MOTHER'S PRAYERS

By John B. Vannoy
It was mother who first taught him
How to say his little prayer.
It was mother who first told him
Of that land so bright and fair,
Where sweet angels, ever watching,
See each deed on earth we do,
And in God's book of records
Write life's history plain and true.
Recollections of his childhood
Bring him visions bright and clear
Of that loving, Christian mother
Asking God in fervent prayer—
Asking God to guide and keep him
From the ways of wicked men—
That no woman should beguile him
Into paths of wretched sin.
Then the angels came and took her,
And her boy was left alone—
Just a helpless little creature
Out on life's wild sea unknown—
Where vile men and viler women,
With their shriveled, sinful lives,
With their profane deeds, so wonton,
Fill the grog-shops and the dives.
Daily meeting with temptation,
That so few in youth pass by,
When the years of life are tender
And false visions greet the eye.
But that mother's boy went guiltless
Through those adolescent years,
And the tempter, though relentless,
Lost the battle with mother's prayers.

BRIEFS

By A P ANGELLO

The honorable Huey P. Long is from the wrong part of the country. It isn't right for a sand storm to hit the Senate from Louisiana.

The sweet lady of Japan waves her flag of peace at the League with one hand while she very astutely cuts out the heart of China with the other.

Technocracy is "out," so its chiefs say. That's very well, for we would all have remained Democrats any way.

What cute little children we Texans are. We have a Governors now.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has said that the average modern girl faces the problem of learning how much liquor she can drink, and staying with that amount. Mrs. Roosevelt did not stop to think that the average modern girl is self-respecting and does not drink.

The Vanities revue was in Amarillo Saturday—just hot from the New York stage. It is believed that its playing partner, the sand storm, did equally as well as the revue. At least, there was more "revue" to it.

The Missouri legislature had to get up two hours early to have the honor of chopping the head off the "Lame Duck." A very popular lame duck got it right in the neck.

Business men would not object to "Ma's" proposed Sales Tax if it could actually insure sales.

WEBB P. T. A.

The Webb P. T. A. gave a social at their school on January 10, for the purpose of enlisting some of the men in the work. There were songs and games, the entertainment opening with a little folks' school. Everyone answered roll call with a Mother Goose rhyme. There were about 20 present, and all report a good time. Sandwiches were served to all present.

Club Votes to Accept Both Challenges

A letter from Mrs. O. E. Lochridge, president of the local Parent-Teacher Association, challenging the Lions Club for a 30 minute spelling bee Thursday evening, beginning at 7:30, at the high school auditorium, was read to the club in session Tuesday. After discussion, and agreeing to allow the Lions' ladies to participate on the club's side, it was voted to accept the challenge.

Post Commander C. O. Greene of the American Legion challenged the club, on behalf of the Legion, to a basketball game to be played at an early date, probably Friday evening, Feb. 3.

This challenge was also accepted, and Lion Cooper appointed captain of the Lions team. Com. Greene will be captain of the Legion team. Proceeds of the game to be divided 60-40.

Several Lions voiced approval of the zone program given last week, and a rising vote of thanks was given the program committee for their efforts. The club quartet was asked to sing at the next meeting, and to be in readiness to sing at any or all future meetings.

The matter of calendar reform will be discussed at the meeting to be held Tuesday, Feb. 7, and Lion Sitter was asked to present arguments for the 13 month year, Lion Cobb to argue for the 12 month year.

President Boswell announced the basketball tournament for Friday and Saturday of this week, and the debate tournament to be held Feb. 10, 11. Some six entries have been received from as many different schools for the debates, and others are to be heard from.

A meeting of the executive board was called for next Tuesday, immediately following the luncheon.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

A study was made by the Department of Commerce of 205 concerns which bettered their 1930 business in 1931. The report lists some forty reasons for that success. Most of them are "selling 80 cases, and sales effort in 45." What is advertising but sales effort?—Nation's Business.

