Colebank, Howard, Glass and Lynch Elected Trustees

TRUSTEES ELECTED SATURDAY

151 Voters Express Choice at Polls Saturday

George Colebank, J. S. Howard, J. E. Glass and J. E. Lynch were elected trustees at the election held last Saturday, when 151 voters expressed their choice. There were 10 mutilated ballots. The ballot contained more names than any previous ballot for school trustees, but several suggested candidates were left off the ticket on account of refusing to allow their names to be used. However, in Mr. Howard's case, friends immediately got busy Saturday morning when they learned his name was on the printed ballot, and voters wrote his name in for other men's names were written by friends.

Mrs. L. V. Lonsdale's name was as the only woman on the ballot, all others refusing to allow their names to be used; but as Mrs. Lonsdale was out of town when the ballots were printed, friends insisted that her name be placed on the ballot, and she was given a nice vote.

Three of the successful candidates are new to the board. Mr. Howard has been president of the board for several years. Jesse J. Cobb, H. W. Hicks and John Mertel are hold-over members.

Following is the vote in detail: Colebank 76, J. S. Howard 72, R. Glass 55, J. E. Lynch 52, Sam Hodges 51, W. T. Wilson, 51, A. Christian 51, B. F. Gray 46, A. L. Eber 41, Mrs. L. V. Lonsdale 36, Reep Landers 33, H. C. Brooks 1, J. Cobb 1, E. J. Lander 1.

SCHOOL PLAY PLEASURES LARGE AUDIENCE

A large audience enjoyed the junior play, "The Ghost Walks," at the high school auditorium Friday evening. Music was furnished by the high school band, and a reading was given by Miss Oleta Holloway. Prof. R. C. Hammock made the announcements, and the play was under the direction of Prof. Hammock and Miss Hugos. Those taking part in the play were: Estelle Bain, Irene McCoy, Harlie Mae Carpenter, Geneva Corn, Odessa Kunkel and Fern Landers; Messrs. Fred Durhan, James Burves, Ralph Caldwell and Marvin Gardner.

SUPERVISOR EXPECTS ALL TO BE ENUMERATED

Anyone who is missed by the local census enumerators is requested to communicate with the Supervisor of Census, 330 Federal Building, Amarillo, stating their address on April 10, 1930, and that to the best of their knowledge have not been enumerated here or anywhere else. Enumerators are making an effort to include everyone in the census, and all co-operation is requested from all.

COBB'S VARIETY STORE IMPROVING BUILDING

Cobb's Variety Store is being enlarged by extending the building to the alley line, adding 35 by 25 feet of floor space. The front of the building is to be changed with new show windows, and the interior improved. The building is owned by S. O. Cook of Dallas.

Mrs. L. V. Lonsdale, president of the McLean Parent-Teacher Association and extension chairman for Gray county, attended the seventh annual conference of the 8th district Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, in Childress last week.

Lions Spelling Bee Date Moved up to April 26

The spelling bee sponsored by the Lions Club has been moved up to Saturday April 26, in place of the date recently announced. Dr. Tampke, chairman of the spelling committee, announced the change in date, at the regular luncheon held at the Meador Cafe Tuesday. Dr. Tampke also reported the very satisfactory results of his boys' judging teams at the Plainview Dairy Show.

On account of several members having to leave at 1 o'clock, the talk on highway rules to be given by Rev. B. W. Wilkins was postponed until next meeting.

The sign committee reported all work done and was discharged. A motion was made to fine the tail twister for saying the signs were not on the right side of the road, if they are found to be so placed. Quite a bit of discussion was had, but on vote the motion carried.

The no-drop committee was asked to see all former members who have expressed a desire to join the club, and it was ordered that they be reinstated upon paying two months' dues, one month of which to be the past month.

M. E. Gill of The McLean News, and Dr. Will, associated with Dr. Coleman, were presented by Lion Tamer Bentley as visitors of the day.

Those present, besides the visitors, were: Boyd Meador, M. D. Bentley, Dr. Coleman, W. E. Bogart, S. M. Hodges, B. W. Wilkins, T. W. Gilstrap, Reep Landers, Sherman White, A. A. Tampke, A. F. Smith and T. A. Landers.

EIGHTH DISTRICT P. T. A. CONFERENCE

"Worthy Home Membership through Parent Education" was the theme of the seventh annual conference of the Eighth District Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations which was held in Childress April 2, 3 and 4.

In spirit of harmony, attendance, program and accomplishments, this was one of the most successful meetings in the history of the eighth district. Twenty-two officials, 209 voting delegates and many visitors were in attendance.

Among the speakers were: Mrs. Stephen Chamness, state executive secretary; Mrs. T. V. Reeves, public service bureau, Canyon College; Frank Creighton, director Boy Scouts, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Will Berton, past 1st vice president state American Legion auxiliary; Dean C. Dutton, director nation-wide citizenship building campaign; Mrs. J. E. Griggs, 4th vice president of state; and Mrs. Emanuel Foomir, state chairman humane education.

Each of the six divisions of work had a definite place on the program and a few of the subjects discussed were "Significance of Extra Curricular Activities in the School," "Recreation," "The Significance of the Parent-Teacher Movement," and "Humane Education."

Over 125 associations and all district officers gave reports of the past year's accomplishments. There are in the eighth district 424 schools and 332 Parent-Teacher Associations.

REV. HYDE OF PAMPA TO PREACH HERE

Rev. A. A. Hyde, pastor of the Pampa Presbyterian church, will be here with his choir Sunday evening and have charge of the services at the local Presbyterian church, returning a visit of the McLean Presbyterians to the Pampa church a few Sundays ago.

