Better Yards and Gardens Contest Again This Year

YARDS PLANS MADE

Lions Will Sponsor Better Yards and Gardens

The McLean Lions Club voted to sponsor the Better Yards and Gardens contest again this year, at their meeting Tuesday.

Discussion showed that the benefits of last year's contest were many; not only those who entered the contest benefited, but many homes showed the influence of the contest that were not entered. The fact was mentioned that many places have new trees and shrubbery, as well as new lawns, this season, and competition should be keen.

First, second and third place awards will be given as was done last year; however, no stated prizes were decided upon Tuesday.

Last year's awards were $25 for first place, $15 second and $5 third, and were won by T. A. Landers, A. A. Tampke and Mrs. A. A. Christian, in the order named. Some 14 yards and gardens were entered in the contest.

Inasmuch as this is one contest where the entrant "wins if he loses" there should be much interest manifested, and plans should be made now by everyone to get into the contest.

BRUCE NURSERY OFFERS PRIZE, GARDEN CONTEST

Paul M. Bruce, representing Bruce and Sons Nursery at Alanreed, offers $25 worth of trees and shrubbery in the Yards and Gardens contest sponsored by the Lions Club. Mr. Bruce says the whole amount may be given to the first place winner, or divided as the committee sees fit.

The first place winner last year was supplied by this nursery, and many homes have been landscaped here by Mr. Bruce, who states he is glad to co-operate with the Lions in their beautification efforts.

LEGION POST TO PRESENT SCHOOL FLAGS

The Andrew H. Floyd Post American Legion has 11 large flags to present free to schools in this trade territory, and arrangements are being made to hold short presentation programs at each school.

The school flags are larger than the street flags recently installed by the Legion for the merchants of McLean and will answer every purpose for school use.

MORNING TRAIN TO CARRY MAIL

Beginning Wednesday of this week, the morning train carried mail from McLean. Heretofore only the night trains carried mail from McLean, but now anything mailed up to 8:15 a. m. will be carried by the morning train.

The matter of locking the post-office nights is being taken up with the proper officials, the city agreeing to place a time clock in the postoffice for the nightwatchman's use, and it is also promised the department that the night lamp expense will be paid locally.

Some complaint has been heard over the locking of the lobby nights by people who arrive late and want mail, and it is hoped that the promised arrangement may overcome this difficulty.

Charlie Carpenter and daughters Charlie Mae; Misses Lola Stanfield and Lois Kirby, and Mrs. Bourland are attending the festival in Amarillo this week.

and Mrs. Jake Hess were in the ranch Tuesday.

McLean Band to Play at Court House Celebration

The McLean high school band will play at the court house celebration to be held at Pampa Saturday, at which time every citizen of Gray county is invited by the commissioner, to inspect the new court house.

The Pampa American Legion Post is planning for the annual Fort and Eight "Wreck" to be staged the same day, and it is expected that several hundred legionnaires and their wives will be present for the event.

County commissioners from every West Texas county have been invited to attend the celebration.

A large number of McLean citizens plan to accompany the band Saturday.

STREET FLAGS PLACED BY LEGION POST

The local post of the American Legion has had street flags installed in front of each merchant's place of business this week in order that a uniform plan of street decorating may be used on holidays.

The flags were sold to the merchants some time ago, and the Legion boys installed them by placing sockets near the curb line to hold the flag poles. The poles are of steel and the flags are sewed and of good grade.

The matter of street flags was agitated by the Lions Club, but after the organization of the Legion post, the matter was turned over to them.

LIONS DISCUSS MANY THINGS AT LUNCHEON

McLean Lions discussed various things at the regular weekly luncheon held at the Meador Cafe Tuesday.

Rev. B. W. Wilkins announced that he was ready to deliver his talk on highway rules, which was followed by discussion. The clean-up week committee reported the promised cooperation of city officials. A motion was made to sponsor a better yards and gardens contest again this year. The spelling bee committee reported, and Lions B. W. Wilkins, W. A. Erwin and Cecil G. Goff appointed judges for the club. A motion carried that the club endorse the organization of a business and professional women's club for McLean, and Doyd Meador, H. M. Coleman and I. S. Cohen appointed as a committee to assist in such organization.

Those present were: Boyd Meador, H. M. Coleman, W. E. Bogan, E. L. Sitter, Sam Hodges, B. W. Wilkins, W. A. Erwin, Reep Landers, A. A. Tampke, I. S. Cohen, A. F. Smith and T. A. Landers.

AMERICAN LEGION TO MEET NEXT TUESDAY

The regular meeting of the Andrew H. Floyd Post American Legion will meet at the city secretary's office Tuesday evening of next week, beginning at 8 p. m. All members and ex-service men are invited to attend.

NEWMAN FOR COMMISSIONER

M. M. Newman authorizes The News to carry his name in the political announcement column as a candidate for re-election to the office of commissioner of precinct No. 4, subject to the action of the Democratic primary in July.

Mr. Newman says he has no new promises to offer, but he feels that he has given the citizens of this precinct a good, economical administration, and if favored with election his year will render the same efficient service. Mr. Newman feels that his experience in the office is valuable and he has endeavored at all times to take care of the interests of the entire precinct.

The News is glad to present Mr. Newman's claims to the voters and to speak careful consideration at the polls.

Census Reveals Population only 1518 at McLean

According to preliminary figures released by the Census Supervisor of this district, McLean now has 1518 people, as compared with 741 0 years ago, with seven farms enumerated.

The figures for this year do not contain the people living in the town, Christian and Floyd additions to the city, as they are not a part of the corporation; while the Rush and Christian additions were included in the 1920 census.

The figures fell so far below what was thought to be here that a meeting of citizens was held at the city secretary's office yesterday to see if any assistance could be given toward getting a more complete count, but it developed that a complete check had been made, the enumerator claiming that the number of vacant houses is greater now than for some time, and that six months ago would have shown about 600 more residents here.

Estimates varying from 1800 to 2500 had been made, based upon about 450 electric light meters and better than 400 gas meters in town, but the figures did not bear out the estimates.

Anyone who feels that they have not been counted may still have their names added to the list if turned in within the next few days. The News, any city or C. of C. official will be glad to instruct anyone how to get on the list.

Another fact that makes the figures hard to digest is that there are about three times as many buildings here as 10 years ago.

Other Panhandle towns face the same problem as McLean, as many people have left this section within the past year.

MISS MURRAY SPOKE AT P.-T. A. LAST WEEK

The McLean Parent-Teacher Association had a most interesting meeting last Thursday afternoon at the grade school auditorium.

Miss Murray, district representative of the National Red Cross in the Texas Panhandle and New Mexico, was present and spoke on the value of a Red Cross nurse to the school and community. It is the desire of the association to have such a nurse for the coming year, and Miss Murray promises a visit early in September, at which time final plans for the project will be made.

Mrs. L. V. Lonsdale, just back from the district meeting at Childress, made child welfare more vivid to the minds of both parents and teachers and inspired the whole association on a higher things, when she gave her report which was full of practical hints for future work.

Mr. McHaney expressed his and other teachers' appreciation to members of the P.-T. A. and to the business men who furnished transportation for students to attend the recent county meet at Pampa.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, April 24, at 3:30 p. m., at which time, under the direction of Mrs. Jim Back, the following newly elected officers will be installed:

President—Mrs. L. V. Lonsdale.
1st vice president—Miss Irene Hayes.
2nd vice president—Mrs. B. N. Henry.
3rd vice president—Mrs. W. E. Bogan.

Secretary—Miss Isabel Baley.
Treasurer—Mrs. D. C. Carpenter.

