School Nurse Holds Class in Home Hygiene

Summer Round-up Shows Defects to Be Corrected

Claude Williams, Publicity Chm.

Home Hygiene Class

Are you helpless when illness invades your home? Do you know how to make an ill member of your family comfortable; how to give a bed and change the linen? Knowledge of home hygiene and care of the sick means greater security and safety against illness and suffering at home.

These are a few of the things the women of McLean had an opportunity to learn during the home hygiene class conducted by Miss Schlicher, Red Cross nurse, and sponsored by the McLean chapter of the American Red Cross. Nineteen women of McLean and the surrounding community joined this class, but due to the attendance record required by the national headquarters, only seven women were qualified to receive certificates from the class. The women were graded on class work, attendance, written test and practical test, and were required to make a general average of 75%.

Classes were held three times a week, two hours each, the course embracing 38 hours. The following names have been sent to the Midwestern branch of the American Red Cross at St. Louis, for certificates: Mrs. Pete Fulbright, Mrs. F. E. Hambricht, Mrs. Johnnie Back, Mrs. J. R. Lass, Mrs. E. J. Gething, Mrs. W. R. Heise, Mrs. J. H. Wade.

The Summer Round-up

The summer round-up for McLean was held in the grade school building on June 9. The children residing in McLean were examined in the morning, and the children in the adjoining districts Thursday afternoon. A total of 26 were examined. The school doctors and dentist were assisted by volunteer workers and the Red Cross nurse.

The object of this work for the pre-school child is to check the physical defects and urge the corrections as early as possible, in order that a normal child may enter school for the first time in September.

The following defects were found: seven needed dental care. Every parent should realize that it is just as important to give dental care to the baby teeth as it is to the permanent teeth. Two were found with defective vision; five with defective hearing, which in many cases may be corrected or improved by the removal of the tonsils and adenoids; five had accumulated ear wax that should be removed; if not, in course of time it will harden and temporary deafness will result. One had an ear disease; one had enlarged lymph nodes, which may be caused from different sources. These children who enter school for the first time are starting on that journey in preparation for useful living and good citizenship.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

By Secretary

The Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Norman Johnston on June 21th, with 11 members and three visitors present.

Mrs. Bob Sanders, vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. C. T. O'Neal. The secretary reported $24.50 proceeds from the quilt show, after all expenses were paid.

Most of the members reported dresses ready for the dress contest on the 20th. A discussion of the plans for the encampment was held. The hostess served dainty refreshments and the club adjourned until Friday, July 1st.

Commission for Band Is Organized

The recently appointed McLean band commission met Tuesday and took the oath of office, going into permanent organization.

T. A. Landers was elected chairman, with C. J. Cash and Dr. H. W. Finley as members.

The commission recommended some revisions in the band ordinance passed by the city council.

The commission will hold regular monthly meetings, and such other meetings as may be called by the chairman.

ANDREW WILSON MAKES GOOD FEEDING PROFIT

By Ralph R. Thomas, Co. Agr.

Andrew Wilson, young Gray county farmer living near McLean, made a net profit of $4.66 per head feeding 33 calves from the Bar LO ranch during the past winter and spring.

Beginning November 15th, the calves were put on a stalk field with a supplement of one pound of cottonseed meal and three pounds of ground kaffir heads per day. January 1st the ration was increased to 1½ pounds cottonseed meal and 4½ pounds ground kaffir heads, with all of the home grown hay the calves would eat. This ration was fed until April 1st, when the cottonseed meal was increased to two pounds per day and the kaffir heads increased until the calves were getting 16 pounds per day when they were marketed, April 29.

The calves weighed 288 pounds when put on feed November 15th, and 536 pounds when sold April 29th, or an average gain of 1½ pounds per day from the time they were put on the stalk field until they were sold.

The feed cost was $8.10 per animal, or 34 cents per pound gain. The initial cost of the calves was $15.07 and the selling price $28.08 per head. Wilson's only previous feeding experience was with a 4-H club calf which won third place in the senior class at the Amarillo show the past year.

S. G. C. B. CLUB

The S. G. C. B. Club held its regular meeting last Wednesday afternoon on McClellan creek.

The girls spent most of the afternoon wading and taking pictures. For a discussion of the lesson, the girls gathered in a circle under the shade of a large cottonwood tree. After the lesson, a picnic supper was spread.

Four new members were initiated, and Miss Charlie Mae Carpenter was an invited guest.

A STRANGE ANIMAL

Meador Cafe had on display this week a strange animal brought to town by the Stokes brothers. On first sight it looks like a waterdog, but there is enough difference to class it something else. It has three long feather-like appendages on each gill, four feet, and a long tail. Several of these animals were found in a water hole.

HIGHWAY 66 TO BE USED BY CHICAGO CLUB

The Chicago Motor Club has agreed to send a representative to log the route of highway 66 from Oklahoma west, and if found to be in the condition claimed by officials of the 66 association, will route motorists to California over this road.

