Saturday Will Be First Trades Day

Old Santa Claus to Visit McLean Saturday, Dec. 17

Free Gifts to Be Given All Children

Parade in Honor of Santa's Coming

Arrangements have been made for Old Santa Claus to visit McLean with a free gift for all children under 14 years of age, who will meet him at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, Dec. 17.

Old Santa will present each boy and girl with a sack of candy and fruit, and the old saint will be greeted with a parade in his honor, with the high school band to furnish music.

The arrangement with old Santa has been made by the merchants of McLean who want to see that each child in the McLean territory is made happy during this Christmas season. The streets and show windows will be decorated in honor of Santa's visit and arrangements are being made to entertain five thousand people on that day.

Christmas trees are to be placed in front of each business house, show windows will all be decorated, and a festive air will prevail all over the business district.

Colored lights will be strung along the streets and other decorative material will be used to add to the season's festivities.

McLean merchants have holiday displays of goods, bought on the present low market and specially priced for the Christmas season.

Those paying for a page advertisement in this issue of The News and cooperating with others in buying gifts are: American National Bank, Erwin Drug Co., Cobb's 5c to $1.00 Store, M. System, Caldwell Bakery, J. M. Stubblefield, Sitter Furniture Co., Butler Tire Store, The Fair Store, Joan Mertel, Hamilton-Doolen Bldg. Co., The Famous, Piggy Wigley Packet's Cash Grocery and The McLean News.

PLAY TOURNAMENT PLEASURES

One of the most pleasing programs given at the high school auditorium was staged by the elementary school in a play tournament last Thursday evening.

Four plays were staged by different grades: $1.50 being awarded to the one judged the best. "Fun in a Photograph Gallery" won the prize. Other plays were: "Buying a Suit for Jimmy," "When Father Goes on a Diet," and "No Girls Admitted."

Music was furnished by the junior band, directed by Prof. Robt. C. Davidson. The fifth grade girls gave a Chinese dance, Charles Cunningham gave a reading, and Billie Jean Biggers played a piano solo.

Principal A. R. McHaney made the announcements, and Supt. G. C. Boswell presented the prize. The proceeds are to be used for U. I. L. expenses.

COM. NEWMAN IN WRECK

Commissioner and Mrs. M. M. Newman were in a car wreck last Friday evening with the result that the Newman car was badly damaged and Mrs. Newman suffered some bruises. Mr. Newman was rounding the outside of a curve on the highway about two miles west of town when he met a car driven by Dave Turner, with only one light, and in some way the drivers misjudged the distance between the cars, causing a collision.

CITY DRUG MOVED

The City Drug Store has moved to the Montgomery Drug corner and is now ready for business in the new

Dr. Grout to Judge McLean Poultry Show

Dr. Geo. P. Grout, agricultural expert of Panhandle, will act as official judge of the McLean poultry show to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Dr. Grout will judge the birds Friday, Dec. 16, all entries to be in place by that day. A nominal entry fee of 10c per bird will be charged exhibitors, prizes being awarded only to those in the McLean trade territory.

Dr. Grout is secretary of the Panhandle chamber of commerce in addition to his duties as vocational agricultural instructor in the high school. He is a breeder of some of the best barred rock chickens in Texas; his herd of purebred Guernsey cattle is second to none in the Panhandle, and he is also a breeder of fine horses. He has held the position as head of the agricultural department of the A. & M. College some 10 years prior to moving to the Panhandle.

The McLean show is directed by Dr. A. A. Tampke, agricultural instructor of the McLean high school, under the auspices of the McLean chamber of commerce, and all poultry fanciers in the McLean section are invited to place exhibits.

This is the fourth annual show under Dr. Tampke's direction, and a large number of birds is promised.

This show will be held at the same place as last year's show was held, at the Masonic building on North Main street.

HOME EC. GUELS SERVE GUEST LUNCHEON WED.

A group of girls in the home economics class of the high school served a guest luncheon Wednesday. Miss Nerine Smith was hostess, Miss Louise Polls served the meal and Miss Pearl Glenn was the guest. Invited guests were: Misses Aline McCarty and Elizabeth Kennedy, and T. A. Landers.

The menu consisted of fruit cocktail, fried chicken, chicken gravy, creamed potatoes, peas, hot biscuit, green glow salad, pineapple-nut ice cream, cookies, coffee.

