By JOHN CHADWICK WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators described a labor union today as "under the control of agents of the Kremlin" and urged the Justice Department to consider perjury action against its officers who signed non-Communist affidavits.

Bell Aircraft Explosion Hits 'Copter Output

FORT WORTH, Sept. 4 (AP)—Helicopter production for the Korean War theater will be "materially hurt" by the fire and explosion which injured 10 persons at Bell Aircraft Corporation's plant here yesterday, company officials said today.

of Brooklyn, N. Y., and a number of other top officials were identified as Communists. Osman refused to answer when asked if he ever had been a Communist, invoking his constitutional privilege against possible self-incrimination.

The subcommittee recommended that a copy of its hearings, conducted mostly behind closed doors, be turned over to the attorney general so that he could determine whether prosecution of these officers for perjury would be warranted.

It also recommended that Congress give prompt attention to a bill previously introduced by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), the subcommittee chairman, to make it unlawful for a member of a Communist organization to hold office or any job with a labor organization and to permit employers to discharge persons who belong to organizations designated as subversive by the attorney general.

In a statement accompanying the subcommittee report, McCarran said the DPOWA "has advanced the Communist cause in many ways" and also has "become rich and powerful by preying on the gullibility of Negro workers and the fear and helplessness of small businessmen."

Student Pilot Crash Lands Plane Safely

For the second time in less than twenty-four hours a training aircraft from Webb Air Force Base has been involved in a crash landing. But unlike Tuesday night's jet accident, this most recent incident does not record a fatality, or even so much as the slightest injury.

In fact the pilot, Aviation Cadet Robert W. McDonald, 23, has been on the receiving end of warm words of praise from his instructors for the good judgment he displayed in meeting the challenge of a difficult situation. McDonald, along with three other cadets, was participating in four-ship formation flight training in the general area of Lamesa late yesterday afternoon, when the engine of his propeller-driven T-28 trainer cut out momentarily for several times and then decided to quit completely.

MAYOR ANNOUNCES

'Drought' Is Over Today As Water Rules Go Off At 5 P.M.

Big Springers may use water without restriction, beginning at 5 p.m. today. Mayor G. W. Dabney made an official pronouncement to this effect at noon, after a final check revealed that the city has completed all connection details with the Colorado River Municipal Water District lines.

arrival of sufficient water is slated for Friday evening. But for practical purposes, the "drought" is over at 5 p.m. today. City officials cautioned again that the distribution system might not provide full pressure if the demand hits a full, sustained peak.

The city drew its first water from the Colorado River Municipal Water District Wednesday night, as you may have guessed from the murky condition of the fluid this morning.

Commiss Open Drive To Defeat West Plan For Iran Oil Peace

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
 WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communists have mounted a major propaganda offensive to try to defeat the Truman-Churchill proposals for a settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

The voice of Soviet communism beamed into Iran is a clandestine "Azerbaijan democratic" radio station which officials here believe to be on Russian territory. A record of broadcasts from this station during the past few days has been circulated in the State Department and it shows a violent opposition to the oil deal offered Iran by the United States and Britain last Saturday.

The three-point plan, sent to Premier Mossadegh by President

Truman and Prime Minister Churchill, is being denounced by the Reds as "plunderous proposals," a device for "American imperialism" to steal Iranian oil and a plan put forth by the "deadly enemies" of the Iranian people.

The same broadcasts blast with equal heat Truman and Churchill and Mossadegh despite the fact that Mossadegh has already turned down the Truman-Churchill plan.

The Communists probably do not believe that Mossadegh's opposition to the plan will stand up indefinitely and they are calling on the Iranian people—in Communist parlance the Communists and their followers in Iran—to demonstrate and protest against this latest effort to settle the oil dispute.

Truman and Churchill proposed Saturday that the World Court determine compensation for British property in Iran which the Tehran government has nationalized, that Britain's Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. arrange for sale of the Iranian oil in world markets, and that specific steps be taken to end promptly the Iranian government's financial distress.

The United States and British governments are deeply concerned lest Iran's continued lack of oil revenues, cut off for more than a year now, should throw the country into Communist control.

Mossadegh turned down the Truman-Churchill proposals Saturday, simply saying they were "unacceptable."

Officials here are hoping that when he makes a formal answer after the Iranian Parliament meets on Sept. 10 he will leave the door open for further negotiating with the Western Powers.

Officials pointed out that meanwhile the Communists, presumed to be acting under direct orders from Moscow, are doing everything in their power to prevent any improvement in the situation.

Dallas Attorney To See McGranery On Case Of Binion

DALLAS, Sept. 4 (AP)—Dist. Atty. Henry Wade has a date scheduled with U. S. Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery next week regarding the case of Nevada gambler Benny Binion.

Texas authorities have been trying for three years to bring the alleged one-time Dallas policy wheel operator here for trial on gaming charges.

The wealthy Nevanadan escaped removal to Texas again yesterday when Federal Judge Edward P. Murphy of San Francisco fined him $15,000 and ordered him to pay $14,810 in income taxes for 1948. A five-year prison sentence was probated.

If Judge Murphy had sent Binion to prison, Texas could have placed a hold order on him and brought him to Dallas for trial when his prison term was ended.

The Wade-McGranery conference is set for next Wednesday in Washington. It was reported here that the conference was set at McGranery's invitation.

Wade would only say, "future plans will be discussed with the attorney general at the conference, Sept. 10."

Nixon Scores Dem Handling Of Tax Money

By EARL ARONSON
 SANFORD, Me. (AP)—Sen. Richard M. Nixon says that a Republican administration in Washington could give no greater service than to show that "tax dollars can be honestly and effectively spent in the public interest."

The Republican vice presidential nominee moved into Connecticut last night after a two-day tour of Maine, which will hold its state election next Monday. The California senator will spend Friday and Saturday in Maine.

In a Sanford speech last night, Nixon said the "basic cause of inflation is that the government spends more than it takes in."

He said the Democratic administration had made a "mess" of fighting inflation, had made a "mess of the budget," and "a mess in handling the Communist problem."

"The administration refused time and time again to do anything about the Communist problem," he added. "They condoned it and covered it up."

He declared that "in the light of this coverup, I charge that for every case the public knows about today, there are 10 which haven't been uncovered."

Nixon said both Democrats and Republicans must demand "the most thoroughgoing housecleaning ever witnessed in U. S. government."

"Throw out the rascals in Washington," he said.

Both Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican presidential candidate, and Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson agree that there is "a mess" in Washington, Nixon said. But, he said Stevenson "had to telephone his apologies to Mr. Truman for even daring to speak of messes" and "obviously isn't equal" to the cleanup task.

Hot Weather Due Texans

By The Associated Press
 Texas basked in the luxury of fall-like weather Thursday but a gradual warm-up threatened more days of 100-degree plus temperatures.

Clear skies, furnishing bright moonlight and a burning sun, stretched the lengthening drought another day. The Weather Bureau still could offer no relief.

Light rains were reported Wednesday at Victoria, Palacios, and Corpus Christi, where they weren't needed so badly as in other sections of the dry, parched state.

The highest temperature Wednesday was a sizzling 105 at Presidio. Only two other points reported temperatures at the century mark or higher. They were Edinburg with 102 and Laredo with an even 100.

Galveston's comfortable 82 was the state's lowest maximum.

Clear to partly cloudy skies and widely scattered thundershowers were in the forecasts for Thursday and Friday in West Texas, South Central Texas and East Texas.

North Central Texas, the Weather Bureau said, would have generally fair skies, not even a thundershower, and rising temperatures.

Boy Accused Of Setting 2 Neighbor Children Ablaze

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—An 11-year-old boy was accused today of setting two neighbor children afire in the attic of their home. Trapped and screaming, they burned to death.

The victims were Lindsey Cunningham, 8, and his sister Mary Louise, 12, Negroes.

Another sister, Esther, 11, was critically burned trying to save them. She was in San Antonio Hospital today.

A fourth member of the family, a frail, physically handicapped older sister, Ruth, 22, said she wrestled with the young assailant but he mounted a chair out of her reach and threw kerosene on the two children. Then he lit a paper torch and threw it into the attic, where the youngsters had been sorting clothing.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Cunningham, were away at work. Esther tossed water on the fire, police said. Ruth tried to climb to the aid of the screaming children but could not.

Mrs. Maud Wharton, a neighbor, tried to cut through ventilators in the attic when she heard the children screaming. "Save us, Maude, save us." An unidentified man grabbed the axe when she failed to cut through to the trapped pair, but he failed, too.

District Fire Chief Fred Roth told The Associated Press that the boy, arrested by juvenile authorities, kept repeating, "I didn't do it, I didn't do it." He said the slight youngster, a Latin-American, wouldn't say anything else at the fire scene.

Patrolman A. C. Sandoval, police investigator, said several witnesses told him the boy had fought with the Cunningham children repeatedly. Sandoval said the boy was seen to enter the home, throw kerosene on the children and light it with a torch.

Firemen quickly brought the attic blaze under control.

Justice of the Peace B. B. Brothman withheld a verdict pending further investigation.

Financial Conditions Over World 'Worse'

Webb Increases Training Load In Jet Planes

Delay in reactivation and opening of flight training at other Air Training Command bases in Texas has resulted in some shifts at Webb Air Force base here, it was learned today.

Because installations such as Laughlin AFB at Del Rio and Forter AFB at Victoria have not been going along on schedule, there has been a cut-back in T-28 conventional type (propeller-driven) aircraft training of cadets.

Usually, cadets take all their flight training here in both the conventional type planes and the T-33 jet training plane.

Because of this altered situation, many cadets are receiving T-28 training at other bases—Perrin AFB, Sherman, and Goodfellow AFB, San Angelo—and then taking advanced flight training in jets at Webb AFB.

This shift has also resulted in the sending of some T-28s to Perrin and Goodfellow and has increased the jet plane number here. Jet training cadets have also increased in number.

Webb's absorption of this greater jet load is only temporary and upon completion of readiness at other bases, training in both types of planes will be conducted here.

Meanwhile, Sweetwater's airfield will soon be ready to take Webb AFB jet planes at this auxiliary field. A contract has been negotiated with that city to use the field for landing practice under a rate frequency agreement. The Air Force pays so much for each landing at that field.

Midland is the only other field being used by Webb airmen. T-28s have been landing at that field.

Braniff Seeks Entry Into New Orleans On Flight From Houston

DALLAS, Sept. 4 (AP)—Braniff International Airway has filed an application to extend its service from Houston to New Orleans with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The proposed route would fill the line's gap between its two southern terminals. Braniff has flown to Houston since 1933, but only recently entered New Orleans after a merger with Midcontinent Airlines.

McCarthy vs. Benton

Letter Evidence In Libel-Slander Suit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) indicated today that an intercepted private letter will become major evidence in the senator's two million dollar libel-slander suit against Sen. Benton (D-Conn.).

But Edward B. Williams, one of McCarthy's lawyers, declined to tell newsmen how he got a copy of a confidential note to Charles Stanley Allen, Benton's administrative assistant.

Allen testified at a pre-trial hearing yesterday that the letter reached him in February from the Senate postoffice marked "Opened by mistake." One end had been snipped open, then stapled together he said.

Robert Fleming, described as a political writer for the Milwaukee Journal, wrote the note asking Allen's help in getting material from the files of a Senate subcommittee investigating McCarthy's fitness to continue as a senator.

Fleming suggested that the letter be destroyed. But Allen said he still had a copy of it and said he thought he would produce it along with copies of other correspondence with Milwaukee Journal employees which McCarthy's counsel has subpoenaed.

