MODERNITY

By O. L. D. Timer

going around over the country we see some things which it could not be true. On one I saw a woman hoeing in her shirt. Her shoes were worn out just barely hanging together and stockings legs were red almost to point of blistering. Her dress threads were with holes now and then. Up in the field her husband scattering fertilizer around his melon hills, or killing two birds one stone; cleaning out his lots deep down the flies, and feeding crops at the same time. I drove on to town and met the coming home in a car all dressed painted up with permanent waves white breeches galore. There food for thought.

another place was a man crying so he could not plant his crop, was worrying about how he was to get his crop planted, still he had two big strapping boys about six feet tall. With my diminutive intellectual capacity, I could not commend the situation. I can remember a long time ago when the folks were not afraid of the kids. I saw a neighbor who has a bunch of boys that have absolutely no concern for their father. My sympathy goes out to them.

see other boys and girls wearing I clothes, drinking cold drinks, king good cigarettes and driving cars and their daddies working overalls with their school taxes paid.

was really amazed and angered, at the way one boy treated his mother. The boy in question was going to make a trip to Shamrock in his father's car. His father got wind of went home, shaved, put on his clean clothes, and thought he would down with him and go to preach while there. When the father had up to the car in which his son and another boy sat, and said, "I want to go with you boys," his son stepped on the gas and ran and left his eighty-year old father standing there like a disappointed id. The old man walked down the road following the path of the car about twenty yards, and, realizing his case was hopeless, he turned and started home with the tears running down his cheeks and saying, "I never let that boy have that car."

But he was driving it again less than a week.

Talk about the depression being over. Ye gods of ancient Greece and me! We have just heard the low boom of distant thunder and the arm hasn't broken on us yet.

Mrs. T. A. Landers entertained a number of kinpeople at luncheon today. Besides members of the immediate family, those present were: Mrs. J. W. Rowland of Clarendon, Tex. and Mrs. C. E. FINAL REPORT, RED CROSS NURSING SERVICE

By Miss Howell, R. C. N.

The nursing service was made possible for McLean and community by a fund left by the late Jane A. Delano, American Red Cross nurse, the income from this fund being used in helping the Red Cross nursing service in different sections of the country. This is the second Delano service for this section.

The nursing service began April 11 and will be concluded June 10.

The nurse in charge was Miss Ada Howell from the Red Cross office at St. Louis, Mo.

The nursing service covered the following branches of work:

School nursing: 6 schools visited—McLean, Alanreed, Back, Webb, Huntsman and Liberty. Before the nurse visited the school parents were notified of her coming and were invited to be present at their child's health inspection, 25 mothers being present.

Home hygiene and care of the sick class was held at Alanreed with 24 hours class work in which the women were taught the principles of keeping themselves and their families well, and how to care for the sick in the home. These women who attended the require number of hours received a certificate from the Red Cross.

The doctors, dentist, Parent-Teacher Association, and all who cooperated in the nursing service are to be thanked, since public health means the health of the public, and with the earnest interest of every individual in the community the success of public health nursing service could not be estimated.

Report in brief:

Six schools visited. 460 children given health inspection; 141 with defective eyes, ears, nose, throat, underweight, crippled.

25 parents present at inspections. 88 home visits.

One class in home hygiene and care of the sick.

Clinics—3 better baby and pre-school clinics held at McLean and Alanreed.

The McLean Red Cross officers are working hard toward the goal to give the community a public health nursing service next year. With the earnest cooperation of the citizens, it is believed that it shall be possible if the Red Cross roll call is a success this fall.

BRIEFS

By A. P. ANGELLO

It is easy enough for Jimmie Mat-tern to fool the world and make us all think he is lost, but he ought to remember the old story of the boy tending his sheep, who cried "wolf" once too often.

A call is being made for the resignation of Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, because he was on a Morgan preferred list of customers. It was interesting to note that some members of the investigating committee were on the same list.

Why should there be any criticism because Mrs. Roosevelt chose to eat breakfast in Dallas in the privacy of her own family relative group—without inviting the governor of the state? Mr. Coolidge made White House choices inviolate. So let them stand.

The Amarillo police force gets the praise of the whole land in the capture of McGee and his standbys in the late McElroy kidnaping case. Hats off to the men on the force who were brave enough to do the good work. It was most simply and effectively accomplished.

