First Annual Fat Baby Beef Show to Be Held Saturday

Beef Show Open to All Panhandle

McLean Band to Play for Show

McLean's first annual baby beef show, sponsored by the local Lions Club, assisted by Jake Hess, president of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association, the McLean chamber of commerce and business men, will be held Saturday of this week, Feb. 20. Prof. J. F. Ford of the Amarillo agricultural extension department will act as official judge.

The show is open to the entire Panhandle. According to Dr. A. A. Tampke, director of the show, some eight calves had already been entered Monday, and it is expected that about twenty will be entered in this first show.

The show headquarters will be at the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co. sheds, courtesy of Manager B. F. Gray. Prizes of cash, ribbons and merchandise will be given in such proportions that every exhibitor will receive some reward. All county agents and vocational agriculture instructors are especially urged to send exhibits, according to Dr. Tampke.

A feature of the show will be several snappy numbers by the McLean band at the show building at 4 p. m., immediately followed by a parade to the main business section of town, led by the band. The band will also play while the calves are being judged on Main street.

NEW BRIDGE TO COST LESS MONEY

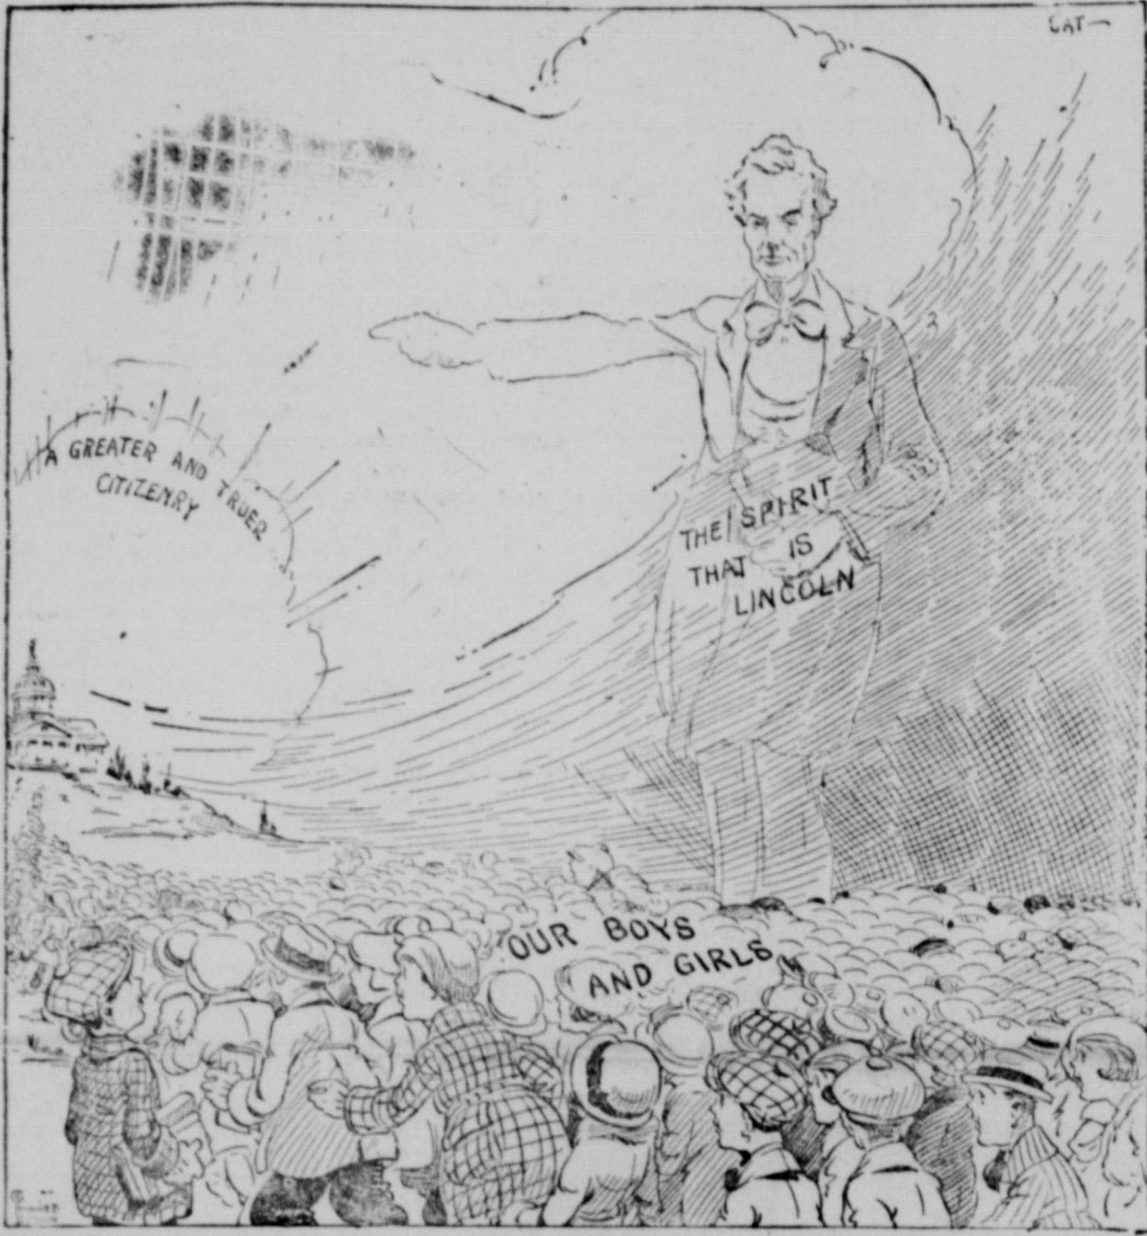

The Huddleston Construction Co., bidding low Saturday, was awarded the contract to rebuild the bridge across the Northfork of the Red river which was destroyed by fire at the hands of an incendiary 10 days ago.

The low bid was in the amount of $9,344.15, less than half of the sum paid out by the county commissioners for the bridge that burned. About 40 feet of the bridge was saved. Construction will be started immediately. The contract calls for completion of the lumber pile trestle in 45 days.

Other bids were as follows: W. B. Morrison, $10,586.66; Austin Bridge Co., $9,654.75; Oran Speer, $10,487.84; O. L. Reynolds, $11,576.01; Etter & Miner, $15,445.57.

Upon motion of Commissioner Lewis O. Cox, the commissioners fixed ex-officio salaries for 1932 the same as last year.

His Immortal Spirit

Lions Assist in Hoover's Anti- Hoarding Plan

