McLean High School Band Wins First at Amarillo

Band Makes Good Show at Festival

No Pupils Also Make High Grades

McLean high school band under the direction of Prof. Robt. C. S. Doolen, won first place for class C in the Amarillo Music Festival in competition with other school bands. The band made a grade of 95% on reading, 92% on playing the instrumentation. The last grade was made up of 85% on the fact that a number of instruments, like bassoons, etc., are not represented in the school were commended the ability and the excellence of the band in high school grades in high school. The McLean uniforms were the best at the contest. Boyett's piano pupils also made a grade of 95% on the contest this week. Willie Cobb, Ermadell Floyd, Billie Niggers, Juanita Carpenter and L. L. Sitter made high grades in their respective classes.

DEMOCRATS MAY CONTRIBUTE TO FUND

J. E. Lynch, Precinct Chm. furnished the campaign last fall, contributed the second largest money, being exceeded only by Mr. Farley of New York. Mr. Farley states that we have a deficit of $75,000, which is 10% of the entire deficit. This sounds large; however, our state says it can be done. In the world, the Texas national organization decided to allot ten cents for each vote cast, one very close to the sum existing to a local proposition cast around 600 votes, which make our quota $60. I realize conditions are such that it will be difficult for every voter to contribute a very large sum to this fund. Every local Democrat ought to help. Mr. Witt Springer, at City Drug Store, will handle the buttons list, and whether you are to give $20 or 10 cents, it will be raising the amount for our fund. If you feel that you can't do it just at this time, the list and pay some date before the money is turned over to the chairman. Let's go forward the new deal.

Election to Cancel County Bonds Not Needed

It has been ruled that an election to cancel Gray county road bonds is not needed, as the action of the state legislature automatically voided the bonds by prohibiting counties from spending money on state roads except for purchase of right-of-way. The unused bonds will be burned by the commissioners.

Bonds for the completion of the McLean-Pampa road, which is a county proposition, amounting to $523,000, have not been issued, printed or sold.

The county has a bonded indebtedness of some one and a quarter million dollars, and in addition to paying the interest this year, will require about $80,000 of the bonds.

It is not known when action will be taken toward finishing the McLean Pampa road. If work is not done soon, much of the work already done will be lost. Some places in the road are in bad shape and getting worse. It is possible to receive help from the R. F. C. funds in selling the bonds, but the attitude of the commissioners has not been made public in this regard.

George Colebank and J. E. Lynch were re-elected to the board of trustees of the McLean independent school district for another term, at the election held Saturday.

Up to Friday, only two names were on the ticket, and friends filed T. N. Holloway's name as a candidate; later friends of Roy Campbell added his name.

Little interest was shown in the race, only 133 votes being cast, with one mutilated ballot. Colebank received 102 votes, Lynch 83, Holloway 65, and Campbell 14.

WILBURN LYNCH SECURES FINE ANGUS CALF

By Dr. A. A. Tampke

J. S. Morse has given Wilburn Lynch a calf to use for fattening as a project, which Wilburn, the writer and John Haynes selected out of the entire Angus herd which Mr. Morse has on the ranch north of Pampa.

The calf is of exceptional type and should be an outstanding individual for next spring show. More of these calves and also Herefords from other McLean breeders would be perhaps available at reasonable prices for P. F. A. boys. It is hoped that a large number of boys will secure calves for projects soon.

School Nurse Will Arrive in McLean Monday

By C. O. Greene, R. C. Chm.

The American Red Cross has again granted McLean and the surrounding community free nursing service for a period of two months. We are advised that the public health nurse, Miss Ada Howell, will report for duty on Monday, April 10. Miss Howell is an experienced nurse, having graduated from Parsavant Hospital, Jacksonville, Ill., in 1921, and, after several years of service, she studied home hygiene and care of sick in a post-graduate course at Fort Collins, Colo., in 1929. Miss Howell was community nurse at Greenfield, Ill., for one year and was an itinerant nurse for the American Red Cross between the years of 1928 to 1931, inclusive. The American Red Cross has made the following statements: "Miss Howell is attractive and has a very pleasing personality. One of her outstanding qualities is her ability to work with all sorts of people. She is an excellent teacher of home hygiene and care of the sick, and a good public health nurse. Her work as itinerant nurse has been most satisfactory."

