conference whether he thought steel plants now being built or expanded would raise capacity sufficiently to meet all requirements.

No, he replied, he couldn't say that because there might be another program by the time the expansions and new plants are completed.

The chief executive expressed a personal view that there still was too great civilian use of steel, but that war production board officials had taken a contrary position. He said that this is being checked on now.

To an inquiry as to whether anything was being done to "verticalize" shipbuilding, Mr. Roosevelt said that everybody was working on that at the present time. Referring to the difficulty of obtaining enough steel, he added that you can't make bread without flour.

He was informed that the ship construction program was regarded generally as the only portion of his January production plan which was lagging seriously behind.

Wanted: 10 Pct. Of Income Into Bonds

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Uncle Sam wants the 50,000,000 Americans who get a regular income to put at least ten per cent of it into war bonds.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said in launching the campaign last night that all those who have been earning especially high pay in war industries should put up even more than ten per cent.

Churchill Agrees On New Strategy

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill has received a message from President Roosevelt that he agreed with all the conclusions reached by U. S. Chief of Staff General George C. Marshall after his visit to Britain, an informed source said today.

Baltic Port Blasted By RAF Bombs

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—A strong force of Royal Air Force bombers "heavily attacked" the Baltic port of Rostock last night and left widespread fire burning and apparently much damage, the air ministry announced today.

The Germans had been reported sending streams of war supplies from Rostock to the Russian-Finnish front.

"Four of our aircraft are missing," the ministry reported.

The attack was "heavy and quite successful," authorities said.

British observers were quick to link the thrust with the mass assault March 28 on Luebeck, which like Rostock, is a vital base in Germany's war transportation routes.

Rostock lies between Luebeck and Stettin, another major Baltic supply port which has been a target of the RAF offensive aimed at doing all possible to aid Soviet Russia.

Two German bombers were reported shot down over Britain in the night. A Dornier crashed in flames in an isolated area. Crew members bailed out before the plunge and were captured.

He was informed that the ship construction program was regarded generally as the only portion of his January production plan which was lagging seriously behind.

And he was reminded that Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, defense shipping administrator, had testified on Capitol Hill that there was "too damned much loafing" in shipyards on the part of both labor and management.

The president commented that was a good burr under the tail of both management and labor. But, responding to further questioning, he advanced the view:

Senators Suffer Heavily As Dutch Leonard Hurt

By JUDSON BAILEY
The first serious casualty of the major league baseball season is Emil (Dutch) Leonard of the Washington Senators, whose luck seems to be going from bad to worse.

The round-faced righthander stumbled while crossing first base after running out a grounder in the second inning of yesterday's battle with the Boston Red Sox and after he had been carried off the field his injury was found to be a broken ankle.

This means the big fellow who baffled the American league with his knuckle ball for the last couple of years, winning 18 games in 1941, will be out of action indefinitely and Washington's hopes of struggling toward the top of the second division received a setback.

The senators won yesterday, 10-5, but the game itself was not a pleasing spectacle—there were 28 hits evenly divided and Boston made six errors to Washington's two.

The day proved more cheery for the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians, both of whom were as fearful of their pitching in the South was Washington was hopeful.

Hal White, the rookie righthander Detroit brought up from Buffalo, pitched his second straight shutout, 9-0, on five five hits against the Chicago White Sox. The Tigers tore into old Ted Lyons for 15 hits.

For Cleveland Jim Bagby, the lean righthander who ascended somewhat doubtfully to the Indian's No. 1 pitching berth vacated by Bob Feller, acquired his third straight victory, 3-2, over the St. Louis Browns. Bagby gave nine hits, but finished with a string of six scoreless innings.

The score was tied at 2-2 going into the eighth, but the Indians pushed seven runs across in the last two frames.

The New York Yankees were donated a 6-4 decision by the Philadelphia Athletics, who outdid the world champions 9 to 5 but made six errors.

Similarly the Brooklyn Dodgers were helped to a 3-2 triumph at Boston by three errors and a lot of lax play that didn't show up in the box score. Each team made 10 hits and seven pitchers saw service in the melee, which Brooklyn nailed down with a five-run flurry.

In the fifth, punctuated by Pete Reiser's two-run homer.

The Cincinnati Reds staged their biggest rally of the year to score five runs in the seventh inning and beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3. John Vander Meer pitched five-hit ball, but until the Reds went on their spree they had been held to one hit in six innings by John Lanning.

Lou Novikoff, the big bust of the Chicago Cubs last year, "busted" a sixth-inning home run to decide a pitching duel between Bill Lee and Max Lanier in favor of the Cubs, 3-1, over the St. Louis Cardinals. Each team made seven hits.

The New York Giants continued their timely hitting to down the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-2. They made nine hits, two less than the tallenders.

Giant Stride Makes Santone Youth A Prize For Any College Track Crew

SAN ANTONIO, April 24 (UP)—It seems Ralph Ellsworth's opponents can hope to come out even with him in the quarter-mile only by taking five steps while he takes four.