The McLean Lions Club will assist in the anti-hoarding plan offered by President Hoover, according to the request of Mr. Hoover that civic clubs co-operate. Lions Reuben R. Cook, W. E. Bogan, T. A. Landers and D. N. Massay were named as a committee from the club to carry out the president's plan in McLean, at the regular luncheon held Tuesday.

Paul M. Bruce of Bruce Nursery was presented as a visitor, and made an address on the better yards and gardens movement, showing the rules of the national contest.

Mr. Bruce said that while the front yard counts only 25% under the rules, the front yard is the index to the home. Foundation plantings should be of a permanent nature; however, perennials and annuals may be used to give color for the first few years, said Mr. Bruce. The back yard and garden count 75% in the national score card, and Mr. Bruce outlined plans for this improvement. The speaker insisted that there must be constant improvement in homes, if the appearance of the town is to be kept up.

President Claude Williams made an address in tribute to Abraham Lincoln as part of the club's activities in connection with Lincoln's birthday.

Following the president's remarks, Lion G. C. Boswell, taking an incident from the president's speech, gave a tribute to the ministers and churches of the community.

The president reported that an out-of-town singer had made a proposition to put on a concert for the club with a $25 guarantee, splitting 50-50 with the club. After discussion, it was agreed to offer to sponsor the concert on a 50-50 basis without any definite guarantee.

Lion Boyd Meador, chairman, announced the meeting of the zone at McLean next Tuesday.

A FACULTY DINNER

The members of the faculty of the McLean schools enjoyed a six o'clock turkey dinner and social at the J. M. Noel home last Thursday evening.

City Council to Enforce Dog Ordinance

The city marshal was instructed to secure dog license tags and see that the provisions of the city ordinance regarding unlicensed dogs is strictly enforced, at the regular monthly meeting of the council held Friday. Under the provisions of the ordinance, dogs found without a license tag on their collars will be impounded, a feed charge taxed against them, and, failing redemption in a few days, will be killed.

