Charity Organizations Combine Forces for Relief Work

Gates Agree to Join Forces

Work, No Help" Will Be Rule Hereafter

Representatives from the various churches and churches of the city at the First Baptist Church meeting and agreed to do all relief work through a central organization this winter, a motion being adopted that the Community and Community Service Council be merged into one organization for relief purposes.

The committee composed of two members from each organization was appointed with power to appoint a chairman, to formulate plans for relief work, and to give out relief work, no help" will be the rule.

Back of the Community Council, this rule will automatically reduce the number of cases to 75%, as there are a number of families in town who ask for relief and refuse to work. Their case will be referred to the Community Council for relief reference.

The plan was adopted by the delegates of all organizations of the city, the new organization as possible in all charity work.

Intended to use the block canvassing the entire town and the same zoning system to be used to ascertain needy cases.

Number of suggestions were addressed to the best way to further, some of them having to do with keeping the city park and free of weeds. Vacant lots and alleys were also mentioned for attention, and those who might be allowed to do work done to the amount of the city. However, all these questions were left up to the central committee to work out.

Meador acted as chairman of the meeting and Miss Margaret Glass presided. Others present were: Miss Cook, Mesdames O. E. Loch, Ed Dishman, W. E. Bogan, Strandberg, A. B. Christian, G. C. Boswell, Johnnie R. G. Stokely, Carl O. Greene, Christian and T. A. Landers.

"McLean May Be Best in State," Speaker Says

"McLean has the opportunity to be one of the best cities in the state," said Rev. W. A. Erwin, who was program chairman at the Lions luncheon Tuesday.

Rev. Erwin said that cities are built on faith and with toil. If we are to have the kind of city we want to live in, we must plan for the future now. "It is not the first time in history that people have looked to the future for relief. We must have a vision for the future if we are to progress," said the speaker, insisting that we should plan for street paving, better homes and yards as a part of the future growth of McLean.

Street paving was mentioned as being available, according to the highway engineer's figures last year, for six or seven thousand dollars per mile, using the same type as is now on highway 66.

Claude Williams reported the condition of the Lions crippled children's fund, and Lions Stutter, Greene and Williams were appointed to set the amount the McLean club will donate to this cause.

Boyd Meador reported for the Community Service Council, and D. A. Davis recommended a central committee to refer transient beggars to for investigation.

Mr. Farris made a talk of appreciation for Lions activities, saying that it is believed by many great men that if the service clubs had been in existence prior to 1914 the World War might have been averted.

Mr. Farris, M. D. Bentley, Arthur Erwin, A. C. St. Clair and Ralph R. Thomas were presented as visitors.

McLEAN F. F. A. WINS IN MANY DEPARTMENTS

McLean F. F. A. members contributed exhibits and participated in three departments and events at the Tri-state fair this year and made a good showing in everything they entered. They won the trophy and high individual in poultry judging, 21 places and ribbons in the club poultry exhibit, sweepstakes in corn in the open agricultural classes, including five other ribbons.

They also won five ribbons in the club agricultural exhibits and first in judging Jersey cows, placing second in judging the entire dairy classes. They won $20.00 for having a very attractive booth in the group of F. F. A. instructional booths displayed in the agriculture building. The insignia in relief was a feature of McLean's booth, attracting many spectators. This F. F. A. emblem was worked out in the blue and gold F. F. A. colors, in the main body of the Texas star.

The total number of ribbons won by McLean boys was 34.

Banker Friend Enjoys Cook's School Address

J. A. Pondrom, president of the Texarkana, Texas, National Bank, capital $500,000, and long time friend of Mr. Cook of the American National Bank of McLean, wrote the following letter in regard to the address made by Mr. Cook on the opening day of the McLean schools:

Texarkana, Texas, Sept. 23, 1932.

Mr. Reuben R. Cook, McLean, Texas.

Dear Reuben:

I enjoyed very much reading in The McLean News of September 8, your address on the occasion of the opening day of the McLean schools.

I was particularly interested in your description of your own school days, since I had, in my youth, about the same experiences attending a country school where the first boy who arrived in the morning made the fire and it was our duty to sweep out the school room and attend to everything that the porter attends to in this day and time. We had no busses to haul us to school, no porters to furnish ice water, and no lunch rooms in the basement.

We knew very little about basketball and football and Greek letter fraternities, but we did daily acquire some knowledge of how to read, write and figure. It seems they have lost the art of teaching these things in later times, and the school authorities did not, as they do now, spend a lot of money in the exploitation of facts that have no proper place in a public school curriculum.

Trusting that all continues to go well with you, I remain, Yours very truly,

J. A. PONDROM, Pres.

REPRESENTATIVE APPOINTED EMERGENCY RELIEF FUND

Wilbur C. Hawk of Amarillo, president of the West Texas chamber of commerce, has appointed T. A. Landers to serve as Governor R. S. Sterling's representative in the preparation and submission of McLean's application for funds out of the $300,000 provided by the Federal Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932.

Geo. W. Briggs, Pampa chamber of commerce secretary, was in McLean Tuesday to confer with the local representative in regard to a county-wide application, but was told that the consensus of opinion here indicated McLean would be able to take care of all such cases without access to the relief fund.

Mr. Briggs said that perhaps relief would be needed at Pampa this winter and plans were in prospect to apply for aid.

All applications must be made thru the West Texas chamber of commerce and filed by October 13, to give the organization time to transmit them to the governor by October 15, at which time he will make application for the state of Texas.

MRS. KIBLER APPOINTED CHM. PROTECTIVE LEAGUE

P. T. A. Holds First Session Last Thursday

By Mrs. Jim Back

The Parent-Teacher Association held its first meeting of the year last Thursday, at 3:30 p. m. at the high school auditorium.