METHODIST MEETING

A series of meetings will be held at the First Methodist church each evening next week, full program appearing on another page.

Smith-Ashe Morse Oil Well a Producer

The Smith-Ashe oil well on the J. S. Morse lands, 10 miles north of McLean, located in the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of section 3, Roxana lease, came in this week by flowing naturally from the hole. It was shut down to wait for the pipe line that is just across the river, with the hole now standing full of 46 gravity oil, which is an unusually high gravity oil for this area.

The owners are unable to guess just how much this well will make per day until it is put on the pipe line, as they had no storage facilities and had to shut down as soon as possible, but it is known that it will be a paying producer.

AMERICAN LEGION ENTERTAINS AUXILIARY

By A. A. Tampke
The Andrew H. Floyd Post No. 315 American Legion met Tuesday night and a full report was made of what the post has done the past two months.

Buddy Gilstrap was installed as vice commander by Mr. Pearson of Pampa. There were about a half dozen buddies from Pampa. Several made interesting talks.

The Legion voted to pay the cost of the auxiliary's charter, which they felt merely their obligation to their wives.

A donation was asked from all present to send a bouquet of flowers to Wood Hindman, an ex-service buddy, who is very sick in an Amarillo hospital.

After the meeting adjourned, the Legion served refreshments. This was a very enjoyable occasion for all, and especially was it a treat for the ladies to see the men fit in so well as cooks and waiters, all of which they probably learned as K. P's. in the army.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY ORGANIZED

A number of ladies met in the basement of the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening and organized an American Legion auxiliary. Mrs. De Cordova of Pampa, second state vice president, and Mrs. Pearson of the Pampa auxiliary had charge of the organization.

After reading the preamble of the constitution, a song and salute to the flag, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. B. N. Henry; 1st vice president, Mrs. E. E. Dishman; 2nd vice president, Mrs. J. Weldon; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. L. V. Lonsdale; historian, Mrs. M. W. Perry; chaplain, Mrs. A. A. Tampke; sergeant at arms, Miss Mae Wehba. Mrs. Henry took charge of the meeting and appointed Mrs. C. S. Doolen and Mrs. Homer Abbott membership committee.

After the business was finished, a joint social meeting was held of the Legion and auxiliary. Refreshments were served by the Legion. Quite a number from Pampa were present.

Meetings will be held every second and fourth Tuesday evenings, same as the Legion. All ladies who are eligible for membership are urged to join.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

Miss Myrtle Miller, Gray county home demonstrator, met with the members of the Woman's Home Demonstration Club last week at the home of Mrs. S. W. Rice, with 34 present.

A splendid program on spring gardening was carried out, also a valuable lesson by Miss Miller on vegetables and their food values.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. S. White, April 18.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Newton of Dodsonville were guests of their daughter, Mrs. Sam Hodges, and family last week.

FUNERAL SERVICES MRS. HUDZEITZ SATURDAY

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist church Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Floye Hudzeitz, who died April 4, 1930, aged 34 years and 26 days.

Services were conducted by Rev. B. W. Wilkins, pastor of the First Methodist church, using as a subject the ten virgins mentioned in the scripture, and comparing the deceased with the wise virgins who made proper preparation, and closing with the statement that when the bridegroom appeared for her

"There fell upon the house sudden gloom,
A shadow on those features fair and thin;
And softly from that hushed and darkened room
Two angels issued, where but one came in."

"And when the sun in all his state
Illumined the Eastern skies,
She passed through Morning's glory gate
And walked in Paradise."

Mrs. Hudzeitz was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Glass, and left, besides her parents, a small daughter, eight brothers, two sisters other relatives and a host of friends to mourn her passing.

Active pallbearers were L. F. Coffey, E. L. Sitter, Everett Watkins, Floyd Phillips, Perry Everett and Sammie Cubine.

Interment was made in Hillcrest cemetery immediately following the funeral ceremony.

MCLEAN WINS PLAY-GROUND TOURNAMENT

McLean junior high school boys won the county playground ball tournament when they defeated the fast Pampa team at Lefors last Saturday with a score of 8 to 7. The McLean team had previously defeated the Grandview team 32 to 3, and the Lefors team 13 to 9.

LOCAL P. T. A. REPORT

The year just drawing to a close has been one of the most successful in the history of the McLean Parent-Teacher Association. There are 116 members, an increase of more than 100% over last year.

A number of interesting and instructive programs have been given during the year. A few of the programs were: "The Wise Use of Leisure," "Back to the Home Movement," and "Patriotism."

At the beginning of the school year, every child entering school for the first time was given a thorough physical examination; the local doctors and dentist giving their services free of charge. The association made it possible for several children to remain in school by furnishing clothing, hot lunches and school supplies.

A series of entertainments have been given, among them being "The Treasure Chest," "Halloween Festival," and the play, "Sunshine," earning something over $400, which has gone into the school.

Among the things purchased are: two Victrolas, one for the primary and one for the intermediate department; music memory records, three sets of rhythm band instruments, hectograph, books, scales, athletic equipment. At the beginning of the year the Parent-Teacher Association was in debt $40. They are now out of debt with a balance in the treasury of $65.

At the regular meeting held at the grade school this (Thursday) afternoon, officers for the coming year were elected. The nominating committee was composed of Mrs. Geo. Colebank, Mrs. E. C. Will, Mrs. H. W. Finley, Miss Jewell Cousins and Miss McCaskill.

Roy Sherrod of Alanreed was a McLean visitor Friday.