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

The basketball tournament will be played in the local gymnasium on Friday and Saturday of this week. There will be four divisions of teams: junior boys, junior girls, eighth and ninth grade boys, eighth and ninth grade girls.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The McLean girls basketball team played Dozier a very thrilling ball game last Tuesday night, and the winner was not known until the final whistle. The Tigresses were finally victorious by a narrow margin, the score being 24 to 20. Ruth Hess and Oleta Back, McLean forwards, tied for high points, with 12 each.

The Miami girls' team came to McLean Friday night and this time there was a much closer and more thrilling game than Tuesday night. The score was a tie of 31 points. Again Ruth Hess was high scorer with 24 points.

The Tigresses will invade the fold of the Canadian Crazy Cats Friday night, Jan. 27, in what promises to be one of the hardest battles the girls have ever fought. Miss Cummings is working the girls very hard all this week because the game is to be played at Canadian, and that will make the victory twice as hard.

The girls are going to play in the McLean tournament Saturday, Jan. 28, and they are very confident of winning. If you want to see some real action and get your money's worth, come up and see the girls play in the tournament Saturday. This writer can tell you plenty about the players, but not half as much as you could learn if you saw them in action, so let's back the Tigresses Saturday.

BOYS BASKETBALL

The Tigers of McLean high school played Dozier a basketball game Tuesday night, and the Tigers came out victorious by a score of 28 to 17. The Tigers began clicking from the opening whistle and the victory was never in doubt.

The Tigers played the Miami team on Friday night, but the battle was for a losing end, the score being 28 to 21. The Tigers were unable to find the basket on eight field goals or free shots. They never did seem to click and they were unable to check the fast breaking offense of the Miami Warriors. Owens, Miami forward, was high point man with 12 points.

The Tigers go to Canadian Friday night to play the Canadian team in a conference game. This promises to be a very hard game, as Canadian has defeated Miami in two games and the Tigers have defeated them only once, but the Tigers are working hard to "bring home the bacon," as the saying goes. The Tigers are going over there with that unbeatable spirit and as we all know, they will be plenty hard to defeat. The Tigers will play in the tournament Saturday and they have entered this tournament determined to win.

JUNIOR CLASS IN ASSEMBLY

The junior class entertained in chapel Tuesday morning. The introduction was made by Avalee Back. The program consisted of a short, one-act health play, "A Narrow Escape."

The characters were: Dr. Antiseptic, a modern doctor with an old-fashioned personal interest in his patients, Sim Rhodes; Lillian Daggett, a high school girl who is sick with a heavy cold, Mildred Finley; Mrs. Daggett, her mother, who is worried about her daughter, Alice Hardin. The play was well acted, and everyone enjoyed it. There was a good lesson in it.

LETTER TO SUPT. BOSWELL

The following letter was sent to Supt. G. C. Boswell of the McLean schools, by Registrar D. A. Shirley of West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon, at the close of the fall term:

Dear Mr. Boswell: I am enclosing report cards of the graduates of your high school who entered here as freshmen this fall. It is gratifying to note that there is but one condition on the five report cards. This one is chemistry, that can be removed when some unfinished work is completed.

You will note that Miss Kirby is keeping up her excellent record. She made the honor roll this fall.

With very kind regards and good wishes for the new year, I am, Yours very truly,

D. A. SHIRLEY.

FRANK WILSON VISITS SCHOOL

Frank Wilson made a most appropriate and interesting talk to the high school assembly on last Thursday morning. The subject of the talk was "Proper Attitudes." Mr. Wilson said that everyone should have the proper attitude toward self, family, teachers, government, church and life. He said that those who had poor opinions of themselves accomplished little, but the man who thinks he can do something accomplish the successful things in life. His closing sentence to the pupils was: "Be better than your ancestors. Keep your face toward the rising sun and you'll never be able to see your shadow."

DEBATORS WORKING STEADILY

The following have entered the local debate contest: Avalee Back, Emma Jean Ayer, Mary Emma Back, Juanita Brooks, Charles Ashby and Forrest Switzer. The tournament will be held soon. Come and hear these pupils debate.

The McLean aggies sent poultry to the Pampa poultry show last week. The boys and instructor exhibited 27 birds in the show, winning 18 ribbons and $18.50 worth of prize.