The luncheon is one of the class projects, different groups serving from time to time, while others prepare the meals.

The department is under the direction of Miss Joeline Vannoy and is self-sustaining.

PHARIS-LAMB

Married, Thursday, Dec. 1, 1932, at Erick, Okla., Miss Mildred Pharis and Mr. Grover Lamb.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Pharis of Ramsdell, and a student in McLean high school. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Lamb of the Plainview community, where they will make their home.

ROGERS IN CHARGE OF STATION

A deal was made this week whereby L. L. Rogers succeeds Josh Turner as manager of the Phillips 66 Service Station.

Mr. Rogers needs no introduction to the motoring public of McLean, as he has been connected with filling stations here in the past, and is fully qualified to give the proper service on all cars.

FINE PANHANDLE PECANS

The News editor is indebted to Prof. C. E. Elman, head of the music department of the West Texas State Teachers College of Canyon, for some fine pecans and black walnuts grown on his place at Canyon.

The quality and quantity of the nuts indicate that they can be successfully grown in the Panhandle.

McLean Beats Spearman for Bi-district Title

The McLean Tigers crushed the Spearman Lynx at Pampa Friday for bi-district honors, with a score of 14 to 6, before a crowd of 2500 enthusiastic fans.

Pampa football enthusiasts said that the game was the best ever seen in Harvester Park, regardless of class, and many gridiron classics have been played at the park. There was something doing every minute of the game, the Tigers playing the whole game without a substitution. Spearman made two substitutions.

McLean made 7 in the first quarter and 7 in the last, Spearman making 6 in the first.

Following are the statistics of the game:

First downs—McLean 13, Spearman 4.

Yards gained rushing—McLean 231, Spearman 98.

Yards lost rushing—McLean 35, Spearman 15.

Passes—McLean none, Spearman 3, 2 incomplete, 1 for 2 yards against wind.

Punts—McLean 9 for 36-yard average, Spearman 7 for 36-yard average.

Returning punts—McLean 35 yards, Spearman 23 yards.

Returning kick-offs—McLean 59 yards, Spearman 33 yards.

Penalties—McLean 3 for 15 yards, Spearman 1 for 5 yards.

Fumbles—McLean 4, lost 2; Spearman 2, recovered.

Touchdowns—McLean, Crockett and Christian; Spearman, Madden.

Points after touchdown—McLean 2, Crockett and Ellison.

The McLean band accompanied the team to Pampa and did good work for the team and added to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

The Tigers will meet the fighting Olney team Saturday for the final tilt to decide the regional championship.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE SPEAKER HERE TUESDAY

Henry Van Valkenburgh, Ph. D., Anti-Saloon League speaker, will make an address at the high school auditorium next Tuesday at 7:15 p. m. The high school band will play for the occasion.

Dr. Valkenburgh comes with a good reputation as an entertaining and instructive speaker. His subject will be "Beer, Prosperity and Prohibition."

Admission will be free to everyone and all are invited to attend.

THREE TOWNS COMBINE FOR LOWER PHONE RATES

Panhandle, White Deer and Groom are in a fight for lower telephone rates. In Groom about one-half of phones have been ordered discontinued by the subscribers until the rates are lowered. In the other towns efforts are being made to have the company grant lower rates without resorting to ordering phones out; however, the chambers of commerce in all of the towns are waging a stiff battle for lowered rates.

BURK-CHAMBERS

Married, Sunday, Nov. 27, 1932, at Hollis, Okla., Miss Bernice Burk and Mr. Cloyce Chambers, Rev. Carpenter performing the ceremony.

The bride is a niece of Mrs. Pete Pubright of McLean, a graduate of the Hollis high school and a student of Cordell College.

The groom is employed by the county, and they will make their home in McLean.

ORCHID BEAUTY SHOPPE MOVES

The Orchid Beauty Shoppe, Mrs. S. M. Hodges owner, has moved from the Hindman Hotel building to the Theatre building, next door to the city secretary's office.

Community Chest Officers to Be Elected Monday

A meeting of the Community Chest has been called for Monday night, beginning at 7:30, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year.

