Jesse Dean Cobb Falls, Breaks Leg City Park Lions Wading Pool Under Construction

Funds Available for Work Furnishing Labor for Park Pool Project

The wading pool in the city park, which funds were provided by the Lions Club, is now in the process of construction. Work was started to begin Monday, but on account of the rain there was too much water in the excavation, so a number of men was put to work cutting down the earth in the park and work on the pool was begun Tuesday.

Labor is being furnished by the Grand Water Superintendent Pete Wright is in charge of construction. The completed pool will be 18x36 with a concrete walk all around it will be one foot deep at the top and two feet at the lower end, water six to eighteen inches. Waste water will be used for irrigation purposes at the park, so the expense of water may be kept to a minimum.

The project was begun early in the year by the Lions Club, with the object of having the pool completed for the season.

COBB MARRIES MISS TURNER AT WACO

On June 27—Miss Laurette Turbecame the bride of Ted Dulin before an improvised altar of flowers and palms at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dulin, at 2515 Colonial avenue, Friday evening with Dr. J. B. Tidwell officiating at the ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white crepe trimmed with white tulle, and carried a bridal bouquet of sweetheart buds and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Jewel Brown, her only attendant, wore a pink organdie with a lace bolero jacket and carried an armful of gladiolus.

Mr. Evans, Jr., of Fort Worth attended the bridegroom as best man. Mr. Cobb is the son of Rev. and Mrs. A. Cobb of McLean. He is a graduate of Baylor University and is now attending law at the University of Texas at Austin.

The ceremony, Mrs. Wilhelmina Barnes sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by her sister, Miss Vernice Turner, who also played the wedding march Wagner's bridal chorus. Mrs. Cobb was gowned in a French nude tulle, while Miss Turner wore a green dress of net.

The bride's parents were hosts to the reception for the bridal party at their home. Misses Mabel and Mildred Maddox presided at the punch table.

The couple left immediately for their honeymoon at the reception. They will make their home at the Marston apartments upon their return to Waco. Mrs. Cobb wore a blue crepe dress with white accents for her going away costume. See Daily News.

FORD GAS RATES RAISED

The gas company serving the city of McLean has announced that the rates for gas for the winter season will be raised to that applying to the plant was installed, giving the reason that it is not now receiving suitable returns from the city.

Hereford city council was expected to lower the rates to be lowered this winter and they intend to fight the increase in every possible way, according to a statement in the local news.

Rice was in Pampa Monday.

BIBLE SCHOOL NOW IN PROGRESS BAPTIST CH.

A daily vacation Bible school is in progress at the First Baptist Church with an enrollment Wednesday morning of 85 pupils and 15 teachers.

According to Pastor Cecil G. Goff, every child in the community between the ages of six and 16 is invited without cost of any kind.

Manual training for boys, cut-outs and other work for the smaller pupils, story telling and Bible study and other phases of work are stressed. Tools and materials are furnished free of charge for pupils use.

The school faculty follows: Messrs. James Geo. Colebank, Carl Carpenter, A. A. Tampke, J. A. Riddle, Bob Thomas, R. L. Appling, W. H. Floyd, W. D. Biggers, Murray Boston, T. A. Landers; Misses Naomi Hunt and Odessa Kunkel, Messrs. Reep Landers, A. A. Tampke and Cecil G. Goff.

RAIN CAUSES PAVING DELAY

The excessive rains of the past few weeks have delayed the paving of highway 66 at McLean; however, it is thought that the paving will begin some time next week, if present plans are carried out.

All the gravel, with the exception of 60 cars, has been placed, and up to two weeks ago the gravel was arriving at the rate of four cars per day, but only eight cars have arrived the past two weeks.

It is understood that the contractors are waiting until work at Lubbock is finished. The machinery will then immediately be moved here and they expect to top about a mile per day after getting started. Traffic will not be off the road long, as cars will be allowed on the pavement as soon as completed.

Misses Charlotte and Rosalie Cousins returned to their home at Amarillo Wednesday after an extended visit with relatives here.

Mrs. A. B. Pinnell and children of Dalhart are visiting their brother and uncle, Ralph Caldwell, this week.

H. B. Hill of Shamrock, candidate for state representative, was in McLean Wednesday.

PAMPA TO COLLECT BACK TAXES

The city of Pampa has instructed their attorney to start foreclosure proceedings thirty days after notices have been mailed to delinquent city taxpayers.

Delinquent city taxes in Pampa total $59,411.95, of which $32,425.05 remained unpaid from last year. All unpaid taxes are drawing a 10% penalty and interest on the amount and penalty. The interest will be 3% for the month of July, with an increase of 1/4% each month.

Miss Elizabeth Wilkerson visited in Amarillo last week end.

Jobe Abbott of Lefors visited in McLean Sunday.

TWO FIRES SATURDAY

Fire destroyed the house and furniture belonging to W. P. Woodward, in the northwest part of town Saturday. The alarm was turned in properly, but the truck made the run to gather up the firemen without knowing just whose property was burning, and had to run back to the station to get directions. The house and furniture was reported a total loss.

Saturday evening, defective wiring caused a small fire at the old Ford garage on First street, that was put out before any material damage was done.

Miss Helen Hugos returned to her home at Enid, Okla., Sunday after a visit with friends here.

Lions to Help on Highway 66 Right-of-Way

A committee consisting of Boyd Meador, T. A. Landers and W. E. Bogan was appointed at the Lions Club Tuesday to assist the chamber of commerce in hastening action on securing right-of-way through Gray county for highway 66, from Jericho to the Carson county line.

It was pointed out that tourists are complaining of the condition of this part of the route, and the State Highway Commission has offered to put up grade and drainage and pave this part, if the county will furnish the right-of-way.

Lion Cook, president of the chamber of commerce, promised an early session of the C. of C. to consider ways and means of hastening action in this matter.