No one has done it this year and that's why he's the sensation of Texas schoolboy track—a one-man gang likely to win the state championship all by himself.

By actual measurement the Alamo Heights star takes a stride of 10 feet 2 inches when he stretches out in the 440-yard dash, an event he can do in under 40 seconds.

This news has brought a colony of college scouts to his doorstep because the tall young man ends his high school career this season. He's hailed as the greatest prospect to come out of Texas in years and this state produced such notables as Freddie Wolcott of Rice.

and the Rideout twins of North Texas State.

There's nothing the guy can't do. He's a star at all distances from 100 yards, which he runs in 24.2, to the half-mile, an event he made in two minutes in practice just for the fun of it. He also is a top broad-jumper and throws the shot.

In six meets this year he scored 79 1-3 points and in some of them participated in only one or two events.

Hal White, the rookie righthander Detroit brought up from Buffalo, pitched his second straight shutout, 9-0, on five five hits against the Chicago White Sox. The Tigers tore into old Ted Lyons for 15 hits.

All Texas Loop Games Postponed

By The Associated Press
The weather was the winner in the Texas league again yesterday (Thurs). All the games were postponed.

Today's games:
Houston at San Antonio (night)
Fort Worth at Dallas (night doubleheader)
Shreveport at Beaumont (day doubleheader).

War Cuts Down Relay Entries

BOULDER, Colo., April 24 (UP)—Colorado's relays show, holding its 18th renewal tomorrow, has felt the war pinch.

Approximately 480 athletes from 13 colleges in six states and 21 Colorado high schools are entered, compared with more than 600 last year.

Kansas State is ready to defend its college division championship with 23 athletes. Howard Payne of Texas has eight entries.

Pete Owens, Howard Payne speedster, will get two meet records—14.4 seconds in the high hurdles and 9.9 seconds in the 100 yard dash. He turned in a 12.9 race in the high last year.

Requests Changes In Semi-Pro Rules

FT. RILEY, Kas., April 24 (UP) To eliminate much lost time from training, Capt. Leroy Munday, special service officer, has suggested army teams be allowed to participate in semi-pro state tournaments without qualifying in sectional meets.

In a letter to the Semi-pro Baseball Congress, Munday also urged that professional players now in service be permitted to play.

Track Records Held By Texas Schoolboys

AUSTIN, April 24 (UP)—Texas schoolboy tracksters registered the nation's best times in three events last season according to the national interscholastic honor roll released by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the Texas interscholastic league, announced today that these were the fastest in the entire country in 1941:

Henry Adams, Kingsville, 230-yard dash, 21.3 seconds.

Archie Jones, Longview, 120-yard high hurdles, 14.1 seconds.

Thomas Jefferson high school (San Antonio), 440-yard relay, 43.8 seconds.

Bill Hamman, Sunset (Dallas), had the second best time in the nation in the 200-yard low hurdles with 21.1 seconds.

Highland Park (Dallas) made the third best time in the mile relay with 3:35.3.

Earl McClendon, Carrizo Springs, made the fourth best time in the 440-yard dash with 39.5 seconds.

Of the individuals only Hamman is back this season. His best time thus far has been 22.3.

Eight regional meets are to be held in the state this weekend and times and distances made in those can be submitted to E. A. Thomas, a member of the track and field rules committee who compiles the honor roll for consideration in the national rankings.

These meets are scheduled at Canyon, Abilene, Denton, Longview, Huntsville, San Marcos, Kingsville and Marfa, and will qualify more than 300 contestants for the state meet at Austin in May.

Longhorns To Seek Record At Drake

DES MOINES, April 24 (UP)—Four ambitious University of Texas speedsters had world record ideas at the Drake Relays today.

The quartet—Capt. Harry Hafertick, Max Minor, Gene Wren and Mac Umstattdt—sought to erase the 3:22.7 sprint medley world mark established by another Texas team here a year ago.

Umstattdt, the anchor man, appeared here in 1941, but the others are new members of the Longhorn team. The lads did a 3:28.1 race a month ago and relays director Bill Easton was confident the favorites in the top opening day attraction would come through with a record race.

Eight other finals in the university and college divisions and a host of preliminaries were on today's program.

Lee Farmer of Iowa, Western conference indoor titleholder; Bill Christopher, Rice Institute's Texas Relays king; and Ralph Tate of Oklahoma A. & M., winner at the Kansas Games, were prominently mentioned in the broad jump.

Illinois, believed capable of 15:16 or better, and Oklahoma were ranked as the leading challengers in the University distance medley. Wisconsin holds the Drake record at 10:06.1.

The 100-yard dashmen, including Farmer, Harold Hall of Rice and Orv Mathews, Oklahoma speedboy, went after positions in tomorrow's final.

His present team plays every Sunday of the year when weather permits.