WATER TOWER SIGN PAINTED FOR AVIATORS

City officials have ordered the name of the town painted on the water tower for the guidance of aviators.

The big electric light that was on top of the tower at one time was removed as a sanitary measure, the light attracting bugs to such an extent that they fell into the water.

Mrs. J. E. Lynch visited in Oklahoma City Wednesday.

Church of Christ Revival Meeting April 20-May 1

The Church of Christ announces a revival meeting to begin next Sunday and continue for two weeks.

Eld. R. B. McDougald, pastor of the local congregation, will conduct the meeting. Eld. McDougald has had some nine years evangelistic work, with over 1,300 additions to churches under his preaching.

Everyone is extended a welcome to the revival. A full list of subjects to be discussed may be found under the regular church announcements.

Country Club Golf Tournament Medals Bought

The McLean Country Club has bought five gold, five silver and five bronze medals to be used during the summer tournament, open to members only.

The golf course has been rolled and the greens otherwise put into playing condition this spring. The club owns the grounds and is planning several important improvements this year.

A regular tournament with a silver loving cup as the principal trophy will probably be staged at an early date.

Interest is growing among the members of the club, and some good records should be hung up by local players before the summer season is past.

LIONS INVITE 19 SCHOOLS TO ENTER SPELLING BEE

The Lions Club has invited some 19 schools to send contestants to the spelling bee to be held Saturday, April 26.

A silver loving cup has been provided to be awarded to the winning team, and Revs. B. W. Wilkins, W. A. Erwin and Cecil G. Goff have been named as judges from the club to act with other judges to be selected from school faculties.

PANHANDLE PRESS ASSN MEETS AT MEMPHIS

The Panhandle Press Association holds its annual meeting at Memphis Friday and Saturday of this week.

The editor of The News is a member of the board of directors, and expects to be present.

JAKE ERWIN FOR SHERIFF

A. J. (Jake) Erwin authorizes The News to carry his name as a candidate for sheriff of Gray county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary in July.

Mr. Erwin has been a citizen of Pampa for the past four years, having moved there from Eastland county. He entered the race upon the insistence of friends who want "absolute enforcement of law." Having had experience in law enforcement, he believes that he thoroughly understands the duties of the office and the best means of meeting local conditions. He is at present engaged in general construction work at Pampa. He states that he stands for a square deal for all and special favors to none. He emphasizes that co-operation of the citizens will be necessary to make the county law-abiding. He has been actively engaged in church work at Pampa, serving on the building committee of a $100,000 church edifice the past year.

Mr. Erwin offers congratulations to the citizens of Gray county upon the completion of the new court house.

Mr. Erwin is a nephew of Rev. W. A. and Arthur Erwin of McLean and is favorably known to many of our citizens.

The News is glad to present Mr. Erwin's name to the voters and to speak careful consideration of his claims at the polls.

Clean-up Week Set for May 5-10 by City Mayor

The week of May 5 to 10 has been officially designated by Mayor Jot Montgomery as the annual spring clean-up week, working in conjunction with the Lions Club.

Mr. Montgomery, in his proclamation, calls attention to the fact that tin cans and rubbish should be collected in convenient piles, boxes or sacks, and placed near the alleys. He states in a conversation with a News representative that last year some citizens failed to place the rubbish where it could be easily located by the dump wagon, necessitating several phone calls and unnecessary trips to complete the work. It is insisted that this year all trash be placed near the alleys in plain sight and it will be hauled away free of all cost to the property owners.

The Lions Club is sponsoring the clean-up campaign, as they did last year. T. A. Landers, A. A. Tampke and Sherman White being the committee in charge, and it is expected that all civic clubs of the town will assist in the work. The Boy Scouts will also be asked to help in the work to see that every part of town is put in first class shape.

EASTER SERVICES AT THE McLEAN CHURCHES

According to the various church announcements, special Easter programs are planned for McLean church goers.

The First Methodist will close their passion week services Sunday with special Easter programs. Beautiful decorated Easter programs will be given to those in attendance.

The First Presbyterian will observe Easter in a special way with special music Sunday morning, and the choir will sing "Alleluia!" a 45 minute presentation of music taken from the New Testament theme.

The First Baptist has special music and sermons planned for the day, and other churches announce full programs.

CLUB BOYS WILL ENTER STATE CONTEST

Six teams, consisting of 20 boys, from the vocational department of the McLean high school under the direction of Prof. A. A. Tampke will enter the state contest at College Station Monday, the boys with their instructor leaving Saturday morning.

Side trips to Galveston, Huntsville and Houston will be given the boys before returning home.

A number of places were won last year, and it is expected that the boys will make a good showing this year.

Those making the trip are: Dairy team, Racy Morse, Edwin Howard, Lavelle Christian; livestock team, I. D. Shaw Jr., Clark Stockton, Arthur Ivey; poultry team, Hugh Cobbs, Guy Hibler, Forrest Switzer; farm shop team, Clyde Andrews, Ward Hunt, Gordon Billingslea; plant production team, Millard Windom, Brady McCoy, Arthur Bilderback; entomology team, Andrew Wilson, Robert Bryant, Dean West, Earl Breeding, C. W. Bogan.

These boys will compete against approximately 2,000 students, making the greatest judging contest ever staged in the United States.

"THE MAZAROFF MYSTERY"

One of the most puzzling, very human and entertaining mystery-detective stories by that master of mysteries, J. S. Fletcher, begins as a serial in this issue of The News.

The home town boy who makes good has a right to expect a welcome when he returns home, but not so with the hero of this story.

Read the opening chapter and you will look forward with interest until the close of the story.

MILK GRADES GIVEN

Health Officer States Milk Ordinance to Be Enforced

Dr. T. J. Worrel of Pampa was in McLean Monday and stated that all the provisions of the standard milk ordinance adopted by the McLean city council are to be strictly enforced. However, grade "D" milk may be allowed to be placed on sale, but all grades must be properly labeled.

Hibler's Dairy was the first one to meet all the requirements for grade "A" milk, according to Dr. Worrel, the production of which must meet all the 26 sanitary requirements and have not more than 50,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter, a cubic centimeter equaling about 16 drops. Grade "B" milk may omit the lighting, air space, floor and wall requirements of the dairy barn and the milk may be cooled to only 60 degrees in place of 50 for grade "A", and may contain a bacterial count of 200,000 per c. c., provided that in no case may cleanliness of the barn and cow yard be omitted.

Grade "C" is the same as grade "B", with the exception that cows need not be tuberculin tested, disposal of manure is not mentioned, utensils may be anything, sterilization is not necessary, cooling unnecessary, no requirements as to bottling, no health certificates required, and it may have a bacterial count of 1,000,000. Grade "D" milk is milk that does not meet the requirements of grade "C" and may have an average bacterial count of 5,000,000.

While all bacteria may not be harmful, even so-called harmless bacteria may produce toxins that will interfere with digestion and Dr. Worrel says the city health department insists that citizens inform themselves and buy the best milk possible. "The statement is sometimes made that the standard milk ordinance is all right for cities, but should not be enforced in the smaller towns," said Dr. Worrel, "but the citizens' health in the smaller towns is just as important to them as the health of the people in the cities, and only the purest of foods should be served on their tables."

It is understood that cards will be distributed to the milk dealers in town showing just what grade of milk is being sold, the grade letter also appearing on the bottle cap so that consumers can govern themselves accordingly.

PASSION WEEK SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

The "Passion Week" services at the First Methodist church are attracting good crowds and the programs are interesting and pleasing.

For tonight (Thursday) Pastor Wilkins announces that the program will be illustrated with pictures.