The manager of the Chicago club admitted routing all Chicago traffic from Oklahoma City south to El Paso, not knowing of the paving recently completed on the western end of the highway.

The association is planning a lot of national advertising for the road this season, and according to J. W. Knorpp, vice president for Texas, McLean's quota for the advertising budget is $100. Mr. Knorpp, in a letter to the News editor this week, stated that he would be glad to visit McLean and assist in collecting the money.

This matter is in the hands of the local chamber of commerce for whatever action is thought necessary.

CHOIR ENJOYS PICNIC

GAS CASE POSTPONED

Another postponement for the gas rate case was chalked up Monday when the State Attorney General's department asked for more time to gather information.

The new officers will be installed the first meeting in next month, at a ladies' night to be held at the Wilson grove. Prof. Frank P. Wilson, who was a club visitor, offered the grove, which was unanimously accepted.

Next Sunday's Lesson

WHAT WE HAVE LEARNED FROM GENESIS

By Rev. Cecil G. Goff
Golden text, Romans 8:28.
Today's lesson is a review lesson covering the study of Genesis made in the Sunday school lessons in the last three months.

Genesis is a history. The story found there of God's doings and dealings is more in the form of a running narrative than that given in any other portion of the Bible. It is easily learned and easily remembered.

It was because of the sins of men that God repented of having made man. And because of those sins He destroyed all of His living creation save that which He placed upon the ark.

David said that man was born in sin. Sin is in him, and no matter how much grace Noah found in God's sight, his offspring were sinners also and must find grace in God's eyes for themselves.

God not only selected a man, but through each succeeding generation, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph. He protected them, caused them to grow and multiply, both in goods, number and knowledge of Him.

As we note God's care of His people, we find Him always giving to them power and blessing according to their worship and service. He watched over them closely and expected them to watch for His will likewise.

The lessons for this past quarter bring to our hearts a very pungent conviction that there is more to be learned in Genesis than mere historical facts. The great fact of universal sin, one of the most important lessons of the Bible to be learned, is made clear.

The fact of universal sin must be met today in the light of like depravity. God has so given His word that every man may know His will, God wills that none should perish, but whether it be individual, organization, or nation, God's terms of repentance and service must be met to acquire His grace, else punishment for His rejection must be accepted.

The Road To Better Health POISON IVY

By Dr. William J. Scholes
Among the plants that are capable of producing inflammation of the skin, poison ivy is one of the most common. Contact with the poison oak and poison sumac seems to result in the same kind of poisoning of the skin in susceptible people.

Some Seem to Be Immune
Some people seem to be able to touch, and even handle, poison ivy without developing any irritation or inflammation of the skin. Other people are extremely susceptible to its poisonous action.

Proper Treatments
After ivy-poisoning has developed, a strong solution of epsom salt in water is about as good a remedy as any for external use.

Strickler has worked out a treatment that is reported to give good results in from 90 to 95% of cases. It consists of the injection of minute amounts of the toxin (poison) of the plant. The injections are given from one to three days apart.

Fifty and Fit. A MAN is as old—or as young—as his organs. At fifty, you can be in your prime. Why go along with "fairly good health" when you might be enjoying vigor you haven't felt for years? There's a simple little thing anyone can do to keep the vital organs stimulated, and feel fit all the time. People don't realize how sluggish they've grown until they've tried it. The stimulant that will stir your system to new life is Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. It will make a most amazing difference in many ways. Get some syrup pepsin today, and take a little tonight. Don't wait until you're sick to give your system this wonderful help. You can avoid those spells of listlessness or constipation. A spoonful every now and then is better than constant worry about the condition of your bowels or fear of auto-intoxication as you grow older. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin protects the system. Druggists keep this preparation.

GOLF GOSSIP

By D. A. Davis

You golfers have simply got to quit associating with Mont Noo and Puss Kirby down town, either on the streets or in the stores. Just speak to them and let it go at that, for if you don't they will never get them to join the club, and besides we are liable to see Mun Davis and Gasoline Greer, because they have nobody to play with, and may get sore at each other and quit. The reason we will have to quit associating with Mont and Puss is because they are ashamed for W. T. Wilson and Scott Johnston to see them even talking to anybody that plays golf, let alone thinking about joining our club, because W. T. and Scott just simply won't tolerate anybody that plays golf. All they want to know is whether you can play 42 or dominoes, and as Mont and Puss are two of their old standbys at 42 or dominoes, they ain't going to allow Mont and Puss to stray off like fun and Gasoline if they can shame them out of it.

Why in the world do some women like to see a man swing a set of golf clubs over his back and start off to have a friendly game with his men friends? If there is a weed to cut, a blade of grass to mow, or a little dinky bean or two in the garden to hoe, they simply won't let you get away without raising ned with you until said weed is cut, said blade of grass is mowed, and the bean carefully hoed, and they if they can't think of anything else for you to do, you can sneak out the back way and to play a round or two, then sneak back home and find friend wife has some gadding around and won't come home in time to cook you a bite of supper. I simply can't understand woman nature anyhow.