A letter from President-elect G. C. Boswell expressing appreciation for the honor conferred upon him was read to the club, and it was voted to postpone the annual picnic until Lion Boswell returns. However, it was voted to install the newly elected officers next Tuesday.

A petition was presented by Retiring Tall Twister Cook, signed by "every member of the club," asking that the election of tall twister be reconsidered, but in the absence of Lion Davis, T. T. elect, no action was taken.

Attention was called to those Lions who are candidates for office, asking for support, and such actions were ruled unethical. It is improper for the club to sanction any man's candidacy as a club, and the club should not be appealed to for support by anyone.

Retiring President Claude Williams made a speech of appreciation of the co-operation afforded him by the club the past year. President Williams also thanked the Pampa club for their co-operation the past year.

The club gave Lion Williams a vote of thanks for his efforts in the club's behalf during his term of office.

Rev. Cecil G. Goff, pastor of the First Baptist Church, announced the opening of the daily vacation Bible school Tuesday morning, with 73 pupils enrolled, and 15 members of the faculty. He asked the Lions to meet at 11:45 next Tuesday and see the classes at work.

Geo. Thut of Lefors, County Agent, Ralph R. Thomas and Mr. Robertson of Pampa, and T. J. Coffey were presented as visitors.

WOLFE FOR JUDGE

The News is authorized to carry the name of Philip Wolfe as a candidate for county judge, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

Judge Wolfe is 44 years old, born in Van Zandt county and raised in Palo Pinto county. He received his law degree from Cumberland University in Tennessee, has had 24 years of commercial and legal experience that fully qualifies him for the position sought.

Judge Wolfe says: "I do not think that any man should be so big that the law cannot reach him, nor do I believe that any man should be so low that the lowest whisper of justice cannot reach him. I am over 21 years old; I know right from wrong, and I promise, if favored by election, to do right by all people."

Judge Wolfe's candidacy is endorsed by many prominent people of Gray county, and The News is glad to commend his claims to the voters at the primary.

Judge Wolfe will speak to the voters of McLean at 3:30 next Saturday on the vacant lot near the City Motor Co., taking as a subject "The Live Issue of the Day." Everyone is invited to hear him, with women and children especially invited.

Eld. and Mrs. Flavil Yeakley visited in Shamrock Sunday.

Miss Nerine Smith is visiting in Lella Lake this week.

Boy Touches Live Wire and Falls

Was Retrieving Tennis Ball from Roof of Building

Jesse Dean Cobb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse J. Cobb, owners of Cobb's 5c to $1.00 Store, suffered a broken leg in falling from the roof of the Harris King garage yesterday afternoon.

Jesse Dean had climbed to the roof to retrieve a tennis ball that had lodged there after a play, and in starting to climb down a sewer vent pipe, he accidentally touched an electric wire, shocking him so that he lost hold and fell a distance of about 12 feet, breaking his right leg near the hip.

The injured boy was rushed to a doctor's office, and an x-ray picture revealed a clean break. An hour's wait was occasioned by a hurried trip to Shamrock for a splint, but the patient came from under the ether in fine shape and was reported resting well this morning.

No one is particularly to blame for the accident, as the combination of an iron pipe and an electric contact would cause a shock that would surprise anyone into dodging enough to lose hold, and the fall could have easily been of more serious consequences.

The doctor says that, barring unforeseen complications, the boy should show steady improvement from now on.

RICE FOR JUDGE

The News is authorized to carry the name of C. S. Rice as a candidate for county judge, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

Judge Rice has been justice of the peace at McLean for eight years, and was mayor of the town for four terms.

Judge Rice has been complimented by county officials for having the best justice of the peace reports ever turned in. His reports to the commissioners and grand jury as required by law have been perfectly made each time.

Judge Rice says that he will give his whole time to the office, if favored with election, and will see that all duties of the county judge are properly performed. His long record as mayor and J. P. fully qualifies him for the duties of the office, and he will appreciate any vote or influence in his behalf.

The News is glad to present his claims to the voters of Gray county and bespeak careful consideration at the polls.

LOAN CLOSET ORGANIZED

Reported. A committee of ladies of the different churches of McLean met in the home of Mrs. Evan Sitter Wednesday morning for the purpose of organizing a loan closet.

A loan closet consists of sheets, pillow cases, towels, night shirts, night gown, layettes, etc., to be used in case of sickness. These articles are to be loaned only in homes where a doctor cannot get the necessary equipment for keeping the patient sanitary.

Miss Antoinette Ahlschier acted as chairman at the meeting; Mrs. C. A. Strandberg was elected president, and Mrs. Pete Fulbright secretary.

The ladies present heartily endorsed this plan, and each one wishes the co-operation of every church member in town in this work.

Master Orman Harlan of White Deer is visiting relatives here this week.

CHILDHOOD AND EDUCATION OF MOSES
Exodus 2:1-10

By Rev. Cecil G. Goff

In the close of last quarter's work the children of Israel were happily settled in Goshen, one of the most fertile portions of the entire land of Egypt. But as we come to today's lesson we see another picture. Years had passed. Joseph and his generation had long since died. And as the years passed the children of Israel had multiplied until the Egyptians became afraid of them. There was danger that they might form an army and overthrow the Egyptian government. Such a possible danger was not to be played with by the Egyptian kings.

In order that the danger might be overcome, extra labor was placed upon the children of Israel. But with added labor they increased. Pharaoh continued his method of reducing the Israelites and placed upon them extra heavy labor. He reduced them to makers of brick and drove them as slaves in the building of his royal cities, Pithom and Raameses. Still God caused His people to multiply. His next move was to have all of the male Hebrew babies killed at birth. He first turned this matter over to some of the Hebrew people, and of course it was not a success. But later he made it a matter for the Egyptians to enforce. Then the Hebrew baby boys were killed.