Officers who were elected Oct. 26, last year, and whose terms are expiring are: Johnnie R. Back president, Rev. J. H. Crow vice president, Miss Ruby Cook secretary, Reep Landers treasurer, J. S. Morse, Geo. W. Sitter, J. M. Noel, O. G. Stokely, J. M. Carpenter and D. N. Massay directors.

No general meetings of the community chest were held this year; however, the president and directors have taken care of the situations as they arose.

President Back says that everyone in the community is considered a member of the community chest, regardless of whether he has contributed anything to the fund, and is invited to attend the meeting Monday and take part in the election of officers.

Full reports from the outgoing officers will probably be given of the past year's work, and it is hoped that all interested will be present.

F. W. GIRARD IS LIONS CLUB VISITOR TUESDAY

F. W. Girard of Amarillo, representative of Butler Bros., Dallas, was a Lions Club visitor as the guest of Jesse J. Cobb, at the regular weekly luncheon Tuesday.

Mr. Girard says that he has more than a business interest in McLean, praising the hospitality of McLean people and giving some interesting insights on the reputation of the Tiger football team.

Tuesday's program was in charge of Witt Springer, but owing to Lion Springer's moving his drug store Tuesday, the program was turned over to the members present, and various subjects were discussed.

D. A. Davis reported for the Trades Club committee and offered to pay the expenses of a man to take charge the first day.

The meeting of the community chest was announced and discussion showed a preponderance of opinion that the community chest and community service council should combine, as the town is too small for two similar organizations and that one strong one could do more efficient work. The need of strict accounting and complete records to be made public was stressed.

Carl O. Greene reported for the Christmas decorations committee and various announcements were made.

POULTRY TEAM TO PERRYTON

By Dr. A. A. Tampke

The McLean P. F. A. poultry judging team has been invited to participate in the Perryton poultry judging contest Dec. 16, where a permanent silver loving cup is offered the winners; also cash prizes to the first three high individual winners.

"The McLean boys are getting down to hard work to be in good shape to give a good account of themselves against such strong teams as Supply and Guymon, Okla. When a team beats these two teams, it is considered a hard day's work. McLean has the honor of claiming a victory over Guymon at the Tri-state fair last September.

FOOTBALL GAME WICHITA FALLS

The regional championship football game to be played by the McLean Tigers and the Olney team will be staged Saturday afternoon at Wichita Falls.

The Olney team beat the Brownfield team for bi-district honors last week with a lop-sided score, and is expected to give the Tigers some strong opposition.

Vester Smith was in Pampa Friday.

Illness Causes Postponement of Minstrel Show

What amounts to almost an epidemic of flu among the members of the cast of the big minstrel and musical show scheduled for Friday evening has forced a postponement of the show to a later date.

The show is being staged under the auspices of the Community Service Council and all proceeds will be used for charity.

Attorney Claude Williams plays the part of interlocuter of the minstrel show, with W. K. Wharton, S. D. Shelburne, Bartow Landers, N. E. Pogue, Jack Roberts and Alva Alexander as negro endmen.

A large musical chorus has been assembled and specialty acts have been arranged. Dr. Thomas M. Montgomery, a member of Amarillo's Little Theatre movement, with others, will be here for a number, and some dancers from Pampa will be on the program.

Carl O. Greene is chairman of the show committee, Miss Ruby Cook is director, Evan L. Sitter selected the musical numbers, and G. C. Boswell and T. A. Landers have charge of the publicity.

Music will be furnished by the high school orchestra, directed by Prof. Robt. C. Davidson.

SECOND RELIEF FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR WINTER

Wilbur C. Hawk of Amarillo, president of the West Texas chamber of commerce, has requested T. A. Landers, McLean director of that body, to make known Gov. Sterling's request for all towns that expect to share in the second emergency relief of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the months of January, February and March, 1933, to make application for the funds before December 15.

McLean had a chance on the first allotment, but it was thought that the local charity organizations could take care of all relief needed.

In the application blank, in the hands of the local director, it must be stated the number of families and non-family persons in need, the total amount expended by the local committee, and the estimated needs for the coming three months.

It is not known whether McLean will make an application at this time, as plans for relief are in the hands of the community chest and community service council.

TIGERS ENTERTAINED AT WITT SPRINGER HOME

Mrs. Witt Springer entertained the Tiger football team with a banquet at the Springer home Wednesday evening and a theatre party at the American Theatre, which followed the banquet.