The hearing was adjourned indefinitely until Allen could collect this correspondence. He said it was somewhat voluminous and scattered.

Williams read his copy of the letter dramatically at the end of a long hearing. Then he said to Theodore Klendle, one of Benton's attorneys, "There goes your case."

Fleming wrote he was "increasingly distressed" by the attitude of a Senate Rules Subcommittee, headed by Sen. Gillies (D-Ia.), which is considering a resolution by Benton seeking McCarthy's expulsion from the Senate.

In order to salvage "The Project," Fleming said, he was "wondering what happens to the committee's files if they do nothing on this case... Could (Senators) Hiram (D-Mo) or Monroney (D-Okla.) be provided into getting material, at least long enough for examination by an interested citizen from, for example, Milwaukee?"

The Journal has opposed McCarthy's bid for renomination.

Benton charged that McCarthy's campaign against Communists in government has been marked by fraud, perjury and calculated deceit. McCarthy then accused Benton of following a pro-Communist line while serving the State Defense while serving in the state department. The libel-slander suit arose from this and other phases of Benton's critical speeches.

Experts On Skies Meet, But Flying Saucers Are Taboo

ROME (AP)—The world's greatest experts on the secrets of the skies met here today—but flying saucers were a forbidden topic.

Leading astronomers of 35 nations are among the 430 delegates gathered for the eighth General Assembly of the International Astronomical Union.

Flying saucers are not the only subject of public speculation which the stargazers are giving the go-by. Discussion of possible life on other planets also will be avoided.

"The congress will discuss only positive facts concerning astronomy," said Prof. Lacio Gianelli, the union's secretary-general.

Texans Okay Shivers' Stand In Opposing Gov. Stevenson

By The Associated Press

More than 6,000 Texans have voted 10-to-1 approval of Gov. Allan Shivers' stand in opposing Democratic Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson.

Shivers' office announced Wednesday that the governor has received 6,065 letters and telegrams generally backing him. Some 603 others said they were backing the Democratic presidential nominee.

An Republicans and other opponents of the New Deal and Fair Deal cheered the news from the governor's office, there were these other developments on the Texas political scene:

Washington — Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the Democratic Party's finance committee, said he would not answer a questioner who wanted to know if any Texas oil men were at Wednesday's meeting of the committee. The reason for no answer, said Ruml, was the political implications — presumably the arguments over the tidelands issue.

"If there were oil men present, it would be embarrassing for them," Ruml said, "and if there weren't, it would be embarrassing to us."

Galveston — Rep. Clark W. Thompson filed an answer in 56th District Court to a suit by his Democratic Primary opponent, T. W. Buckshot Lane of Wharton.

Lubbock — Rep. George H. Mahon of the 25-county 19th Congressional District said he would support the nominees of the National Democratic Party.

Thompson's brief said he had received the majority of the legal vote cast in the election and should be declared the winner.

The Congressman won re-nomination from the Ninth Congressional District on the basis of complete returns in the August primary with a majority of 253 votes.

Lane's suit seeks to show that Thompson's 3-to-1 majority in Galveston County included more than 253 votes which were illegal or wrongly accredited to Thompson.

The Congressman's answer seeks to show that none of Lane's allegations were specific enough to merit court consideration.

Rep. Mahon, veteran member of the House Appropriations Committee, said he could not "see how I, or any other office holder in similar position could do otherwise."

Mahon is a Democratic nominee

Confidence Vote Is Sought For UN Truce Negotiators

LONDON (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly will be asked to give the U. N. truce negotiators at Panmunjom a vote of confidence, informed diplomats said today.

These sources said the 16 countries with troops in Korea will sponsor a resolution in the Assembly, which opens Oct. 14 in New York, reaffirming U. N. support for the Korean War and for the truce talks. The negotiators are all U. S. military men.

Although the Soviet bloc will undoubtedly vote against the resolution, its sponsors hope to get the overwhelming backing of most other members as a demonstration of U. N. solidarity.

Diplomats here said the resolution is expected to ask for a U. N. endorsement of the negotiators' refusal to return Red prisoners of war who don't want to go home.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A call for a U. N. vote of confidence in the Korean truce negotiators was regarded here as a logical way of renewing Assembly discussion of the Korean War.

Youngster Is Killed

SLATON, Sept. 4 (AP)—Dwane Hubbard, 7, was killed yesterday by a truck near his school. The child darted in the path of the vehicle.

Other news in Texas politics:

At Marshall, a so-called "special caucus" of Harrison County Democrats instructed their state delegates to vote for the Eisenhower-Nixon team as the nominees of the Democratic Party of Texas.

At Corsicana, backers of the Stevenson-Sparkman national ticket were beating the drums for a rally Thursday night with former State Atty. Gen. William McGraw as the principal speaker. John C. Calhoun, Corsicana oil man and former state Democratic chairman, is one of the rally's sponsors.

In Dallas, GOP State Chairman Alvin Lane said if Texas Democrats propose a coalition set of presidential electors for Eisenhower he was sure the Republicans would be "glad to consider it."

That was the background as the Democratic State Convention approached. It will decide Tuesday what the official party of Texas will do about instructing its electors.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Hobbs are on a wedding trip through the Sangre de Cristos Mountains following their wedding Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist Church at Albuquerque, N. M.

The bride is the former Mary Jean Macdonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Macdonald of Wichita, Kans. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hobbs, 703 E. 15th, Big Spring.

Dr. W. D. Wyatt, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony. Altar decorations were baskets of white, yellow and lavender gladioli.

Mrs. James W. Hammond of Albuquerque was organist and accompanied Gall Morgan, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Through The Years."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, full skirt and high neckline. Her tiny jacket was fastened with self buttons and her veil of illusion was caught to tiara head-dress trimmed with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Paula Jones of Independence, Mo., maid of honor and a cousin of the bride, wore white organdy over aqua green sash and carried deep purple asters.

Bridesmaids were Jean Jones and Carol Hoffman, both of Albuquerque, who wore yellow and lavender organdy, respectively, and carried bouquets of purple asters.

J. D. Nixon Jr. of Big Spring, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man, and ushers were James Huggins, Sandia Base, and George Frink, Kirtland Base.

For traveling the bride chose a tan and black iridescent shantung dress with rust hat and bag. The couple will reside in Albuquerque.

The bride attended East High School and Friends University in Wichita and was a member of Black Masquers, Gospel Band and Student Council at Friends. Her husband is with the Atomic Energy Commission at Sandia.

At a reception held in the church the three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pale yellow roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mary Evelyn Hobbs of Big Spring, Mrs. James Huggins, Nancy Kern and Mrs. Dean Robinette served, and Joan Williams was in charge of the register.

Mrs. Hoyer Leads Discussion At Ladies Aid Meeting

Mrs. A. H. Hoyer led the discussion on "Gaining the Indifferent Worldling" when the Concordia Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Lutheran Church met Wednesday afternoon at the educational building.

Mrs. Hoyer told the group that in order to gain the indifferent worldlings one must lean away from the significant and superficial toward the spiritual and religious.

The Rev. A. H. Hoyer offered the prayer and read the scripture from 1 Corinthians 1.

It was announced that the group would sponsor a dinner for servicemen, their families and friends the third Sunday in September.

Members will also sponsor a fall fair Sept. 26.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Well-Planned Small Room Offers Much Enjoyment

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Haven't you noticed how party guests wander away from the living room? If there's a small room adjoining, most of them crowd into it before the evening is over.

People like big rooms for their luxury but prefer small rooms for comfort and friendliness. At least one deep thinker says that this is fundamental, that mankind likes to huddle and that it's a hangover from cave days that people unconsciously feel less safe in a room with many entrances.

Whether or not this is true, there is a lot of enjoyment to be had from a well-planned small room. It can be the library, an office, a guest room, a music room and a game room all at the same time, as well as a completely comfortable retreat for mother and dad when the kids entertain, or a place for them to do their homework.

The small room sketched plans for extra books above the sofa bed as well as with the sectional furniture shelves against the wall. Fixtures installed under the high shelves help solve the room's lighting problems in a decorative as well as efficient way. The comfortable lounge chair is one of the new kinds that crowd a room less than solid arm, upholstered to the floor designs. The floor lamp is used to light both desk and chair.

The door sectional unit might be a record cabinet and either chest beyond the sofa could be the radio-phonograph. The small room adapts to television more easily than a large room. In this case a portable set is placed atop the sectional furniture, but a cabinet might replace the door section. The light lounge chair can be easily moved and the desk chair can be used.

Tables that serve two purposes are especially useful in a small room. If it's the change-about kind that is set low as a coffee table but rises high to be a card table it performs night and day.

Eula Hildreth Becomes Bride Of E. H. Kartes In Stanton

STANTON, (Sp) —Eula Hildreth of Stanton became the bride of Edward H. Kartes of Bracketville in an informal, double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church here recently.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hildreth of Lenora and Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Kartes of Bracketville.

The Rev. Paris A. Barton of Lenora performed the ceremony as the couple stood before an arch of greenery flanked by baskets of lavender gladioli.

Mrs. James Jones, pianist, played the traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother Walter Hildreth of Lenora, wore a silver grey imported street-length dress with navy accessories.

She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Kartes of Bracketville, Mrs. Floyd Calley and Floyd Jr. of Corpus Christi, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Dawkins and Mrs. Vern Dawkins all of Midland, Elizabeth, Jack and Jerry Hildreth and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hildreth all of Lenora.

Pipe Line Groups Meet; Rev. Kitterman Speaks

GARDEN CITY (Sp) — A special film for a teenage group was shown when the Roberts, Garden City, and Driver groups of the Shell Pipe Line Co. met for a safety meeting Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium at Garden City.

J. W. Hunt also spoke on hazards in the school.

G. G. Billings, new acting area manager of the West Texas Area of the Shell Pipe Line Co., was introduced and gave a short talk.

Others making talks were E. M. Owens and John H. Reese.

O. L. Rich of Garden City will head the nominating committee and working with him will be J. R. Grandland of Driver and Ray Crumley of Foran.

Attending the meeting from out of town were: G. G. Billings, John H. Reese, J. W. Hunt and E. M. Owens all of Colorado City, R. T. Woodrow, P. J. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Roberts, George G. Moore, Mrs. A. B. Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jessie, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Grantland all of Driver; Eddie Everett, A. J. Smith, R. S. Hyden, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Nixon, and R. A. Fulen all of Foran; and P. E. Witt of Big Spring.

The Rev. W. W. Kitterman of the First Cumberland Presbyterian Church of Ft. Worth spoke at the Garden City church Monday evening.

As the Garden City Church is without a pastor and the Rev. Kitterman is considering coming to this part of the state for work, the church here extended a call to him. He asked for time to consider before making his answer.

Mrs. Lester Ratliff and sons of Rankin have been visiting relatives in Garden City.

Auto Inspection Stations Are Swamped With Late Check-Ups

Big Spring automobile inspection stations are swamped with late minute safety checks. A survey made today reveals that local check stations are turning away about as many cars as they are inspecting.

Under Texas law, Saturday, Sept. 6, is the deadline for having automobiles checked. Local inspectors agree that they will not be able to take care of all Big Spring cars.

"We just don't have time to check all the cars that are brought to us," one inspector said. "We're mowed under."

All check points have one man assigned to automobile checking. Approximately 20 or 25 cars are inspected in each station daily, and there are about a dozen local check points.

The majority of the automobiles being checked now are the old models, according to the inspectors. These older cars require more work than those inspected in the past. The most common faults being found are in the lights and exhaust systems.

