

Frank Phillips College Reaches Twentieth Birthday

Frank Phillips College in Borger has reached its twentieth birthday. For the past years this junior college has been growing in leaps and bounds.

Seven beautiful buildings are built on a campus that has now expanded to sixty acres. These buildings are modern, air-conditioned and well kept. The oldest is only twelve years old.

The administration building was built in 1955-56. The Fine Arts building with its auditorium and student center was finished in 1961. The gymnasium was constructed in 1956 and enlarged in 1961. The college maintenance building was constructed in 1962.

The new James W. Dillard Library was finished in April 1967. This fine library is the show place of the Panhandle. With its carpeted floors, walnut furniture and 20,000 volumes, it holds a place of eminence among colleges and universities of the region.

Last year two beautiful, completely air-conditioned dormitories were constructed on the campus. Maxine Goins Hall has capacity for eighty college women, and W. G. Stephens Hall will house one hundred and twenty college men.

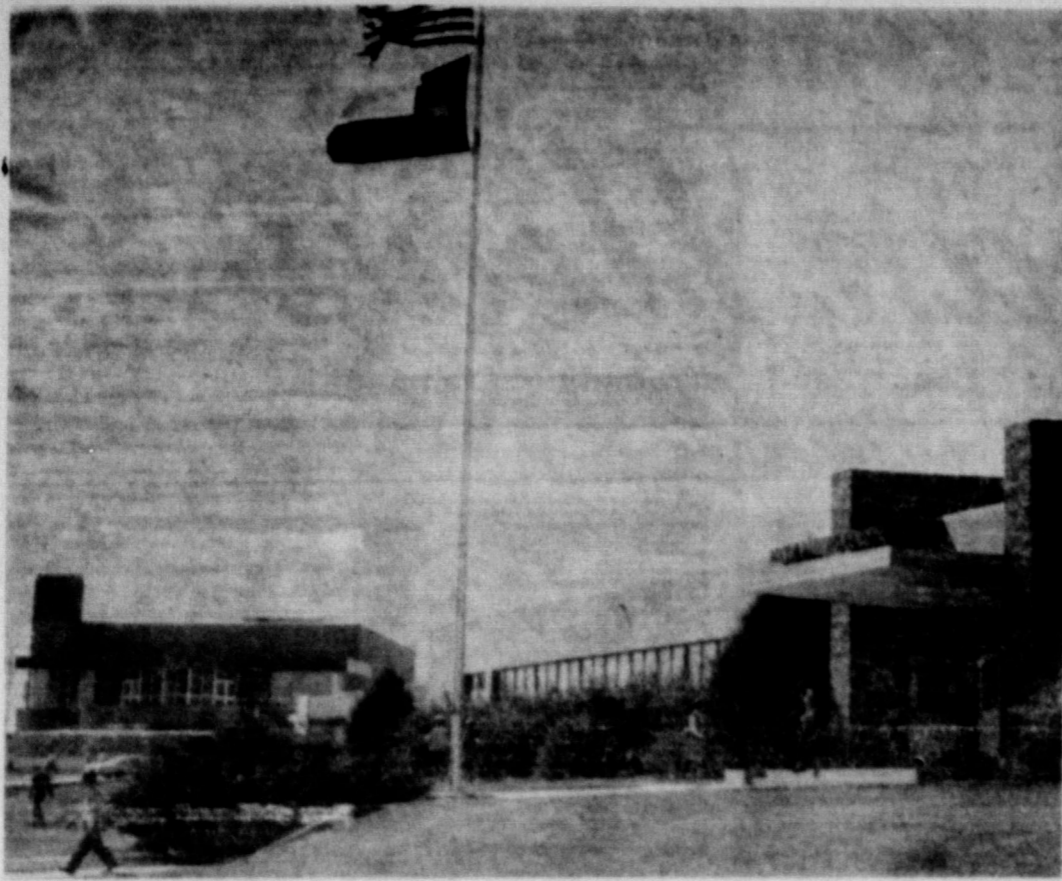

The dormitories with adequate parking area are well situated on the western slope of the campus and are readily accessible to the other buildings and the student center where the college cafeteria is located. Reservations are now being taken for rooms in the dorms.

