ABILITY

By O. L. D. Timer

of ability is one of the most possessions that any person has, but is very difficult to acquire. Lots of people seem to think that it is a matter of book sense and that is required these days, but sometimes the best people fail to have any ability, and sometimes the best people have exceptional ability. The case of John D. Rockefeller is a fair high school education there is none like him in the oil business. Application to the oil business has placed the top rung of the financial comes Henry Ford without the grammar school course, there were a million boys time who had as good or better chance to develop ability like did not have the ambition to get the man who accomplished with the least schooling in times was the late Thomas Edison, who said "Success comes one part inspiration and nine parts perspiration." He heard a father talking to his child, and he was trying to impress her frivolous mind the of getting up early and to get some work done in an manner. She said, "Modestly don't have to work, for they living with their education." He retorted with, "Conquer the case of Abraham Lincoln, split rails and did all kinds labor and learned to do his a board with a piece of and then planned it off to the next one; yet he was one of the greatest presidents." He cited captains of modern industry above, and terminated with no royal road to real it comes to ability we have of it right here. All we do is to develop it. If you leave it, go out and watch our boys practice. Watch them as they take their positions, and ready for the fray, and give the signal, they get on quick as a bunch of marble chicken or wild ducks, almost as much speed as a which has no means of de speed. I venture to preat there is not one but can dress and get his chores his old fogey daddy can and ready for breakfast.

If you are not of a bashful nature, watch the girls in basketball and ground ball. There they are with all their and symmetry, moving with a Venus, living pictures of Venus de Milo. It is not ability of both types, and famine, I don't care to look for it.

I would like to see is this ability carried to the homes and working parents of the I have known of a mother a cotton sack between the eyes while her muchly able off winning or losing a foot-

Example of the reward of the penalty of inability. Me me for mentioning anyone the Bible, as modern people think to believe the old when ignorance is bliss, "is wise."

McLean Schools Opening Program Monday Morning

McLean schools opened Monday morning with a public program at the high school auditorium, featuring the high school band under the direction of Prof. Robt. C. Davidson, on the stage.

J. S. Howard, president of the school board, was presented, and among other things said that we should have the best school ever seen in McLean this term. Mr. Howard paid a tribute to the faculty, and pled for full cooperation from patrons.

After another band number, Misses Ermadel Floyd and Billie Jean Biggers, pupils of Mrs. Willie T. Boyett, gave a piano duet, followed by another selection from the band.

Miss Zonelle Brooks, dramatic teacher, gave a reading, and the band played again, which was followed by an invocation at the mention of Former Superintendent Boswell's name by Supt. Cryer.

Mrs. Cryer was recognized, as were the faculty and parents present. A note of fun crept in when the school trustees were asked to stand, revealing none of them present.

"PHLURIA"

By P. BOSH

P. Bosh is here again, here in the paper, but not in person. He has moved to Gruver. If any of you readers owe him anything, please remember his address, but if he owes you anything just forget it, as he has declared a moratorium, whatever that is.

One day a teacher was trying his best to convey to a class of boys a complete description of the great American eagle without calling his name. He told of the bird's habits and described his haunts among the crags and peaks of the mountains, and pictured him majestically sailing through the ethereal blue, utterly oblivious of the circumscribed and dreary lives of creeping things and human beings here below. He portrayed the mother bird in her habit of tearing up her nest and pushing her fledglings out into space to try their wings for the first time, but ever ready to swoop down beneath them, lest they come to harm. And then: "Can you name this bird?" he asked the boys.

"Yes, sir, it's a sapsucker," shouted Peter.

And some people think that the blue eagle of the NRA is merely a sapsucker. How ridiculous! She is really trying to teach her eaglets to fly.

But one of the eaglets is a peculiar bird. It seems that the old mother eagle strayed from the straight and narrow path and got mixed up with a buzzard, and the result of her sin was a bird with the appearance of an eagle and the habits of a buzzard. For one wing he has 32% and for another the repeal of the 8th amendment. How he is flying! The egg had hardly burst before he stretched his mighty wings and began his record breaking flight across the U. S. At present he looks like an eagle and acts like one. But beware! When he finishes his flight and settles down to rest and to fill his ravenous craw with the carion of human society, he will arise vulture-like and spew it out over the land. Let us hope that nature will take care of this mongrel and not allow him to reproduce, and when he dies may it be the last of his kind.