The action of the council comes in response to complaints from various citizens of dogs running at large and ruining flower beds and gardens, and otherwise trespassing. The council registered 100% in attendance, all officials being present, and among other matters considered were the collection of delinquent taxes, the band director's salary, and a summer water rate. Action in all matters was deferred until the next meeting.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY

On Wednesday afternoon a party was given at the Ed D. Smith home in honor of Grace Smith's fifth birthday.

After several games were played and the gifts were presented, refreshments were served to the following: Billy and Marjorie Ruth Go-lightly, Billy and Joe Reeves, Minnie Bell Ayers, Wilma Sue West, Marie and Billy Eudy, Lonzo Henderson, Bobby Jean, Mozelle and Betty Lois Wilson, and Grace Smith.

OLD TIME SONG SERVICE

Pastor Cecil G. Goff of the First Baptist Church announces a service of "old time" songs at the evening hour next Sunday. The congregation has been asked to select old favorite songs that will be used in the service. There will be no regular sermon by the pastor, only a short address.

Supt. Boswell Expresses Appreciation

By G. C. Boswell
Since I have been elected for another year, it shall be my purpose to see that the schools are kept up to the best.

I wish to express my appreciation to the patrons, the children, the board and the janitors for their many acts of kindness, and had these all not worked for the general good of the schools, we could not have done the good that we have done. It is our purpose and aim to work for the good of the boys and girls, the town and surrounding country in the school work. We enjoy the good people of McLean, and our association with other schools in the county has been very pleasant. In fact, the schools of the county have been working as one big unit or family.

Now, we must give credit to the P. T. A., Lions Club, American Legion and Auxiliary, the C. of C., The McLean News, the business men, the telephone girls, the farmers—in fact to all who have had any part in the school work—for what has been done.

We ask that you continue to give us your hearty co-operation and we will do all that we can for the same good standards of work in each and all departments. I think that you can see that the small child has had the same good consideration as the senior in the high school. It has been our purpose to be a superintendent to all.

The schools are a great asset to any town. Let your schools slip and the whole town will begin to slip. You as citizens have worked faithfully for your schools. You have been loyal and kind. When you take an inventory of the teachers you will find that your teachers are of the highest type.

Mrs. Etna B. Clark entertained Mrs. S. A. Cousins and daughters, Misses Nona and Jewell, with a dinner at noon Sunday.

Mrs. Ken Rector and Mrs. Bill Wood visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, at Clarendon Friday.

McLean Lions Spelling Contest Here March 12

The annual spelling contest sponsored by the McLean Lions Club, in which a silver trophy is given the winner, will be held this year on Saturday, March 12, according to advice from Dr. A. A. Tampke, director of the event.

The contest is planned each year to establish friendly relations between schools and to encourage proper spelling among the students.

Following are the rules as furnished schools by Dr. Tampke:

Eligibility: The present interscholastic league rules will be used, except that scholarship requirements shall be eliminated.

Classification: a. Sub-junior—any pupil who was under 10 years of age Sept. 1, 1931. b. Junior—any pupil who was under 15 years of age Sept. 1, 1931. c. Senior—any pupil who was under 20 years of age Sept. 1, 1931. d. There shall be no separate classification of schools. All schools will compete for the same trophy.

Number of contestants: Each school will be permitted to enter four contestants in each class. Note: To be eligible for the cup each school must have two or more entrants in each class (not less than six pupils from each school.)

Sources: The words will be taken from the spelling book and lists prepared by the league and conducted as the present rules provide. You may write to Austin for rules and lists of words.

Deciding the winners: a. The highest total score of the six competitors of the same school will determine the winning team. b. The total scores of the two highest pupils of each class from the same school will only be recorded for competition. Note: If one school has four entrants in the sub-junior, only the two highest papers will be used. The same method will be used in finding the competing members in junior and senior divisions. c. The director of the contest shall use the same method as used in the interscholastic league contests with reference to pronouncing, time used, selection of columns of words to be used, and grading of papers.

Materials for contest: a. Each contestant shall be required to furnish theme paper, pencil or pen and ink. b. The director will instruct students before contest begins. c. In case of a tie, neatness of papers will be deciding factor.