Air Force Calls For Civilians As Instructors

WASHINGTON, April 24 (UP)—The Army Air Force called today for 2,000 civilian pilots to serve as flight instructors in expanding army flying schools within the next 60 days.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration was asked to supply the need, and the war department said it was expected many of the instructors would come from the CAA Civilian Pilot Training program.

To provide for replacements, CAA was given a special $2,000,000 fund to train fliers in aviation instruction technique. Candidates for this instruction, it was said, were expected to be found among more than 53,000 holders of private pilot licenses who for financial or other reasons have been unable to acquire sufficient flying time to qualify as instructors.

Candidates for instructor training must be citizens between 21 and 43 who are able to meet physical standards for a commercial pilot certificate and have logged at least 140 solo hours.

Applicants will not be paid during the training but if found qualified on its completion will be paid from $300 to more than $300 a month as instructors. Some later may be commissioned in the Air Force with the rating of service pilot.

Two Texas Relay Teams Make Bid For Honors In Major Track Meets

Chico The Cuban Passes First Test As Chicago Cub Backstop

Honesty Pays

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 24 (UP)—Dr. W. S. Randall, Pensacola, Fla., physician, counted all his strokes in the state medical association golf tournament, finishing 18 holes in 168.

Commemorating such truthfulness, tournament officials gave Honest Golfer Randall a special prize.

Restrictions On Auto Sales Questioned

WASHINGTON, April 24 (UP)—Confronted with a claim that some 1942 model automobiles might make their first appearance on the streets as late as 1972, the house banking committee called on the Office of Price Administration today for an explanation of its car rationing regulations.

The decision to ask OPA to explain what some committee members said were "very complex" regulations came after an automobile dealer spokesman said some dealers estimated that under current regulations the present supply of new cars might last as long as thirty years.

In some cases, said Charles W. Bishop, counsel for the National Automobile Dealers Association, local rationing boards were so confused by the regulations that rather than take a chance on violations they were turning down worthy applications for new car purchases.

The OPA representatives were expected to be the last heard by the committee before it acts on legislation to authorize the RFC to give financial aid to dealers, either by making loans or purchasing their unsold cars after 18 months.

Bradley Won't Have An Entry In The Derby

SPORTS ROUNDUP

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 24 (UP) Col. E. R. Bradley, only thoroughbred owner with a record of four Kentucky Derby victories, will not be represented in the renewal of the historic race at Churchill Downs May 2.

This announcement by Trainer Jimmy Smith was something of a blow to Blue Grass sentimentalists who have a big soft spot in their hearts for the colons' colors, but it scarcely was a surprise after the performance of Bless Me, his only derby candidate, yesterday in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland.

The 28-year-old colonel, who watched the event, had announced previously Bless Me's showing would determine his chances for a derby run.

The Bradley colt ran second by three and a half lengths to Mrs. Payne Whitney's Shut Out.

Denton Group Favored In Penn Event

PHILADELPHIA, April 24 (UP) Most of the nation's top-flight track and field athletes took over Franklin Field today in the 46th unrelenting of the Penn Relays—the first major merry-go-round of the outdoor season.

Nearly 3,000 college and high school athletes are entered in the two-day, 74-event program which features the great stretch duels between Leslie MacMitchell and Campbell Kana, anchor men for the crack New York university and Indiana teams.

A distinct military atmosphere dominated this year's carnival with a score of prominent athletes, now in service, entered. Among them are Lieutenant John Woodruff, former Pitt and Olympic half-miler, Ensign Bob Peoples, American javelin champion from Southern California, and Lieutenant Glenn Funk of the marine corps, former Nebraska distance star.

In addition, all service men in uniform will be admitted free.

North Texas State's Teachers were big favorites in the half-mile relay which they won last year, although the Texans faced such crack teams as Fordham, Seton Hall, Duke, Pitt, Cornell, and Villanova.

Mitchell Over Top With Navy Relief

COLORADO CITY, April 24—On the first day of the Navy Relief drive, Mitchell county over-subscribed its quota. Jim Cantrill, chairman, announced that $509.53 has already been contributed with more subscribed. Mitchell county quota was $406.

Cantrill wired Gerald Mann, state chairman of Navy Relief, of the quick success of his committee and received telegraphed congratulations.

Longhorns To Seek Record At Drake

Chico The Cuban Passes First Test As Chicago Cub Backstop

CHICAGO, April 24 (UP)—The kid with the Carmen Miranda accent is trying to make a success of the Chicago Cubs' first mass dip into the Latin-American baseball pool.

Salvador Hernandez, known as Chico and nominally the No. 3 man among Cub catchers, has become a regular through mishaps involving the other two — circumstances which have Manager Jimmy Wilson, quite a mean backstopper in his day, wondering if he might have to return to active duty.

