Lions Club Plants Trees at Cemetery

McLean Lions planted 55 trees at Hillcrest cemetery Tuesday, the club replying in a body to the cemetery following the weekly noon luncheon. Mrs. L. B. Boswell dug a hole and set a tree with appropriate exercises, after which a group picture was taken of the members to use in the international magazine. R. F. C. members finished the work of planting the trees.

The trees were secured from Lion Paul M. Bruce, owner of the Bruce and Sons Nursery at Alanreed, and were Chinese elms around two inches diameter, that have been held in storage for late customers.

A map of the cemetery plot was used and trees located on the alley between the diagonal streets converging from the central oval park, each tree being set at a cross intersection, and some eight feet apart.

Lion Bruce made a special deal with the club on the trees, Lion D. A. Davis furnishing a truck, and R. F. C. workers going after and setting the trees.

It is the intention of the club to have the trees properly watered and cared for this season, and as added as circumstances allow. The cemetery has been cleaned up this year by R. F. C. workers and is in better condition than at any time in its history.

Water is piped to the center of the cemetery, but a larger main and lateral lines are needed, which is understood to be on the program of the city council, as the plot belongs to the city.

A PRIZE-WINNING GARDEN

How a prize-winning garden may be created by love and enthusiasm and tender care, developing from the fertile earth and under the kindly sun into a little Eden of unrivaled charm, is revealed in the story of Mrs. Vivian Nation Hoagland of Erie,

Kansas. Mrs. Hoagland is one of those flower lovers to whom gardening is a passion, a life ambition, a hobby, a recreation and a best friend, all rolled into one. Her beautiful place is featured by a lily pool, part of which is shown above.

By Dr. A. A. Tampke, V. A. Instructor

The vocational agriculture dairy team of McLean high school again came through the Plainview judging contest with the largest amount of cash rewards of the entire contest, where thirteen dairy teams of the Plains competed. The McLean team won $26.50 in cash of the $88 offered. No other school received so large an amount.

He also was highest scorer in Guernseys and Holsteins with 139 points out of a possible 150, and scoring 4th in Jerseys with 304 points. W. C. Carpenter scored second in Jerseys with 310 points. The high point man in Jerseys scored 317, which went to Tulla, Christal Christian was 6th in Holstein and Guernseys.

The McLean team scored second in all classes with 1270 points, which was only 14 less than Tulla, the winner. McLean also placed second in Jerseys and second in Holstein and Guernseys in team scores.

McLean also competed in the Abernathy practice contest last Saturday, in which they placed third. McLean poultry subs judged at Plainview, where they demonstrated their ability to be a promising team next year. The poultry team was composed of Cecil Jones, Marvin Mathis and James E. Cooke.

The prize money won will be used to defray expenses of the teams to the state contest in the near future.

HOG CHOLERA EPIDEMIC SHOULD BE CONTROLLED

By Dr. A. A. Tampke
The hog cholera epidemic must be stopped at once, or the entire community will suffer the loss of many hogs and immediate vaccination and sanitation is necessary, if we expect to keep it from spreading. Birds, dogs and people visiting the sick hogs may easily carry the germs to all the homes in the community, if this epidemic is not carefully handled, or controlled.
I shall be glad to order the serum at cost for any hog owner and also help administer the treatment, if any wishes me to do so. We can get the serum in 12, or 36 hours.
It is easy to prevent hog cholera, but very few hogs ever get well, if once stricken with the disease.

Entered as second class mail matter May 8, 1905, at the post office at McLean, Texas, under act of Congress.

We are told that school authorities are frowning on pupils playing marbles for "keeps," which is as it should be. Children have enough temptations to arouse the gambling instinct without allowing games of this kind on the school grounds.

Calvin Coolidge believed in advertising, and said on one occasion: "Formerly it was an axiom that competition was the life of trade. Under the methods of the present day it would seem to be more appropriate to say that advertising is the life of trade." The record of business failures each year testifies that the lack of advertising means the death of trade.