With Mr. Harding at the piano and Miss Simmons leading, all sang "America." Mrs. Back led in prayer and Miss Kennedy read an appropriate scripture. Willie Louelle Cobb played a piano solo which so delighted the audience that she was encored.

Mrs. Finley read an unusually good paper on "School Education—the Birthright of Childhood," full text of which may be read elsewhere in this paper.

Miss Kennedy presided over a short business meeting. Mrs. R. L. Apple resigned as president, and Mrs. O. C. Lochridge was elected to fill the unexpired term. Mrs. A. B. Christian made an inspiring talk in which she urged all members to cooperate with Mrs. Lochridge in making this a worth while year for all.

The association voted to continue giving a prize to the room having the most parents present each month, the count to be based on a percentage of the room membership.

It was voted to have two meetings each month, one afternoon and one evening. To avoid conflicts with other organizations, no evening meeting will be held this month. Hereafter, the afternoon meeting will be held on the second Thursday at 3:30, the evening meeting the fourth Thursday at 7:45.

Each home-room teacher presented the room-mothers for the year.

Miss Noel's room had more mothers present than any other in the elementary school, and Miss Cousins in the high school.

LIGHTNING STRIKES WIRE

Lightning struck the power company's wires Monday afternoon, burning out a transformer causing a loss of about $250.00.

The transformer was protected by every known device against such an accident, but the bolt was too strong for the protection.

Miss Joellene Vannoy attended the Amarillo fair Saturday.

Gas to Be in Mains by October 31

30c Rate Obtained for Domestic Use

The city council granted the right for the new gas company to operate in McLean, in a 11 page, 26 section franchise to D. W. Humphreys, or his assigns, in a meeting held Monday night.

Under the provisions of the franchise, the domestic rate will not exceed 30c, the manufacturing rate not to exceed 10c, and the city, school and church rate not to exceed 12c per thousand cubic feet; with $1.50 minimum, $7.50 meter deposit, and 10% penalty for overdue accounts.

These rates will apply for five years unless there is a reason for a raise in the customary price at the wells.

The franchise will run for 25 years, with an annual fee to the city of $50. The city reserves the option to purchase after five years at a price to be mutually agreeable to the city and company; also reserves the prior right to purchase, should the company offer for sale at any time.

Mr. Humphreys has 10 days in which to accept the franchise, and gas must be in the mains within 30 days from acceptance, or Oct. 31.

The present company serving McLean charges 50c for domestic gas and has 301 customers, while 314 customers have signed up to take gas from the new company for a period of three years.

D. H. KERR RAISES TOBACCO

D. H. Kerr was a caller at the News office Monday with a stalk of tobacco grown here, and tobacco leaves in various stages of curing to twists ready for the pipe or chewing.

Mr. Kerr planted a few tobacco seed as an experiment, some 15 plants living to maturity; the largest have 18 leaves and the average being something over two feet tall. Keeping the plants free from worms, the greatest task in commercial fields in other states, did not bother Mr. Kerr, as he only found five worms on his crop all season.

After the leaves are cured and twisted, Mr. Kerr runs them through a food chopper for smoking tobacco.

Mr. Kerr says it would be easy to raise all the tobacco any user needs each year, but he confesses to like the manufactured article better, as the raw tobacco is pretty strong for the ordinary user.

HOME ECONOMICS

The second year foods class has been canning for people on shares. It would be glad to can any food at any time in like manner, since the department must be self-supporting.

The first year clothing class began the construction of undergarments this week.

The third year class is very proud of one of its members, Neva Flowers, who placed very high on her exhibitions at the Tri-state fair at Amarillo. She won three first places on canned goods. She has been a member of the 4-H club for four years and during that time has won many prizes and trips on her work.

PICNIC ENJOYED

The members of the freshman and seventh grade classes motored to the Fowler ranch north of town, on last Friday afternoon. They were accompanied by the room mothers, some of the parents, Misses Vannoy, McCarty and Kennedy, and Supt. Boswell. The cloudy weather did not dampen the spirits of the crowd. Games were played until late. Then everyone roamed up and down the creek until the word supper was broadcast. The tables were laid under the large trees in front of the Fowler home. There was enough and to spare of the best fried chicken and trimmings that one could imagine. Tomatoes and apples were given the picnicers by Mr. Fowler, the grandfather of Mary Alice and Katherine Patterson. The meal was finished with ice cream, furnished by the room mothers of the classes. No one was ready to return home, but darkness drove the jovial spirit away and the picnic was over.

"They say that underclassmen they ain't got no pep! They're pep every step, every step, every step!" Just watch these classes enjoy high school. Room mothers were: 7th, Mrs. S. W. Rice, Mrs. Wheeler Poster, Mrs. Frank Wilson; 8th, Mrs. Alvah Christian, Mrs. W. W. Wilson, Mrs. G. C. Boswell. Other parents present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Back, Mrs. H. W. Finley, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Charlie Carpenter. Visitors were: Mrs. G. V. Koons and Miss Lucille Rice.

SENIOR PICTURES

The seniors had their pictures made on Monday. The pictures this year are to be mounted on "33". Forty-four members of the class had pictures made. Alderson's Studio of Clarendon will do the work.

On Oct. 11 representatives of the houses that sell rings to senior classes will meet the senior class. The selections for rings, pins, etc., will be made at this time.

The juniors have started off a bad week, it seems. We think we are being neglected, and aren't we? The seniors are getting the big head and are giving us the "high hat" because they are having their pictures made, but we have our time coming. Someone said, "Juniors cheer up, next year you will be seniors and will know everything."

