C. C. Directors Favor Employing Secretary-Manager

Directors of the McLean chamber of commerce in session Monday afternoon, voted favorably on employing W. D. Biggers as part time secretary-manager, provided it meets the approval of the merchants and others.

Mr. Biggers made an attractive proposition for very little money, and if 35 members can be secured who will pay $1.00 per month dues it will provide for the manager and leave a small working surplus each month.

A number of volunteers have already signed the agreement, and a committee was appointed, consisting of Jesse J. Cobb, chairman; C. O. Greene, T. A. Landers, Ralph A. Caldwell, E. L. Sitter and John W. Cooper, to interview the merchants.

About 30 members of the organization are now paying 50c per month dues, and it is thought that there will be no objection to the nominal raise and that several new members may be secured under the new deal.

Activity in the oil field near McLean demands some representation for the town, if benefits are to be secured, and a secretary-manager could handle matters of this character satisfactorily to the town, it is thought.

Attention was called to an oil well supply company that is looking for a near-by location, and W. E. Bogan, E. J. Lander and John W. Cooper were appointed to contact the superintendent of the company, pending action on the manager proposition.

The matter of keeping McLean's cheap gas and water available to various industries was stressed, and this was an argument in favor of a paid manager.

W. E. Bogan, C. O. Greene and Jesse J. Cobb were appointed to see the proper authorities in regard to the road building program for this county.

C. O. Greene was asked to contact the county relief committee in regard to the cotton picking situation.

Robt. C. Davidson, W. E. Bogan and T. A. Landers were appointed program committee for McLean day at the Amarillo fair, and it was voted to pay for the band members' lunch at the fair from funds now in the treasury.

It was stated that the organization is now free from debt with a small balance in the treasury.

Citizens Urged to Observe Fire Prevention Week

By Boyd Meador, City Fire Marshal

Who pays the loss of fires? All individual property owners. The week of October 8th to 14th has been designated Fire Prevention Week.

Fire is one of our most serious problems today. It took a toll of 403 lives during 1932 and a property loss of approximately $20,000,000.00. In the city of McLean the property loss was $19,571.62. Wake up, folks, and help reduce this loss.

Fires, to a large extent, can be prevented when the people accept fire prevention as an individual obligation and responsibility. What is the missing link in our fire prevention problem? It is the lack of interest, probably on account of a lack of knowledge on the subject and failure of individuals to accept their responsibility in this very grave problem of fire prevention.

Fire prevention week is observed each year in order that there may be a closer contact between the public, local fire prevention organization, and the local fire department and fire marshal. Therefore, I earnestly and sincerely hope that each and every citizen of this town and community will give his whole hearted support and assistance in every way possible to reduce our fire loss in the future and at the same time reduce our insurance rates. Don't forget, October 8th to 14th is Fire Prevention Week. Do your part!

SCHOOL SPORTS

By the Railbird

The McLean Tigers bowled over the Wheeler Mustangs last Friday 70 to 0 in a one-sided fray in which the entire Tiger backfield shared in the scoring parade. Dowell, half, led with five touchdowns. C. Christian, quarter, and Crockett, half, each accounted for two, as Tolliver, full-back, made one. Ellison, the scrapping left tackle, added seven extra points with place kicks, one on an end run, and scored a safety when he blocked a punt.

The game featured a remarkable exhibition of blocking by the entire team. Robinson, left end, shared defensive honors with Ellison, as did Bogan, right tackle.

Coach Rush's boys proved themselves to be a well-drilled squad, and despite the steady stream of reserves, the score continued to pile up. The Tigers were at no time forced to punt.

For the visitors, Carter, Adams, Hix, Newkirk and Turner turned in fine games against the heavy odds.

STATISTICS.—McLean gathered 13 first downs to Wheeler's one. McLean gained 417 yards and lost 10 from scrimmage, while the Mustangs gained 30 and lost 13. The Tigers were penalized six times for a total of 30 yards, and Wheeler once for five yards. McLean attempted five passes and completed three for a total of 45 yards with no interceptions; Wheeler attempted seven passes and completed two for 10 yards with no interceptions. Wheeler punted 13 times for a total of 194 yards, or an average of 15 yards. McLean did not punt.

A BIRD'S EYE-VIEW.—The Tigers looked good to the Bird last Friday. We would not be surprised at the result of tomorrow's clash with the Pampa Harvesters. The Gleaners are expecting some tough opposition, and when Coach Mitchell's boys are expecting tough opposition you can rest assured that they will be in there every minute fighting. The Pampa aggregation has the local boys out-weighted several pounds. However, we are not willing to give the Harvesters the victory before the whistle blows. In fact, if they want the heavy side of the score, they are certainly going to have to take it from a fast, fighting Tiger football team.