Agriculture teachers now instruct young people that there is nothing to the "planting in the moon" theory; however, the old superstition was a harmless one, as the belief did not harm the potatoes, or the moon, either. There is one thing about the moon superstition that always seemed strange to us: if killing hogs in a certain time of the moon would make lard or meat, as desired, why in the world could not an expert "moonologist" get a job with the big packing houses and tell them when to kill for whatever the market demanded that day.

Advertising money "saved" now is wasted. Markets must be bought in any kind of times and with fewer advertisers competing for a market, it is possible to buy your market much cheaper. It is possible to get by with a much smaller outlay of money when others have taken out than it is in times when everyone is hustling for business. It is impossible to make a success of any business without advertising, and the man who takes advantage of the times is the one who will be on top when things have livened up again.

Only 32 Texas firms went into bankruptcy last month, with liabilities of $567,000, as compared with 79 firms with liabilities totaling $1,289,000, in March a year ago. On the basis of assets reported, there were available for creditors 53c on the dollar, as compared with 40c in February, and 52c a year ago. There are a certain number of failures in any kind of times, due to various causes, but the diminishing number of late is taken to mean that conditions are generally on the upturn and we may expect better times from now on.

The chief of police at Pampa was reported in Sunday's Daily News as saying that warnings had been given boys who were damaging trees and lawns for the last time, and arrests would be made of culprits hereafter. Rocking trees and walking across lawns is practiced to some extent in McLean, the walking across lawns not always by boys. However, it seems a shame that boys have to suffer for things that their parents should have taught them not to do when small children. Children will respect the property of others if properly taught, and it is the duty of parents to see that their children learn the rights of others in this regard.

JESUS TRANSFIGURED

By Rev. Cecil G. Goff

Lesson text, Mark 9:2-29. Golden text, John 1:14.

Six days passed between the great confession of the disciples, and the ascending to the mount of transfiguration. Luke says there were eight days, but includes the day of the confession and the day of the transfiguration. Jesus took three of His disciples, Peter, James and John, and went up upon a mountain. It was probably one of the peaks of Mount Hermon. Why Jesus took just three of His followers, we do not know, but we know that these three were nearest Him upon more than one occasion, for they were the ones who accompanied Him into the chamber of death in the ruler's home in Capernaum; they were with Him this time, and they were nearest Him during the midnight agony in Gethsemane.

Upon reaching the top of the peak, the transfiguration took place. The real inner glory of the Master shone so that the disciples could see Him as He really was. There stood and talked with Him, Moses and Elijah. All three manifest the glory of heavenly beings, but Christ that of the Son of God. Matthew says that His face shone as the sun. The dazzling scene before the disciples was no vision, illusion or dream. There is no intimation that they might have been asleep, or that the transfiguration was not a positive reality in every respect. On the other hand, the records are all very emphatic as to the exactness of its reality.

The record would suggest that the disciples were so awe stricken that words left them. Finally Peter found his tongue. He, as usual, was the first to speak on all occasions. The record states that he did not know what he was saying. It was just natural for Peter to think that something needed to be said. He suggested that a booth be built for each of the glorified ones. First, for Jesus, then for Moses and one for Elias. Now Moses represented the law and had prophesied of Christ in Deut. 18:15, and Elias represented the prophets and had been zealous for the Lord of hosts in 1 Kings 19:10.

God was not in any way attempting to place the three on a par in the minds of the disciples or of the world. In fact He was doing the other thing. He had sent those two greatest of His servants to recognize the supremacy of His Son. And as they talked, they spoke of the mighty accomplishment Jesus was about to complete in His death and resurrection. Thus, when Peter made his foolish remark, the voice of God was heard in the heavens saying, "This is my beloved Son, hear Him." God had the purpose of directing those disciples aright. The law and the prophets were both to be subordinate to the word of the Son of God. He and His commands were to take the place of both the others. The Jews, and even the disciples, had followed the commands of the law as right. Here God was saying to them that the law and the prophets were subservient to the word of the Son of God. There was to be no booth built for Moses or Elias. The Master was the one they were to serve, reverence, and obey. And God has not changed His mind through these years that have passed. He did not destroy the law, but rather through Jesus built upon it a great superstructure in which we are to worship by and through Christ Jesus. He is our guide.

