

Federal Oil Regulation Bill Introduced

Written by a group of the best newspapermen of Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

Peace

Mr. Roosevelt did not leap into world peace leadership. He was spurred to it. Congress and most people here were amazed by the suddenness of the step. They were not in on the confidential dispatches Mr. Roosevelt had been receiving from abroad.

You may have noticed his peace message did not ring with the usual Rooseveltian enthusiasm. The style was softened measurably for international consumption. There were several reasons. There was then time for Mr. Hitler to change his mind about blowing up Europe. Also the situation was so black it called for soft words.

That was the reason you saw the sweet note addressed to Moscow. Much was made of the fact that the note to Moscow was technical diplomatic recognition of the Reds. That may have fooled some people but not the Reds.

What caused all that rumpus in the bonus army was Louise Howe backed the wrong horse. The Presidential secretary started off doing business with the Communist leader Levin. Apparently Howe thought the Red was the boss and so did Levin.

Howe found the Right Wingers in the army felt hurt because he was playing with the Left Wing. They thought they were being socially snubbed. It was they and not the radicals who caused the trouble.

Do not be too hard on Mr. Roosevelt's leading economist, Prof. Moley, for writing syndicated newspaper articles on the side. Hotel dives drove him to it. He called the newsmen to his office one day this week and explained the situation to them.

Some persons around the state department who could not be called friends of Prof. Moley looked up the law about government officials taking outside employment. They found nothing for their trouble except a regulation stating no government official could take outside pay for the same work he did for the government.

AIRWAYS WEATHER MAPS RECEIVED HERE BY LATEST EQUIPMENT AT U. S. WEATHER BUREAU

Another unit of newly developed equipment has been installed at the Department of Agriculture weather bureau at the Big Spring airport. It consists of a full-page teletype which records symbols on daily airways weather maps of the central and western sections of the country, and a duplicating machine with which any number of copies of the maps may be made in a few moments.

A LOVE MATCH—WITHOUT ROMANCE

This is no budding romance, but rather an intermission in a tennis game at Palm Springs, Cal., between Janet Gaynor and Robert Montgomery of the films. (Associated Press Photo)

The airways weather report from each point is compiled by the Department of Commerce aeronautics branch and gathered in the three points of transmission by the Department of Agriculture weather bureau. The Department of Commerce transmits the maps to the various stations where teletype-writers are installed and the weather bureau at each point received and makes copies of the maps for use of fliers.

Forms are placed in the teletype as one would place a sheet of paper in typewriter. On the map forms are named of all points from which airways weather reports are received. The teletype records the symbols listed in the map legend on the form under the name of each town or city. When the map has been thus completely marked the sheet is taken from the machine and lines drawn as directed by dots typed by the machine to designate the lines of equal pressure.

The maps are kept in readiness for pilots. Each American Airways pilot takes a map with him as when he takes off from here on regular runs. The maps are available for all fliers. There are only three points in the country from which these maps are sent, Cleveland, Kansas City and Oakland, Calif. Maps are transmitted to Big Spring from Kansas City for the central section of the country at 3:27 a. m., 8:27 a. m., 11:27 a. m., 3:27 p. m., 8:27 p. m., and 11:27 p. m. Central Standard time. Maps are received here from Oakland for the western section at 12:27 a. m., 4:27 a. m., 12:27 p. m., and 4:27 p. m.

Invitations Sent For Feeders' Day Program To Be Held Friday, May 26 At Government Experiment Station

Results Of 180-Day Feeding Tests To Be Announced; Lunch To Be Served Visitors; Results Due To Be Valuable

The oil tax bill now on the governor's desk, with prospects growing stronger that she will sign it, would really mean a flat tax of ten per cent on the gross value of oil being produced in West Texas at this time.

The bill calls for a tax of two cents per barrel on oil produced from wells making 150 barrels or less per day. The prevailing market price for West Texas crude is 20 cents per barrel.

