Tigers Hold Heavy Olney Eleven to Six to 0 Score

Gridiron Is Covered with Ice and Sleet

Weather Against Game with Olney Team Saturday

The McLean Tigers, fighting against much heavier team and in enemy territory, held the Olney eleven to six to score, last Saturday afternoon. The game was played at Wichita Falls, about 50 miles from Olney, on a field covered with ice and sleet. Team and harrow was used to try to break up the surface of the ice in the field and hoses were used to melt the ice on the icy field. The players used gloves with the ends of the fingers cut off, in the beginning of the game, but most of them were soon lost in the battle of one of the hardest games of the season.

The bitter cold kept most of the fans at home and something less than 500 people saw the game. The McLean band accompanied the team and several local fans were in attendance.

The Tigers were rated as the underdog from the first, but that did not keep them from making Olney earn the only touchdown of the game.

This was the last game of the season to determine the championship of class B teams and represents the only defeat the Tigers have suffered this year.

Coach Rush did not use a substitute during the game and Olney used only one. McLean had the advantage on first downs, 8 to 6. Olney drew 6 penalties for a loss of 40 yards. McLean drew 6 for a loss of 20 yards.

DR. HILL EXPLAINS COLLEGE SITUATION

December 10, 1932. Mr. T. A. Landers, editor, The McLean News, McLean, Texas.

Dear Mr. Landers:

You have read about the recommendations of the Legislative Committee on Efficiency and Economy and what it proposes to do to the West Texas State Teachers College. The proposal is so radical that many people merely laugh at it. However, it represents a well organized and powerfully supported attempt to emasculate this institution. I know whereof I speak.

Planted here on this far-flung frontier in 1910 this college has given educational opportunity to more than 15,000 of our youth. There is scarcely a community in the northwest quarter of the state that has not sent some of her children here for higher educational privileges or felt the uplift of this institution through the teachers that have gone out to instruct the youth. It is no idle boast of mine when I say that the West Texas State Teachers College has raised the level of educational facilities in Northwest Texas during these 22 years in a measure unparalleled by any other institution in this state.

It now has thousands of its ex-students serving as county and city superintendents, high school principals and supervisors, and teachers of every kind from the humblest one-teacher rural school to the largest city systems of this state. To close this college or to reduce it to junior rank would set back public education in this territory at least two decades. In fact, it would challenge the very theory of public education upon which this nation of ours is built. No greater calamity can happen than for the people to permit selfish and insidious interests to strike down those very institutions that cultivate and diffuse among the people the very ideals upon whose permanent and stable existence we depend for our rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

The teachers college is an open door to the higher life for the poor man's children. 75 per cent of our students could not go elsewhere to college because they do not have the means. Hence, the fight upon the teachers colleges of this state is nothing short of an attempt to drive the wedge still further between the privileged and the unprivileged classes. All who believe in our American doctrine of equality of opportunity should line up solidly against the committee's proposal.

The recommendation is said to be made in the interest of economy. Let's see about that. The state has an investment of $1,200,000 in this institution. The proposal would, in effect, close this plant and turn it over to the bats. Don't let the proposal to make us a junior college fool anyone. This is only a sop to satisfy the unthinking and minimize the opposition to the program. If the committee had said, "Lock your

Van Valkenburgh Hits Efforts to Legalize Beer

Dr. Henry Van Valkenburgh, speaker for the Anti-Saloon League, denounced the attempt being made to repeal the 18th amendment, to an interested audience at the high school auditorium Tuesday night.

Dr. Van Valkenburgh declared the adoption of the 18th amendment is the greatest achievement since the Bible, and the greatest step forward in all social history. He likened it to a dam in the stream of human life, with 5,000 years of history behind it and only 12 years this side of it. During those 12 years it has achieved incredibly great results in undoing the evils brought about by the 5,000 years that had gone before. It has changed the life and character of America for the better.

The speaker declared the attempts to destroy the amendment is fostered by the liquor interests of foreign nations, seeking an American market for their liquors.

Ten per cent of the American people own 90% of the property and they are seeking to shift the tax burden upon the masses of the people.

Beer would take one million cows off the farms. It would add to the burden of the farmers.

Beer would give jobs to 39,000 men, but would take jobs from 264,000 men now producing things that beer would replace. It would cause the sale of millions less in raw materials.

If the 18th amendment is repealed the federal government will lose all the police power it now possesses and there will be no power left to prevent the return of the saloon.

During the 12 years of prohibition from 40 to 70 billion dollars have been added to the wealth of the nation. When prohibition came into effect there were 272 Keeley, or liquor cure, institutions in the land. There are now 12, and the sale of liquor has been cut down 65% to 90%.