Items checked on the cars include the brakes, headlights, steering wheel, wheel alignment, mirror, horn, windshield, exhaust and muffler, and the windshield wiper.

After the check, an approval slip or rejection is issued. The ratio varies in the local inspection stations. Some inspectors say about half the cars are being rejected until work is done. Some say that about one fourth of the cars fail the test.

None of the inspection stations are ending the test requirements. The check is just as hard now as it ever was.

A huge increase in the number of drivers requesting checks has been noted in the past week. Inspectors estimate that the number has doubled from a week ago, when the average was about 10 per day.

Each inspection takes about 45 minutes. The check stations are taking cars on the first-come-first-serve basis. There are no waiting lists.

If the check stations cannot handle a car, the driver is asked to bring it back the next day. Each driver is told he might be able to get his car checked at another station.

One check point ran out of stamps last Saturday and could not inspect autos until Wednesday when new stamps arrived. The inspector stated that within one hour

Motor Scooters Must Also Get State Inspection Okay

Motor scooters, as well as automobiles, must undergo the state vehicle inspection.

Terms of the act which requires that vehicles be submitted to a safety inspection specifically include scooters and motorcycles.

In Howard County there are 192 of the motorcycles and scooters registered, and the preponderance is scooters.

The Texas Department of Public Safety's "Inspection Manual" for inspecting stations has this to say: "Every device capable of transporting persons or property and which is self-propelled (except those operated on rails) must be registered and have license plates as provided by law."

"Motor scooters and motor bikes are classified as motorcycles, and must be inspected. They must be equipped with adequate brakes, lights, horns, mufflers and reflectors as required by law, these items to be inspected according to instructions."

Work Underway On New County Budget

Work is underway on the proposed 1953 Howard County budget. Members of the commissioners court and County Auditor Chester O'Brien were closeted Wednesday on this project.

O'Brien said no estimate could be given on completion of the tentative budget, which is due for a public hearing the first part of this month. It must be completed in order that a tax rate can be set. The rate must be set soon in order that the tax rolls can be compiled in advance of the Oct. 1 opening payment date.

after the stamps arrived, six cars were on hand to be inspected.

One firm in Big Spring which was inspecting cars—but at present is not—has been having a lot of trouble. More than 250 car owners have asked the firm for inspections in the last two weeks.

Plastic Lenses Used To Replace The Lost Ones

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor

CHICAGO (AP)—Little plastic lenses are being put into human eyes, replacing eye lenses lost through cataracts.

Dr. Harold Ridley of London, England, reported this new step today to the International College of Surgeons.

Cataracts are a cloudiness over the eye lens. They reduce vision, or blind.

The eye specialist takes out the clouded lens, and substitutes a little disc of a clear, pure plastic.

The lightweight plastic almost floats in the eye, and the patient doesn't feel it there. It is held in place by the iris, which is a muscle, and a membrane in back of the normal lens. The plastic lens does the same job.

There is no distortion in vision, and no need for thick cataract spectacles that magnify highly, Dr. Ridley said. The patient can move his eyes to see things at his side, he can see through the plastic lens as soon as bandages are removed.

In three years, Dr. Ridley has done 65 of the lens substitutions, and other doctors elsewhere have done some.

Describing 47 of his patients, Dr. Ridley said 13 have normal vision, and 28 others nearly normal vision. Vision is under par in the other eight. Three persons have plastic lenses in both eyes.

Polio On The Wane Over State But Many Cases Still Remain

By The Associated Press

With tragic individual cases as a grim backdrop, polio's spread in Texas continued on the wane Thursday.

But the incidence for 1953 was at a record high with 3,109 cases reported across the state through Wednesday. Hundreds had died, and other hundreds were crippled, many hopelessly so.

Only 163 new polio cases were reported in the state last week, the State Health Department said. That was one more than the previous week but still far below the mid-summer average of about 200 weekly. The worst week of the year saw 286 new cases.

As Houston and Fort Worth reported new cases Wednesday, physicians considered the tragic case of the Paul Pehl family of Stone-wall.

Five of the Pehl children, doctors said, had polio. Pehl and his wife were sick and the family doctor said he would recommend spinal taps to confirm or rule out the possibility of polio.

Two more of the nine Pehl children are ill, but they have improved and polio tests were being delayed Wednesday. Two playmates of the Pehl children also have polio and all are in a San Antonio hospital. One of the playmates is a cousin.

A field investigation for Gillespie County, where Stone-wall is located in Southwest Central Texas, west of Austin, was being consid-ed. A Kansas City research physician said he would leave for San Antonio as soon as he received word the five Pehl children had been confirmed as polio cases.

Six polio cases in one family (five Pehl children and their cousin) breaks the Southwest record and probably will stand a national record, a hospital official said.

The still mysterious malady hit three new Texas counties last week for the first time this year. They were Collingsworth, Deaf Smith and Moore counties.

Counties reported new cases as follows: Harris and Potter, 20 each; Dallas, 13; Lubbock, 12; Hale, 11; Bexar, 10; McLennan, 7; Jefferson, Galveston and Tom Green, 4 each; Midland, Nueces, Collingsworth and Runnels, 3 each; Brazoria, Ector, Edwards, Floyd Kleberg, Tarrant, Taylor, Victoria and Deaf Smith, 2 each.

Brazos, Cameron, Cooke, Fayette, Freestone, Hardin, Hidalgo, Lamb, Lynn, McCulloch, Mills, Mitchell, Moore, Ochiltree, Rains, Reagan, Rusk, Smith, Travis, Val Verde, Van Zandt, Young and Armed Forces, 1 each.

LIFE IS TOUGH FOR CANDIDATE

Woes of a candidate are many, take it from J. Gordon (Ohio) Bristow, Democratic nominee for representative of the 101st Legislative District.

Filing another expense account as required by law after the second primary—although he was not a candidate in that one—Bristow noted he must file three additional statements before the general election at 20-day intervals starting Sept. 5.

"It's got to where my notary fees have exceeded my contributions," he lamented.

Lea Moor Extension On East Looms As Strong Possibility

A mile and a half east extension to the central portion of the Lea Moor pool appeared in prospect Thursday.

Crane Oil of Texas and Newman Bros. No. 1770 feet of free oil on a driftestem test in the Pennsylvania reef.

In northwest Borden County, Union No. 1 Loggie probably will plug and abandon after getting salt water in the reef.

Superior No. 13-536 Jordan, in northeast Borden, bumped into a fishing job while attempting to run casing and test free oil shows in the Mississippi.

SW SW 336-97, H&TC, trying to complete in the Mississippi in northeast Borden, was fishing for a joint of 7-in. casing.

Superior No. 14 Jordan, C SE SW 586-67, H&TC, drilled to 5,285 in shale.

In the Hobo field of southeastern Borden, Standard Oil Co. of Texas No. 12-6-C T. L. Griffin, 680 from the east and 1,022 from the south lines of the southwest quarter of section 39-25, H&TC, flowed 11 hours through 14.54 choke to rate 446 barrels of 45.7 gravity oil.

Forrest No. 1 Henry, in the northwest corner of section 5, Mungerville subdivision of Cunningham survey No. 3, 12 miles northwest of Lamesa, was at 4,302, making a trip.

drickton, C SW NE 20-36-3a, T&P, a deepening operation, was at 9,070 in shaly lime.

Crane Oil of Texas and Newman Bros. Drilling No. 1 Mrs. Hassie Clanton, C NE SE 35-32-3a, T&P, took a driftestem test from 7,889-7,903 with the tool open 90 minutes.

Cosden No. 1 Read, C NE NE 22-30-1a, T&P, northeast of Coahoma, was past 4,910.

Guif No. 1-P Glass, C SE NW 12-39-1a, T&P, was at 10,617 in lime and shale. It cored from 10,573-617 with recovery of one foot lime and no shows.

Dawson

Cities Service No. 1-B Leverett, C NW SW 3-4 Cunningham, was past 5,390 in dolomite and lime.

Phillips No. 1-C McDowell, C SW NE 31-33-2a, T&P, was at 1,230 in shale.

Martin

Stanford No. 1 Cowden, C SE SW 30-40-1a, T&P, swabbed 85 barrels of load oil in 14 hours and was still swabbing above plugged back depth of 9,148.

Red Soldiers Halt Escape To Moncay

MONCAY, French Indochina-China Frontier. Communist China is stripping all areas bordering on French-held sections of Indochina of the civilian population and moving them far inland.

Now there appears to be only a small garrison. The Communists recently lowered a steel gate closing their entrance to the bridge over the International River.

They do not do this alone. There are always Red-starved Chinese Communist soldiers standing by, keeping a close watch to prevent any Chinese from trying to flee to the Moncay side.

Moncay appears to be well fortified and defended, but the main defense against any attack from China lies 40 miles to the southwest around Tien Yen, where French and Nung soldiers are erecting a formidable wall.

Another Recess Is Called By UN Team

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) - Korean armistice negotiators today ended one recess and called another after the U. N. Communists suggested that the Communists really don't want to end the fighting.

These tall, sturdy people have thousands of well-trained soldiers here under the command of Lt. Col. Vong-sang, a Nung himself.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Red negotiator, retorted that Harrison was attempting to sow discord between the Chinese and Korean Communists.

McCarthy Opens Try For Votes; Blasts Adlai

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sen. Joseph McCarthy launched his drive for re-election last night with a fierce attack on Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee.

At the same time McCarthy, one of the prime targets of Democrats in the national election campaign, told listeners, "I need your votes next Tuesday. I need them badly."

The time for carrying his speech over 31 Wisconsin radio stations elapsed before McCarthy struck at Stevenson for what he called the Illinois governor's "fall out" support of Alger Hiss, convicted of perjury for denying he has passed State Department secrets to Whittaker Chambers.

"Mr. Stevenson, you went out of your way to berate me," McCarthy told his overflow audience in a suburb of Shorewood.

"You swore to your Almighty God that Alger Hiss has a reputation for truthfulness—you say McCarthy is a liar."

"You swore under oath that Hiss has an outstanding reputation for integrity—you say McCarthy has no integrity."

"You swore under oath that Alger Hiss is a great American—you say McCarthy is un-American."

"Well, after your record is given the American people, if they want you, they can have you. I don't think they do."

McCarthy's campaign was delayed by major surgery in July and he has been recuperating in Northern Wisconsin before taking active part in the hot state campaign. His principal opponent in the Sept. 9 primary is Leonard Schmitt, attorney of Merrill Wis., who has been holding radio talkshows in the state.

"This is a close fight," McCarthy said. "It is an important fight to the finish. Let me assure you I need your votes next Tuesday. I need them badly."

IN HARD COAL INDUSTRY Lewis Seen Seeking A Speedy Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis was reported today striving for a quick hard coal agreement so he can concentrate on negotiations with the bigger and more far-flung soft coal industry.

Lewis has never publicly served demands on either the anthracite (hard coal) or bituminous (soft coal) mine owners. But he is reportedly aiming for a sizable boost in the hard coal welfare fund and more wages and share-the-work provisions for soft coal miners.

Talks between the anthracite operators and Lewis' United Mine Workers union took on a hopeful note. Thomas E. Kennedy, the UMW's vice president, told newsmen "some progress" was being made.

The talks, held previously in New York and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., moved here yesterday. The progress statement was made after a one-hour session during which Lewis, Kennedy and Edward G. Fox, president of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company and chief industry negotiator, huddled privately.

The negotiations were scheduled to resume today at the union's headquarters.