J. Billingslea, James Massay and A. A. Tampke were the ones showing in the prizes. A very high quality show was the feature.

A. A. Tampke and J. Billingslea went to Chillicothe last Friday, where they judged the poultry show. They reported that some 400 birds were on display and some of them of the highest quality they had seen this year.

The McLean poultry team and substitutes went to Slaton last Friday to compete against the strongest teams in this section of the state. The members were Wilburn Lynch, Arthur Lee Howard and David Flowers; subs, Charles Finley, Marvin Mathis and Cecil Jones.

They competed with such teams as Post, which won the poultry cup at Lubbock last year. On account of the distance, the team left for home immediately after the contest. SEVENTH GRADE LOSES PUPILS

The seventh grade lost two very much-loved pupils last month. Stanton Gardner moved to Clinton, Okla., and W. C. Stotts to Fayetteville, Ark. If we must lose students, it is best that we lose these, because they were students who will make a good reputation for the McLean elementary school.

PIANO HONOR ROLL

Willie Louelle Cobb, Ermadel Floyd, Georgie Colebank, Loyce Landers, Dorothy Sitter, Marion Thompson, Beth Evonne Floyd, Jessie May Lynch, Frances Hudetzit and John Kirby.

100% SPELLERS

Third grade: Evonne Floyd, Ira Patty, Hallie Nell Sligar, Oran Back, Bernice McClellan, Fairlee Koen, Beatrice Stotts, Benine Mae Wade, Carl Sullivan, Vernon Ruff, Willis Bear, Louise King, Mattie Lee Wilson, second grade: Ercy Fulbright, Juanita Davidson, Doris Coleman.

KINDNESS

By Truitt Stewart
 A way to show kindness to people is to speak kindly. Be kind to old people by lending a helping hand. Help your neighbors in time of need. Take flowers to the sick. Greet strangers with a smile and make them feel comfortable.

KINDNESS

By Lloyd Erwin
 You should never hit an animal just to see him run. You should never kill an animal unless he is harming something of yours. Then it would be all right to kill him. We should never hit a dog just to hear him howl. We should never "sic" a dog on a cat. You should always remember this, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

KINDNESS

By Vesterlee Smith
 You should always be kind to people, if they are not kind to you. If you see a cripple drop his crutch, you should pick it up for him. If you go to see someone, be polite. I have memorized the following and hope it will help me to be kind: "The great demand is on people's heart, rather than on their purses. In the matter of kindness we can afford to be generous whether we have money or not. The school boy may give it as freely as the millionaire. No one is so driven by work that he has not time, now and then, to say a kind word or do a kind deed that will help to brighten life for another. If the prime minister of England, William E. Gladstone, could find time to carry a bunch of flowers to a little crossing sweeper, shall we not be ashamed to make for ourselves the excuse 'I haven't time to be kind?'"

THE BOY AND HIS DOG

By A. B. Cook
 Jim was coming home by the graveyard. He had been to town to get some bread, milk, and some candy. He and Jack were scared, for Jim did not like to pass the graveyard at night. He believed in ghosts and was afraid one might pop over the fence any minute and grab him. One day Jim went to town late and got the groceries. When Jim was coming home he saw something wave a hand and yell, but Jim thought it was just the wind and a paper in the graveyard. But very soon Jim found that a ghost was following him, and started running. The ghost came faster and caught the little boy, but he got away. He lost the groceries. When he got home his mother asked where the groceries were. He said, "I lost them." Then mother asked, "Where?" Jim said, "By the graveyard." He told her the story, and she went back and got the groceries. Jim never went by the graveyard again.

7TH GRADE ELECTS OFFICERS

Monday morning the seventh grade met early to elect officers. The following were elected: President, Jesse Dean Cobb; vice president, L. E. Flowers; secretary, Olive Louise Atwood; song leader, Joe Billy Rogan. We hope they will serve well for most of them won by a great majority.