DOPE.—According to all the gossip the Bird can gather, the Pampa Harvesters are due to win by at least two touchdowns.

The Shamrock Irishmen proved that they are no set-up in the championship race by their scoreless tie with the Elk City team last Friday night. Blake, Irish backfield ace, will bear watching.

The amateur golf champion attributes his good playing in part to the fact that he stopped smoking. This would be an easy way for most golfers to improve their game.

The News editor appreciates those who assisted in furnishing news for last week's issue while we were out of town, and for the benefit of those who wondered about the editorial column, the items were written by the editor the week before.

The News editor was honored at the meeting of the Central Lions Club in Chicago last week, when, with 22 visitors present from as many states and the Hawaiian Islands, he was the only visitor called upon for a speech.

The manager of the Century of Progress at Chicago, in a conversation with the News editor, told of an instance when a woman from South Texas asked for a free pass to the snake show, and offered to send the manager a can of rattlesnake meat in return. The manager said he told the lady he would be glad to give her two passes if she would refrain from sending the meat.

Newspaper readers expect the paper to be fair in reporting news, giving each item its rightful place, but not to run a propaganda sheet for any one thing.

Sometimes a newspaper is blamed for not printing something that had a perfect right to be in print, but when inquiry is made it is found that no effort had been made to acquaint the editor with the facts.

Every paper has paid reporters to search for news, yet there are many things, of a semi-public nature, appealing to certain classes, that should properly be in the paper, but the reporters cannot be expected to know about it unless some one furnishes the facts.

Tourists gather an impression of a town from the filling station or cafe they patronize, in most cases, and many times they feel that they never intend to stop in a certain town again. This was the case in many instances during the editor's trip to Chicago, but the Rose Hill Station near Bois d'Arc, Missouri, on highway 66, is owned and operated by a man who makes you feel like an honored guest.

Allen Rose has landscaped his place, and when his permanent plantings have a little more time, he will have one of the show places on the highway. A feature this summer is a gourd vine covering one end and a side of the building, which is 30 feet high, the vine towering several feet on a pole above the chimney. The gourd is of the baseball bat variety and one gourd measures 5 1/2 feet long. A gourd of this variety in the prize winning exhibit at the world's fair is only 2 1/2 feet long.

Mr. Rose has laid out a large part of the surroundings for flowers and shrubs, and many varieties are now in bloom, making a place that is too attractive to miss by flower lovers.

The News editor was given lily bulbs and plants, and we advise anyone who uses this highway to be on the lookout for this station.

Any community is to be congratulated in having men of this type to represent them to the traveling public.

VICE-VERSA DID THE JOB

"Let me see some of your black kid gloves," said the woman to the clerk. "These are not the latest style, are they?" she asked when the gloves were produced.

"Yes, madam," replied the clerk, "we have only had them in stock two days."

"I didn't think they were," went on the lady, "because the fashion paper says black kids have tan stitches and vice-versa. I see the tan stitches, but not the vice-versa."

The clerk explained that vice-versa was French for seven buttons, so she sold the woman three pair of gloves.

THE LAST WORD

There was a fearful crash as the train struck the car. A few seconds later Mr. and Mrs. Pickens crawled out of the wreckage. Mrs. Pickens started to say something but he stopped her.

"Never mind talking," he snapped. "I got my end of the car across. You were driving the back seat, and if you let it get hit, don't blame me."

THE NEW CAR

Father—"How many miles to the gallon?"

Mother—"What color is the upholstery?"

Son—"How fast will she go?"

Daughter—"Has it a cigarette lighter?"

Neighbors—"How can they afford it?"

SOMETHING TO IT

A colored porter in a hotel was asked why rich men usually give him small tips, while poor men were liberal.

"Well, suh, boss, I see don't know, 'cept the rich man don't want nobody to know he's rich, and the poor man don't want nobody to know he's poor."

STRETCHING A NICKEL

Gentleman—"What would you do with a nickel if I gave you one?"

Hobo (sarcastically)—"Get a new suit, mister, an' some supper, an' a night's lodging, an' breakfast, an' dinner tomorrow."

Gentleman—"My good fellow, here's a quarter. Go and support yourself for the rest of your life."

TO COOK OLD ROOSTER

A new way has been discovered to cook an old rooster, said Lem Frisby. A brick is placed in the pot with the rooster. When a fork can be stuck through the brick with ease, the rooster is done.