The graduates of Frank Phillips have made an outstanding scholastic record in senior colleges and universities where they have transferred to finish their degrees.

Pre work in the professional and liberal arts fields is available. Two years work can be completed on most any degree desired. Technical and vocational courses are also available.

Frank Phillips offers ways of helping deserving students financially. A work program, a scholarship program, and a loan plan are available to qualifying applicants. Applications for assistance can be secured from the Financial Aid Office by writing to Business Office, Frank Phillips College, Box 111, Borger, Texas, 79007 or telephoning 274-5311, ext 204, Borger.

The college staff provides guidance and counseling service for students who plan to enroll. Students in the area can get personal attention at their home during the summer by requesting that a counselor from the college call in their community.

Frank Phillips has many programs of extra curricular activities. These groups provide an opportunity for development of leadership and initiative.

Frank Phillips is a two year college established by the people of the high plains of Texas, run by these same people, and geared to their environment. It ranks very high in the higher education field of Texas and the nation. It is operating to give an opportunity to the finest young people in the world.

Payment Forms Now Available For Medical Benefits

A new easy-to-complete form to collect medical insurance benefits under Medicare is now available at the Amarillo social security office.

The Request for Payment form is used for claims under the voluntary part of the Medicare program, according to Travis C. Briggs, district manager, People 65 and over who have enrolled will get payment for 80 per cent of the reasonable charges on their doctor bills and certain other medical expenses, after having met the first $50 of these expenses for the year.

There are two ways to claim payment for doctor bills and other medical services under Medicare," Briggs said. "The Request for Payment form is used for either method. Under one method, the doctor (or other supplier of services) may collect the Medicare payment directly from Medicare. If he agrees to do so, he accepts the reasonable charge as determined by the Medicare carrier as his full charge.

The second method is for the patient to apply for the payment. Under the old law, if the doctor did not want to submit his bill to Medicare, the patient had to pay him before applying for the Medicare payment. But now, the patient can apply even if he has not yet paid his bill. The patient needs to get an itemized statement (paid or unpaid) from his doctor and submit it with the Request for Payment form (SSA-1490).

These forms are available at the Amarillo social security office and at most doctors' offices."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

They had waited for this real vacation — this long trip — for years. But this time it was different, this time he wouldn't be going back to his job. At first, retirement seemed frightening, like being shut off from the mainstream of life. He had seen too many men age beyond their years, after their career ended. He had no wish to be on the sidelines. He and his wife could have moved to a warmer climate and just have taken it easy. He didn't want that. So, before he left home, he had a long talk with his minister.

He found that there was plenty a man his age could do. Financially secure, he could afford to volunteer for a job. In fact, through the Church there was work he could do that would spread to the farthest corners of the world.

Right now, he is enjoying this vacation. He is savoring every moment of it. Because, when he gets home, he's going to lead a full and useful life. And that's the way he wants it.

Let's Go Fishing BY BOB BASWATER Outdoor Editor, Murray Okubo

AIN'T NECESSARILY SO A dab of paint or the addition of a little padding may be all that's needed to salvage a lure that is not producing fish.

Color and size are extremely important in influencing the decision of a fish to smash a certain plug, say the fishing authorities at Mercury outdoors. But, the lure in your hand may appear entirely different when scanned by the critical eye of a roving largemouth. He may not be impressed by either its size or color.

Instead of disposing of an ineffective plug, try changing its apparent size by painting it a different shade. Skin divers have noted that lures painted yellow appear much larger when viewed from beneath the surface.

But color is not the only way to achieve a false dimension. There are other ways to pad out the girth of a lure without actually adding bulk.

