Billingslea Makes Perfect Score in Contest

Dr. A. A. Tampke, Vocational Agriculture Instructor, the vocational agricultural judging teams, composed of farm shop, poultry and livestock, went to the contest and won two first places in the poultry contest and placed high in livestock and farm shop. Billingslea was high scorer in exhibition poultry judging with 300 points, which was the first perfect score ever made in the state contest. The Hibler tied for first place in production judging. The farm shop team placed fourth in the entire contest. The livestock team won the $140 prize trip to Kansas City, offered by the Rock Island Railroad, by being the highest scoring team on the Texas R. I. roads. The boys enjoyed visits to the state prison at Huntsville; Houston, Alveston and Fort Worth. Mr. Harding took the crowd to his home and he and his mother gave the boys a splendid supper and breakfast on their way home. They also visited the fine pecan groves while there.

MINSTREL SHOW HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

A minstrel show will be staged at the high school auditorium Saturday night of this week, to raise funds for the city park wading pool. The show is sponsored by the McLean Lions Club and will be staged by the Pampa Lions, who are not charging the McLean club anything for their services. All proceeds above the actual expenses are to go for park improvement. The show was given two nights at Pampa recently, realizing something like $600 in ticket sales. There are some 50 people in the cast, with a large musical chorus. The cost of the tickets here has been placed at a very nominal figure in order that as many as possible may have the opportunity to see the show.

Mr. Miller of Wheeler and Paul M. Bruce of Alanreed were also presented as visitors. Mr. Bruce congratulated McLean on the fine spirit of co-operation shown in the park improvement program. National Child Health Day to Be Observed Sun.

Sunday is National Child Health Day and the various pastors of the town have been asked to talk on this subject at the morning hour Sunday. Miss Ahlschier, Red Cross school nurse, is co-operating in the exercises of the day, stressing the need of child health. Miss Ahlschier says that she is well pleased with the advancement made by pupils of the McLean schools the past year. Her instructions have been heeded in the majority of cases. Especially is this true in the matter of oral hygiene, many pupils showing the good effects of the proper care of the mouth. National Child Health Day is observed once each year and it is hoped that large crowds will attend all of the churches Sunday in observance of the day.

GRAY MAKES TRIP THROUGH EGG PLANT

B. F. Gray spent last week end at Lamesa and spent some time looking over the new egg drying plant in that city. The plant employs 30 girls who spend all their time breaking eggs, some 300 cases per day being the capacity of the plant. The egg powder is placed in air-tight tin lined boxes of 200 pounds each, and wholesaled at 80c per pound. There are only three such factories in the United States, one of the others being in Fort Worth. Egg powder was formerly shipped from China, but since the recent added, the expense is too great and tariff of 27c per pound has been is encouraging factories in this country. The yolk powder is used by bakers and the white powder by baking powder manufacturers.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilson were in Pampa Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rippey and baby visited in Pampa Monday.

McLean Girl Wins Second at Amarillo

Miss Lola Ruth Stanfield won second place in the Amarillo Globe-News oratorical contest last week, against some 27 contestants, including large schools from Pampa to El Paso. Following is the original composition given by Miss Stanfield:

THE PREAMBLE OF THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION

The introduction to that living and speaking written document, the United States Constitution, is the Preamble, which is an epic story, that gives sovereign power to the people and binds them in a firm union. It was the simple declaration of fifty-two words that gave our Republic its name and we may find in each clause some vital chapters of American history. "We, the people of the United States," does not mean the people of various states, but it signifies and speaks collectively of a new nation. This new nation, the United States, is known as a single people. The pronoun "we" does not designate any certain class of people, according to birth, religion or race, but includes every division of people that are citizens of our country. Our nation is often referred to as "The Land of Freedom" because we embrace humanity through the initial phrase of the Preamble.

"In order to form a more perfect union"—in this statement we can clearly see that the Articles of Confederation produced a government of disorder. It was ineffective in its purpose and lacked authority. The union was composed of thirteen colonies, which were independent and sovereign states. The only ruling power that the union had over the states was that of influence and as Washington said, "Influence is not government." The constitution brought a new nation, finding light and struggling to secure some thread of hope, by which they might build a government of worthwhile ideals and principles. Therefore, we can easily know with what emotions the clause, "In order to form a more perfect union," was placed in the Preamble.

"To establish justice" possibly means more to us than it did to the draftsmen because we may see and come in contact with the good that this division has done. It was placed in the constitution to establish Federal judiciary as well as justice between man and man. It was to prescribe the just limits of the state and preserve to the people, whose spirits were individualism, rights that the state could never take away from them. "To establish justice" recalls to us the age long tyranny that existed in the world and by this statement we are assured that "To establish justice" is the solution to the problems of man.

"To insure domestic tranquility" is the portion of the Preamble that shows and makes us believe that our nation shall be one of quiet and peace instead of having uproars and destructive disturbances such as the past. It grants to its people a happy, peaceful and serene home, where they may do their will. The next two divisions of the Preamble are so closely connected that each becomes a part of the other. "To provide for the common defense" is meant that we should establish and regulate an army and navy fit to compete with other nations. Up to this time there had been no army, but the framers, while looking into the future, saw the necessity of one. This clause, "Provide for the common defense," assures the result of the next clause, "Promote general welfare."