A certain bank made it a practice to pay out new bills whenever possible. One day when a woman appeared, the paying teller apologized because he was unable to give her new, clean bills, and had to pay her in old and dirty ones. He asked her if she was afraid of microbes on the bills.

"Microbes, no!" exclaimed the woman. "I'm a teacher, and you don't think a microbe could live on my salary, do you?"

"Daddy, I don't think mother knows much about raising children," said little four-year-old Mary Jane.

"What makes you think so?" asked the father.

"Well," said the little girl, "she makes me go to bed when I'm wide awake and makes me get up when I'm awfully sleepy."

Manager—"Green, you're discharged."

Green—"Discharged! What for? I've done nothing—positively nothing."

Manager—"Yes, that's the trouble. We'd like to have something done around here, even though it's only a little."

Newly Wedded Man—"By George, Lucille, these biscuits of yours look exactly like those my mother used to make, 20 years ago."

Wife—"How delightful! I'm so glad!"

Man (biting one)—"And, by George, I believe they ARE the same biscuits."

"I had a pleasant surprise this morning. I put on a suit I hadn't had on for nearly a year, and in one of the trousers pockets I found a roll of bills I had entirely forgotten."

"Were any of them receipted?" asked a listener.

"Do you believe that George Washington never told a lie?"

"Well, he didn't after he married the widow, anyway; he knew he could never get away with it."

Wife—"Robert."

Hypnotist—"Yes, dear."

Wife—"I wish you would come here and tell baby he's asleep."

A FOUR-LINE PHILOSOPHY

At college they taught me to put my reliance On logic, that stern, academical science.

But when I came out of the halls pedagogical, I learned that the world was extremely illogical.

—Joseph Anthony.

Do you ever stop to think that millions have no literature, no school and almost no pulpit but the press? Not one man in ten reads books, but every one of us, except the very helpless poor, satiates himself every day with the newspaper. It is the parent, school, college, theatre, pulpit, example, counselor, all in one. Every drop in our blood is colored by it.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Wouldst shape a noble life? Then cast No backward glances toward the past, And though somewhat be lost and gone Yet do thou act as one new-born. What each day needs, that shalt thou ask. Each day will set its proper task. —Goethe.

"It's a queer thing," says the Groom News, "that a man who sees the justice and wisdom of asking a fair price for the things he sells, often fails to see the justice and wisdom of paying a fair price for the things he buys."

When anybody tries to sell you something at a price less than it's worth—there's a reason. And if you knew that reason, you probably would not buy. Get inquisitive.—Hedley Informer.

Mr. Latestay (to her little brother)—"Say, Bobby, do you know that that clock is an hour fast?"

Bobby—"Sure, but don't tell Six. She turned it ahead and she thought you wouldn't know."

Mrs. Peck—"She's very pretty, but she never says a word. I can't imagine why all the men are in love with her."

Mr. Peck—"I can."

Dr. E. H. Cary of Dallas, in his address at Memphis, surely won the heartfelt gratitude of those who for so long have been forcing themselves and their children to eat spinach for the sake of its supposed benefit in imparting iron to the human system. Dr. Cary suggests that the sucking of 20-penny nails (rusty preferred) would furnish as much benefit as the spinach.

Doves sometimes eat two or three thousand insects in a day. Each dove and quail killed might have eaten hordes of destructive insects. Birds help to reseed and protect the state.

Make Every Day Holiday from Labor

Each day seems like a Labor Day vacation if you have electric servants doing your work. But forget this—even the finest electrical equipment will be operated efficiently if there aren't enough convenient electrical outlets!

Ask your electrician to go over your house while he can find the best places to put the outlets that are needed. When he gets through there will be more climbing chairs to plug the cleaner into as head fixture, no more disconnecting this to plug that. Things will run more smoothly and more quickly. All the new outlets necessary can be installed inexpensively and without fuss or bother. Call your electrician today!

A leader must have a great following to be great himself. The following was that of God's people. They were not always true, but the leaders, through the spirit of God, were able to inspire in a part of them, at least, faith in God. It takes faith to follow a faithful leader. There is no question that a great follower, following one of God's faithful leaders, has a great reward. All men cannot be outstanding leaders, but there is no man that cannot be an outstanding follower. Leaders have had their names preserved to our day, but there are multiplied thousands that shall stand beside those leaders in that great encircling throng in heaven, and God shall bless their faith alike, for it was alike in the days of the spiritual battles upon the earth.

Should we have the faith of God's people of old there would be a great leadership and a great following marching on to victory because of the presence of God's spirit in these latter days, as there was in the early days of the men we have been studying, and in the early days of the Christian era. God's power has never weakened, but the faith of men has been divided. Let us pray for the day of multiplication.