FIRST GAME THIS WEEK

Well, football fans, the big beginning game is just one day off. The Tigers are working hard to be in perfect shape for the Happy Jack Rabbits. The team has been working from 3 to 5:30 every afternoon on a new shift and have whipped it into shape to show us at the first game. We shall get to see all the Tigers in action with the exception of Co-captain Switzer, who has an injured knee and will probably be held over for the big game with Shamrock.

The gridiron will be in a different location from last year. It is located just behind the grade school building and is a much better field than the one last year. The game will start promptly at 3:30 p. m. Everyone please be present to back your team. It makes them play better and you will feel much better after seeing a good football game.

AGGIES

The chapter of Future Farmers of America, of the McLean vocational department elected the following officers recently:

Bert Carpenter, president; Lavelle Christian, vice president; Christal Christian, secretary-treasurer; W. C. Carpenter, reporter.

The names of members and membership fees will be submitted at a later date.

To some of the boys, we are taking up a new and more interesting phase of work. For the past three weeks we have been studying dairy and poultry, but this week we will study shop work. This will be an interesting subject, for there are so many different parts to it. In shop work we study soldering, saw filing and other things that a good carpenter should know.

Say! Were we lucky at Amarillo? We just won about 30 poultry ribbons and about $60 cash! This money will be put in the bank and when we make a trip the expenses will be paid with it. This will help all of us, especially our teacher.

PEP SQUAD PICTURES MADE

A picture of the pep squad was made on Monday afternoon. A large number of people belong to this squad. The picture will be mounted in the center of the picture on which individual pictures of the Tigers are placed.

RE-ANNOUNCEMENT

The McLean News is offered to any high school student at the rate of $1.00 from now until June 1, 1933. This is to enable students to secure The Tiger Post. Take advantage of this opportunity!

IN ASSEMBLY

On Monday morning, Supt. Boswell made an appreciated talk on supporting and taking part in extra-curricular activities. He told the student body that it would help each person to take part in these activities and that everyone who doesn't take part should support those who do. This talk was followed by the singing of pep songs. The entire high school will be behind that old Tiger line.

On Tuesday morning the freshman class presented the second of the series of home room programs. The topic discussed was Safety First. The following program was given:

A MODERN TRIP TO TREASURE ISLAND

By Gwynne Carpenter

"Oh, Uncle Bob, look at this yellow chart I found in great-grandfather's old sea chest in the attic."

"Let's see, Dick, I don't remember having seen this before. Where was it?"

"M—m—this looks interesting!"

"Just look at that little red cross and there are some trees marked."

"Oh, Uncle Bob, there's some faded pencil marks on the back!"

"Look here, son, I believe you've found something of value. As best as I can tell this is the chart of a treasure island!"

"Oh, goodie! Let's go dig up the treasure and we will all be rich!"

"Come on, Dick, and show me exactly where you found that. I'm going to look for more information."

The boy followed his young uncle upstairs and showed him where he found the map. Tucked in the inside pocket of an oldskin jacket they found detailed information concerning the island. In a pocket diary of the old sea captain's was written:

"Passed island and made chart—unable to make port because discovered hidden pirate ship. Treasure heavily guarded. It probably always will be because it is of great value."

The adventure-loving uncle uttered a shout. "Dickie, let's find that treasure! Bring me a world map."

For a long time the two studied the maps and finally they had approximately located the island.

As soon as preparations could be made, Uncle Bob, Dick and three friends left the air port in a big sea plane. They were headed for a group of islands (supposedly uninhabited) off the coast of Southeast Africa.

Soon they were scanning the waters below with powerful glasses. Sud-

Smilin' Charlie Says—

"There's a lot o' folks who can't talk about anything—but th' weather—n' most o' them 're poor at that, even--" denly Dick cried, "Oh, lookie! There's a ship down there, and look at the funny flag! It's black. I didn't know they had a country with a solid black flag, but see, this one has a skull and cross-bones like poison. Look! The ship's moving out."

"Look's as if the treasure is still guarded, all right," returned Uncle Bob. "We had better fly on over till the ship leaves. We may have trouble, after all."

The adventurers flew on to a scheduled coast to spend the night. They were up with the early tropic dawn, ready to resume their search. Luck seemed with them. The pirate ship was no where to be seen. Uncle Bob noosed the plane into a protected cave. A high cliff over them and the tropical vegetation practically concealed the ship.

"Everybody have your pistols? John, I'm going to trust that rifle to you. Dick, you may carry that magnet. It will lead us to treasure if there is any gold about. Now watch carefully, everybody. Halt at the slightest sound, and don't shoot first."

The going was slow for the city-bred men. They were unfamiliar with treasure hunts, but the needle of the little magnet drew them in a straight line to the southwest.

"Uncle Bob, I don't hear anything, but every once in a while I feel like I'm being followed."

"Nonsense, son, you are just excited. Now let me see. Three yards from bald face rock N. W. N. Back 200 yards in a straight line; ten feet north of the tallest palm tree in sight. Dig for ten feet and—"

"Come on, fellows, here we go."

The group went cautiously forward. Once a huge snake slid from under a tree root and hissed suddenly as the party paused. The men were afraid to shoot for fear the shot would arouse some guard.

After about thirty minutes they located the tree, and to their utter dismay they found fresh dirt piled up where a deep hole had been dug. Uncle Bob looked so disappointed that it made Dick want to cry, but who ever heard of a boy who was almost twelve years old crying?

John said, "Maybe they have just moved it some place near by. We might dig around and see."

The suggestion seemed reasonable, so the men set to work. In a short time one of the men's spades struck something, but it was not the iron of a treasure chest. "Bob, look! It's a man! He's been shot and buried! This must have been done only yesterday."