Hernandez got his chance when Clyde McCullough banged up his thumb reaching for a foul tip at Pittsburgh Wednesday and was taken out for 10 days. McCullough's understudy, Bob Scheffing, already was inactive because of a sock on the elbow received from Wally Moses' bat during the spring series with the White Sox.

That put Hernandez to work — relieving McCullough Wednesday and making his first major league start yesterday.

Chico is a Cuban, one of three Latin-Americans with the Cubs—the others being Pitchers Jess Flores, a Mexican, and Eli Bithorn, a Puerto Rican.

Hernandez didn't do badly in his debut as a starter.

He singled in his second trip to the plate and although he nearly got nipped off base he survived long enough to score the tying run against the Cardinals when Len Merullo singled him home.

The next time up, after Lou Novikoff had homered to give the Cubs a 3-1 edge which lasted to the finish, Hernandez found two men out and a runner on second—and he was given an intentional walk. He felt pretty good—and almost got caught off base again.

Behind the plate he directed Pitcher Bill Lee to a seven-hit victory.

And all the time Jimmy Wilson sat on the bench hoping nothing would happen to Chico.

But just in case... Wilson is taking part in batting practice.

"I assure you, Miss, this is NOT the hat I came in with!"

Inflation Would Make Money 'Not Worth A Continental'

Editor's Note: This is the second article in a series of three highlighting the history of inflation and its danger to our present war effort unless we are successful in establishing adequate controls.

One way of saying that a thing hasn't any value is to say: "It's not worth a continental."

That's really a reference to America's first experience with inflation.

In something like seven years the value of the continental currency spiraled downward. Congress passed a resolution that anyone refusing to accept continentals in payment of debt should be treated as a public enemy, but even that didn't help.

There was lots of money everywhere but it wasn't worth a cent. Actually not worth a cent. Alexander Hamilton, after the war was over, proposed that the continental bill be redeemed at the rate of one cent for each dollar, but this idea was abandoned when it was found that such a fee seldom covered the cost of collecting the bills and offering them for redemption.

None of us today wants the time to come when we are forced to say of the money paid us in wages and in profits, in fees or royalties: "It's not worth a continental."

Frankly, we do not expect that we shall have that sort of runaway inflation. But we do face the serious prospect of sharply higher prices.

We let inflation get out of control in World War I and that one defeat on the economic front—the defeat on the home front—was translated in the initials H. C. L., for high cost of living—might have cost the war. If Germany had been just a little stronger we might well have lost. As it was, we suffered tremendous losses.

These losses fell on everybody, because inflation is no respecter of rank or class or wealth or position or trade. The losses of World War I fell alike on businessmen and farmers, on wage earners and investors.

Inflation of prices increased the cost of World War I by more than $13,000,000,000, an extra burden of debt which remained after the last gun had been fired.

In the last war we allowed prices to rise to a height almost two and a half times as high as the 1915 level. That peak was reached in 1920 and almost immediately afterward prices fell off with dizzying rapidity and thousands upon thousands of Americans were swept into disaster by the tidal wave of boom, and the sickening recession of collapse.

We're fighting to avert ruin when we fight to stop inflation in the USA—stark, utter ruin. Ruin to our war effort and ruin to us all. Unless it is stopped, the steadily increasing pressure of rising prices against the mounting flood of watered money will inundate our wartime life—injuring our morale, smashing our national unity, damaging our health and the health of our children, wrecking our efficiency.

Shortages accompanied by speculation, by profiteering, by rising prices—these in the end will restrict our output of the weapons we need to win this war. Uncontrolled inflation will mean that we'll get fewer guns, fewer ships, fewer planes and fewer tanks for the billions we have appropriated to buy them.

The Nazis, untroubled by those ethical considerations which hamper democracies, have taken drastic and ruthless steps to balance their military strength with corresponding economic strength. Totalitarian Germany controls prices as totalitarian Germany controls everything else. And this control has given a surprising measure of economic strength to what is essentially a mad economic patchwork.

Our economic structure is not even a patchwork structure. Yet not even the strongest economic structure can withstand indefinitely the pounding hammer blows of uncontrolled inflation.

Either we control inflation, either we stop the runaway, or we risk losing this war and with it everything the United States of America means to us all.

Some overlook her then and she crumpled into a little heap at Stephanie's feet.

"Please, Liu, don't cry. I'll find a way. I promise you." She tried to comfort the girl, drew her back onto the bench beside her. "Now you run along to bed and stop worrying."

Liu dried her tears, tried to smile. "Thank you. You are generous, Miss Stephanie, but you must not endanger yourself."

Man About Manhattan— Girls, Those Manly Legs On Stage Are Just More Make-Up

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—When you see an actor in tights whose legs are symmetrically proportioned, don't be too sure they belong to the actor. They may belong to Dastan's.

