Lions Clubs District Zone Meeting Held Here Tuesday

Music Features District Meet Lions Clubs

Boyd Meador Chairman of Lions Clubs, This Zone

The district meeting of Lions Clubs for this zone was held here Tuesday, with a luncheon served at noon by the ladies of the First Baptist Church. Music was the feature of the meeting, the high school orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Robt. C. Davidson, playing several numbers during the luncheon.

Vice President G. C. Boswell opened the meeting in the absence of President Claude Williams, and Boyd Meador presided at the business session following the luncheon, as zone chairman.

Lions H. A. Shaw and Mike Hollander of Amarillo sang several humorous take-offs on McLean Lions, and Lion Shaw led the sing-song with Lion Hollander at the piano.

Lion Connolly of Clarendon made a talk on citizenship, insisting that Lions understand the requirements of good citizenship and should take the lead in such matters.

The speaker paid his respects to the bootlegger, saying that liquor has never helped to make a better citizen, or a happier home. He said that Lions should stand four-square for all the laws of our land.

Lion Connolly said that there is no club in the Panhandle that is doing more for its home community than the McLean Club.

Some fifty-two Lions from various clubs of the district were present. The next meeting will be held at Claude.

THE NEWSPAPER AN INDEX

To me the first index of a city with which I am getting acquainted is the newspaper. I can get more of the real city information from the looks of the newspaper it supports than in any other way. Show me your newspaper and I will tell you what kind of a town you have. If the paper is live and prosperous and progressive, that is exactly the kind of a city it will be published in. I am quite sure that the newspapers of Santa Clara county are among the most attractive business features of the city. In investment and in giving employment to men and women, the newspaper always ranks with other manufacturing establishments in the same city.—William Southern, Jr., in the Independence (Mo.) Examiner.

The trophy for the school having the highest total score in all three divisions (two members in each division), will be available. Other prizes will be awarded to schools winning in each division and also for high scoring individuals.

BLANSSET FOR SHERIFF

Sheriff Lon L. Blanscet has announced his candidacy to the office he has so ably filled since his election. The sheriff announces that he will seek re-election because of numerous requests of his friends.

The sheriff has kept Gray county one of the cleanest in the state while other counties have been combating crime. He has had to work short-handed since his election, not having been able to hire deputies at random, as was formerly the case. He has kept Gray county clean with one deputy, Floyd Archer; one special officer at McLean, Harris King; and a court bailiff, part time.

Sheriff Blanscet was elected by the voters of Gray county, who wrote his name on the ballot in the general election. He received the nomination in the run-off, but lost the right to have his name on the general election ballot through court procedure. Gray county's peace officer is 35 years old. He has been a resident of this county for seven years. He is known as a cattleman and rodeo star. He is a fearless officer, as his record shows.

"If re-elected to the office I now hold, I will continue to the best of my ability to uphold the law, apprehend the law violator, and give the citizenship the full protection of my office," Sheriff Blanscet says. "I thank everyone in the county for the support given me when elected last year, and the co-operation given me while I have been in the office."

PUBLIC OPINION

SINGING AND SPRING CLOTHES

By D. A. Davis

A few Sundays ago, Supt. Boswell (one of the Lay Leaders at our church) delivered a hot oration at the evening hour, setting fire to Banker Reuben R. Cook's house three blocks away; and learning that another one of our Methodist Lay Leaders (What is a Lay Leader, anyway?) was going to make a speech the following Sunday night, and fearing it would be so cold it would freeze up all the water pipes in the house, wife and I cut off the water and went out to the Presbyterian church to hear Brother Erwin and his choir sing.

As we were about the only ones there except his own members, I just want to tell the folks of McLean what they missed by not being there also, to help his congregation enjoy that fine singing.

The only thing I could find wrong with the singing at all, was that Bro. Erwin's mustache got in his way once in a while and tickled his nose, so that he had to sneeze a few times, or at least it sounded like a sneeze to me, but I notice he has shaved his mutache off so he won't have to sneeze any more.