The people of these thirteen original colonies were of different races and countries. They were diverse in class—some were aristocratic and others of democratic tendencies. They were unlike in religions as well as government. Some were Charter (Continued on page 3)

Classes and Faculty at Long Table

Commencement Season Begun Tuesday Evening

The annual junior-senior banquet of the McLean high school was given Tuesday evening, with members of both classes, the high school faculty, members of the school board, the ministers of the town, the editor, and their wives, invited to attend. Lavelle Christian, junior president, was toastmaster, and the whole affair was in the hands of the classes, no principal speaker being on the program.

The banquet table, placed in the high school hall, was decorated with sprays of spirea blossoms. The programs were hand decorated on pink paper and used as place cards.

Rev. W. A. Erwin gave the invocation. Allison Cash gave the toast to the seniors, responded to by M. H. Kinard, Jr. Mrs. Cecil G. Goff rendered some vocal solos, accompanied at the piano by Dorothy Jean St. Clair. Prof. John Harding rendered some accordion solos, and Miss Kennedy gave a reading. Ruth Hess, Maxine Fowler, Lavern Pettit and Lucille Scott sang a number of popular songs, and Lois Kirby and Margaret Hess gave a vocal duet. The high school orchestra, directed by Prof. Robt. C. Davidson, gave a number of musical selections.

Supt. Boswell spoke on learning the lesson of service, to God, community and neighbors; insisting that this life is only a preparation for a greater life beyond.

Miss Kennedy proposed a rising cheer for the juniors and their mothers for the banquet.

The toastmaster called upon the following, who responded with short talks: Margarite Mertel, Don McCracken, James Anderson, Forrest Switzer, Coach Rush, Brownie Cable, Mackie Greer, Maudelle Corum, Erwin Browning, Miss Cousins, Dr. Tampke, Miss McCarty, Prof. Harding.

Miss Ashby, sponsor for the banquet, made a short address of appreciation to those who assisted in any way toward the success of the affair, and the evening closed with a sing-song led by Prof. Harding.

Next Sunday's Lesson

ISAAC AND HIS WELLS

By Rev. Cecil G. Coff

Golden text, Prov. 15:1. Lesson text, Gen. 26:12-25.

Many things took place between the last lesson and the present one. Twelve years Bera, king of Sodom, had been subject to Chedorlaomer, king of Edom, or Babylonia. Bera revolted and trouble began. Three of Chedorlaomer's associates joined him in the Vale of Siddim. The Vale of Siddim was filled with bitumen pits which proved fatal to Bera and his associates. The vale is latter supposed to have become the Dead Sea.

Lot was captured with the other Sodomites. The message came to Abram that Lot had been taken. He joined with some other chieftans and started after the captors. Abram alone had 318 soldiers. He followed them to a point north of Damascus and there defeated them, took all their spoils and captives. On his return, Abram met and gave tithes to Melchizedek, a priest of the "God Most High." Again God appeared to Abram and renewed His promises.

Abram and Sarai were not willing wait for God to give them a son, but rather a son was born to Abram by Hagar, Sarai's handmaid. Ishmael the son of the Egyptian handmaid, later became the father of the wild Arabian tribes which espoused Mohammedanism. Later, when Abram was about 99 years old, his name was changed from Abram (meaning exalted father) to Abraham (meaning father of a multitude). Sarai's name was changed to Sarah (meaning princess). God renewed His covenant with Abraham and promised him a son.

In due time Isaac was born. While he was yet a youth God commanded Abraham to sacrifice him. Abraham obeyed, but God provided an offering. Sarah died at the age of 127 years, and soon after Isaac married his cousin. Abraham died at the age of 175 years.

Isaac went into the land of the Philistines because of a famine and performed the same deceit concerning his wife as Abraham had in Egypt. Two sons had been born to Isaac—Jacob and Esau.

v. 12. Isaac not only had cattle, but he farmed also. He sowed grain and reaped an hundred-fold—an exceptionally good yield. Jehovah appeared to him and blessed him.

v. 13. No wonder he "waxed great" the blessings of God resting upon him. God guided and protected him so that he would become great.

v. 14. His greatness consisted of possessions and strength. He had large flocks of sheep and herds of cattle, which was the same to him as a great fortune today would be to a man. Also, he was without doubt a great chieftan. He had many servants. Doubtless when Abraham died his servants and followers remained with Isaac. This gave him a start and God caused him to grow. No wonder the Philistines envied him. There was in his growing strength many enviable qualities, and his presence reason for fear.

v. 15. In famine time Abraham had dug wells, but the Philistines had filled them up, probably hoping to rid themselves of Abram and his followers.

v. 16. Abimelech courteously ordered Isaac and his company out of the land. It is probable that this Abimelech was a son or grandson of the one with whom Abraham had dealings ninety years before (Gen. 20: 2, 3).

v. 17. Isaac departed without trouble, and entered the Valley of Gerar.

v. 18. There Abraham had dug wells. After his death the Philistines had filled them. No one filled Abraham's wells or crossed him otherwise without paying dearly. Isaac permitted the unfriendly acts, and then dug the wells out.