What do you know about that Holmes kid at Shamrock winning the Green Belt championship anyhow? And why in the world can't we make some sort of arrangements so some of our youngsters can learn the game? I guess I'll get jumped on all spraddled out by most of you members and officers, but it don't seem to me like we are giving the young boys of our town the right kind of a deal somehow, and I can't see why in the sam hill we can't kinder open up a bit and give them a chance so we can develop some good golf players. We old sticks can't play golf and never will, and as long as we old dufers don't give the boys a chance we never will have a team that can play worth a whoop.

J. E. Lynch has found out after owning a golf membership two years that he could not get insurance on it, or burn it up, so traded it off for a Plymouth automobile. I am determined to have me a golf tournament this summer, as I did not get to play in the one last year, so starting in next week I'm going to start on my own qualifying rounds and the following week you will see me of the hardest golf contests pulled off you ever heard of. It may make me all the summer, but dad burn it I ain't going to play until I am gray as a rat or par No. 6, and when I do the tournament will be off and I'll buy myself a new golf ball for a prize.

Oh yeah. I forgot to say something about Roy Rice and son on our golf course last week. You know they live up in Kansas, the home of Dr. Brinkley, where the ground is all level and cotton fields are so scarce; so about fifteen minutes after landing in McLean, Roy and son came out to play golf. Of course his dad and Pete were already out playing (as well as myself, Dosh and Uncle Bill). They came to us just as we were finishing up on No. 3, and as No. 4 green is over the hill and out of sight, Roy and son did not know what to shoot at, but they shot anyway, and did fairly well until they started off on No. 6. They put all the balls they had in Uncle Charlie Watkins' cotton patch and then started out to hunt them. Son found what he thought was one of his dad's golf balls, picked it up and said, "Good gracious, dad, that ball sure hit hard when it fell. Looky here, it's all smashed soft." Roy looked around, and to his amazement, the boy had found a ball of cotton. However, as soon as they got their bearings and asked Uncle Charlie's cotton patch, they played fairly good golf, and I believe they enjoyed their visit. Ervin came over from Matador also, and the "Judge" and the boys seemed to have a fine time together out there playing golf, which, to my way of thinking, was a mighty fine thing. Folks, a mighty fine thing. Come back again, boys, and do that again, because it won't always be so.

The Kansas City Public Service Co. in one of its bulletins, reported that a man stood up in a Quindaro car and offered a woman his seat. She declined. When she recovered consciousness, she thanked him. Then she fainted.

THE OBITUARY PAGE

Once I was talking with Kent Jooper about what interests people in the newspapers.

He said: "When a man gets to be about 45 years old, he discovers the obituary page."

I certainly am not a gloomy minded man, but I have always thought a lot about death. The attitude toward it seems to me infantile and silly.

It isn't a pleasant subject, but certainly it is an inevitable one. Why dodge and pretend and act like children? Said Caesar:

"Of all the wonders that I yet have heard,

It seems to me most strange that men should fear; Seeing that death, a necessary end, Will come when it will come."

All of which leads me to remark that there is a certain advantage in discovering the obituary page comparatively early in life. The tragedy is that some men never discover it.

I have seen a doddering old millionaire, with one foot in the grave, fighting with a taxi-man over a nickel, or trying to beat down the price of a neck-tie.

I once sought a contribution to charity from a millionaire who was well over 60 and notoriously tight. He told all the reasons why he couldn't give up a cent, and as he warmed to the subject, he began to act as if my call were an insult.

Finally I said: "Why are you so mean? Why do you deny yourself pleasures and squeeze every nickel? It isn't your money; it's your children's money, or will be in a few years. Why let them have all the pleasure? Why not have the fun of giving some of it away?"

This rude remark shocked him. I think it started a line of thought that made quite a change in his life.

Moses prayed: "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

I assume that to mean that, when we get along toward middle life and note by the papers that men of our age, or a few years older, are dropping off, we ought to stop and take stock.

We ought to say: "As life goes, I have maybe ten, fifteen or, at the most, thirty years. Therefore, I ought to quit thinking—how much money can I pile up? and begin thinking—how can I be sure to do all the things I want to do, see all the places I want to see, and leave behind me a reputation for having been a reasonably good and generous individual?"

"The dead take to the grave, in their clutched fingers, only that which they have given away."—State Line Tribune.

AYER SUIT SETTLED

Pampa, June 19.—A 5,000 settlement in favor of the plaintiffs, and five Ayer children of McLean, was announced yesterday by the defendant, the McLean-Gas Company.

The plaintiffs' suit for damages was based on the death of their parents who suffered fatal burns when their house at McLean burned over a year ago. Through their attorneys, Will R. Saunders and E. A. Simpson of Amarillo, the plaintiffs claimed that negligence of the gas company was responsible for the burning of the house and the death of their parents. Mr. Ayer died a day after the fire. His wife lived about 10 days. Both died in a local hospital.