SIGMA GAMMA

The Sigma Gamma met in regular meeting on Monday evening, Dec. 5, with Misses Nona and Jewell Cousins as hostesses. The program was centered on the life and work of Lady Holo, the author of "A Portrait of a Chinese Lady." Several members were absent.

After the program, a social hour was enjoyed until late. Most delicious refreshments of gingerbread and whipped cream with coffee and tea were served to the guests.

DR. BATSON MOVES OFFICE

Dr. C. B. Batson has moved his office to the rear of the Corner drug building now occupied by City Drug Store, next door to the Jiffy Lunch.

Dr. Batson is having new equipment placed and will have a fully modern office.

Peab Everett was in Pampa Friday

Farmers and Others Are Invited

Trades Days to Be Held Twice Month

The first of the semi-monthly trades days sponsored by the McLean Lions Club will be held at the vacant lots south of the Chevrolet garage Saturday.

Farmers and others who have anything of whatever nature to trade, are invited to bring their articles to town Saturday, when a good crowd of prospective customers is expected.

The trades days will be held on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month, and will be continued indefinitely, if sufficient interest is manifested.

Trades days were an established order in McLean with a measure of success some years ago, and the revival of the idea is expected to work to the interest of all who may have the opportunity of securing some needed article without an outlay of cash.

D. A. Davis, manager of the Service Gin, is chairman of the Lions committee in charge of the trades days, and any information may be secured from Mr. Davis.

RABBITS TO BE SHOWN AT THE MCLEAN SHOW

By Dr. A. A. Tampke
The management of the McLean poultry show to be held Dec. 15-17, has provided for the entry of rabbits, charging the same entry fee as for poultry, 10c each, and 25c for doe and litter. The classes will be limited to five for each breed: Buck over 6 months old, doe over 6 months old, junior buck under 6 months old, junior doe under 6 months old, and doe and litter.

With a display of rabbits, pigeons, fancy poultry and the regular standard utility poultry breeds given full competitive privileges, a very attractive show is anticipated.

STUDY CLUB

The Study Club met with Mrs. J. W. Butler last Thursday afternoon.

Plans were completed for the annual Christmas party to be held at the home of Mrs. E. E. Watkins the evening of Dec. 15th.

The following program was presented with Mrs. I. E. Dishman as leader: Subject—Paris.

Roll call—Quote and translate a familiar French idiom.

Along the Boulevards—Mrs. Ercy Cubine.

Eiffel Tower—Mrs. G. C. Boswell.

Arc de Triomphe—Mrs. C. C. Bogan.

The Cathedral of Notre Dame—Mrs. H. W. Brooks.

Bastille—Mrs. Lillie Little.

Sorbonne—Mrs. E. L. Sitter.

Refreshments were served to the following: guests, Mesdames Clint Doolen, Jerry Boston, Clarence Wiley, Donald Beall, Ben Jackson; members, Mesdames C. C. Bogan, W. E. Bogan, G. C. Boswell, Willie Boyett, H. W. Brooks, Ercy Cubine, D. A. Davis, I. E. Dishman, C. G. Goff, C. O. Greene, Lillie Little, T. A. Massay, S. D. Shelburne, E. L. Sitter, Mary Sligar, W. B. Upham and Miss Ruby Cook.

BASKETBALL NEXT WEEK

A basketball tournament will be staged in McLean Friday and Saturday of next week, with representatives from various nearby schools taking part.

WAKNING

Walking Down Broadway

Produced as a Fox Picture with James Dunn and Boots Mallory Under the Direction of Erich von Stroheim

CHAPTER I

It was summertime on Broadway. The night air was warm in the brilliant glow of millions of electric lights; alive with the shrill shrieks of motor sirens, the blatant blasts of traffic whistles and the shuffling tread of pedestrians. A tall, ungainly and forlorn looking young girl slackened her pace and glanced back over her shoulder.

"They're right behind us!" she whispered to her companion a pretty blonde girl of eighteen, who in a timid voice queried, "Are they?" They had hardly stopped before a shop window when two boys sauntered up beside them.

"Say, ain't that the cat's pups?" giggled the forlorn girl, pointing to a wax infant, held by a mannequin nurse.

"Yes," replied her companion. "Look at that cute little hand."