Miss Marie Watt visited in Lefors Sunday.

County Finances Better Condition; Back to Normal

According to the quarterly report of the county auditor, Gray county finances are in better shape than they have been for several years, not an overdraft being shown in any of the various funds.

An overdraft existed in the general fund January 1, 1930, and the receipts since have aggregated $42,200.98, disbursements $15,409.35, leaving a balance March 31st of $13,264.35.

The status of road bond fund in Precinct 4 was given as follows: Receipts, accrued interest $810.63, depository interest $35.74; disbursements, bridge work $19, labor $12, lumber $58.40, expense to Austin $60.30, cost in suit $69.05; balance Jan. 1 $4,684.44; receipts $846.37, disbursements $218.75; balance March 31, $5,312.06. The balance March 31 in bond No. 2 interest and sinking fund was $30,689.61. Balance in bond No. 4, interest and sinking fund, March 31, was $7,252.64.

4-H BOY WINS 2ND PLACE

Racy Morse High Point Boy at Plainview

Racy Morse won second place in Jersey judging at the Plainview Dairy Show this week, receiving $5.00 in cash and a ribbon.

The McLean team was defeated for first place by only 65 points. One member of the team, Ed Howard, could not attend the show, and Earl Breeding was substituted, and although he had never been in such a contest, he gave a good account of himself. Other members of the team, other than those mentioned, were Lavelle Christian and Arthur Ivey.

An error was discovered Monday in the Lubbock team records, whereby it appears that McLean won the Texas Tech dairy cup by a margin of 44 points. The McLean boys had already been declared sweepstakes winners, and the cup, which was won last year also, will become the permanent property of the school without ever having been in any other team's hands, when it is won next year, as is confidently expected. The McLean team also won first in Holsteins, which was through error given to another team, according to Dr. A. A. Tampke, vocational instructor of McLean high school.

The livestock team will receive a free trip to the Kansas City Royal Livestock Show in November, courtesy of the R. I. railroad, provided they beat Stratford and Dalhart at the A. & M. College. The McLean boys have already beaten these teams at Lubbock. This trip was fairly won last year, but due to the state supervisor failing to recognize McLean's position as being on the Rock Island, gave the Stratford boys the trip.

LIIONS SPELLING BEE RULES

1. Eligibility.
a. The 1930 interscholastic league general eligibility rules will be used, except that the scholarship requirement clause shall be eliminated.

2. Classification.
a. Sub-junior. Any pupil who was under 10 years of age Sept. 1, 1929.
b. Junior. Any pupil who was under 15 years of age Sept. 1, 1929.
c. Senior. Any pupil who was under 20 years of age Sept. 1, 1929.
d. There shall be no separate classification of school. All schools will compete for one prize.

3. Number of contestants.
a. Each school shall be permitted to enter 5 contestants in each class. Note: To be eligible for the cup there must be at least 2 entrants in each class (namely, 6 pupils from each school).

4. Sources.
a. The words for the spelling contest shall be taken from a list furnished by the league. Classified respectively as the junior list, senior list and sub-junior. (The Lions Club will furnish each school a list upon request).

5. Deciding the winner.
a. The highest total score of the six competitors of each school will determine the winning team.
b. The two highest scores of each class from each school will be the only scores recorded for competition. Note: If one school has 5 entries in sub-junior spelling, only the two highest papers will be used. The same method will be used in junior and senior.

6. The director of the contest shall use the same methods as are used in the interscholastic league spelling contest with reference to pronouncing, time used, selection of columns of words to be used, and grading papers.

7. Materials for contest.
a. Each entrant shall be required to furnish theme paper and pencil, or pen and ink.
Comment: The director will instruct pupils before contest.

In case of a tie, neatness of papers will be deciding factors.
The Lions Club cup will become the permanent property of the school that wins it three consecutive times.

8. Schools eligible.
a. All schools within McLean trade territory, or which were invited, may participate.
b. Any school may enter a team of 2 in any class, two classes, or all three classes and be eligible for individual honors, or for awards offered for winners in each respective class. But the school must have a full team of 6 for eligibility for the cup. Note: If the school has only a sub-junior and junior team, they may be entered.

9. Dr. C. B. Betson attended the medical association in Amarillo Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Montgomery attended the Medical Association in Amarillo Wednesday.

HAS AN ADVANTAGE

Trade never crashes a party. It goes where it is invited and not elsewhere. Mail order houses and nearby city department stores know these things and keep up a machine gun fire of invitations to trade. The small town business man is prone to tell himself that "they know where I am" and let it go at that.

The small town will come back into its own when—and only when—the small town business man realizes that the only way he can enjoy success is to employ the success trinity. That trinity is good goods, courtesy and advertising. One of these factors is no more important than either of the others. There are no successful grandstand plays executed by the individual members of that team. They are absolutely interdependent. But when used as a team, the combination is a panacea for business ills.

Business will not leave its natural territory under normal conditions. But when the seller fails to do his part correctly an unnatural condition exists and the buyer looks elsewhere for a purchasing place.

The home town business man has all the advantage over his outside competitor and if he refuses to use those advantages, what right has he to protest when other concerns do use them? What right has he to condemn the buyer who buys where he has been educated to buy?

If the seller will educate the buyer to buy at home, there need be no fear of outside competition. It ceases to be competition because it cannot compete.—Kendall, Wisconsin, Keystone.

WHY HAVE A MINISTER?

A man we solicited for advertising turned us down because he stated that everyone knows his place of business and he does not need to advertise.