There were many of the children escaped, no doubt—God saw to that. But the time was ripe for God to keep His promise made to Jacob as he went into Egypt. The Hebrew children were probably two million strong. They were ready to be delivered and moulded into a great nation. God, through the years of growth and trial, had been mindful of his people. They no doubt failed to see His divine guidance, nevertheless, it was the thing uppermost in His mind, just as is His guidance for His children today.

The time had come to take His people out of Egypt, and He needed a leader.

v. 1, 2. God directed a man of the house of Levi to marry a woman of the same tribe. Their son was to be that leader. The parents probably knew nothing of God's plans. But they were not willing to part with their boy, and hid him for three months.

v. 3. When it was no longer possible to hide the child, the mother took the stalks and blades of bulrushes, a large grass with a heavy stalk, and made a small ark. This she covered with slime and pitch, a sort of oily asphalt, much of which is found in Egypt today; and placed young Moses in it. She then set it to float on the lazy waters at the edge of the river among the bulrushes.

v. 4. No doubt each night and morning, and possibly more often, the mother would go to feed the child. In the meantime his sister was placed to watch. Her business was to see that the ark did not float out of the grass in the current of the river, and to see that no one found the hiding place.

v. 5, 6. One day the daughter of Pharaoh passed by that way seeking a convenient place to bathe. She was close to the water's edge and saw the ark. One of her maids brought it. The baby was crying and the king's daughter had pity on him. She knew it was a Hebrew baby, but that did not seem to bother her. God was taking care of that baby.

v. 7, 8. The sister was near. Possibly she was frightened, but God sent her to the company. The destiny of her little brother seemed to be in her hands. She asked if the king's daughter wanted a Hebrew woman to care for the child. Why a Hebrew woman? She had maids sufficient and could as well use an Egyptian. But the plan seemed pleasing, and she gave her consent. The sister, who was probably Miriam, ran for her mother. She was commanded to take the child and nurse it, for which she was paid wages.

v. 9. God caused the child to grow. But it was not for his parents to rear him. Pharaoh's daughter had found him in the water and saved him. Therefore, when the child was probably about five or six he was taken into the custody of Pharaoh's daughter.

God's purpose for Moses was one of high and mighty dealings, one wherein he must deal with the king of Egypt. Therefore, God placed the child where he would receive the very best of training from every standpoint for his future work. The training in the royal house did not include the religious training, of course. God later handled that Himself.

With everybody talking tax reduction and the number ever increasing who are hanging on to public jobs, the Morrill (Kan.) News wonders how it can be done.

NEED BETTER ADVERTISING

As banks find it increasingly necessary to keep their assets highly liquid, in just such proportion do merchants find it increasingly difficult to make operating loans of the banks.

Economic students will tell you two things: (1) Merchants must have money to operate. (2) There are many more millions of dollars in bureau drawers, socks and safety deposit boxes than ever before in the history of this country.

Merchants are therefore faced with the necessity of getting their operating money from these hoarded funds.

Hoarded money can only be secured by the merchant through the offering of his merchandise in such fashion that possession becomes more important to the person with money than the money itself. In order to accomplish any appreciable results, the merchant must not only be sure of his commodities' acceptability, but he must present these commodities more attractively and forcibly than ever before.

To attract sufficient attention to his commodities his advertising copy must not only be more deftly constructed than heretofore, but it must find its way into the hands and hearts of a greater number of people. —John D. Wise, in the Columbia (S. D.) Record.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

Does advertising pay? No, says the man who sticks his ad in some time-table or directory and expects people to walk around, look it up, and by seeing his name break their necks to get to his store. The man who wants to get results out of advertising places his message in the home paper that goes to the homes of the prospective customers and the readers appreciate the paper enough to pay to get it. A real concrete example as to whether newspaper advertising pays or not was shown in the strike of printers in New York City when the newspapers came out without any advertisements. During that time business in the department stores fell off 50%. A wedding announcement stuck up on a fence or a billboard might be read by a few, but the same announcement in the local paper would be read by every subscriber. Don't put your light under a bushel, says the Scriptures that are printed for people to read.—Loveland (Ohio) Herald.

MUST GIVE SERVICE

"A newspaper is in a more difficult position than any other business when there is a widespread depression," J. W. Kayser, editor of the Chickasha Star, said recently in an editorial, which was reprinted in the Maysville News. "It can curtail its cost only by curtailing its service to the public, and the moment it starts to do that it is inviting disaster. A newspaper is built upon service. It holds its place in the confidence and affection of the public because of the day in and day out service which it gives. It must give this service whether it gives it at a profit or a loss."—Sooner State Press.

Sign in a bathroom in a local boarding house: "Please Clean Tub After Bathing Landlady."—Lehigh Burr.

"You can't advertise today and quit tomorrow; you're not talking to a mass meeting—you are talking to a parade."—Bruce Barton.

Mike Perry visited in Wichita Falls last Wednesday.

NEWSPAPER SUBSCRIPTION PRICE

For the subscriber, the difference between a newspaper at $2.00 a year or at $1.50 a year, is less than one cent a week. In the course of a year it means to him only the cost of five ten-cent cigars.

To the publisher of a weekly newspaper with 1,000 circulation the difference between a $2.00 subscription price or a $1.50 price means $500 a year. That $500 may very well mean the difference between a newspaper or no newspaper; the difference between a profitable business or an unprofitable business; the difference between a comfortable living for the publisher and his family or a mere existence.

In 1914 the general price of country weekly newspapers was $1.50 a year. At that time the country publisher was buying newsprint for about three cents a pound in ton lots. Today he is paying from four to five cents a pound. At that time he was paying one cent a pound flat for postage. Today he pays one and one-half on the reading matter content of his paper and zone rates on the advertising. At that time he was paying $12 to $20 a week for printers. Today he pays anywhere from $30 to $40 for printers. There are but few items that enter into the production of a newspaper that do not cost anywhere from 25 to 100% more now than the same items cost in 1914.