Both hard and soft coal operators now pay 30 cents a ton on all coal production toward union welfare funds to finance pension for ex-miners and other benefits.

Hard coal miners produce only about a third as much tonnage as soft coal miners, and the anthracite tonnage royalty has not been enough to pay the pensions. Hard coal miners have been making up the deficit themselves, paying $1 assessments every two weeks. The bituminous welfare fund, by contrast, has a 100 million dollar surplus.

Lewis is believed to be driving hard for a bigger anthracite royalty—perhaps as much as 50 cents a ton.

In the soft coal industry, Lewis has talked informally—with Harry Moses, representing northern mines, and Joseph Moody, spokesman for southern bituminous interests—on a share-the-work plan.

With some soft coal miners working only two or three days a week and others four or five days, Lewis wants some plan to level out the employment. A higher pay rate, or penalty, for all work done after three days a week has been mentioned.

The miner's basic wage is $16.35 for an eight-hour day, part of which includes travel time and a lunch period.

W. J. Cunningham, 82, Ex-Solon, Succumbs

ABILENE, Tex., Sept. 4 (AP) — W. J. Cunningham, 82, former state senator and 42nd District Court attorney, died last night.

Cunningham served as justice of the peace here from 1929 until 1951 to climax a legal career that started in 1899.

Funeral services will be held in the First Baptist Church today at 6 p.m. with The Rev. W. C. Ashford officiating.

Pulls Upset

Tom Mechling, 31, a newspaperman of Reno, Nev., is leading in the Nevada Democratic primary election race for a seat in the U. S. Senate. With 98 per cent of the ballots counted, Mechling has a comfortable lead over former State Attorney General Alan Bible, Senator Pat McCarran's hand-picked candidate for the nomination. Red Rioting Sweeps Over Hyderabad City

BOMBAY, India, Sept. 4 (AP) — Rioting and bloodshed swept Hyderabad City and spread today to Secunderabad in Hyderabad state, India's hotbed of Communist activity. The toll stood at three dead and many wounded in the second day of violence said to stem from Communist agitation against giving state jobs to non-Hyderabadis.

Police opened fire on unruly mobs a half dozen times in the past 24 hours. The mobs burned a police radio truck and a bus. Gangs roamed the streets forcing merchants to close their shops. Public transportation facilities were halted.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was clamped on more than a million residents of Hyderabad—half of the Moslems. The mobs were made up of students and former members of the volunteer Moslem army that had demanded independence for Hyderabad before Indian troops entered the state in 1948 and forced it to join the Indian union.

One rioter was killed and 15 wounded today when police fired on a mob of 10,000 in front of Osmania hospital in Hyderabad City. The police had charged the mob with canes and hurled tear gas in an effort to break it up.

The mob demanded the bodies of two rioters killed yesterday. Hospital authorities refused to give the bodies to the mob, but turned them over to the bereaved relatives. The mob refused to listen to appeals from the leaders, including some Reds, that they disperse and go peacefully to the cemetery where the victims were to be buried.

Vet Is Charged In Murder Of Ex-Sweetheart

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A 23-year-old partially deaf Army veteran wanted to be formally charged today in the school-room slaying of his ex-sweetheart after calmly telling police authorities how he fired seven bullets into her body.

Sheriff Garret Burgon said Charles Petrach of Gary, Ind., related the fatal shooting last night while officers took down his admission on a wire recorder.

The victim in the tragedy that ended a campus romance was Miss Georgine Lyon of near Madison, Ind., a librarian at the Lawrenceville High School.

The shooting occurred in a classroom where the young couple were alone. Some 700 students were attending classes in nearby rooms but none apparently heard the shots. Her body was discovered in the empty classroom by a faculty member shortly after lunch yesterday.

Petrach said he and Miss Lyon had been engaged, but that the pretty 23-year-old brunette recently returned his ring. He gave no explanation for the slaying other than it resulted from a "blasted romance."

Sheriff Burgon said Petrach carried a picture of Miss Lyon in his billfold along with an Oscar Wilde quotation: "Each man kills the thing he loves."

Burgon said Petrach, whose hearing was partially impaired as the result of an injury while he served with an Army demolition team, gave the following account: He came to Lawrenceville yesterday morning by taxi from nearby Vincennes, Ind. He went to the high school to talk with Miss Lyon about their broken romance, but when he saw he couldn't patch up their engagement he pulled out a .22-caliber revolver and shot her, leaving her body on the floor.

Petrach, who said he and Miss Lyon met while students at Ball State Teachers College at Muncie, Ind., was picked up by Burgon shortly after the body was discovered as he hitch-hiked eastward on U. S. Highway 50.

72-Year-Old Prof Ends Mountain Hike

MILLINOCKET, Me. (AP) — An elderly umbrella-toting scholar finished a summer-long hike on the 2,000-mile Appalachian trail yesterday by marching up and then down Maine's Mt. Katahdin in a windy rainstorm.

"I'm not tired—I could start back again," said 72-year-old retired Temple University professor, George S. Miller.

Miller carried the umbrella and a 25-pound pack on his dawn-to-dusk mountain climb.

Miller said he started in Georgia last April 18 and traveled on foot all the way here except for a ferry trip across the Hudson River. Next year, he said, he hopes to tour the South and Middle West.

Dulles Charges HST With Belittling Ike

NEW YORK (AP) — John Foster Dulles, answering a statement by President Truman, says it is "absurd to suggest" that Dwight D. Eisenhower is seeking a revolt of unarmed peoples under the Soviet yoke.

Dulles, foreign policy adviser to the Republican presidential candidate, made the statement yesterday in replying to what he called attempts by Truman to "belittle and besmirch" Eisenhower.

Truman, speaking Tuesday at Parkersburg, W. Va., accused the Republicans of playing "cruel, gutter politics with the lives of countless good men and women behind the Iron Curtain."

Truman interpreted an earlier declaration by Eisenhower as an apparent call for revolt by nations captured by the Soviet. The President said, however, that he didn't really believe the Republicans wanted revolts but were merely bidding for votes on the issue.

Dulles' comment on that was: "It is, of course, absurd to suggest that Gen. Eisenhower anticipates invoking wholesale insurrection by unarmed slaves. Premature revolt would expose the patriotic people to liquidation."

"There are countless peaceful ways by which the tasks of the Russian despots can be made so unbearably difficult that they (enslaved peoples) will renounce their rule. That was shown in Yugoslavia."

The controversy grew from Eisenhower's address before the American Legion National Convention last week, in which he said: "We can never rest and we must so inform all the world including the Kremlin that until the enslaved nations of the world have in the fullness of freedom the right to choose their paths, that then, and only then, can we say that there is a possible way of living peacefully and permanently with communism in the world."

Dulles, in his written statement yesterday, said, "We can trust the man (Eisenhower) who won the peace, rather than the man (Truman) who lost it."

No Live Cattle Are Sent Across Border

LAREDO, Sept. 4 (AP)—Fresh meat—but no live cattle—has crossed from Mexico into the United States since the Agriculture Department's ban on shipments was lifted three days ago.

Fresh cabrito (young goat) meat was brought across the border into Laredo yesterday. It was the first shipment in six years.

But customs officers said they knew of no cattle ready to be moved into the U. S. anywhere from Brownsville to Del Rio. No movements have been reported since Monday, when the Department's ban was lifted.

Importation of cattle and fresh meat was stopped in 1948 because of an outbreak of hoof-and-mouth disease in Mexico.

LONE STAR

Always Light! Always Clear!

Its popularity GROWS and GROWS*

* THE SUBCONSCIOUS makes most people decide what they will eat and drink. It's a lucky thing that the subconscious is on our side—when it comes to deciding what beer should taste like. When they try LONE STAR—most people stick! That's made LONE STAR the fastest growing brand of beer in the U. S.!

* P. S. Sales of LONE STAR have grown 88% faster than sales of the next fastest-growing brand of beer in America—from 1941 through 1951. In 11 years—LONE STAR'S total sales have grown 1403%! And its popularity grows and grows! Lone Star Brewing Company, San Antonio, Texas.

What a wonderful beer!

Estah's Abounds In Autumn Blossoms

Fall flowers are now in season at Estah's Flowers, 1701 Scurry. So are large tropical plants of all kinds. The latter are potted and prepared to continue their growth in your living or dining room den or other portions of the house.

Mrs. Dorothy Ragan, owner and manager of Estah's Flowers, reports she has in stock such items as potted ivy, several varieties of the large Philodendron, dieffenbachia and Dracaena, and others. The fall line includes mums and other potted plants.

Estah's also displays a wide array of gifts for the home and baby. There are brass, copper and ceramic pieces such as planters and dishes of various kinds. Also offered is a line of goods imported from Holland.

Mrs. Ragan emphasizes the fact that Estah's always has orchids available. In fact, your choice of cut and potted flowers and plants for every occasion may be found at the Scurry Street shop. Flowers probably constitute the most personalized gift a person can select for practically any occasion. Estah's skilled arrangers can prepare the ideal remembrance for the new mother, anniversary, wedding, congratulatory occasions or as expression of sympathy.

Orders may be placed by telephone and delivery will be made at any specified time. Flowers may be "wired" to many cities as simply as telephoning the florist's.

Invisible Death

No, the pretty lady isn't an eerie personality—just a housewife. She's applying Johnston's No-Roach, a new and potent insect killer. By applying this invisible film to wood work and other places which roaches, ants, water bugs, etc. might tread, she leaves an unseen wall of death for these pests.

Perimeter Heating Economical, Best

Now that a dry cold wave has knocked the edge off a terrific summer, people may be able to get their minds on some kind of heat besides the weather.

And it's just as well for the time when heating will be needed for homes and businesses is not so far away.

The wise resident will make inquiry now and get in ahead of the rush when that first sharp northern blizzard, Western Insulating Company, 207 Austin, has anticipated this need and has on hand a large stock of all types of floor and wall furnaces, forced draft and types of heating other than the open fire kind.

This year, E. L. Gibson, owner and operator, points to a new, highly efficient and economical home heating development—perimeter heating.

Perimeter gets its name from the distribution of warmed air around the perimeter of the home or the enclosure to be heated. It has a number of advantages, including that of utilizing what advantages accrue from the radiant type (warmed floors) heating. This is because the ducts diagonal from the heating unit to the perimeter of the building and then circle the building. The floor is thus kept fairly warm but not hot.

Another big advantage is that the air is introduced in long, narrow registers directly beneath the windows. Everyone knows, of course, that the window in any house is probably the coldest place in it, so the heat is applied first of all where it will do the most good.

A third advantage to the perimeter heating is that it has a highly rated burner in the bottom, heat exchanger in the middle and a squirrel type blower on top. The warmed air is delivered constantly and evenly to all parts of the house. Also, return registers circulate the air, and ventilation with regulated intake controls the desired amount of new air to be introduced into the mixture. An even, healthful temperature is maintained over the house.

A fourth advantage to perimeter heating is that it not only does a better job than floor furnaces, but in a house of any particular size, it is actually more economical to install. Installation can be made somewhere from $350, which is considerably less than a pair of 50,000 BTU floor furnaces which would be required to approach its efficiency.

Phillips Can Make Casings Good As New

If tires show signs of wear and tear, owners need not discard them. The casings can be made to look and act like new, if recapped at the Phillips Tire Company, located at 410 Johnson Street in Big Spring.

Phillips has in operation Lodi factory system equipment, which processes tires perfectly and speedily.

In charge of the recapping service at the Phillips concern is Bill Dodd, who has been with the establishment for three years and has been in related businesses for a decade.