If this were true, then we might say why print a newspaper, because everyone knows what is going on, so what's the use of having a paper? If a community can get along without a newspaper it could get along without a number of other things which are of value.

For instance, the adults are educated and they can teach the children, so why have schools? The parents being religious can teach the children their creeds, so why have ministers and churches? People can loan their money to one another, so why have banks? All trade is based upon the desire for goods. Necessity is mostly an augmented desire. Advertising has the function of reminding people of their requirements.—E. J. Mendel, in The Cherokee Co. Democrat, Tahlequah, Okla.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

At a recent advertising convention it was emphasized that newspaper advertising is by far the most valuable of all methods. It was shown that newspaper advertising is capable of better service, both to distributor and consumer, since it bears a message from the merchant to the buyer and in turn gives the customer the information desired. An advertising expert said, "We know from experience with the public that women want to read advertising before going out to make a purchase. They want to know where to look for things on sale. They use newspaper advertising as a help in shopping."—The Tifton, Georgia, Gazette.

ENCORE

"Junior, did you actually slam the door twice at Grandmother's this afternoon?"

"Yes, mother, I did. She gave me a dime the first time I apologized."

ENTITLED TO WINGS

The editor who can please everyone is not suited for this earth, but is entitled to wings. Human nature is so constituted that some of our readers would like to have us feed them on scandal; some would like to have us tell the unvarnished truth about them, while others would kill us if we did. It is a comforting thought to the editor to know that the Lord Himself did not please everyone while on earth. We labor hard to entertain and please our subscribers, but that we should occasionally fail is to be expected; but you will always find us ready to be forgiven.—The Ovid, Colo., Record.

Frank Bidwell was in Wheeler last Thursday.

Miss Maurine Cotner of Shamrock visited Mrs. W. A. Hicks Saturday.

LIKE LIFE ITSELF

Advertising, like life itself, keeps us all guessing. But the wise ones among us go on advertising, as they go on living, to prosper and be happy, leaving the knotty problems of theory in either case to the economists and philosophers. Eat, drink and advertise, for tomorrow ye may die. The Franklin Press will help you, not to die, but to live and advertise merrily. No business man needs to have more said on the subject. If his own observations have not convinced him he cannot be convinced nor would he succeed with his advertising campaign if he were convinced.—The Franklin, N. C., Press.

T. M. Wolfe of Lefors was a McLean visitor Friday.

A POSITIVE CURE

"What shall I do to keep from falling in love?"
 "Try pricing apartments."

"Willie, I'm ashamed of your eating your sister's share of cake. What have I been trying to teach you?"
 "Always to take her part, mother."

He—"Miss Wilburham, for your sake I would walk to the end of the earth, if you desired."

She—"If I didn't know the earth is round, Mr. Herring, I would certainly ask you to start right away."

EASY ENOUGH: ASK EINSIE

All praise to the primitive tree man. And then to the husky young sea man.
 The man of today
 Is all right in a way.

It's wise to choose a SIX!

After all, it is a perfectly simple matter to decide which automobile to buy. Only two questions must be answered to your satisfaction—

First: Which car gives the most for my money?

Second: Which car represents the soundest investment in satisfaction and pride of ownership?

Six-Cylinder Motor

In buying a low-priced car consider the following facts:

It is wise to choose a six-cylinder motor—for six cylinders are necessary to take out vibration and roughness. Six-cylinder smoothness will save the motor, the whole chassis, the body, the passengers, and the driver.

The Chevrolet is a six. And yet it sells at a price that anyone can afford to pay.

This very low-priced car lasts longer, not only because of fine materials and oversize parts, but also because it is a six. Its big, smooth, 50-horsepower six-cylinder engine is always "taking it easy." There is no feeling of strain at any speed.

With all its six-cylinder smoothness and power the New Chevrolet Six uses no extra gasoline or oil. Efficient design makes this possible—overhead valves—high compression power from any fuel—very latest high-acceleration carburetor—close-fitting, long-wearing pistons—crankcase ventilation—air cleaner. You can really have extreme economy and still satisfy your ideal of truly modern transportation.

Chevrolet economy is also the mark of Chevrolet sincerity in manufacture. To illustrate:

Chevrolet valves are readily accessible and adjustable. This saves replacing valves, and also makes it possible to preserve efficiency.

Fully Enclosed Brakes

A similar example is found in Chevrolet's molded brake lining—reducing the necessity of frequent replacement, and consequent expense.

Furthermore, there is a rear axle inspection plate on the new Chevrolet Six. This makes it unnecessary to take the axle apart to examine it or clean it.

The Chevrolet Six is full of such evidence that true motor car economy comes from advancement and refinement.

Like the finest cars, the Chevrolet Six provides the comfort and protection of four springs controlled by hydraulic shock absorbers. They are mounted lengthwise, in the direction of car travel, and self-adjusting spring shackles maintain quiet.

Remodeled and Paved by A. J. Dunlap

A little old town in the valley,
 Aside the old railroad track,
 I'm wishing tonight I could quit,
 And pack up my grip and go back,
 I know they have pulled up the hitch racks
 And torn the old livery barn down,
 Remodeled the old opera house
 That once was the pride of the town.
 But, yet, I am sure in my fancy
 I'd see the old hitch racks once more
 And down where the livery barn stood
 Would hear the boys laugh as of yore,
 I care not how much they may pave,
 How much they pull up or pull down,
 I'll hold you and all of your memories
 Unchanged through the years, Old Home Town.