As quickly as the transfiguration had come, it was gone. Jesus stood before them warning them that they tell no one what they had seen there on that mountain. How long they were on the mountain is a matter of conjecture. The record does not say. But when they reached the valley there was a crowd there awaiting the Master. A father had brought his devil possessed child to be healed.

The reputation of Jesus had traveled far. And seldom was He without someone to heal. When this father had come, Jesus was on the mount. There were nine disciples there. They attempted to cast the demon out, and failed. They had cast many out, and had healed many sick, but now their power was gone. For some reason they failed. When the father approached Jesus, his faith was probably shaken by the failure of the disciples. When the child was brought the father asked Jesus to heal the child if He could help them. Of such calibre are most of our prayers. We limit God in the beginning by wondering if He has the power to keep the promises He has made to His children. Whenever we meet the requirements God lays down, and upon that type of love and faith ask God to answer a prayer, He keeps His promise.

Jesus would not accept the father's faithless plea as He will not accept ours. He told him that he must believe if He, Jesus, were to help him by healing the child. According to Weymouth, one of the best N. T. translations, the father answered, "I do believe; aid my weak faith." If we can but believe, even though our faith is weak, God will strengthen it for us if we will but earnestly ask Him. Thus Jesus strengthened the faith of this anguish filled father and commanded the devil to leave the boy. The disciples wanted to know why they were unable to cure the child. Jesus answered that the lack of consecration in their lives constituted the difficulty. How often that same feeling stands in our way of service just as it did for the disciples.

TURNIP GREENS

By O. L. D. Timer

When turnip greens are mentioned it reminds me of when I was a boy and went with my folks to a big dinner. The table was well filled with all kinds of good eats. I sat down to the table in fine spirits with my eyes centered on the pies, cakes, jelly and jam, with my mouth watering to get started. There was one old lady who was afraid all the good things would run out first, came around with a large dish of turnip greens. She says, "Turnip greens are good for growing boys. They make them healthy and smart," and with that she gave me a generous helping of greens. My countenance fell and I sat there and sulked like a possum for a while and then I decided that I would make the best of it, and proceeded to devour the greens at top speed. Just as I shoveled the last bite into my mouth, the same old lady appeared with another large dish of greens and said, "My goodness, how that boy does like turnip greens! Have some more," and placed a rocky mountain of greens in my plate. There is where I met my Waterloo. I sat there with the tears just ready to come out, but just before I turned them loose, a nice girl who had taken a liking to me walked up, took my rock mountain of greens, and disappeared in the kitchen. She reappeared with a rocky mountain of ice cream and a great plateau of chocolate cake. Oh boy, I would have spread my coat over a mud puddle so she could walk over dry shod. Talk about being lifted out of the slough of despond to Mount Olympus to feast with the gods! It is needless to say that the English language does not contain words to express my opinion of Mrs. Turnip Greens.

Jack Gray and family of Lefors visited relatives here last week end.

BRIEFS

By A P ANGELO

There is a heavy shortage in this year's wheat crop, brought about by the drought. Prices have consequently gone up. But flour went up long before wheat did. Men are already in reforestation camps, and despite the many disparaging remarks of many prominent people before the measure passed, the men who are getting the work say that they like it.

The Akron disaster is only one of a long list of dirigible tragedies. The nation hopes for better luck to the new Macon.

It is almost unbelievable that there are civilized people in our nation whose minds could become so warped religiously that they would hold to the belief, let alone the actual performance, of human sacrifice. Yet Kentucky is trying members of a cult on such a charge.

Fourteen states are drenched in beer. But the supply is not great enough to meet the demand. It is being pro-rated to the different states. Many of the saloons can only furnish near beer and ginger ale after the middle of the afternoon. Well, if a fellow has to get drunk in the morning or not at all, that gives him a chance to get sobered up before morning so he can get drunk again the next morning.