"Why, Uncle Bob, do you suppose they took the treasure and killed this poor man because he wanted more than his share? Oh—O—I'm glad I'm not a pirate!"

"Well, boys, let's cover him back up. We might as well start back. I guess we have been wasting our time."

On the way back Dick caught Uncle Bob's arm. "Which side of the tree was that hole on?"

"The west side. Why?"

"Doesn't the chart say the treasure is buried on the north side?"

"By jove, I believe it does! It really does—come on! We'll find that treasure yet!"

The way back was easy going and little time was lost in locating the right spot. The little magnet had been forgotten when they discovered the dead man, but it was very useful now.

In a few minutes the dirt was removed from an old iron chest. It looked just like a picture in Dick's adventure book.

"Oh, oh—let's open it quick!" the little boy cried.

They soon found, however, that it was no easy task to open it with the few tools they had with them, so they decided to wait until they got home to open it.

The four men were a long time getting back to the plane with it because it was very heavy. Occasionally they could hear the heavy clank of gold and a rolling sound as if there might be a large box of jewels inside, too.

Just as Uncle Bob moved the plane up over the island the sun began sinking down behind the water. Soon the dark crept about them and Uncle Bob turned on the powerful lights.

Dickie, wrapped snugly in his seat, shut his eyes. What a wonderful day it had been! Soon he fell asleep to dream that he was pirate king of treasure island and had slaves all about him counting out gold.

Electrified Homes

We are rather proud of the fact that more than twenty million of the twenty-nine million homes in the United States are receiving electric service, and we speak of them as "electrified homes." Just because a home is wired for electricity and is used for lighting purposes does not make it an electrified home—any more than a factory using electricity for lighting only can be termed "electrified."

An "electrified home" is one where lighting is attractive as well as utilitarian; where electrical appliances have displaced the broom, the wash-tub, the sad-iron and other relics of a past age; where electricity is performing the many tasks it can perform and doing it more efficiently, more economically. It is the home where the lady of the house is a home-maker, —not a housekeeper.

If your working day is from early morning until late at night; if you have little or no time for yourself, you are doing work that electricity can do for you for a few cents a day.

GOLF GOSSIP

By D. A. Davis

The tournament is over, and as you would have it, Roy came again by beating Fritz on the hole on the second round. One of you guys had furnished a calendar so I could have the day the 13th came on. I have been the champion. How all of us are satisfied except Campbell. He says he would have Fritz any time he wants to knock him out of a chance to win, thereby beating him out of place. You young sprouts will be getting ready for a year next year, though, for we have and pappies shore and take you for a cleaning. Did you ever have to play any of these absent-minded things? It's simply awful the way it acts, and it's out of the way to try to learn them a single time. The idea of any man getting the socks off a golf ball and where it goes, but instead of watching where their tee lands to hunting around for their ball, forget all about remembering their ball goes, and after hunting fifteen minutes for their ball to go out and locate their ball in a 120 acre pasture with no more than a jack rabbit where I've played with lots of my life, but I never saw a ball. And what do you think that will try to put a ball up when he is ten feet away, draw back and hit the thing was driving off the tee box? I wish to make a fellow want to

The sixth grade believes that health is important for success in life. We are carrying on a health drive to secure personal cleanliness. We have made individual health posters. We keep a health score chart and check up on ourselves every day. We believe that we can have good health if we try. We wish that all boys and girls would join our Crusade.

WANTED—More pupils in the 7th grade.

Parents, when you visit school you had better be careful or one of the teachers will put you in the cloak room. Any way, come on and we will try to get you out. This is your week to visit the sixth and seventh grade room and we shall expect you on Thursday.

SCHOOL EDUCATION—THE BIRTHRIGHT OF CHILDHOOD

By Mrs. H. W. Finley

Everyone is well acquainted with the famous expression of the great author, Robert E. Lee. The lessons learned by this noble American impressed upon him the fact that education is indeed the birthright of childhood, a "debt owed by present to future generations." That great student of human relations, Dr. H. A. Fisher, minister of education in England during the darkest period of the World War, voiced this universal verdict when he said that "education is the debt eternal of maturity to childhood and youth."

Because the child passes this way out once, no moratorium can be declared upon this debt without fatal consequences to the nation. School education is the rightful heritage of childhood, which can be assimilated at but one time in the life of an individual. Dr. John Finley, editor of the New York Times, recognized the binding nature of this obligation when he said: "In times like these when sacrifices must be made and economies must be practiced, nothing should be allowed to interfere with the payment of the state's full debt to the children and youth of the land."

Over one thousand social, educational and economic leaders of the country assembled at President Hoover's White House Conference on Child Welfare, after careful study and scientific investigation, worked out the 19 provisions of the Children's Charter, which at once is an emancipation proclamation of childhood and a declaration of rights for American youth.

In years past, most educational measures have been prompted by parental ambitions. Every worthy parent has been willing to sacrifice that his own child might become well versed in the lore of the race and be given a position of advantage in the struggle for a living. The state recognizes that all children, under whatever conditions of life they may have been brought into the world, should share equally in the rich inheritance of their fathers.

The Conference on Child Welfare decided "the state must guarantee for every child: First, a school safe from hazards, sanitary, properly equipped, lighted and ventilated, and for young children, nursery schools and kindergartens to supplement home care. Second, an education which, through the discovery and development of his individual abilities, prepares him for life; and through training and vocational guidance prepares him for a living which will give him the maximum of satisfaction. Third, such training and teaching as will prepare him for successful parenthood, home-making, and the rights of citizenship. The nation owes every child these rights, regardless of race or color, or situation, wherever he might live under the protection of the American flag."