"doors," the uprising in Northwest Texas would have been irresistible. Instead, we are tossed a red apple rotten beneath the skin, and are expected to be satisfied with it. Moreover, just how much would be the saving if all expenses here were eliminated? Well, if the students that should otherwise come here, went, let us say, to the University or A. & M. College, the cost would be greater for the individual student and certainly as great for the state. Of course, many of them would not go anywhere, because college statistics prove beyond a shadow of doubt that colleges draw 75 per cent of their patronage from a hundred mile radius. Hence, the amount of education would be greatly reduced in an age that is suffering for the want of it. Not only this, but the average cost of the West Texas State Teachers College over a period of five years ending with the current biennium is less than 5 cents for each of its citizens—less than two first class postage stamps. Moreover, the gross cost this year is 27 per cent less than it was 5 years ago.

Again let me call your attention to the fact that the committee's proposal would leave no teacher-training institution in 350 miles of the center of the Panhandle territory. Such a step would be politically unwise, educationally unjust, and socially undemocratic. When considered in the light of the amount of taxes paid into the state the proposal is little short of an insult to an intelligent public. I appeal to you, to use your influence and that of your paper to defeat all such measures.

Cordially yours,
J. A. Hill, President,
West Texas State Teachers College

Mrs. E. J. Lander returned Sunday from a visit with relatives at Oklahoma City.

Community Chest Officers to Be Elected Tonight

A second try to get a quorum present to elect officers for the Community Chest will be made tonight (Thursday) at the city secretary's office, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Monday night's meeting for this purpose was a failure as only five people braved the cold for the meeting.

If a quorum is present tonight, it is expected that the question of disbarring the community chest will be raised again, this matter passing at a recent meeting attended by about 50 people, but later rescinded on account of lack of proper publicity for the meeting.

President Johnnie R. Back, in a conversation with a representative of The News, states that if a quorum cannot be secured tonight, it will be taken to mean that the old officers are expected to continue in office, and appointments will be made accordingly; however, he insists that every one interested be present and make their wishes known.

Mr. Back says that everyone in the community is entitled to vote at the meeting tonight whether they contribute anything to the chest, or not, and that all have a cordial invitation to be present.

TIGERS COMPLIMENTED

Olney, Texas, Dec. 12, 1932.

Mr. G. C. Boswell, Supt., McLean Public Schools, McLean, Texas.

Dear Mr. Boswell:

Our regional game is over, and I must admit that I would not be "overly" anxious to attend another soon under like circumstances, both from the standpoint of weather conditions and the uncertainty of the outcome.

I am not an expert in football, but I will say frankly that your team gave us one of the hardest and cleanest fights we have had this season. We have won some games without feeling particularly proud of the outcome, but there was no doubt that we had a real football game last Saturday.

I can assure you that there is an added pride in our victory because of having won the regional championship from a team like yours. We hope we may have the privilege of another contest for a similar championship in the years to come.

With every good wish for you, your team, and your school, I am,
Cordially yours,
JOE R. HUMPHREY,
Supt. of Schools.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Dec. 13, 1932.

McLean News, McLean, Texas.

Gentlemen:

We just happened to know that you sent a telegram to KGKO Saturday with reference to the Tiger and Cub game. The writer was out and managed to see a part of the game, and believe me that was some real high school football playing.

It was regretted very much that the weather was so terrible that the game was a financial failure. We want you to know that W. B. McClurkin & Company and the Panhandle Refining Company, sponsors of the radio broadcast, were proud of the fact that you folks up there at McLean were listening in.

We hope that next year the Tigers will be in the play-off and that we can have them back in Wichita Falls. Come to see us when you are in town and with very best wishes of the season, we beg to be,
Yours truly,
W. B. McCLURKAN & COMPANY,
M. Smith, President.

Mesdames H. M. Barnes and E. B. Gardner visited the former's daughter, Mrs. C. F. Seago, at Lela last Thursday.

Joe Rogers was in Pampa Friday.

Prizes in All Classes Are Offered

Exhibitors Have Until Friday Noon to Place

McLean's 4th annual poultry show is now open, with coops and many exhibits in place at the Masonic building on North Main street.

Prizes are offered in all classes and a feature of this year's show is the inclusion of rabbits in the prize classes.

Exhibitors have until Friday noon to place their birds, and while this year's show is limited to breeders of this trade territory, others may show for advertising purposes, and it is expected that this year's show will eclipse all others in number of exhibitors.

A fee of ten cents per bird is charged and prizes and ribbons are offered for the three highest places in each class.

The show is sponsored by the McLean chamber of commerce, and Dr. A. A. Tampke, vocational agricultural instructor of the high school, is general director of the show. Principal John Harding is secretary.

Dr. Tampke said this morning: "I would like to say to breeders, get your birds ready and help put over a record show. Your birds are in as good condition as anyone else's, and you have a good chance to place in the winnings."

"A setting of eggs is offered from the Australorp strain that recently won the national egg laying contest for this breed all over the United States. This same flock had the highest hen in the national contest at Texas A. & M. College with 308 eggs for 52 weeks in 1932 and the 20 bird flock averaged 230 eggs each in the same period. We feel that this is an opportunity for Australorp breeders."