Ordinary flyrod bugs with stiff hackles attached so that they stick out at right angles can create the effect of a larger apparition. The same feathers placed on the tail give the appearance of a longer lure.

So heed the lures and pad the plugs - a money line has been the downfall of many a lunker.

Natures Beauty Holds Danger

'The summertime beauty of our State's lush vegetation in yards, fields, pastures, and woodlands also holds dangers that the public should heed,' H. N. Smith, State Conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service in Temple, warned this week.

'Chewing, swallowing or otherwise contacting the toxic parts of certain plants, trees and shrubs takes a heavy toll,' Smith said. 'Each year health services report that about 12,000 children are poisoned or injured by these sources.'

Parents should be concerned, the SCS official stated, because many of the plants are quite common in flower and vegetable gardens, and in ornamental landscaping, as well as in wild places. Bulbs, roots, seeds, leaves, stems or berries may contain poison, depending on the species of plant.

The beautiful oleander bush, for example, grown all over the country, contains a deadly heart stimulant similar to the drug digitalis. The toxin is so strong that a single leaf can kill a child.

The popular Christmas flower poinsettia is full of an acid, burning juice, so lethal that a child who consumed one leaf might die. Mistletoe berries can also be deadly.

Peach tree leaves contain hydrocyanic acid, one of the most dangerous poisons known. Potato and tomato plants, close kin to the deadly nightshade, have foliage that contains alkaloid poisons which can cause severe digestive upset and nervous disorder if eaten.

Duffenbacia, or dumb cane, is a beautiful house plant grown in millions of homes, but merely biting its stalk can cause swelling of the mouth and tongue that can be deadly. It is called dumb cane because of its power to strike its victims speechless.

More detailed information on these and other plants can be secured from health and plant authorities,' Smith said. 'However, we have requested SCS offices in our state's 184 soil and water conservation districts to cooperate fully with the National Safety Council in keeping the public alerted to plants that cause these problems.'

LOOKIN' BACK

by Vera Featherston Back

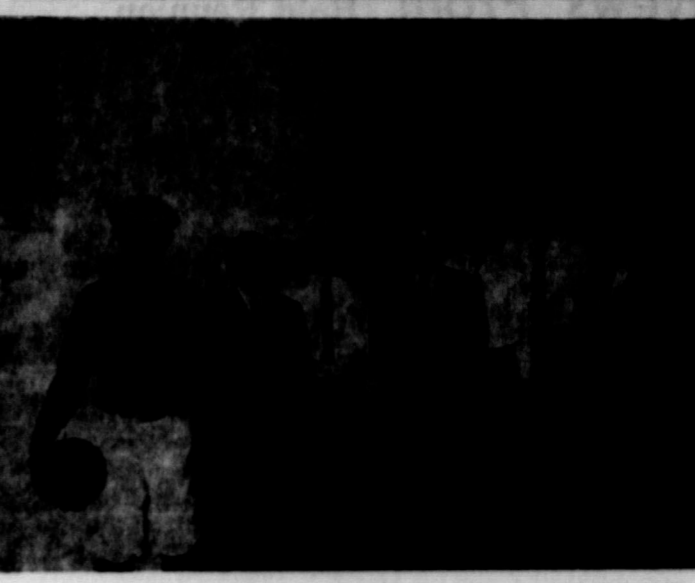

They are still talking about that reunion of the first basketball team and its reunion at the Alanreed-McLean Historical Society on July 28. We have pictures of the team as they appeared Sunday and of Thacker Haynes and Jenny Everett who posed in the uniform of the 1913-14 team. Compare these pictures with those in the News two weeks ago and you will be surprised to see the changes time has made, but the spirit is still there.

After each game there was always a battle scar or two. This reunion was no exception. Bryant Henry had to limp home with a bent fender on his car. (Who invented caution lights anyway?) Sallie Lou Campbell was forced to go by the local hospital and have several (we think seven) stitches in a finger before she could return home to Amarillo. Those battle scars were worth it, we are sure.