The recapping system became especially popular during the last world war, when rubber was hard to get. Even though the commodity became plentiful again, the popularity of the recapped tire has not diminished, for it has proved to be an economical, safe mounting.

Phillips' seat cover department also proves popular with motorists who want their vehicles to look spick and span on the inside.

New Liquid Kills Roaches And Ants

Scientists recommend that you control roaches and ants the modern way—with Johnston's NO-ROACH. Brushed just where you want it, (not a messy spray) the colorless, odorless coating kills these pests; it's effective for months, sanitary, and easy to use. 8 oz. 85c; pint $1.69; quart $2.98. Available at Cunningham & Phillips Drug, Big Spring Hardware, Piggy Wiggy, Collins Drug and Furr Food Stores.

Defense Output Hits New High During July

WASHINGTON Sept. 4.—The government reported today that deliveries of planes, tanks, guns, and ammunition for defense reached a new peak in July.

Without giving a figure, for July, acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman said total deliveries of military hard goods during the month represented a slight increase over the two billion dollars worth produced in June.

He said this comparison covered 140 major and "problem" items, the heart of the military program. Steelman made public portions of his latest secret monthly report to President Truman.

In it, Steelman suggested the rate of climb in production might have been greater except for the 56-day steel strike.

He said steel production now has been restored to the point that pipelines for turning out military, atomic energy and machine tool items are again being filled.

Two More Top Reds Ousted in Bulgaria

VIENNA, Austria (U)—Bulgaria's Communist government has fired two more high officials — Foreign Trade Minister Dimitar Ganey and Agriculture Minister Nicola Stolyar.

Their dismissals, announced by the Sofia radio, came shortly after the firing of Bulgarian Heavy Industry Minister Anton Jugov.

The broadcast decree said former Deputy Foreign Minister Zivko Zivkov has been appointed foreign trade minister and Stanko Todorov has been named minister of agriculture.

Southern Beauties Lead The Parade In Miss America Test

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (U)—Two belles from below the Mason-Dixon Line and a charmer from California led a parade of puerile title toward the Miss America 1953 title today.

Iris Anne Fitch of Washington, D. C., Miss District of Columbia, Glenn Harmon of Birmingham, Ala., Miss California, won all-important preliminary contests last night.

The 19-year-old capital queen scored in the opening talent contest with her soprano rendition of "With a Song in My Heart."

Sparkman Says Ike Gives Away An Issue A Day

LONG BEACH, Calif. (U-P)—Sen. John J. Sparkman, heading East today after an intensive campaign tour in California, told Long Beach Democrats yesterday that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is "giving away the Republican platform at the rate of one issue a day."

"The Democratic nominee for vice president said Eisenhower is now plugging for better social security than exists under the Democratic administration. Sparkman added that, however, two years ago in Houston, Tex. Eisenhower compared social security to enslavement."

Speaking at a luncheon of Democrats, the Alabama senator referred to the appearance of the Republican presidential nominee in Atlanta, Ga. Tuesday. Sparkman said he "doubted there were 2,000 votes" for the GOP ticket among the 100,000 citizens who turned out for the Eisenhower appearance.

"We don't get to see many five-star generals down South," said Sparkman. "In fact, we don't get to see many Republicans."

At a press conference Sparkman said he stands "exactly with Stevenson (his running mate) on civil rights matters."

"That is," he said, "that it is the responsibility of all levels of government to protect the basic rights of all citizens."

He said that civil rights are bound up with economic welfare and that "when the country is prosperous as it is now, the basic differences are not serious."

Man Dies In Mishap

EVANT, Sept. 4 (U)—An 80-year-old Belton man, David Brevard, was killed yesterday when his car and one driven by Lewis Bolton of Dallas collided five miles west of Evant. Bolton was taken to a Gateville hospital.

WTCC Is Concerned About Treaties Under The U. N.

ABILENE, Sept. 4 — Fear that treaties and other agreements to which it may become a party as a member of the United Nations may supercede or abridge the constitution and laws of the United States and the various states is reflected in a resolution adopted unanimously by the executive board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The resolution declared that "the scope of international agreements is being constantly broadened. Basic constitutional rights and privileges of citizens of the United States are being subjected to nullification through treaty enactments. It is generally conceded that treaties between nations supercede state and federal laws. Whether treaty and federal constitutions has never been decided by our Supreme Court. Constitutional guarantees should be specifically protected in any treaty. We should not leave this decision to our present Supreme Court."

The executive board recommended the following resolution to the WTCC directors, who will meet during its annual convention in Wichita Falls October 19-21:

1. No provision of a treaty or of an executive agreement that alters or abridges the Constitution of the United States should become effective unless such alteration or change is embodied in a constitutional amendment adopted and ratified in the manner provided in the Constitution for amendment of it.

2. No provision of a treaty or of an executive agreement that alters or abridges the rights protected by laws of the United States or the constitutions and laws of the several states should become effective unless provided by action of Congress and only to the extent that Congress so provides.

Woman Is Awaited As Kidnaped Child

CHICAGO (U-P)—The parents of a baby kidnaped 22 years ago waited anxiously today to meet the California housewife reportedly identified as their long missing child.

Mrs. Mary Beck McClelland, 24, of San Pablo, Calif., arrived here last night to meet with Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moroney, parents of Mary Agnes Moroney, who was 2-year-old when she was kidnaped in Chicago in 1930.

Police still list the case as unsolved, the oldest unsolved case in the files of the Chicago Missing Persons Bureau.

Mrs. Moroney, 40, said last night she hoped her mother's instinct will tell her whether Mrs. McClelland really is her daughter. The Moroneys have seven other daughters and sons, four of whom live at home.

The Oakland (Calif.) Tribune said yesterday that new scientific techniques have identified Mrs. McClelland as the missing Moroney child.

Last winter, Dr. E. W. Merrithew, a physician at Martinez, Calif., said he had arranged for the adoption of Mrs. McClelland in 1927 and that she definitely was not the kidnaped Moroney child. Dr. Merrithew declined, on ethical grounds, to name the child's parents.

The Moroney child was kidnaped on May 15, 1930, by a well-dressed young woman posing as a social worker, who took the child to buy her some clothes. Mrs. Moroney was told the next day by a woman telephone caller her daughter was being taken to California and would be returned in two months.

Right-Of-Way For Road Hits Snag

Right-of-way acquisition on one Howard County road project is moving along while it has snagged high center on another.

The roadway for the U.S. 87-U.S. 80 cut-off via the foot of scenic Mountain, long a pesky problem, is snagged again. One deed is pending and the Texas & Pacific Railway Company says it is ready to sign as soon as it is furnished with field notes? The county surveyor has been assigned to the project, said the commissioner's court.

Four deeds are outstanding on the Vealmoor-U.S. 87 lateral, according to Walter Long, commissioner of Precinct No. 1. Two have been signed by husbands but await the signatures of their wives. The remaining two are out-of-town owners, who have been contacted but who have not yet responded, he said.

WTCC Is Concerned About Treaties Under The U. N.

ABILENE, Sept. 4 — Fear that treaties and other agreements to which it may become a party as a member of the United Nations may supercede or abridge the constitution and laws of the United States and the various states is reflected in a resolution adopted unanimously by the executive board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The resolution declared that "the scope of international agreements is being constantly broadened. Basic constitutional rights and privileges of citizens of the United States are being subjected to nullification through treaty enactments. It is generally conceded that treaties between nations supercede state and federal laws. Whether treaty and federal constitutions has never been decided by our Supreme Court. Constitutional guarantees should be specifically protected in any treaty. We should not leave this decision to our present Supreme Court."

The executive board recommended the following resolution to the WTCC directors, who will meet during its annual convention in Wichita Falls October 19-21:

1. No provision of a treaty or of an executive agreement that alters or abridges the Constitution of the United States should become effective unless such alteration or change is embodied in a constitutional amendment adopted and ratified in the manner provided in the Constitution for amendment of it.

2. No provision of a treaty or of an executive agreement that alters or abridges the rights protected by laws of the United States or the constitutions and laws of the several states should become effective unless provided by action of Congress and only to the extent that Congress so provides.

Friends Get Back Presents From McKeldin

BALTIMORE (U-P)—Maryland's Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin has returned the cash gifts given him by some "old friends" at a dinner party recently.

He said last night that he has mailed a check to B. Herbert Brown, the Baltimore Republican who arranged the dinner, and has asked Brown to distribute the money.

The governor's acceptance of the purse has been the target of several highly critical statements issued by former Sen. Millard Tydings, who says the amount involved is $7,000.

McKeldin would not say how much he received nor would he name the donors as Tydings demanded.

Tydings, a Democrat who lost his Senate seat in 1950, pointed out that the governor has been one of the most vocal critics of members of President Truman's staff who accepted deep freezers and mink coats as presents.

McKeldin said the gifts were from "old friends" and that "no strings were attached." He said

Middies Get Ready To Resume Studies

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (U-P)—More than 2,500 upper classmen, composing the second largest brigade of midshipmen in the history of the U. S. Naval Academy, will assemble here Friday upon their return from leave.

The old hands and the new plebes make up a brigade totaling 3,743, not far short of last year's record number of 3,815.

The regular academic year at the Academy begins on Monday, some had indicated that at least part of the money should be used for campaign purposes, and others thought the governor should buy needed items for the government house.

McKeldin said he hadn't decided how the money was to be used, but took note of the law which states that sources of campaign contributions must be made public.

"It might contravene the spirit, if not the letter, of the law if the (campaign) donations were made in my name," the governor wrote in a letter to Brown.

"There was certainly nothing . . . to justify criticism although it is perhaps too much to expect that someone would not take advantage of the opportunity to make demagogic capital out of it," he said.

Adoptions On Increase Here; 20 Cases Noted During 1951

Attitudes and times have changed, and it's a great break for babies looking for a home. Adoptions here are on the increase. Court records, which by no means reflect the total of adoptions here, show that the number has about doubled in the past two years and is trebled that of a decade ago.

The number doubtless would be greater if there were only enough babies to fill adoption requests. Sometimes couples find it necessary to wait two or three years; others are luckier.

Last year the 119th District Court had 20 adoption cases. This year, the rate is continuing almost the same but prospects are good for the number to be increased.

In 1950, the court processed only 12 adoption cases. In 1941 there were only seven adoption cases on the docket. These records involve cases that originate here. Actually, there is probably a substantially large number of cases where the end is handled at points where the baby is secured, usually in some metropolitan center.

Two decades ago, at the depth of the unattended depression, the orphan and baby problem was to find a public, church or fraternal-supported home to take them. Now, with family economics generally in a more substantial state, the baby inevitably finds a couple eager to give it a home.

Tough breaks go to the older children. Although chances drop off sharply, a youngster still may find foster parents until he or she reaches school age. The adoption curve skids sharply from that point.

Not everyone can adopt a child.

Knife And Fork Club Will Plan Season Program

Approach of the fall season brings a return of activity for Big Spring's Knife and Fork Club, and directors will be meeting soon to map the season's program, said Dan Krause, president.

The club has released a list of seven speakers who will appear at monthly intervals at the dinner sessions of the organization. First date is on October 16, and the meetings will continue through April.

Krause said that while K-F membership must necessarily be limited by the size of the banquet hall, some arrangements will be worked out for additional members. Particularly will Webb Air Force Base personnel be invited to join for the season, he said.

A program of entertainment—unusual musical feats plus humor—is slated for October 4, with George Bally the attraction. His program is called a "Potpourri of Melody and Memory."