Mr. Vesuvius is again on a rampage. Most of us would hate to live close to such a treacherous bit of nature. Yet most of us live with ourselves—and how true is that old saying, "A man's greatest enemy is himself."

Japan attempts to be silent on President Roosevelt's peace plan. But her aggression in China echoes loud among the hills of civilization and bellies her would-be attitude.

We are celebrating economy with an acre of national appropriations. But the Panhandle is getting her part in the Palo Duro program. It is a good thing that Uncle Sam's credit is good. But wait until the taxes are collected.

Uncle Sam's credit may not be so good after all. The Senate passed a bill to make payment of all his bills possible in any legal tender and not gold alone. This action was taken amid shouts of "Reputation!" Nevertheless, the individual safety depends upon thing, and that is the protection of Uncle Sam.

LARGE CROWD AT CONCERT

One of the largest crowds to hear a band concert at the city park gathered for the massed concert given by the McLean and Shamrock bands last Thursday evening.

A set program was given, the band directors taking turns in leading the numbers.

Following the concert, ice cream was served to the members of the bands.

The Bartow and T. A. Landers, Arlie and Merle Grigsby and Raymond Hall families enjoyed an ice cream supper with the Barnes family, at the Barnes picnic grove at Eldridge, Saturday evening.

Mrs. Mary Silgar and Miss Frances Noel left Sunday for Canyon, where they will attend the summer session of the West Texas State Teachers College.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Gray, Thelma Jo and Max Gray visited in Binger, Okla., Sunday with Mr. Gray's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Huseby and daughter of Mobeetie were in McLean Friday.

Miss Agnes Abbott, who has been teaching in Oklahoma City, is spending the summer with her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Paige left Saturday for Lubbock, where the former will enter school.

J. Walsman was in Berger Sunday.

Mrs. W. C. Montgomery and Miss Ruby Cook were in Amarillo Friday.

Billy Cooke visited his aunt, Mrs. Carl Overton, in Canyon last week.

John B. Hessey of Pampa was in McLean Thursday.

There is some doubt that people care to hear very much about what goes on under the hoods of their cars. The driver knows that "driving qualities" are not accidental; they are put there. How the manufacturer creates or evolves those results may not interest him. He judges entirely by the results he gets in driving.

Well, it is not essential to talk "shop"; let us talk Results. Smoothness. Drive the Ford V-8 and you will find that the engine runs with surpassing smoothness, due to its design and the extra precise methods of its manufacture.

Power. There it is, 75 horsepower (we could say 80) at the drive shaft for the driver's use. With less weight to pull around, the mettle of this car—its life-like response—is rather remarkable.

Economy. Our V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gasoline than any car we have made. Mileage is partly a matter of individual driving, but under average conditions the Ford V-8 does 17 to 20 miles a gallon. Of course, car economy is not only a matter of fuel. Ford V-8 has that too, but it is also economical in the complete sense—initial cost, operation, maintenance.

Appearance. This is woman's contribution. The motor car must not only be useful, but also good-looking. View the Ford V-8 and you will need our comment on its fine appearance.

Comfort. This also is woman's concern. In 30 years she changed the motor car from a wagon to a coach. Comfort is a quality made up of numerous ingredients. There is no comfort without a quiet, smooth-running engine. We have all the other ingredients too,—color, good taste, quality, ease, safety, roominess and convenience.

STARTING OVER

The little world in which we live has been turned topsy-turvy about us like a top in a hurricane storm. Many of the institutions which were once so impregnable to us have become as fragile as glass.

Yesterday we were told that the world was going to be a better place than it has ever been before. We were told that the world was going to be a better place than it has ever been before.

Today we are told that the world is going to be a better place than it has ever been before. We are told that the world is going to be a better place than it has ever been before.

Tomorrow we are told that the world is going to be a better place than it has ever been before. We are told that the world is going to be a better place than it has ever been before.