There may be less than half dozen wells in the Howard-Glasscock county field that are allowed to produce more than 150 barrels in a day, but it is doubtful.

The Howard-Glasscock county field is allowed under existing production rules to produce 14,000 barrels per day. Grant that the full allowable is being sold—and it is not—the total gross market value of the 14,000 barrels would be $3,200.

Letters to 150 secretaries of chambers of commerce, county agents, vocational teachers, ranchmen and farmers of this section have been mailed from the local chamber office urging attendance at the annual Feeders' Day program here May 26.

The program will begin at 10 a. m. with opening of four pens of cattle and hogs which will have just completed a 180-day feed test. Representatives from A & M College and the Fort Worth stock yards will assist in conducting the program. A judging contest and demonstration will be held at 11 a. m. in which boys of this section will compete.

Cattle and hogs have been fed on milo heads ground and ground and heads thrashed and ground and ground, together with cotton seed meal, red top fodder and limestone flour.

"The results are interesting," said C. T. Watson, chamber of commerce manager, "valuable and in a measure surprising." Lunch will be served visitors. A large number is expected here for the occasion.

Miss Claudine Shaw has as her house guest Miss Jessie Marie Harrell of Fort Worth.

Petitions Indicate Crude Tax Bill Might Be Passed Over Veto, Making 2-Cent Levy Effective Immediately

Oil companies' hopes of a gubernatorial veto of the Daniels oil tax bill producing Thursday, according to reports from Austin. An unusual situation had developed. It appeared that oil companies might profit more if the governor signed the bill than if she vetoed it.

Germany Accepts British Plan; French Reply Is That Army Will Be Kept Strong

French Senate Exempts Defense Budget From 5 Per Cent Cut

GENEVA (AP)—Germany accepted the British disarmament plan Friday as basis for an agreement to be reached by the world disarmament conference.

Rudolph Nadelin, the German delegate, informed the conference of the decision of his government, stating that "I hope this will be regarded as new proof of German moderation."

PARIS (AP)—Maintenance of a strong army was the French reply Friday to Chancellor Hitler of Germany.

Premier Daladier categorically rejected further cut in military expense, declaring in the senate Friday that the French army is strong and must be kept strong.

The premier's stand suddenly squelched talk of a meeting between him and Hitler.

The senate immediately exempted the defense budget from a five per cent additional cut.

Mother Of Mexican Boy Who Gave Life To Save His 'Kid' Brother, To Be Presented Message From National Scout Council

Almost a year ago Ramon Mendez made the supreme sacrifice. Tonight his mother, Mrs. Georgia Mendosa, is to be given a letter of condolence extended by the national council of Boy Scouts of America of which Daniel C. Beard is chairman.

Ramon lost his life in a staunch attempt to save a life that carried out the tenth Boy Scout law—a Scout is brave.

Like scores of other Mexican boys and girls, Ramon and his younger brother arose early one morning last summer and started toward the business district to gather food.

As they plodded across a board spanning a ditch which carried scalding hot water and acids from locomotive engines, the "kid" brother lost his balance, and splashed into the steaming liquid.

Ramon plunged in after him. He lifted his brother from the water and helped him up the side of the ditch. Then he crawled out of the ditch himself and helped take his brother home and summoned medical aid.

Although much of his body was literally cooked, Ramon stubbornly refused treatment until his brother had been administered medical assistance.

Not long afterward, in that dingy, darkened room, Ramon slipped away.

This evening his mother will be given cause to be all the more proud in the thought her son made so great a sacrifice. All local Boy Scout troops, except one that will be out of town, will gather at the Mexican ward school to witness presentation of the letter.

Efforts were made to procure for Mrs. Mendosa a medal memorializing bravery of her son, but this was barred because Ramon had saved a kinsman.

Mrs. Martin is survived by her husband, one son, Wayne, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles M. Cantrell, Kingville, Ohio, and Mrs. J. D. McColl of Norman, Oklahoma.

Friends of the family are requested not to send flowers.