On November 12, Cameron Ralston will appear in the talk, "The Back Stairs of History." Ralston formerly was with the U.S. Office of Education, had a hand in the gangster cleanup of Chicago.

December 1 brings Dr. David Dressler in an unusual presentation, "Beating The Bunco." A former crime investigator, Dr. Dressler reveals the workings of confidence gangs and crooked gamblers, shows how they have fleeced their victims.

One of the Knife and Fork Club's "Flying Reporters" will appear January 14. He will be Hawthorne Daniel, newsman and author who will bring a late analysis of world conditions.

The February 10 speaker will be Tom Kelly, a strong advocate of soil and water conservation who puts his message across by means of an illustrated lecture. His topic will be "The Soul and the Soil."

John Morley, distinguished foreign correspondent will appear in March, at a date to be set. A magazine writer and former worker in the Military Intelligence, he will talk on "A Correspondent's Uncensored Report on World Crisis."

The season climaxes April 15 with a talk by John D. Craig, "A Layman's Approach to the Scientific Age." Craig has been movie cameraman and producer, brings a new angle on newest scientific developments.

Krause said the club's lineup this year appeared to be the strongest yet listed. He said people interested in the club's activity may get information from the secretary, Tom Rosson.

West Germans Urge Easterners To Hold Off Their Escapes

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German government broadcast an appeal to the East Germans last night not to flee their Soviet zone homes unless they face a real emergency.

The appeal, by Minister for All-German Affairs Jakob Kaiser, indicated his government's alarm over acute problems of housing, feeding and employment raised by the thousands of refugees who have flooded in from the East since the Communist government stepped up military preparations.

More than 50,000 East Germans have fled to the West in the past two months, and refugee camps are overflowing.

The court and various agencies take a dim view of ready-made parenthood for couples whose economic or moral standing is open to serious question. Private agencies are usually more exhaustive in their investigation of prospective parent backgrounds than public ones. Besides being good people who are able to provide for the welfare of a child, some agencies want to know if the parties involved are psychologically turned for parenthood.

An adopted child sometimes still has a natural parent. Court records frequently show instances of where a husband legally adopts his wife's child by a previous marriage, or vice versa. These are the line exceptions where economic and moral stability might be stretched to cover the situation, according to A. E. Long, juvenile officer, who investigates the majority of cases filed in court here.

Once there was a stigma to being adopted. Fortunately, this stigma and unjust notion has been junked. Most enlightened parents whose children are adopted now tell the youngsters as soon as they are able to understand that they are not their natural parents. That prevents heartbreak later on at the hands of some busy-body or misguided do-gooder. It provides an opportunity, too, for the parent to make it plain to the child that he or she enjoys the distinction of being selected by the parents, and of knowing that they are wanted and therefore loved.

Children come from various circumstances—some from broken homes; some from families which have grown beyond ability of poor parents to provide; some from unmarried mothers; some from being orphaned; some from "homes" where they were left and some from hospitals. From whatever source, however, they are eagerly taken by couples who many times are more thrilled than if they had their own child born to them.

In a current climate of better times and enlightenment, more and more people who can't have babies of their own are asking to adopt one. And this is the particular season of the year, too, when kiddies trek off to school and Christmas is around the corner, that adoptions step up. Records here show that two-thirds of adoptions generally occur in the last half of the year.

Long says that he has far more requests for babies and youngsters to adopt than he can fill. Pastors usually have a list of couples for whom they are seeking children. Hospitals also have lists of people wanting to get newborn babies who can be cared for by the parents. Agencies are swamped with calls, too, and it's a great day for the baby. Maybe someday this attitude will extend more generally to include the older children who would like good, normal homes.

Visitors To Join Water Program

Visiting dignitaries in considerable number will be in Big Spring Friday night to join the local citizenry in a program greeting the arrival of sufficient water.

The public is invited to attend an informal event at Steer Stadium, beginning with a band concert at 7:30 p.m. This affair will be climaxed with announcement from Mayor G. W. Dabney of the release of restrictions on local water.

The water already actually was "in sight." The Colorado River Municipal Water District had completed connection of lines from its well fields, and Wednesday and Thursday was cleaning mains and making final tests. The city was filling its storage, so that actual delivery to customers will be ready.

This long-looked for moment in the city's history will be marked by the Stadium program, where, as a climax, city firemen will open hose and send up streams of water that can soak the football turf while providing a welcome sight to a water-hungry populace.

Youngsters under 12 have been invited to be at the program in their swim suits, to scamper briefly under the shower. The break in the heat wave may serve to dampen this particular festivity, but if kids and parents are willing, the water will be there, said program committeemen.

Frank H. Kelley, Colorado City, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will speak briefly at the program, preceding the mayor's declaration. Kelley was an able assistant to the CRMWD in getting its program started.

from Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder, will be on hand, as will various engineers and attorneys who have worked on the project. Another visitor will be J. B. Thomas of Fort Worth, who inspired the tricity water project, and whose name has been given to the district's new lake in Scurry County.

Mayors and chamber of commerce officials from a half-dozen neighboring towns have been invited. So have members of the State Board of Water Engineers and representatives of the U. S. Geological Survey. All these visitors will be introduced by Joe Pickle, master of ceremonies.

Board Chairman R. T. Piner announced that a meeting of the CRMWD board will be held here Friday at 4:30, for routine business.

Oil Rich Sheik Due To Get Even Richer

LONDON (AP)—The oil-rich Sheik of Qatar, ruler of an independent Arab principality on the Persian Gulf, is going to be even richer. He's now signed up for a 50-50 split on oil profits.

Petroleum Development, Ltd., yesterday announced the change in its concession agreement. The sheik formerly received only a fixed royalty.

Qatar is a desert peninsula sticking out in the Persian Gulf from Arabia. It has been under British protection since the end of World War I. Oil production is running at the rate of three million tons annually.

Awards Made To Scouts At Court Of Honor

Awards were made to Boy Scouts in a Court of Honor program held at Big Spring High School Tuesday evening. The banner was won by Troop 2.

Charles Watson, chairman of the court, presided over the program. Special events included a pie eating contest and a knot tying contest.

Members of the court included Jack Cook, D. M. McKinney, Arthur Leonard, R. H. Weaver, Joe Pickle, Jimmy Hale, Wesley Deats, Dan Krausse, Gil Jones and Lloyd Brooks.

The scout oath was led by Scout Murle Dibrell and the scout masters benediction was led by Scout Murle Bailey.

Second class awards went to Richard McCutcheon, Homer Mills and Dennis Jones. First class awards went to Bill Childress, Don Collins, Lee Denton, Bill French, Frank Powell, Jimmy Anderson and Turner Ferguson.

Those receiving Star Scout awards included David Dibrell and Loren Guess. Life Scout went to Murle Bailey and Frank Tate. Awards for civil service went to Bill French, George Peacock and Frank Powell.

Mentor badges were presented to J. T. Baird, Don Collins, Adrian deGraffenreid, Lee Denton, David Dibrell, Art Dodds, Douglas Eastman, Don Lovelady, Sammy Meador, Bill Owens, George Peacock, Frank Powell, Don White, Dale Melbourne, Murle Bailey and Frank Tate.

Those recognized for camping were Art Dodds, Bill French, Jimmy Stelling, Don Collins, Bill McCutcheon, Jimmy Stelling, Johnny Young, Don White, Lee Denton, Ralph Wilkerson, Charles Saunders, Bobby Dillon and Wendell Allen.

Pandemonium Reigns As The World 'Lost' 11 Days

By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (AP)—Eleven days vanished forever just 200 years ago come September—and the event touched off reverberations which still echo in your life.

It happened when Great Britain and all her colonies around the world—the future USA included—switched from the calendar devised by Julius Caesar to the one originated 170 years before by Pope Gregory XIII.

September 1752, had moved along quietly for two full days. When folks woke up the next morning it wasn't Sept. 3, but Sept. 14.

Pandemonium resulted, even though British businessmen had been finding it increasingly difficult to get things done efficiently with the rest of the Western world because most of the rest of Europe had given up the Julian schedule in favor of the Gregorian long before 1752.

That didn't help the man in the street.

Big shots - and little shots - thought they had lost their birth-dates. Some people thought their lives had been shortened. Others fought over payment dates of wages and the interest on mortgages and bonds. Landlords and tenants battled over when the rent fell due. Angry mobs poured into London streets shouting: "Give us back our 11 days!"

In time things simmered down. Some of the American colonies clung to the old Julian calendar for years, with resulting confusion.

Eventually the Gregorian calendar came into general use in the United States, although there is no known accurate historical record of its adoption. To this day, however, confusion reigns about certain dates in American history.

The Gregorian calendar was only one of many efforts to reform the calendar that persist to this day. Man has suffered from calendar complications ever since he tried to fit the time measurement of the Earth's rotation on its axis to the time measurement of the Earth's revolution around the sun. One won't fit evenly into the other. It takes the Earth a few seconds less than 365 and one-fourth days to encircle the sun—and it took man centuries to learn that.

Back in 45 B. C., when Julius Caesar wanted to change the old Roman calendar (which had only 305 days in the year), he added a leap year every fourth year. This proved to be several minutes too much. After 1,600 years the calendar was about two weeks out of variance with the seasons. This affected the date of Easter and the church became interested. In time Pope Gregory XIII called a commission to design a new calendar, which was launched in 1582 with two important changes. First, the leap year rule was changed, so that there would be 97, instead of 100, leap years every 400 years.

Stevenson Gets His Kiss

Gov. Adlai Stevenson opened his address in Flint, Mich., on Labor Day with some joshing remarks that he had not been offered a baby to kiss all day. That little matter was taken care of at the end of his speech when Valeria Rae Begley, 3 months old, was handed to Gov. G. Mennen Williams (left) of Michigan. The Democratic presidential nominee kissed the baby and said "Now, I've done everything." (AP Wirephoto).

THE SPRINGBOARD

News From Webb Air Force Base

By A-2C FERD J. BORSCH

SAFETY
Appropriately enough, the tag end of the Labor Day holiday week end, when accidental deaths soar into three figures, marked the opening of the "U-SAFE" campaign at Webb Air Force Base.

This drive, a command-wide endeavor, has for its goal to eliminate as many safety hazards as possible and to keep injuries and deaths resulting from accidents to a minimum.

One of the most important phases of the "U-SAFE" program at Webb is the off-base accident rate. Most off-base accidents involving Air Force personnel result from auto mishaps.

To stress the importance of heeding all safety measures while driving, a large "tally sheet" sign will be posted at the main gate. Both K. S. Shriver, base Ground Safety Director, and Lt. Col. John Campbell, project officer, pointed out that this "tally sheet" will announce the number of traffic deaths on Texas highways to be followed by the question—"Are you going to be next?"

BOOTSTRAP
"Operation Bootstrap" registration for fall term courses at Howard County Junior College opened at the Information Office on base Tuesday.

The Air Force pays 5 per cent of tuition under the Bootstrap program.

Classes, which start September 10, will be held two-nights weekly. Howard's night school courses English, math, music, agriculture, woodwork, metals, philosophy, government engineering, drawing physics, speech, art, and Bible.

"Bootstrap" also offers a chance for Webb personnel to complete their high school credits. These high school classes, also to be held at HCJC, include English, math, science, and history.

TESTS
An estimate 220 airmen in the administrative, supply and aircraft and engine maintenance career fields have completed the first in a series of proficiency tests.

In order to advance to a higher level in his particular career field, an airman must now pass a comprehensive exam.