A THOUGHT

Pertaining to Credit

Once in a while someone condemns credit buying. They overlook an indisputable fact. The finer things of life are seldom bought and paid for at one time. Refinement, culture, education, reputation, enjoyment, satisfaction, fame, and scores of other things are bought and paid for on the installment plan.

As with the finer things of life so it is with those things that go to make the daily grind more pleasing, more comfortable, more enjoyable. Let us help you to live in a well furnished home on our budget plan of easy payments.

The late spring has made it very convenient for those who have had last minute impulses to plant trees and shrubbery, and there is yet time to do a lot of landscaping about the place. Nothing adds to the value and attractiveness of the home or farm than well planned settings of trees and shrubbery.

Now that the city and school elections are over, the successful candidates are now our officers and deserve the co-operation of everyone of us in every effort for the betterment of conditions. No officer can be efficient unless he has the co-operation of the citizenship he represents. While it is much easier to criticize officials than to assist, yet criticism seldom helps anyone, or anything.

The McLean Chamber of Commerce went on record several years ago to the effect that any school in the McLean trade territory that needed a scenic curtain could get it donated by McLean merchants, provided it was bought from an art house without the interference of an outside advertising solicitor. It was agreed that this kind of so-called advertising is of doubtful value and that a scenic curtain can be bought very reasonable, if bought in a business like way

It is easy for any community, or the whole country for that matter, to talk hard times until such times actually exist. There were only 48 business failures in Texas during March, as compared with 52 in March a year ago, and is a reduction from the 60 reported in February. McLean is particularly fortunate, compared with many other places, from a financial viewpoint, and there is no occasion to talk hard times. Everything points to a bumper crop, and unless the whole country is planted to cotton, next fall should see a measure of prosperity for everyone in this community.

YOU HAVE OFTEN HEARD IT SAID

—That our country was passing through a crisis of some kind or other. That statement was made in 1917 when the United States entered the World War. It was a true statement.

—You heard the same statement made in 1920 and 1921, when prices dropped and the country passed through a period of readjustment. Times were hard, and many people were of the opinion that a panic would result. The panic failed to materialize, but the country really did pass through the readjustment crisis—and safely.

YOU HEAR IT SAID TODAY

—that the country is passing through a financial crisis, due to over-inflation of prices and the subsequent crash on the stock market. That is very true. The United States is sounder today than at any time since its inception—yet we are squarely facing a financial crisis that must and will be met.

—The McLean community is going to weather the squall in a characteristic manner. What this community needs is for the farmer (the backbone of this country's finances) to realize that this year, of all years, he must raise his living at home. The farmer must plant enough feedstuff to last him through another crop year. He must raise his garden, his meat, his fruits at home, instead of buying them at the store. The issue is up to the farmer, more than any other class of people.

SHINING LIGHTS OF M. G. S.

CLUBS

Charlie Marie Back, Editor
The Shining Lights are really becoming editors, for at the present time each member of this club is making an individual newspaper. These newspapers contain sports sections, a society page, a comic section, a woman's page or a gentleman's page as the case may be; a sensational section, and various other sections that are highly interesting. Each Shining Light is taking great interest in these newspapers. Another interesting feature about the Shining Lights newspapers is that a worthwhile dedication to some friend will be observed. Some of the best of these will be put on display at the various stores in town.

The "Investigators," or Vocational Guidance Club, made a memorable trip to the bakery, where Mr. Caldwell was especially kind in showing them about. He explained how baking was done long ago and how the improvement of today permits the bakeries to hold such a high standing. The process of mixing bread and the way to bake it made a very interesting lecture. All members were impressed. The regulation of the immense oven was explained. The making of cakes was an interesting lesson to the students. Dainties from the bakery were given to the members. Everyone was delighted with his trip.

Last Thursday the Vocational Guidance Club members went to the hatchery. A new bunch of chickens had just been removed. The members found this sight to be very interesting. There was an electric incubator at the hatchery. Mr. Floyd was especially interesting in his lecture and explanations. Everyone appreciated his kindness.

ROOMS

Mrs. Boyett's music class is getting ready for the Music Festival to be held at Amarillo April 17 and 18. Everyone is looking forward to this and working diligently.

Miss Bringham's room made six weeks of hundreds; so they will be given a half holiday.

Miss Hayes' Busy Bees have also made six weeks of hundreds on the cleanliness of their room; so, they, too, will be given a holiday.

Mrs. Back's room had a fourth of a holiday last Friday. Each person had a "jaw breaker" and a "lolly pop."

The Red Hot Peppers had a fourth day off; so they played games which they enjoyed.

AUTOMOBILE Auction Sale!

75 Cars and Trucks

Will be sold to the highest bidder, one at a time, regardless of price.

Almost any make of car will be offered at auction. Each car has been numbered on the windshield with a plain white figure. Come in and select your car, try it out, remember the number, and ask to have it offered the day of the sale. These cars are now on display at the McLean Motor Company. We will demonstrate any car to anyone before the sale, Tuesday, April 15th, 10 a. m., 2 and 7:15 p. m. One day only.

Tuesday, April 15

Three Sales

Sale begins promptly at 10 a. m., 2 and 7:15 p. m., rain or shine—one day only!

COUPES, SEDANS, COACHES, ROADSTERS, TOURINGS, TRUCKS, ALL MODELS

Every car accurately described! You will be told the truth about each car when it is brought up to the selling block. The auctioneer will give a detailed, honest report regarding its good condition, mechanical and otherwise. If the car has any defects whatsoever, he will explain them, and if it is a guaranteed car with our O. K., the McLean Motor Company will live up to the guarantee in every way as they always have on cars sold in the past.