MRS. SLIGAR'S ROOM
 Our room has picked up in both attendance and interest since the holidays. From an enrollment of 34, we average about 30 in daily attendance. The children are divided into two groups in order to have smaller numbers, and thereby add to the interest. We are studying reading, arithmetic, phonics, language, music health and physical education. On bad days we play in the gymnasium, but if we can, we like to play out of doors. Every child in our room drinks some milk every day, and I bring it to school for lunch. When we weighed last Friday we found only two children who were more than three pounds underweight.

WHO WOULDN'T?

Two lady school teachers from Brooklyn, spending their sabbatical year exploring western Canada, stopped at a small and old-fashioned hotel in Alberta recently. One of the pair was inclined to be worrisome when traveling, and she couldn't rest until she had made a tour of the corridors to hunt out exits in case of fire.

The first door she opened, unfortunately, turned out to be that of the public bath, occupied at the moment by an elderly gentleman taking a shower.

"Oh, excuse me!" the lady stammered, flustered. "I'm looking for the fire escape." Then she ran for it. To her dismay, she hadn't got far along the corridor when she heard a shout behind her and, looking around, saw the gentleman, wearing only a towel, running after her. "Where's the fire?" he hollered.

THE MERCHANTS' SIDE

This buying at home idea has two sides. Merchants who neglect to advertise, who fail to shout their wares, cannot complain when buyers want something, order from a catalog where they see it, instead of tramping over town to find out if Mr. So and So has it.

We know of business men who think it a crime to send money away from town for merchandise, when local merchants have similar things to sell. These same men, however, neglect to do what is first done by the mail order people—advertise.

The News has talked keeping money at home for many moons. Most merchants and business men have agreed with us. Some of them when approached for advertising, grin and suggest that the public knows all about them. Others keenly appreciate the advantage of keeping their names in print, give us advertisements, large or small, as the circumstances happen to be.

No cross word puzzle will have to perplex his brain to discover who is going to get most of the business of the people of Canyon.—Canyon News.

Many have remarked the improved appearance of the cemetery since the grass and weeds have been removed. Several have spoken of the advisability of a live cemetery association to see that the grounds are kept in presentable condition, after the present work is done.

A newspaper deals in publicity and can get the advertisers' information to the public, but the advertiser must offer something the people want, and be willing to back up his advertising with goods, prices and service. When this combination is found, there is no lack of patronage.

The state fire marshal says that last year's fire losses in McLean were excessive. This fact is very evident to those whose insurance policies are expiring, as the excess charges to pay for the fires here the past few years also look "excessive." There is no way to get around paying for fires, as policy holders must pay for the fires happening in their own town.

Only four more days in which to pay poll taxes, and there may be several elections this year on the whiskey question that every citizen will be interested in. There should be no thought of failure to pay poll taxes this year on account of its being an "off" year. Poll taxes can be paid without paying other taxes, and every citizen should provide himself with the right to have a voice in any election that may come up this year.

"Every governmental official or board that handles public money should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it, showing where and how each dollar is spent. This is a fundamental principle of democratic government." So reads a suggested editorial from the National Editorial Association, and it would be mighty hard to write a better one, right now, when most of us are wondering how we are going to be able to meet the mounting tax burden.

According to the Texas Legion News, there are three times as many veterans in Texas drawing direct benefit from the government as a result of the activities of the Legion in their behalf in the past as there are paid memberships in Texas for 1933.

This information is used in a plea for more members, and looks like a mighty good argument for the 93% of the men in the state who are eligible for membership and who do not belong.

Our golf columnist changes his remarks to "Farm Gossip" this week. Another writer begins a "Briefs" column, with comments on world affairs. Rev. Shockley reviews "Beer and Politics." Postmaster Vannoy has an excellent poem on "Mother's Prayers," and other contributed articles appear in this issue of the home paper.

We are glad to have contributions such as these, and welcome articles from anyone. We would be glad to have others write regular columns on any subject desired. Writers may use a nom-de-plume, but we must know who the writer is before publishing.

Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce of the United States, paid a tribute to small town chambers of commerce and home town papers in a radio address Sunday evening. He cited numerous instances where such agencies have been of untold value during the depression.