"We also have a S. C. Red cockerel offered by a prominent Panhandle breeder for best trio in this breed and a cockerel for largest and best display of S. C. Reds in open class."

"25 baby chicks are offered for the best dozen white eggs and 25 for the best dozen brown eggs. The winner to have choice of breed and time he wants them."

"These prizes are in addition to the regular prizes and more of this type may be offered before the final judging."

"The Pampa chamber of commerce, through the kindness of secretary Geo. W. Briggs, has loaned us the coops for displays."

"We want everyone to visit the exhibits during the show and ask all the questions you desire."

Synopsis of Preceding Chapter

Jimmy, a clean-cut lad, shares a cheap New York hotel room with Mac. One night they pick up two girls on Broadway. Mac walks off with Peggy, a shy, pretty blonde, leaving Jimmy with the homely, sentimental Millie. At a speakeasy Mac buys a supposedly diamond ring, borrowing the money from Jimmy. He bets Jimmy that Peggy will fall for the ring. During their only dance of the evening, Peggy and Jimmy hide their liking for each in feigned boredom. When it comes time to go home the boys discover that Peggy and Millie live in a rooming house directly across from their hotel.

CHAPTER 2

At Forty-seventh Street and Ninth Avenue the street was torn up for sewer repairs with a wide strip of plank running across the deep excavation. As they started across Millie was giggling and trembling with excitement. Mac, who led the way, made a humorous remark about falling in the sewer which brought a more convulsive giggle from Millie. Then the catastrophe happened.

Millie looked back over her shoulder at Jimmy and in doing so lost her footing. She tripped, fell down, and before anyone could reach her, tumbled into the excavation.

"Help! Jimmy! I'm drowning!" she screamed, disappearing from sight. Jimmy leaped on to an embankment of excavated dirt and kneeling perilously over the yawning hole, dragged the poor girl out. She was petrified with fright. So was Peggy.

"Are you hurt, honey?" Peggy gasped, kneeling down beside Millie.

Millie looked at her, wild-eyed and shook her head feebly. "Look at me," she groaned, "I'm all wet."

"I'll say you're all wet," Mac laughed hilariously.

"Come on—let's take her upstairs," said Jimmy, deeply concerned, helping Millie to her feet.

Peggy led the way and when they reached Millie's room the girl was partly recovered from the shock.

"Once in my life I'm havin' a little fun—an' I gotta fall in the sewer," she sobbed.

"Well—crying about it won't help any," Peggy smiled and gathering up a change of clothing she led Millie to the bathroom in the hall.

When the girls returned to the room, some minutes later, Mac was reclining on the bed and Jimmy was seated in a chair. Millie giggled louder than ever.

"Well—it's always summertime on Broadway," she laughed, and looking lovingly at Jimmy, exclaimed, "You've saved my life, Jimmy! I've never gonna forget it—Jimmy! Never!"

"Awrr—forget it!" Jimmy blushed and to relieve his embarrassment he suggested, "How about me going out for some eats?"

"Now—you're talking," said Mac, jumping up from the bed.

Millie threw a kiss after Jimmy as he closed the door behind him.

"Got a radio, or a victrola?" asked Mac suddenly.

"No," replied Millie, frowning, "but Uncle Hiram's gonna give Mom a radio for Christmas and she's gonna send us her old victrola."

"Well—merry Christmas," laughed Mac sardonically, "we'll have another party like this Christmas Eve."

Peggy glared at him. "If you think it's a dumb party," she flung at him, "go on home. I didn't want you to come here in the first place."

"Aw, Peg," murmured Millie. "Mr. Mac didn't mean anything wrong—did you?"

"Why, I should say not. Come on, baby face, let's kiss and make up."

He suddenly grasped Peggy in his arms and kissed her fervently. Peggy, on the verge of hysteria, struggled to free herself and slapped him a resounding blow on the cheek.

"Say!" exclaimed Mac, "what's the big idea?"

"You can't come up here and act like a rough neck," Peggy gasped feebly. "We're good girls."

"Good girls?" Mac paused and his eyes suddenly went wide with wonder as the door opened and a coarse looking and somewhat older blonde came in. She was attired in a lacy negligee. She held Millie's wet dress away from her at arm's length.

"Frightfully sorry to interrupt," she said affectedly, "but what's this damp thing and who's been dunkin' it in the washbowl?"

"That's my dress!" exclaimed Millie, scarlet-faced. "The color ran—I'll have to dye it!"

"Dye it? You mean bury it." She

"Now you're talkin' my lingo sister!" laughed Mac. "Let's scram!" (Minna Gombell and Terrance Ray) smiled at Mac. "Sorry to have to introduce myself—I'm Miss La Rue—Mona La Rue."