Since the dawn of civilization, man has come to realize that when children are brought into the world they inherit the riches, the privilege, and the experiences of the race, the administration of which is entrusted to both the parent and the state. Since the dark ages of the past when chivalry bloomed into the flower of knighthood, the cause of the weak and helpless has been championed by the best and the highest passion of man. From the daring exploits of the English knights to the sinking of the Titanic, the cry, "Women and children first" has rung out in every great calamity. Men have been willing to risk their lives and sacrifice their fortunes on the altar of the defenseless. Certain rights of childhood have been fearlessly and chivalrously defended by all noble men.

Not the least of these struggles and sacrifices have been made in the name of education and schools. The Pilgrims left the fertile fields of Holland for the bleak coast of New England that they might preserve for their children the heritage of Anglo-Saxon ideals.

Washington, Jefferson and Adams realized the rights of childhood when they wrote into the Preamble of the Constitution the immortal words, "To secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

One of the prime motives which led the intrepid pioneers of Texas to rebel against Mexico was the lack of public school education for their children. When at last victory smiled on our arms at San Jacinto, and the fathers of the state met to consider a constitution for the independent state of Texas, provisions for a free school education for the children of the commonwealth were written into our first code of law.

Our forefathers did not conquer the wilderness for their own selfish pleasure, but ever carried before them the banner of childhood. In the name of their children they fought for freedom and bequeathed to posterity the priceless inheritance of liberty and justice.

Children must be first, because, in the words of Mr. J. E. Moore, editor of the National Education Association Journal, "They are the torch-bearers of civilization. We can put children first and keep them first, knowing that it is they who must carry the torch tomorrow, if civilization is to march forward." The real spirit of America is that of honesty and willingness to fulfill every trust given into the care of man. America must recognize the right of the child, pay the interest on her baby bonds owned by childhood, and keep the schools at their best, because children are our greatest national treasure—we must keep them first.

CIRCUS COMING TO PAMPA

Cantankerous tigers, lions gifted with marvelous bass voices, pernicious pumas, polar bears, and herds of ponderous pachyderms, clowns and stars bespangled—all these, together with bands and calliopes, sideshows, and hundreds of blooded track and ring steeds, are coming to Pampa for the great Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, one of the largest in the world, is scheduled for afternoon and night performances on Thursday, Oct. 6.

This celebrated show, always to the fore with new and thrilling features, has this season, outdone itself in the line-up of its 1932 program. It isn't merely the same old round of the same old acts and displays, but, all new, novel, extremely thrilling and colorful. It abounds with names that are warp and woof of spangeland—the greatest array of circus stars ever presented under the famed Hagenbeck-Wallace banners.

Clyde Beatty, youthful subjugator, who is called the world's most fearless animal trainer, heads the list of thrillers. Alone, and single-handed, he enters the great steel arena containing a mixed group of wild and ferocious lions and tigers. Thirty-four of the most savage beasts on earth.

Other equally prominent highlights will include Poodles Hanneford, greatest of riding comiques, and his noted family of equestrians; the Cronin Sisters, and the Wingert Trio, aerialists; the famous Hagenbeck-Wallace herds of performing pachyderms; the MacFarlan educated equines; groups of iron-jaw aerialists in thrilling displays, and scores of amazing track offerings.

In the maze of aerial displays, the Clarkonians, and the Elegrist troupes will astound with their breathtaking mid-air somersaulting in the extreme heights of the big top.

Riding acts, acrobatic, and almost countless ground acts, will vie with wild animal, the horse, and novelty numbers in the great oval arena with its three rings, spacious stages, and steel-barred presentation dens.

In offering, this season, "Cleopatra, Queen of Egypt," for the opening spectacle, the great Hagenbeck-Wallace show dwarfs all previous inaugural numbers with its beauty of music, chorus, ballet, number of animals, and in costly wardrobe and trappings.

Clowns? Yes, half a hundred of 'em, and a whole track full of animals and grotesque comics thrown in for good measure.

School athletics should be under direct control of the school authorities, if they are to be of value to the student. There can be no objection to outside assistance, but there should be no thought of outside control. Too many times there are temptations for outsiders to want to control games for their own ends. This kind of practice has no place in the public schools.

Mr. Cook's radio address last week has received a great deal of praise from McLean citizens and others. The News was on the news stands a little early Thursday, thinking that the reception might not be perfect or account of the weather, and many people followed the speaker by reading the address from the paper as it was being given. A novelty that was appreciated.

The chamber of commerce used to have an investigating committee to refer outside beggars and advertising solicitors to for investigation, which saved the town many dollars. The person who refuses to be investigated on propositions of this kind is not worthy of assistance, and we need such a committee more at this time than ever before.

School athletics should teach the pupil good sportsmanship, which should make good losers as well as gracious victors. Some complaint has been registered in the past about schools using ineligible players, which should not be tolerated by any school official, as to teach pupils to "get by" is dishonest. Such practice not only harms the player in question, but the whole school as well. The school that teaches strict honesty and plays the game square, with nothing to keep under cover, is a winner, even if it never scores a victory.

"No work, no help" is a mighty good rule to follow in dispensing help to the needy, provided there are members of the family who are able to work, and this is generally true. Our present times have already made beggars of a number of people who, in ordinary times, would be glad to be self-supporting. Community chest officials report that the first time a man asks for charity it is embarrassing, but some of them soon come to demand help as their due. There should be no thought of letting anyone starve to death this winter, but any plan that allows the one needing help to keep his self-respect is worth more to him and the community than outright charity.

M. W. Perry told us last Thursday afternoon that that week's issue of The News was one of the best he had read. Mr. Perry says he begins at the first column and goes through the paper, reading everything as he goes, and always finds something of interest on every page. Different departments of the paper appeal to people in different ways, but we have a number of readers who, like Mr. Perry, read the home paper from "cover to cover."