This has been a week of mixed emotions: looking back and looking forward. With the Republican convention going on in Miami and the efforts of the Alanreed-McLean Historical Society to establish a museum, we are looking both ways this week. By the time you read this, it will be known whether we will look forward with optimism or whether with fear and doubt. We will, in a way, know the trend of the future.

Will we know the future of the museum? We have the relics and antiques promised to fill a good-sized building, but where is the building? It is understood that whatever money we get must come as donations. For that reason we cannot pay a great price for a building that will take a little fortune to restore. Perhaps some of you readers have a solution. If so, please come forward with it. We need your ideas and are asking for them.

Slick Boyd says that a man in Canadian, told him that one dedicated man can put over a museum. (Hope those are the words, Slick.) We feel that we have several dedicated men and women working on this project, but as yet we have no building. We have the contents. Now somebody come up with a building. We are, as a committee looking at various buildings and hope to have one soon, but you might help. Let us hear from you.

As you know, any project takes money - those are the words of Faris Hess printed here several weeks ago. If you are interested in putting over this project which will help stop tourists and be beneficial to our school children, then mail us a check. Call, if you prefer, and some of us will come by and pick it up. Make the check out to the Alanreed-McLean Area Museum and address it to our treasurer, Jewel Cousins. This will help a lot.

Another find for the museum is the head of a large horse, or mule, 18 inches under the ground in a draw - which Cindy Carpenter has named "Horse Head Draw" on the Will Glass farm north of Alanreed. With Mrs. Glass's permission and Leonard's approval and help, Johnny Carpenter, Cindy, and your columnists dug the remains out last Saturday morning. And how did we know where to dig? Readers of this column, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Burnett, spied the exposed bones from the road as they were returning from Pampa by way of Alanreed last Friday afternoon and immediately reported the find. Thank you, Pauline and Loyd, for your eagle eyes.

The shape of the head is much like the pictures of an old, old horse, which we found in Johnny's book on horses, but Cindy will go with us soon to Canyon and we will take the head along to be appraised and identified by the museum people there. Then we will know.

Two letters in our mail this week pleased us very much: one from John Kirby and one from Joelle Vanno. The latter was registered air mail from India. On it there are a number of stamps that should interest a philatelist. Note to any former pupil of ours: If you are already a stamp collector, there will be stamps for you. Two for the first to contact us, two; second, two; third, two; and one for fourth to come. Get in line and come by to pick up your stamps. First come, first served.

IRRIGATION IN WHEELER COUNTY It seems that most of us have not realized the fact that irrigation is becoming an economic factor in Wheeler County. The number of irrigation systems in the County has grown in the last few years to approximately one hundred systems. These systems would have the capacity to irrigate an estimated eight thousand acres. This is a great factor in the welfare of the area.

When an irrigation system is installed, it is very important to have a system that is designed correctly. Most of the irrigation systems in Wheeler County are sprinkler systems. In order to utilize our irrigation water to best advantage, there are several things to consider in the design of a system. The first thing of course to know the type of soil to be irrigated. As some soils take water faster than others, you can readily see that this would be important, for you would not want a system that would deliver water to a given area faster than it would take it. This would cause wasteful runoff that would result in an unnecessary cost of both water that is scarce, and money. Other factors to consider in the correct design of a system is the size of pump, main line size and lateral size, the nozzle size, and pressure that the system should maintain.

NEWS OF CONSERVATION

"Sediment causes more pollution than any other substance," H. N. Smith, State Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, reminded this week in announcing a new SCS booklet on the subject.

The publication, entitled, "Sediment - It's Filling Harbors, Lakes and Roadside Ditches," is now available free from SCS offices.