OUR REPUTATION IS YOUR PROTECTION

We want you to know that you can buy at this auction sale with the same assurance of lasting satisfaction that you would have on buying at private sale. McLean Motor Co. will positively guarantee that every sale made at this auction will be sold as stated above.

EVERY CAR

You see on the street is a used car. Why not buy one for business or pleasure at your own price?

FREE

We are giving away absolutely FREE, a car to the public attending our sale, Tuesday, April 15, at 10 a. m. 2 and 7:15 p. m.

Due to the large number of sales on our new Chevrolets, we have accumulated an over supply of high class used cars, and not desiring to carry these cars, as we do not have space enough to accommodate the new cars coming in. We want to start the spring with a clean slate. We have decided to take a quick loss and dispose of them at one selling and let the public buy them at their own price by the auction method.

Practically all of these cars have been reconditioned and carry our used car guarantee. This is an opportunity rarely presented the public to buy high quality cars at their own price.

FREE

We are giving away absolutely FREE, a car to the public attending our sale, Tuesday, April 15, at 10 a. m. 2 and 7:15 p. m.

Positively every car will go to the highest bidder. This is a bona-fide auction sale, 10 a. m., 2 and 7:15 p. m., rain or shine, one day only.

You will be given full allowance for your old car, or we will auction your car and apply the amount it brings on any car you wish to select and have offered at auction.

BUYING SPACE

Some people seem to think that newspaper space doesn't amount to much until they try to buy it.

There is a drag to well-directed campaigning in the press, which the uninitiated will never realize.

When you buy advertising space you are buying a valuable thing. You are buying an audience to the public.

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

A Belgian student was relating his attempts to learn to speak the English language.

A Frenchman said he had a similar experience. He was watching a card game and trying to understand it.

"What's the score?" asked someone. "Two to two."

"We are two to two, too," said a man at the next table.

"To spik ze English," he exclaimed. "It is to blow ze French horn."

IMPROVING THE BREED

"And how much would you say this colt was worth?" asked the railroad claim agent of the farmer.

"Pedigreed stock, I suppose?" "Well, no," the bereaved admitted reluctantly.

"No," the attorney agreed dryly. "I've often noticed how crossing with a locomotive will improve the breed."

OF COURSE

Jones (buying overcoat)—"I can't wear this, dear; it's three sizes too big."

The late General Nelson A. Miles, veteran of the Civil and Spanish-American wars, was seated at a dinner next to a physician.

"Tell me, General Miles," said the doctor, "how did you feel the first time you killed a man professionally?"

"Oh, I dare say I didn't mind it any more than one of you doctors would," answered the general.

WILL YOU SMILE?

Girl—"I maintain that love making is just as it always was."

She—"You never hear of women cashiers embezzling or running off with their employers' money."

City Man—"Where is that ham you said you would give me?"

Farmer—"Well, sir, that hog finally got well."

If all the punk radio programs were suppressed there would be plenty of channels for the other kind.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—Introducing some of the people of the pretty little French-Canadian village of Peribonka, particularly the Crippled Lady, idol of the simple inhabitants, and heroine of an epic destined to live long in the village annals.

CHAPTER II—How the romance of Miss Brant, sister of the great, in-Asah chief, Joseph Brant, and Sir William Johnson, in pre-revolutionary days comes down to today with the birth of a son, Paul, to Molly Kirke, wife of a powerful New York financier, and her death when Paul is thirteen years old. Molly Kirke was a descendant of Molly Brant, and her boy had many of the Indian characteristics. At thirty-two Paul marries Claire Durand, daughter of his father's business partner. He is in charge of an engineering work on the Mississippi river, near Peribonka, which his millionaire father has undertaken. His Indian blood explores the destruction of the wilderness, and his thoughts are more of Carla Haldan—the Crippled Lady—than of his work.

CHAPTER III—Paul's wife is in Europe, she having no inclination to live in "those horrible woods." He comes to see in Carla, daughter of a central European immigrant, with her devotion to her invalid mother and her work of educating the village children, his ideal of womanhood.

CHAPTER IV—Paul writes to his wife, urging her to join him, though Carla is the inspiration of the letter. Later that evening, passing the Haldan home, he hears Carla crying. He enters the cottage. Mrs. Haldan, long a hopeless invalid, is dead. Paul's efforts to comfort Carla, he feels, bring them closer together.

CHAPTER V—Claire announces her intention of joining Paul on the Mississippi in a short time. She also writes to Carla of whom she has heard from Paul, a letter of kindly sympathy, on the death of her mother.

CHAPTER VI—Paul goes to Quebec to meet Claire, and brings her to his temporary home. Though she is apparently glad to be with him, and evinces warm friendship for Carla and Paul's other friends, he feels she is only there because she feels her duty. She is not really happy. He becomes aware of a gulf between him and his wife.

CHAPTER VII—Paul, Claire, Carla, and two friends make a luncheon party to visit the "Eving of George" the Massassin, an appealingly swift current which disappears in a mountain side. Current belief is that anything dropped into it is never seen again. In sport they cast into the stream pieces of wood, and other objects, watching them disappear. Finally they carry a large log to the edge of the rushing water. As they force it over the rocks, striking Paul and throwing him into the stream, the two women with whom Paul's life is entwined see and go to what they are sure is certain death. One asks the other if she is going with him. Receiving no answer she announces, "Then—I am—and springs into the water.

CHAPTER VIII—Paul sees the action, and believes the woman is Claire clinging to a rock, which temporarily checks his rush to death. He recognizes Carla as the water brings her nearer. He clutches her, but the two are carried onward. Then, a miracle! Paul's feet touch solid earth. He draws himself with the girl, into a subterranean cave.