This reminds us that it will soon be time to elect officers for the McLean chamber of commerce, and every business man should join and take part in the election. As long as one may become a member of the local body for as low as 50c or $1.00 a month, there is little excuse for not assisting others in plans for community betterment.

The home town paper costs about 4c a week, so one may be of assistance to both community-serving organizations for about 62c a month. Both the C. of C. and the home town paper work for you. If they make mistakes it is unintentional, and maybe, with your help they would not make many. Let's all pull together for a better community this year.

We are glad to note the attitude of the state highway officials in regard to preserving trees along the roads. On 66 between Shamrock and Texola, highway engineers selected the better trees in the shinoak thickets and trimmed them up, leaving them to grow and beautify the roadside. In other parts of the state trees have been planted along the right-of-way and cared for.

On the other hand, we note with regret the destruction of the fine old trees on "Lover's Lane" east of town. While this was not a state highway, and there was probably a reason for destroying the trees, yet when it is remembered that it takes 30 or 40 years to grow trees of this character, it is nothing short of a calamity to a tree lover to see them destroyed.

Poems have been written about trees, and the man who plants a tree in this almost treeless country, is in the nature of a public benefactor. Trees not only beautify and enhance the value of one's home, but at the same time add to the attractiveness of the whole landscape and the pleasure of every passerby.

With the fine season in the ground this winter, it would be a fine thing if every home owner would plant a few trees this spring. Trees are easy to grow and require very little care, other than keeping stock away from them until they are big enough to escape damage from this source.

FEED HOGS WHOLE KAIFR

Cheaper gains in hogs can be made by feeding whole kaifr and mlo rather than ground grain, according to three-year tests completed by Fred Hale, Texas Experiment Station. Tests consistently show it does not pay to grind these grains when fed in self-feeders. Pigs fed on ground and whole kaifr made average daily gains of 1.73 and 1.72 pounds respectively, showing no significant effect of grinding feeds upon gains made. Grinding resulted in consumption of less feed, since pigs fed ground kaifr required 7 pounds less grain and 2 1/2 pounds less protein supplement to make 100 pounds gain. Pigs fed ground mlo required 5 pounds less grain and 1 1/2 pounds less supplement than those fed whole mlo. Counting protein supplement at its equivalent grain value, about 4 1/2 pounds kaifr or 3 pounds of mlo were saved for each 100 pounds ground, but at present prices the small savings of grain due to grinding will not pay the cost of grinding.

Next Sunday's Lesson

JESUS AND THE SABBATH

By Rev. Cecil G. Goff
Lesson text, Mark 2:13 to 3:6. Golden text, Mark 2:27, 28.

During the ministry of Jesus He had a good deal of trouble with the Jews concerning the Sabbath Day. The incidents of this lesson probably took place in the spring of 28 A. D. in Galilee. His ministry was stretching on toward the climax of popularity and opposition. Jesus had healed a man at the pool of Bethesda, in Jerusalem, on the Sabbath and commanded the man to carry his bed home. This was opposed to Jewish traditional laws, and caused quite a disturbance (not recorded in Mark).

v. 23. In today's lesson, Jesus was walking through a field of grain on the Sabbath. The grain was either wheat or barley. It is probable that the disciples were returning home with their Master after a long synagogue service. The custom was to fast until after this service. The disciples began to pull the heads of grain. This is the only means of telling the season. The grain was ripe enough to shell and eat, but it was not quite harvest time. It was, therefore, the last of April, or more likely, the first of May.

v. 24. The pharisees declared the act unlawful on the grounds that technically speaking the pulling of the heads was harvesting and the rolling of the heads in the hands as threshing (Luke 6:1).

v. 25, 26. Jesus excused His disciples by pointing to a place and time when David unlawfully ate the shewbread (1 Sam. 21:1). Twelve loaves were kept on the table in two piles and signified the communion between God and man (Ex. 25:30). Each Sabbath the bread was changed. The old was left on the golden table in the sanctuary porch. Only the priests were to eat it. But David and his men were hungry and on the Sabbath ate it without harm.

v. 27, 28. Jesus gave to the Jews Old Testament precedent for His disciples' action, but He had a deeper reason. Morally, the Jewish Sabbath was all right, and was originally based on the setting aside of one seventh of the week for rest and worship. Ceremonially, the Jews deemed the Sabbath wrong. The Sabbath was made for the legitimate use of man, and not man for the Sabbath. Beside, Jesus is Lord of the Sabbath.