"Glad to meetcha! My name's Mac!" he returned, looking searchingly at her. "Sa—ay! Ain't you the dame that's had her pitcher in the Roto section—sure! That's you all right! What d'ya know about that?" he marvelled to Millie and Peggy. "Havin' somebody's pitcher in my room all this time and then running right into her!"

"You don't real-ly mean," said Mona, "that you got my pitcher—"

"You betcha! The one—it was called 'Your Best Friend Won't Tell You.'"

"Right!" said Mona. "I posed for a number of those things. Perspiration Odor, Fallen Arches—" She broke off abruptly as Jimmy's voice sounded outside the door, calling, "Open the door!"

Mac opened the door and Jimmy, his arms filled with bundles, entered.

"Say, kids," Mona suggested, "Let's take the eats to my apartment. I've got plates and everything."

"But—we're all right here," protested Millie. "Ain't we, Jimmy?"

"An' I got some gin! The real McCoy," continued Mona.

"Now you're talkin' my lingo, sister!" laughed Mac, and pushing Jimmy out of the door before him, added, "Come on, let's scram!"

"Well," sighed Peggy, when she was alone with Millie again, "I'm glad they are gone."

"I ain't," Millie replied, tearfully. "The idea! She tellin' us to get the boys and then carrying them off. The peroxide hussy!"

"All I can say," retorted Peggy, "is I don't care for rough necks. I'm going to bed."

"My Jimmy's no rough neck," defended Millie, sharply. "I think he's just wonderful. And I know he likes me, too."

"Well—I'm glad of that," answered Peggy. "Good night."

Peggy had no sooner left for her own room when Millie crossed timidly to Mona's apartment. Jimmy was not to be seen and in an anxious voice she inquired, "Where's—where's Jimmy?"

"Doing kitchen police," said Mac indifferently, dancing with Mona.

At that moment Jimmy came in from the kitchenette, his arms laden with plates of food.

"Oh—Jimmy!" exclaimed Millie excitedly, "I was afraid you'd gone."

"Where's Peggy?" he asked, ignoring her gushing remark.

"Oh—she's gone to bed! She was tired and upset over Mac playin' up to Mona."

Jimmy waited to hear no more. Picking up a plate he hurried to Peggy's room.

"Well—what do you want?" inquired Peggy, annoyed, opening the door.

"I had this plate all fixed for you!" Jimmy answered hesitantly.

"Thanks! But I don't care for anything."

"Gee! I'm sorry," said Jimmy disappointed, and then curiously, "Why did you bust up the party?"

"You were the one who left—you and Mac."

"You're mad because Mac's playin' up to Mona," she retorted.

"Why should I care if he plays up to her?" Peggy defended.

"Go on! You had him all picked out for yourself. Didn't you tell me at the dance how much you liked him?"

"I might have said a lot of things. What's the use of talking about it? You'd better go downstairs to Millie."

"But, before you go—there's something I want to tell you. I don't want you to think I ever picked anybody up before. Tonight was the first time—since I've been in New York."

"Aren't you from New York?" asked Jimmy, surprised.

"Cloverdale, Virginia. I've been here three months. And it was so lonesome. Mona said all you had to do was walk down Broadway."

first time I ever picked up a girl. Honest! I'm not from New York, either. Ohio—and I've only been here six months myself."

Next Sunday's Lesson

CHRISTIANS STANDARDS OF LIVING

By Rev. Cecil G. Goff
Golden text, Luke 9:23. Lesson text, golden texts for quarter.

The standards of living by Christian men and women today are determined by the things which are uppermost in their minds and hearts. Wherever a man's treasure is there is his heart also. The two cannot be separated. Scripturally speaking, Christianity is a spiritual religion. Christ is to be worshiped in spirit and in truth. Indeed we are forced to live in a material world and to function through material and sinful bodies in serving the Master who saves us. But He has commanded that our operations and performances be to spiritual ends rather than material; ends that will glorify Christ and not ourselves; ends that will enhance the Kingdom of Christ and not our own personal possessions.

It is only when we stop to closely examine the ideal Christ sets up before us in the sermon on the mount which is epitomized in the words "Be ye perfect even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect" that we realize how far short most of us fall in the everyday activities which hold our interests and in the general conceptions of life, living and service which form the bases of our life activities, both in business and pleasure. We have been caught in the every increasing momentum of commercialized civilization. Christ is interested in spiritualized civilization.

The ideal held out for youth today is an education to gain business alertness, educational ability, political cleverness, statesmanship, classical keenness, or a crooner's whine. But Jesus said grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ—2 Peter 3:18.

It is admonished that one keep himself in the clear—that he maintain a good reputation. That is done by giving good business service—selling what the public wants, regardless of harm to character of youth, enforcing laws which the general public demands be enforced, disregarding one's oath to enforce all laws. To some even a bribe, if not discovered, is a plausible thing. But God says to walk within the privacy of one's house with a perfect heart.—Ps. 101:2.—clean to the core, and honest in the spiritual service to God.