CHAPTER IX—Paul and Carla are there in no chance of escape, and that for their few remaining hours they are in a world of their own. Paul and Carla reach a perfect understanding as to their mutual love.

CHAPTER X—A frantic search for the bodies of the two begins, no one believing they could have escaped death. Paul, with matches he has in a waterproof box, builds a fire of drywood beside which he leaves Carla. Devising a torch to light his way, he begins what he feels is a hopeless exploration of the cave.

CHAPTER XI—Continuing his search, on the second day of their imprisonment, Paul climbs a wall of rock, appearing toward a tiny shaft of light he has seen. Almost unbelieving, he finds there is a possibility of escape. He returns to Carla and tells her. The only thing he has in the thought of returning to the world tomorrow by the knowledge that it means their separation, make their way to the spot. Leaving Carla, Paul climbs toward the light. The girl, anxious to share danger with him, essays to follow him.

CHAPTER XII—Paul above hears the crash of falling rocks. Descending, he finds Carla buried in debris, but alive. Almost insane, he tears her from the mass and with her in his arms makes his way to a party of searchers. Carla is found to be paralyzed from the waist down, but will live. Claire, who has left for New York, is notified. She sends expressions of happiness to both Paul and Carla, and asks Paul to come to her. Carla insists he go at once. He leaves torn with conflicting emotions, loving Carla and bound to Claire.

"Paul, wouldst if you know, just how much I honor and respect you. I wonder if you realize how fine you are. I have failed to play my part—as your wife. I have not let you know these things as I should. The fault in our lives is not yours. It is mine. I think I could have made you love me. Yet I saw the unfairness of it unless I could make myself love you first. I hoped and prayed for that.

"There wasn't love when we were married, on either side. You did not love me, not in the way you wanted to love a woman, and my feeling for you was an immeasurable respect and admiration for an honorable gentleman. It seems trite and superficial to say that the interests of our families brought us together, does it not? But it is true. I wanted to love you and I discovered—after a little while—just something was in my way."

"I know," he found himself saying, "I could not love an animal. Claire says that, until the day you came to Missassin. I have been blind and deaf. I know I am only half there. A woman may hide her love from a man, but not from another woman, and it was impossible for Carla to keep her secret from me. Yours was still more open, though I saw you making a magnificent fight. I know, Paul. But I want to hear it from your lips. I must hear it. Do you love Carla Haldan?"

"Yes, I love her."

"More than any other woman in the world?"

"I could only love one woman in that way."

He was conscious of having struck a deadly blow, a hurt he would rather have died than inflict upon Claire. It had dragged itself from him in spite of his determination, and he waited for his punishment, its effect on her. Claire's eyes did not waver. She did not blink. A starry, radiant light came into her face, and she gave a breathless, half-articulate cry, not of shock or of pain, but of joy. He saw the blood flushing her cheeks, the tenderness leaving her body, and they sat for a time in silence, neither making an effort to speak.

Then he said:

"I thought I would hurt you. And you are glad?"

"Yes, I am glad. I thank God you love Carla."

She rose to her feet, and took a letter from the table. She was trying to keep from crying as she gave it to him.

"I want you to read it and then come back to me," she said. "This evening, if you will, Paul. I lack the courage to tell you things. You will understand when you open it, alone."

He went to the Kirke Durand building and lost himself in the human stream going up with the elevators. On one of the floors was an office, always ready for him. He shut himself in and locked the door.

He opened the letter. There were many pages, closely written in Claire's hand. With almost childish candor they began to tell him of a woman's fight to triumph over herself. Like an indestructible redoubt they bristled the sureness of Claire's faith in herself. Without emotional effort she told him that unless Carla had come into his life she would never have let him know what she was about to reveal. There was no man in the world more worthy of a woman's love than he, she said. Yet, from the beginning, she had been unable to build her respect and admiration into greater things she should have given him. That was one reason why repelling the thought of making him care greatly for her when she could not love him, she had kept herself away from him so much. One's passion for another, in its holiest form, was guided by a single force. One might stem that and hold it back, but it was impossible to make it die. Such a love was Carla's for him. Then she spoke of another man. It was of Jimmy Emerdale, the sculptor who was driving his way so persistently to success. She had accepted him almost as a brother during her girlhood, but very soon after her marriage the truth had come to her, she said, and had grown stronger with each year. She cared for Emerdale just as Carla cared for him. It was Paul who might have been her brother, with such frank and unflinching simplicity did she confide in him. She knew that Emerdale loved her and repeated that a man could not conceal that fact from a woman though he did not express it in words, and she was sure Jimmy had no idea of her sentiment toward him. This love for Jimmy was the other reason the more vital of the two, which had held her aloof from Paul. She loved Jimmy's work and wanted to become a part of it. She had never held it to be possible, and had not thought of it in that way until she knew that he loved Carla.

Paul finished, and it seemed as though tiny raindrops were falling in his brain, so clearly could he hear and feel the beating of his pulse. In a few moments the mourning of life came to him in a distant wave. It struck nearer in the slamming of an elevator door. Indistinct voices passed down the hall. From another street blocks away, the hammering of river drivers on new steel rose above the rush and roar of traffic. Paul looked from his window, as if he might see the pit, out of which the same sound had come night and day for three years. His eyes fell upon gloomy sooty walls. Under him lay an unending fabric of men's toil, a great sea of roofs strung with wires, crazed with ugly architectural warts, broken with chimneys, streaked with tarred gutters, and with the gaping, shuffling mouths of ventilating funnels sucking air into their artificial lungs. He looked down and saw a thousand moving things, in a stream, like ants, every hurrying particle a human soul struggling in the furious Twentieth-century effort to make itself greater than God. From all this Claire had freed him. She had given him new life, and with it love and happiness. He crushed her letter in his hands, its some pitiful breath might wrench its precious pages from him.