Trophy: a. The Lions Club trophy will become the permanent property of the school that wins it three times. b. Appropriate awards will be offered teams winning first in each class. Also for high individuals.

Schools eligible: a. All schools within the McLean trade territory or those the director of the contest may invite. b. Any school may enter a team of two or more in any class, two, or all three classes and be eligible for individual honors, but a full team of six is required to win the cup.

A VALENTINE PARTY

Misses Bobbie Lynch, Pauline McCracken and Marie Landers gave a valentine party at the home of the latter Friday evening of last week. Games were played under the direction of Miss Madge Landers and Mrs. A. A. Tampke, and refreshments of punch and cookies were served. The rooms were decorated and the refreshments carried out the valentine idea.

Besides those mentioned, those present were: Misses Helen Boswell, Duella Mann, Juanita Carpenter, Bessie Mertel, Geraldine Bowen, Winifred Ayer, Nerine Smith; Messrs. Alzie Worthen, John McAllister, Charles Finley, Walter Charles Watkins, Arthur Ray Ledbetter, Lemuel West, Willburn Lynch, J. L. Mann, Elmer Phillips, C. W. Bogan and Cecil Jones.

Trustees Re-employ Boswell

Schools Make Fine Record Past Two Terms

Supt. G. C. Boswell was reemployed for next year's term of school by the trustees in a recent meeting.

Mr. Boswell has been superintendent of the McLean schools for the past two years and much progress has been made under his administration.

Following are some of the credits secured and things accomplished under Mr. Boswell's leadership the past two years:

Credits were secured in: Commercial law, commercial geography, community civics, public speaking and trigonometry.

The school won the district one-act play. Both high school and elementary schools won county meet. The home economics department has made a good showing, and the agricultural department has made a splendid showing, as also did the football team.

A study hall was made in the elementary school, without cost to the district; the grounds were improved and grass set out to some degree, without any cost to the district. The elementary school was provided with good record books, etc. Gas burners were put in the boiler, without any cost to the district, and the result is that on the same or less amount of gas, a steam pressure can be formed, which keeps the rooms warm.

Ministers go to both schools on Wednesday of each week. One of the best checking systems to be found anywhere has been worked out for the schools.

This year the school expects credits in home economics, science and salesmanship, and thrift is being encouraged.

HAHN-WATKINS WEDDING

Miss Ruby Hahn of Clarendon and Mr. Andrew Watkins of McLean were united in marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Liesberg at Clarendon, Thursday, Feb. 11, 1932, at 9 p. m., Eld. Hukel, pastor of the Church of Christ, officiating.

Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Miss Esterbel Hanning. The bride was attended by Miss Elizabeth Adams, as bride's maid, and Mr. Boyd Meador acted as best man.

The bride wore a beautiful pink crepe serene dress trimmed in cream lace, with a corsage of sweet peas and rose buds. The house was beautifully decorated in pink and white. The decorative color scheme was carried out in the refreshments.

After the ceremony the bride cut the large wedding cake, and sandwiches and coffee were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Hahn, parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Liesberg, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Stogner, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Carver, Mrs. J. D. Jeffries, Mrs. Fannie Robinson, Misses Esterbel Hanning and Julia Hahn, all of Clarendon; Miss Elizabeth Adams of Amarillo, Misses Rhoda Powell and Bobbie Lynch, Mrs. Robert Lynch and Boyd Meador of McLean.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for McLean, where they will make their home in the Boyett apartments, the groom being employed at the Meador Cafe.

This newspaper is anxious to be of service to everyone in the community, and articles are welcomed from any one who has any constructive message for our readers.

The telephone company serving Estelline is in trouble with the city council. A new franchise was granted a year ago and the council claims the company has not lived up to some of its provisions, so the franchise has been revoked.

There is only one way to economize and that is to spend less money. This should be remembered in talking to candidates this year. If we want lower taxes we must know how a candidate stands on economy issues.

Several readers have expressed appreciation of Miss Ruby Cook's letter of appreciation to The News last week. As a rule people take things for granted, and maybe that in itself is a compliment, but the editor is human and enjoys a bouquet occasionally to balance the brickbats.

McLean is fortunate to secure the services of Supt. Boswell to head the schools for another year. Mr. Boswell possesses the happy faculty of knowing how to get along with everyone, giving credit where credit is due, and not making an endeavor to claim everything for himself, which, after all, redounds to a man's credit.