Folks, the next time they put on another program, I just want a lot of you to go out and hear that choir sing, for believe me, they can sure sing, and I for one, wish to congratulate Bro. Erwin and that choir for their fine singing and let you other folks know what you are missing. You won't have to look at the faces Bro. Erwin makes, for he keeps his back to the audience.

Bro. Goff and the members of the Baptist church planned to have an old-fashioned congregational singing of old-time songs last Sunday evening, but most of the members were at home with the flu; however, they are going to have that song service later, and the Methodists are planning a song program before long, and I understand the school children are doing a lot of singing, and once in a while you will meet a fellow to hum, or whistle a tune, which to my mind is a whole lot better than going around looking like you had lost your best friend.

Let's quit so much complaining and fault-finding and get a little more confidence in each other and go right ahead and do our very best to help conditions back to normal. Let's sing more, grieve less, and another thing; why can't we all get together and plan a clean-up campaign and plant a lot of trees, flowers and gardens, and do our bit making our little city more attractive not only for our enjoyment, but for the enjoyment of others that happen to come our way. What do you say, folks? What do you say?

A little low down to our merchants: There are quite a lot of our folks that are buying a lot of Spring clothes. I know positively that some of these folks tried to buy what they wanted in McLean, but could not get fitted up here, and had to go to Amarillo and other towns to spend their money. I may be dumb, but I would just like to know why you merchants allow this to happen.

If there is any "protest" to be made about what I have said in this article, for goodness sake, don't make out a legal "protest". It costs too much money. I got one the other day (however, it was not from the McLean bank) which read as follows: "Protest fees, $1.00; seven notices, $1.74; postage, 14c; total, $2.88. Can you beat that, folks? The only one I know of that could, is a mail order house, it would have had it $2.96.

L. Hess, president of the Panhandle Baby Beef Association, and McLean business men.

Troy Whatley of Groom, won second place in this division, Wilber Lee Wilson third and Billy Wilson fourth.

In the senior division, Ferris Hess won first, Troy Whatley second, Andrew Wilson third and Kelly Gray of Groom, fourth.

Dr. A. A. Tampke, director of the show, says that Wilburn Lynch "fell heir to the booby prize provided by some of the vocational agricultural students of the McLean high school; the prize being a bottle of milk and a rubber nipple. The object was, since the owner appeared slightly over-nourished and the calf showing signs of under-nourishment, the prize may aid in giving the calf a better chance for the future."

Cash and merchandise totaling $32. was divided among the winners.

The ribbons were donated by the chamber of commerce, $9.50 in cash was provided by J. S. Morse, J. M. Carpenter, Geo. W. Sitter and the American National Bank. WAR TALK FLATTENS THE POCKETBOOKS

The man in the street is more concerned than ever in world peace because at last the economists have brought home to our people the truth they have long preached--that this is a very small world and that when one part of it is sick the rest of the world is affected in some degree.

HANDS OFF THE WAR DEPT

'One can criticize the Senate and berate them as a bunch of numbskulls. One can abuse the President to his heart's content. One can jump all over the department of commerce and literally flay the department of the interior. But woe betide the luckless chap who has the temerity to criticize the war department! This is the one department of the government, whose policies, like Caesar's wife, are always above reproach.'

The Socialist editor of the Tonkawa (Okla.) News sees the country drifting to that doctrine, even with everyone denying it. Every time a legislature or congress meets, more state and federal jobs are created. Now, one man out of nine is working for the government. Pretty soon 100% will be working.

Parents, you are cordially invited to come to the McLean elementary school Friday, which is a special visitors' day. Classes will be visited all day by parents and patrons. The students are helped by your visits. The teachers feel that you desire to co-operate. Can't you see what a visit means to everyone? Come any time during the day. Feel free to look at the work, ask questions, find out what your boys and girls are doing. Don't fail to make this a big day. A good program will be given for your pleasure at 3 o'clock.

Miss Ruby Cook gave a horoscope of notable characters born in February, mentioning Washington, Lincoln, Edison and Lindbergh.