These tests are composed of 150 multiple choice questions, covering all operational functions of a career field.

When this program is in full swing, all career fields will be covered by the examinations.

MANAGEMENT
The second management training class sponsored by the Manpower and Management Office opened Wednesday. This class will include nine civilian, eight officers and 34 airmen, all holding supervisory jobs on the base.

The principles and techniques of management are emphasized in these classes in addition to instruction, human relations, and utilization. Capt. William Huerste conducts the class.

AIR POLICE
Six APs completed an intensified, week-long Air Police course at Webb last week and received certificates from Maj. William V. Wright, AP Squadron Commander.

The course, first of its kind held on the base, covered the AP code of ethics, duties at the main and east gate, traffic, first aid, accidents, town patrol, use of the 45, security regulations, small arms, and all departmental phases of the AP system.

T-Sgt Harry D. Hopper conducted the classes.

SPORTS
Webb's Dusters added another pair of triumphs in Industrial Football League action the past week. The Airmen whipped Peoples Investment, 14-4, and outslugged Henderson, 15-9.

Warren Leims poled a home run in the Peoples conquest while Mel Haveman, Charles Orenland, Ed Sprowsner and Bill Peterson hit for the circuit in the Henderson test. Haveman and Orenland blasted their routrippers with the bases loaded.

Field Maintenance swept a pair of make-up games last week to clinch the second half base Squadron Softball League pennant.

Field Maintenance also won the first half flag. The champs clinched the title by rolling past Wing Headquarters, 8-1, and Pilot Training, 11-0. The entire team was treated to steak dinners at the NCO Club Friday.

The base winter bowling schedule opened a 35-week campaign Wednesday. This program includes two leagues, one vying Wednesday night and the other Friday night at West Texas Bowling Center.

25,000 Horsepower Engine In Production Is Biggest Turbojet

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 25,000-horsepower turbojet aircraft engine 2½ times as powerful as the combined four engines of a B-29 Superfortress has been placed into production, the Navy announced.

The engine, claimed by Westinghouse Electric Corp. to be the most powerful turbojet in the world to date, was developed by the firm as an improved version of the original Westinghouse J40 engine.

The new engine develops its tremendous power, the firm said, partly through use of an "afterburner" which reheats the exhaust gases after they leave the turbine and before they emerge as a jet stream.

Comfort Winning Over Dressiness As Sport Shirts Get Upper Hand

The festive sport shirt is here to stay, a little piece in our own paper declares—only for summer wear, but for year-round use, in short sleeves and long sleeves, for tucked-in wear, or for the free-flowing blouse effect that so many men find comfortable in summer.

We are even told that sport shirts are selling better than the conventional type, and this we are prepared to believe.

A sport shirt isn't necessarily the sort that would give a peacock the blind staggers at forty paces. They come in white and stripes, in subdued tones of solid colors. Those in the colors of the rainbow and in patterns that defy description attract the most attention, but they do not represent the whole extent to which the sport shirt has displaced the conventional throat-throttling variety.

Men, as our item noted, are slow to take on innovations. They are by nature conservative in choice of clothing—not because they don't yearn for a change but because they hate to be conspicuous, they hate to stand out from the crowd.

But when they do fall, they fall hard. They fall all the way.

If the present trend toward loud, variegated and turbulent colors continues to expand, and spreads from summer to winter, the masculine population of America will have come full circle from conservatism to utter liberality. From that point of the ultimate in free-wheeling attire, there can be only one direction, and that will be back to the drab and colorless days of yore.

The search for comfort in this semi-tropical climate is a heartening thing to watch. The shirt with the tight neckband is fading fast. The tightly-knotted tie has fewer and fewer devotees. Comfort rather than elegance is the watchword, and we contend it's all to the good.

California probably gets the most credit, or ceases as the case may be, for the trend toward comfortable and colorful clothes for men. Lying squarely between California and that other semi-tropical paradise, Florida, Texas is catching on fast.

In A Totalitarian State, Farmers Are Either Slaves Or Corpses

One of the toughest nuts any Communist regime has to crack is the farmer. Traditionally in all parts of the world the farmer and herdsman are the most independent, toughest-minded and freest-spirited people civilization has ever developed.

After thirty-five years of totalitarian dictatorship, Soviet Russia still finds farmers the most recalcitrant element in the population. Neither wholesale executions, oppressive measures, nor constant police surveillance has broken their spirit.

Russia's satellites are finding the same difficulties. A report in the Christian Science Monitor tells of some of the measures now being taken in Hungary to bend these bold spirits to the Communist will. On August 11 the Hungarian Council of Ministers—politicians all, of course—published orders to the farmers for handling their land and crops, with a passenger-train schedule laid down for performance.

Taking no note of the vagaries of the weather and the seasons, the ministry decrees that the harvesting of fiber hems,

Presidential Campaign Isn't Likely To Find Solution For Handling Of Strikes

WASHINGTON — There is a kind of American self-torture involved for a way out of national emergency strikes.

This presidential campaign isn't likely to provide a solution as Gov. Stevenson said in his Labor Day speech.

He said that the Taft-Hartley Act should be entirely replaced by a new labor law. He raised the question of handling national emergency strikes.

He offered several suggestions but frankly said he didn't have the answer. It's a question which makes organized labor, management and politicians unhappy. Congress has never provided the answer.

Traditionally, an employer has been free to refuse to meet the demands of a union. At the same time the union is free to strike until he does.

That freedom for both sides was recognized by Congress even in passing the Taft-Hartley Act with its many restrictions on unions and management.

When there is a threat of a strike which might hurt the national welfare, T-H provides for delaying but not, in the end, preventing it.

The government, through court injunction, can delay such a strike 80 days to give both sides that much more time to reach a settlement.

Congress could do this: It could pass a law forbidding a strike in an industry affecting the national welfare and let it go at that.

That would penalize the union only. Deprived of its ancient right to strike it would have to continue working for an employer who, knowing his workers couldn't walk out, could take his own good time on a settlement.

This would be so obviously one-sided that, if Congress tried this remedy, organized labor could hardly sit by. In the end, and for fairness, Congress would have to

Kindergarten Provides Man With Insight Into Future

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 — Kindergarten is what makes or breaks a man.

Millions of future little American husbands, struggling to school for the first time, will learn that this month.

A kindergarten is a "garden of children." But it is also a wilderness where small two-legged bits of protoplasm—part elf, part demon, part angel—speed up their sad and wonderful transformation into human beings.

It separates the boys from the girls, and sets them forever upon their separate paths. There a young fellow will meet and have to try to cope with all the adventures he will encounter in later life—love and loss, victory and disaster, achievement and failure, pride and fall, and golden friendship, ever betrayed, ever kindred.

That these adventures are small-scale makes them no less affecting to the half-pint denizens of this classroom. A mouse gets as much fun from a piece of cheese as an elephant does from a ton of hay, and a headache hurts him as much.

So it is with children. The kindergarten which seems to envious grownups a lost Eden is to the small fry a kind of battlefield. The wounds they receive there are immortal first scars are longest remembered.

Looking back on my own kindergarten days, however, I find that it is the only period of my life I would truly wish to relieve. This is not because it was an altogether happy time; it was not that. I don't recall weathering any despair deeper than I knew at one time or another in kindergarten. Nor reaching any higher peaks of joy.

The fine thing then was that any

People Of World Getting Less Meat

WASHINGTON — People throughout the world are getting less meat despite increasing meat production, says the Agriculture Department. And few countries can expect things to get better.

The reason: Meat output isn't keeping up with population growth.

The department said also that traditional exporting countries have less to ship out and production has fallen off sharply in many European countries.

Per capita consumption last year was reported about the same as in 1950 but far below prewar years in most countries.

People in several countries eat far more meat than the average American, whose per capita consumption was 138 pounds in 1951. Uruguay led the list with 235 pounds and Greece was lowest with 23.

When We Do Good, It's Hardly Noticed Like Our Bad Points

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

We often hear complaints about how little this country is doing to win friends and influence people abroad.

But when this nation does something positive and actually brings spontaneous expressions of gratitude from a people, the public rarely hears about it.

For example, the United States Air Force recently airlifted Moslem pilgrims from Beirut, Lebanon, to Mecca. The airmen didn't halt their task until every pilgrim was evacuated.

When the job was finished, Mohammedan prayers of gratitude were heard from all mosques of Lebanon. The AF flew these pilgrims at the request of Lebanese officials when an unprecedented influx of pilgrims swamped regular airlines.

What really irks me about this is that no congressman has yet been heard to admit we are accomplishing some good abroad. But if you want to hear how "poor" a job we're doing, the halls of Congress are full of critics.

Seriously, nobody is ever 100 per cent right. Least of all the government. But we certainly are trying to do right and in many unpublicized instances we are making progress.

It's easy to find fault because mistakes stand out glaringly. But for every mistake we invariably find something right. This is not to say that we couldn't improve ourselves. Rather it would be an advantage if we would do a better job of balancing the sheet. As well as taking into consideration the right as well as the wrong.

American aid is doing a pretty good job abroad. We're far from perfect and mistakes are plentiful. We have made enemies, but we have made far more friends.

There's room for improvement, of course, but improvement cannot come unless the opportunity exists. If we withdraw our aid program and attempt to win friends because of a few mistakes, we'll never win friends.

These are good thoughts to remember next time you hear some pop-off urge our withdrawal into our own hemispheric shell.

America Needs An Effective Air Defense, Plus Striking Power

WASHINGTON — Plans for two huge emergency projects, comparable to the Manhattan District, are now being carefully reviewed on high government levels. The Manhattan District, as the world remembers, built this country's first atomic bomb. Yet in many ways, the tasks of these new projects will be even more critically important.

The plain, bleak truth is that we now seem to be moving into a revolutionary new world situation. By 1954, in the opinion of many of the leading governmental experts, the Soviet Union will have the power to deliver a crippling atomic attack upon American targets, while we shall no longer have the power to retaliate in kind, the purpose of the new projects, if they are launched, will be to prevent this fearful new situation from arising.

Two projects are needed because there are two problems. First, this country must be provided with an effective air defense. And, second, our wanting retaliatory air striking power must be restored. Slow, unnoticed changes have produced these dire needs. The simplest way to illustrate these changes is the story of what has happened to our retaliatory striking power.

In this respect, we have probably already entered "the air gap," as the planners call the once theoretical period when the air-and-atomic balance between the United States and the Soviet Union would begin to change sharply.

In brief, it is an open secret that the operational B-36s and other aircraft of our strategic Air Force do not constitute an unlimited air armada.

They are numbered. In fact, in the very low hundreds. On the other hand, estimates of probable average losses of these planes in missions against Soviet targets are now being continuously restated upwards. There is considerable dispute about percentages of loss, with the air planners themselves on the optimistic side. But seemingly well reasoned forecasts place the losses at between thirty and fifty per cent of aircraft per mission.

Quite aside from the effect of such losses on pilot morale and efficiency, losses anywhere near these figures will obviously leave us with too few weapons for the job. The big planes and their highly trained crews cannot be replaced at any such rate as these. If such rates of loss are in fact to be inflicted on us, the task of crippling the Soviet Union by retaliatory air attack cannot be carried out.

The reasons why these formerly theoretical loss estimates are now seeking to be theoretical are both plain and simple. First, the Soviets, whose targets are almost all very remote from their frontiers, are organizing a complex and powerful air defense in depth. Second, they now have an estimated force of 8,000 modern jet interceptors, mostly MIG-15s to form the backbone of this defense. Third, the experience of our B-29s against the MIGs in Korea, has indicated the effectiveness of the Soviet air defense against the type of offensive operations which we have hitherto contemplated.