We would like to urge that the citizens of McLean, and particularly those having children in school, cooperate with the Red Cross, with Mrs. Sillgar, our chairman of nursing, and with Miss Howell, to the end that we may derive all of the benefits possible from this service which has been afforded us by the American Red Cross.

COLLEGE APPRECIATES TAMPKÉ

Dr. Tampke has received the following letter from the division of teacher-training in vocational agriculture at the Sam Houston State Teachers College:

Huntsville, Texas, April 1, 1933.

Mr. A. A. Tampke,
McLean, Texas.

Dear Mr. Tampke:

The McLean News of March 30th with head lines across the front page, "Tampke's Teams Win at Lubbock," has been received. This is in line with your achievement in the past. We are all very happy to see this achievement on the part of the boys under your direction.

We had quite a large attendance at our district contest Saturday. The boys show considerable progress thru the past several years.

I notice you have a display of trophies and banners won in the American Bank window. I hope to have the opportunity of seeing these some time.

I am placing the paper out on the bulletin board in the hall where the boys can read it.

With best wishes to you, Mrs. Tampke, your children, and the boys, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
S. C. WILSON, Director.

Supt. Will Be Dean and Head History

McLean Schools Show Growth under His Leadership

Supt. G. C. Boswell of the McLean schools has accepted a position as dean and head of the history department of McMurry College of Abilene and will assume his new duties at the beginning of the next term.

Mr. Boswell had been re-elected superintendent here, and it was understood that he would stay another term, but his resignation was placed before the board Monday night.

Dr. Hunt, president of McMurry College, was in McLean last September, and offered Mr. Boswell the position, saying that he has been keeping up with Mr. Boswell's work for a number of years, and felt that he was needed at Abilene.

Mr. Boswell is finishing his master's degree at Simmons University, having most of the work on his thesis done.

The McLean high school has earned seven new affiliated credits since Mr. Boswell came here three years ago, making a total of 34 credits for McLean.

In an interview with a News representative, Mr. Boswell stated that he hates to leave McLean, he enjoys working with the people here, he has enjoyed the spirit of cooperation shown by the patrons and others, but feels that it is best for himself and family to accept the college offer.

Mr. Boswell is president of the Lions Club, has been on the official board of the chamber of commerce, is educational director at the First Methodist Church, and has identified himself with every progressive movement since coming to McLean.

Mr. Boswell's friends will be sorry to see him leave McLean, but rejoice in his well deserved advancement.

If 3.2% beer is non-intoxicating, why prohibit its sale to minors, or around federal buildings? The brewers will attempt to tell us in a gigantic advertising campaign soon to be released that it is good for most everything. If it is as harmless as soft drinks, why not let it be sold without restrictions of any kind?

Several citizens have complained to the News editor the past week of chickens and dogs running at large, unsanitary pig pens, and the like, but there is nothing much that we can do about it, other than extend sympathy. The place for complaints is to the city officials who have the power to stop any nuisance that is against the city ordinances. We are sure that no one would willingly annoy his neighbors, if the matter is brought to his attention, and the city ordinances are plain in all these matters.

Now that the spring elections are over, we may look forward to better conditions, and this has no reference to those who won or lost, as elections seem to cause division despite the work of those who have only the best interest of the community at heart. The fact remains that most men are honest of purpose, and with the right kind of cooperation, will give of their best effort to solve the official problems. If we will give our local officials more assistance and less criticism, we will all be better off at the end of the year.

With a new state press association and eight new regional associations, there surely should be plenty of work for the disgruntled fellows to do. One might try first one and then the other, and see just what he likes best. The old established press associations—and we have plenty—are democratic in principle, and members can make any change they desire by attending the annual meetings and voting as they please. Members of the Panhandle press association may congratulate themselves that their organization differs, to the extent that its purpose is primarily fraternal, and has had no occasion to be torn with dissention.

It is our aim to publish a newspaper that will be beneficial to the interests of the town and community. A newspaper cannot exist without the patronage and good will of the merchants and professional people. We solicit advertising and printing because of the benefits our customers will receive, and in order that we may give this community a paper that will represent it properly. No community can progress very far ahead of its newspaper, and no newspaper can progress without support. There is no form of advertising that pays as well as in the columns of the home paper, and no other printer can give the service the home man can give. A little cooperation will mean the difference in failure or success, from a community standpoint.