Advertisers proud from using the columns of the home paper, for subscribers do not miss anything. If you have anything that will appeal to customers, you may be sure that it will be read by hundreds of people each week. Regular advertisers learned this long ago, and occasional advertisers may satisfy themselves, if they will run a consistent schedule of weekly advertisements for a few months.

The fourth week of school will soon be past history. Have we, as teachers and pupils, done our best to make its history worth reading?

OUR BAND

The band offers a musical education to children who otherwise would not get that training. In the band you are taught how to read music and play it.

In the summer, we go on trade trips to the different communities and play to advertise the town.

In the winter, we go to the Tri-state fair in Amarillo and play against other towns.

Members of the 6A class are telling you this week why they should like to go to high school. As space is limited, we give one reason stated by each pupil and print only four themes in full:

Frankie Roth—To learn to type.
Helen Brock—To have more friends and learn more.

Charles Cunningham—To have some new teachers.

Runelle Grigsby—It's warm over there in winter.

D. V. Nicholson—To have a locker to put my things in.

Ralph C. Riddle—To get out of school sooner.

Anna Fay Ware—To go to chapel twice a week.

Junior Woods—To play football.

Farris Hess—To select subjects I am most interested in.

Edwin Ledbetter—To play football.

Billie D. Rice—To take agriculture and make things.

Billie Wilson—I don't want my class to leave me behind with no one my size to play with.

Fred Wayne Harris—To play football and go to other towns.

Pinous Glenn—I won't have to walk so far.

Kid McCoy—To play football on the main team.

Joe Billy Bogan—To show my big brother a thing or two.

James Scott—To graduate, go to college, and teach school.

Julia McCarty—To watch football games and play volleyball.

Loyce Landers—To take home economics.

L. E. Flowers—To get an education.

Olive Louise Atwood—To take typing and shorthand.

Wanda Estes—To be in the pep squad.

Billy Jean Biggers—I am very anxious to go to high school. I know I shall have many new friends, teachers and school mates. I am going to have lots of fun playing basketball, tennis, volleyball, and I'm going to be in the pep squad.

It will be very different, too, having subjects so different, such as home economics and algebra. And I want to be in the glee club.

I know I will have to work hard, yet I am going to have lots of fun. The sooner I get to high school, the sooner I will get to go to college.

Lorene Moore—I should like to go to high school to help develop my mind. Elementary school is the foundation of high school. I want an education for many reasons. I want to finish high school so I can go to college. If I have an education, life will be easier and more pleasant.

J. C. Williams—I should like to go to high school to learn more about school. I would play football. I'd like to catch a pass and make a touchdown. I'd like to throw a pass and make an end run.

I should like for coach to teach me how to play good football by the time I get in the ninth grade. Then I would get to be on the first team and go to other towns and play match games.

Willa Mae Gressett—There are sev-

I want to see all the football games and be the leader of the pep squad and yell till my throat is sore: "Rah! Rah! Rah! High school!"

The following pupils made 100% in spelling last week: 6A—Loyce Landers, Olive Louise Atwood, Wanda Estes; 5B—Marion Thompson, Mary Louise Smith, Margie Lochridge; 5A—Wynema Lamb, Ernie Back, Una Howard; 4B—Lorraine Hodges, Joe Bryan Carpenter, Louise Stotts, Eugene Stewart, Johnnie Mae Scott, Aaron Hill, Vada Appling, Willie Smith; 3B—Glenda Landers, Christine Kennedy, Opal Thacker, Lorene Spears, Beatrice Stotts, Hallie Nell Sagar; 2nd—D. V. Roth, Wayne Back, Marcelle Campbell, Virgil Smith, Connie Marie Quarles, Ercy Fulbright, Earline Green, Juanita Davidson.

ASSEMBLY NOTES

By Dorothy Sitter
Last Wednesday the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades gathered for assembly in the study hall. With the children standing, Miss Cummings led us in singing. Bro. Goff offered prayer, after which he told us the story of King Saul, David and Jonathan. But he did not say their names. He said "King," "Young Prince," and the "King's Son." Then he asked us who they were. Nearly all knew who they were.

WHY I SHOULD LIKE TO GROW UP

By Thelma Jo Gray
I want to help daddy at the lumber yard when I grow up. I want to be his secretary. Daddy can load trucks while I help in the office. He is trying to teach me the business, but it requires too much arithmetic for me.

I wish to grow up because I do not like school. I like to sleep late in the mornings. In winter, I have to get up and practice. The only thing I like in school is spelling and English.

I should like to cook some of the time. I would like to fix pretty dishes. I have never cooked very much. I would like to cook dainty dishes for parties and socials. I would like to cook for sick people.

I want to grow up so I can have a house of my own. I want a brick one, with a pretty yard. I would like to have a rose garden. I want a rock garden with water in it. I want a fish pond.

WHY I SHOULD NOT LIKE TO GROW UP

By Marion Thompson
I do not wish to grow up because grown people haven't as many years to live as children have. One does not get so tired of youth. Young people have much more energy.

I do not wish to grow up, because I can't play ball. I like to play ball when it is not too hot. Grown people never play any kind of ball but tennis, and so many don't play that.

I do not wish to be grown because I would be too old to go to school. School is one of the most wonderful things in life. We would never learn if it were not for school. While we are young we should try; we will never have another opportunity.

I do not wish to grow up because I then will have too great a responsibility. When I am a child, I have nothing to worry about. Just think what a responsibility our fathers and mothers have.

WHY I SHOULD LIKE TO GROW UP

By Mabel Back
I should like to grow up because I can give parties and invite my girl friends. I could give Halloween poes of which is to promote good English, both oral and written. The club will have a program each Monday morning at regular class period, 9 o'clock.