Dastan's is an old theatrical costume and fabric house that is celebrating its centennial this month. The divine Sarah Bernhardt is with the immortals, and she is remembered as the perfect stress... yet beneath the make-believe and camouflage of the theater lies the grim fact that she had only one leg—her left. Few of this generation remember that she was a diabetic and that her right leg was amputated. It was Dastan's who provided the "symmetrical" to replace the missing limb, and for a decade after the amputation she continued on the stage in the height of her powers. "It was Dastan's, too, that built the symmetrical that added two and a half inches to the calf of one of John Barrymore's legs, when he appeared on Broadway in tights in "The Jest." The great Mansfield wore symmetricals, and almost every other actor whose legs did not measure up to the standards of the day.

The man who had the most to do with these symmetricals and who is president of Dastan's today is Emil Friedlander, a tall, easy-to-talk-to man with graying hair and laugh-wrinkles about his eyes.

He has spent 42 years in the business of costuming shows for Broadway and Hollywood productions, and the walls of his office, at 142 West 44th Street, have grown into a sort of museum of mementoes of great epics and times in the theater....

Editorial -- So We're Tired Of Giving? Here's An Answer To That

Instead of congratulating him on his designation as chairman for Howard county's naval relief drive, Obie Bristow had one person to dolefully declare: "I'm thankful I'm not in your shoes and out trying to raise $20. People are getting tired of giving."

Mr. Bristow is an even-tempered man, yet his reactions are better understood. But as a good American he feels like, thank heavens, many others of his stripe do.

Tired of giving? Tired of giving money? Oh shame, shame if it were so, for money is such a little thing.

Tired? What about those boys on Bataan—those lads who fought hunger and fatigue and shot and shell and disease for weeks on weeks without rest? Tired? Then shall we say to Douglas MacArthur in his Australian headquarters: "Call off your counter-offensive. Let's give up the idea of reclaiming our lands, of redeeming our souls as free men, of once more securing the blessing of liberty... Call off your men, for we here at home are tired."

Tired? Shall we tell our British friends to slow their incessant bombings of Hitler's land and their heroic commando raids—to carry on alone a struggle they have had for nearly three years because we have grown tired in four months of war?

Shall we tell our Russian allies we no longer can applaud their dramatic and inspiring stand, or send them desperately needed supplies because we are tired of paying and producing and of supporting a war effort? Shall we say to the conquered peoples of the earth: "So sorry, but your cause may be won again in a thousand years. We would do our part in making it so now, only we're tired."

Like the word "fail," there must be no such word as "tired" in our vocabularies from now until the victory is accomplished. As long as we have money, let us give and pay. As long as we have strength let us work and fight. As long as we have hope, let us plan and pray.

Secret Orders BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Chapter 17 THE WEEPING GIRL

It was the right street. Lady Luck had smiled. As Stephanie guided the heavy car between the heavy iron gates at the entrance to the hospital grounds, joining the long line of ambulances moving slowly up to the door marked "Emergency," she felt tears of relief sliding down her cheeks.

But the opportunity to see Kurt came and went so quickly, she could scarcely be sure she'd actually looked into his face, so gaunt, so pallid it was only a grim caricature of the Kurt she'd known.

Then, they carried him away and Stephanie responded automatically to sharp orders to "Drive on!"

Once on the way back to the waterfront, full realization of what she had done swept over her. It might mean trouble for the regular driver, it certainly would mean trouble for her. And what of her orders to report to Pier 51!

She drove as fast as she dared, never once letting the ambulance ahead get out of sight. If her luck would hold out for just a few minutes more—

She parked the car in the line before the big pier, slipped out, raced the long block back to her own station wagon. No one stopped her and a moment later she was making precarious headway toward Pier 51.

The next few hours were so strenuously busy with filling her wagon with refugees women and their children, with taking them to safe shelter, with returning for more pitiful loads, that Stephanie had no time to remember Kurt's white face.

But later, as she crawled wearily into bed, and closed her eyes, instantly the memory flashed that picture across the silver-screen of her mind. Kurt, her heart wept, Kurt! What have they done to you? And what—lay ahead!

She'd contrive to find some way to see him. Tomorrow. Right now, she was too tired even to think of a plan. Gratefully she buried her cheek in the pillow. She was so exhausted that even her senses weren't trustworthy. Right now, the wind in the eaves sounded exactly like a woman sobbing.

She pulled the bedclothes higher, turned over. Still the wind wailed pathetically. Or was it the wind? She raised on one elbow to listen. There it was again. Soft, irregular sobbing like a heart-broken child's.

Tears—And Love

Stephanie pulled on her robe, thrust her feet into slippers, padded to the window to listen. Not wind in the eaves, but someone crying down in the kitchen of her own house. Puzzled, Stephanie snatched on the hall light, ran down the stairs.

There was no light anywhere downstairs. Even the sobbing stopped as Stephanie opened the door to the kitchen. Fumbling, she found the light switch.

There, curled small in Tsang's big rocker, was little Liu, her pretty round face tear-streaked, her eyes red with weeping.