Modern psychology says that parents should not use the words "no" and "don't" to their children. Their material inclinations should be indulged rather than suppressed in order that their natural ability might be developed. But God says to rear them in the way of God.—Prov. 22:6—and in a nearby passage suggests that the sparing of the rod is the spoiling of the child.

The spirit of today is that the family goes to the picture show so many times a week, the children may have so much spending money a week, the youngsters may go to so many parties a month, certain amounts are to be paid on the car, house, furniture, etc., a month. Certain money is to be spent annually for a joyous Christmas—S. S. church and prayer meetings—services are to be attended when the weather is right, when we feel real well, when we cannot go visiting, when we do not have company, and when we have no other meeting to attend. God says we and our homes and other activities are to be dedicated to God and His service.—Joshua 24:15.

Our eyes are continually on the reaping of life. Every man's ambition is placed upon great and satisfactory reaping now and through the years. Jesus places the emphasis on the sowing.—Gal. 6:7—the reaping will take care of itself.

The current attitude is to tell what we have heard, and to be on the lookout for the hearing. The vulgar term for such activity is gossip. Few of us will admit our true connection with such companionship. Jesus said that His children were peacemakers and as such had His blessing.—Matt.

Men lend every ability to attending to their means of livelihood, but Jesus says that we should not be slow or slothful in our spiritual activities.—Rom. 12:11 (R. V. As much interest and attention should be given to our spiritual activities as to our everyday business. Our intention is to make as much every day, month and year as is possible, and to save, or expend it to the satisfaction of not only necessities but desires and even whims. If there is any sacrificial giving to be done, let the other fellow do it. But Christ says that such ideals are covetous, that life does not consist of possessions.—Luke 12:15, and that we are to give ourselves first of all in giving—2 Cor. 8:5.

Men desire to gain position and fame in the world. It will bring to them the respect of their fellowmen above that of their surrounding neighbors. But Christ says He is no respecter of persons.—Acts. 10:34.

Men live to be respected by their neighbors, and to be an honor to their name, family, parents, business and community. But Jesus says to do all, no matter what, to the glory and honor of God.—1 Cor. 10:31.

Men live selfishly, laying hold of all the possessions possible. Jesus says that men should not only deny their possessions, but themselves also, and be ready daily to bear the cross of Christ.

Men are living in anxiety, trying to work their way to heaven, and hoping they may attain that glory. Jesus

DEPRESSION

If you can see what some folks call depression As nothing but a spin of Fortune's wheel; If you can keep your poise and self-possession, No matter what you think or how you feel;

If you can view a stupid situation All cluttered up with "ifs" and "aws" and "buts" And take it at its proper valuation— A challenge to your common sense and "guts,"

If you can rise above the mess and muddle, If you can glimpse a rainbow through the clouds When Doubt and Dread and Fear are in a huddle And Hope is being measured for a shroud;

If you can keep a saving sense of humor For stories that are slightly inexact; If you can disregard Report and Rumor, And not accept a statement as a fact;

If you can spread the gospel of success, If you can stir the spirit that instills The latent life in lathes and looms and presses, And lit the stream above a thousand mills;

If, briefly, you can spend an extra dollar; If you can pry the sacred Roll apart And buy another shirt or shoe or collar And act as if it didn't break your heart;

If you have faith in those with whom you labor, And trust in those with whom you make a trade; If you believe in friend and next-door neighbor And heed examples pioneers have made;

If you expect the sun to rise tomorrow; If you are sure that somewhere skies are blue— Wake up and pack away the futile sorrow, For better days are largely up to YOU!

TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR

As you say, "She may be empty, but I'll tell the world she's clean!" But when the sheet is printed and is out upon the mail

On its way to the subscribers, I have never seen it fall— In the center of the front page, in a most conspicuous place, Some typographical error fairly kicks you in the face.

For the typographical error is a slippery thing and sly, You can hunt 'til you're dizzy, but it somehow will get by.

And the forms are off the presses, it is strange how still it keeps; It shrinks down into a corner and it never stirs or peeps, That typographical error, too small for human eyes,

Till the ink is on the paper, when it grows to mountain size, And you see that blasted error, far as you could throw a dog, Leaping up in all its splendor, like a lighthouse in a fog!

That glaring blunder jumps out like an ulcerated tooth, Where it dodged the eagle vision of the napping comma sleuth. If it is sure too late to mind it, but it fills your soul with rage,

As you see it swelling loudly in the middle of the page. The boss he stares with horror, then he grabs his hair and groans. The copy reader drops his head upon his hands and moans—

The remainder of the issue may be clean as clean can be, But that typographical error is the only thing you see. It was down among the six point till the copy was all read,

When it shifted into the blackface or a two-inch banner head— Then when the sheet was printed it jumped up and hollered, "Boo! You never saw me, did you? This is sure a horse on you!"

—Author Unknown.