BAPTISTS MAKE ANNUAL REPORT

The First Baptist Church will make its annual report at the meeting of the North Fork Association being held at Twitty this week.

$2619.86 was raised for all causes during the year, $2,407.46 being for local work, including pastor's salary. Messengers to the associational convention were elected at a conference held last night.

HOME LOAN BLANKS HERE

Application blanks for the Home Owners Loan Corporation were received Saturday by The McLean News and placed at the city secretary's office.

According to S. H. Stone, director for this district, these blanks must not be wasted. The purpose of the Federal government is to relieve distress, and only people who are actually about to lose their home by foreclosures are eligible. Under no circumstances will anyone get a loan just to reduce interest or payments. It will be necessary for each applicant to have the mortgage sign a consent blank before making application, as it will be almost impossible to secure cash loans at present on account of the corporation having to take care of so much delinquent tax assessments in cash.

Mrs. Callie Haynes and daughters, Misses Johnie Villa and Gorda Lou, and Mrs. T. N. Holloway were in Shamrock Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman White and son of Pampa were in McLean Monday.

Owen Moore was in Panhandle Sunday.

Glen Cooper of White Deer visited in McLean Sunday.

All praise to the man who pays his bills as cheerfully as he makes the account.

The best index of progressiveness is always found in the advertising columns of the home paper.

The opinion of a man who allows his judgment to be swayed by his personal likes and dislikes is of little value.

The old joke about children hating to see school begin is outgrown. Kids nowadays seem glad to be back in school.

Nothing can disturb the man who is big enough to see no slights, accept no insults, cherish no jealousies, and admit no malice and hatred in his heart.

The fellow who says newspaper advertising does not pay, is the one who never advertises. The man who keeps his message in the newspaper each week knows better.

It is expected that editorial staffs for the school papers will be appointed and the first number of the school news will probably appear in next week's issue of the home paper. We are glad to cooperate with the staffs each year, and trust that this term may be profitable for the news gatherers.

The Shamrock school board has decided to hire no more married women teachers, and any single teacher who marries during the term will be asked to resign. This is a far cry from the good old times when girls entered the teaching profession to sort of pass the time away until Mr. Right came along.

The News editor has written many editorials during the years advocating a vacation, but up to now has never seen any way to take one himself; however, when this is read we will be on our way to the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago for our first vacation.

Our readers and advertisers can do a great deal to help the girls get out next week's paper, and any courtesies shown them will certainly be appreciated.

There is only one way to be sure that your printing job will please, and that is to have it printed at home. The home printer knows how your name is spelled, and you can make any needed correction on the proof sheet. You can keep in touch with every step during the printing, something that cannot be done when you send your copy away and receive it COD. Then you are sure when your printing dollar is spent at home that you will get another chance at it, while it is a long time gone when it is sent out of town.

Several years ago, two men in a $50 model T Ford canvassed the McLean trade territory, selling lubricating oil, and made $1000 profit. In telling of the exploit, one of the men said that he made the same profit one summer in selling shirts and ties.

There is only one way a peddler can undersell local merchants, and that is to cut the quality, for house to house selling is the costliest method of retailing known. No matter what your needs, whether it be groceries, or printing the home man can please you better, if given a chance.

Several of our correspondents turned in copy on Monday this week. This can certainly be appreciated, as it takes lots of the extra work off the force that always stacks up for Wednesday and Thursday. We must have early copy whenever possible, and now that we will soon be publishing the school news, it will be more imperative than ever, if we are to escape working overtime, and under the new rules we can only work a certain amount of overtime. We want to thank everyone who is kind enough to consider our problem and let us have copy as early in the week as possible.

NO MUSIC, PROFESSOR!

Hereafter when he makes an address, says Rev. Paul Hardin, Jr., Methodist minister, Concord, N. C., he is going to request that there be no music.