"Why—Liu? Whatever is the matter?" Stephanie demanded, amazed. Never, in all the years that Liu had visited her old grandfather had Stephanie ever seen her anything but widely smiling.

The young Chinese girl got to her feet swiftly, gracefully, stood trying to smile.

"What is it, Liu? Are you ill?"

"No, Miss Stephanie. Nothing is the matter. I am sorry if I disturbed you."

American born and raised though she was, Liu obviously felt she had "met face" to have her tears discovered. Stephanie smiled, held out her hand.

"Tell me what is breaking your heart, Liu," she urged. "Perhaps I can help you."

Still, the girl shook her head. "My grandfather would forbid it."

Stephanie frowned. "Tsang? But why? Then she remembered old Tsang's grumbling story about his granddaughter's Japanese friend. "Look, Liu, is about the boy you met at the university?"

Startled, the girl looked at her a moment, finally nodded. "Hajami is gone," she said simply.

"Gone!" Stephanie smiled, drew the girl down beside her on the scarred old window-bench where Tsang always sat to peel his vegetables or read his Chinese newspaper. "But that's not so awful, is it? He'll be back won't he?"

"I think now he is probably dead," Liu said in a voice from which all tone seemed gone.

"Dead! What are you saying?"

"Hajami is as good an American as you are, Miss Stephanie," the girl said with sudden passion. "He loved this country. He did not love the country of his ancestors. I know he did not. But they tried to make him betray this country."

"They?" Stephanie asked instantly. "Who is they, Liu?"

"A tall gentleman who came to see him many times. Sometimes on his boarding house. Sometimes on the campus between his classes. A tall dark-haired gentleman, he said, who threatened Hajami."

"Threatened him about what?" Stephanie prompted.

"He said that if he did not agree to do as he was told, he would be shot."

"Shot! That's ridiculous. This is America, Liu."

The girl shook her head. "That is what Hajami said to the strange gentleman. He would have nothing to do with him. And now—he is gone. Nobody knows where. Nobody has seen him for two days."

Her lips trembled and she fought for control, torturing a scrap of white handkerchief. "And nobody will help me to find him."

"But why not, Liu. Surely—"

"Offer Of Help

"Hajami's father says it is better to say nothing lest the rest of the family be punished. Hajami has many brothers and sisters. And my grandfather forbids me to tell anyone. He says it is punishment for me for even making a friend of Hajami. But—"

despair crept back into her pretty face—"Why should I not have made a friend of him? We were in many of the same classes. We enjoyed talking together. Hajami is a fine person. It is no disgrace in America to like a fine person, is it?"

"Of course not," Stephanie assured her while her thoughts raced ahead to try to think of some way to help. "Did you see the man who threatened Hajami?"

The girl shook her head. "No, never."

"And when was Hajami seen last?"

"He left for his classes yesterday morning but he never reached the campus." Liu's eyes filled slowly. "Oh, Miss Stephanie, I know they have done something dreadful."

"We must report it to the police."

The girl rose instantly. "Oh, please, no! Oh, no! My grandfather would never permit it. He would disown me. You must not do that. Can't you see, Miss Stephanie, it is for me—for my family—a disgrace that I cannot—"

"Sobs overtook her then and she crumpled into a little heap at Stephanie's feet.

"Please, Liu, don't cry. I'll find a way. I promise you." She tried to comfort the girl, drew her back onto the bench beside her. "Now you run along to bed and stop worrying."

Liu dried her tears, tried to smile. "Thank you. You are generous, Miss Stephanie, but you must not endanger yourself."

Hollywood Sights And Sounds -- Don't Let Her See Jean Gabin

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Aside to America's long-suffering husbands and embattled beaux: stand firm and brace yourselves. There's a new threat on your horizon.

This is nothing new, of course, and you're probably prepared. After Gable, Taylor, Boyer, and Power you know what's in store, but a few definite tips might make the battle easier, and here they are:

Ridicule, as always, is a good weapon. "This Jean Gabin," you say for instance, "hub! Sure, he's rugged. Sure, he's not cute. Sure, he acts like a man. But look, honey. How'd you like to have a guy like that around all the time? Sittin' around, quiet-like, and behavin' himself, and talkin' pretty holy, and then—bingo!—he grabs you. He dam' near breaks your back. Now that's not your idea of fun, is it, honey? Spendin' the rest of your life in a wheel-chair, the way this Lupino gal does in the picture? They can't fool me. It was that grabbin' that did it—I could hear her crack. That fight, and gettin' thrown in the bait-box, merely finished off the job."

And another thing. These reformed drunks don't stick to it. If I finished off a bottle the way the Frenchman does, I'd be in the doghouse for a month. But just because it's a movie, and he meets the gal and reforms, you believe it. Betcha if they had another reel he'd be cock-eyed again, and throw-in' her to the sharks."