A funny thing about this depression, according to K. D. Doyle, as expressed in the Wamego (Kans.) Reporter, is that the man who hasn't a nickel to spare can take a day off, ride a couple of hundred miles, and enjoy a good football game.

"You must give up staying out late at night," said the doctor. "You think the night air is bad for me, doctor?"

"No," said the doctor, "it isn't that. It's the excitement after getting home that harms you."

HENS BALANCE OWN RATION

Taylor.—Letting her hens balance their own rations by feeding them grain, mash and milk, cafeteria style, saves work and expense and has resulted in as many if not more eggs as by other means, according to Miss Tillie Wuthrich, poultry demonstrator for the Blue Bonnet Home Demonstration Club of Taylor. Each month from 200 to 400 pounds of mash and approximately 750 pounds of grain, to gether with 180 gallons of skim milk, are fed to the flock which averages 145 hens. The birds balance their meals by drinking skim milk, which is placed in a container near the feed hoppers in the poultry house, and by eating mash and grain from the feed hoppers. Green feed is generally close at hand in the runs.

From January 1st to September 1st this flock of Barred Rock hens brought in an income of $172.24. The expense during that time was $87.75. The hens averaged 119 eggs each for the period.

"RIGHT THIS WAY, IF YOU PLEASE, SIR!"

Unless you happen to be an invited guest of the British Royal Family, the best way to "see" Windsor Castle is under the convoy of a uniformed guide. In a sing-song patter, he will tell you its history . . . point out things of interest whose full significance would escape the unattended tourist.

It also saves time and shoe-leather to use "guides" when you do your daily marketing at home. These guides are the advertisements in this paper. They tell you where, when, and the equally important "how much."

By consulting the advertisements, you know in advance what the stores have to offer. If you are pressed for time, you can do your shopping by telephone, with the newspaper before you as a definite guide. Read the advertisements . . . the big ones and the little ones.

"Step this way," the advertisements say, saving time and lost motion. Advertisers can save you money.

The editor of this paper has no apology to offer for supporting the prohibition amendment, as it is the law of the land; and it behooves a good citizen to support any law as long as it is on the statute book. This does not mean that one should not work for the repeal of a law, but it does mean that one should favor the strict enforcement of all laws just as long as they are laws.

HISTORY NOTES

The school board visited school the other day and, of course, the principal put his pupils through their paces for the benefit of said austere board.

"Henry," he asked, turning to one boy, "who signed the Magna Charta?"

"Please, str, twan't me," whimpered Henry.

The teacher, in disgust, told the boy to sit down; but old Jed Smith, chairman of the tobacco-chewing board, was not satisfied. After a well-directed aim at the stove, he said: "Call back that there boy. I don't like his manner. I believe he did do it."

Constable (to auto tourist)—"You're arrested; come with me to see the judge."

Autoist—"What law have I violated?"

Constable—"I don't know exactly which one, but I know you can't drive the bull length of Main street in this town without bustin' at least one of 'em."

LET'S KEEP THE PLUG IN THE BEER KEG

Recently a noted man who has in his employ a large number of men, remarked, in answer to a question about beer: "Regardless of a man's personal views, if he hires men he wants men he can trust. A man who swaggers and says he wants beer and runs off at the mouth, is the last man to get employment. There are too many sober men hunting work to be considered when work is scarce and men are unemployed. The best men get the jobs. Men who drink are not wanted."

Beer never yet made a man worth his salary. Liquor in any form is abnormal in the sight of men who have to employ men. And today the man who so far forgets himself as to steep himself in liquor is not sure of his job. Beer, then, is NOT GOING TO BE THE CURE-ALL for the unemployment situation. Beer boozing will add another cause for men being in the bread line. Say what you will, the old days of the saloon are gone and the conditions that existed then are gone also. The age of machinery calls for sober, thoughtful men who can be trusted by those who employ them. A liquor befuddled brain is not wanted in the work-day world. Even those who are pelling the loudest for beer would not want to ride in a car with the man at the wheel hitting the can, nor would the beer inebriate be wanted in any capacity whatsoever, or on an airplane or railroad. There are far too many chances for auto accidents now, but imagine, if you can, the horror of traveling on street or highway with beer soured men in almost every car on the pavement! Just as well legalize murder and be done with it.—Higgins News.

"That's all right," said the cashier. "We'll write your name on the wall and you can pay the next time you come in."

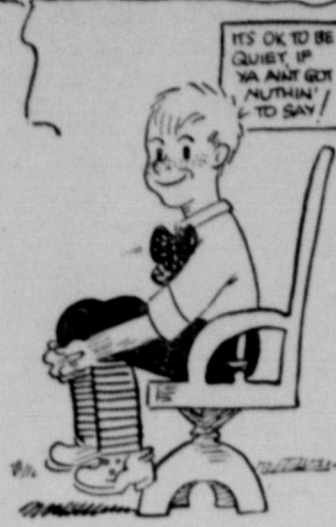

"Don't do that. Everybody who comes in will see it."