Jesus, as Lord of the Sabbath, had a right to change the day from Saturday to Sunday. And He changed it. The first two times He appeared to His disciples were on the first day of the week. And last, but not least, He began the actual evangelistic work of the disciples on the first day of the week by pouring out upon them the Holy Ghost upon that day. For a while there were daily services, but later they became weekly. The Sabbath day as known to them was not acceptable for the one day of the week for worship. It was bound by Judaistic ceremonialism. There were legal restrictions upon it. "On the other hand, the first day of the week was wholly acceptable because while bringing over from the seventh day everything of moral value, it marked a vital difference between believers and unbelievers in Christ and contributed a public and perpetual memorial to the resurrection of Jesus and the coming of the Holy Spirit." Voltaire said: "There is no hope of destroying the Christian religion so long as the Christian Sabbath is acknowledged and kept by men as a sacred day."

Ch. 3:1-3. Again Jesus enters the synagogue on the Sabbath, probably a week later. A man was present with a withered hand. The Jews watched to see if He would heal the man on the Sabbath. That would be illegal. They soon were to learn, for Jesus, upon seeing the man and perceiving their thoughts, called for the man to stand out from the crowd. It was the right hand that was withered (Luke 6:6).

v. 4, 5. Jesus shot a question to his critical enemies: "Is it lawful on the Sabbath day to do good, or to do harm, to save a life, or to kill?" The dilemma had them, the alternative was inescapable. As Jesus put it, they either must help to save or help to kill. If it is right to do good not deny that it was right to do good, it is wrong to do evil. They could not deny that it was right to do good, it was already determined for them. The crowd knew their intention, so they remained silent. Jesus' response was that of "anger," "zeal," the scripture uses both words. We know the anger was not a sinful, revengeful anger such as sinful men feel, but rather a deep grief because of the hardness of heart of the men.

v. 6. Immediately the pharisees belted out of the house. They found a group of hated Herodians. The Herodians made up a political party, as it were, which fostered Herod and his followers. The pharisees despised them, but the consent of Herod would be needed for the death of Jesus.

The question arises concerning present-day activity on the Sabbath. We have already given reasons for the first, rather than the seventh day. Voltaire (see above), an enemy of Christianity, recognized the power of a properly kept Sabbath day. But we as Christians today are only poorly keeping God's Christian Sabbath. The question comes as to how we ought to keep it. The answer is—"as Jesus kept it—by doing aggressive goodness." That can be done mainly through the resting of the body and mind from the trials of the week, through the worship of God. Labor often has to be done, but not one piece in ten that is done is a case of actual necessity.

Probably the greatest error made by modern Christians in the maintenance of the Sabbath is the neglect of God. The day is spent in regard to personal, family, business and pleasure relationships. But Christ is Lord of the Christian Sabbath. A day spent in revelry or in family or friendly interests without the interests of Christ being included and placed foremost, is sacrilegious. Empty church houses are caused by such celebrations. A powerless church is known many times by its empty pews. Indeed Mr. Voltaire was right. And the reverse of his statement is also true—there is no hope for a vital, powerful Christianity when the Christian Sabbath is only half-heartedly kept by men and not recognized as a sacred day.

The Webb P. T. A. held a special meeting at the school house Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 24. Mr. Hessey was present and gave an interesting talk on P. T. A. work. A Founder's Day program was planned for the next meeting, which will be held Feb. 7. Also a "kid" party will be given on the night of Feb. 14. Everyone is invited to this party.

Elizabeth Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Day, has returned from Sperry, Okla., where she has been attending high school.

The ladies' Bible class met in the home of Mrs. Palmer B. Kratzer last Wednesday.