"Wouldn't mind havin' that baby's hand holdin' on to Mac," cut in one of the boys, a typical Broadway flirt.

The blonde girl hooked her arm thru her companion's and started away.

"Say—what's the hurry—baby face?" asked the flirtatious boy.

"You've got a lot of nerve," said the blonde girl indignantly. "We don't know you!"

"Don't know me! Say, you're talkin' to Gable in person."

"Glad to meetcha, Mr. Gable," giggled the forlorn one. "I'm Greta Garbo, and this is Gloria Swanson."

"Well, if it ain't Gloria. How are you, glorious?" Riveting his eyes on the blonde girl's hips he continued, "Say! With them shoulders—"

"I didn't know you were so funny, Mr. Gable," sneered the blonde.

"You didn't! Say, did I ever tell you the one about—"

For the first time the other boy sneaked. He was a younger chap, clean cut and good looking.

"Cut it, Mac!" he said reproachfully. "Say! What's the matter?" questioned Mac in a surly tone.

"You'll have to excuse Mac," apologized the boy. "He's always clowning."

The homely girl turned shyly to her companion. "Who's your friend?"

"Oh—my social error! This is your 'what's this!'"

"Come on, Peg," chimed in the homely girl. "Be a sport! Look at me!" She raised her glass and ogled the good looking boy. "Our eyes have met, our lips not yet—but, oh you Jimmy! I'll get you yet!"

Peggy took a little sip, choked, and setting down her glass, rose from the table. "I—I'd like to powder my nose," she said softly.

"Well, you big shot from Hicksville—see how easy it was?" said Mac when the girls had left the table.

"Nothin' to it!"

"No! Nothin' to it!" grumbled his friend. "And what a pal you are! You take the girl I want and I have to take what's left!"

"Say—Jimmy! My mother didn't raise dumb clucks." And getting up, Mac, too, left the table. He was back in a few minutes, a broad smile on his face as he shoved a solitaire ring before Jimmy's face.

"Look—cornfed—ain't it a beauty? Worth a grand—easy!"

"Sure is a pip!" gasped Jimmy.

"Where'd you get it?"

"Fire sale! Catch on? Say, Jimmy, lend me twenty bucks, will you?"

"Listen, Mac," Jimmy protested, "you owe me forty dollars now!"

"Say, ain't I good for a couple of bucks?" Mac handed Jimmy a white envelope. "I'll show you I'm on the up and up. Here's twenty M. & M. lottery tickets—worth twenty berries! I need the dough. I'll buy the tickets back from you next week."

Jimmy thought for a moment, shrugged and reached into his pocket. "O. K." he complied hesitantly, "but I want my money back."

Mac no sooner had the money when a rough looking fellow ambled up to the table, and as he passed, Mac slipped him the bills. He sat silently for a moment, admiring the ring.

"I'll betcha she falls for this piece of fool! Wanta bet?"

"No," replied Jimmy glumly, "she's a nice girl."

"Sure, she's a nice girl, or I wouldn't—"

"Catch on?" Mac laughed. "Listen, Mac! Watch papa! I'll leav'n you technique! I'll pour another shot in 'er if I have to use a funnel—then I'll take her dancin' and—"

"Yeah!" interrupted Jimmy. "Well, I'll bet on her!"

"How much?" asked Mac, taking him quickly at his word.

"Everything you owe me!" said Jimmy eagerly.

"That's sixty-five bucks! And no buttin' in!"

"That's a go!" agreed Jimmy, shaking Mac's hand on the wager.

The next moment the girls returned to the table and for an hour or two they danced joyously to the cheap at each other and their faces suddenly lighted as Peggy and Jimmy returned.

"Well—where do we go from here?" giggled Millie, mooning at Jimmy.

"Where do you bims live?" asked Mac flatly.

Peggy hesitated before answering. "Forty-seventh Street and Ninth."

Mac and Jimmy both started to laugh.

"Is that a laugh, or is it a laugh?" chuckled Mac. "We live right across the street, O'Leary's Hotel."

Peggy and Millie glanced incredulously at each other.

"Isn't that a kick?" laughed Peggy. "Here we are living right across the street from each other and we had to walk down Broadway to meet!"

"Ain't that just like New York, though?" said Jimmy.