His reasons: At the conclusion of a recent sermon, a male quartet began singing "How Tedious and Tasteless." When he finished a baccalaureate sermon to the high school graduates, the glee club sang "Awake! Awake!"

W. B. Upham was in Shamrock Thursday.

Miss Bobbe Appling has returned to school at Wayland College.

Build Up that Skinny Child!
Enrich His Impoverished Blood
Sickly, weak, underweight children are usually lacking in rich, red blood. When blood becomes poor, a child becomes run-down. Already weak, he loses appetite, which makes him still weaker. Take no chances on a child gaining strength by himself. Start giving him Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic right away. This famous tonic contains both iron and tasteless quinine. Iron makes for rich, red blood while quinine tends to purify the blood. In other words, you get two effects in Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic. Put your child on this time-proven tonic for a few days and see the difference it makes in him. Good appetite, lots of pep and energy and red roses in his cheeks. Children like Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic and take it eagerly. It is absolutely harmless and has been a reliable family medicine for half a century. Get a bottle today at any store.

THE MISSING MAN

By Edgar A Guest, in The Chaser
There was a man I once knew well,
Who had no stocks and bonds to sell;
No subdivided acres which
In seven years would make me rich;
No set of books to fill my mind
With knowledge of the deepest kind;
No self-improvement courses in
The mystery of how to win;
When'er he called, it was to say:
"Well, how are all your folks today?"
I wonder where this man has flown?
I wish he'd make his presence known;
When'er he came to visit me,
He asked no gift for charity,
He never asked me to subscribe
To funds to feed an Indian tribe,
Or carry on deep sea research
Or lift the mortgage on the church,
When'er he called, it was to chat
In fellowship of this and that.
I watch to see him pass my door,
But unto me he comes no more,
For every caller now I find
Has dotted lines he wishes signed;
Oh, good friend, I fancy you
Suspect that I have work to do,
And that is why you stay away.
But come again to me, I pray,
That I may say, "Well, after all,
One man still pays a friendly call."

Hansel Christian was in Amarillo Friday.

AND HOW!

He was at the fountain pen counter making a purchase. "You see," he said, "I am buying this for my wife."
"A surprise, eh?"
"I'll say so. She is expecting a Packard."

DOES FLOWING WITH A STICK

"What's your idea of a gentleman farmer?"
"He's a person," answered Farmer Cortossel, "who is so well fixt that he can waste profanly on a golf-ball instead of on a mule."
"That man over there came thru the war without a scratch."
"Oh, yeah? Weren't there any cooties where he was?"

JONATHAN

Rev. Cecil G. Goff
Text, 1 Sam. 18-20. Golden Verses 17-17.
Character of Jonathan is one of the most beautiful portrayed in the Bible. He does not hold such a position in the historical events of the Testament from the standpoint of national achievements, yet his character enhances the nobility of the Old Testament. He was a son of Saul. He was a young man, and had his own will of God and not as king over the inheritance. Jonathan could have been a mighty God as the next king. Nevertheless, although he was the son of a king, he never sat upon his throne.
When his father became king, any rate we find the youth of a large group of soldiers after his father took the throne had his part in many of the conflicts of the children under the leadership of Saul. He had far more of the fear of God than did his father. When the Philistines were in the country, the Israelites were in the grip of the young prince in God. The Philistines were on the far side of the Jordan. In fact they were so they had sent a large number of forces out to raid the surrounding country. The soldiers who were in the garrison felt safe in the knowledge that they could be rescued by an army, between the opposing army. Too, they thought that they had kept the Israelites in such a state of fear that they were not well armed. Jonathan knew that they could be rescued by the Israelites with less than their army. Jonathan was a man of faith in the power of God. He was certain that God would help his people, to attempt to do the impossible.
Jonathan was a great warrior. He was persuaded by his father to cross the gulch with the Philistines. He was immediately killed a number of yards. The attack was unsuccessful and he threw the camp into confusion. The final result was that the Israelites won a great victory. So it was that Jonathan brought in the head of the Philistine king that the heart of Saul was "knit with the soul of Jonathan." He loved him as his own kindred spirit. Here was the friendship of one of the truest and noblest friendships that has ever existed. David soon became very popular in the ranks of Saul. He was in the estimation of the king as a very close ally of those days the friendship between Jonathan and David grew and Jonathan was a prince, and was at his command. This was not noticed or taken into account by the two. There was a time when it should be in the mind of the king, but as the years passed on, the king's mind was changed. Some years Saul sinned to that God rejected him from the eyes of his people. That meant that he would take his place in the house that was not of his house, but one who was not strong enough that the people would follow him as king. That was what Jonathan did. He began to hate him. What if the seed of Saul did not die, if Jonathan did not die, it would mean that he would be displaced by his dearest friend. Could a prince permit his friendship to stand in his way of becoming king? Jonathan was in a position, and yet, as his father intended to kill the rising star, Jonathan pled for him Friday night.