When a public building is to be erected or a highway to be paved, we think at once of the need of employing home people, but when we think of buying printing, dry goods or anything else, we sometimes fail to see that trading with the home man is exactly the same principle. If we will be as helpful to help the home man in business so that he can pay his help, as we try to attract new enterprises and influence outside factors to employ home people, we will have learned the secret of getting along as a community.

Our Brisbane suggests that a disgrace for public and the army and navy courage boy and fighting that they are relying on. A 19-year-old school boy was recently in a public school boxing in California, a blow on the nose caused a hemorrhage. It was an accident. At the time a prizefighter died from prize ring injuries. We like to call our civilized, but many of the practices tolerated by our people smack of something entirely different.

The editor of The News took the matter of the West Texas chamber of commerce using government printed envelopes with the president as being inconsistent when the body is trying to help the bankers by keeping the postal savings increasing from being passed. The manager of the organization writes us a fine letter containing the following paragraph: "You are most assuredly correct in your position about the envelope business. Why this has never occurred to us is surely one on us, and we are going to put a stop to the use of these envelopes." Now if bankers would do the same thing, newspapers would feel much more like supporting the banks in their fight against government interference with private business.

It might surprise some of us could we know how the big shots in the big centers are scanning the home town newspapers today, mainly the advertising columns. They feel that they must know the faith and spirit of the community as well as other facts, before they make a decision in any town's favor. Local advertising tells the story of the progress and future of the town better than any other thing, and worth while enterprises are attracted only to those towns that have faith in their future. On the other hand, many "shoe-string" merchants are attracted to a town of non-advertisers, thinking to profit from the other fellow's lack of interest in his business. The glory of a good town is not the newspaper, it is what the community—advertisers as well as newsmakers—furnish the editor and the newspaper. Quality counts—not quantity!

The News editor has been asked if The News has ever had a chance to sell to a chain newspaper organization. No newspaper chain of any kind or place has ever made us an offer of any kind. And there is little danger of such an offer being made, as the chains, along with others, are losing money every day on their investments. A newspaper is like a bank, it cannot afford to seem to be going broke, but must carry on until the last issue. The paper owes an obligation to its community, and it cannot afford to sound a low note as long as it operates. We enjoy the confidence and personal friendship of chain newspaper executives in the Panhandle and know that they, along with the rest of us, are operating newspapers in these kind of times against long odds, doing their best to build for the future, trusting that a little profit may be made when times are better.

The New York Evening Post in commenting on the adoption by the House of Representatives of the so-called Rayburn Resolution calling for an investigation of the ownership and control of public utilities, says, among other things: "The moral of all this sort of thing is that it is dangerous to seek to organize, or render any useful service to the American public. You prosper at your peril." The idea seems to be gaining that no person or corporation should prosper; to do so is to court investigation and confiscation. Government interference in private business has never helped the people. Corporations are owned by stockholders and most of them have sold stock to many of their customers, and must not only deliver as nearly perfect service as possible at the lowest possible price, but must at the same time make a profit for their stockholders. The history of most corporations has been that as their earnings increase the price of their service to the public is correspondingly decreased. Competition is too keen to allow any firm to make more than a legitimate profit for long, even if they so desire.

MAKING THE FARM A MEAT FACTORY

By R. W. Synder, Extension Meat Specialist

Bill Smith said a choice, live hog weighing 250 pounds, for $12. His neighbor just across the road sold a litter mate weighing exactly the same for $22. In fact, he received almost twice as much for his pig. Mr. White sold his hog made up in hams, bacon, sausages, lard, and the choice loin was cut into chops and roasts. He produced from his 200 pound hog two cured hams weighing 22 pounds each, two cured bacon weighing nine pounds, and two shoulder butts weighing eight pounds each. The lower parts of the shoulders were ground into sausage with the other lean meat trimmings, making 20 pounds of sausage. The two choice 2 pound loins were sold as pork roasts and chops. All the fat was rendered, making 24 pounds of lard. Quality pigs fed a good ration, such as corn, grain sorghum, wheat, or barley, with some protein supplement as cotton seed meal and tankage in equal parts, will produce a quality of fresh and home cured meats that will be in demand, especially if properly handled when killed and cured. Many times more cured meat could have been sold at the Lubbock Meat Show than was available for sale.