"Well, we can't sit here all night gassin' about it," said Mac, impatiently. Rising to his feet, he took Peggy by the arm. "Let's scram."

Sports Editors: Harry Pettit, Florence Clemmons
Joke Editor: Artie Lee Smith
Business Managers: Burnett Greenwood, Ralph Palmer
Grade School Editor: Faye Pettit

Due to the fact that the school had been pilfered and the members of the faculty were busy locating the missing material, this column did not appear last week.

The Alanreed P. T. A. will meet in regular session Thursday night. The program will consist of entertainment numbers by the 4th to 6th grades, and a short talk on some phase of the school work by the superintendent. The P. T. A. is growing and doing some good work for the school. The children especially appreciate their room mothers.

King Cotton has had his annual reign and now will go into hibernation until another fall. Our enrollment, which has been somewhat short for the past six weeks, is about the same as our original enrollment for the year. Special effort is being made to help those who were compelled of necessity to miss several weeks of school to make it up so that they will be able to make their credit this year.

The Longhorns are getting in shape for battle now. Several challenges have been received in the past few days and we expect to be able to meet some of them in the near future. Coach Dillard says that the boys are doing well now and that he expects the team to do some good work in the coming matches.

The girls will begin doing some practice in basketball now that most of them are back in school and there is a sufficient number to have teams for practice. They have spent the fall in playing volley ball and practicing some for the contest that will come off in the spring. Whether the girls play a winning game or not, they are good sports and will play clean games, displaying plenty of good sportsmanship.

The health records show some improvements in the general condition of some of the students in regard to weight. The first record showed a number to be under and over weight, but the last one shows that this has been corrected to a large extent.

The high school, under the direction of Miss Bowman, had charge of the chapel program this week. After the opening song by the school, and the devotional, Miss Bowman entertained at the general assembly with several short dramatizations, including comic strips and the troubles of a family with the typical Ford, and a story. The following numbers were rendered: Crossing the Railroad Track by a group of high school and grade school students. Chris Christy (comic strip dramatization) by Ernest Tipton, Burnett Greenwood, Graham Reeves. The Old Ford by a group of high and grammar school students. It's Papa Who Pays (comic strip) by Ralph Palmer and Joeldine Kiser. Story, Androcles and the Lion, by Myrie Guill.

GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

The pupils of the fourth and fifth grade room surprised their teacher with a fruit shower last Tuesday. During the morning recess the gifts were arranged on the desk by several of the girls. There were oranges, apples, bananas, grapes and three different kinds of nuts among the gifts. The shower was greatly appreciated, but most of all the spirit that prompted the activity was appreciated.

"Well, it's always summertime on Broadway," Millie murmured. "Where do we go from here?" (James Dunn, LaSa Pitts, Boots Mallory and Terrace Ray)

Jackie Cooper!"

"I'm glad to meetcha," smiled the girl at Mac's companion.

"Glad to know you—too," the boy replied.

"Eev do you do!" chimed in the blonde girl shyly.

A pause followed and then a long giggle from the homely one.

"Well, it's always summertime on Broadway," she murmured. "Where do we go from here?"

They all laughed and Mac, taking the blonde girl by the arm, said, "I'll lead—an' you follow."

It was to a cheap, rough-looking sreaky that Mac led them, where at a table near the dance floor he ordered a round of drinks.

"Isn't it funny—the way you meet in New York?" said the blonde girl to Mac's friend, as the waiter set down their drinks. "One minute you never saw them—and the next minute you're with them."

"It's funny, all right—if you think about it," he smiled.

Mac suddenly noticed that she had not touched the drink.

inharmonious music. But try as he did, Jimmy could not get a dance with Peggy. Mas was already ahead of him. It was just before the last dance of the evening that Millie suggested they exchange partners and Mac could not refuse without appearing discourteous and unbecoming. Jimmy leaped at the opportunity and he danced around the floor rapturously with Peggy.

Jimmy Millie wished this on you!" murmured Peggy, thinking it was Millie whom Jimmy was smitten with.

And Jimmy, believing Peggy favored Mac, replied, "Oh—that's all right! Too bad you missed this dance with Mac!"

"I'm glad you and Millie like each other," Peggy whispered after a long silence.

"Yes! We're getting along swell! And I'm glad you and Mac understand each other," Jimmy answered her coolly.