Of the $5,000 named in the settlement, $3,300 will go to the children and the balance to the lawyers. Trial of the case was continued from the last term of court. A special session of the court was called in July for the trial, and fifty men were ordered impanelled for a jury. Settlement of the suit automatically voids these orders.—Pampa Daily News.

The LaPlata (Mo.) Home Press wonders if it ever occurs to the citizens and merchants of the home town to boost the local newspaper as a matter of good business. They too often take it for granted that the only good business of the home town is to boost the citizenship and business ability of the home town. The weekly payroll and overhead of the home paper is as great, or greater, than nine out of ten of the small ventures in the average small town, and every dollar it pays out goes back to places in the home town. Boosting the booster occasionally might not be a bad practice to follow, applying to schools and churches as well as to business men.

If an apple a day keeps the doctor away and an onion a day keeps everybody away, Miss Virginia Cecil of the Mount Vernon (Mo.) Chieftan inquires if there isn't some way of keeping the first of the month away.

BANKRUPT STOCKS

One of our candidates for State Senate is incorporating in his platform a new law to stop people from moving bankrupt stocks of old shoddy goods from one place to another to sell out far below cost in competition with the home merchants who pay taxes and keep the churches and schools up from year to year. These fly-by-night operators always close out before tax assessment time, and never pay any taxes anywhere. While the Herald believes we have too many laws now, and that many of the old relics should be repealed, this one, it seems to us, is full of merit, and the business element and their friends should get an expression along this line from the other candidates, and no matter which one is elected, some action can be had on such a measure. Not only the 30th, but all the districts, should bring out their candidates for the Senate and lower house on such a measure.—Terry County Herald.

RACE HORSES

The fastest American horse and the fastest Australian horse ran a race a short time since and thousands of people paid thousands of dollars to witness the race and wagered hundred of thousands of dollars on the result thereof. The two horses were valued at something like a million dollars, because they were great runners—and why? Any old Ford could run both horses to death in two hours and have them far in the rear. The fleet-stepping colts do not contribute to the wealth of the country or make bread for the poor by pulling plow or cart, and they are entirely too frisky for saddle animals. Where, then, lies the value of the equine dudes? Seems to me that their only value is in furnishing people something to gamble on. We have some strange standards of value. A tow headed mule that produces three bales of cotton and 200 bushels of corn a year is worth ten times more to the world, yet he gets no notice, and usually not much to eat.—Jim Lowery.

A use for old blue overalls and shirts has been found by home demonstration club women in Willacy county. Cut into narrow strips, such material makes into desirable hooked rugs. Since long wear has softened the harsh color, good color blending is obtained without dyeing.

Prohibit government-control of the liquor traffic as a substitute for prohibition "is too horrible to contemplate," said Judge George W. McClintock of the U. S. District Court, in session at Charleston, W. Va., April 21, 1932.

HENRY FORD ON NATIONAL SOBRIETY

I give unreserved support to the Eighteenth Amendment and the prohibition law because they provide the degree of control over liquor which is necessary for national sobriety. As between a law which favors drinking and a law which favors sobriety, the American home and church and school and workshop stand for the latter. Prohibition is the best method that has yet been devised to give effect to the sober sentiment of the nation. We have always had excellent official cooperation in its enforcement.—Telegram from Henry Ford to Dr. Clarence H. Wilson.

THE McLEAN NEWS

THEN SPEND YOUR MONEY WITH CONFIDENCE

For some one, every day, the biggest news is not on the front page. It's not even in the news columns.

There may be an earthquake in Italy or a revolution in Central America. There may be a hot election campaign, or a million-dollar fire, or a metropolitan crime wave. But for Jim Jones, who has decided to buy a new automobile, and for Mrs. Thompson, who needs some school dresses for little Mary Lou, the BIG news of the day is in the advertisements.

Even the doings of Congress and the big-league baseball results pale into insignificance beside the news of something you really want.

The advertising columns bring you sound information about quality, style and price. They announce new products and new developments that save time, trouble or expense for millions of people. They point out healthful habits of eating, sleeping, exercising.

Consistently advertised goods are safe goods to buy. Behind them stand the manufacturer and the merchant, guaranteeing their uniform quality. Read the advertisements before you buy.

A "going concern" might mean most anything in these kind of times.

A business is like an automobile; the only way it will run itself is down hill.

Did you ever notice that the fellows who are waiting for a "lucky break" are always broke?

Most advice is offered in the form of criticism, which makes it unacceptable to most of us.

The man who boasts of having fixed habits might find some of them need fixing, if he would do a little thinking.

There is no excuse for vulgarity. One might forgive some murderers or thieves, because in some cases they might have been to some extent excusable, but there is no excuse for the man who deliberately tells a filthy story.

There is no road to success that does not call for training of will power. The person who achieves success must learn how to sacrifice passing whims in order to reach a more substantial distant goal. There must be denying of some present things, if we are to enjoy those in the future.

Personal friendships are too valuable to try to profit by in a business way, but at the same time we must depend upon our friends for business success to a great extent. Business goes where it is invited, and stays where it is well treated; and this makes personal friends as well as business friends.