Notice to Those Who Are Delinquent in the Payment of Their School Taxes

The school board, realizing the financial condition of the people in this time of depression, have put off the collection of taxes as long as they can with safety to the interest of the district. Therefore, at a recent meeting of the school board, a motion was passed that all delinquent taxes that were unpaid by the 10th day of October (next month) would be placed in the hands of an attorney for collection.

The school board regrets that it is necessary for them to take such action, but in order to run our school and pay what we owe, we can see no other course to take.

CHOICE RECIPES

Watermelon Rind Preserves

2 lb watermelon rind (prepared). 2 quarts sugar. 2 quarts water. 1 lemon (sliced thin). Juice of 1/2 lemon. 6 to 8 pieces root of ginger. Limes or calcium oxide, 2 quarts water. The thick rind watermelon is preferred for preserves. Remove peel and any pink meat of the melon. Soak in lime water over night, using proportions as given above. Next morning drain and allow the rinds to stand in fresh water for two hours. Drain, drop in the boiling water, cook rapidly for 10 minutes, drain again, and add gradually to the syrup (made by boiling together the 8 cups of sugar and the 4 quarts of water). Add lemon juice and root ginger which has been cut into about 1/2 inch lengths. Cook until the rind is tender and transparent. About 15 minutes before it has finished cooking add the slices of lemon. Avoid reaking or tearing the slices of melon. Pack firmly into sterilized containers. Fill to overflowing. Garish with one slice of lemon and a bit of root ginger. Seal and process for 15 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. Wash and label jars before storing.

RELISHES

Dixie Relish

1 quart chopped cabbage. 1 pint chopped white onion. 1 pint chopped sweet red pepper. 1 pint chopped sweet green pepper. 3 tablespoons salt. 4 tablespoons mustard seed. 2 tablespoons celery seed (crushed). 1/2 cup sugar. 1 quart cider vinegar. Soak the pepper in brine (1 cup salt to 1 gallon water) for 24 hours. Freshen in clear, cold water for 1 or 2 hours. Drain well, remove seeds and coarse white sections. Chop separately, and measure the chopped cabbage, peppers and onions before mixing. Add spices, sugar and vinegar. Let stand over night covered in a crock or enameled vessel. Pack into small hot jars that have been sterilized.

When ready to pack, drain the vinegar off the relish in order that the jar may be well packed. Pack the relish in the jars, pressing it carefully; then pour over it the vinegar which was drained off. Paddle the jar thoroughly to get every bubble out, and allow the vinegar to displace all air spaces. Garnish each jar with two slender strips of red pepper. Place these strips vertically on the seams in the jar on opposite sides. Cap, clamp and process in a water bath for 15 minutes at 180° F. (sterilizing).

Chow-Chow

2 cups onions (small white). 2 cups cauliflower (in small sections). 4 cups string beans (cut). 12 green peppers (medium size). 1 red pepper. 5 teaspoons celery seed. 4 teaspoons mustard seed. 6 teaspoons horseradish. 1 cup sugar. 2 cups cider vinegar. The vegetables for chow-chow are better if first cured in brine and freshened by standing in cold water to cover from 12 to 24 hours, depending on the amount of salt extracted. Some salt must be allowed to remain in the vegetables. After they are freshened, they should be drained, well mixed, and chopped together. Heat the spices, vinegar and sugar to 180° F. Cover and allow to infuse for about 1 hour, then mix with the vegetables. Stir until well blended and let stand over night. In the morning stir well and pack in sterilized jars. Seal and store in a cool place. If processing is done to seal the filled jars be careful not to raise the temperature of the water bath above 180° F. and hold at this temperature for about 10 to 15 minutes. This processing will help to keep the pickles and seal the jars, but will soften the texture somewhat. This amount yields three quarts.

Beet Relish

1 quart chopped cabbage. 1 quart cooked, chopped beets. 1 cup grated horseradish. 2 cups sugar. 1 tablespoon black pepper. 4 tablespoons salt. Mix ingredients and cover with vinegar, heat mixture to the boiling point. Pack in jars and seal.

Pepper Relish

Take 1 dozen sweet green peppers and 1 dozen sweet red peppers and add 3 large onions, chopped fine. Cover with boiling water and let stand 10 minutes. Drain, cover again with hot water, and let come to a boil. Then let stand again. Drain dry and add 3 tablespoons salt, 2 pints vinegar and 2 cups granulated sugar. Cook 15 minutes and pack in jars, while hot, and process as for Dixie relish. Seal.

Corn Relish

12 ears corn. 1 head cabbage. 3 sweet red peppers. 3 sweet green peppers. 1 quart vinegar. 1 cup sugar. 2 tablespoons mustard. 1 tablespoon salt. 1 tablespoon celery salt. Cook the corn for 3 minutes in boiling water to set the milk. Cool and cut from cob. Cook all together for 20 minutes. Pack into clean, hot jars, seal and process.

Uncooked Tomato Relish

1/2 peck ripe tomatoes. 1 quart cider vinegar. 6 green peppers. 6 sweet red peppers. 4 medium-sized onions. 1 cup finely chopped cabbage. 2 teaspoons celery seed. 1/2 teaspoon red pepper. 1 teaspoon ground cloves. 4 teaspoons yellow mustard seed. 5 tablespoons salt. 1 cup sugar. Scald and peel tomatoes, chop all ingredients fine, add seasonings, mix well. Add the vinegar and allow to stand over night. Next morning pack cold into small clean hot jars, seal, and process.