"Oh, no, they won't. Your overcoat will hang over it."

THE TOWN'S NEED

An editor in a neighboring state has just received a capital prize of $1,000 from one of the big magazines for giving the best answer to the following question: "What my town needs most." The editor's answer was: "Six or eight funerals right-ly placed."—Pointers.

An editor usually knows his people. He has to know the people. And when the people all live in the same vicinity for a few generations and marry and inter-marry and all become more or less related in one way or another, the average editor keeps a "morgue" full of cuts and obituaries, marriages, births, and all other useful information that may come handy. All he has to do is to turn to the files and he has a complete history of the case. He knows the stingy citizens and the liberal ones; he is well versed in the crooks and turns of the human family—from Adam down. Experience has taught him many a lesson. And he knows a whole lot that he never puts in print. Therefore, he is well qualified to say truthfully that for all the good some folks are to their town, they might as well be dead. However, no editor really wants his citizens to pass out. There may possibly be some good in even the worst specimen of town hinderers, and editors always hope for the best. Sam Jones once said: "God would forget to call up some dead souls because they would be just as grasping as ever and would chip off the golden gate and cash in on the pieces."—Higgins News.

SPROUT-DAMAGED MILO MAY BE FED ON FARM

College Station.—Milo maize heads that have sprouted on the stalk in the field due to rain followed by warm weather will do to feed to livestock, according to John H. Jones, agent in animal husbandry at Texas A. & M. College. Many inquiries are being received by him from West Texas as to the feeding value of this field damaged grain. "Such milo is damaged as a feed, how much we do not know," he says, "but it is safe to say that with the exception of poultry, such heads and the threshed grain therefrom may be freely used on the farm. It will not be so palatable as bright feed and when thoroughly dried and ground will make a dusty feed. If fed to beef cattle it would be well to use it with a relatively large amount of cottonseed meal (about one-eighth of the entire grain and hay ration) to make it more palatable."

A lodge button may secure you an invitation to have a cigar or take a drink, but a reputation for paying bills promptly is the most effective instrument in securing a loan at the bank, advises George Wood in the Eureka (Kans.) Herald.

The Sharon Springs (Kans.) Times offered this timely quip: "The Ten Commandments are being violated every day; why not have them repealed?"

OF THE FUNNY PEOPLE FOR YOUR ALBUM, 1935.

Pooch is a pup, as happy as a lark, with one ear turned up and a mighty joyous bark. "Hey, Pooch!"

The Kelly kids think it fun, when Uncle Dinny growls, but you should see them run, when he tells and howls.

Lena heard it thunder, held her breath in wonder, it was loads of fun, to see her jump and run, and watch her bed crawl under. ** TOOR LENA! **

TIGER POST DEDICATED TO McLEAN TIGERS OF 1932

This installment of the Tiger Post is dedicated to those boys who have valiantly striven to uphold the black and gold during the most successful season of football that has ever been played in McLean. The boys who have been good enough players to win the bi-district honors are faithful in every way to McLean high school. They have endeavored to do their best and the school and town are proud of them.

The Tigers have been faithful to go to every practice, except when physically unable. They have tried to carry out the instructions of the coach and have trained exceptionally well. They have spent several hours each day preparing themselves for play.

Many comments have come in from all sections of Texas, praising the snappy little team from McLean. Publicity has been given the town through this winning team this year. These boys have made a record that is indeed one to be proud of. They labored and struggled successfully with ten teams before they were defeated by the Olney eleven. The subs have been as faithful in practice as has the main team, and these boys who have received little honor have supported their team mates with a loyal spirit.

The co-captains this year have been Lavelle Christian and Forrest Switzer. These two boys have made good captains and have tried to set good examples before the boys to the best of their ability. A good spirit has prevailed over the entire club during this season.

No team, regardless of how good the material is, can be a success unless there is a good coach at the head. McLean realizes that she is fortunate in having one of the best coaches in Texas. Mr. Garrison Rush has been on the McLean high faculty for the past three years. He has labored faithfully with his teams and has endeavored to do his best with the boys. His efforts have been rewarded with much success. Mr. Rush has tried to instill those qualities into the boys with whom he has worked that go to make real men. "Fighting right's the main thing" has been his motto. Perhaps one of the greatest compliments that he and his team have received is the one that has come from every team against which they have played—"You have the cleanest team that we have ever played."

Fans
 The Tigers have been supported most splendidly during this year. Everyone in McLean has shown his interest in the success of the game. Business men have been kind in closing stores during games played on the home grid and in sending telegrams when the team was away. All of these things have been appreciated by the coach and by the team. No team can do its best unless it is properly supported. The Tigers have had the town back of them at all times and they have played better than they might have if they had not had this interest shown in them.

A number of football fans and Tiger supporters accompanied the team to Wichita Falls, even though the weather was very bad. All in all, McLean and McLean high school are proud of the Tigers.