Mrs. T. A. Massay gave a sketch of Washington's early life.

Mrs. Cecil G. Goff sang "The Last of Summer" and "In the Gloaming," playing her own accompaniment.

Mrs. J. W. Butler gave a sketch of Lincoln's life.

Mrs. E. E. Watkins and Mrs. Jim Cook danced the schottische, dressed in costume, with Miss Ruby Cook at the piano.

Mrs. W. E. Bogan gave a musical reading, "When Grandma Was a Girl."

Mrs. C. C. Bogan, Mrs. Sitter, Mrs. Goff and Mrs. Butler danced the minuet, dressed in costume, with Mrs. Boyett at the piano.

Mrs. D. A. Davis, Mrs. T. A. Massay and Mrs. J. W. Butler presided at the tea table, which was prettily decorated with lace cover with a centerpiece of four candles in patriotic colors. A bowl of evergreens adorned the table, and the after dinner mints were red, white and blue, and the tea was served with old-fashioned grandmother's cookies.

Interesting sidelights of the affair were: Mrs. Dishman wore a brocaded taffeta dress that had belonged to her grandmother; Mrs. Butler is a great granddaughter of the Mrs. Greene that General George Washington danced four hours with at one time.

Among those present were: Mesdames R. L. Appling, Bob Thomas, Jim Back, T. J. Workman, C. C. Bogan, W. E. Bogan, H. W. Brooks, D. C. Carpenter, J. W. Butler, C. S. Doolen, D. A. Davis, Boston, C. O. Greene, E. L. Sitter, Ercy Cubine, J. W. Martin, T. A. Massay, Reuben R. Cook, E. E. Watkins, Lily Little, W. E. Ballard, J. M. Noel, Sola Veatch Ed Dishman, Willie Boyett, H. W. Pinley, Cecil G. Goff, C. A. Strandberg, Misses Ruby Cook and Frances Noel.

Confidence in the Future

Mr. W. H. Shadid, who has spent the entire last week in Chicago, the great central market, making last-minute merchandise selections, and attending the International Merchants' Council, returned home this week. Leading merchants from 38 various states and four provinces of Canada were in attendance at the International Merchants' Council, where style trends merchandising methods were brought up in two great educational sessions.

Mr. Shadid had this to say regarding conditions in the Market Center:

"Just as the automobile manufacturers whose great show I attended at the Coliseum in Chicago are turning out the most marvelous cars in order to catch the public's fancy, so have the apparel and fabric manufacturers produced the loveliest things in history for the coming season.

"I talked to Mr. E. L. Cord, president of the Auburn Automobile Company about this very thing, and I quote him because he probably has done more to change automobile design and pattern than any man in industry. He said that at this time something new and outstanding would get the public to spend money, because cars were really needed, and yet something unusual must take place in automobile merchandising. Millions of dollars have been spent by the automobile manufacturers to start the public buying again.

"The same thing is true," said Mr. Shadid, "in apparel, and the manufacturer has striven as never before to turn out the most alluring patterns and the most attractive lines in fabric and apparel that have ever been produced. In other words, fortunes have been spent to start the buying back again."

Mr. Shadid said that never has a selection such as he made, been seen in McLean, at prices that are unbelievably low. This applies not only to women's apparel, but to fabrics, gloves, lingerie, and accessories.

Mr. Shadid saw some heavy building going on in Chicago, and one 34-story building on LaSalle Street was going up with amazing rapidity. The World's Fair, which he visited, is going steadily forward, and promises to outdo, by far, the last great Chicago fair in 1893.

No evidence of lack of confidence in the future was seen here, for everyone is planning for better times to come, and a great deal of activity was noted. Merchants generally are looking forward to the future with the greatest of confidence, but with the idea that quality and worth must be maintained and that the giving out of inferior merchandising simply for the sake of making a low profit would be totally ruinous.

Friday, March 4, will be the beginning of big days at the Fair Store. Spring opening will be observed and hundreds of new things, fresh from the designers' tables will be offered to the shoppers of McLean at prices more attractive than ever.