The beer reported coming into Texas is more than just mere report, no doubt, but it probably never saw a legal brewery. Legalizing beer will not stop bootlegging. Bootleggers in times of legalized liquor are merely in the wholesale business rather than the retail business, and Mr. John

A FIG PARTY

Last Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Back gave the 7th grade a "pig" party. It was the most unusual party we have ever had.

It is often times possible to cure crippled children or correct their deformities, and I would like for my club to have a part in such a worth while undertaking. These children should be given a few of the pleasures of life, so I should like for my Lions Club to take the crippled children and give the comforts of life as well as a few of the pleasures that children get to enjoy only once. I should like for my Lions Club to give help that would relieve suffering and poverty, and put some sunshine in a life where there had been only shadows and sorrow; and yet, but not least, I should like for each member of my club to face life squarely, meet it bravely, and have a smile and a friendly greeting for those with whom he comes in contact.

AGRICULTURE PARTY

The agriculture boys had a party Thursday night at Dr. and Mrs. Tamboke's home to celebrate their winning at Lubbock. The boys entertained the home economics girls, together with a few invited guests. Games were played until a late hour and ice cream and cake were served to a large crowd of enthusiastic girls and boys. The sum of fourteen gallons of ice cream and many cakes were consumed. The joy and merriment continued until a late hour and all departed to their respective places in high spirits.

PARTY FOR PLAY CAST

The cast of the play "At the End of the Rainbow" enjoyed a party the home economics department of the high school on Tuesday night of this week. Each person brought some ingredients for ice cream and this was made and frozen. Afterwards, "Bunco" was played until appetites would wait no longer, then everyone ate and ate the good ice cream and cookies. The pot at the end of the rainbow was not gold, but it was a fairly cold.

A FIG PARTY

Last Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Back gave the 7th grade a "pig" party. It was the most unusual party we have ever had.

After the Tri-state contests. In case there are not as many as three to make the first three ratings, contestants are chosen from the fourth group. The Tri-state Festival consists of the South Plains, Panhandle and East New Mexico Festivals, Wayland College, and W. T. S. T. C., and was held this year at Lubbock on April 6, 7, 8.

All five McLean girls were eligible to enter the contests at Lubbock, but Juanita Carpenter was not privileged to attend. The other girls attended and made the following ratings: Billie Jean Biggers and Willie Louelle Cobb highly superior; Ermadell Floyd and Dorothy Sitter superior, on solos. They have not received their grades on hymn playing.

Mrs. Van Watwech of S. M. U., at Dallas judged the solos, and Carl Venth of San Antonio the hymns. Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sitter for furnishing the girls a way to go.

A FIG PARTY

Last Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Back gave the 7th grade a "pig" party. It was the most unusual party we have ever had.

We played a game called "pig" with finch cards. We then had the roll call by Raymond Dalton (Raymond Hog). Everyone answered with a grunt and were rewarded by favors which were small pigs cut out of drawing paper. Following that we were divided into eight groups. Each captain was given a piece of a jigsaw puzzle. When it was finished it was a picture of Governor Hogg. Next we tried to pin a tail on a pig while we were blindfolded. The best game of all was to come. That was when we were to be given our "slop." We had to grunt as we entered the cafeteria. Here, to our astonishment, lay pigs in blankets, and hot chocolate. It was the best "slop" anyone had ever tasted. While we had been having a good time, Mrs. Rish Phillips, Mrs. Bartow Landers and Mrs. Flowers had prepared them.

As soon as we had finished we sang "Many Thanks to You Good Mothers." Besides Mrs. Back and the seventh grade, those present were: Mesdames Phillips, Landers, Flowers, Harris; Misses Cummings and Turner, Mr. McHaney, Mabel Back, Dorothy Sitter, Mr. Corum, Mary Emma Back, Ruth Hess, Bud Boyles, Kelly Newman and Mrs. Willie Boyett.

A Safe Farm Program

FEED-FOOD-CREDIT

The present agricultural conditions and the prospect for the prices of all agricultural commodities in the future suggest that a continued program of live at home for the farmer is imperative.