BRIEFS

By A P ANGELO

The president's reforestation project is being put into action. Men are expected to go through preparation camps for a week or so before being put to work. The work is expected to begin within three weeks.

Prohibition enforcement has been placed under a new head in Washington. If Mr. Dalrymple can manage better enforcement, the honors go to him. Laws should be enforced until they have been repealed.

The new German government is making a fine start. They are preparing to get rid of all their Jews. Many nations have pursued such a policy, but always to their sorrow.

France is preparing for the next war to be fought in the air, by inventing great wire "spider webs" to be hung from balloons. The balloons and the wires are practically invisible and would be a greater peril to aircraft than many anti-aircraft guns most effectively operated.

President Roosevelt has effected a saving of millions through veteran pay cut. There is probably an unnecessary drain upon the U. S. treasury for many items in veteran pay, but we should never force our boys to unnecessary sacrifice. Our country can never forget the unequalled service they rendered to their country in days gone by.

We all hope the best results from the new farm legislation that will attempt to steer the nation's agriculture again to a paying basis.

Two states have voted on the repeal of the 18th amendment. At the time of this writing, the results had not been ascertained. Thirty-six states must vote repeal to make it a reality. It will never happen.

Beer will flow legally at midnight on Friday, April 7th. The revenue from it is just talk so far. There will be more talk when it fails to bring the expected revenue.

AN AIR CASTLE

By O. L. D. Timer

I came to this county over 20 years ago. When I first came I worked all the time. When I finished eating I would jump up from the table and go to shelling corn or hoeing weeds while the horses rested. But since I have been here twenty odd years there is nothing works on my place but the woman and the barrel of mash. I learned to plant my pumpkins down below the barn lot so when it rained it would wash the fertilizer down on the pumpkin patch and the old hens picked the bugs off the pumpkins and scratched up all the weeds. It sure was lots of help.

I also learned to stack my corn in the alfalfa patch in a round wire crib and the pigs would root under one side and the corn would roll down as they cleaned it up. It sure was a relief not to have to throw it over the fence.

It was my greatest ambition and highest aspiration to originate, develop and perfect a dry shirt system of farming, and I was making a go of it until the depression came along and tore up my play 'ouse. I feel now like a boy who has had his marbles taken away from him, or a man who has had his tobacco taken away from him, or a girl who has had her silk stockings and lipstick taken away from her, or a woman who has been denied a permanent wave. Woe is me. But I am not going to give up, but will go back to the old fashioned wet shirt system and build my house on a rock. You don't know how it hurts, but here goes, nevertheless.

Lesson text Mark 8:27-38. Golden text Mark 8:34.

Following the return of Jesus from His withdrawal to boundries outside of Palestine, as studied in last Sunday's lesson, He again faced His enemies in Capernaum. Soon He took His disciples and started north to Caesarea Philippi. It was about twenty-five miles north of Capernaum, near the head of the Jordan river. It was a beautiful place with many trees, and the original Dan in the northern part of the kingdom of Israel as first divided among the children of Israel. It was on this journey that Jesus asked the question of His disciples as to whom men thought He was.

The disciples answered Jesus as best they could on the subject. Some, Herod especially, thought Jesus was John the Baptist risen from the dead. His conscience was hurting him for the brutal killing of John. Naturally, there were many who would have the same conception of the matter as Herod. There were others who thought Jesus to be Elias, or as we know him in Old Testament history, Elijah. Still others thought Jesus one of the old prophets. In thinking Him Elias or one of the prophets, the people thought that the old prophet had come back from heaven in case of Elias, or from the dead in case of one of the other prophets. But that question was not the one of importance. Jesus did not tarry with it or comment on the answers given.

The question of importance was, "But whom say ye that I am?" That question today is still the burning question. The world may say many things. But if individual men say aught as to whom Christ is and live that conviction, the world will also know who Christ is. Peter's answer was correct. He was and is the Christ. If the nominally Christian world and the preachers of the Bible would unreservedly make that same confession today and cry it out to a sin cursed world, Christ would be known and accepted by thousands before the dawn. The Bible spends no time trying to prove that Christ was divine or the Son of God. If we were as certain as the Bible and preached it so to men without hesitation, we might be heard more quickly by the world. It was said by one that one of the things that made Sam Jones such a great preacher was that he never questioned the divinity of Christ. He based his preaching on that fact and told a sinful world how it needed such a Christ. Also, Jesus wanted the open confession of His disciples. Jesus will not permit a man to follow Him secretly or silently. There are some who want to follow without taking a public stand for the Master. That cannot be done, as we see later in the lesson.