SUPT. BOSWELL HERE FOR ANOTHER YEAR

Both teachers and pupils wish to join the town in expressing joy at the fact that Mr. Boswell will be here for another year. The school has made wonderful progress under his supervision. Many scholastic honors have been won. Mr. Boswell has been both an inspiration and a great help in all school activities. He has proved himself to be a "good sport" on all occasions. He has continually encouraged and inspired the student body through his talks in chapel. He has tried to keep the mind of every person off the depression and on the idea of living the right sort of life and accomplishing something worth while. We are glad to know that he will be here to help us another year, and we hope that he will be here for many more.

HOLIDAY FEBRUARY 22

The school enjoyed a holiday on February 22. This holiday was given for two reasons. It was hoped, by the administration, that it would help check the influenza epidemic, and also to celebrate the birthday of Washington.

ATTENDANCE BETTER

A great number of those who have been out of school on account of illness are in school again this week. It is hoped that nothing serious will interfere with the attendance during the remainder of the year. No serious cases of influenza have been reported this week. Perhaps the beautiful weather will aid those who are ill in recovering.

PROGRAM ON MARCH FIRST

The general program to be held on Tuesday night, March 1, at the high school auditorium will be of much interest to you. This is a program that you should see and we feel that you will enjoy it. We are going to use so many of the students that it promises to be a real treat. This is the program that was to have been given on Feb. 22, in celebration of the birthday of the father of our country. As this entire year is to be given to the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of Washington, a program of this sort will be appropriate at any time during the year.

TRYOUT IN EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEECH HELD

The tryout for the girl who is to represent McLean in the extemporaneous speech contest of the county was held on Friday. Frances Wilson, Addie B. Mantooth and Cleone West entered. They were ranked as follows: Cleone first, Frances second and Addie B. third. The girls have worked diligently, and Cleone is trying hard to win the county contest for our high school.

DECLAIMERS AT WORK

There are about twenty high school students who have entered the local declamation contest. The tryout will be held shortly before the county meet. These declaimers have selected pieces that are for better citizenship or for love of homes and country. They will greatly benefit from studying these selections, as well as from delivering them.

OTHER PHASES OF LEAGUE WORK PROGRESSING

Those who will enter in the arithmetic contest are working every other afternoon. These are good students and with proper effort and training there is no reason why they will not be victorious.

Those entering spelling, essay writing, music memory, playground ball, volley ball, track, etc., are working diligently. We are going to win!

We feel that the town and surrounding country should be with us in our effort to win the county championship again this year, for it means a great deal for the town to have a county winner, and that is what we are needing now—something to help the town. Speaking about winning the county meet, again, we must have help. It is nothing but right that you as citizens back us in this matter. We cannot afford to go over to Lefors and let Pampa come down and take those cups back with them. How many are ready to go? What will you do to help? Let's do some talking and some planning. We

POLITICAL PIE

The Louisville Times says political pie is made up of baloney, applesauce, plums and dough. The people are going to demand something more definite this year than pie. The candidates must be able to tell us just how they are going to lower taxes and generally improve on the economy of the office they hope to get from the people. Just needing the political pie will not satisfy the voters this year.—Miami Chief.

ADVERTISING COMMANDMENTS

Essential to successful advertising is a program. Ten commandments helping to assure its success are:

Budget your advertising. Plan the whole year's advertising program. Give time to the preparation of copy.

Make copy simple and specific, avoid generalities. Make descriptions reflect a knowledge of the merchandise offered, but avoid the use of professional or technical terms which the buyer may not understand.

Tell a complete story; leave nothing pertinent to the imagination. Advertise for the same reason that you talk—to get a message across. Chose advertising media on merit; donate for charity, not for advertising. Watch results, and stick to methods that bring the most profitable returns.

When successful business men quit advertising, follow their lead; meanwhile stick.—E. U. Berdahl in the Wisconsin Press.