OLNEY DEFEATS McLEAN IN SUB-FREEZING WEATHER

On the ice and snow covered Coyote gridiron in Wichita Falls, the Tigers battled to a losing end on Dec. 10. The Olney Cubs slipped a pass in the last part of the second quarter and made a touchdown. The Tigers outplayed the Cubs all thru the game, but every time the Tigers got in scoring position they were penalized.

"That good old Tiger line" sure was holding last Saturday, for the big "bull" Graves could not make a yard over the line. After he had tried it a few times he decided that it would be safer on his neck and ear to go around ends than be brought down hard on the ice by Cash and Ellison. Back did some damage to the Olney backs by tackling them behind the line. Robinson stopped most the plays that were made around left end. McCarty and Carpenter were also in every play, doing all possible. There is no need of mentioning any certain man in the back field, for they were all outstanding.

In the first quarter Olney kicked to

McLean and in two plays Crockett and Crickett made a first down. Six yards were made in the next three downs, then a 15 yard penalty was given McLean, and then Tolliver punted. Graves could not gain, so on the third down Graves punted for the Cubs. Crockett and Crickett in three plays made a first down. Switzer and Crockett made only 7 yards on the next three plays, and Tolliver punted on the fourth down. Graves failed to gain over right tackle, so he punted. The Tigers fumbled in the second down and Olney covered the ball. Graves took the ball around left end for a 20 yard gain and was brought down by Crickett. The Cubs failed to gain in the next four downs and the Tigers took the ball. C. Christian got loose for a 20 yard gain on the next play, but the Tigers failed to make yardage in the next three downs. When the whistle blew for the end of the first quarter the first downs were 3 for McLean and 1 for Olney.

In the second quarter the Cubs made a 3 yard run and then punted. Switzer and Crockett failed to make a first down in three trials and Tolliver punted over the goal line. Rue and Graves made 8 yards in three downs and then punted. The ball was killed on the Tigers 1 yard line. Tolliver got off a nice 50 yard punt, and this left the ball out of danger. The Olney eleven started passing and completed one for 15 yards and Crickett intercepted an Olney pass. Crockett, Crockett and Switzer, in three successive plays, made a first down. Crickett threw a pass but it was incomplete. Tolliver punted for the Tigers. The Olney Cubs started passing again and about a minute before the second quarter was over, Graves threw a good pass to St. Johns who made a touchdown. Gilmore failed to kick extra point. The quarter ended with the score Olney 6, McLean 0.

The third and fourth quarters were mostly made up of punts by both teams. The Tigers showed great spirit till the game was over, but on account of bad breaks could not gain much ground. Most of the linemen on both teams were wearing gloves to protect their hands from the ice, but this did not help much.

The line-up for the game was as follows:

Olney	Position	McLean
Sloan	LE	Robinson
A. Pyeatt	L. T.	Cash
W. Pyeatt	L. G.	Ellison
Crawford	C	McCarty
Perkins	R.G	Carpenter
Hennings	RT	Back
Gilmore	RE	Crockett
Graves	Q	C. Christian
Elmore	LH	L. Christian
St. Johns	RH	Tolliver
Rue	F	Switzer

McLean made no substitutions and Olney made one.

TIGERS ENJOY TRIP

The Tigers left from the high school building about 8:30 last Friday morning. The snow and sleet were not enough to dampen their spirits and they were anxious to get to their destination. High school students who were in the building gathered round them and sang "That Good Old Tiger Line," "He Rumbled" and other school songs. After a few yells the noisy Tigers were off and quiet reigned in the school.

The boys were taken to Wichita Falls in the cars of the following: Ruel Smith, John Haynes, Kelly Newman, Bob Thomas and Pete Fulbright. They were on the road 9 hours, but no serious trouble occurred. When they arrived in Wichita Falls they registered at the Holt Hotel, where they spent the entire time. The people of Wichita Falls were very kind and gave the boys and other visitors passes to the picture shows. Everyone who spent the time in Wichita Falls had a good time. There was plenty of noise and excitement at the Holt Hotel for the two days when the Tigers and their friends "owned" the hotel.

The Tigers returned home Sunday. Their spirits were good and they felt that the trip was worth while.

IN REMEMBRANCE

Four of the valiant, fighting Tigers played their last game for the McLean high school on Dec. 10. These boys were: Allison Cash, Forrest Switzer, Lavelle Christian and Kent Carpenter. Each boy has done his best and each one has accomplished things for which he might well be proud. The team will indeed miss these boys next year, but perhaps there will be some one who can take their places. Of each one of these boys may be said, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

FOOTBALL BANQUET

The annual football banquet will be tagged at the high school building on Monday evening, Dec. 19. The banquet will be served by the mothers of the football boys. Plates to everyone except the boys and their girl friends, will be 35c each. Supt. Boswell will be toastmaster. Coach Rush will present the letter men and the gold football awards.