We wish to point out to the farmers of this territory, as we did last year, that from our viewpoint, the time has come, more than ever, when it behooves every farmer to grow his feed and food at home, consisting of fruits, vegetables, poultry, meat and milk, and have these products preserved in sufficient quantities to feed a family at least one year, and a two year supply of feed for all livestock. It is an utter impossibility to produce any one crop (particularly cotton) and meet your obligations. One crop programs have always proven disastrous.

We have no disposition to dictate to our farmer customers, but it is our seasoned judgment and experience that unless a live at home policy is adopted and continually pursued, farmers can never prosper. We would respectfully urge the planting of gardens this year, and if the gardens should fail, then we would urge that the farmer go to the sections of this county that raise truck and garden stuff in abundance, and buy or barter for the same, thus supplying their home needs with vegetables, fruits, etc., that they fail to raise on their farms. A good many farmers last year employed the barter system, and are this year borrowing very little money as a result of it.

It will be the policy of the banks in this section to base their farm loans in the future on whether or not the farmer is following the program as outlined above.

This statement is made at this time so farmers may plan their 1933 farming activities accordingly.

GOLF GOSSIP

By D. A. Davis

Folks, I've been awful busy again the past two weeks, and I've had no time for golf gossip. I've been in politics up to my neck and have neglected my golf a whole lot, but in doing so I believe I've done quite a bit of good that will show up later.

You know I am a strong believer in always going forward and not taking backward steps, not only in golf but in politics as well, and while most of you guys were figuring out some plan to get your man elected as mayor or alderman or school trustee, I was busy studying out some plan whereby we could get more golfers elected to these all important offices in order that we could work out some plan to keep these officers busy playing golf instead of passing new ordinances. And, folks, if you want to know how I voted, just check up on the ones that were running, and scratch off the names of the ones that don't play golf and leave the names of the ones that do play, and you will see just who I voted for.

But, folks, I've got a grievance to settle with "Old Puddin' Foot Davis." However, I am awfully glad he got elected as alderman because that gives us a clean cut majority of golfers in our line up of alderman, mayor and city secretary. We have Aldermen Lander and Davis as progressives, and Mayor Cash and City Secretary Bogan on the progressive side, leaving Aldermen Wilkerson, Wilson and Bodine as forty-two playing, non-progressive (they don't even play progressive forty-two). So, folks, I'm quite happy over the result and if we can just keep them playing golf and forty-two instead of meeting and passing laws or ordinances, we should go through the next political year in fine shape.

The way I hope they will do is this: When they meet, instead of them passing any ordinances, I want "Old W. T." to say, "Boys, let's have a game of forty-two," and then I want the progressives to be progressive enough to say "All right, boys, where are the dominoes?" And the next time they meet I want old Puddin' Foot to get up and say, "Boys, let's all go out and play a couple of rounds of golf," and as the golfers are in the majority, the non-progressive forty-twos will of course compromise by either going home or going out and playing golf, and in that way we won't be bothered with any new ordinances or laws; so, folks, everything looks all hunkadory to me for at least another year.

But what I started out to tell you was the way old Puddin' Foot conducted his campaign. You know my name happens to be Davis, also, and old Puddin' Foot's initials are D. M. (David Monroe), while my initials are D. A. (David Alexander), and it is only natural for the boys who work in the postoffice to get my mail in old Puddin's box and Puddin's mail in my box. But, folks, I thought everybody on the outside knew who was Puddin' and who was me, but it seems that there are quite a lot of folks living in McLean who don't know any more than some of Uncle Sam's boys. Here is how old Puddin' got elected. A certain influential citizen and a voter went to him and wanted to know if he was running for alderman and what his platform was. And old Puddin' didn't do a thing but deny that he was running, and told him that it was old D. A. that was running, and as this man happened to be a good friend of mine he got out and told all his friends to vote for "Davis," thinking that it was me that was running, and in that way old Puddin' got several hundred votes that he might not have gotten. So, folks, this is how it all happened, and when you see old Puddin' sitting in around that council chamber instead of me, this little bit of gossip will enable you to know just how it happened.