v. 19, 20. The wells of those days were either a place to store rain water or wells which supplied their own water. The well here spoken of was of the latter nature. There was trouble over the water. The herdsmen of Gerar claimed it, so Isaac named it Esek, which means "contention," and moved on to dig another.

v. 21, 22. The same trouble arose over the next well, so Isaac named it Sitnah (enmity, or adversity), and moved on. The next well he named Hehoboth (broad places or room) because there was no strife there. There Isaac had the prospects of prosperity.

v. 23. Beersheba was the dividing line between Cana and Philistia. Here Abraham dug a well. Abimelech's servants took the well, but he came quickly and made it right (Gen. 21: 22-32). Abraham planted a grove and made his home there. Isaac goes to the homeland and altar of worship. God there renewed His covenant (Gen. 26:31-33).

v. 24, 25. When Jehovah appeared to Isaac and blessed him and renewed His covenant with Abraham's seed, Isaac worshiped Him. He built an altar to Jehovah, pitched his tent and dug a well. It would seem that he possibly spent much of his time in the worship of God during this time.

BROKEN BONES

By Dr. William J. Scholes

Accidents resulting in broken bones are likely to occur anywhere and under many different conditions. So one never knows when a knowledge of what to do in the way of first aid may come in handy.

Before medical aid arrives, it is possible that people who have suffered broken bones may be handled in such a way that additional injury will result. This is most likely to happen when removal of the victim from the scene of the accident is attempted. The movement incident to lifting and carrying the injured person is liable to cause the ends of the fragments of broken bone to move about and cut into the soft tissues.

If a doctor can be had without delay, and if the place in which the accident occurred will permit, it is probably best not to attempt to move the victim until the doctor arrives and can supervise the job. In the meantime, the patient should be kept warm and protected from shock by covering him with a blanket, an overcoat or anything else that will serve the purpose.

Break Should Be Splinted

If it is advisable to remove the victim to some more favorable place, the parts in which broken bones are suspected should be temporarily splinted. This should be done carefully with the least possible disturbance of the broken bones. The idea is to prevent further damage to the injured area by movement.

Most any suitable object that is at hand can be made to serve as a splint for temporary use. Such things as a board, a broom handle, a cane, an umbrella, or pieces from wreckage of automobiles or railway coaches will do.

Guard Against Additional Injury

If possible, the injured person should be placed on a padded plank or something else that will serve as a stretcher on which to carry him, particularly if a hip, a leg, an ankle, or vertebrae are broken. Lifting and carrying should be done with the greatest care to protect the injured parts.

The important thing to remember in giving first aid to people who have broken bones is to take every precaution against additional injury.

Where Does She Get Her "Pep?"

SHE doesn't look seventy. Nor feel that old. The woman who stimulates her organs can have energy that women half her age will envy!

At middle-age your vital organs begin to slow down. You may not be sick, simply sluggish. But why endure a condition of half-health when there's a stimulant that will stir a stagnant system to new life and energy in a week's time?

This remarkable stimulant is perfectly harmless. It is, in fact, a family doctor's prescription. So, if you're tired of trying every patent medicine that comes along, tell the druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a bit of this delicious syrup every day or so, until you know by the way you feel that your lazy liver is again active, and your bowels are poison-free.

Men, women, and children who are run-down, who tire easily, get bilious spells or have frequent headaches, are soon straightened out when they get this prescriptional preparation of pure pepsin, active sesna, and fresh laxative herbs. (Syrup pepsin is all the help the bowels need, and you do not form the very bad habit of always taking cathartics.)

Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin in the house, and take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. It is all that a great many people ever take to keep strong and vigorous, and absolutely free from constipation.

others Proprietary, and still Royal Colonies. Their economic differences were profound and reaching because each locality has its own industrial interests. This has led to an economic chaos which was the result of conflicting regulations of commerce. All of these diversities of interest tended to disintegration rather than integration. Today it is probable that each state should develop its own exports and imports, and that a person after crossing a line should find himself an alien.

We can readily see why "To secure the general welfare" is the dominating and unifying influence on our national life.

To secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity" was the sincere desire, hope, and expectation of the people then. They did not only a government that could stand the trials of their time, but one that would live for generations after generation. Their prayer was to have ever the emblem of our nation as Liberty.

To ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America sends a message to every citizen, telling him to take this document truly as his own, apply it, live by it, be proud of it, and make it the law for the country we all love.

The Preamble is as sonorous as a trumpet and is comprehensive to all kinds. Although there will be changes in each age, the Preamble shall stand like the Rock of Gibraltar. When we hear this small oration, we Americans are moved to a most deep sense of emotion. For what do these words mean much? We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

THE FAMOUS "Where Your Dollars Have More Cents"

"WHO GOES THERE?"

SAYS THE WISE SHOPPER

Challenge of the sentry on guard, abrupt and imperative in the dark. "Advance and give the countersign!"

To the woman in the home, alertly watchful over her household budget, passwords are important. Everything offered for sale is subject to suspicion unless it bears the countersign—the familiar trade-mark—the name of a manufacturer or merchant whom she knows.

She studies the advertising columns. From them she determines values, and decides what she will buy and where. She knows that advertised goods are safe goods, backed by the reputation of the maker and the merchant.

When she goes shopping—whether for a bottle of ketchup or for a pearl necklace—she challenges each product with a "Who goes there?" And if it has the password of advertised excellence she makes her purchase without hesitation.