Some people believe that a newspaper must accept any advertising that is tendered it, but such is not the case. Any newspaper has the right to refuse advertising, just as it has the right to refuse to publish any news item it chooses. An editor is faced with the responsibility of everything that is placed in his paper, and the law gives him the right to say just what is published, regardless of whether the customer wants to pay for it or not. Of course, there are few advertisements that are turned down, but there are some fly-by-night fellows who have to be shown sometimes.

TEACHERS AND CIGARETTES

The writer of this article has been engaged in various forms of public school work thirty-four years. He has given a rather close observation to the effects cigarettes have on the ultimate success of their addicts, and concludes that the chance of final decided success of a man is about one in an hundred; of a woman, nil. A few men, by an overpowering personality and push, make it, but where one does, ninety-nine are finally bleached, demoted or "obliterated." A young man, addict told me half the young men teachers smoke cigarettes. My check up indicates not over 20% do. I could point to many who lost out, eliminated, because of cigarettes. I could not point out one who had found them a source of strength. — An Outlooker, in Texas Outlook.

THE GOVERNMENT AS A BUSINESS WRECKER

From the matter of drifting aimlessly into the stream of business the government now seems to be driving full steam ahead and taking the short cuts to ports, that indicates this nation is diverging from the solid foundations on which it was established—a strong central government that guaranteed "equal rights for all and special privileges for none." A government that recognized the authority of individual states in their domains and conceded to the citizenship the rights and privileges and protection of individual initiative, a government that was free from business entanglements, and above all from competition with legitimate business enterprise.

For more than a quarter of a century this government of ours has been actively engaged in competition with the great printing industries. "Not for profit" you are told by the advocates of the government envelope printing monopoly, and this is true, for the government handles this business at a financial loss. But what about its insidious invasion of this field of private endeavor, denying the printers a fair profit, and in fact placing them in the light of making exorbitant charges? Having to pay taxes, transportation charges and decent wages, it stands to reason the printers cannot meet the prices of the government, and, to the casual observer at least, they must bear the stigma of "profiteers."

And who is it that profits by the unfair competition of the government? Not the individual citizens. That fact is too apparent to need showing of proof. It is the big business interests to whom these envelopes are provided by the millions, and at an actual loss to the government, if all costs would be correctly charged. And the average citizen makes up that loss in additional taxes. Is this a proper governmental function? Is this not rank discrimination against one of the biggest industries in the nation?

But this is not the only exception. The government control and regulation of our great railroad systems have virtually put them on the rocks. The attempt to regulate the markets of our grain and cotton growers has resulted in chaos and practically ruined those citizens who had their personal investments in these trades. And similar instances might be cited in other industries and personal endeavors. In fact the government, through a system of group agitation and demands, has assumed a paternalistic attitude that has shattered public confidence and is rapidly wrecking individual initiative.

How much longer will American citizens who glory in the advancement and progress their country has made, due to the driving force and initiative and business acumen of individual citizens, stand for this governmental policy that is destroying personal endeavor and creating a socialistic order?—R. J. Ball, Reporter and Herald, Cleveland, Colo. (One of the prize winning editorials in the N. E. A. Government in Business contest.)

THE DEAD NEWSPAPER

The Farnhamville Index, which has been very successfully published at Farnhamville for the past 31 years, turned its daisy toes to the setting sun last week; in other words, the Farnhamville paper DIED. In his farewell address, the editor of the Farnhamville Index gave a two column write-up, telling of the whys and wherefores of a successful newspaper, what it means to a town, and why it should be patronized more than any other institution, and then closed with the following climax:

"As long as fully half of the business places in this town carry no ads; as long as your city officials see fit to buy their meter books and other printed matter away from home, from firms who are not expected to print ten lines free for each paid line; as long as 90% of the checks written in this community are written on blanks printed by foreign houses; as long as your school is allowed to buy commencement invitations and programs, etc., away from home; as long as the merchants refuse to make national advertising by paying half the cost; as long as nearly everyone does without letterheads, statements and all forms of printed matter; as long as you and you and YOU buy Christmas cards from the ten cent store or the ladies' aid or some peddler; as long as the reporters have to fight for every single bit of news they pry out of most of you—just that long will the publication of a paper here be impossible.—Farnhamville Index, Deceased.—O. O. C.—Claude News.

FARM-FED BABY BEEVES

If Texas continues to develop as a farm-fed cattle state it is not probable that future historians will give 4-H club boys the credit for forcing the change. Seasoned stock men are already saying it.

Ten years ago a mere handful of farm boys were feeding baby beefs. Farmers regarded it as a county agent fad. In recent years the big livestock shows of the state have had a hundred and more well finished club calves on exhibit where formerly a score or two constituted the showing.
Copying the club boys, farmers have gone to feeding calves for themselves. It has graduated from kid stuff to a respected farm enterprise. The collapse of prices has helped instead of hindered the move, for even with low-priced beef, beef calves have provided a better market for farm feed than the cash market.