Night attacks at high altitude have always, thus far, been the main reliance of our strategic air planners. But a quirk of the world weather pattern causes the cloud cover to lie very low over the whole Soviet land mass at least ninety per cent of the time. Nine days and nights out of ten, there are no clouds in the higher atmosphere over the Soviet Union, where our strategic aircraft have been designed to fly most efficiently. The speeds of our planes are not great enough to evade the MIG-15s. And the Korean experience has shown that the MIG can be vectored by ground radar to any enemy plane not protected by cloud cover, although the MIG lacks built-in searching and finding radar.

In addition, after long denials, our air planners are at last beginning to admit that the Soviets are producing a true nightfighter, with its own searching and finding radar to complement the ground control radar. For all these reasons, the existing, almost universal complacency about our retaliatory striking power threatens to become a total illusion. Maybe as the air planners assert, we can still do a lot of damage today, but the power we have now is a rapidly wasting asset.

This is no place to detail what needs to be done to reverse this appalling trend which is undermining the absolutely central assumption of American and Western policy. Fortunately, there is much that can be done. There are new weapons; there are new tactics, and there are combinations of the new weapons and the new tactics. The guided missiles especially, in all their dreadful variety, offer an almost sure promise of redressing the balance.

But here we run into the familiar American power of self-delusion. We have felt, and still feel, mighty comfortable just because we have an overwhelming stock of atomic bombs. We have not faced the fact that the most devastating bomb is worthless if it cannot be delivered. By the same token we feel mighty comfortable when our leaders blandly tell us that we "have" this or that new weapon. We do not face the fact that mere possession of a prototype will get us exactly nowhere when the chips are down.

Prototypes are all we have today. In the categories of weapons, needed to restore and maintain our retaliatory striking power. A tremendous concentrated and overriding effort is needed to procure us more than prototypes in a reasonable time. It will be an uncomfortable effort.

Small Animals Akin To Big Beasts

Certain animals of Africa and a section of Asia have been a puzzle to men of science. It has been hard to find their relatives!

The animals of which I speak are known as hyraxes (pronounced HY-rax-ees). They are common in several rocky parts of Africa, also in Syria. Some persons speak of them as conies, and others call them rock rabbits.

Hyraxes differ in several ways from conies, which are European rabbits. They also differ from rabbits of other continents; their ears are small and some of their teeth differ widely from those of any rabbit.

The teeth are important in classifying an animal. The molars of hyraxes are of much the same shape as those of certain big animals, including the rhinoceros. On a small scale, the stomach of a hyrax is something like that of an elephant.

Those facts, and others, have led scientists to say that this small animal is related to the elephant, also to the rhino.

If a hyrax knew about that, perhaps it would become puffed up a bit. As it is, there's nothing puffed up about the little fellow, except that its body becomes plump when the feeding is good. It eats grass, also the flowers and buds of plants.

Instead of being bold, the hyrax is timid. It will run into hiding at the slightest noise, even at the flutter of a bird's wings.

This animal is extremely fearful of most flesh-eating animals, including leopards, but it stays on good terms with the spiny-tailed lizard and the mongoose. These go near the hyrax, but seem never to harm it.

The mongoose is a deadly fighter, often

Riding THE GRUB LINE
With Franklin Reynolds

There was one bronc in the Goat Mayo string at the rodeo here last week that nobody was able to ride. Apparently all the riders who tried him just weren't able to "get with" him.

Now it turns out, according to some of the boys around Vincent, this is a horse that Ed Carpenter has been riding while gathering up eggs around the place.

L. H. Batton of the Lomax Community turns up with a suggestion we can approve.

"Why don't the sportsmen themselves voluntarily declare a closed season on quail this year and save what we have for seed?" says Batton.

He points out there are very few quail that have survived two years of drought and that those that have lived through it certainly should be given a chance to propagate and provide better hunting in the years to come. Batton says he has seen but few quail this year and that mainly what he has seen have been pairs only. The Grub Line Rider has seen but three coveys this year and one of those was in Midland County.

This column has already suggested putting out feed and water for the birds just as is done in the dead of winter in northern climates. Drought starves wild life to death just as certainly as snows 20 feet deep.

We can commend Batton's suggestion to the sportsmen.

The recent reorganization of the Soil Conservation Service which resulted in Big Spring becoming the district office of a much larger area and in the transfer of a number of SCS field and office workers, has brought another quite attractive young lady to the office in Colonel Nat Shick's postal emporium.

She is Mrs. Lurlyne Lofton, a native of Robert Lee who was formerly employed by the SCS there. For a while Mrs. Lofton was engaged in private business but is now re-entering the conservation service as assistant to Miss Bernice Cason.

L. S. Underwood, manager of the Luther Gin, believes Howard County will produce more than 1,000 bales of cotton this season.

He says there is cotton in the Luther Community that will probably make one-third of a bale even if there isn't any more rain. Underwood then calls attention to the good cotton around Knott. The Luther Gin will be in operation this year, he says. This gin always handles the cotton for several of the farmers in the southern part of Borden County.

But don't hold any man to his estimate of this year's cotton crop in Howard County. There may be good rains and if these come he's sure to be wrong. There may not be any rain and if none is received he's still pretty certain to be wrong.

According to Martin Vavra, work unit conservationist with the Stanton unit of the Soil Conservation Service, a 15-foot grain drill has been delivered to W. H. Yater, one of the supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, and this drill will be available to any farmer on a rental basis.

Vavra says it is anticipated the demand for the drill will be pretty heavy if enough early fall moisture is received.

Strip cropping of eight rows of feed and eight rows of peas is looking good on the farms operated by H. K. Wilson and Claud Glasple Jr., in the Courtney Community. Vavra reports, Wilson has about 60 acres and Glasple about 50 acres stripped this way.

Dr. K. F. Campbell, ranching northwest of Tarzan, has 45 acres of irrigated Sudan which is now being grazed by cattle that are in fine shape. His Sudan is giving the balance of his ranch a good rest and a chance to recover from previous grazing and the drought.

Campbell has his Sudan pasture cut in half so he can obtain better grazing on a rotation system.

Louis B. Conrad's Scurry County ranch was largely absorbed by the Colorado River Lake from which Big Spring will eventually obtain the major part of its municipal water supply.

Conrad, who lives in San Angelo, then purchased a 16,000-acre tract of the Matador holdings in the Panhandle when that big spread was broken up by the British owners last year.

Just recently he has leased this 16,000 acres at $1.25 an acre for five years to Boots Montgomery and Joe Montgomery of Vega. The Montgomery Brothers partnership had also bought 7,366 acres of the old Matador and are reported to have paid $30 an acre for it.

Scalps Pile Up As Red Hilde Is On Warpath

By TOM REEDY
BERLIN, Sept. 4, (AP) — Red Hilde is on the warpath in East Germany and the scalps are piling up.

Almost weekly, some new group of broken men is hailed before the state Supreme Court, told what the sin was, given virtually no chance of defense, and sent off to long prison terms, up to life, at hard labor.

The defendants are charged principally with plotting against the Communist state, working with and for "Western spies," or "sabotage" of the Soviet zone economic laws patterned after Marx and Stalin. Many are merely men who failed to realize one never says "no" in any manner after the Communists have spoken.

The Russian zone uses the trials to put on public displays. Red followers are given a day off to pack the courtroom.

The boss is a woman, 50-year-old Hilde Benjamin, who has long been known among Berliners as "Red Hilde."

Frau Benjamin holds the curious title of "vice president" of the court. The president, Hans Schumann, never seems to preside. Hilde, faithful to the Kremlin in all respects, is the boss. There are some estimates that Hilde Benjamin has personally sent upwards of a thousand men to slow death in labor camps under the guise of legal sentencing.

For two years, she has dished out sentences just as harsh as she cares to make them. Now she is embarked on a broader scheme, the complete reorganization of all legal thinking in East Germany. The plan calls for abolition of the traditional courts and replacing them with a new set of tribunals.

Next to party boss Walter Ulbricht, Frau Benjamin is probably the most feared person in the whole East German machinery. She never regards a defendant as a man who might eventually prove his innocence. From the moment he is placed on trial, the man is assailed, ridiculed and tongue lashed.

If there is ever a gigantic purge trial in the Russian zone, like the other Communist satellites have held, it's even money Hilde will run it. Or maybe she will be on trial. One never knows in the lands of communism.

Final Touches Being Put On UN Building

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Workmen are putting final touches on an odd-looking building which soon will become one of New York's leading show places.

This is the General Assembly Hall, third and last unit of the glittering U. N. Headquarters along the city's East River. The other two are the 39-story glass and marble skyscraper which houses the Secretariat, and the plus Conference Building.

From the outside, the Assembly Hall is chiefly notable for its unusual shape: it has a sloping double convex roof topped by a shallow dome. The inside? Well, one visitor described it as a cross between a cathedral and Radio City Music Hall.

The spacious, high-ceilinged lobbies, with their subdued lighting, create the cathedral effect, while the modern blue and gold decor of the auditorium itself is more like the latest thing in theatrical splendor.

Perhaps the most impressive spot in the entire headquarters is the public entrance where the U. N. expects to admit visitors by the thousands both to attend meetings and for sight-seeing.

This is where the ceiling is highest—supported on slender pillars—and where the specially designed glass panels—painted to look like marble from the outside—contribute a cathedral-like lighting.

The auditorium is 380 feet long and 160 feet wide. It has 636 seats for delegations at tables on the main floor and its galleries will accommodate 800 visitors and 234 newsmen. There also are glass-enclosed booths built into the dome for the press, radio and television.

In addition to the main auditorium, the new building has a large conference room where the assembly's 60-nation Political Committee will hold its debates. This also has elaborate facilities for the public and the press.

Although the hall will be ready when the Assembly meets Oct. 14, there still is much to do before the 18-acre headquarters site is finally in its permanent state. Much of the landscaping remains to be done; construction work still is in progress both on the approaches to the site and on the plaza which flanks the area from 42nd to 48th Streets; and eventually there may be another skyscraper at the northern end of the U. N. plot. This building would provide offices for delegations, if the U. N. finally decides to erect it.

Greyhound Agent To Be Featured In Ad Campaign

Greyhound Lines has announced plans for its "Meet the Man" advertising campaign, which pays tribute to the Greyhound agent as a good man for the traveling public to know.

Nation-wide in scope, the campaign gets under way this month and newspapers will be an important advertising medium used to publicize the campaign.

Greyhound officials pointed out that while Greyhound advertising has often featured the importance of drivers and other personnel in making Greyhound a leader in transportation, this is the first time an entire campaign has been based on the important role played by the men and women who sell Greyhound tickets.

During the three-month campaign, advertising in every media will stress the economy, friendliness, service, comfort, romance and scenery found in Fall travel by Greyhound, and the Greyhound ticket seller will be presented as the man who can make all of this available to everyone.

Soviet To Support UN Consideration Of African Problem

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet press voiced strong support today for India's announcement that she would bring before the next United Nations Assembly the question of South Africa's treatment of her non-white population.

"The racist terror of South African authorities arouses the wrath of the international public," said Pravda, the Communist party organ.

Tighter Control Over Vital Goods Effective Oct. 20

WASHINGTON (AP)—A strict new system for keeping America's vital strategic exports out of Communist hands goes into effect Oct. 20.

The Commerce Department announced yesterday that the United States, Canada and 10 Western European countries have agreed to put 863 important materials and manufactures under much tighter control.