Following the confession, Jesus told the disciples about the coming crucifixion and resurrection. Again Peter was the first to speak. I think there is no question that all the disciples made the same confession, and all possibly concurred in the feeling that Jesus must not die. That was a great temptation. Even on the night of the arrest Jesus prayed that if possible the cup might pass. It believe that continually through the ministry of Jesus, Satan strenuously tempted Him at that point. Therefore, the very caustic remark of Jesus, "Get thee behind me, Satan," was not directed as much to Peter as it was directly to Satan as he operated through the disciple. That was the one desire of Satan, his only hope in keeping mankind away from God. If he had been able to cause Jesus to yield to one temptation, all mankind would have been torn from the possibility of ever being justified before God.

It did not take Jesus long to set Satan aside. He called the people to Him and began to teach them. If they were to follow Him they must deny themselves, take up their cross and follow Him. First, there must be the desire to follow Jesus. No one has to follow Jesus except as he desires. Then there must be denial. A man must make his choice if he follows Jesus. He can't follow the world and Jesus at the same time. Here is where so many fail. They think they can have the protection Jesus affords, by belonging to some church, and yet take in all of the pleasures of the world. They are fooling themselves, and, to their sorrow, too late they will realize it. A saved man denies himself. Next he must discipline himself—must take up his cross daily. The cross of daily service gets old to those who have not actually been regenerated, and is soon forgotten. That cross is part of the discipline of Christ. Then there must be development. We must follow Christ. Who could fail to develop when following Christ?

A man might gain the whole world, enjoy all of its wealth, beauty, and pleasure, and yet forfeit his own soul. Where would he be profited? What is the price of a man's soul? A man wouldn't bargain to sell it, and yet many men are virtually selling their souls unwittingly, at a shamefully low price. If a man would have Jesus know him, he must make his relationship with Jesus known to all the world through life. It will be an awful thing for a man to reach the other world expecting to be greeted by the Master, only to be told He never knew him. Yet Jesus says that very thing is going to happen unless we make our confession of Him to the world.

Jesus said to the Jews, "Why call ye me Lord, Lord, and do not the things I have commanded you?" And He would not countenance them. So today He is saying to many nominal church members, "Why do you depend on that church membership and yet do not keep my commandments?" Brethren, the man who knows Christ will keep His commandments to the extent that the world will know that he is a Christian.

AS OTHERS SEE US

The following is from the column directed by Olin E. Hinkle in the Pampa Daily News, whose pointed remarks make interesting reading:

Notes on McLean Trip

The Pampan attended the annual banquet of the McLean chamber of commerce Tuesday evening at the request of M. D. Bentley of that town. Since Mr. Bentley is a member of the grand jury, it was the part of wisdom to accept his invitation.

We have no regrets; it was a most pleasant meeting, with good food prepared by the ladies of the P. T. A. and served by the handsome young women of the home economics department. Among the most agreeable sensations for the ear were the notes and rhythms produced by Prof. Robt. Davidson's high school band. It's really a great little band and McLean is pardonably proud of it.

"Ain't We Crazy?"

The McLean Lions Club has a male quartet of astonishing zeal and considerable harmony. T. A. Landers, the newspaper man of that place, sings high tenor in a way which shows great, obvious enjoyment. He is supported by E. L. Sitter, Jesse J. Cobb and Reep Landers. They sang "Ain't We Crazy?" until the slightly sleepy audience was nodding in affirmation. They sang the first twenty or thirty verses of their theme song but couldn't finish it because "it" looked like rain and we Pampan wished to get started homeward. We challenge you, T. A., to finish that song at the press convention in May. And let Mrs. Bogan give that reading!

That Man Cook

We like McLean. We like the way the citizens respect each other and pass compliments instead of dirty digs. For instance, there's Reuben R. R. Cook, heading the chamber of commerce for the second year. Everybody spoke highly of him, even if he is a banker in these troublous times. We tried to learn what his middle initials stood for, but ascertained only that the second R. stands for Rastus.