Sunday will close the series of services and special Easter souvenirs will be given at the morning service to all who attend.

PAMPA PRESBYTERIANS TO BE HERE APRIL 27

On account of the rain last Sunday, the pastor and choir of the Pampa Presbyterian church failed to be here for their appointment for the evening service at the McLean Presbyterian church, but they plan to be here Sunday evening, April 27.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Greer took their son, Eugene, to a sanitarium at Denison last week. They were accompanied by Mr. Greer's mother, Mrs. N. H. Greer, who remained with Eugene.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bird of Sharrock visited relatives here Sunday.

TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES CARRY LITTLE ADV.

The Claude telephone directories for the Standard Telephone Company were delivered to Claude subscribers last week.

They were printed on a good grade of cardboard, but contain only eight pages, probably caused by not having enough advertising to justify more pages.

While Claude has over fifty business houses and professional men, only eight Claude business houses carried ads, while The Claude News printed more than four times that number of ads for advertisers when we printed the Claude telephone directory. This directory was printed out of town, which was the cause of the Standard not getting only one-fifth of the advertising they otherwise should have gotten. Another probable cause of their getting too few ads is they are charging, we understand, every month for the advertising the telephone book carries; twelve times a year for one ad, while the Claude News made one charge for an ad for the year; and since the last directory we printed was used three years, the advertiser paid only one time and received said advertising for thirty-six months. If the Standard uses these directories three years, then these advertisers will pay 36 times for their advertising, while the Claude News charged only one time for its advertising for the three years the directory was used, which was printed by the Claude News. A new directory should be printed every six months, out over twelve months at least should be allowed to pass without a new telephone directory being printed and that by the HOME TOWN PAPER. The Claude News has done a great deal of free advertising and boosting for every business institution in Armstrong county, and one of them is the Standard Telephone Company of Claude; therefore should have all the job printing and advertising these firms use every year.

While the Standard Telephone Co. received from $75 to over $100 each year from the Claude News, for phones, said company has not yet seen its way clear to give this business institution one dime for either advertising or job printing.

Any good county newspaper donates every year hundreds of dollars of free advertising towards the boosting and building up of its town and county. In this building up Claude and Armstrong county, the Standard Telephone Company is benefitted directly and indirectly, therefore is in duty bound to use some advertising in this paper and also to give the paper all, or at least a part of its job printing. This, the Standard has not done, and that is why we are registering a kick.

We are not saying anything against the Standard Telephone Company or its officials or the service they render, but register, here and now, a kick for not receiving any business from them when we feel that they should patronize the home town paper which has paid them for services rendered every month, regularly, and to date has not received that support we believe every telephone company is justly due home town papers by way of patronizing them.—Claude News.

MICKIE SAYS—

WHEN YOUR AD APPEARS IN OUR COLUMNS, IT ACQUIRES PRESTIGE THAT GOES WITH PUBLICATION IN THE CLAUDE NEWS, THE FRIEND OF THE COMMUNITY—AND HOW MUCH PRESTIGE DO YOU THINK YOU GET FROM A HANDBILL LYING IN THE GUTTER?

IMPERTINENT BUT PERTINENT

Any fool can ask questions, but it generally requires wisdom to answer them. For instance—

Why do we find fault with our home community without advancing a remedy for the condition of which we complain?

Why do we look upon others as grasping when we are doing all we can to grab everything possible for ourselves?

Why do we feel resentment toward more favored people while we perhaps feel ourselves just a little superior to those who are less fortunately situated than ourselves?

Why do we kick the dog out of our way and then expect it to refrain from biting us when we get in its way?

Why do we stretch the truth in putting over a business deal and then roar when some other fellow hooks us in the same way?

Why do we spread the faults of others while using every endeavor to cover up our own?

Why do we consider other people's children "fresh" while the same faults in our own are generally looked upon as an early indication of a high order of intelligence?

Why do we double up with mirth at the discomfiture of others and then become peeved when the joke is on us?

Why do we so freely criticize our neighbors and resent their criticisms of us?

Why are we always right and others wrong?

Of course, an answer to these questions would reflect upon the other fellow—we could hardly expect it to be otherwise—but why?

NO SIGNS ALLOWED

A representative of the State Highway Department was in our office last week and asked us to call attention to the fact that no signs are allowed along the right-of-way on public roads. We are very glad to render the highway department this service, for, under no consideration, should signs be placed on the roads, excepting those making mileage or giving directions.

It is a strict violation of the law to put any kind of an advertising sign along the right-of-way on a public road. This law was passed some three years ago. In many counties, and especially near large cities, it has been the custom in the past during campaign years for candidates to place large signs along the roads that the passers might know what office they seek. Two years ago the highway department tolerated this, despite the fact that it was unlawful, but the representative above referred to said that it would not be allowed this year. He stated that not only would the candidate be liable to a penalty by the law, but that the signs would be torn down just as fast as they were discovered. The same thing holds good for any mercantile establishment, or any firm that advertises wares of any kind for sale.

Not only do sign boards and large bill boards make a road and country unsightly, but they sometimes become dangerous. Usually signs are placed near crossings or at curves where cars have to slow down. A number of accidents have been known to occur on account of a bill board obstructing the view of drivers.

The State Highway Department hopes that the business men and candidates of Cottle county will take notice of this request and not cause them to have to make arrests and tear down a lot of unsightly signs that might be placed along the right-of-way of roads.—Paducah Post.

SCHOOL ATHLETICS

Voluntary failing in school work this year in order to be eligible for next year's football contests, or general retardation of a student's progress through high school by avoiding certain courses necessary for graduation in order that athletic participation may be prolonged, is an abuse that is developing in the Interscholastic League. Such an abuse as this tends to bring the whole league program into disrepute. The league is for the purpose of assisting the general program of the school, and when it becomes a hindrance it had better be abandoned. If thine eye offend thee, pluck it out. Many competent school men have been so swept away with the public enthusiasm for inter-school sports, and so delighted that something in connection with the school program has become self-supporting financially, that they tend to lose sight of the primary purpose of both school and sport. Of course, many tears are shed for the "big boy," the one who got a late start, the one who can be kept in school only by the attraction of athletic participation, but occasionally (and often unconsciously) that is but a covering for another purpose, namely, the staging of a superior athletic spectacle with larger and larger gate receipts. For every big laggard who doesn't finish high school in four years and is allowed a position on the athletic team of the school, there is one smaller and younger, doing his work in normal time, who is deprived of the benefits of athletic participation. Let's reserve a few tears for this lad.—Interscholastic Leaguer.

Staple Cotton Will Help Promote Prosperity

The entire business world is built and based on standards. It is only reasonable to suppose that farming must be built on standards, too, if it is to succeed. To accomplish this, we urge the planting of certified seed that will grow a staple product.

Sixteen million bales of cotton from this year's crop will be bad enough in itself—but sixteen million bales of short staple cotton will be a real disaster.

It is to the farmer's own interests that he plant staple cotton. The announcement has been made that all cotton will be graded and bought this year strictly according to merit, which means that the farmer who continues to produce an inferior grade will be penalized, while the farmer producing a staple product will receive a premium.

Scot Accent Contagious

English purists are aroused over a curious situation which has arisen in some of the market towns of Essex. So many Scottish farmers have settled in this district that slowly but surely the Lowland Scots' accent is taking the place of native English.

Unfailing Supply

It's easy to entertain guests in the city because you can get plenty of food just by opening a can, and plenty of music just by opening a window.

Co-operation in Germany

Co-operative associations are making rapid growth among German farmers, there now being more than 100,000 such organizations in the country.