Today's Lesson

RAISES LAZARUS FROM THE DEAD

John Text, John 11:25. Lesson John 11:32-44.

By Rev. Cecil G. Goff
The scriptures tell us that following teaching of the last lesson, Jesus it away again beyond Jordan. He went to tour Perea, which is east the upper end of the Dead Sea the Jordan river. (Luke, 13:22-30.)

While Jesus was teaching and healing in Perea, Martha and Mary sent a word that Lazarus was sick. Jesus remained teaching where He was two days, and then turned to Bethany, where His friend Lazarus lived.

v. 32. As soon as Martha heard that Jesus had come, she ran in arch of Him. (v. 20.) When she turned and told Mary, she also went to meet Him. Both women had faith that had Jesus been there, their brother would not have died. The sisters had been waiting for Him, but, alas! He had come too late. They never-the-less, were anxious to see Him and receive His comforting words.

v. 33. The heart of Jesus felt the agony of the sisters and went on to them so that He was grieved exceedingly. Jesus had a heart to be touched by sorrow and grief, even as we, though infinitely more responsive.

v. 34. Jesus, no doubt, could have gone to the tomb of Lazarus, without asking where it was, but He did not always use His Infinite knowledge.

v. 35. "Jesus wept" the shortest verse in the Bible is packed with meaning, feeling and sorrow. The word used here for "wept" is a deeper and more significant word than used concerning Mary and those with her.

v. 36. The sight of Jesus weeping over the passing of His friend seemed even to reach the hearts of the Jewish onlookers.

v. 37-38. Some of those present, or possibly all of them, knew of the miraculous healing of the man born blind, not long past. At least, some realized the power of Jesus and admitted that He could have healed Lazarus had He arrived earlier. Often times Jesus paid attention to the thoughts of the Jewish hearts, but they meant little to Him now, it seemed. He proceeded to the tomb. The grave, or tomb, was a cave. This indicates a private burial place. Also, that, with the large number of mourners from Jerusalem and Mary's gift of a pound of ointment, which was worth a man's wages for a year, indicates that the family was well-to-do, if not quite wealthy.

v. 39. Jesus commanded the stone, which closed the entrance to the tomb to be rolled away. The sisters raised their voices in protest. Their brother had been dead four days. It would not do to roll the stone away. Besides, the law forbade one to go closer than six feet to any tomb.

vh. 40. Jesus had told the sisters that He was the resurrection, and now He reminds them that they were to see the glory of God.

v. 41-42. At the thought of what the glory of God might be, some were bold enough to roll away the stone. If none of those surrounding were willing, possibly the disciples performed the work.

Jesus then openly thanked the Father for hearing Him. He explains that He was always heard, but He made this public demonstration of the fact that those present might believe that He was sent of God.

v. 43. Jesus cried with a loud voice in the Temple (John 7:37) and upon the cross (Matt. 27:50). He wanted all to hear. Imagine the flutter of hearts as these unexpected words came forth. Here this one who claimed to be sent from God was calling the dead to come forth again in life. No doubt many immediately scoffed, but no doubt all held their breath.

v. 44. Lazarus, who had been dead and buried four days, arose and walked forth from the tomb bound in grave clothes. Jesus commanded those near to loose him. Doubtless the sisters were first to assist their brother. Jesus had done His work. Many of the Jews, witnessing this miracle, believed, but as usual there immediately arose strong opposition. Jesus again quietly withdrew with His disciples, for His hour had not yet come. (John 11:54.)

THE STRAIGHT OF IT

It is alleged that a school boy in Kansas wrote the following, entitled "An Editor:"

"I don't know how newspapers and magazines got into the world, and I don't think God does, for He ain't got nothing to say about these in the Bible. I think the editor is the missing link we read of, and that he stayed in the business until after the flood, came out, and wrote the thing up and has been kept busy ever since. If the editor makes a mistake folks say he ought to be hung; but if the doctor makes mistakes, he buries them and people don't say nothing because they can't read Latin. When the editor makes mistakes, there is a big lawsuit and swearing, and a big fuss; but if the doctor makes a mistake, there is a funeral with flowers and perfect service. A doctor can use a word a yard long without him or anyone else knowing what it means; but if the editor uses one, he has to spell it. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife, he charges for the visit; but if the editor goes, he gets a charge of buckshot. Any college can make doctors to order, but editors have to be born."