The advertisements in this paper are a safe guide to buying. Read them carefully. Keep in touch with the latest news of price, style and quality. Then buy with the assurance that you will get your money's worth.

Regardless of what the weather may be, we know spring is here, for the price of gasoline has been raised, and that is a sure sign of the opening of spring.

The smallest business in any town is a non-advertiser. On the other hand, the largest business in any town is usually the best advertiser in the town. There is no experiment connected with newspaper advertising, as loads of statistics will prove.

We have to say every once in a while that we do not print free notices of any public affairs where you would charge the editor for a ticket. Any notice of a charge affair is advertising and will be so treated. This rule is only fair, and is practiced by all papers.

The Lions minstrel Saturday night is a better class of entertainment than is usually seen here, and all who attend can be assured of a full evening's entertainment. The Pampa Lions are not charging the local club for their services and all proceeds above the actual expenses will go toward improving the city park.

A certain young lady who sat across the banquet table from the editor Tuesday evening, threatened dire consequences if we told how many dishes of ice cream she ate, or how much sugar she used in her lead tea. Anyway she did not enjoy the banquet any more than the editor and some others who did not get seconds on the ice cream.

It is claimed that the medical profession is the poorest paid, from the standpoint of collections, in the United States. They lose thousands of dollars each year to fakers, because of ancient ideas against advertising. However, we are glad to note that medical societies are waking to the fact that advertising is educational, and are recommending a modification of out-grown ideas on the subject.

Time was when taxpayers thought the expense of an audit was money wasted, but an audit by responsible public accounting firms, has in many cases enabled officials to institute more economical and efficient measures, allayed unjustified distrust of faithful officials and disclosed irregularities and violations of trust. There can be no just criticism of the right kind of audit.

A pastor in neighboring town makes the statement that most of the criticism of churches and church members comes from people outside any church who are not informed, or are misinformed. It has always been the practice of many people to criticize those things of which they know nothing, and it is seldom thought necessary to answer their criticism in any way.

The Panhandle Press Association Silver Jubilee convention will be held at Amarillo next week, with one of the finest entertainment and instructive programs ever attempted. Should the weather man keep on with wet weather, Amarillo can be doubly appreciated as a meeting place. There are only a few towns in the association territory that can properly accommodate a convention, or are easily accessible, and Amarillo is by far the best one. Editors can expect a profitable time next week.

When once in a while some prohibition officer has to use a gun in line of duty, the wags play up the shooting to a great extent, but you do not hear so much of those officers who are killed by law breakers every year. Of course, somebody is likely to get shot when law-breaking is indulged in, and sympathy for the person breaking the law is out of place in most cases. Officers are generally pretty sure of their ground. It is possible that there may be exceptions to all rules, but they only prove the rule.

ADVERTISING BRIBES

Notes for the use of students on the debate subject in the Lions tournament held here, contained the statement that lobbyists are able to control newspapers by the use of large advertising contracts. This is misinformation that should not be tolerated, and if the writer would specify some particular newspaper he would probably have a healthy law suit on his hands.—McLean News.

And this is true. Newspapers are so rarely controlled by the advertising they get that such a statement is pure propaganda. Politicians may put things over and lobby things through, but when it comes to the press, one glance at the office waste basket is surely convincing to those of open mind. The trouble with subjects of this kind is that copy furnished for coaching purposes is not fully understood by the student mind and errors of fact get by and statements are made that are half baked and often untrue. Newspapers today are not purely political organs as they once were. The daily and country weekly value advertising patronage and must have this patronage in order to function. BRIGHT YOUTH

A corpulent teacher was giving a lesson to a class of small children on a canary.

Teacher—"Can any boy tell me what a canary can do and I can't?"

Sharp Boy—"Please, miss, have a bath in a saucer!"

They were some distance from shore when the boat filled with water and sank.

"Do you think you can swim to that buoy?" he asked.

"If I can't, it will be the first boy I haven't made," she said.

Victor—"Well, Joe, how do you like you new little sister?"

Joe—"Oh, she's all right, I guess, but there are a lot of things we needed worse."

PAPERS CALLED BEST MEDIUM OF ADVERTISING

New York, April 26.—Newspapers are called the dominant advertising medium in the United States by Kenneth Collins, executive director of R. H. Macy & Company, in his book "The Road to Good Advertising," published today.

"Few business ventures in America requiring the stimulus of advertising could live without the newspaper," said the department store executive. "In it we spend more than one-half of the entire budget for all forms of publicity. We do rightly."

He held that advertising could help greatly in ending the business slump by the use of absolute frankness as to conditions and showing how values are the greatest in many years.

Mr. Collins said newspaper advertising had not produced results to the full extent of its capability only because of "fearful mishandling of advertising by the advertiser." He emphasized that newspapers of today are much better than those of other times and called upon advertisers to take advantage of the superior facilities now offered.

"Why do you suppose there are fewer train accidents than automobile accidents?"

"I guess maybe it is because the engineer is not in the habit of hugging the fireman."

Lottie—"Is anyone looking?"

Lela—"Not a soul."

Lottie—"Then I won't fix my garb."