N'Import Relish

1 pint radish pulp. 1 cup ground onions. 1/2 teaspoon salt. 1/2 cup sugar. 1/2 teaspoon tumeric. 1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg. 1/2 teaspoon white mustard seed. Wash radishes well, cut off tips, grind peel and pulp, and to 1 pint ground pulp add 1/2 pint ground onion. Mix well. Over this sprinkle salt. Let stand 1 hour. Squeeze dry, place in preserving kettle. Add vinegar, sugar, tumeric, nutmeg, and white mustard seed. Simmer for 10 minutes. Pack in clean hot jars, seal, and process for 5 minutes.

CONVULSIONS IN CHILDREN

By Dr. William J. Scholes

Very few symptoms that occur in children are more alarming than an attack of convulsions. These attacks are most likely to occur during the first two years of life. For, at that time, the nervous system of the child is very delicate. It is readily irritated and rendered unstable, even by apparently slight causes.

The seriousness of an attack of convulsions depends on the seriousness of its cause. And the cause is not always apparent during the attack.

Irritation of the stomach and intestine resulting from indigestion is generally regarded as the most common cause. A spasm may be one of the first symptoms of an infectious disease. Scarlet fever, measles, and pneumonia often begin in this way. Inflammation of the middle ear is another frequent cause of convulsions. Or more serious trouble, such as disease of the brain or its coverings, the meninges, or defect or injury of the skull, may be present.

May Lead to Epilepsy

Some children who have frequent convulsions when they are babies have epilepsy when they are older.

During the last few years, considerable attention has been given to the relationship between the tendency to spasms and a deficiency of lime salts in the body. Some children who have rickets, in which disease there is a deficiency of lime in the bones, are subject to spasms.

When a child has convulsions a doctor should be sent for immediately. While waiting for the doctor, the child should be immersed up to its neck in a bath of warm water. The temperature of the bath should be between 96 and 100 degrees Fahrenheit. While the child is in the bath, cold water should be applied to its head.

Emptying the bowel by means of an enema will sometimes help to stop the convulsions.

Like other symptoms, an attack of convulsions indicates that something is wrong. A careful search should be made for the hygienic fault, disease or defect that caused it. Quite often there is some error in the feeding. Whatever the cause, it should be removed whenever possible, in order to lessen the likelihood of the occurrence of more convulsions.

THE CHRISTIAN'S DEVOTIONAL LIFE

Golden text, 2 Peter 3:18. Lesson text, Matt. 6:5-15; 2 Tim. 3:14-17.

v. 5. The hypocritical Scribes and Pharisees prayed upon the street corners that men might know of their prayers. They purposed that men might think them religious. They accomplished their desire—men thought them religious. Many men today in carrying out some religious form of worship do it that they might boast—they are always able to do so. They receive the desired reward. In other words, to bring it down home to your door and mine, when we go to church, Sunday school or perform any other function "for the looks of the thing"—we receive our reward—in looks—as the hypocrites. Jesus made no demonstration of His praying, yet it was so significant that the disciples asked Him to teach them to pray (Luke 11:1).

v. 6. Jesus here is not condemning public prayer. He prayed in public, but prayer in the secret chamber is bound to be humble, unpretentious, and without the hypocritical error of the Scribes and Pharisees.

v. 7, 8. Jesus here is not forbidding a repetition of a prayer, for He prayed using the same words more than once (Matt. 26:44). He speaks of vain repetition as merely repeating words, as "Ave Maria," or counting the times a set form in prayer has been gone over by counting beads. There is no merit in such. Furthermore, there is no merit in composed prayers, for they must be classed with the ones mentioned in v. 5—composed for men to hear. God knows what we need. Let us ask Him simply and directly with importunity when necessary. (Luke 11:8; 18:7).

v. 9-13. This model prayer is certainly compact and complete. It is evident by the preceding verses that this prayer is to be followed in principle rather than by repetition. There are people who say this prayer regularly daily, who have never stopped to know that if they were to do their part in permitting God to answer it, they would have to change their business, cancel their social engagements, or divert all other activities. Note: The one praying asks:

1. That God's name be ever hallowed and revered in his life.
2. That he be sent to assist in bringing in the Kingdom of God.
3. That he be permitted to completely yield to God's will in every respect, no matter what the cost.
4. That he be permitted to depend upon God for material sustenance.
5. That God forgive him his sins only in proportion as he forgives all those who have wronged him.
6. That God lead him away from everything in the business, social, educational and recreational realms in which there would be temptation. In so doing he indicates that he is ready and willing to follow God's leading.

7. That he shall be removed by God's leadership from all that is displeasing to God—no matter what the thing is or what influence or hold it has upon his life activities.

8. The one praying acquiesces all claim to any credit, glory or honor in life and success. It all belongs to God.

This model prayer is one of the most tremendous prayers ever prayed. Let it pass no man's lips without the most earnest attention to its inward activity and possibilities in his life.

v. 14, 15, 2 Tim. 3. Paul here is giving wise admonition to young Timothy. It is often easy for a young man to err who has not had years of experience to point him to the solution of trials and difficulties. But Paul gives young Timothy and all others a means of certain guidance.

If one is willing to abide according to God's word, to learn it and apply it to his life and daily activities, he will be able to overcome any trials. God's word is not only able to make one wise concerning eternal salvation, but to save those who cherish it from the pitfalls of life. It will give to one a greater and stronger faith.

v. 16. All of God's word is valuable and of profit for teaching. It will bring conviction or reproof to the heart that is in error. It will instruct him how to live aright. It will give any man true instruction concerning the righteousness of God, and his need of that righteousness.

v. 17. A man using God's word to that extent will be well able to accomplish the services desired by God. He will be ready to meet trials, and to face sudden temptations which appear as innocent pastimes, and are wolves in sheep's clothing. Hide God's word in your heart, and He will hide you in His bosom of protection.