Country newspaper subscription prices have not been increased in anything like the proportion that newspaper production costs have increased. The greatest bargain the public is offered today is the home-owned weekly newspaper, and no subscriber who really wants the paper is going to stop his subscription because he must pay four cents instead of three cents a week for it. He is not that anxious to save one cent a week.

The people of any community wish that community to be represented by a good newspaper. The people want a good newspaper more than they want the difference between four and three cents a week. To quote a report of the National Editorial Association: "The people have demonstrated that they will more willingly pay a full price for full value than a partial price for partial value."—Publishers' Auxiliary, Chicago, Illinois.

Reduce the Acid

SICK stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia; one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. For 50 years the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours. Get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia; the kind physicians have prescribed for 50 years.

TO THE LOCAL SUCKER

One amusing observation easily made in any community is the way men fall for schemes.

Take advertising. Some business men, while they ignore the well established local paper, bite for any dangling bait that puts the promise of their names in print.

Mug-books, that print men's pictures and biographies—programs, that are charity—directories, that are never consulted—coupon books, that tempt with profits—all in the name of advertising.

Only when local business men have first exhausted legitimate advertising media are they justified in pitching dollars into the sea.

RAIL TRANSPORTATION IS EFFICIENT AND ECONOMICAL

● THE RAILROAD is the most efficient and the most economical transportation agency the human mind has ever devised.

The ability of commercial trucks to operate with various charges for their services has been because they are not required to carry all kinds and classes of freight. The truck can choose its freight and is privileged to reject that which it cannot handle, either because it is not equipped for such heavy service or the rates are too low to be profitable. The railroad CANNOT DISCRIMINATE but must accept all freight offered it.

In 1930 the shippers of Texas paid the railroads $225,223,142 in freight charges. If the same volume and character of traffic had been carried by trucks it would have cost the shippers, according to the best available data on trucking costs, $900,000,000, or four times as much.

What will be the effect on the shippers of Texas if only the traffic which the trucks cannot handle is left to the railroads? If traffic paying the higher rate is taken from the railroads by the trucks, it will be necessary for the rail carriers to increase their rates on the low grade traffic or go out of business. The total transportation bill will be greatly increased.

The railroad rate structure is a composite designed for the purpose of enabling the free movement of ALL ARTICLES OF COMMERCE, making it possible to bring even the cheapest commodities into general use and distribution. Were it not for the low rates made available by the railroads on many low grade commodities and raw materials, their distribution and use would be impossible and all commerce and industry would be seriously affected.

● THE RAILROADS CANNOT SUBSIST ON LOW GRADE TRAFFIC ALONE.

Advertising Life of Trade

Recently, when it comes to advertising, the president of the Advertising Federation of America may be asked upon to know what he is all about. That is why the figures drawn from a study of 17-year records of 120 corporations, should bear some weight.

His conclusions should be a revelation to those who are dependent upon advertising for public relations.

Of these 120 corporations an increase in their advertising expenditures, in spite of depression, at 16% over the previous year. As 17 years ago, many of these corporations were small, today all are among the foremost business concerns of America, with net assets of $100 million what they were in 1915, their combined net profit three times as great.

Other 60 corporations present a different picture. These failed to carry on their advertising programs, pursued an erratic course, advertising heavily when times were good but reducing their appropriations when business fell off. Though one of these 60 latter companies was an important national corporation in 1915, today more than half of them have lost their position of importance and many of them have gone out of business.

The moral should be plain. To the tale, three noted incidents of this kind, occurring some years ago might be recalled. James Pearlman, S. Jacob's Oil and were once three widely known corporations, with enormous production. Every man, woman and child in the country was familiar with their names.

For different reasons, their advertising appropriations were cut enormously reduced. The first business died and their products no longer manufactured, a few bars of the latter are now and then—Louisville (Ky.) Journal.

YOUNG FLOOD HERE SUNDAY

Sunday morning found this community drenched with water from one of the heaviest rains ever seen here. Amazing many crops and washing out in many fields.

Leaher Perry reports a worse flood than in 1915, the previous record, when the water was 13 inches in his house. The house had since been raised 22 inches and yet Sunday's storm raised the water to 19 inches deep on the floor. The draw was filled with water about 100 feet across, and a wagon bed was washed from the barn to the highway dump, a half mile away. The water raised to its maximum depth in the house in about ten minutes and covered the floor for about an hour.

Other sections report hard rains. The T. C. Landers farm was damaged by washing down about two-thirds of a vineyard near the orchard, damaging fences and sanding down the windmill.

Many crops are being planted over on account of the rain.

WINDOW DISPLAYING

A Childress merchant told the Index man a few days ago that he was doing no advertising now except window display. But evidently that merchant had not stopped to consider the fact that "window display" is only one of the numerous methods of advertising. What effect would a gorgeously displayed window have on a man living even a mile out in the country if he were driving to some other town to do his trading, because some live merchant in that "some town" had sent a "silent salesman" into that man's home? You can't sell a man your goods unless you can get him to town, and the best way to get him to town is to show him that our business men are making it worth while to come here to do his trading. After you get him here your display window might be all right, provided it happened to pass it, but if you are depending wholly on your window, the probabilities are he doesn't even know you are here—Childress Index.

FRYERS PROFITABLE

C. R. Smith, farmer near Levelland in Hockley county, sold 1,000 frying-size chickens this spring to a cafe at 25c each. Mr. Smith reports a fair margin of profit even at this low price, as the chickens were raised on cheap home grown feed. Mr. Smith keeps a record of his farming operations and states that eggs at the present low prices are sold at a profit.

CITY OFFICIALS AT LUBBOCK

City Secretary W. E. Bogan and Mayor D. N. Massay attended the West Texas chamber of commerce district convention at Lubbock Monday, where they heard the budget system of taxation discussed.

President Wilbur C. Hawk of Amarillo presided, and stated that tax relief for this year should have been started some ten years ago when bonds and warrants were being floated, as there is no way now to reduce such expenses.