In this booth they will demonstrate the cause, symptoms and treatment of milk fever for cows. There will also be two judging teams from McLean, poultry and dairy. These teams will compete in the regular judging contests. The members of the poultry team are: Charles Finley, Cecil Jones and Arthur Ray Ledbetter. The members of the dairy team are: Elton O'Neal, Sim Rhodes and J. C. Breeding.

ASSEMBLY

Assembly was held Tuesday morning at 9:45, and was in charge of the Methodist Church. Mr. Cryer introduced Rev. Crow, who took charge of the exercises. Miss Jewel Shaw and Mrs. C. O. Greene entertained with a vocal duet. They were accompanied at the piano by Miss Dorothy Jean St. Clair. Rev. Crow took as his text, "A word name is rather to be chosen than great riches." He gave us a very interesting lesson.

After the program, a business meeting was held for the purpose of electing a president and secretary of the student council. Sherman Crockett of the senior class was elected president and Mozelle Glenn of the junior class was elected secretary. Both were elected by acclamation. Next week a constitution and by-laws for the student body will be adopted. We are behind this student council and feel that they will make a great year for the student body as a whole.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, among them it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Lowest substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

RIGHT TO REFUSE ADVERTISING

With growing frequency, Editor & Publisher is asked concerning the right of a newspaper to refuse advertising with or without stating a reason for its refusal. Our answer has been that the courts in recent years have been unanimous in upholding this right of a newspaper, principally on the ground that a newspaper is not at common law a business clothed with a public interest and therefore subject to public regulation. In the absence of specific statutory provision, no newspaper can be compelled to accept advertising, nor to state a reason for its refusal to do so.
 About two years ago, two Detroit newspapers declined the copy of a firm which had purchased the assets of a bankrupt corporation, until the new organization had paid for advertising used by its predecessor. It paid the old debt, contracted for new space, and when it subsequently followed its ancestor into bankruptcy, the trustee sought to sue the newspapers on the ground that they had no right to enforce payment of the first bankrupt's debts, and that such payments were illegal and constrained by business exigency.

The Michigan court was not convinced by the argument that the newspaper business was clothed with a public interest, nor that it constituted a local monopoly, and brushed aside efforts to apply previous decisions affecting insurance companies, gran warehouses, etc., in which the public interest doctrine had been accepted.

In a previous case, the Rochester (N. Y.) Times-Union had refused to publish advertisements of a furniture store, on the grounds that advertised statements were not true. The court upheld the newspaper's right, partly on the ground that its rate card stipulated that all copy is subject to approval, and further that the newspaper had the right and the duty to protect its readers from statements it knew to be misleading.

In a recent West Virginia case, the court ruled that newspapers are private businesses and can refuse advertising with or without stating a cause.

Similar reasoning guided the Supreme Court of Louisiana in ruling that the Shreveport Times could refuse the copy of a firm which had not paid bills for previous advertising. "The weight of authority," said the decision, "is that the publishing of a newspaper is a strictly private enterprise, and the publishers thereof are free to contract and deal or refuse to contract and deal with whom they please."

In Iowa, where the Carroll Herald refused an advertisement, the court justified the action, saying: "If a newspaper were required to accept an advertisement, it could be compelled to publish a news item." The decision was upheld on appeal.

That injustice might arise under unscrupulous application of the rule by a publisher partisan toward a certain advertiser is admitted. Against the theory is the fact that publishers realize their responsibility and that few would refuse legitimate advertising from anyone who could establish business credentials.—Editor & Publisher.

DEEPER AND DEEPER

There is a law on the statutes of Texas requiring all county receipts and expenditures to be published in a local paper, and many counties of this state comply strictly with this law. However, some counties fail to comply with this law, which makes it somewhat embarrassing to those who pay the taxes, and must ask, "How much money did our county spend?" Fact of the business is most people will not ask, but should a quarterly report be published in the Home Town Paper every three months they would get their paper, and sit down where they would be comfortable, and read every item as to the money taken in and what it was paid out for. They want this and are entitled to know it.—Claude News.

She was the kind of woman who could be relied upon to say the wrong thing wherever she was. At a recent dinner she turned to her neighbor and said:
 "Doctor, can you tell me who that terrible looking man is over there?"
 "I can," replied the medical man.
 "That is my brother."
 There was an awkward pause while the woman racked her brain for something to say. The doctor was enjoying her discomfiture.
 "Oh, I beg your pardon," she stammered, blushing. "How silly of me not to have seen the resemblance."