Better still, perhaps, is any ruse you can think of to keep her away from that movie. Get up a game of gin rummy when "Moon Tide" comes to your town. Catch small-pox, get her quarantined, or break your own back, and appeal to the Florence Nightingale in her. Tell her to think of the children.

If this doesn't work, promise to take her on that long vacation trip. Promise her a fur coat. Promise to take her to psychiatrist—and pick one who'll talk about her, nothing but her, for a week. If she already has sneaked away for a matinee, the psychiatrist is a must.

Shooting Gabin, of course, would be the quick way—but don't you think it a trifle messy? There's always the problem, too, of a trip to Hollywood, and once you get here you'd have to plough through a solid wall of glamour gals to get within potash range.

No, we better be subtle. We better organize a boycott. We better start a whispering campaign. Let's pass the word around, quietly, that the guy eats garlic. Let it circulate that he's a confirmed cyclist. If we say "cyclist" with just the right inflection of horror the little women will think it's something dreadful. Let's swear flatly that he SNORES—and how can he prove he doesn't?

Scientific 'Ears' Take Great Deal Of Guesswork Out Of Oil Prospecting

DENVER, April 24 (AP)—Scientific ears that can hear 20,000 feet down in the ground are taking the guesswork out of oil prospecting.

The oldtime wildcatter, sniffing across the prairie for oil and fortune, used to sink a hole near a likely buffalo skull and hope for a gusher.

More often than not his reward was just an oily drill. He had spent $40,000 drilling a very deep hole in the ground.

That same wildcatter is still looking for oil today—they never quit—but his chances are 50-fold better than they were that he will get what he's after.

Wallace E. Pratt of New York, director and vice president of Standard Oil of New Jersey, explained the modern method of searching for oil while attending a meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, the Society of Economic Paleontologists and the Society of Exploration Geophysicists in convention here.

The prospector equips himself with a seismic instrument, some geo-phones and a dynamite charge, and sets out across the rolling hills.

He picks a spot, sets up the seismic recorder, scatters the attached geo-phones, something like the ordinary telephone receiver, over two counties and touches off the dynamite blast.

Reverberations penetrate the earth, from 10,000 to 20,000 feet, bounce back to the geo-phones and record on the seismic machine the density of earth layers.

Sometimes the instrument shows a good solid reflecting bed. If the record of the distances from the earth's surface to the bed indicates the bed is flat, that's bad. There's little chance that any oil is lying under it. But if the bed is arched a little, that's good. There might be oil bunched up under that dome.

The wildcatter stinks a drill into the dome with more confidence than ever before that he will get results.

War Program

that probably a shortage of steel plates was more responsible than slow downs for the lag in the shipbuilding phase of the war effort.

He said he doubted that on the whole a great percentage of the slow down was due to loafing, although the percentage might be high in an individual yard. But there is a shortage of steel plates all over the country, he asserted.

Mr. Roosevelt remarked that it must be remembered that both the maritime commission's program of building cargo vessels and the navy's program for constructing warships had been increased, resulting in a shortage of both steel shapes and plates.

To a question on whether priorities were delaying the shipbuilding efforts—he was informed of complaints that others were getting the steel which shipyards wanted—the chief executive remarked that of course anybody who does not get what he wants shouts about priorities. Something is being done, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, to increase the capacity of the steel industry, but he was unable to supply a definite figure on that. It takes about a year to build a new plant, he said.

Senior Girl Scouts Discuss Buying Uniforms For Group

Plans for purchasing uniforms were discussed by senior girl scouts led by Mrs. Dan Conley and Mrs. Schley Riley when the group met for its third session Thursday afternoon.

Girl scout rules were given and a winner contest followed the meeting. Guest sponsors attending were Mrs. P. W. Malone and Mrs. J. G. Garner.

Others attending were Mary Jane McClendon, Mary Lee Cook, Eva Jane Darby, Jo Ann Higginbotham, Merline Merwin, Dorothy Ann Sikes, Winnie Ruth Rogers, Billy Joyce Roberts, Catherine Redding, Jimmie Foy Rogers.

Discuss Education Of Children For Democracy's Defense

Sponsored by the Hyperion club, this week has been observed as Child Education for Democracy's Defense, in Big Spring with a committee composed of Mrs. E. E. Fahrenkamp, Mrs. William Tate and Mrs. Don Seale appearing before various women's clubs to speak.

Topics discussed included making children strong by protecting them from hunger and malnutrition, protecting them from insecure family life, poor schooling and lack of wholesome recreation. Also to protect them from child labor and harmful community influences.

Nine Questions For Registrants Monday

AUSTIN, April 24 (AP)—State selective service headquarters said today men in the 45 to 65-age bracket who will register Monday will be asked only nine questions: Name, residence address, mailing address, telephone number, age and birth date, birthplace, address of person who will always know registrant's address, employer's name and address and place of employment or business.

The registrants will not be subject to military service and object of the registration is solely to classify skills and aptitudes for war production activities.