NEW YORK—Johnny Allen, leading American league pitcher last year, made his 1933 debut for the Yankees Thursday and let the Detroit Tigers down with five hits to give the Yanks a 5-1 victory and a sweep of the two-game series.

Allen who was stricken with influenza during the training season and recovered slowly, fanned six, gave only two passes and seldom was in trouble. The only Detroit run came in the seventh when Earl Combs lost Ervin Fox's fly in the sun and it went for a triple.

Going into the ninth, it looked as if the A's big right-hander was due to register a shutout triumph, but an enemy hit and a pair of Athletic errors brought the Sox's one run across.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN

At Least a Truce

The question which has provoked the European political crisis was whether Germany would, for the present, refrain from insisting on realizing her claim to equality of armaments. By equality the Germans have meant specifically that French and Polish armaments must either be reduced to the German level or that Germany, by a general treaty or by an act of sovereign independence, would increase her own armaments. In principle the German claim to equality was recognized at Geneva in December. In fact there has been no advance toward legal equality. For on the one hand, the French have made no commitments that they would reduce to the German level; on the other hand, the British, the French, the Americans, and also, it appears, the Italians, have taken the position that Germany can not legally rearm while projects of disarmament are under discussion.

Whatever may have been the prospects of European disarmament a few months ago and they were certainly not brilliant, the Nazi revolution made them worse. The effect in France was to diminish whatever chance there had been that France would reduce her military power to the German level. The effect in Great Britain was to solidify opinion against agreeing to let Germany rearm. Thus there is a deadlock arising out of the fact that the former Allies were not likely to bring down their armaments and would not let Germany bring up hers. The realization of German equality was, therefore, indefinitely postponed, and the question put to the German Chancellor was whether he would openly declare that Germany would rearm or whether he would avert an immediate crisis by continuing to negotiate at Geneva.

It was in this situation that President Roosevelt intervened on Tuesday in his message to the heads of all governments. He proposed that the general principles of the MacDonald plan, which was offered last March, should be adopted as a basis for continuing the negotiations at Geneva. This proposal the German Chancellor has accepted. Thus it would appear that the immediate crisis has been surmounted. This Disarmament Conference is not disrupted, and the underlying problems are not brought immediately to a sharp issue.

That is about all there is to say, it seems to me, until the present policies of France and Britain are made clearer than they now are. The German government is willing to wait somewhat longer, how much longer no one can say. The British and the Americans are committed to the MacDonald plan. How much success they will have in getting it adopted remains to be seen. A solution of the underlying conflict is not in sight, but a truce, however temporary and precarious, seems to have been achieved.

Even that much will be regarded by the American people as a distinct gain. For any arrangement which does not finally foreclose a Thursday, 4-5, their first victory of the three-game series. Earl Whitehill, Washington pitcher, contributed to his own defeat. In the tenth inning with one out, he threw wildly to first base after picking up Burnett's roller. The latter went on to second and scored on a single by Morgan.

Oral Hildebrand kept intact a record of six victories without a defeat this season.

CINCINNATI—For the second time this season Elias Johnson shut out the Boston Braves with only one hit, and the Cincinnati Reds won Thursday, 1-0.

Only Jordan of the Braves was able to scratch a hit off the veteran in nine fast innings. His was a single. Meanwhile, the Reds wrested the margin of victory from Frankhouse when Hafey tripled in the seventh—the only extra base hit of the game—and scored on a single by Moore.

It was Johnson's third 1 to 0 victory in as many weeks, the Chicago Cubs having been his victims as well as the Braves.

CHICAGO—The Cubs officially hoisted the 1932 National league pennant between halves of Thursday's double header after losing a 3 to 0 shutout in the opener, then went out and battled away a five game losing streak to win the second game 10 to 1.