Mr. Hawk advocated the consolidation of counties, saying that there are 34 officials to each county, and many counties have less than 1,000 inhabitants, yet must have the same number of paid officials as the counties having many thousands.

The state will furnish budget blanks to all county and city governments in the near future for budgeting purposes.

TERRACING POPULAR

Much land in Hemohill county has been terraced during the last two years. Farmers report that on terraced and last year the yield of cotton was increased by one-fourth bale per acre, grain sorghums seven bushels, corn five bushels, and wheat eight bushels. This increase in production more than paid the cost of terracing the first season.

One way to insure advertising being read, according to the Tonkawa (Okla.) News, is to put those things into an advertisement that people care to read. Tell of the good features of the merchandise in such a way that there will be something interesting in the advertisement beyond the mere name of the article and the price at which it is being offered for sale. It is possible to make an advertisement as interesting as any news item.

The strong man, gleaming knife in hand, gazed at the smooth, white body in the water. "I cannot do it," he groaned. "It is not man's work." Tears streamed from his eyes. The woman, with a look of utter scorn, seized the knife—and finished peeling the onion!

It's paradoxical to the Garnett (Kan.) Review why the very man who objects to his name appearing in a police court story because the widespread publicity might damage his business, refuses to advertise because he says it doesn't pay.

S. S. CLASS ENJOYS CHICKEN FRY

The Faithful Workers class of the First Baptist Sunday school together with a number of friends, enjoyed a chicken fry at the C. E. Hunt farm last Thursday evening.

Mrs. R. L. Appling is teacher of the class, and the occasion was one of the regular social affairs sponsored by the class.

Among those present were: Rev. C. E. Hunt and family, Jesse J. Cobb and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Landers, Misses Elizabeth Wilkerson, Oleta Holloway, Faye Bible, Madge Landers, Mary Belle Davidson; Mrs. Hall, Messrs. Bob and Buster Stokes.

IT BENEFITS CONSUMER

Talking without any knowledge whatever of his subject, a gentleman remarked a few days ago over his java, "If it were not for the immense sums spent by the automobile builders for advertising, a good car could be bought for about half what they now sell for." Here's the low down on the matter, son: Without advertising, there is no car on the market but what would have to be sold for around $1,500 to afford a very small profit. Without advertising, breakfast foods would be sold for double what is now asked for them. Without advertising, nearly every item one can mention would be much more expensive than it is under the stimulant which produces a volume warranting a low price. And the beauty of the whole thing is that advertising is the one item which is not paid for by the consumer—the one item in merchandising expense by which he positively benefits.—Fred D. Howard, in the Clay County (Neb.) Star.

Relax—"I hear that Smith makes his wife's life miserable." Reflex—"Beat her, does he?" Relax—"No, just refuses to argue with her."

Visitor—"We're getting up a raffle for a poor old man. Won't you buy a ticket, my dear?" Sweet Thing—"Mercy, no! What would I do with him if I won him?"

Fortune Teller—"The stars tonight tell me you have had trouble with your mother-in-law."

Mr. Meekman—"The stars I saw last night told me the same thing."

GOVERNMENT PRINTED ENVELOPES BANNED

Of interest to Texas printers and newspaper men is the announcement from H. M. Harrison, general manager of the East Texas chamber of commerce, that his organization will hereafter be furnished with its entire envelope supply by Texas printing offices and that the use of government printed envelopes has been banned.

This decision of such an important organization should be considered by all fair-minded organizations and business men who use printed envelopes in large quantities. Many of these same men and organizations urge the trade-at-home movement, and insist that local newspapers preach the doctrine through their columns, but when attention is called to their inconsistency, never bat an eye, but continue their practice of encouraging the government to stay in the competitive commercial business against the local printers.—Sate Line Tribune.

Fred Howard, in his Clay Center (Neb.) Sun, opines that printers like nothing better than a kick in the pants. They sweat their collars down working to protect their fellow merchants or officials from the unfair competition of peddlers, and then swallow their chagrin, or whatever it is that printers swallow, when they discover that the people they have fought for have themselves been buying of printing peddlers.

This is a hard boiled year for novelty in advertising. Polite copy has been given the bum's rush. It is a year for "more for the money" in advertising, which backs up our often repeated statement that the only purpose of advertising is to sell the product.

Sixteen railroad employees in Russia are held responsible for a train wreck killing scores of passengers. A depot agent and others are accused of being drunk and mixing signals, causing the fatal crash. It has been a great many years since anyone read of such a cause for a train wreck in this country.

Our readers should keep in mind that a paper can only be good in relation to its income, and, other things being equal, should patronize those merchants and organizations who, through their advertising in the home paper, are not only helping to develop the community but are making it possible to have a better community paper. A little thoughtfulness along these lines will make business better for all concerned.

Our country is operating under the highest tax bill ever levied in time of peace upon any people. The wild scramble for spending money has hit every department of our government from local to national, the past few years, and now we must pay for it in times when the dollar is worth much less than when we contracted the debts. The only kind of budget that is worth anything is the cash budget, and this goes for governmental expenses the same as individuals.

With the law allowing utility companies to make a certain profit, there seems to be little chance for the Railroad Commission to secure lowered rates, or to keep some companies from raising rates. Every time a company is sued or molested in any way that costs them money, the costs are deducted from the earnings and figured in arriving at profits. There is no more reason why profits should be guaranteed for these companies than to guarantee that grocers or printers should make a profit. If the government will get out of all kinds of business, we will be much better off.

American motorists are still some way from the 32 cents per gallon gasoline tax that obtains in Germany, but with the national government joining the states in taxing gasoline, we may expect counties and cities to follow suit.

Automobiles were at one time classed as a luxury, and there was some excuse for taxing everything connected with them but they have since become so wrapped up in our commercial and social life that they may be considered to a large extent necessities. There has never been a going back to inconvenient living, and there must be some way found to continue with modern conveniences without taxing them out of existence.