Rev. W. A. Erwin of McLean filled his regular appointment at the Webb school house Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Omer Hunt visited relatives in Wichita Falls and Ranger last week.

GRAY CO. COUNCIL MEETS

By Mrs. Mary Sligar
The Gray County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations convened in regular session Saturday, Jan. 14, with the Back community as host. The following schools were represented: Horace Mann, Sam Houston, Baker, junior high and high, of Pampa; LeFors, McLean, Alanreed, Laketon, Hopkins, Back and Webb.

The proceedings began with a short executive session, which was followed by lunch. Year books prepared by Mrs. O. E. Lochridge and John Hardinger were passed out, and many favorable comments were heard. The program opened with the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers," led by Supt. Paige of Alanreed, with Mrs. Tom Rose at the piano. Ernest Barker of Back gave a reading, "Wash Behind Your Ears." Miss Mayfield, school nurse of Pampa, made an excellent and practical talk on the summer round-up. Mr. Paige then sang "If I Knew You and You Knew Me," and responded to an encore. Mr. Fisher, Pampa superintendent, gave a discussion of "How to Safeguard Children through the Crisis." In his remarks he brought out the fact that in any economy program the schools always come first. That, because of rotten politics, we have neither free schools nor free speech, and because many taxable commodities are now tax free, the children of Texas are suffering. Continuing, he stated that the United States spends less on education than any other world power, save Japan. And that for the three billion she does spend each year on education, she spends 11 billion on crime. He concluded by saying that people are doing lots of thinking, but if our children are to be safeguarded, the time for action is at hand.

At the close of Mr. Fisher's speech Mr. Patrick, recreation chairman, took charge. He gave two new meanings for the letters P. T. A.: one, "P. Tags Along" and the other, "Pulling Together Always."

Founder's Day was ably discussed by Mrs. Hunkapillar of Pampa, who gave in three words the motto for parent-teacher work. These were humbly, courage, service. Mrs. Tom Rose of Pampa next gave an interesting discussion of parliamentary law which completed the program.

There followed a short business session. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. On invitation of Supt. G. C. Boswell, the council will meet at McLean in March.

The proposed measures regarding Canyon College and Texas Tech were severely criticized. On motion of C. C. Boswell of McLean, the council voted to instruct the president to prepare a protest, same to be signed by local presidents, and mailed to representatives at Austin.

After extending the people of Back a hearty vote of appreciation, the council adjourned.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Landers, and Mrs. T. A. Landers visited friends and relatives in Amarillo and Canyon Saturday.

Born, Friday, Jan. 20, 1933, to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wilson, a 9 pound girl named Lillian Nancy.

When Spending Is Economy

If someone told you that for a few cents each day your household work could be cut in two, that even that most irksome of household tasks—dishwashing—could be made pleasant, you would be inclined to pinch yourself to make sure you were awake.

And yet—it is no dream.

The back-breaking broom and washtub can be banished; a machine will wash your dishes. At the end of the day you will not be too fagged out to entertain, to go to the theatre; your eyes will not close over your book.

One can spend energy and health as well as money.

"True economy," to quote a well known publicist, "is spending without extravagance, and saving without stinting."

POLITICS AND BEER

By Rev. L. H. Shockley Just look! Senate seeks to cure beer bill's faults! Like the mop-up after the convention last spring.

Our political leaders make me think of a locoed horse. You can't lead him across a pole, but he will seek after loco. They are seeking the demerits in the other fellow and hunting for the beer. It would be better if they would dig up those bills, sack them up and carry them out of the field; get their minds together and seek the progress and morals of the nation.

FARM GOSSIP

By D. A. Davis

Well, folks, I'm laying off this golf gossip this week and am going crazy a while and unload my chest of a lot of stuff that's been accumulating for quite a while, and discuss some things that this town and community need almost as bad as golf. This week I am going to give you my ideas on three things that this community needs bad, and which can be worked out, I believe, with very little local expense, and that would mean a whole lot to all of us. These three things are a syrup factory, a canning factory and a cheese factory.