Hal Schumacher, young New York right hander, hung up his fourth victory of the season as he pitched a brilliant shutout in the first game. He gave only six hits, whiffed four and was aided by some flashy fielding the only times he got into trouble.

peaceable solution is to be desired, most particularly since the one best hope available to the whole world is that relief from the miseries of the universal depression will relax the tension everywhere, calm the passions of men, and enable them to reflect before they do mad and fatal things.

Put more SUNSHINE days on your calendar

How many days in the month do you feel your best? You can add to these sunshine days by simply obeying nature's laws.

The first of these laws is regular elimination. Avoid common constipation by eating a delicious cereal.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help aid regularity. ALL-BRAN also contains twice the iron of an equal weight of beef liver.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much more pleasant than pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. Directions on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Income Tax Bill Killed

Senate Committee Votes Unanimously Against Measure

AUSTIN—The Texas senate state affairs committee Thursday night killed a house bill to levy a state income tax. The vote was 9 to 0. Senators present and voting against the income tax were: W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales, Walter Woodul of Houston, T. J. Holtbrook of Galveston, Will M. Martin of Hillsboro, Joe M. Moore of Greenville, Archie Parr of Benewide, Nat Patton of Crockett, K. M. Regan of Pecos and Clint C. Small of Amarillo.

No Debate
 Holtbrook made a motion to report the bill adversely and Moore seconded it. There was no debate. The public hearing on the proposal was concluded Tuesday night. The bill was introduced by Representative Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, who had contended an income levy would tax only those who were able to pay and that additional revenue was needed to balance the budget.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson sent a message to the legislature yesterday stating a tremendous deficit was in prospect and urging the legislature to remain in session until it balanced the budget. The house passed the measure several weeks ago. Opponents contended additional revenue was unnecessary and that an income tax would hurt business and increase unemployment. They asserted the federal government had preempted the income tax field and was using it to the limit.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Primus were to leave Waco Friday for their home here. They have been there three weeks, while Mr. Primus was doing some special work in the auditing department of Wm. Cameron & Co., Inc.

Miss Ruby Barnett spent Thursday in Lamesa.

Love Scenes Prohibit Body Odor Permit No M. S. Either!

New way discovered to end body odor at its source. Stale perspiration curds now reached by deep-pore cleansing and instantly removed!

Body-odor can kill romance. So can highly scented soaps that betray their purpose! A new and better way to prevent offense is by deep-pore cleansing. Here is why:

Every specialist knows that objectionable body odor does not come from fresh perspiration but from stale perspiration deep in the pores. Stale perspiration contains calcium, salt and particles of fat. The thick and sticky lather of most ordinary toilet soaps is unsuited chemically to mix with this waste material and disperse it. Instead, it hardens into clogging curds!

That's why deep-pore cleansing is needed to remove the objectionable curds—and it is a scientific fact that there is only one way to accomplish this: Kirk's Coco Castile—being a 100% pure vegetable oil soap—mixes with the particles of perspiration curds, loosens them, then rinses out completely. Thus it ends the cause of body odor instantly. Ordinary toilet soaps—even though laden with offensive M. S. (medicine smell)—can merely hide the body odor; they cannot end it.

Try Kirk's Coco Castile today. Feel the invigorating effect of its deep-pore cleansing action. Experience the thrill of a clean, odorless body. The cake is half again larger, half again heavier than average toilet soaps—an exceptional bargain. Be sure to ask for Kirk's by name.

DARLING FOOL

By STEEL BELLETT

CHAPTER XV

Sandra Lawrence was giving a party. Not the ordinary sort of Belvedere party but a very special one, with caterers from the city, flowers from the same place and an orchestra reputed to have come all the way from Chicago! Mrs. Jeterman, grumbling below-stairs about the "goings-on", was nevertheless enjoying herself hugely, bumping into caterer's men with their tulle tables and their white coats, bustling Hetty.

"Why'n't she have her parties at the club? That's what I want to know!" Hetty complained, polishing silver. "Forty people to supper—it's fierce, that's what it is!"

The cook immediately took up the cudgels of her employer.