and brought about a reconciliation. Jonathan was faithful to his friend, David, to the end of his life. Even when Saul threatened his own son if he did not give David up to the court that he might be slain, even when Saul chided Jonathan concerning the fact that he was befriending one who would one day usurp the throne from him, Jonathan remained true, and left his father's presence to warn David to flee, for the king was determined to destroy him. As the two parted they did so with weeping and deep sorrow.
Jonathan knew that God's will must be carried out. He knew that if God had rejected his father and his house there was no use in his turning traitor to his best friend and therefore make a fool of himself in trying to avert a thing which God had decreed, and which he knew God would carry out. To him a true friendship meant more than a possible kingship. In him was the nobleness of character that is born in the hearts of men only by the grace of God. His life was given in sacrificial service known only to those who live very close to God. Where is the heart that does not admire such devotion and purity of spirit, even though that heart be stained with sin that it cannot understand it. All men admire such friendship, even though all men cannot accomplish it, or are willing to pay the price for such a precious gem. Indeed no place in history is portrayed a purer or truer friendship than that between Jonathan and David.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rinin' to Go
If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.
For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.
It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't look for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Reset a substitute. See at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

GOLF GOSSIP

By D. A. Davis

Folks, here is my speech. I had one all ready to say at the school opening Monday morning, but was prevented from saying it by my wife. So here is a better one.

Supt. Cryer, school teachers, and trustees, greetings.

Any of you all that wants to play golf go ahead and play, because I realize you will have plenty of time, because from now on we parents won't have no time for any recreation of any kind, because it's going to take up all our time figuring out how we are going to be able to keep our children in school and learn them how to read and spell, figger and write, at home, so they will be able to go through life partly educated. We know that Johnny Lacey and Mary Elizabeth will learn to play the saxophone and the "zella-rhine" and will learn to play football, town ball, volley ball, playground ball and bawl ball, chute the shute, put the shot, throw the javelin, vault the pole, hurdle the hurdle, jump the broad jump, the high jump, the low jump, and all the other jumps; run a hundred yards, two hundred yards, eight hundred yards, a half mile or a mile; play tennis, play basketball, play hokey and play the dickens generally; have workouts and work-overs, have their teeth washed, worked over and straightened, their eyes, noses and ears examined and corrections made; their necks washed and their hair combed, and their finger nails manicured; learn the girls how to cook up a lot of messes that nobody can eat, or digest when they do eat it; make up a lot of doodads and dingfusses that nobody can tell anything about, and call it domestic science and scientific research; learn the boys how to saw a plank or drive a nail, dig a hole or make a pig pen; teach them to tell the difference between a pullet and a rooster, or a billy goat from a nanny goat, at school, but leave the reading, writing, spelling and arithmetic to us parents at night, after they have put in all their time during the day learning the above mentioned sciences and researches, because these things are very necessary to a boy or girl's future preparedness to face this cruel, cruel world when they get to be men and women.