TO THE VOTERS OF GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS:

In behalf of Mr. J. A. Fowler's candidacy for office of one of your county commissioners, it is a pleasure to make a few statements regarding his qualifications to the voters of his district. I have known Mr. Fowler personally for the past thirty-seven years and know him to be a gentleman of good character and habits, highly successful in his personal businesses and well qualified for the position of county commissioner. It was my pleasure to serve on the same board with Mr. Fowler as city commissioner of Duncan, Oklahoma, at which time Mr. Fowler supervised construction work, such as water works system, electric light plant, sewer system and street paving. To those of you who vote for and support Mr. Fowler, I am sure you will have no cause for regret afterwards, and that he will fulfill the office to your full satisfaction. Yours very truly, CLAUDE L. FRENSELY Mayor of Duncan, Oklahoma

The candidate who sends us his picture or a long "news" item about his coming talk over the radio does not make a hit with us. Any time he wants to spend his money with the radio station and expect the newspaper to give him publicity, he may count us out.

The American Legion Post is to be congratulated upon securing orders for flags and installing them in record time. There has been a need for such a plan of street decorating for a long time, and future holidays can be brightened up properly by the use of the flags.

It would seem that any man who makes his living out of his home town should be loyal to its interests and the interests of the community. No man has any right to knock his home town, and when he does so he is helping to tear down his own business at the same time.

Items carrying expressions of opinion, or statements unknown to the editor, cannot properly be carried in the news columns unless signed by the writers. Exceptions are made in the church and school columns, as it is understood that all items in these columns are reported to the editor.

Amarillo lost the sessions of the Panhandle Press Association three years ago when they devoted all their attention to the oil industry and did not give the press boys as much attention as they thought proper; however, it may be that the right kind of invitation at Memphis this year will get the meeting back to Amarillo. A large number of the boys would like to hold the sessions in a larger town, as most of us are used to small town dinners and would like something a little different at the convention.

The annual war on stray dogs is on in most towns of this section. McLean has a dog license law that should be strictly enforced, as the man who thinks enough of his dog to pay the license tax will usually keep him off his neighbor's premises, while the dog that is allowed to trespass does not need any consideration. Dogs, chickens and small boys are bad on lawns and gardens if allowed to run wild, and as most people control their children and the chicken ordinance is enforced pretty well, it leaves only the dog problem facing the home owner this spring.

MISS LASSWELL ENTERTAINS

Miss Vera Lasswell entertained a number of friends with a party last Saturday evening, April 12. Numerous indoor and lawn games were indulged in until a late hour, when refreshments were served to the following guests: Misses Blanche McAdams, Iva Bacon, Ollie Mae Irvin, Gladys Snow, Hester Isom, Ninetta Cooke, Reta Lane, Susan Chambers, Rethie Boyce, Oretta Ayer, Leola and Alta Lankford, Lorine Burrows and Vera Lasswell; Messrs. The visitor was being shown about by the head of the up-to-date business house.

"Who is that dapper youth at the glass-topped desk?" he asked.

"He keeps an index showing where the index cards are."

"Who is the young man with the gray gaiters and the efficient ears?"

"He keeps an index showing the length of time it takes to index the indexes."

"Who is the girl with the golden hair?"

"She decides under what index an index to the index of the filing cabinets shall be placed."

"And who is the gray-haired man at the disordered desk in the corner?"

"Oh, that's old Jorges. He doesn't fit in very well with the rest of the office, but I have to keep him around. He's the only employee who can find important papers when I want them in a hurry."

MAKING YOU OVER

The French beauty operators have added another "correction" of nature. Lifting faces, reshaping noses, eliminating double chins, has had its vogue, but will continue as one of the necessities of beautifying the foolish of the species. Added to this is the cute little trick of enlarging the eyes. It's a simple operation. The operator sits them at the outer corner and "button hole" stitches the slit to bring it into proper position. Then some of the cartilage is removed from the upper lid. There is no danger to it at all—except, perhaps, the loss of eyesight. This, however, will not deter milady from taking the risk.

He Got What He Wanted

By EDGAR T. MONFORT

DOWN at the office we all thought G. Walker was a queer old duck, but we liked him unreservedly. He was somewhere in the fifties, tall, thin, colorless, unmarried. A good plodder. He had been one of the bookkeepers at Jedlow and Ussup's for over thirty years, a cog in a wheel, a man who would have been lost without some one to tell him what to do every day.

But, as I said before, he was queer. To illustrate the crazy things the fellow could do, one day the boss came along and stopped at Walker's desk and said: "We're trying to get the vacations fixed up now so that no one will be disappointed. How would you like to have yours in May this year instead of August as you always do?" "Oh, no, Mr. Jedlow," the man cried. "It wouldn't be a vacation to me at all then. You see, I like to take it when the children are out of school because I love to play with them." "But I thought you weren't married," said Jedlow, surprised. "I'm not. I mean the neighborhood children," Walker explained, embarrassed. "I'm sort of daffy about child, I guess."

"Very well, then," Jedlow said, moving off, "we'll try to fix it up for August."

Of course it went over the office like wildfire and we all had a great laugh at Walker's expense, but we soon forgot the whole matter. We almost forgot Walker himself, although he worked at our elbows every day. He was that kind.

Summer came hot and sultry. Every one was cross and disinclined to talk, the office force worked with a kind of grim determination. On the stroke of five people rushed for the elevator and escaped to the park or to the privacy of their own rooms, where hot, sticky shirts and dresses could be shed.

On the first of August, Walker disappeared for his vacation. Three weeks later some one remembered that Walker had not returned. It seemed strange that he would stay over time because he was usually back on the dot.

Then on the twentieth of the month the office force got invitations to run out and spend the evening with Walker at 1117 Wisconsin avenue. We accepted out of curiosity mainly. What could it mean? Walker had lived in the same rooming house on Maple street almost as long as he had worked at Jedlow and Ussup's. Why had he moved and why the party?

The evening of the affair we all met at a central point and went over to Walker's new address en masse. We found a plain, shabby little house. At our ring Walker himself opened the door. He had a baby in his arms, another was hanging onto his right hand, two peered around from behind his long, skinny trousers leg and two more came tearing into the little hall at the sound of our voices. Then when we could at last take our eyes off Walker we saw a thin, middle-aged woman standing beside him.

"My wife, friends," he introduced proudly, "and these are our children. This is Johnny and Harry, and Dick and Agnes, and Claire, and Louise."

"Yes," piped one of the children. "Mommy's married and we all went on the honeymoon and we had the grandest time. Dad bought the car out there. Come and see the car. . . . Come and see the car."

That saved us and gave us time to collect our wits. The kids fell on us and dragged us out to see the car, a dilapidated old giant of a thing.

But the funny part came when we found out that Mrs. Walker was not the mother of the children, but an old maid aunt who had adopted them.

Four Walker certainly had put his foot in it, we decided, saddled himself with an old maid and a half dozen squalling brats. And how could he support them on his meager salary? Then we got our next shock. Jedlow told us about it afterward. It seems he walked into Jedlow's office one morning and said something like this:

"See here, Mr. Jedlow, I've worked here for over thirty years. I have been faithful and steady and while I had no one dependent on me it was all right, but now that I have a family to support it's another matter. I've got to rise and rise in a hurry because I need the money. What are you going to do about it?"

Walker rose.

He developed a new vim and aggressiveness. He was first made assistant head bookkeeper; in a couple of years he became head bookkeeper and later was put in charge of the wholesale department. And the kids? He spoiled them horribly. It was Daddy this and Daddy that. He slaved to educate them, to dress them better than any of the children in his neighborhood. He was adored by them and by his wife.