Then he turned to the telephone. It was impossible for him to wait. He wanted to tell her there was one other woman in the world as wonderful as Carla.

In Claire's voice was a trembling note of happiness when he said this: "Dear old Paul, she cried softly. "But you mustn't come to me until evening. I have something which I must do before I see you again."

That night, when he went to his room, Claire was not there. She had left a note for him.

"I have gone to see Carla," it said

"Only a woman can make another woman—like Carla—understand."

CHAPTER XIV

And here we find ourselves where we began, with the lovely Crippled Lady on her porch at Peribonka.

There have been changes since the Crippled Lady was borne from the hospital to the place near her mother, where she wants to live. The pit is no longer a pit, but a mighty force driving its energy in unending streams through high-tension wires. The Missassin may ramble and roar and growl, but it is a slave, securely shackled and will probably go on laboring for its human masters for all time. This change—or development—was expected, anticipated by experts almost to the day and hour. But others were not. The world, for instance, excepting a very small corner of it as the whole, could not understand why a man like Paul Kirke should deliberately sever himself from the huge prestige and wealth built by his father's success, and, as the story went here, away with him all his personal possessions in a trunk and a handbag. It could understand, quite easily, how a husband and wife might end their marital relationship, but it was puzzled and shocked that a woman like Claire Kirke should throw herself away soon afterward on a stoop shouldered, prematurely aging man who was possessed of nothing on earth but an admirable passion for shaping things out of marble.

Carla always sits on her porch so that she is looking up the river toward the north. Paul is there, working out a part of the dream which absorbs them both. Thirty miles beyond the green and blue-black edges of wilderness which she can see Paul has a timber concession, and fifteen men working with him, where a little while before he might have had fifteen thousand. But these fifteen men, and what they are planning to do with the concession, mean more to Paul and Carla than all the millions in the world.

"It is not necessary to slaughter Nature, or even harm her, in order to possess for ourselves some of her products," Paul says in a paper he is writing for a pulp-wood journal. "There is such a thing as harvesting timber and having a better forest each year instead of a diminished one. Nature wants to fraternize with us, and will, when we cease to sack and plunder her like vandals."

Next year the fifteen men will be increased to fifty, but now camps are being built and just enough timber harvested to cover the expense of the work. Paul labors with his ax, along with the others, from morning until night.

Every Friday he comes down the river to Carla.

Carla knows that she is going to get strong and well. This mental attitude, her sureness and optimism, together with her great happiness, has overcome the doubt of physicians. She is beginning to stand a little, with Paul's arms about her, and her two precious days a week together are filled with wonderful plans of what she is going to do in another year, wherever Paul is, there she will also be. That is the point from which they always start in building their castles.

No shadow is cast over their happiness because Carla cannot walk. Paul wheels her about the village in the big chair, and not a carriage is missed in their visits. They go as far as the little picturesque old cheese factory and down the hill to the still older wharf where the boat comes in from across the lake. Doctor Derwent, who is at Missassin, has allowed Carla

"DAD AND ME"

Old Way
I left my dad, his farm, his plow. Because my calf became his cow; I left my dad—I was wrong, of course. But my pet colt became his horse. I left my dad to sow and reap. Because my lamb became his sheep; I dropped my hog and hit New York. Because my pig became his pork. The garden truck I made to grow— Was his to sell and mine to hoe; Believe me, too, I had to hoe— There was no riding down the row.

New Way
With dad and me it's half and half— The cow I own was once his calf; I'm going to stick right where I am, Because my sheep was once his lamb. I'll stay with dad—he gets my vote. Because my hog was once his shoat. No town for me—I'll stick right here, For I'm his tractor engineer. We work together from day to day— Believe me, boys, it's the only way.

THE GREATEST NEWSPAPER

There are some publications in the large cities which "admit" that they are the world's "greatest newspapers," said G. S. Crane, of Campbell-Ewald Company, not long ago.

"The greatest newspaper in North America is not published in New York City. Chicago has none that compares with it. Florida or California's large cities know it not. For the greatest newspaper in North America wields ten times in the influence, is read by a hundred times more readers, carries inestimably more pages of advertising than any newspaper in any great city in this continent of ours.

"The greatest newspaper in North America gets closer to its readers, is read longer, believed in more confidently, determines the outcome of more elections, exerts a greater power for progress, sells more merchandise and rights more wrongs than any metropolitan daily ever published.

"The greatest newspaper in North America is issued 11,500 editions, 52 times a year, published in 11,000 separate newspaper offices in 8,000 different towns and villages throughout the United States, which offices occupy a combined floor space in excess of that afforded by the great Woolworth building of New York and the Wrigley building in Chicago.

"The business of this greatest newspaper in the aggregate would astound even the president of America's largest industrial corporation. The greatest newspaper in America is the home-town paper, better known to most of us as the country weekly."—Litzitz, Pennsylvania, Express.

go twice to the monastery, in Paul's launch, and if October is fine she will make her first trip to his concession during that month. Paul takes her over the soft, sandy roads to the edge of the blueberry plains in a buggy, and then carries her in his arms to a place where she can help him pick fruit for their Sunday dinner. He will never give up carrying her like that, he says, even when she is strong again.