"How is it that that wizard dentist at the circus side-show can pull teeth so painlessly?"
"A brass band blares out loudly at the dentist's signal so that the audience cannot hear the victim when he hollers."

If a man is right, all the bombardment of the world for five, ten, twenty, forty years will only strengthen him in his position. So that all you have to do is keep yourself right. Never mind the world.—Talmage.

Red Cross Nurse Makes Final Report to Chapter

Miss Antoinette Ahlschier, Red Cross nurse, made a final report of the year's nursing service to the local chapter, in session Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Ahlschier stated that a great improvement has been made since last year, many people becoming health minded. A large share of the good work was attributed to the publicity given the work by The McLean News, the nurse saying that no work is worth much without the proper publicity.

President Reuben R. R. Cook reported some 50 barrels of Red Cross flour distributed to McLean cases through the community chest, and said that as much more would be requisitioned.

Following is Miss Ahlschier's report: "The Delano itinerant nursing service which has been functioning for the past ten weeks in McLean and the surrounding trade territory has the following report to render:

"Three hundred thirty-one pupils were examined by local physicians and dentist, assisted by volunteer workers and the nurse. 304 were found to have one or more defects. The following schools had this work: Head, 39 pupils and 5 pre-school; Liberty, 11 pupils and 3 pre-school; Skillet, 17 pupils and 2 pre-school; Alanreed, 66 pupils. These were the pupils from the second through the seventh grade as the state nurse held the summer round-up, and also the pupils in the first grade. McLean high school, 28; elementary grades, 108. Those who were not examined last year in the McLean schools, and the first grades had this work in this service. 151 individual conferences were held with high school pupils.

"One hundred seventeen home visits were made, which included 24 at the Back community, 42 at Alanreed, and visits made in McLean.

"A home hygiene class was completed after 19 class periods, two hours each, for which seven women received certificates. We hope to have a loan closet which will be sponsored by the Federated Church Council.

"An application for the admittance of an incipient tubercular case has been sent to the state sanitarium through the county judge. We are awaiting the notice when he may be admitted.

"The following defects were found in 304 pupils, including pre-school children, of the schools mentioned above: 189 pupils and 13 pre-school needed dental care. Of the defects with which we have to deal, none are so frequent, so significant in their origin, and so possible of prevention as those of the teeth. By recently developed methods, practically all of the permanent teeth can be saved, and the dental defects of this set to a large degree eliminated. It has long been known that dental decay in both first and second sets begins in fault of development—in pits and fissures of the enamel. Dental decay can be further reduced at school age by the development of right habits of feeding.

"Eyes defective—58 had defective vision, while 35 had defective eyelids, which in many cases is indicative of eye strain. 16 had defective hearing, 38 need to have ear wax removed, while 4 had discharging ears. Many ear troubles are traceable to measles, scarlet fever, flu and colds; also defective throats. 217 had defective throats and noses, 7 with defective hearts which may be caused by defective throats, malnutrition, after effects of communicable diseases; 8 with defective skin, 178 with enlarged lymph nodes which may be caused by carious teeth, diseased tonsils, poor nutrition, etc.; 3 with orthopedic defects, 104 with defective posture. While we found many defects, yet we see the results of health work. After the first service, 134 had one or more defects corrected. In this month, including three at Alanreed, nine children have had their tonsils removed and one pair of glasses have been fitted.

"No man ever stands so tall or so straight as when he stoops to help a child."

ROBERT MATHIS ON HONOR ROLL

Waco, June 2.—Robert B. Mathis of McLean, who received his A. B. degree from Baylor University, June 1, also won a place on the honor roll of the university for the spring quarter. RIGHT OF CHILDREN

William J. Scholes, normal eyes seem to be the result of a careful examination of school children. One Eastern city showed a little over 7% had defective eyes. In many instances, the defect was so slight as to be unnoticeable.

Henry, director of the Conservation Council, says that 483,154 school children in the United States have defective eyes. This includes 21.9%. This includes defective eyes and those who are nearsighted.

Proper care of the eyes during childhood would mean better vision during adult life, and in old age eye troubles appear during old age are caused by neglect or errors of vision cannot be corrected by any exertion on the part of the muscles. They cause poor eyesight of this kind obviously seen in order to see.

Get Proper Glasses
Eye troubles can often be overcome by the exertion of effort on the part of the eye muscles. These are the muscles which headache and disturbances due to eye strain are likely to occur. Symptoms of eye strain indicate that the defect, slight, requires correction by properly fitted glasses.

of vision requiring glasses correction may be present if the eyes are irritated, discharge, are red or tend to develop sties.

Glares from Babies' Eyes
The eyes of babies and children should be shielded from excessive light from injurious lights. When the child begins to read, the light should come from the left side.

The child should not be permitted to read, print or highly colored paper. They should be taught to strain the eyes by holding papers in bad position, as attempting to read in bed. As the child requires much more visual in the child than in the adult, the amount should be greatly limited in amount. Parents and teachers usually have the best opportunity of detecting defective vision in early childhood. They are also in the best position to teach the child to avoid over use of the eyes.

THE CARELESS SMOKER

A man in Perryton was at the point of death Monday as the result of a bystander lighting a cigarette while the victim was having his gasoline tank filled at a service station. The carelessly thrown match ignited the gasoline and the explosion probably resulted in the death of the owner of the car; if not death, then burns that will handicap him through life.

We are all more or less careless about having our car filled at the filling stations. Every day we see men standing near the service-man smoking while he fills the tank with an explosive that is 85 times as powerful as dynamite, according to explosive experts. Many motorists leave their motors running while getting gasoline. The service man knows better, but in some cases will take a chance with his life and the life of his customer before asking him to stop his motor.

A careless match or a lighted cigarette may become suddenly a monster of death if thrown at the right place at the wrong time. Let's be careful.—Estelene News.