School Officials Are Honored With Banquet By Homemaking Class

FORNSAN, April 24 (SpI)—Mrs. Robert Shipp, Jr., and her second year homemaking class entertained school officials and board members of the Forans, Elbow and Chalk schools with a banquet in the department this week.

Guests included P. D. Lewis, Mrs. I. O. Shaw, W. C. Mussel and G. L. Monroney of Forans, W. H. Vanlandingham, O. R. Dunlap and Ray Shortes of Elbow and Joe Holliday, J. B. McDonald and G. B. McVallen of Chalk.

Girls who prepared and served the banquet were Mary Louise Sheering, Laura Mae Willis, Mary Le Vera McLeod, Freddie Nell Oglesby, Voncill Sewell, Juanita Smith, Reba and Joyce Ratliff, Alta Mae Claxton, Mary Nell Stephen, Lolita Cleavenger.

Sex Maniac Is Arrested

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Some wept bitter tears, some became hysterical, some lashed out with their pocketbooks, but each of the 56 women who gazed at a giant-bodied man in a Brooklyn police station yesterday cried: "That's the man!"

On their identification, police booked Eugene Levine, 30-year-old, six-foot owner of an auto-wrecking business on charges of assault, robbery and attempted rape. Acting Captain James Dowell said Levine calmly insisted "I know I am sex crazy" and admitted he had attacked at least 88 women in the past four months.

For weeks 30 policemen and 100 policemen, some dressed as women, he thought had followed a practice of trailing lone women into Brooklyn apartment house self-service elevators. In each instance he attacked the woman after stopping the elevator between floors and threatening her with a screwdriver.

One woman's report that her assailant drove away in a car bearing a "V-Buy-Defense-Bonds" plate led to the arrest of Levine yesterday in his home while his wife waited "he couldn't have done anything wrong" and his 17-month-old daughter cried softly in her crib.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—The stock market continued under moderate pressure today and despite some late recovery efforts prices on average dipped to new nine-year lows with many leaders retreating fractions to around 2 points.

Tapering of selling accounted for the negligible comeback for the forenoon bottoms. The chemicals were weak. Transactions amounted to about 400,000 shares.

There were no new developments with which to associate the market's heaviness.

Tire Quota Boosted For Next Month

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The office of price administration announced today that a total of 638,985 new and recapped tires would be made available for rationing next month to passenger car owners.

The allotment compared with an April quota of about 572,000 tires.

The May quota, for the first time since rationing began, makes recapping certificates available to "list A" passenger cars and motorcycles. This is in line with provisions of a pending amendment to tire rationing regulations which will require that, after May 1, passenger cars eligible on "list A" must have their tires repaired if possible before being allowed to purchase new ones.

Eastern Gasoline Cut To Be 50 Pct.

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Government sources indicated today that gasoline consumption in the east and probably the Pacific northwest would be cut to 80 per cent of normal on May 1 by limiting supplies to filling stations.

This compares with the present curtailment of one-third.

Such an increased reduction, which might mean 60 per cent less gasoline for non-essential vehicles, would be effective for two weeks until May 15, when the rigid card rationing program becomes effective in the east by order of Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

Special Weeks Are Named By Governor

AUSTIN, April 24 (AP)—Governor Coke Stevenson today proclaimed May 8 to 9 National Employment Week and the week starting May 4 as National Restaurant Week.

Regarding Employment Week, the governor urged employers, citizens, civic and other organizations to make a special effort to have everyone who is possessed of skilled qualifications or who desires training for skilled or semi-skilled jobs in war industries to register with the U. S. employment office.

Mrs. Hasey Death Victim

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Hasey, 75, died Thursday afternoon in the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. W. Stutes, following an illness resulting from a fall when she fractured her hip.

Mrs. Hasey, who was born in Rusk county, July 2, 1866, moved to Big Spring from Midland 42 years ago.

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon from the Assembly of God church with the Rev. Homer Sheets in charge.

Survivors include one son, T. W. Hasey of Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Beatie Boyett, Midland, and Mrs. Stutes; 11 grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren, one great-great-grandson, and one sister, Mrs. W. C. Bowman, Willow, Okla.

Burial will be beside her husband who succumbed in 1910. Eberley Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

pallbearers will be Cecil Parker, N. J. Allison, Charles Benton, Herman Wilkerson, Jeff Pike and W. N. Wilkerson.

Plane Crash Kills Two Army Fliers

FORT WORTH, April 24 (AP)—The bodies of two army fliers killed yesterday in the crash of their plane five miles southeast of Burleson, were brought here today as army authorities made an investigation at the scene of the accident.

Victims of the crash were reported to be Lieut. Ben F. Slack, Jr., of Vinita, Okla., and Sgt. F. T. McLaughlin, Jr., whose home address was not available.

The bodies were taken to a funeral home, where efforts were being made to contact relatives.