Club boys haven't done it all, by any means, but by steady plugging they have charted the way for others in the calf-feeding business. In the meantime a change has taken place in the demonstrations of the boys. Instead of feeding one animal, they have been finishing two and three and five, and even 15 or 20 calves.
In 1931 there were 801 beef calves finished by 535 club boys who made total profits of about $12 per animal. This money represents the premium the calves brought their owners for the farm feed consumed.

KNEADING NEWS

Summer brings a big desire for cool desserts. In a long list that might be mentioned, ice cream comes near the top in popularity. Most everyone likes cake along with ice cream.

We give you this orange cake direct from Betty Crocker's famous recipe. We bake this same cake, only many each baking. We hope you will try this and compare it to ours, whether you buy your cakes or make them.

ORANGE CAKE

2 cups flour (Gold Medal cake flour) or any cake flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 cup sugar.
1/2 cup butter or Crisco.
3 eggs.
1/2 cup milk.
Flavor with grated rind of 1/2 orange.
Cream butter, then add sugar and cream until light. Next add flour and milk a little at a time, and mix smooth. Then add eggs, one at a time, and whip into the mixture. Sift baking powder, salt and orange gratings to the flour. Bake about 350° F.

We have put on the market a bar cake for 15c, the size we regularly sold for 25c. This will be in a good variety. We feel like this bar cake at such a good price will help you in your economy problem of serving your family. This is as economical as you can make them, and will save you the drudgery of baking.

By the way, the writer got another compliment on this column today. "Pour it on," folks, we sure appreciate the flowers.

I'll give a little "diddy" to end with—Try our breads for toasts, and, if you desire any new kind, just let us know. We sure will hustle one up if we haven't got it.

THE TIGER POST

SENIOR CLASS WILL

esteemed company of witnesses; the senior class has felt for some time that its demise was near; we have felt that school was beginning to disagree with us and that the members of the faculty had conspired to accomplish the death of the most splendidly brilliant class the walls of McLean high and the teachers' roof have ever frowned upon. The teacher does lessons we have taken to her daily regularly we hastened rather than prolonged our class demise, and we know with sorrowful certainty that the hour of our departure is near at hand. Therefore, we are so soon to pass from these alert and memories that put the most sensitive encyclopedias to shame; giving faculties keenly sharpened by many contacts with flinty instructors, we would publish to you upon this special occasion, the last will and testament of the senior class of 1932.

1. To the members of our beloved faculty, who look upon our demise with smiles of joy, we bequeath the satisfaction which comes from duties well performed, and a peaceful rest from the weary task of grading our papers. We also leave them a large amount of sympathy for their depressing attempts to pound knowledge upon our craniums. In addition, we bequeath them our regrets that their work with us was so barren of results—we leave them, but we don't love them much.

2. To the junior class, as our faithful and worthy successors, we leave: (a) our seats. Occupy them, do not try to fill them.

(b) Our senior dignity. May they hold it with becoming seriousness, endeavoring to overcome their usual air-brained and frivolous flippancy.

(c) Our tendency to make a little knowledge go a long way in the classroom; also our ability to throw guilty members off the trail when they imagined we were bluffing.

(d) Our abundant and reverberating gas spirit and pep, with the right terrorize the town and make their hideous with soulful class sings and soulless class yells. Do our best to keep things stirred up, remembering that a little noise goes a long way.

(e) Our honored position as models of the school—models of wit, wisdom, charm of manner, excellency of behavior, physical development and intellectual expansion. May heaven help you to stand up under the rain.

(f) Lastly, that which gives us the greatest pang to part with—our strongly entrenched places in the hearts of the faculty who have loved us devotedly, because—they couldn't help it. Comfort them in their loss, at don't imagine you can mangle their hearts as we have done.

The following valuable bequests, given and fully given, should be assured as a continual reminder of the abundant and overwhelming generosity of the class and the individuals thereof. We trust these responsibilities will be assumed promptly and bring important results:

1. To the superintendent of the school, the unfailing good humor of the entire class; we are certain he will need this in dealing with the seniors who succeed us.

2. To Miss McCarty, who seems too much wedded to her work as a teacher, we leave the book belonging to the girls of this class, "How to Win a Husband." Eventually, why not now?