The young people of this land must be told of the days of the open saloon, of how the liquor traffic debauched government and made paupers of our people. The false halo which men now attempt to place on the brow of the good old days must be dispelled in the light of a full understanding of conditions as they were. It would be little short of miraculous if some young people did not drink, for they are being taught to defy law. Yet Youth's Rollcall, sponsored by the W. C. T. U., at last report, had something over 700,000 pledged to total abstinence and the goal is one million by December 1st. —Mrs. Ludie Day Pickett, president, Kentucky W. C. T. U.

Owing to the scarcity of space for reading matter in this issue, it was necessary to leave out the Tom-Tom school news this week. Since the advertising patronage does not justify publishing a larger paper, the publishers can only handle a small percentage of reading matter in the Chief columns each week, and we strive to give preference to local happenings.—Miami Chief.

EFFICIENCY

Some time ago a section foreman was severely criticized by the road-master for the careless handling of track material for his men. "For instance," said he, "a few days ago one of your men was seen to thoughtlessly throw a spike into the weeds. Don't you realize they cost money?" "I know they do," returned the foreman. "I had my men spend three days looking for that spike."—R. R. Magazine.

"So far as medical value is concerned, physicians could dispense with whiskey, wine and other alcoholic beverages altogether."—Dr. Charles Mayo.

WHAT EXERCISE DOES FOR YOU

By Dr. William J. Scholes
When you undergo exercise, the muscles undergo contraction and relaxation, the heart beats faster and harder, the circulation is increased, and you breathe more rapidly and deeply. If the exercise happens to be strenuous enough, you perspire.
The muscles which are brought into play during exercise burn up energy which is available to them as fat and in the form of a starch called glycogen. There is a more rapid removal of waste products as the result of the increased circulation of blood, which also brings to the muscles a greater supply of food and oxygen. The muscles are regular, they become firmer, stronger, better nourished and, if the exercise is regular, and increase in size.

Aids Heart Too

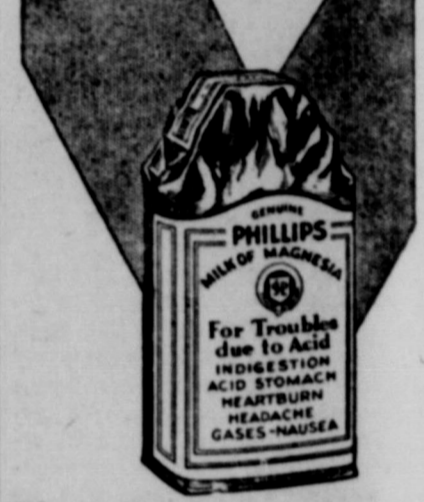

Although the muscles are the chief beneficiaries of exercise, they are not the only ones. The heart is strengthened. The increased elimination of waste material through the skin, kidneys and intestine, and the elimination of carbon dioxide, produce a favorable effect on all of the organs and tissues.
This generally results in an improved functioning, as, for instance, in a better digestion.
You become stronger, have more endurance, tend to prevent the accumulation of too much fat, and feel more alive generally as the result of regular exercise. Adjust Amount to Age

But to be beneficial, exercise must be suitable in amount and kind for the age and physical condition of the individual. An amount of exercise that would be healthful for a youth of 18 would probably prove harmful to a man of 50. In cases of organic disease, exercise should be undertaken only under careful supervision.
While exercise is no cure-all, it has its place in a well regulated, hygienic life. In sensible amounts, it is an essential to the continued enjoyment of good health.

ACID STOMACH

EXCESS acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which will neutralize acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.
One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods once you learn how quickly this method acts. Please let it show you—now.
Be sure to get the genuine. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor since 1875.