The Tonkawa (Okla.) News has noticed that in every community there is a man who, if he lived up to his possibilities, would be an outstanding representative of his trade or profession. Instead, he throws his opportunity away and lives an average or mediocre life. Perhaps this is nature's plan of evening things up, of giving the plodder and the plunger a chance.

Hints for the Household

By Betty Webster

LATE SUMMER HINTS

Bee Bites

When you go berry picking, you're apt to get stung by a bee or a wasp. In that case mud or common earth and water is the best thing to put on the sore spot, and should be put on immediately. Some folks carry water with them for just such an emergency. They simply mix the dirt and water until it becomes like a thick paste—then apply it.

To Rid Room of Mosquitos

Leave a bottle of penny-royal un-corked in a room at night. In the morning there will not be a mosquito to be found.

For Stings of Insects

Apply spirits of ammonia to stings of insects or bites of mosquitos to take the poison out.

COOKING HINTS

Pressed Chicken

1 chicken.
2 tablespoons gelatine.
Some chicken broth.
Seasonings.
3 hard boiled eggs.
Method: Boil chicken until tender. Pick from bones and cut or chop fine. Dissolve gelatine in hot chicken broth. When it cools add chicken and egg. Put in a fruit mold. This looks pretty when served with tomatoes or tomato jelly.

Berry Parfait—Minus Ice Cream

Soft custard.
Berries.
Powdered sugar.
Whipped cream.
Method: Put down layer of soft custard. Then layer of raspberries, loganberries or blackberries. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. Top with sweetened whipped cream. Trim with berries. Chill. Serve cold.

Of course, ice cream is always good fixed this way, in place of the custard.

BAKING HINTS

Raspberry or Blackberry Shortcake

Berry short cakes make such delicious desserts for the summer time. They give balance to an otherwise light meal. By remembering a few simple things they are very easy to make. These are:

Have oven hot.
Allow about 20 minutes to cook.
Mix dry ingredients ahead of time if desired.
Add milk just before baking.

Short Cake Recipe

2 cups flour.
2 tablespoons shortening.
1 tablespoon sugar.
Little salt.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
Milk enough to either shape or drop dough.
Serve warm.
Split short cake. Butter. Pour berries which have been slightly mashed and sweetened over the short cake.

MUCH TOO MUCH

By L. H. Shockley

Too much oats, too much wheat, too much corn, too much heat, too much cotton, too much oil, too many hours that we don't toll, too many highways, too many cars, too many people behind the bars, too much poverty, too much wealth, too many people in ill health, too many politics, too much booze, too many wearing high heeled shoes, too many loafing, too many bets, too many falling to pay their debts, too many spending their dough on...

Too much taking of European sass, too many living beyond their means, too many buying canned corn and beans, too many sowing their crop of wild oats, too many candidates after our votes, too many having their washing done, too many playing bridge for fun, too many people looking for Uncle Sam, too many people don't give a h damn, too much ball, too much play, too many poets, too much prose, too many politicians on big pay, too much taxes, too much spent, too many folks spend every cent, too much fun, too much ease, too many rips in my B. V. D's, too much reform, too much law, it's the awfulest mess you ever saw.

Aches and PAINS

When you take Bayer Aspirin you are sure of two things. It's sure relief, and it's harmless. Those tablets with the Bayer cross do not hurt the heart. Take them whenever you suffer from:

Headaches	Neuralgia
Rheumatism	Lumbago
Neuritis	Toothache

When your head aches—from any cause—when a cold has settled in your joints, or you feel those deep-down pains of rheumatism, sciatica, or lumbago, take Bayer Aspirin and get real relief. If the package says Bayer, it's genuine. And genuine Bayer Aspirin is safe.

Aspirin is the trade-mark of Bayer manufacture of monoacetic acid ester of salicylic acid.

THE COMMUNITY MIRROR

A town or community may be able to cover up evidence of its decay and backwardness to all local appearances, but there is one thing that will let the cat out of the bag in spite of everything that can be done about it. The newspaper is the mirror of the community, and if the town is dead, its gaunt, grinning skeleton will stare out at you from every column from the banner headline on the front page to the last "filler," says the Texas Commercial News.

That does not mean that the newspaper is dead. Far from it. Some of the liveliest newspapers in the country are published in towns that are not entitled to any kind of news medium whatever. But that condition does not exist for long, because a newspaper is a business enterprise as well as anything else, and if it is run at a loss, in time, it, too, will of necessity fail. And a newspaper cannot run without advertising patronage.

The cost of newspaper production is probably higher now than at any other time in the history of journalism, higher because more is demanded.

Many people think if a newspaper has a large number of subscribers it is a paying proposition. But such is not the case. Circulation is a costly feature of the business. If an editor can secure enough out of his circulation to maintain the cost of keeping it, of clerical work and collections and securing and maintaining business, he is lucky. There's no profit in that branch of the business whatever.

A merchant pays his bills because he wants to stay in business, and to do so he must maintain a good credit rating. He pays his rent so he will not be thrown out of his building. He pays his light and water and telephone so his utilities service will not be cut off.

But he keeps up his advertising for the simple reason that it is good business to do so. He knows that he must have a constant turnover of merchandise, that styles are constantly changing, that new goods must come in, whether the old is sold or not, that his profits will dwindle unless a constant volume is maintained, and he knows that nothing but continual, practical advertising will keep his business moving and enable him to show a profit at the end of the year. So the local newspaper filled with ads of local business concerns reflects the image of a live and growing town.—Clearmont (Mo.) News.

The Gallatin (Mo.) North Missourian has heard "it rumored that drastic steps will be taken by local authorities to prevent the idle rich from gathering in front of local business establishments and spitting large gobs of chewing tobacco, et cetera, upon the sidewalks. The merchants do not object particularly to the use of their show windows as box seats for a spittoon, but they don't like for pedestrians to track the Climax all over their floors when they come in to buy."