"Hain't the young lady a right to do as she pleases in her own house? What's it to you, anyway? You'll have your afternoon tea, same as always. You've got no kick coming."

"Not answering the bell in that gray outfit and tending to the ladies' things," whined Hetty, "when I oughta be off having a good time for myself. She's just a pain—that's what she is, giving herself airs like nobody in town."

"You get along upstairs in plenty of time to make yourself neat, miss," warned Mrs. Jeterman, now flamed by the reference to the new uniform of fashista with a musical comedy apron and frilled cap.

"Who's all coming?" Hetty wanted to know, interrupting.

"The cream of the place," said the older woman with relish. "Judge Martindale's two, and the Maids, the Simmonses and Watermans and Olivars—and the Cardigans, of course. And 10 young folks from the city, coming by the 6 o'clock. James'd better not forget to meet them."

"Mister Cardigan, I'll bet, is invited," Hetty opined, giving a vicious rub to a fruit bowl encrusted with ornamentation.

"Of course. And his sister, Miss Geraldine. That new Mr. Eastland—"

"You saw the list," Hetty broke in, eyes glittering with a true gossip's relish. "How about that pretty O'Dare girl?"

Mrs. Jeterman shook her head. "Not her. This is for real swell, didn't I tell you? The O'Dares are nice enough, but poor as church mice."

"Her ladyship head her 'round the house plenty all last winter," Hetty said coldly. "If you ask me, she's better than the lot of them. She knows a person when you meet her on the street. She ain't afraid to say 'good morning' like a Christian when you see her."

Mrs. Jeterman's manner became slightly misty. On all matters of social precedence in Belvedere she, having been general of the Lawrence household affairs for many years, felt herself eminently qualified to speak.

"Nice enough, as I said, but her station in life is quite different from the rest of those people. My mother always said to me, 'Nannie,' she said, 'always keep to your own station in life. And I did. It's better so.'

Hetty sniffed. "This is a free country," she contributed negligently. Then she wheeled, frowning deeply, as a masculine voice called her name.

"Jimmy, I didn't expect you back so soon!"

The big, grinning young man in chauffeur's uniform lounged in the doorway.

"Thought I'd keep my eye on you girls' so's you wouldn't get into mischief. How's things going?"

Hetty said virtuously. "We've been working like slaves all day. Be glad when this is over."

"Gonna be swell music," the young chauffeur said, jerking his head in the direction of the sun-parlor, whither the grand piano had already been conveyed. This room, too, was banked with all manner of flowering trees, roses in tubs and the like. The drawing room and the library beyond had been cleared for action. Rugs had been rolled up, highly polished floors given an extra gleam, furniture pushed back. In the dining room which had an oval glassed-in breakfast room beyond, the caterer's men were madly busy. A hum of activity, tangible as the whirr of bees, pervaded everything.

Sandra Lawrence, fresh and trim in white linen riding things, now came briskly down the stairs, surveying the scene.

"Everything's going well," she said, with a nod to her retinue.

"James, you'll bring those people up from the 6 o'clock. Then, Mrs. Eastland, they'll change—the rooms look very nice—and we go on to the club for dinner. We'll be back by 9:30. I don't expect anyone until 10, really, for the dancing, but it's just as well to be safe. I've borrowed Mr. Eastland's man, Kong, to do the cocktails. Show him where everything is. He'll be here before 1—"

And she was gone, leaving behind her a faint, delicate scent. Everything, Sandra did well done. She was cool, competent, correct. At 22, she had the poise of a matron twice her age. She loved this sort of thing—the whirr and scurry of a big party. It was the very breath of life to her. Ever since her return from Europe the last time, she had complained bitterly to her father of the dullness—in Belvedere. Now, in mid-July, she

"Match, miss?"