"KEEP US ALIVE!"
In these days of national and world-readjustment every reserve of hope, faith and courage are required to enable each of us to swim against the strong tides of life's demands. We cannot afford to cringe or retreat as we, individually and collectively, wage war on human selfishness and greed
—the two evil influences that have brought this great nation of ours to its prayerful knees. With new determination, let us join the old Scotch clergyman who, in a day of great need, asked: "Please, Lord, keep me alive as long as I live."—Birmingham (Mich.) Eccentric.
Rastus was reading the paper and he remarked to his friend: "Say, Niggah, it says heah dat in Sumatra a man can buy a wife for $3."
"Three dollahs!" exclaimed his friend, whose wife took in washing.
"efen a niggah had three dollahs he doan need no wife."
Father—"Son, you have studied law with no results. Literature and art seem to be blanks as far as you are concerned. I gave you a course in a business college and they say you were a total failure. I don't see anything for you to do except to go into politics."
Stranger—"The postmaster here seems to be informed about all parts of the world. Has he traveled much?" Citizen—"No, but he has received a liberal education from the picture postcards."
The sick man had just come out of a long delirium. "Where am I?"
he asked feebly; "am I in heaven?"
"No," answered his wife, "I am right here with you."
Fond Mother—"David, you should have a place for everything."
David—"What's the use Ma? I never put 'em there."
"Does he talk sense?"
"Sense? I should say not! His sanest remark would be too foolish even for the title of a popular song." Wife—"What have you ever done to benefit any fellow man?"
Husband—"I married you, didn't I?"

THE PRESENT GENERATION Today there is more sentiment and brotherly feeling manifested in the world than for many generations.
More are living on the same level.
Until the present there were thousands who, because they had not experienced it, could not sympathize with those neighbors in financial distress.
Suffering and privation are bringing people closer together. A certain generosity of heart comes to the surface where before many never knew it existed.—News, Van Nuys, Calif.
BEGINNING OF WISDOM
It is not until he reaches the age of thirty that a man begins to wrap the small bills on the outside of the roll.
It was a dark night and the cyclist was lost. Presently he saw a sign on a post. With great difficulty he climbed the post, struck a match, and read, "Wet Paint."

HOPE IN A FREE PRESS Freedom of the press is ever an alive and active topic. Every day in every community stands the man or woman who would muzzle the press, who would censor what the press has to say. But when it comes to finding the proper person to do the censoring, even the advocates of censorship run amuck. Censorship of the press, of the church, of school books, of the man at the curbstone, is absolutely the right thing to do. The only trouble we find in carrying out this right is to find the right man to do the censoring.
If you are "agin" religion, you don't want the preacher to be the censor. If you try to live a life of abstinence and want others to live that way, too, you don't want to let the wets do the censoring. The believer in war does not want the pacifist to censor, and the pacifist argues that war propaganda should be censored.
The makers of the American constitution saw with what difficulties the nation would be confronted in years to come when they wrote in plain language that "Congress shall make no laws respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press."
This phase of the constitution, like all other phases, has been violated many times. Wars always bring about censorship of the press, because those fighting the war in upholstered offices are anxious to fight it their own way.
As a people, let us always cry for a free press. The right is abused but much less than would be a censored press. Men's freedom goes hand-in-hand with freedom of the press.
Censor the press and you jeopardize your own liberty.—Girt-Advocate, Julesburg, Colo.

Your Home Newspaper

works for your interest every day in the week. It is the only paper that cares a darn about this community. You don't have to like the paper, or its editor; it keeps on working for the best interest of the community—which is your interest—just the same.
It is an established fact that no community can progress very far without a progressive newspaper, in fact, the newspaper is conceded to be the community leader, and the success of the community depends largely upon the success of the home paper.
You can help the interests of this community and keep informed as to what your neighbors are trying to do for community betterment, by subscribing to the home paper.
Many people are borrowing The News each week—we know of one paper that is serving five families.
This is sometimes an imposition on a subscriber, however flattering it is to the newspaper, and we invite you to come in and talk over the proposition of becoming a regular subscriber. While we do not send the paper a day on credit to anyone, yet we sometimes arrange to trade with our friends who do not have the necessary cash. Come in and talk with us, anyway. You will find us friendly and fully alive to the needs of the community.

People who have a reputation for minding their own business are usually successful; due, perhaps, to so little competition.

"The more you tell, the easier you sell!" is an old advertising slogan for the classified section of the newspaper, but if the advertising is done on the radio it had better be changed to "the less you tell the more you sell." Newspaper advertising is one form that does not offend the prospective customer.

Flowers for the living are often mentioned, but how seldom do we actually practice what we preach. We heard a man talking very favorably of another, one day this week, but he was only making a comparison with another friend who did not show up so well.