UTILITIES AND POLITICS

The following is an extract from editorial in the Ada (Okla.) News, February 14th: "Quite a bit is being said about cities making enough out of public-owned utilities to pay the running expenses without the necessity of levying an ad valorem tax to make up the deficit created in operating these utilities. Occasionally a city applies these principles in operating its necessities, but more often enters and plays the device. The theory is good, but practice is a thing vastly different."

LA RUTH STANFIELD WINS END, ORATORICAL CONTEST

On last Thursday the Amarillo Globe-News sponsored the national oratorical contest in Amarillo. Miss La Ruth Stanfield, senior in high school, entered as the representative of McLean. She was accompanied by her coach, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy; mother, Mrs. A. Stanfield; Mrs. H. Heinson, and M. H. Kinard, Jr. The first divisions were held on Thursday afternoon. Lola Ruth won second place in her division. The Amarillo high school representative won first in the same division. Lola Ruth won over Bowle high school from El Paso, Pampa, Vega, Dalhart and Shamrock high schools. Her speech was very good and well delivered. It is printed in another part of this paper. Every pupil who spoke was excellent and the contest was very close.

At six o'clock in the rose room of the Amarillo Hotel, a most sumptuous banquet was served the contestants, parents, and coaches by the chamber of commerce. Quite an interesting program was given.

At eight o'clock in the auditorium the high school the finals in the contest were held. All first and second place speakers were called to the platform. The original orations were given and each speaker did splendidly. Those who spoke were from Amarillo, Quanah and El Paso. During the intermission for preparation of extemporaneous speeches the speeches of the first and second place winners were called to the platform and asked to make short speeches. Each expressed his appreciation to the Amarillo Globe-News for sponsoring such a contest and to Amarillo for her hospitality. Miss Kennedy expressed herself as believing that the state and county should become interested in literary events as in athletics. Pupils should be encouraged to take part in such events as this. Other speakers of the evening expressed the same feeling. Final decisions were: Amarillo first, El Paso second, and Quanah third. Second places were given to McLean, Wichita Falls and Childress. Lola Ruth was given $10 by the Tri-State Fair Association.

SOME ECONOMICS GIRLS LEAVE FOR MINERAL WELLS

The following girls, Lucile Scott, Kathleen Lacy, Juanita Wade and Louise Pollis, accompanied by their teacher, Miss Ruby Lee Seal; Mrs. C. S. Doolen and son, Claude Gene, left Wednesday morning to attend the Home Making Educational Rally which convenes at Mineral Wells on April 28-30.

Any school offering H. E. 1, 2 and 3, may make six individual entries. Louise Pollis will enter the school girl's costume event and represent the local V. H. E. Club at the state club meeting.

Juanita Wade will enter the selection of toys event, also representing the local club.

Kathleen Lacy will enter the tailored costume and the selecting of children's and infants' clothing.

Lucile Scott will enter the special occasion costume and the selection of household linen.

The department will enter two group entries: the exhibit of children's garments and the publicity folio.

Below is a program schedule:
 Thursday, 8-10 a. m. arrange exhibits; 10, State club meet; 3:30 p. m. sight seeing drive; 5:30 p. m., swimming party; 8:15 p. m., good time play party.

Friday, 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., judging individual entries; 6:30 p. m., banquet, roof of Baker Hotel.

SENIOR PARTY

On last Friday evening Miss Kennedy and Mrs. J. E. Lynch entertained the senior class with a party in the home of Mrs. Lynch. The members of the class and invited friends met early and played 42 and other table games until a late hour. Delicious refreshments of pink and white cake and green fruit jello were served to about forty guests. Every senior has expressed his joy at having Mrs. Lynch for room mother and all who have been at her parties has had most enjoyable times.

CELEBRATION OF NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK, MAY 2-6

The United States government has set aside a week of each year, which is designated as National Music Week. This week is May 2-6. The government recommends that every town celebrate this week. In McLean various programs have been arranged to celebrate this week.

On Tuesday a miscellaneous musical program will be given in the high school auditorium. The musical talent of the town will be used on this program. The band will have a large part in the program.

On Thursday night Mrs. Willie Boyett will present her piano pupils in a recital. This will be most enjoyable for all who attend.

On Friday night Mrs. Cecil G. Goff will present the high school Girls' Glee Club in recital. Mrs. Goff and the girls have worked hard and have done some excellent work during this year. Everyone is invited to attend each of these programs.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

The annual banquet honoring the members of the senior class was given by the juniors, their mothers, and their sponsor at the high school building Tuesday evening, April 26. All who were in attendance were exceedingly enthusiastic in their words of praise.

Rose and cream, chosen colors of the senior class, were tastefully harmonized with the green and cream of the junior class, in the decorations, programs and place cards, and in the menu.

Lavelle Christian, president of the junior class, presided as toastmaster, and his part of the program was perfectly handled throughout the evening.

Rev. W. A. Erwin, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, pronounced the invocation.

Allison Cash extended a welcome to all present, and offered a toast to the seniors.

Mrs. Cecil G. Goff gave a vocal solo which was quite pleasing. She was accompanied at the piano by Dorothy Jean St. Clair.

M. H. Kinard, president of the senior class, displayed oratorical ability in his response to the toast to his class and closed his remarks with a toast to the juniors.