"Yes, please very much." She flipped a cigaret from her plaid case and stuck it into a corner of her mouth. The young man came close, holding the flame for her, cupping it with infinite care with one brown hand. Sandra felt his nearness—a little tingle went down her spine. She inhaled deeply. This wouldn't do. She would have to show James his place. Just be-

House Favors Sum To Pay Warrants On Rural Aid Funds

AUSTIN (UP)—The Texas house Thursday passed with minor amendments, a senate bill to appropriate $1,815,273 to pay deficiency warrants issued against the rural school aid fund.

Protest against the bill was made by Representative Harold Kayton of San Antonio, who said it should not be passed because officials had exceeded their authority in contracting against the fund. The legislature two years ago appropriated $5,000,000 for rural aid and the deficiency represented obligations incurred in excess of this figure.

A rider was placed on the rural aid appropriation bill for the next biennium that would prohibit officials from exceeding the amount of the appropriation.

The house also passed a senate bill making an appropriation to cover the comptroller's judiciary deficiency. The appropriation was approximately $275,000.

A free conference committee was appointed to adjust differences between house and senate bills appropriating funds for 1933 summer schools at state colleges. The house bill was 50 per cent lower than the senate's.

W. F. Cowden To Be Buried

Rites For Widely-Known Midland Ranchman Set For Friday

MIDLAND.—Funeral services for W. F. Cowden, 74, one of the most widely known and colorful ranchmen of West Texas, who died at his residence here Thursday at 6:15 a. m., will be held Friday afternoon at the Baptist church, Rev. Winston F. Borum officiating, with burial in the Midland cemetery. He had been ill more than a year.

Mr. Cowden was born Oct. 4, 1859, in a log cabin 20 miles south of Palo Pinto. He was the oldest of a large family of children. He attended a rural school near the scene of his birth, walking six miles to the school after helping with chores at home. It was his custom to get up before daylight to milk the cows, more than once finding it necessary to extract Indian arrows from the animals.

Mr. Cowden had other brushes with the Indians. Once on a trip to Dallas with his father to secure lumber their oxwagon was attacked by Indians who were driven off after a brief exchange of bullets.

In 1888 Mr. Cowden left Palo Pinto for oxwagon for a location south of Monahan in Ward county. Later he returned for his wife and three small children, taking them to their new home on the western frontier. Three years later he sold his Ward county holdings and moved to New Mexico, settling near Carlsbad. Four years afterwards he sold his holdings there for $14,000 and moved to this city. It was then he acquired 2,000 head of cattle, later disposing of them at a profit. With a portion of the proceeds of this transaction, Mr. Cowden bought the ranch he owned when he died, from which he made a comfortable fortune.

Among his holdings was a ranch in Ector county upon which he had placed a large herd of cattle.

Mr. Cowden was one of the few surviving old-time members of the famous Cowden family.

Besides his wife, who was his second wife, Mr. Cowden is survived by the following children: Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer, Mrs. J. O. Nobles, Mrs. B. H. Blankley, Mrs. Homer W. Rowe, Mrs. E. C. Gridley, Mrs. Clifford Hill, Ellis and Frank Cowden of Midland, and Mrs. Whit Stafford of Dallas, Walter and Jeff Cowden of this city are his brothers, and Mrs. I. H. Harry Bell of El Paso a sister.

Attorneys Chip In To Pay Man's Fine

DALLAS (UP)—Clifford Dickerson asked Judge William H. Atwell for a little time to raise money for a fine imposed against him for a liquor law violation. He said he was penniless, that his wife, an expectant mother, was alone and ill. The judge set a period of grace. Dickerson returned with $2, not enough for the fine. Attorneys in the courtroom chipped in to raise the amount.

The house also passed a senate bill making an appropriation to cover the comptroller's judiciary deficiency. The appropriation was approximately $275,000.

A free conference committee was appointed to adjust differences between house and senate bills appropriating funds for 1933 summer schools at state colleges. The house bill was 50 per cent lower than the senate's.