Sediment ruins lakes, kills fish, and costs millions in taxes for dredging and filtering. It also carries other pollutants, such as chemicals, with it. Most phosphates and pesticides, for example, are carried on sediment. Erosion control measures are effective in reducing pollution from these sources.

The SCS official said the new publication points out that more than half a billion cubic yards of eroded land is dredged each year from streams, navigation channels, estuaries and harbors at a cost of 40 cents a cubic yard. Cost of keeping it out of these places through proper conservation practices would be only a fraction of that.

Also, our sediment studies on reservoirs show that sediment is damaging nearly every lake in Texas. In fact, several cities have had to build new lakes because the old ones filled with mud. And this is not just a Texas problem - it's also a national problem.

Sediment also destroys spawning beds for game fish, ruins their eggs, and reduces their food supply. In many small streams across the State, sediment has filled the deep pools that were once a refuge for fish during dry weather.

The sad thing about sediment is that it hurts the land where it comes from and it hurts the water where it goes. And it's all caused by soil erosion. However, it's not just a farm problem. Last year, 15 million acres of land were stripped bare for housing developments, new roads, and other construction. Sometimes it's years before anything is built on this land - and, in the meantime, it erodes.

The only answer to the sediment problem is a constant vigil on the part of every user of land - farmers, ranchers, housing developers, cities, and others. A sound program of soil and water conservation can reduce sediment damage by as much as 90 percent - nothing else will.

Gray County CONSERVATION

By LYNN McDANIEL

The irrigated land of Gray County is growing fast in Gray County. Most irrigation farmers are trying to keep the grain sorghum watered at the present time. You should watch the first area watered and as soon as this area needs water you should go back and start watering this area again. This may cause you to have home dryland maize but all experiments show that you will have more total production by not letting any of the maize go into stress for water. If you get behind then all of the maize will suffer unless you get a rain.

Dick Dickens is constructing parallel terraces on his farm. Parallel terraces have been laid out on Bill Walters Farm. Topographic map is being made on Robert Rapstine farm to lay out parallel terraces with.

Frank Daugherty has completed leveling land for better water distribution. Rex McKay is leveling land on his farm west of Pampa.

D. W. Swain, George Philpott, Moody Farms, Tom Anderwald, and Jack Barnett have been installing underground pipeline.

Conservation work seems to be increasing in Gray County.

Highway Use Tax Return Compliance

Owners of trucks and buses in Northern Texas were advised today by District Director of Internal Revenue Ellis Campbell, Jr., that a thorough check will be made to insure compliance with provisions of the Federal Highway Use Tax Law.

Mr. Campbell said that lists of owners of taxable motor vehicles are being compared with Federal Highway Use Tax returns filed to assure that all taxable vehicles were reported and to determine whether they were reported in the correct tax categories.

Mr. Campbell pointed out that highway use tax revenue collected by the Federal government is returned to the states to help

IRS QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q - My daughter is going to help out in my store this summer. Do I treat her as any other employee for tax purposes?

A - Yes, her salary is subject to the same withholding requirements as your other employees if she is 21 or over. If she is under 21, then you withhold just income tax and not social security.

Q - Are wedding gifts taxable?

A - The recipient of gifts is not subject to income or gift taxes. However, the giver may be liable for gift tax if gifts to one person in a single year exceed $3,000.

Q - Is it true you could lose your tax deduction for a business trip overseas if you take a vacation at the same time?

A - Yes, there are situations where business deductions for overseas travel can be affected by the amount of time devoted to sightseeing and other non-business activities.

Q - A mistake in my social security number held up my refund for weeks. Why is this number so important?

A - Because so many taxpayers have the same name, your social security number is the only positive identification of your account with IRS. Names change too, as marital status changes.

Q - We're going to a benefit dinner for a charitable organization. Won't this cost be deductible?

A - The cost of the tickets will be deductible to the extent it exceeds the value of the food and entertainment you receive. If the value of the meal and entertainment is not indicated on the tickets, the sponsors of the event should be able to tell you.