Doing Real Work

The McLean chamber of commerce seemed to include about everybody in some activity or other. The town is trying to be friendly with and useful to the people around about. As their Rev. W. A. Erwin said, "the only kind of cities you want to live in are not accidents—they are built by the combined efforts of the citizens." McLean strives to be independent. Federal relief was accepted only after it appeared that every other town was going to ask for aid. McLean will likely be one of the first towns to discontinue federal relief activities.

Just as Expected

This writer and Mr. and Mrs. John Sturgeon were among the first to enter the dining room, but who do you suppose was already there, from Pampa? Right—John B. Hessey, professional banqueter. Next to him was Ralph Thomas, runner-up for the same title. Roy Bourland is getting the habit, and Lewis M. Goodrich, the new district attorney, seems addicted lately. Claude Williams hides a lot of wisecracks behind that dry smile. Before introducing Mr. Sturgeon, the main speaker, the toastmaster said the local man, a song leader, was requested by a minister to choose a proper song to conclude a bitter sermon ended with the sentence, "Let us throw all beer, whiskey and other intoxicants into the river of sin." Mr. Sturgeon, so it was told, then led the audience in singing "Shall We Gather at the River?"

Got Their Rain

McLean folk, hoping for a rain, got half an inch or more. They boast of a soil that will grow all kinds of flowers and crops—if it rains. City beautification is a plank in the chamber of commerce platform. The rain gave the Pampa delegation proof of the need for completion of the Pampa-McLean highway. But no rain was needed, since the roadway is undergoing severe damage from traffic and wind. A nice place McLean—because of a good citizenship.

PLAY TOMORROW NIGHT

Mrs. Claud McGowen of Clarendon was here this morning in the interest of a play to be given tomorrow night at the high school auditorium.

Mrs. McGowen has a part in the play, and says that the star part is played by a young lady of Clarendon who is a true Western girl. She wears her own ranch clothes and is a typical girl of the Panhandle.

Full announcement appears in an advertisement in another column.

Customer—"Three of those apples you sent me were rotten. I am bringing them back."

Storekeeper—"That's all right, madam, you needn't bring them back. Your word is just as good as the apples."

BAR LO HEREFORDS TOP MARKET

The following letters are self-explanatory: Blandinsville, Ill., April 1, 1933. Mr. G. C. Boswell, Supt., McLean, Texas.

Dear Sir: I have used the Hereford calves from the Bar Lo ranch owned by Mr. Sitter and managed by Mr. Hess, for several years, and have always topped the market with them for their weight.

Good breeding shows up in the fed lot and there certainly is no dearth of it in these cattle. In fact, I put them to a test by putting calves of the same weight and apparently the same quality in the same feed lot under identical feeding conditions. The Bar Lo calves proved superior both in feeding out and at the market.

The Bar Lo brand has come to mean a dependable symbol of quality to me—quality to the nth degree in these cattle, and also of the men who stand back of that brand—honest, just and reliable.

Very truly yours, KARL H. NELSON.

Blandinsville, Ill., April 3, 1933. Mr. G. C. Boswell, Supt. of Schools, McLean, Texas.

Dear Mr. Boswell: Your nice letter of March 28 received and in reply will say: I have been feeding cattle from the Bar Lo ranch for the past five years, buying them as weaning calves. They are shipped here and put on full feed with shelled corn the principal part of the ration, which is kept before them at all times. They are kept on feed ten to twelve months and by this time they are prime yearling heaves.

They are then marketed in Chicago where they always sell around the top of the market; in fact, my last shipment sold for 25c per hundred over any other cattle of comparable weight that day. In all my experience finishing cattle for market over a term of several years, feeding all kinds of cattle, the Bar Lo cattle are the most satisfactory I have ever fed. On my visits to the Bar Lo ranch from time to time, I can see a steady improvement in the quality of the cattle, which has now reached the place where it would seem they were about as near perfect as it is possible to make them. My observations of Bar Lo ranch could not be complete without saying a good word for the owner and manager, Mr. Sitter and Mr. Hess, two of the finest and fairest men it has ever been my pleasure to meet, and with their fine families are held in my very highest esteem. I shall be very glad if what I have written will be of any assistance to you in writing your thesis on the Bar Lo ranch.

You may use any part or all of this letter as you may see fit. Yours very truly, S. E. ROBERTS.