Beer Brings Nine Millions Into Government Coffers In April

Tax In Effect 23 Days Of Month; Income From Levies On Gasoline, Bank Checks, Electrical Energy, Telephone And Telegraph Messages Drops

WASHINGTON (UP)—Legalized beer added $9,139,887 to the government's revenue in April when nearly every other important form of taxation showed decreases from the previous month.

Collections from the $5 a barrel tax on beer brought the government $5,259,052, while the license fees of retail and wholesale dealers in the 3.2 beverage added $3,889,811 and the tax on 3.2 wine beverage amounted to $324.

While the tax on beer was only for twenty-three days after it became legal, if the sales continued at the same rate the collections in a year would amount to only about $135,000,000 and under some estimates of how much revenue the government would receive from this source.

While the beer tax added more than $9,000,000 to the taxes collected for the month the grand total was approximately $133,000,000 less than in March when $176,000,000 was collected in income taxes. The total, however, was $34,000,000 more than collected in April of last year when the new levies in the $1,000,000,000 tax bill were enacted by Congress.

Other taxes showed unexpected reactions to the business increase due chiefly to the fact that most of the collections while reported for April actually were taxes assessed in March and not turned over to the government by banks and dealers until the end of April.

The tax on gasoline dropped from $10,547,165 in March to $7,982,100 in April, on electrical energy from $3,206,477 to $2,862,273, on telegraph and telephone messages from $2,151,594 to $1,247,305, while the tax on bank checks decreased from $2,945,935 in March to $2,732,193 in April.

Increased market activity, however, was reflected in taxes on trading, stock transfers and capital stock issues. The government took in $1,075,961 on bonds, capital stock issues and conveyances, as compared to $1,028,719 the previous month and $1,525,961 on stock transfers, as compared with $1,462,663 in March. Future delivery returned tax of $229,423, as compared with $149,785.

The tobacco tax showed increased sales. Cigarettes paid $239,210,84, as compared with $23,923,646 the previous month, but cigars showed $50,000 increase to a total of $812,923, snuff an increase of $147,000 to $619,000 and manufactured tobacco an increase of $85,000 to $4,574,056. The total tobacco tax of $29,992,666 was $1,135,683 more than collected in April of last year.

In the automobile bracket, tires and tubes tax increased $340,000 to $1,410,000, automobiles and motorcycles $108,000 to $1,714,000, automobile parts and accessories $26,000 to $308,984 and trucks $11,000 to $150,996.

Lubricating oils were off $124,000 to $1,246,000, while candy tax increased from $292,027 in March to $377,491 in April and the pipe line tax dropped from $841,657 to $860,664.

The remainder, and Dickerson went home a free man.

Gulf Opening Ad Program On Gulfpride Gas

Here's one of the most remarkable stories, as well as one that is of special interest to all the people of Texas. Three years ago the Gulf Refining Company engineers made a discovery of revolutionary importance to the oil industry. A discovery so advanced, so significant, that it made possible a finer, longer-lived motor oil than the industry had ever seen.

This discovery was an utterly new refining process—the now-famous Alchor Process, exclusive with Gulf. The oil made by it is called Gulfpride.

At first it was possible to produce only limited quantities of this new and remarkable oil. But so amazingly outstanding was its quality that—utterly without advertising and publicity—its fame spread throughout the United States and all foreign nations. It came into universal demand wherever the finest motor lubrication was sought.

Gulfpride has now proved itself beyond question the finest motor oil in the world. This oil is manufactured in the Gulf Refinery in Port Arthur, Texas. It has established seventeen world's records! It has surpassed every set of specifications ever issued for a motor oil, including U. S. Army, U. S. Navy and British Government.

Gulfpride is now in demand in all corners of the earth and shipped to all points from Port Arthur, Texas, where it is manufactured.

The current extensive advertising campaign of the Gulf Refining Company now appearing in Texas newspapers is "recessing this oil and, too, the fact that Gulf stations sell three grades of oil and gasoline at three different prices, ranging from the buying power of the motorist who wants a low priced gasoline or oil, but wants the most possible value for the money, to the motorist who wants the very best regardless of cost.