Q - When do I have to pay Social Security tax for my mail?

A - The quarterly payment for the month of April, May and June is due July 31. Use Form 942, "Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees a self mailer, to file and pay this tax.

Q - This tax is due when cash wages of $50 or more are paid to a household employee during a calendar quarter.

CARE OF FOOD IN SUMMER

You're overly warm when you get home from the supermarket loaded down with food. You can't wait to get to your refrigerator for some kind of cold drink. You've stopped looking at the thermometer because it's so hot. And the humidity is increasing.

Well, if you head for that cool drink the moment you reach your kitchen, there's one thing besides cooling off that you'd better keep in mind. What is it? It's the food you purchased. It needs attention to survive the heat, too.

Put Food Away Promptly So, as you reach for a cold lemonade, or whatever, don't plan to go sit somewhere and relax just yet. Take a sip or two and start putting your groceries away as well.

Protect Delicate Foods Milk should not be left standing in the sun. Milk and other foods of delicate flavor should be kept in the refrigerator at all times, except when they are in use.

"Section 11a. In addition to the bonds enumerated in Section 11 of Article VII of the Constitution of the State of Texas, the Board of Regents of The University of Texas may invest the Permanent University Fund in securities, bonds or other obligations issued, insured, or guaranteed in any manner by the United States Government, or any of its agencies, and in such bonds, debentures, or obligations, and preferred and common stocks issued by corporations, associations, or other institutions as the Board of Regents of The University of Texas System may deem to be proper investments for said funds; provided, however, that not more than one per cent (1%) of said fund shall be invested in the securities of any one (1) corporation, nor shall more than five per cent (5%) of the voting stock of any one (1) corporation be owned; provided, further, that stocks eligible for purchase shall be restricted to stocks of companies incorporated within the United States which have paid dividends for five (5) consecutive years or longer immediately prior to the date of purchase and which, except for bank stocks and insurance stocks, are listed upon an exchange registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission or its successors.

"In making each and all of such investments said Board of Regents shall exercise the judgment and care under the circumstances then prevailing which men of ordinary prudence, discretion, and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs, not in regard to speculation but in regard to the permanent disposition of their funds, considering the probable income therefrom as well as the probable safety of their capital.

"The interest, dividends and other income accruing from the investments of the Permanent University Fund, except the portion thereof which is appropriated by the operation of Section 18 of Article VII for the payment of principal and interest on bonds or notes issued thereunder, shall be subject to appropriation by the Legislature to accomplish the purposes declared in Section 10 of Article VII of this Constitution.

"If I have questions about bills, payment arrangements, or some other telephone matter, whom do I call?"

Here's the expert.

She's your telephone service representative. To many telephone users, she is the phone company. She answers questions, provides personal number booklets, directories and duplicate bills. She helps you get new phones installed. As a service representative, she has to be something of a lady executive, a bit of a diplomat and an expert in phone service. And she is. She was hired from a select group of applicants and put through an extensive training program. And she attends regular meetings to discuss customer service. Next time you need help on a telephone problem, just call the telephone business office. Your service representative will take it from there.

TAX SAM SEZ:

TOPIC: A Tax Audit

If your tax return is selected for audit, there is no reason for panic - on the other hand, there is no reason for you to be enraged or feel "picked on." Internal Revenue audits several million returns each year after the computer has corrected the math and taken umbrage at a number of careless errors. The Internal Revenue Agent is a well-trained, professional employee. A part of his training is to be fair. He has the same responsibility for seeing that you get extra deductions that you missed as he does for seeing that the government gets all the tax due from you. A large part of the tax audits result in the taxpayer verifying his questioned items and receiving no change in his tax liability. About 7% of those audited receive a refund, due to the Internal Revenue Agent finding additional tax credits or deductions.

So - gather your records, review your return with the Agent in a business-like manner. If you don't agree with his findings, exercise your appeal rights.