After all, we had to admit that Walker wasn't such a fool as he seemed. Queer, maybe, but his marriage had been a success. He had been half a dozen of us make what seemed to be wise marriages, finally to land on the rocks.

You see, Walker got what he wanted and, after all, that's what it takes to make life a success.

SCHOOL NEWS

SHINING LIGHTS OF M. G. S.

ROOMS

The first four primary rooms are working on their program for the last of school. We know this will be an excellent program, when we judge what the primary grades have always done.

The Red Hot Peppers will take a well earned fourth holiday next Friday.

The Busy Bees will go on a picnic Thursday, for they have made hundreds for six weeks.

It is wonderful the interest each room has taken to keep the standard as near a hundred as possible.

The high fifth grade has won a half holiday for the cleanest room. Their picnic was held in the public park, which is an ideal place to have a picnic at this time of the year.

PERSONALS

June Woods, Editor
Miss Rankin went to Wellington Sunday.

Juanita Wade went to Clarendon Sunday.

Miss Cousins went to Hedley Sunday.

Letha Smith went to Alanreed Sunday.

Archie Durham went to Alanreed Sunday.

ASSEMBLY

Editor, Rosalie Shearon
The assembly program Friday consisted of three short numbers from the musical comedy that was put on Friday night at the high school.

There will be a negro minstrel given by the high seventh Wednesday, April 16. Everyone is invited to come.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Sports Editor, L. A. Tolliver
The six intermediate grades are now in a splendid contest of tennis. The following students represent their classes:

Low fifth—Boys' doubles, J. D. Back and James Emmett Cooke. Boys' singles, Omer Smith.

High fifth—Boys' singles, Wilson Shaw.

Low sixth—Boys' doubles, J. L. Mann and Arthur Ray Ledbetter. Boys' singles, Arnold Sharp. Girls' doubles, Juanita Carpenter and Mozelle Glenn. Girls' singles, Delma Kennedy.

High sixth—Boys' doubles, Lewis Tolliver and Charles Stratton. Boys' singles, Fred Haley. Girls' doubles, Juanita Brooks and Imogene Myatt. Girls' singles, Alta Langford.

Low seventh—Girls' doubles, Oleta Back and Mary Emma Back. Girls' singles, Bonnie Kuhl. Boys' doubles, Robert Brewer and George McCarty. Boys' singles, George McCarty.

High seventh—Boys' doubles, Christal Christian and Arthur Lee Howard. Boys' singles, Archie Durham. Girls' doubles, Mary Ruth Tolliver and Emagne Ayer. Girls' singles, Letha Smith.

How they stand—The high sixth has fourth place in singles, the low seventh second place in singles, high seventh second, and Mr. McHaney holds first place in singles. The doubles have not been played yet.

DANGERS OF BATHING

There is danger that someone discovering you in the tub will mistake you for dead and call the body snatchers. Such was the case at Racine, Wis., described in the following press dispatch:

"A 'corpse' came to life here while Racine police were carrying the supposedly dead man in a bathtub to the station. A telephone call had requested the officers to call for the body of a man discovered in the tub, which was part of an apartment building that was being wrecked.

"The police arrived, picked up the tub and started to an ambulance when a startled man arose from the improvised stretcher and asked what it all was about. He explained he had merely been taking a bath."

First He—"See that girl? Her face is her fortune."

Second He—"Yeah, and it runs into a nice figure."—Ohio State Sun Dial.

They are never alone who are accompanied with noble thoughts.—Sir Phillip Sidney.

George Williams of Pampa was a McLean visitor this week.

Born, Monday, April 14, 1930, to Mr. and Mrs. Merle Grigsby, an 11½ pound boy.

PROCLAMATION

From a sanitary standpoint, our whole city should be made as clean and orderly as its cleanest home.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as mayor of the city of McLean, Texas, with the consent and approval of the city council, I hereby proclaim the week of May 5-10 as Clean-up Week, and request that all citizens assist in a general clean-up.

Clean up the streets and alleys adjacent to your property. Gather all tin cans and rubbish into sacks and boxes, or convenient piles, and place near the alley and the city dump wagon will remove them without cost to you.

We need this thorough cleansing and renovating of our city from a standpoint of civic pride, as well as a sanitary one, and we are depending on each and every organization, man woman and child in the city to do their part in this clean-up campaign.

Remember the dates and govern yourselves accordingly.

JOT MONTGOMERY, Mayor.
City of McLean, Texas.
Attest: W. E. BOGAN, City Secretary.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SAVING GAS

The following suggestions have been found useful in saving gas and prolonging the life of gas ranges:

Before baking potatoes, let them stand in hot water for 15 minutes. If this is done, only about half as much gas will be required to bake them.

Green vegetables cooked in a small amount of water require less gas and retain their mineral salts, color and flavor to a greater degree.

It is wasteful to use the giant burner for boiling. Too rapid boiling increases evaporation, but saves no time in cooking, since water cannot be heated beyond the boiling point. Too hot an oven produces large holes in quick breads. Five to eight minutes will heat the gas oven for most mixtures, and ten minutes for biscuits.

MY DOG

He hasn't any pedigree; he never won a prize

In any dog show, but he has love shinin' in his eyes!

His tail is bent, his nose is wet; his ears, one down, one up!

An' there are folks who claim he is a funny lookin' pup.

He chases neighbors' cats about— (It's funny how this pup o' mine can get himself in Dutch!)

Can't say I blame him much! He howls at night (well, so would you if you were locked outside),

An' then I slip down quietly an' let him come inside!

Blue ribbons don't mean much to him—he'd rather be with me

An' diggin' down some rabbit hole or barkin' up a tree!

An' say—one time I had the mumps—the kids all stayed away,

But that brave pup o' mine just came an' licked the pain away!

He hasn't any pedigree; he never won a prize.

But, oh, he's got a world o' love a-shin' in his eyes!

—C. Hastings, in Boys' Weekly.

HOW TO TELL GOOD LEATHER

Listen! If you won't tell it, I'll tell you a secret. Most shoe shops use the second grade of sole leather known as "fine." It is good, but not the best. If you want the best, look for the word "prime" on each half sole, whether it be the old reliable Rock Oak or some other brand.

A THOUGHT

Pertaining to Credit

Very few are so fortunate as to be able to pay cash for the things they should have. They have earning capacity, however, that entitles them to have good home furnishings while earning the purchase price. The credit system is largely responsible for fine homes of the Americans. It is as enduring and as stable as time itself. Without it we would be a nation of peasants and serfs. With it we are a nation in which every citizen is a sovereign.

This store points with pride to its budget plan of easy payments. That plan has enabled thousands to enjoy better living conditions and surroundings. It is yours to command. It has helped others to live in well furnished homes. It will help you.

HERE'S PROOF

This is to certify that I was diagnosed as having cancer of the stomach by three up-to-the minute physicians, before I was brought to a chiropractor's office by Uncle Frank and Aunt Mary Cope. I was hardly able to sit up at that time, and had lost 47 pounds. I had a Radionic analysis which verified the diagnosis of the other doctors.

With the Copes' aid I purchased a card of Radionic Vibrations—that being Armistice Day, 1929. Today—March 15, 1930—I have gained 32 pounds, can work hard every day, and feel good all the time. I was too sore to be adjusted for the first few weeks, so I just took the Radionic alone for the first three weeks. I was dismissed today—and I can do a man's work and feel good all the time.

I can highly recommend the Radionic and Chiropractic.