Will Rogers can be heard on the air every Sunday evening on the Gulf Refining Company radio program at 7:00 p. m. and Irvin S. Cobb on Wednesday and Friday evenings at the same hour. A weekly comic paper is distributed free at all Gulf stations.

Reagan County Test Has Water; To Be Abandoned

As the result of encountering sulphur water in the Permian lime from 3,012 to 3,021 feet the total depth, Noel T. Lawson and Wahlgren Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 Duwain E. Hughes, Reagan County wildcat, two and a half miles northeast of Stiles, will be plugged and abandoned. The water rose 200 feet in 10 hours.

Richmond Drilling Co. of Texas and Fort Worth, contractor, drilled the test in 28 days and six hours, thought to be a record for a Reagan completion. Percy Bosworth of Texas, member of the firm was in charge of the crew. Scott Foster and Jack Cain were drillers and Herbert (Casey) Jones and Bun Stanley were tool dressers. No. 1 Hughes was spudded April 14 and shut down to complete rigging up. The time of 28 days and six hours dated from the time drilling was resumed after rigging up was completed. Fifteen hours were spent in fishing for tools at 2,710 feet. Six hundred and fifty feet of 10-inch casing and 1,100 feet of 8 1/4-inch pipe was run.

No. 1 Hughes is 1,980 feet from the south and east lines of section 23, block F, C&M Ry. survey, on acreage secured from the Texas Co. Elevation is 2,567 feet and the lime was topped at 2,695 feet.

How CARDUI Helped Weak, Nervous Woman

"I was nervous and weak and my back hurt," writes Mrs. Emma Nichols, of Murrensboro, Tenn. "I could hardly rest. I had a nervous, weak trembling in the lower part of my body, and a bearing-down feeling. I had read of Cardui and decided to take it. After my first bottle, I felt better and kept taking it. It helped me. I took three bottles, and by then I was much improved and rid of the nervousness, so much so that I have recommended Cardui to my daughters and friends. I think it is a splendid medicine to build up the whole system."

Rogation Day To Be Observed By Episcopalians

St. Mary's Episcopal church will observe Rogation Day at the Sunday service, in common with all other churches of this denomination who will meet Sunday to ask the blessings of the Almighty on the labors of the farmer and the agriculturist.

The Rt. Rev. Cecil C. Seaman, of Amarillo, bishop of this diocese, will conduct the local services at 11 o'clock.

Concerning Rogation Day, the Rev. W. H. Martin, vicar of the local church, tells its history as follows: "About the year 470 A. D. there was a series of earthquakes on the borders of the Auvergne Mountains, which continued for about a year. Shock followed shock. About that time the fear of the hordes of barbarians was spreading in Europe; famine and pestilence was in every land. "The town of Vienna in the valley of the Rhone river suffered severely from these continued earthquakes. An unusually severe shock on the day before Easter caused the church to sway and to totter.

"The people who were worshipping there in preparation for Easter day rushed out of the church leaving the bishop, Mannertus, alone before the altar. There while still on his knees, Mannertus determined that the three days before Ascension day should be devoted to special prayers for God's mercy and especially for the renewal of crops and harvest on the desolate farms.

"The sad-faced stricken people went forth with their bishop into the fields chanting the petition of their litany. The bishop led in the prayer for reasonable weather and fruitful harvests.

"The name of the Sunday before, is Rogation Sunday in the Church of England, and in the Episcopal Book of Common Prayer. The three days before Ascension Day are called Rogation Days because they are the Asking Days.

"The litany, or chants that are sung by the procession, was arranged by Archbishop Cranmer, the first Protestant Archbishop of Canterbury, who was burned at the stake by the order of Queen Mary Second.

"Cranmer arranged the litany, using parts of a Latin litany, part of a litany by Martin Luther, and some prayers that were written and used by Saint John Chrysostom, Bishop of Constantinople, who lived in the fourth century."