Bert Campbell, in his Waukomis (Okla.) Hornet, furnishes food for thought to be considered in casting one's ballot: "When a man who has proven a colossal failure in most of his undertakings is elected or appointed to a public position that pays $7,500, and goes into office practically broke, at the end of the first year is able to buy a $20,000 home and a $50,000 farm, it is evident that he is a proficient financier or just a gigantic crook. You can draw your own conclusions."

It may be old-fashioned, but this suggestion of Jewell Mays, in his Richmond (Mo.) Missourian, is in the realm of possibility: "If all the law-books and literature were destroyed from the earth in an instant, the Golden Rule would be sufficient to reconstruct a new human code."

The Texoma (Okla.) Times observes that foreign countries are smarter than we are. While they still owed us a war debt that they couldn't even pay interest on, they were able to borrow from American bankers something like thirteen billions of dollars.

One of the funny things noticed by Faust Roper in the Lexington (Mo.) News, is the way one's name always stands out in a paper; fairly leaping at your eye. It's the same sort of thrill as hearing yourself called to the telephone at a ritzy social gathering.

Depressive times have hit the cigarette smokers, for there has been a big decline in cigarettes smoked during the month of April. The decrease amounts to 20%. Hard times have caused many people to drop this nasty habit.—Will Zorn.

The Cordell (Okla.) Beacon discovers that a lot of people are beginning to think that, after all, they might as well live as economically as their parents.

Odd—but TRUE

WHEN THE PAPER DOESN'T COME

My father says The News ain't put up just right. He finds a lot of fault, he does, perusin' it all night. He says there ain't a single thing in it worth while to read. And that it doesn't print the kind of stuff the people need. He tosses it aside and says it's strictly on the bum— But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come. He reads about the weddin's and sports like all get out; He reads the social doin's with a most derisive shout. He says they make the paper for the women folks alone. He'll read about the parties and he'll fume and fret and groan; He says of information it doesn't have a crumb— But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come. He's always first to grab it, and he reads it plumb clean through; He doesn't miss an item or a want ad—this is true. He says they don't know what we want, the dumb newspaper guys, I'm going to take a day some time and go and put them wise; Sometimes it seems as though they must be blind and deaf and dumb; But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

THE CRUCIFIXION OF YOUTH

For the first time in 300 years on this hemisphere, youth in its twenties is denied the opportunity which its qualities should give to youth. Young men and women who have come out of high school and college in the last five years are the tragic section of the army of the unemployed. For they are denied something more than mere labor. They are barred from life. In panics and calamities of the past on this continent, some place was reserved where times were fairly good. To these places youth went, being denied its opportunity elsewhere. Today in the whole wide world there is no place for youth to go where it can get a chance at the bottom rung of the ladder for its life climb upward. Literally millions of young people of both sexes, well equipped for life, with the best blood in the country in their veins, eager to come to grips with life, are stagnating, holding minor jobs with no chance for improvement, walking the streets looking for work or sitting about their homes unable to find a place where they can exercise their powers. It is tragic. It is the deepest tragedy that America has seen since the days of the old colonists in the 1600's. Why this body of youth does not openly revolt, why the dynamite in its heart doesn't explode in some social phenomena is strange. And maybe it is not so encouraging as it seems.—William Allen White.

The Alma (Kan.) Signal man, after reading a lot about women, candidly lets it be known: "We might as well admit right off that we don't want to start any argument over the question of the superiority of women to men. We knew a man once who got into that sort of an argument, but he never tried it but once."

LEADERSHIP

When a herd of cattle stampedes in fright, the fastest runner is in front. The real leader may be in the rear because it has seen no reason for joining the stampede.

In politics, in current literature, and in life in general, apparent leadership often is merely the ability to run fastest in a stampede. Those who are stubbornly at work changing the course of events are quite frequently inconspicuous.

He is the best leader who most fully understands the nature of things, so that his plans are not doomed to ultimate failure; who possesses an active, far-reaching imagination which can see many possibilities; who has a sense of values, so that among possibilities he is able to choose the most excellent; who has a sense of order, to give form, design, and program to the values and purposes he selects; who has practical sense and judgment, and so uses the most feasible means to accomplish his ends; and who has his energy and enthusiasm to carry his plans persistently toward fruition.

All these qualities are susceptible to increase, discipline, and refinement by education.—Antioch Notes.

Too much publicity cannot be given the alleged reply made by Wm. Wrigley, Jr., when one asked him why he did not stop his tremendous advertising after he had built up a gigantic business: "Did you ever hear of trainmen taking off the locomotive after they got the train moving?"

The Mitchell (Neb.) Index took the suggestion that "if more took an active interest in the of the town, schools and community would be much less inclined part of the officials to spend than the taxpayer can afford to do. But an official who receives no advice or intelligent criticism the subject of expenditures, his course is meeting with the approval of the public and keeping aogry of spending. It's not his so why should he care, in a tude assumed by many of our ing officials.

Geo. W. Rhea admits that he not know how much religion he do with paying of one's subscription but finds very few active members in Drexel (Mo.) who not paid-up subscribers to the Caller—"Are you sure the is not in?" Dignified Office Boy—"Do you his word, sir?"

—with plenty of chipped or shaved ice to give them that much-desired frosty bite? Of course you do! So if you would have the most refreshing iced drink chip your ice from a cake of our ice—the best, most dependable of all refrigerants. You need an ice bag filled with ice because most foods need moisture for preservation.

ELECTRIC ICE CO.

M. T. Wilkerson, Mgr.

In every city, large or small, according to the Collinsville (Okla.) News, there are two classes of people. They are the leaders and the "riders." The leaders are those who never quit hoping, never quit working. They carry on in spite of adversities, being loyal to their town, their neighbors, their homes and themselves. The "riders" are content to live on the crumbs that fall their way. They are the whiners, who cry about hard times and poor business, yet do nothing to better conditions. Because the heavens fall to open and drop money into their laps, they bemoan their luck and howl about hard times. But if the leaders do something to help better conditions, then they ride right along, free, of course, and pick up what they can.