Feeding experts everywhere urge you to grind all feed to insure use of full nutritive value. Grain fed whole involves waste—part is not digested. With the Fairbanks-Morse Feed Mill you can grind roughage as well as grain. Ground feed is easily mixed into palatable rations that produce maximum results. Grinding gives 10 to 25 per cent saving on every bushel. Hence this mill quickly repays its cost. Buy on time payments if you prefer. We can also furnish on special order a speed jack for use in connection with tractors or engines that do not have a belt pulley giving sufficiently high speed for this mill. Fairbanks-Morse Plate Type Feed Grinders—in three sizes—are adapted for use where a grinder for grains only, including ear corn, is desired. Plates are self-sharpening and entire construction is designed for long, trouble-free service. Let us demonstrate. Buy under the new F.-M. Finance Plan if you desire.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

W. A. Erwin, Minister
 Sunday school 10 a. m., F. H. Bourland, supt. Every member and friend of the Sunday school is earnestly urged to be present this Easter morning.
 Morning worship 11 a. m. The pastor will preach on the Resurrection. There will be special music.
 At 8 p. m. the choir will sing "Alleluia!" by Stults. The text is taken from the New Testament and the music is brilliant and beautiful. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Erwin and Mrs. Bourland, have been most faithful. The choruses, solos, duets and quartettes make the forty-five minutes pass off too quickly.

Prelude—Mrs. W. A. Erwin.
 1. Opening chorus—Hearts and Voices Heavenward Raise.
 2. Soprano recitative—The First Day of the Week.
 3. Chorus—In Vain with Stone the Tomb They Barred.
 4. Baritone, alto and soprano soli, soprano and alto duet, chorus with soprano obligato—The Empty Sepulcher.
 5. Chorus with tenor solo—Jesus Our Risen King.
 Soprano, tenor and alto soli, with women's quartette — Woman, Why Weepst Thou?
 Chorus—The Strife Is O'er.
 8. Soprano and tenor soli and chorus—Peace Be unto You.
 9. Closing chorus, women's and mixed voices—Alleluia!
 The public is cordially invited to attend.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

W. Hickman, Pastor
 We are glad for the increased interest in the work of the Lord by the members and friends of our church. The attendance on last Sunday was good at both morning and evening service and the presence of the Lord was manifestly felt. "Praise His holy name forever." Our cottage prayer meetings which are being conducted twice a week are proving to be a great blessing to those who attend. We are glad to have the privilege of serving a God that hears and answers prayer. We met last Monday night with Grandma Hudgins and the Lord wonderfully blessed us. Sister Hudgins expressed her appreciation of the service and gave us a standing invitation to return at any time that would suit our convenience. The service for Saturday night will be held in the pastor's home, and we extend an invitation to any and all who care to attend. We would be glad to hold prayer meeting in any home that will invite the service.
 We are praying for a great revival of religion that will really and truly save men and women from sin and put them on the run for Heaven. Next Sunday morning we shall preach on the subject of the "Resurrection, or Our Conquering King." Our subject for the evening service will be "The Fattest Man in Town." Come and feast at a well spread table.
 Our Sunday school superintendent would be glad to greet you and your friends at the Sunday school hour, 10 a. m. Come and help put on his shining face a smile that won't come off.
 We hope to meet all the church officials next Sunday at 3 p. m. for a very important business meeting. Remember April 30th, the date for a great revival, when seasons of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord. Glory to God!

Mrs. McHaney taught the lesson, but resigned as study leader, and Mrs. S. A. Cobb was elected to fill the vacancy.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Appling, with Mesdames McHaney and Petty as hostesses.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

R. B. McDougald, Evangelist
 The preaching in this revival meeting is to be done by Evangelist R. B. McDougald, who did all of his high school and two years college work in Thorp Springs Christian College, finishing junior college work there as valedictorian, June 5, 1923, which gave him a scholarship in Abilene Christian College, where he finished his college work June 1, 1925, receiving an A. B. degree and a teachers' permanent certificate, with an average of 99 on all college work.
 Since finishing school, Evangelist McDougald preached for the church in Ada, Okla., for 21 months, during which time there were 179 additions to the church. In the summer of 1928 he was in a revival meeting at Shiloh, near Kemp, Texas, which is his home congregation, and this meeting resulted in 51 additions. In the summer of 1927 he was at Shiloh for a meeting which resulted in 108 additions. During the last four years of his school work and since finishing school, he has devoted his entire time to the preaching of the Gospel of Christ, which has resulted in 1300 additions to the body of Christ.

During this meeting the church will do its best to cause each person to feel welcome; and the truth will be spoken in the spirit of love.

You are cordially invited to bring your friends and have fellowship in this meeting, hearing the discussion of the following subjects:

- April 20—11 a. m., "The Christian's Platform." 8 p. m., "The Wonderful Christ."
- April 21—8 p. m., "The Essentials of Salvation."
- April 22—8 p. m., "What We Teach and why We Teach It."

April 23—8 p. m., "The Power of the Gospel."

April 24—8 p. m., "Salvation to Be Worked Out."

April 25—8 p. m., "Sowing and Reaping."

April 26—8 p. m., "Eating of the Bread of Life."

April 27—11 a. m., "A Powerful Church." 8 p. m., "Where Are You?"

April 28—8 p. m., "The Precious Invitation."

April 29—8 p. m., "Obedience."

April 30—8 p. m., "The Unbroken Chain."

May 1—8 p. m., "Why Do You Wait?"

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

B. W. Wilkins, Pastor
 Our services are being very well attended at this writing (Wednesday) and we are expecting the attendance to increase. Interest is good, and many complimentary things are being said relative to this unusual series of services.
 The subject for Thursday evening, "Joy of His Fellowship—Sorrow at His Absence." Friday evening, "Judah Peter, Pilate of Today." Saturday evening, "Value of Memories." Sunday morning, "He Is Risen." Sunday evening, "Perfect Plan of Redemption."

The Mazaroff Mystery

by J.S. Fletcher

Illustrations by Erwin Myers

The most casual eye would pick out Salim Mazaroff as a notable figure. A man of affairs, who rightfully claimed the attention of the multitude; yet there was a gentleness about him, a democracy of manner, which reserved him no pinnacle above his fellows but made him one of them. There was an element of mystery about him too, but it was not the sort to produce suspicion, but rather, of the type to intrigue and invite a friendly interest.

Being so obviously a real man and so affable and open-handed, he was about the last person in the world to be thought of as likely to have created powerful enemies or of being the object of a sinister pursuit and revenge. Why should anyone wish to do harm to this able, generous and thoroughly likable individual?

Facts being as they were, and no dark chapters in his life even hinted at, it became all the more strange that such things as afterward developed should have befallen him; that he should have become the center of a mystery that was cunning, cruel and baffling.

"I hope you're feeling quite well again after your wounds?" he asked. "Quite fit, thank you," I answered. "Fit for light work, anyway."

CHAPTER I

Mr. Mazaroff

It was Dick Harker who first put me in touch with the man whose mysterious murder, while in my company, formed the basis of what came to be famous in three continents as the Mazaroff affair. Harker and I were old schoolfellows; we entered the army together as subalterns; we were in the same battalion throughout the great war; we were wounded on the same day, and in the same scrap—a fortnight before the armistice; we were sent to the same home hospital and were eventually discharged from it at the same time, each unfit for any further military service, but fortunately in possession of our full complement of limbs. Harker walked into my rooms one morning while I was still at breakfast, and flung down a copy of the Times, indicating a blue pencilled advertisement in the "Personal" column.

"This is a typical J. S. Fletcher story of the puzzle variety. This author's popularity rests upon the fact that he always has an entertaining tale to tell and tells it ably. His people are always human and he never loses track of the many threads in his mystery or fails to work out his puzzles satisfactorily."