A quartet consisting of Ruth Hess, Maxine Fowler, Lavern Pettit and Lucile Scott, sang two popular numbers that were entertaining and enjoyable. The piano accompaniment was played by Luella Jones.

Sarah Ellen Foster gave a toast to the "Dear Old High School" that was greatly appreciated and sanctioned, especially by the seniors.

This was followed by a most enjoyable accordion number by John Harding. Miss Kennedy delighted the banqueters with a reading, after which Lois Kirby and Margaret Hess rendered a vocal duet, one of the most appreciated numbers of the program. They were accompanied by Lola Ruth Stanfield. This concluded the more formal part of the program, followed by brief talks by a few of the visitors, students and seniors. The program closed with a peppy sing-song led by John Harding.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the orchestra under the direction of Prof. Robt. C. Davidson.

The menu consisted of fruit cocktail, pressed chicken, green beans, new potatoes, cucumber pickles, rolls, butter, congealed salad, ice cream, iced tea, and mints. The food was furnished by the mothers of the juniors.

Ten girls from the sophomore class served the banquet. These were Juanita Coleman, Oleta Holloway, Martha Mathis, Mary Emma Back, Avalee Back, Sybil Young, Juanita Brooks, Neva Flowers, Della Williams and Emma Jean Ayer.

Plates were arranged at the banquet for the following: Rev. and Mrs. Cecil G. Goff, Rev. and Mrs. Jno. H. Crow, Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Erwin, Mrs. S. R. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Sammie Cubine, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hibler, Mr. and Mrs. George Colebank, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Carpenter, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Finley, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Tampke, Garrison Rush, Miss Ruby Lee Seal, Miss Jewell Cousins, Miss Aline McCarty, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, Miss Lorena Ashby, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. THE OLD CATTLE TRAIL

By Charlie Marie Back
 Mr. Ed D. Smith told me about some of the old cattle trails he had traveled when he was a young man.

The first trail he told me about was the Rath trail. It started in Southern Texas and went through Fort Worth, crossed the Red River at Dane Store and went west along the Wichita Mountains into Montana. There were several branches of this trail, and one went through Mobeetie and through Gray county.

Another trail was the Southern trail which started in Southern Texas. It went through the present city of Lubbock and crossed into Mexico. It went through Liberty, N. M., which is now Tucumcari, and from there into the southwest.

There were many cattle that went over these trails each day.

Mr. Smith said that men were killed very often on these trails. They saw a new grave every day, and no one knew how the person buried had been killed.

One trail that he had traveled more than the Rath and Southern trails was the Chishalm trail. It started fifteen years after the civil war in 1879. It received its name from the man John Chishalm. He was the first man to ever drive cattle over this trail. It started below San Antonio and went through Fort Worth and Austin, and crossed the Red River Station. It went from there to Hell Rhone and the old Stage Cab, and by Old Lady Maner's ranch. This ranch was owned by a wealthy old Indian lady. The Chishalm trail went nine miles west of the 101 ranch. From there it went to Cheska where it split into three branches. One went northeast of Cooperfield, Kans., one went out thru Honeywell and the other went on into Montana.

Some of the cattle that went over these trails were going to market, while others were going to pasture. Two of the best shipping points were Dodge City, Montana, and Kansas City, Kansas.

Mr. Smith said there would always be from one to eight thousand cattle on these trails. He said many times that as far as his eyes could see there would be cattle.

He said that he had started from our bakery we have a new kind of pie. This Friday it's a strawberry pie for only 20c.

We insist, "Dessert isn't complete without cake."

Mr. Smith has traveled these trails many times. He is a very interesting person to talk to about old cattle trails. He has been a cowboy most all his life.

Hints for the Household

By Betty Webster
HOUSEHOLD HINTS

kitchen, shower is a nice event for a bride-to-be. And really, later is apt to be more grateful a kitchen shower than any other of a party.

Give each guest bring a present the bride-to-be, suitable for a present. Have them write an appropriate verse to go with each article. A nice for the hostess to give a basket, blue bird clothes line clothes pins. She can stretch line in room, porch or yard. And guests bring in their presents, and pin them on the line.

When all is ready—give the bride—the clothes basket and tell her bring in the clothes. When her set is full of gifts have her sit in a room and open presents read verses aloud. If verses have cleverly written, this will be fun.

There is more time before remonments, pass each person a sized are of cheese cloth and some color yarn or thread. Have them make these cloths. They may button overcast or outline them. When finished, place in a neat pile present the bride with a practical and welcome gift of pretty cloths.

COOKING HINTS

Spring Fruits

As many fruit dishes as possible from now on. There is nothing better to keep the spring menu healthful, tempting and economical. The most popular fruits are strawberries, rhubarb, pineapple, prunes and raisins.

Strawberries, of course, are wonderful. Rhubarb is at its best in the spring and is considered better than a tonic. Pineapple is economical and is used as a most valuable spring fruit. Prunes are always good and beneficial.

Raisins—do not forget the raisins. Their food value they are very high. Use them in bread, muffins, salad, cereal and desserts. They are fine when cooked with rhubarb.

So, beginning now and during the coming summer months, eat fruit in its form—three times a day!

Fruit Whip (baked)

1 teaspoon soda.