And while I am at it, I want to give the trustees a little (more) advice. If you can't elect a super-intendant that can play golf any better than old Grover, go ahead and elect a man that don't even know what golf is. And if you elect a golf player, for Pete's sake put a clause in the contract that he is supposed to furnish his own tees instead of spending five or ten minutes looking for somebody else's tees. Also, it might be a good idea not to employ a man that smokes cigars.

Now that I have given you all the gossip, I want to tell you a few facts. And the fact is this, I am quite all enthused over the way the golfers are going out and playing. It looks like we are going to have a lot of fun this season; and I also want to compliment the ladies for the way they are taking up golf, for we are particularly anxious to organize a ladies' tournament this summer. Further details will be worked out and plans perfected later.

What we must do right now is to fix up our greens, and just as soon as the wind quits blowing so hard we have a plan worked out whereby we will have a bunch of dandy greens to play on before long.

I want to welcome our new members into the club. They are Raymond Glass, Woodie Hindman, Chet Lander and "Tight-eye" Powers. These boys have the material in them to develop into good golfers, and here is hoping they will succeed.

Now here I am complaining again, and this time it is to you school boys that are playing out there and leaving the drags lying on the greens and not putting the pins near the cup when you get through putting. Boys, please observe these rules and don't make it necessary for us to make complaint again. And a word to you little boys who are coming out to caddy; please keep off the greens and don't tear them up, and quit throwing rocks at the two little water houses we have out there. In fact, don't bother a single thing out there; it is not necessary, and if you don't quit it, we will have to ask you to stay off the grounds.

Folks, not so very long ago you remember that I quoted you some statistics showing you that golfers never went crazy. I am sorry to say that the statement was only 99% true. There is one golfer somewhere in the United States that has gone crazy by writing an article in Holland's Magazine claiming that he is an old time golfer, but now he gets more kick out of working his garden and seeing the beans, peas, radishes and onions grow than he got out of making a two hundred yard drive or making a twenty foot putt when he played golf. All I got to say is if he ain't already in the asylum, he certainly belongs there.

THREE 'PUTTS'

According to a little story contributed to the New York Times, an old Georgia negro has thought out a strategy all his own for kicking the business depression. Mr. Thomas Shope, editor of the weekly paper at Dalton, Ga., likes to get out and interview the mountain folks who come to his town to do their trading. To one old darkey who had come in to buy his weekly supply of coffee and tobacco, he put the question: "What do you think of the depression, Uncle Tobe?"

"Dis yere depression is jes' like a so'f game, Marse Shope," the negro replied. "Al it takes to beat it is three putts. Putt yer faith in God, putt yer Ford in de garage, and putt yer women in de fields."

A LOVABLE QUALITY

The most lovable quality that any human can possess is tolerance. Tolerance is the vision that enables us to see things from another person's point of view. It is the generosity that concedes to others the right to their own opinions and their own peculiarities. It's the bigness that enables us to let people be happy in their own way instead of our way—Monthly Tidings.

BEAUTIFUL FARM LAWN

Mrs. S. A. Cousins and Misses Nona and J. Memphis Sunday.

A price was paid for a beautiful farm yard lawn, but it is worth it, think Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Harter of Lynn county. It cost the digging up of all the trees and shrubs which spotted the yard, transplanting them to more fitting places, plowing the yard deep, manuring and watering, going to town for Bermuda grass roots, and then mow watering. Begun last March as a part of a yard beautification demonstration with Miss El Fleda Harrison, home demonstration agent, Mr. Harter had the privilege of mowing the new lawn in June. In addition to the lawn, wind-break and foundation plantings were made, and flagstone walks laid. The grass was also spread over the storm cellar.

The mooted question whether a local ad should be put in the personal column with the hope that someone will stumble upon it unawares, or put in the classified list where all the other ads are, is very intelligently answered by Pearl Peters in the Monday (Mon.) Times. Let the editor decide and it will be placed in the classified list. That is where the potential customer will look, rather than scan the whole newspaper to find something of interest hidden away between personals.