To produce a high standard quality cured product, hogs should be killed on a clear, cold day. They should be allowed to hang over night to allow the meat to cool out well, thus making the carcass firm before cutting. The most attractive and best shaped hams, bacon, shoulders and loins can be cut by splitting the hog down the center of the backbone. The pieces to be cured should be trimmed free of all excessive fat and made to look very smooth.

The cure White used was the famous old sugar sure method. Eight pounds of salt, two pounds of sugar, and two ounces of salt peter was used for each 100 pounds of meat cured. The cure was mixed well and then one-half rubbed on the meat. For best keeping the meat was then packed in a barrel with the skin side down. In just a week the bacon was taken out, but the remaining meat was rubbed with the rest of the cure. In just 30 days from the time the hams were salted, they were taken out of the cure and soaked in water to remove the surface salt. These hams were cured just 2 1/2 days for each pound in the piece, as they weighed just 12 pounds.

Pecan wood was the handiest wood that Smith's neighbor had, so he used that to smoke his cured meat. His smokehouse was almost crack-proof so that flies and dirt could not get on the meat. For attractiveness the meat was almost perfect. It smelled most appetizing with a rich reddish-brown color.

Bill's neighbor proved to many of his near-by friends that it paid to sell his hogs as prepared meat rather than as live hogs.

"No other drink is so insidious as beer. It has been in Germany worse than the whiskey just because more apt to lead to immoderate drinking. Such horrors as a great modern joint stock brewer perpetrates are unrivaled in the underworld's history."—Prof. Gustav von Bunge, University of Basle

DIDN'T MAKE MISTAKE TWICE

An Englishman visiting a friend in Nevada suggested one morning shortly after his arrival that they take a stroll to a mountain visible from his friend's home.

With secret mirth his host agreed, but after walking several hours the Englishman was amazed to find the mountain apparently no nearer. Upon inquiring how far the mountain was from them, he was astonished to learn that it was still twenty-five miles away. His host then explained to him that the air in Nevada is so rare that distances are very deceptive.

Returning home by a different route they came to an irrigated field, and at the first ditch the Englishman sat down and, to his host's surprise, began to remove his shoes.

"What on earth are you doing?" he asked.

The Englishman, gravely contemplating the ditch, replied: "Why, I'm going to swim this bloomin' river!"

Hubby—"Everything I tell you goes."
Wife—"Is that so?"
Hubby—"Yes, it goes all over the neighborhood."

THE MIND OF GOD

By L. H. Shockley

The Bible contains the mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners, the happiness of believers.

It is the traveler's map, a pilgrim's staff, a pilot's compass, a soldier's sword, and a Christian's charter. Christ is its grand subject, our good its design, and the glory of God its end.

It contains food to support you, comfort to cheer you, light to direct you. Read it slowly, carefully and prayerfully. It is a mine of wealth, a paradise of glory, and a river of pleasure.

Its doctrines are holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true. Read it to be wise, believe it to be safe. It will guide the feet, rule the heart.

It is given you in life, will be open at the judgment, and be remembered forever. It contains the highest responsibility, rewards the greatest laborer, and condemns all who trifle with its holy contents.

Keep this tribute to the Bible.

Since a man's appearance goes a long way toward landing a job that will enable him to support himself and family, and recognizing, also, the fact that children will accomplish more in school if their hair is taken care of so as to not make them feel self-conscious, the barbers of Seward (Neb.), according to the Blade, have offered to cut hair free for the needy upon presentation of a notice from the Welfare Board.

BRITISH GEN. HITS WAR

Those who are opposed to disarmament, or are afraid of the fond of quoting the old Latin gas, "If you wish for peace, prepare for war." This paradox, like most of its kind, is true enough for certain nations and under certain conditions, but when applied to the world at large, it is nothing less than a fallacy, for, as all history shows, war-like preparations, apart from measures of a purely defensive character, are at least as likely to provoke war as to prevent it. —Sir William Robertson, Chief of the British Imperial General Staff during the World War, in the N. Y. Times, Oct. 1931.

That it must be a terrible jolt to turn, all of a sudden, from a college graduate to a mere guy looking for a job, is the impression of the Campbell (Neb.) Citizen.