"We sure do!" Peggy pretended.

"Mac knows what he wants and he goes after it!"

"Isn't it funny—how we both kicked the right girl," said Jimmy. The music suddenly stopped, and as he started to lead her back to the table, she answered ironically, "Yes—sure—is funny!"

At the table Millie and Mac were sitting blankly and disinterestedly as

Mrs. Davis Continues Her Education

You know Mrs. Davis—the little bride. Two weeks before her marriage she graduated from college with high honors. But in one respect her education has been neglected.

Yesterday, for instance, she picked up the telephone and called the grocer. "I would like," she said politely, "to have some things sent up. A bag of flour—three packages of breakfast food—one can of baking powder—six bottles of ginger ale—a pound of coffee—a package of—what's that? Oh, why I'm sure I don't know what brand. Just any kind, I guess!"

No wonder the storekeeper interrupted her. He gets few orders like that nowadays. For wise housewives buy things by name. Not merely groceries, but kitchenware and piece good and household appliances; shoes and shirts and garden seeds; all the thousand and one things they need.

Mrs. Davis will complete her education. She will learn to study the advertisements in the newspaper and to keep herself informed as to qualities and prices. She will take her place alongside of other women as the efficient purchasing agent of her home.

Read the advertising columns of this paper regularly. They are your guide-posts to safe buying. Advertisers are safe merchants.

Entered as second class mail matter May 8, 1906, at the post office at McLean, Texas, under act of Congress.

Many a man cultivates his liabilities instead of his assets.

Cut-price artists and fake sales promoters are being banned by ordinance in many cities. These kind of times have bred many fake schemes for the unwary, and every precaution should be taken against losing money on doubtful propositions.

Several have remarked the passing of the one-time popular abbreviation of the word Christmas. The abbreviation was thought to be lacking in reverence and newspapers dropped it from their columns with the result that it is seldom seen anywhere any more.

Hunger marchers in Washington this week wanted: "To hell with beer, we want bread." This is inelegant language, but certainly expressive of the best interest of the people. It is strange that people would be led after the beer mirage when there is pressing need for the essential things of life.

A North Carolina advertiser recently paid postage rates on 3,500 circulars that were distributed by hand, although 1,500 had been mailed, because he failed to have the postal permit removed from those distributed by hand. A permit is subject to cancellation if used in any way except through the mails.

A large number of citizens have given a lot of their time and money to state the program scheduled for Friday evening, and it is only fair that every person in the community buy a ticket for the program, as the proceeds will be used for charity work, and at the same time for the cemetery. If funds are not made available in this manner, a paper will have to be circulated for donations later on.

At least 25% of each issue of The News is read by two or more families. They do borrow this newspaper. We know of one instance where five families read the same paper each week. How many families do you know that borrow the "canned" salebills put out by some out-of-town concern? The bills on the postoffice floor and around the rural mail boxes should convince anyone that this kind of advertising is "out" in these times. News advertising costs less per dollar of sales than any other kind available to McLean merchants.

Flushed with success from using the party whip, it now seems that only those who voted the ticket straight will be allowed to have the party plums. This works out nicely for the party, but might not be so good for the people. The people need men in office who are best qualified for the place, and the mere fact that a man voted the ticket straight is hardly enough. We had made progress toward eliminating the plum system to a large extent, but it seems that the depression has knocked us backward in this regard, as well as financially and otherwise.

There is a need for a strong charity organization to take care of unfortunate people in McLean, and the thought that one could, perhaps, function better than two is well taken. During the past, for various reasons, it has been thought best to have two, but the time has arrived when it seems as if one strong one, with proper committees to look after the various interests, might be better. This question will probably arise at the community chest meeting Monday night, as the members of the community chest voted on the question at the community service council last week.

We appreciate the nice things said about our paper, and we are glad that people refer to it as "our" paper, for that is what we are striving to make it—a real community asset. People as a rule take the home paper for granted; it is expected to carry on regardless of whether any business is given the editor or not. A newspaper is supposed to boost every business in town—or at least to say nothing that might injure anyone—yet most people feel free to do just as they like about contributing to the paper's support. We are glad that many people in McLean feel their responsibility toward the home paper and are helping us to keep a creditable paper advertising the community each week.