3. To Lavelle, M. H. leaves his power to preside with a dignity that would do honor to a Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

4. To Willie Kennedy, we bequeath Cathryn's ability to put on a fine complexion. Save the surface and you save all.

5. To Lucille Morse, Margaret's part of vamping faculty members—here's a reason.

6. To Bert, Ward's ease in using long and high-faluting and impressive words.

7. On Pauline we bestow Clara's smile—it won't come off.
8. To Mary we grant Ellen's luck in making delicious eatables in the domestic science class—they satisfy.
9. To Kelly, Mackie leaves his powers of fascination. Mackie says he has a steady now and doesn't need further fascination.
10. To Ruth is left Cleone's ability to "paddle her own canoe." Cleone has selected someone to paddle her's for her.
11. To Kent we bequeath Clyde's habit of spending two hours a day on his physics lesson—by sitting on the book while he reads yarns.
12. To Allison Cash, Nita bequeaths locker number 105 so that he won't break his habit.
13. To Carl Boyle, Duard grants the privilege of occupying the front seat in English.
14. Captains Kinard and Greer grant to Christian and Switzer the privilege of making talks in chapel and on all other occasions.
15. To Basil, James leaves his ability to please the girls.
16. To Woodrow, Erwin leaves his chance to become president of the United States.
17. To Laverne is left Laura Lee's luck in getting grades.
18. To Millard, Mr. Harding bequeaths his ability to lead school singing.
19. To W. C. Carpenter, Clay leaves fluency in writing notes to girls.
20. To Jack and Buster L. Gordon and Duard leave the honor as champion spellers.
21. To Maxine goes Lola Ruth's snafu as teachers pet.
22. To Marjorie, Bonnie bequeaths her desire to become an old maid.
23. To Harold is given Casie's trick of looking innocent when caught in mischief.
24. To Paul, Clois, Donald, Brady, Glen, Eddie, Brownie, Dean and C. W. is left the honor of leading the Tigers to success next year.
25. To J. and Jack Reed is left the honor of winning the trip to Kansas City next year.
26. To Beth we leave Clara's fondness for the boys.
27. To Charles is left the reputation as school dupe.
28. To Luella, Lois leaves her official position as school pianist.
29. To June and Pansie, Burnese and Bobbe leave their reputations as senior beauties.
30. Lucille O'Neal leaves to Annie her box of henna for the hair.
31. Frances and Addie B. leave to Burnice and L. F. the privilege of meeting their boy friends in the post office every day at noon.

Hints for the Household

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Mah Jong Luncheon

When a woman entertains she always likes to have something different. Many times cards are tabooed as a pastime, as all the guests do not care to play. But everyone enjoys a mah jong party once in a while.

So serve: Chop suey, rice, Parker House rolls, pickles, ice cream, meringues, sauce over (if desired), tea.

Play mah jong. Have marshmallow mah jong candles at each table. Give Japanese or Chinese articles for prizes. Some suitable awards would be: Japanese umbrella, Japanese bell, mah jong pencil, mah jong pad, tea pot, box of tea or tea-balls, scrub brush, new paint brush (fine for cleaning window sills).

COOKING HINTS

Home Made Chop Suey (serves 16)
1 1/2 pounds veal (cut up).
1 1/2 pounds pork (cut up).
6 stalks celery.
2 pounds onions.
2 tablespoons Fugi blend molasses.
3 tablespoons chop suey sauce.
Method: Brown meat well. Cover well with water and cook a long while. Add the vegetables and cook still longer. Add seasoning and thicken a little. This is better the longer it is allowed to cook.

How to Prepare Strawberries
Always wash strawberries before hulling them. This prevents juice escaping after top is removed.

SENTIMENTAL AND SELFISH

Most of the arguments concerning trading at home have been worn out with constant repetition. Yet the subject is still a vital and an important one.

During the past few years there have been important changes in merchandising. The argument by most local merchants is not now so much to trade at home as to trade with the particular type of store that they represent.

The method of distributing merchandise over the counter, a personal transportation between buyer and seller, was never more firmly established than today. That is a favorable fact for local merchants.

The local merchant still has his competition. It is usually in the next town or nearby city.

The appeal to people to buy at home must be put upon more than mere sentimental grounds, though there is force to the argument of loyalty to friends, neighbors and customers.

Many people in small communities state that they cannot buy as cheaply at home as in some distant point. But when people live in a small community they must expect to do business on the basis that is essential to success of business in a smaller town.

It is selfish to expect your customers to pay the prices that you ask and yet be unwilling to pay fair prices for what you buy of them. Business must be done at a profit. If you get a profit yourself you must expect to pay one to the other fellow.

We are not discouraged about the small town and city. Some folks say that decline of the smaller centers is inevitable. There is little to prove it. Population is not growing as rapidly in smaller communities as in the cities.

On every hand there is evidence of improvement in small communities. That improvement consists of better streets, schools, highways, homes and stores.

When you trade at home you help other people to trade with you. These are both sentimental and selfish reasons for trading with your neighbors.

THE POSTAL DEFICIT

Postmaster-General Brown suggests an increase in postal rates to meet an astounding postal deficit of over 130 millions this year. The deficit is larger, by over 50 millions, this year than usual.

Yet, we wonder how long a private business concern would coast along losing 100 millions a year without doing something about it? Why something was not done long ago is more than we can understand.

The postal system, with its annual deficit, is a shining example of the weakness of governmental control. Private enterprise would have started a retrenchment program long ago.

Every printer in the country is well aware of the fact that the government postal service is one of his most unfair competitors. Uncle Sam prints and sells envelopes and other mailing pieces at ruinous prices, thereby smothering the country printer who has as much right to make a living as anybody.