WOMEN FIGHT FOR HOMES

Through thick and thin the women and girls are hanging on with grim determination in their fight for more beautiful homes. Gladys Hopkins in Harrison county sells butter-milk to buy materials for making over her bedroom. Mrs. W. E. Howieler in Harris county tears down the picket fence and gives the neighbors the pickets for screening the bare underpinning of their homes. Harris county home demonstration club women have filled their yards with shrubs from 11,600 cuttings taken from cutting beds. And so it goes.

NEWSPAPER GUYS

I see a man pushing his way through the lines of cops where the work of the fire chief shines. "The Chief?" I inquire, but a fireman replies, "Gee, no! Why, that's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man walk through the gates of a show where great throngs are blocked by the sign S R O.

"Is that man the star, that no ticket he buys?"

"Star nothin'! That's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man sit in the seat of the great. And they ask this advice upon matters of state.

"A diplomat, surely," but to my surprise they tell me he's one of those newspaper guys.

And some day I'll stand by the great gates of gold. And watch a man pass through unquestioned and bold.

"A saint?" I will ask, and St. Peter'll reply: "No, that's only a plain, honest newspaper guy."

A PROMISE

Polly—"I'll say. He says if I lose my job I won't need to make any more payments on his car."

TRADE IN McLEAN!

HOGS BUY CORN WITHOUT BEGGING

Luling.—Marketing corn through hogs has its advantages, according to C. T. Greenwood, Caldwell county demonstrator, who reports that a return of 49.3 cents per bushel was realized for corn fed to his hogs. The market price of corn at the time was 25 cents. He used a self feeder and has just finished 17 hogs which made average gains of 1.7 pounds per day, requiring 3.97 pounds of feed for one pound of gain. On January 22nd the hogs weighed an average of 137 pounds. On March 11th they averaged 220 pounds and sold on the San Antonio market at top price of $4 per hundred.

"There's not a fortune on 4 cent hogs," says Mr. Greenwood, "but I like them as long as I can sell them corn at double the market price without having to beg some one to buy it."

THE OPTIMIST

Sponsor, Miss Hayes
The staffers do not, as yet, have the "spring fever," for they are still an energetic group. One month more. How can we wait?

Regret is mingled with joy as the end of this school year comes. The next one will bring losses: loss of schoolmates, teachers knowledge (of course this is completely buried during the summer but is resurrected in the fall), even a loss of hair comes at this time, because the fad with some of the boys is a "clipped head."

HISTORY PROJECTS A SUCCESS

The 6B class is certainly showing ability as writers of drama. Texas history plays were written last week. The three that have been finished are: The Fall of the Alamo, The Disaster of the Civil War, and The Life of Texas. The students of the class will act out two of these plays Friday in assembly. Everyone is welcome to see these plays. We promise you a good "between acts" program. The admission is FREE!

Other plays will be put on at a later date.

The elementary school football team took the seventh and eighth grade team through a good drubbing Tuesday afternoon at the elementary school gridiron. The score was 14 to 0 in favor of the elementary boys. One of the greatest thrills of the game came in the second quarter when Shaw, elementary left half back, intercepted a pass and ran 20 yards in an open field for a touchdown. McCarty, full back, made the extra point on a line back. Christian carried the ball over for the second carrier and added the extra point with a line back. While every member of the elementary team was a star, Christian and McCarty stood out above the others on both offense and defense. Finley and Cobb were the outstanding players for the opponents.

The line-up:
Elementary 7th & 8th grades
Harris, Young ends Sharp, Mathis
Walker, Cooke tackles Lynch-Cobb
Dalton, Pierce g Corbin, Kennedy
Back center Ayer
Christian quarter Finley
Shaw, Braxton h Ledbetter, Mann
McCarty full Hugg
Lowe, Smith sub Jones

SPORTS

The elementary school was beaten in football Friday. The score was 13 to 6 in favor of the high school. We are to play them again Tuesday. We have taken time about beating each other. It is elementary's time to win. Friday, Braxton was absent with an injured foot. Smith took his place. We have been practicing at noon.

SCHOOL

By Mabel Back
I am glad school is out.
So we won't cry and pout.
If we don't have our maps drawn
When school's out,
We get gone.
Some teachers are hardboiled
And try to drive you into the soil.
When you are not a plant at all,
They bounce you like a rubber ball.

GIRL SCOUTS

By Marietta Young
The Girl Scouts met Tuesday afternoon at their faithful teacher's house, Mrs. Tampke. We went to her house after school was out. We froze ice cream. Then we hiked about one mile. When we came home ice cream was served.
Then we went outside and played games. About 7 we came in and made some stew. Some girls had gone outside and built a fire. We cooked our supper and then washed the dishes.
About 24 girls stayed all night. They did not go to bed until 3 a. m. They arose about 7 and cooked breakfast.

We are going to meet next Tuesday evening at the elementary school if the plans are not changed. We want more girls to join us. We have named our patrol The Trail.

SPORTSMANSHIP

By Jesse Dean Cobb
If you lose in a football game or any sport, do you say the others cheated? Don't think that. Just cheer up and tell the others that they played a nice game. If they won a game would you go tease the others? You should say, "You did your best." The other one cheated just because. Don't ever have an excuse or say you didn't win.