The first subject is syrup. There is not a single farmer in this entire community but what could grow from ten to twenty acres of good cane that would net him quite a bit of money if we have a good syrup factory to make this cane up into 'lasses. You all know that the quality of syrup some of our farmers are making will always sell, and at a price that pays good dividends.

And you also know that we always have an abundance of vegetables and fruit that could be canned, that would go a long way toward helping solve our economic problems. There is also a better chance for the farmers to dispose of their surplus fruit and vegetables by having a place to bring them, where truckers could come and get them without driving all over the country and picking up a few pounds from each farmer.

And there is our surplus milk and cream that the farmers are getting so little out of, as well as our poultry and eggs. All of this could be handled to a far better advantage.

I have been interested quite a bit in the way these farmers are doing over at Abernathy. A small country town that is no larger than McLean and has no more advantages than McLean has, has a cheese factory. They are making a big success of it, so why can't McLean have the same thing? Why can't we have a cheese factory at McLean and establish a milk route, where all a farmer has to do is milk his cows and set his milk out for the trucks to pick up each morning, saving the farmers the expense and time of bringing their cream to town. And why can't this same truck pick up your chickens, eggs and vegetables and bring them in to be disposed of at a centrally located place for the truck peddlers. I say, folks, it can be done and done profitably, and we are losing thousands of dollars each year by not having something of this kind in operation right here in this territory. Something that would bring in money every week in the year would go a long way toward relieving us of this awful depression.

I guess I am all wet on this government relief proposition, but I can't keep from saying that any relief that all of us will ever get will be by individual effort and not from the government or anyone else, and as long as any of us depend on somebody else helping us we will be just that long coming out of this depression. If you will just stop and think for a moment, you can't keep from coming to the fact that any service rendered no matter how great or how small, is always done at a cost to someone else, and there are not many folks or governments that are "giving" anybody anything much these days. And I am just simply human enough to always feel a little bit suspicious of anybody that wants to give me something. Every time you take a dollar out of one pocket and put it in the other I can't see where you are getting ahead. Folks, I can remember away back when I was a little kid of my daddy and his neighbors talking about the government and "Wall Street." I can remember a half dozen different farm organizations and relief plans that have been organized to relieve the farmer, and just about all I can remember about them was that the grafters got in and spoiled the whole thing. I honestly believe the only way us farmers (I was born and raised on a farm and know what it means) will ever get any where is to cooperate locally and solve our problems as a community unit instead of a state or national unit, and make the best of our community resources by living at home and finding a market for our commodities ourselves instead of depending on someone else finding a market for us.

Now you squawkers just go ahead and squawk your heads off and call me all the names you want to and disagree with me all you want to, but folks, honestly I believe we need something of this right here in McLean. I want to go on record as being one that is willing to do all I can to bring this thing to a focus, and as long as we stand back and argue with one another, just that long we are going to be classed behind the times. There ain't no use trying to make a go of cotton and feed farming unless we add a few things to our list that will bring in a few more dollars. We've got the cows and chickens and can easily produce the cane and vegetables and fruit, and all we need is a centrally located place to make it a success. And yes, I am going to write an article on cotton next week to give you squawkers something else to squawk about.

AND KIPLING SAID:

A recent editorial in the Salinas (Calif.) Index-Journal recalls that old story, told of Rudyard Kipling, but still pertinent today:

"Once somebody sent Kipling a package of magazines. In order to save postage, the sender tore out all of the advertising pages. Kipling's response was sharp:

"If you mut tear out something, leave the advertisements in. I can write the stories, but I can't write the advertisements."

Miss—"But how can I be sure that you love me?"

Suitor—"Well, I can scarcely sleep at night, thinking of you."

Miss—"That doesn't prove anything. Papa can hardly sleep, either, thinking of you."

John Wanamaker Said:

"Continuous advertising, like continuous work, is most effective. If there is any enterprise in the world that a quitter should leave severely alone, it is advertising. Advertising does not jerk, it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It increases day by day, year by year, until it exerts an irresistible power. To discontinue advertising is the same as taking down your sign. If you want to do business, you must let the public know it."