"That's your job, Mervyn," he said in his usual direct fashion. "Get busy!"

I took up the paper and read the advertisement before making any remark. The advertiser, who has recently returned to England after a prolonged absence, and is desirous of making an extensive tour through the northern shires, in his private automobile, desires the company of a bright, sociable, well-educated, and well-informed young gentleman, preferably an ex-officer, invalided out of the service. Applications, with full and precise details and references, to be addressed Box M. 5343, the Times, E.C.4.

I think it was more out of curiosity than anything that I replied to that advertisement, setting forth my qualifications and detailing my references. Yet I never expected any reply; I knew well enough that there were hundreds of men whose qualifications and references would be just as good as my own—why should I be singled out? It was therefore with a good deal of surprise that, about a fortnight later, I received and read the following letter:

"Hotel Cecil,
8th September, 1919.
"My Dear Sir, I am much obliged to you for your letter of the 23rd August. I think you and I would get on together very pleasantly, and I shall be further obliged to you if you will call on me at this hotel tomorrow morning about half past twelve o'clock so that we may have a little talk. I remain, my dear sir,
"Truly yours,
"SALIM MAZAROFF."

I walked into the Hotel Cecil next morning at precisely twelve-thirty. Evidently Mr. Mazaroff had already given certain instructions about me, for as soon as I inquired for him, I in my turn, was asked if I was Mr. Mervyn Holt, and on my assenting, was handed over to an attendant who whisked me off to a private—and palatial—suite of rooms. He installed me in an ante-chamber, tapped at an inner door, murmured my name to somebody within, closed the door, informed me that Mr. Mazaroff wouldn't keep me one minute, and went away. And I discovered at once that Mr. Mazaroff was really a man of his word, for before a minute had gone, the door opened again, and he stood there with outstretched hand.

I took a good look at him as I went forward. I judged him to be about six feet in height; his breadth corresponded; altogether he gave one the impression of bigness and solidity. His eyes it was difficult to estimate; his brown hair and beard were grizzled, and between his eyes and his beard there was a good deal of seam and wrinkle; he looked like a man who has weathered storms, and been under fierce suns and drying winds. There was a distinctive air of good nature, good humor, even of benevolence, about him, but it was somewhat discounted by a long, sharp nose and close-set, small eyes, and further by a cast in the left eye. But his smile was pleasant enough; so was the twinkle of his eyes, and there was nothing cold nor formal about his handshake.

"Glad to see you," he said, almost brusquely. "I was certain that wherever or how-ever Mr. Mazaroff had come by his un-English name, he himself was a Scotsman; there was no mistaking his accent."

"I shall be pleased to go with you," I answered. "I hope I shall be able to do all you want. You think I shall?"

"It's little I want but company," he replied. "I'm a lone man—neither kith, kin, nor friends. I've been out of this country many years, and now I'm back I just want to dander round a bit, seeing places. An idle time, eh?"

"You've no fixed plan?" I inquired. "No more than that we'll just get into my car and go north," he answered. "Stopping where we like and when we like. I'll tell you I've a fancy for old towns, anything old and gray and cool. You take me?"

"The Great North road, then, will be a good route to follow?" I said. "I know that road and its surroundings—well!"

"That's it!" he exclaimed, joyfully. "We'll do very well—just progressing northward. I've no particular object—except that when we get far north, there's a place I want to turn aside to Mr. Mazaroff and I Spent a Couple of Hours Over That Lunch and Our Cigars and Coffee.

—Marrasdale moor—just to renew acquaintance. What about terms, now?" he asked, diffidently. "I think I ought to leave that to you, Mr. Mazaroff," I answered. "I'd prefer to."

He gave a sigh of what, it was plain, was sheer relief. "That's just what I'd like you to do," he said, simply. "That's a thing that gentlemen shouldn't bargain about. Leave it to me—you'll not regret it. I'm a very rich man, laddie, and rich men are entitled to have their little games and fancies, eh? Very well, now—and when can you be ready to start?"

"Any time, with a couple of hours' notice," I replied. "Good—good!" he exclaimed. "Then I'll just tell you what we'll do, Holt. Bring your kit along here this afternoon, and we'll start about five o'clock, and run gently along as far as we like before dinner time—there'll be some old town where we can spend a peaceful evening and a quiet night in an old-fashioned hotel. I've a fine Rolls-Royce car in the garage, and a thoroughly dependable chauffeur. We'll step, a trusty, good, sensible fellow and we'll be right as rain. Come by five o'clock. That'll suit you? Good! And now we'll just go down and take a bit of lunch together."

Mr. Mazaroff and I spent a couple of hours over that lunch and our cigars and coffee. He proved himself a knowing and generous host, and a great talker. His talk was worth listening to. I soon discovered that he had seen many strange places and peoples, without giving me any definite information about himself or his pursuits, he let me know that he had traveled extensively in various out-of-the-way parts of Asia and Africa. Presently I left him and went away to make ready for our journey; at five o'clock I was back at the hotel with my luggage, and by a quarter past we were off.

We followed out Mazaroff's line of going as far as we liked, and stopping where and when we chose. It was difficult to get him away from towns like Stamford and Groutham—at York, after a preliminary inspection of the old city, he announced his intention of staying a week; we stopped ten days.

All the way north, he was never tired of drawing me out about the war, and my own doings in it. It was of no use to profess that one had forgotten; he would have the whole tale. And for all the youngsters who had done their bit he professed an admiration which was akin to veritable hero worship.

We got on together splendidly—he was an excellent, a fatherly and brotherly companion. At the end of a month he and I were inseparable. We had then run into the crisp October weather of the north, and were on the southern edge of Northumberland. There, after consulting his map, he gave his chauffeur orders to cut across country, north by west, making by way of Hexham and Wark for the wild lands beyond, and for a particular place marked on the chart as the Woodcock Inn on Marrasdale moor.

When, rounding a heather-clad bluff that sloped sharply down to our track, we came in sight of the Woodcock Inn, I was amazed to think that a hostelry should be found in such a desert. It stood, a gaunt gray mass of stone, on the edge of a great moor ringed about by high hills—as veritable a solitude as one could set eyes on. Beyond it there was not a sign of human life or habitation.

"What an extraordinary place for an inn!" I exclaimed as we moved nearer. "What custom can they get there?" "I know this country," Mazaroff said. "Used to come here when I was a younger, and though it's true—"

Jack Harden of Pampa was in McLean Monday.

There is a great deal of life about us except what's signified by the old inn yonder, it's not such a desert as it looks at first sight. There's nothing on the moor—Marrasdale moor—but you'll observe that there's valleys cutting in between the hills that run down to its edge? Well, there's villages in those valleys, and farmsteads, too, and more than one sizable country house. I mind them all well enough, laddie, though it's more years than I care to estimate since I set eyes on them!"

"There'll be people you remember," I suggested, "and who'll remember you?" "Not after all these years!" he answered quickly. "And between you and me and the post, Holt, I've no wish to remember people, nor—more particularly—to be remembered by anybody. I don't want it to be known that I'm other than a complete stranger to the place."

I was wondering why he should be so mysterious about this, when we drew up at the door of the inn. There was a plain board sign over the wide, open door, undecorated save for a faded painting of a woodcock flying across a moorland scene. Beneath it, in tarnished gilt letters appeared the words: "The Woodcock Inn by James Musgrave."

"It was Haneshaw that had it when I was last here," murmured my companion. "Dead and gone, no doubt, all of them! And this man no doubt'll be Musgrave."

A man had appeared at the open door, and was coming across the road to us. He was a middle-aged, good-looking fellow. Behind him came a woman, a sharp-featured, alert, quickly observing woman who slipped past the man and gained the side of our car first. It was she who did the talking.