And, folks, it's very necessary that they learn to play golf or any other kind of game such as cards, bridge, polo, skating, skiing, hiking, and climbing, hunting and fishing, swimming and dancing, horse racing and prize fighting, boosting and carousing, because, folks, it's going to take all these things to make a 100% all American boy or girl. There is only one more thing that I should like to see added to our public school work and that is to start up a radio school. We have all kinds of material to work on, and it looks to me like we are missing a great opportunity by not teaching our boys and girls how to be radio entertainers. All we need is a few lonesome cowboys, rambling cowboys, sleepy cowboys, dreaming cowboys, yodeling cowboys, crooning cowboys, and weeping cowboys; and, folks, if McLean can't furnish its quota of cowboy entertainers, I'd like to know the reason why. And we could furnish plenty of squealers, squawkers, screechers and yellers to do this jazz singing stuff, and with a little practice some of our tooters in the band could learn to get their fingers all mixed up and pull off some of that fancy tootin' we hear over the radio. We could get "Buddy Williams" to pull a few stale jokes and the editor to edge in with a few facts, and with a phonograph and a dozen or two old records, we could establish a first class, up-to-date radio broadcasting station with very little added expense.

I want to announce as a candidate for a position as school trustee another year. There are two things I will promise to do. First, I will promise to be present at the opening of school; and second, I will promise to hire some good looking school teachers, both male and female.

Folks, I'm interested in McLean high school winning the golf tournament this year, and I am appointing Coach Rush and Prof. Harding to pick out four of their best golf playing boys and go out and learn them to play good golf. If you need any assistance, I will be glad to give them a few of my best lessons, but don't let Supt. Cryer fool with them, because no left handed golf player would ever be able to win a golf match.

I noticed where down at Houston the other day a yellow jacket stung a golfer somewhere between the fairway and tee box and it made him so mad he hauled off and made a hole in one with a 159 yard drive. And a golf instructor complained to his student that he was not addressing his ball properly, and the student informed him after several unsuccessful swings at the ball, he could not address it properly, which goes to prove that no golfer can play a good game of golf unless he knows how to cuss.

All you golfers had better be getting on your toes. That Lefors bunch will be over here Sunday to clean up on us good and proper. We will need at least 30 men to match them, so all you old dufters get busy and be on hand not later than 2 o'clock.

Folks, here is a little puzzle for you to figure out. What four letters were used to put the 18th amendment into our constitution and will be used to put it out again? VOTE-VETO.

SCHOOL SPORTS

By the Dopester

Last Friday's drill completed a three weeks' training camp of the McLean high school Tigers, in preparation for the 1933 campaign.

The first week was spent in calisthenics and fundamentals, as the squad worked in basketball shorts and football shoes twice a day. Suits were issued to some twenty-two aspirants the following week and the training to date has included the technique and style of play, with drill in formations and the running of signals.

Coach Garrison B. Rush, who returned for his fourth year as athletic director, attended the recent Coaching School at Lubbock, and is rather optimistic.

"I am satisfied with my prospects. The return of eight dependable letter men leaves only three vacancies to be filled in the starting line-up. Our schedule will be tough, but if our new boys pan out we will have a great ball club." Coach Rush stated in an interview early this week.

The 1933 Tigers are by no means a green aggregation. The eight letter men are led by the co-captains, C. Christian and Crockett, who top the list as quarterback and right half back respectively. Tolliver at the full back post and Dowell, the left back, complete the veteran backfield arrangement. The four letter men in the forward wall are Robinson, end; Ellison and Bogan, tackles; and G. McCarty, center.

All of these seasoned players have proved their ability in their respective positions. Christian and Ellison were given berths on the mythical 1932 all bi-district eleven.

The new recruits have shown much enthusiasm and ability in the fight to fill the vacancies. H. McCarty looks like a sure starter at the offensive tackle position. The guard vacancy is apparently a toss-up between Woods and A. Christian, with Hancock crowding the two. The right end position is in almost the same circumstances with Stratton and Greer leading the chase. Other squadmen who are showing improvement are: Johnson, Cable, Butler, Finley, Graves, Simmons, Everett, Andrews, Merteel and Ashby.

DOPE—The teams in McLean's conference include: Clarendon, Shamrock, Memphis, Wellington, and possibly Turkey and Quitaque.