Next Sunday's Lesson

THE CHRISTIAN'S USE OF LEISURE

By Rev. Cecil G. Goff
Golden text, 1 Cor. 10:31. Lesson text, Nehemiah 8:10-17; Mark 6:30-32.

Neh. 8:10-17. The law had been read. The people learned that God had commanded them that during the Feast of Tabernacles in the seventh month the people should leave their towns and houses. They were to make booths out of shrubbery and dwell in them to remind them of the wilderness experience of their fathers, and of the fact that after all, they were nothing more than sojourners and pilgrims in the world. The people were anxious to follow out the commands according to God's word, as all of God's children should. Accordingly, they went out to find material to make the booths and carried out the feast according to God's commands. The people worked with great enthusiasm and were rewarded with peaceful and easy consciences. Gladness ruled among them for this feast had not been so scrupulously observed since the day of Joshua.

Gladness will always fall upon God's people when they hearken unto God's word and carry out His commands as He has given them.

Mark 16:30-32. Jesus had sent His disciples to teach and preach. They had returned to tell Him their experiences, joys and sorrows. They had been working hard and so had Jesus. But the people continued to press upon them. Jesus just took the twelve across the sea and went out in the wilderness where they could not be found, that they might have some leisure.

The human body requires certain rest and recuperation. It is necessary that the mind and body be turned to different and diverting tasks now and then. The purpose of Jesus in this case was to rest the bodies and renew the spiritual strength that better work might be done, that more good might be accomplished.

There are very few of us that do not have some leisure time. Some persons choose to find other occupation for that time. Others choose to loaf, and others to put it to use in some pleasure. The old adage, "tell me what you do with your leisure time and I will know what you really are," is still exceptionally true, even down to modern times.

Men who have side occupations in which to spend spare time can be fathomed by the kind of interest they have espoused. If it is legitimate and uplifting—his inner nature is also. If it is degrading, his inner nature is degraded. The woman who spends her time reading True Story magazines or similar periodicals, either faces a wrecked home, or has a good opportunity to fall heir to one. The character of the future man is most always foreseen by the things the child does because of heart's desire. Watch the child that loves to kick a dog, and beware of his manhood character.

This is true because in our leisure time we do those things which appeal to us most. Most men and women have required tasks to perform, and most children have regular school hours to govern their activities. But when these are finished and over, our minds naturally turn to those things which please our innermost desires.

Men should be careful to serve God at all times, but especially so in their leisure time. Most church services are during general leisure time, yet there are never one-third of the people in services at one time. God's services are neglected by many—and most trivial things come in their place. The more one attends God's services or serves God in any way, the greater desire he has to continue (Neh. 8:10).

Happiness and holiness are not inconsistent. There has been a time when they were so considered by many. Christians have reason to be the happiest people on earth. They have more to be happy for and a greater capacity for joy (Neh. 8:2).

As we go through life, Nehemiah 8:16 says that the past with its reminders should be an aid in the shaping of the future. We all make mistakes, and yet the very realization should draw us to a better present and future service of God.

The Master desired that His disciples should have rest and leisure, and He would in like manner desire for us to have the same. But His desire was that it should better fit the disciples for greater service. So He would have you and me spend our leisure time in preparing ourselves for better service of the Master who died for us.

LOLA RUTH STANFIELD ON HONOR ROLL

Miss Lola Ruth Stanfield was among the 46 students of Texas Woman's College whose names appeared on the honor roll, as announced this week. According to the honor roll, the student government of Texas Woman's College is carried on by the "Intelligensia" of the college, as all four of the class presidents, as well as the president, vice president, secretary and treasurer of the student body, are listed with this group. Miss Stanfield is a daughter of Mrs. A. Stanfield of McLean, and is in her freshman year.

WETS KIDDING THEMSELVES

The depression is about to end. With the opening of congress, all prohibition laws will be repealed—according to the wets—America will become dripping wet, everyone will get gloriously drunk, the treasury will be overflowing with money, and everything will be grand and glorious—all because prohibition has been repealed. The wets have assumed a most absurd position. Taking money away from the people for liquor when they feed bread will never solve the money condition. Yet the wets continue to kid themselves, and a lot of other people who have not thought the thing through. Sobriety will be more apt to return prosperity than will drunkenness, as everyone who knows anything about the curses of liquor realizes.—Canyon News.