"Good day, ma'am," said Mr. Mazaroff. "You'll be the landlady, no doubt?—and this'll be your husband? Aye, well now, we're thinking of breaking our journey here for a day or two, perhaps for two or three, just to look around this grand country of yours. You'll have accommodation?" (Continued next week)

ANOTHER NUGGET

A certain breeder of dairy cattle in one of the Southern states is distinguished for two things—the excellent quality of his cattle and his relentless insistence on his hired hands keeping busy. A negro came to him one day and applied for a job as milker.

"You don't look to me like a nigger that wants a steady job," replied the dairyman, eyeing him critically. "Yassuh, boss, Ah wants a stiddy job."

"Well, go to work, then, but I'm telling you, I don't like your looks." The negro went, and found that he not only had to milk twenty cows, but care for the milk, wash the utensils, curdy the cows and feed them, clean the stalls and drive the cows to and from the pasture. In fact, he put in about eighteen hours a day. He was game, though, and stayed with it for two months. Then he gave notice.

"I knew it! I knew it!" railed the dairyman. "I knew you didn't want a steady job, you no-account rascal." "Yassuh, boss, Ah does," protested the dinky, "but you's been layin' me off six hours ever' night."

COMPARE the delivered price as well as the list price in considering automobile values. Chevrolet's prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing. See G. M. A. C. Terms

There is one sure way to get greater value in a low-priced car today—choose a Six!

This greater value is instantly obvious when you drive a Chevrolet Six. You notice first of all its greater smoothness. There is no tremor in the steering wheel—no rattle in the floor boards—no drumming in the body.

In addition to the finer performance of its six-cylinder motor, the new Chevrolet gives you truly remarkable economy.

Its six-cylinder smoothness saves the entire car from the strain and wear of vibration. This, of course, lowers the cost of maintenance and assures a longer-lasting automobile.

From the standpoint of operating expense, Chevrolet is equally economical. No automobile uses less gasoline and oil. No car shows a lower expense for tires. And no car costs less for service.

Because of its modern engineering, Chevrolet also assures a high re-sale value—for its entire design is just as advanced as its six-cylinder engine.

Chevrolet gives you fully-enclosed, weather-proof, 4-wheel brakes. It gives you a modern fuel system—with the gasoline tank mounted in the rear outside the body. It gives you four long semi-elliptic springs, mounted lengthwise in the direction of car travel. It gives you beautiful Fisher bodies built of combination hardwood-and-steel. It gives you a full ball bearing steering mechanism, an adjustable driver's seat, a Fisher VV non-glare windshield, and tilting beam headlights, operated by a foot-controlled button.

Before you decide on any car in the low-price field, see and drive the Chevrolet Six. The more thoroughly you investigate, the more certain you are to conclude that it's wise to choose a Six—for value, for performance and for economical transportation!

Agreement exists in disagreement.
 Poverty is no sin.—Herbert.
 Most of us are slaves of opinion.
 Sin puts poison into death's sting.
 Humility is the true cure for many a needless heartache.—Helps.
 Life is a great bundle of little things.—Holmes.
 Leisure is the mother of philosophy.—Hobbes.
 No man's knowledge can go beyond his experience.—Locke.
 Statistics can be unanswerable. For that reason, they are ignored.
 It is a desk that makes a man round-shouldered, not his labor.
 Nobody makes any money out of junk except those who deal in it.
 Can you tell why your character is what it is?
 Though punishment be slow, still it comes.—George Herbert.
 "A woman's work is never done," was a saying before there were three-room flats.
 People don't know when they ought to be happy until long afterward.
 Great hearts alone understand how much glory there is in being good.—Michelet.
 Love is the road to God; for love, endless love, is Himself.—Sonnenberg.
 Conscience is what makes a man tell his wife something that he thinks she is going to find out.
 Never tell a girl she looks sweet enough to kiss. Actions speak louder than words.

Historians Must Have Overlooked This Fact

The erection of a statue in France to the woman inventor of Camembert cheese led Judge Otto Rosalsky, of New York, to say:
 "Nobody will dispute the invention of Camembert, but the French have a bad habit of claiming all inventions, all. Did you know that they claim to have invented the airplane, the phonograph, the telephone, the submarine and the locomotive? Well, they do."
 "The French remind me of the town of Peebles. A visitor said to his Peebles host:
 "Fine town, Peebles."
 "Yes," said his host, "yes, you bet Peebles is a fine town."
 "What statue's that?"
 "That? Why, that's William the Conqueror, a Peebles man."—Detroit Free Press.

The Country for Virtue

Senator Thomas, of Oklahoma, said in an after dinner speech in New York:
 "The country is more virtuous than the town. The words 'fast' and 'slow,' for instance, have one meaning in the town, while in the country their meaning is more virtuous.
 "A city girl on her vacation was trying to flirt with a young farmer.
 "I suppose," she said, with a wink—"I suppose the girls around here are pretty slow."
 "Slow?" said the young farmer solemnly. "By heck, no. Why, my sister Samantha milked 27 cows and churned 14 pounds of butter this morning before breakfast."

Mail Romance

Several months ago Miss Helen Taylor, clerk in the post office in Brunswick, Ga., wrote her name and address on a slip of paper and placed it in a mail bag, not knowing where the bag was going. The bag reached Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and the slip of paper fell into the hands of Charles Ingram, night register clerk. He wrote to Miss Taylor. The two exchanged photographs, and a short time ago he went south. Now Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ingram are back in Cedar Rapids.—Indianapolis News.

Valuable Orchid Pod

Probably the most valuable flower seed pod in the world was on display at the Chelsea flower show in London in 1929. A single flower from one of the seeds sold for more than $1,500 and others sold for $1,000. It is estimated that the entire pod with seed is worth $150,000. The pod is the fertilizer of a rare orchid, the Miltonia armstrongii.—Rocky Mountain News.

Studying an Audience

"You are occasionally careless about your grammar."
 "Not careless," answered Senator Sorghum, "only discreet. Out my way folks think that if you pay strict attention to grammar, you are trying to put on airs and act supercilious."

One Consolation

"There's one consolation in regard to the high cost of living."
 "What's that?"
 "It doesn't cost any more to keep a secret than it used to."

Cruel of Her

Jack—What did the landlady do when she found that you had left the light burning for three days?
 Speert—She turned us both out.

REASONABLE DOUBT

The jury had acquitted the defendant of horse-stealing because of the powerful plea of his lawyer.
 "Honor bright, now Bill," said the lawyer, as the two left the court house, "you did steal that horse, didn't you?"
 "Well, now look here. I'll be honest with you. I always did think I stole that horse until I heard you make the speech to the jury. Now I'll be doggoned if I ain't got my doubts about it."

Marion Reynolds of Shamrock was in McLean Monday.

J. A. Sparks made a trip to Stinnett Monday.

MAINTAINING HIS REP

The house of the late O'Halloran was in deep mourning, O'H. having passed to his just deserts, whatever they might be.

"Well," said the caller, attempting to console the widow, "you know that your man lived to a good old age, anyway."

"Sure now, and did he that?" retorted the bereaved one with a touch of asperity. "Ye never knew him as I did. He was an ould divil up to th' very last."—The American Legion Monthly.

YES, WHAT?

She—"What have you for a young man?"
 Saleslady—"What does he want?"

WHICH FIRST?

"Above all," said the mistress to the new maid, "I want obedience and truthfulness."

"Yes, madam," replied the girl, "and if anybody calls when you are in, and you say you are out, which shall come first—obedience or truthfulness?"—The Churchman.