It is strange how seldom we obey the impulse to praise a friend who means much to us and whose life means much to the community, yet a few words of encouragement make life easier for all of us.

News from Pakan

John Hrciar and John Cadra made a business trip to Pampa Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Smith were McLean visitors Tuesday of last week.

There was a program given by the Pakan school Thursday night. Those who graduated were Dorothy Hrciar, Lois Bulce and Anna Mertel. Rev. Smith made the address. A number from Heald, Plainview and Mag City were present.

A community picnic was held at the Bob George ranch Wednesday. A good time was reported by all present.

Sam and Christina Pakan, John Mertel and Emily Hrciar visited at the Lummus home at Shamrock Wednesday afternoon.

The following were in Shamrock Saturday: W. H. Bulce and sons, James, Walter and Fred; John Hrciar and daughter, Olga; Sam, Christina Pakan, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Macina and family, Vivian Gardner, Frank Linkey, John and Emily Hrciar, Paul Ristan and daughter, Susan Pakan and Jake Letimer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stauffer and daughter, Mae Ruth, left Wednesday for Fort Worth, returning home Saturday. They were accompanied home by their daughter, Grace, who has been attending school at Fort Worth; and Mrs. George R. Reneau, who has been at the bedside of her mother.

Mrs. Charles W. Lummus returned to her home at Shamrock Friday.

John Hrciar made a business trip to Shamrock Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Trostle of Nicholson spent the week end with the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Gossett.

Twila Gossett, who has been attending school at Nicholson, has returned home.

HISTORY STILL IN THE MAKING

History is still in the making. Today we are living in the most eventful time in all history. Old ways, old standards and old systems no longer can survive because they do not meet the needs of the day. No business, no community, state or nation can defy the law of progress by moving backward a generation. Progress and prosperity demands the cutting loose from all hampering precedent, and uniting our forces unselfishly to clear the ground for a new era.

You can't solve the transportation problems of an airplane by going back to ox carts and saddle bags.

For those who have eyes to see, this is the test of civilization—the trial of America's fitness to survive.

Buy where you sell—it pays.

ON WITH THE DANCE

The administration at Washington is resorting to a bit of high pressure to induce the various states to vote for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. They claim that the repeal of this amendment and licensing the sale of hard liquors as well as beer will bring in a lot of much needed revenue. It would. But we can suggest other methods of bringing revenue that would be possibly more effective still. Uncle Sam could establish a lottery similar to the one Louisiana operated for many years. Boy, that would bring in the revenue in great gobs. Or, it could license gambling, as they do in some parts of Mexico. Make a tax gatherer of the roulette wheel and the gambling table. Or, it could license the sale of opium and other narcotics. Or, it could license and tax the operation of houses of ill fame. The only difference in licensing such evils as these and the liquor traffic is not one of principle but only of degree. If we are going to license evil in order to balance the budget, why not go the whole hog? On with the dance!

THE PURPOSE

of Advertising is to sell something. Unless the printed word performs that function it becomes waste.

ADVERTISING

in The McLean News brings results. This fact can be proven at any time.

STATISTICS

show that the three best ways of advertising are: 1st, the newspaper; 2nd, show window; 3rd, direct mail, with the latter a very poor third, in times when one's waste basket is overflowing with junk circulars.

SUCCESS

GOLF GOSSIP

By D. A. Davis

Folks, I got the awfulest jolt I've had in a long time the other day while talking to one of my anti-golfer friends in a small complaining way about what a time I was having trying to put over our improvement program out at the golf course without it costing any one member any more than it did another, and trying to do it in a way that no one would have any right to criticize anything that we are doing out there this year. Do you know what he said? It was something like this: "What is the matter out there is that you ain't got nothing but just nine tee boxes, nine fairways, nine greens and a few bunkers and traps. And what you need to put a first class golf club over is a nice up-to-date club house and swimming pool, with a fine dance hall, pool tables, bridge tables, domino tables, crap tables, and lots of wine, women and song. And then you would have plenty of members, provided you allowed plenty of cussing and let them play for a dollar a hole. Then put on a tournament with the ladies playing in some of those abbreviated bathing suits and charge one dollar per spectator to watch the game, and from then on there would be no lack of funds." And, folks, he might be as right as two rabbits, after all.