Odd—but TRUE

PENMANSHIP

5A Report
Monday, our teacher read a story and we wrote it in our own words. The name of the story was "How a Woman Saved a Forest." Wednesday we wrote the words, "thrift, thought, useful, value, vivid, window, young, wizard." We are improving in our writing very much.

"FRECKLES ON HIS NOSE"

By W. C. Stotts
He was a handsome chap, but he had freckles on his nose. And no one liked him, for this reason, I suppose.
His hair was not combed and he was dirty and all that;
He seemed to be an image made for them to sneer at.
His shoes were worn and there were holes in his hose;
Like the grass comes through the ground, through the shoe came the toes.

His clothes were dirty and ragged; they were not the very best. The teacher even made a rule that he couldn't play with the rest. Just exactly what his name is, nobody knows.
For they call him "Freckles," because they are on his nose.
If you would watch the little boy with the freckles on his nose, After school has turned out, just to find out where he goes,
You'd find he goes down a street in the poor part of the city;
If you could see the conditions, you couldn't help but pity.
An old, unpainted house with falling roof, is the boy's home —
Although it be a dirty hole, he doesn't care to roam.
In a corner of the house sat his aged old grandmother;
This old lady loved him more than any other.
Through his troubles, the boy had looked forward all day
To his grandmother's stories so lovely and gay.
The boy and his companion had to work hard to buy food.
The furniture was old, scared, home-made and rude.
Although they were poor as the poorest could be.
They were both honest, kind-hearted and free.
Under the freckles, rags and dirt, is a heart of gold;
You should admire this boy who is courageous and bold.
Although he has them, I suppose nobody knows
The little boy with the freckles on his nose.

HEROES OF TEXAS CLUB

Last Friday our room had a program. Anadel Sligar gave a talk, "Texas as I See It." Jesse Dean Cobb, Anadel Sligar, R. L. Floyd and Margaret Kennedy sang a quartet. Different groups got up together and planned a play on the subjects we had in history. We had a good time. The following children did not miss a word in spelling the last six weeks: Jesse Dean Cobb, C. A. Watkins, Willie Louelle Cobb, Mabel Back, Julia Mertel, Ruth Thacker, Mary Louise Smith, Ernie Back, Eugene Stewart, Lee Belle Huff, Winford Finley, Junior Mantooth.

The pupils whose names are on the spelling honor roll this week are: Thelma Jean Dishman, Mary Ellen Gething, Beatrice Stotts, Booth Woods, Cecil Simpson, Bennie Mae Wade, Lorene Spears, Jesse B. Gerard, Dulmer Dorsey, Evonne Floyd, L. L. Smith, Betty Jo Crockett.
Our class is learning to multiply by fives. We like the fives better than any table.
We are glad that Miss Ahlschier is here. We are anxious for her to come to our room.

NOT A SONNET BUT A "BIRDET"

By Julia Mertel
The birds sing so sweet,
They sing "Tweet! Tweet!"
I don't see why cats try to eat
The birds when they sing so sweet.
The cats always tear down their nest.

After the birds have done their best.

FOURTH GRADE ENGLISH

The following poems were written by pupils in the low fourth:

Wishing
By Winford Finley
Ring! Ting! I wish I were a cowboy,
A brave and true cowboy, riding in the spring.
The stooping birds above me,
The howling wolf to love me,

MOTHER'S GIFT

Mothers have learned to not expect much. They can even smile when their birthdays pass unnoticed, but to be forgotten on Mother's Day is too conspicuous. Don't forget this year! Pangburn's candy in one, two and three pound sizes is an exquisite, perfect, personal and thoughtfully prepared gift. Order it delivered anywhere.

The fern and moss to creep across,
And the horses for our king.

Wishing

By Ernie Back
Ring! Ting! I wish I were a robin,
A bright red robin, singing in the spring.
The wandering limbs below me,
The flowers and grass to creep across,
And the sun for our king.

Wishing

By Joe Bryan Carpenter
Ring! Ting! I wish I were a butterfly,
A bright yellow butterfly, flying in the spring.
The sky and clouds above me,
The beautiful sun to love me,
The flowers and moss to run across,
And the bird for our king.

Rain

By Robert Wilson
I can hear the dripping of the rain
As it falls upon the window pane.
It brings the pretty May flowers
And the wet May showers.
Some children wish the rain away,
They want it some other day.
The wise children wish the rain to stay,
And make the little flowers grow to-day.
The rain will fall all day long
And make a pitter, patter song,
To help the flowers grow
And make the children's faces glow.

Rain

By Robert Stotts
The rain is pouring down,
It falls in puddles on the ground,
It overflows the river
And makes the flowers shiver.
It soaks the dry hard road
And brightens Mister Toad.
It makes the ground all wet,
And makes the little children fret.

D. O. Beene, candidate for state representative, was in McLean Saturday.

MUSIC

By Willie Louelle Cobb
The Junior Music Club met at Boyett's studio Saturday afternoon. Members responded to roll call naming three noted musicians.
Each member played a piano. Georgia Colebank was voted player and Fern Martin second. Meeting closed a six weeks ago with Dorothy Sitter and Georgia Colebank as leaders. Dorothy's score won by 13 points. That left Georgia side to serve refreshments.
Fern Martin and Evelyn Hales were elected leaders of contest group for the next month. Jessie May and Doris Simmons were club officers.