The postal system needs a good housecleaning, followed by the adoption of a few sound business principles embracing economy and efficiency, much more than it needs increased postal rates.

THE MIRROR BROKEN

Hundreds of the well located small towns of the nation are fading away because their newspapers are not reflecting enterprise and growth. Their merchants are awakening too late to find that their mirror is broken and that a hustling neighboring city is reflecting the glory that should have been their own.

WASTING SCHOOL FUNDS

In keeping with everything else, the public schools are being asked to economize. The average man's notion of economy in education is to cut salaries or use fewer teachers with more children in a room.

A moderate estimate of the cost of maintaining one child for a year in the public schools is $40. Then it follows that it will cost the taxpayers 25 times $40, or $1,000 to maintain these repeaters for another year. This is the cost in dollars. We must add the cost in mental effort, the time of the child, and character development.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Save odd pieces of soap, tie them tightly in a piece of soft flannel and dip in boiling water until soft. Place in cold water until firm, remove flannel, and a ball of good soap ready for use is the result.

If salt is not added till potatoes are nearly cooked, it will help to make them dry and floury. To whiten potatoes, especially old ones, a teaspoonful of vinegar should be added just before they are cooked.

Fruit stains on tablecloths should not be allowed to dry in. As soon as the accident happens, stretch the stained part of the cloth over a basin and pour boiling water through till the stain disappears.

Drawers and closets that have been shellacked will be easier to clean.

Add 1/4 teaspoon baking powder to egg whites for meringue. It will hold its shape after broiling.

If a crack develops in a fruit jar you are sealing, a strip of adhesive tape over it will keep the product for some time.

"More Than a Merchant" Witt Springer, Prop.

WHY NOT EXTEND A GOOD THING?

Why should Uncle Sam sell a commodity or service such as printing in competition with local, privately-owned, tax-paying printing plants?

Why should 15,000 postoffices be used as order takers for a service that is not an essential function of the Postoffice Department or a necessary service in handling the mails?

The reason for raising these questions is that Uncle Sam offers to print return cards on stamped envelopes. With a "local dealer," or sales agency in the U. S. postoffice located in every center of population in the land Uncle Sam does a volume of printing business that enables him to offer customers a ridiculously low price. The orders for printed stamped envelopes total a billion and a half a year—over 4,000,000 for each of the 365 days in the year!

The purchasers of this service offered by Uncle Sam are not the "common people," some of whom address letters improperly and thereby contribute to the cost of maintaining the Dead Letter Office. Banks, retail merchants, professional men, manufacturers, the public schools, colleges, fraternal organizations—all dependent upon prosperous towns, home trade, local pay roots, taxpayers able to pay their taxes—these constitute the customers who take advantage of Uncle Sam's bargain price on printed envelopes.

If it's O. K. for Uncle Sam to sell printing, why not extend a good thing and insist that he add to his line and thus serve a much larger number of postoffice patrons? Why not add a grocer's apron to the printer's apron Uncle Sam now wears? Why not sell breakfast food, evaporated milk, butter, eggs, shoes, drugs, dry goods, clothing, et cetera, over the postoffice counter?

Unless Uncle Sam quits the printing business, printers should obtain signatures from postoffice patrons to a petition demanding that the postoffice department sell not only printing—the accommodations only a limited number of customers—but other products. Think of the saving in price that would be possible thru enormous volume and frequent turnovers! And Uncle Sam is lucky; he doesn't have to pay taxes!

Commander—"Now suppose you are on your post one dark night. Suddenly a person appears from behind you and wraps two strong arms around you so that you can't use your rifle. What will you call then?" Cadet—"Let go, honey."

ONE GOOD THING

A book-selling firm in New York that specializes in new and used educational works will shortly move from its old to new quarters where double the present space will be utilized. The expansion is due, an official of the firm has explained, to the fact that the demand for serious and thought-provoking books has greatly increased during the present economic crisis.

The report of this concern might be matched by similar reports from all book stores and libraries in the nation. If so, that development should be set down to the credit of the depression and listed as at least one good thing the ill winds have blown to the community. Sound reading makes for sound thinking. And sound thinking is the thing most needed today. It is all that will lead the world forward to a sounder footing than it has ever known.—Dallas Journal.

George Scott, Madison county farmer who made 11 bales of cotton from 22 terraced acres against 8 bales from 20 unterraced near-by acres last year, tells the county agent that terracing will do more good the first year than the application of 200 pounds of fertilizer, to say nothing of the increased value of the land in later years. He got $3 worth of cotton per acre for terracing that cost only $1 per acre.

"YES" MEN

Unless and until we permit rather encourage the schools to do the following of traditions we have no relation to existing realities, our thinking in matters the greatest public concern, including peace and war, as well as industry, prosperity and depression, will continue to be thoroughly stupid. Our leaders will be such only in the sense in which the blind lead the blind. . . . There has been a pall of hush-hush imposed upon teachers, and the easy way to them, the way of inertia, has become "yes" men and women. John Dewey.