What in the world is going to become of us folks a hundred years from now anyway, if things don't change? Did you ever see or hear of such carrying on as some folks are doing? Why in the world can't husbands be satisfied with their wives and let other men's wives alone, and why can't wives be satisfied with their husbands and let other women's husbands alone, is what in the world I would like to know. It's getting awful, folks, it simply is, and I wonder sometime where it's going to stop and what will be the result if we don't stop.

Now this don't apply only to us golfers by a long shot, either, for there are just worlds and worlds of folks that are carrying on this way something awful that never even had the remotest idea of playing golf, and the awful part of it is they are getting worse and worse all the time, and there seems no way of stopping it. Just a few days back I had a birthday and this week I was reading an article where another man just had a birthday, and this was what he said, in part:

"I had another birthday yesterday but no one outside the home circle paid the least attention to it. I didn't order it, didn't want it, but the calendar brought it anyway. I used to brag about my birthdays but that was a long time ago. After one passes the noontime of life these days come with monotonous regularity and exasperating frequency. As a matter of fact they are no more regular now than formerly, but they do appear to come with greater frequency than in the old days. It seems but yesterday that my birthdays were almost a generation apart. They were as far apart as Christmas. Now look at them, how they come! I am somewhat given to musing—it is so much easier than working. I would rather sit around in the shade dreaming any day than to work the garden. So today I find myself standing by this latest milestone looking back over the sunrise plains. To be sure I will not admit that I am doing it aimlessly. There is no profit in that sort of thing. I am trying to make comparison of those other years with these, trying to make simple measurement of the distance I have come. I suppose almost everyone is asked if he would like to live his life over again. It is perfectly natural for one to wish he might have another chance at life, although he would likely make as great a failure next time as this. Confidentially, if I had the privilege of turning the calendar back a few years for myself without disturbing the program of anybody else, I would probably do it. I have a lot of curiosity and would like to see what happens to this world of ours in another generation. Humanity has put a lot of toil into building the civilization we have and just now the world is somewhat groggy. Lots of things are discouraging. But all through history there have now and then been periods of retreat. I believe in the triumphs of right. The moral forces of today are not engaged in a battle but a war. Civilization cannot be destroyed in a day. I steadfastly believe the world will yet be transformed by goodness and justice. I would love to witness it and have part in it. Unrighteousness is noisy now and boasts that its name is legion. But a better day is ahead and I want to witness its coming. I fear it will not be tomorrow and that I will be mustered out before the victory is complete."

So, folks, this old world just keeps moving along, and if we make a fool of ourselves and mess things all up it's mostly our fault, and I ain't going to be blamed for it, either. I guess me and Old Brindle Face, "The Judge" and Old Puddinfoot had just as well go ahead and keep on playing golf and be satisfied with "Winnie," "Ada," "Ibbie" and "Estella." Just as long as they will feed us once in a while and keep on fussing at us a whole lot, we'll be satisfied and then when we die we will go on to heaven and just let you all go to the other place for all we care.

There were 97 present last Sunday. The preaching service was in charge of Mrs. Lynn Bush of the McLean Pentecostal Holiness Church, with members of the church furnishing music and singing.

Sunday school will convene next Sunday at 2 p. m., and Rev. Cecil G. Goff, pastor of the First Baptist Church of McLean, will preach at 3 p. m.

Terraces constructed more than 20 years ago are still in service on the farm of P. C. Steves, Karnes county dairy farmer living three miles north of Runge. They are believed by the county agent to be among the oldest terraces in Texas. Laid out and built as an experiment with the help of a man sent by the United States Department of Agriculture, surprisingly few mistakes were made.

OUR CITIES "IN BONDAGE"

It is not only in international finance that debt acts as a crushing weight. Local governments, when you stop to think about it, are crippled by debt just as badly—if not a little more so.

The finances of a typical middle western city were studied recently, and it was discovered that 54c out of every tax dollar were being used for debt services. Only 46c were left for government operations, and any attempted economy measures would have to leave the greater part of the city's expenditures completely untouched.

Few cities operate on a pay-as-you-go basis. The bond issue, in many cases, is an essential part of city finance operations; but that it has been used far too often is beyond argument. A city that is deeply in debt is hamstrung in any effort to reduce expenses.—Janama American, Panama.
