Voters Urged to Use Ballot in This Issue

By C. O. Greene, Chapter Chm. Red Cross

In order that the officers of the McLean chapter of the American Red Cross may be elected by a larger representation of McLean citizens than has been customary in the past, nominees for all offices have been published in The McLean News and the privilege extended to all to vote. Heretofore these officers have been elected by the executive board.

Our national organization has a great unselfish work to carry on. They have rendered this community great material assistance in the past and are continuing to render this assistance at the present time. They have helped us when we were hardly able to help ourselves. They need the support of all local chapters. It is of vital importance that our local organization be continued. We can show our appreciation of the Red Cross by electing an efficient corps of officers and later contributing generously at Roll Call.

At the present time only one ballot has been turned in. Let me urge each of you to take this week's issue of The McLean News and cross out one of the nominees for each office and turn the ballots in at the offices of the Southwestern Public Service Co., the McLean Gas Company, The McLean News, or the Drug Stores. If you should desire to enter other candidates you have the privilege of writing them in and striking out those entered by the nominating committee.

Lion W. W. Boyd acted as tall twister and made himself very obnoxious to the members, assessing fines for various infractions of his arbitrary rules.

The club quartet composed of W. D. Biggers and T. A. Landers tenors, Jesse J. Cobb and Reep Landers basses, sang, and Lion Williams made an address on the fundamentals of Lionism.

SCHOOL SPORTS

By the Railbird

The McLean Tigers are ready for the "fighting Irish" of Shamrock after two weeks of preparation. "This is our toughest class B opponent to date," Coach Rush said, and he has been drilling the squad against the touted running and passing attack of the Shamrock griders. The squad journeyed to Shamrock Tuesday night and went through a practice session under the floodlights. The night play will not hamper the ball handling, according to Rush, and the lights will not affect the boys to any great extent.

Beyond doubt it will be a great ball game at the Irish city Friday night. The impressive victory which the Shamrock team turned in over the Lefors Pirates last week is indicative of a well drilled ball club.

A BIRD'S EYE-VIEW.—The Irish are a better drilled squad than last year, according to the Bird's opinion, and they will be the most class B competition the Tigers will have faced this season. It is the Bird's belief that those boys of Coach Rush's will win, but as to the score, he refuses to even guess.

DOPE.—There is hardly any comparison of the two teams as far as DOPE is concerned. The only opponents both teams have played are the Wheeler Mustangs, and according to figures the Tigers are rated a two-touchdown favorite. However, that's overlooking the fact that the Irishmen played a more experienced team than did the Tigers.

S. S. CLASS SOCIAL AT LANDERS HOME

The Dorcas Sunday school class of the First Baptist Church entertained their husbands and families with a pot luck supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Landers Tuesday evening.

Rev. Cecil G. Goff gave the invocation, and the supper was followed by a short musical program consisting of piano numbers, vocal solos and a male quartet.

Some 46 were present for the supper.

The admission price is very low and a good crowd is expected. See advertisement on another page.

REASON FOR AD GRAFTERS

With the harvest season on us the advertising grafter to prey the unsuspecting merchant and advertiser. He is a smooth, slick-tongued personality who promises a hand seldom performs anything. His talk leads one to believe. His claims are much higher than legitimate advertising and his coverage and price is never equal to claims. There is one very odd feature to advertising schemes, and that is that those who are the hardest to sound, legitimate local advertising in the newspapers are the first to fall for the fly-by-night scheme. There is the local merchant who is a good fellow, too good for his own good, who can't resist falling for anything that is new. These classes offer easy picking and are always "picked." Here in Clarendon we have the Chamber of Commerce committee to look on all advertising schemes and the merchant need be picked up only by refuse to patronize any scheme that doesn't have the written approval of the chamber of commerce. Protect yourself and your city by making the protective agency of your Chamber of Commerce.—Clarendon News.

"The way to run this country," shouted young Mr. Knowit, "is to put thoroughly wise, capable, alert, honest men in control of affairs." "Yes," answered Miss Keen, "but that can we do—there is only one of you."

Gober—"They say there are several billion human beings in this country who can't speak a word of English." Bobo—"That's a shame, isn't it?" Gober—"Oh, I don't know; they're little babies and they could hardly be expected to talk."

A woman had her hand in a sling and explained that the injury was due to reckless driving. "Of your auto?" inquired her friend. "No," said the sufferer—"of a nail."

ART NAMES HERE MONDAY

Art Names' big tent show will be in McLean Monday for a week's engagement. Mr. Names will be remembered in McLean from the fact that he lost his big tent by fire the first time he played here some years ago, finishing the run at the school auditorium. This company has played here several times in the past, and Mr. Names says that McLean folks will not be disappointed in their plays this time, as they have all new plays and plenty of novelties to delight the folks. The tent will probably be on the lots next door to the city secretary's office.

WEBB BOX SUPPER POSTPONED

On account of a conflict with the McLean-Shamrock football game, the box supper scheduled for Webb school Friday night has been changed to next Tuesday night.

There are now 93 farm boys in Wheeler county who have registered sows or gilts for their 4-H club work. For some time business firms or individuals have furnished registered gilts which have been loaned to boys in return for one gilt from the first litter. The additional gilts are distributed to more boys on the same plan.

By crop rotation and plowing under two crops of peas Bill Humberg of Frio county increased his corn crop this year from 13 bushels per acre to 40 bushels per acre.

A NEWSLESS NEWSPAPER

Chadron, Neb., knows what it means now to have a newsless newspaper. George C. Snow, publisher, got tired of furnishing the news while many of the merchants placed ads in free "throw sheets." So, Snow printed an edition containing only advertisements. Subscribers complained, and each complaint made Snow happier. Then his paper went back to normal, carrying a reminder that business men who patronize the throw-sheets may help drive the small-town newspaper out of existence.—Jayhawker Press.

The following clipping taken from last Friday's Dallas News and written by one of our own citizens says more in less words than anything we have been privileged to read in many a day. It follows:

DON'T DESERVE PROTECTION

In the News of Sept. 21, C. V. Mount of Dallas attempts to justify wet party leaders who have made a scrap of paper of their campaign promise to protect dry territory when they were laying their plans to annul the Eighteenth Amendment, and closes his criticism of the dries by saying, "Would they, did they protect even at least wet states? What a silly question!" We agree it was a silly question, as mad dogs and rattlesnakes do not deserve protection.—L. G. Christopher, in Miami Chief.

"Why do you object to people calling you 'Colonel'?" a friend asked. "Well," replied responded Uncle Si Podsnap, "I never was in the army, I never acted as usher in a movie theatre, I don't make speeches, and I never took a drink of liquor in my life. I don't feel that I have any right to the title."

"I don't suppose you keep any such civilized thing as dog biscuits in this one-horse, run-down, hick town, do you?" the tourist customer remarked. "Oh, yes we do," the village merchant replied pleasantly. "Quite a few folks like you come through here from the city and we aim to have everything they call for. Will you have 'em in a bag or eat 'em here?"

The cost of making 192 pounds of American cheese by home demonstration methods was found to be $9, and this for farm-produced milk, 109 Victoria county women recently discovered.

A total of 12,229 containers of food were put into cans in six weeks in the R. F. C. canning kitchen in Childress this summer, half of which went to charity as toll, the home demonstration agent reports.

GOLF GOSSIP

By D. A. Davis

Ablene, Texas, Oct. 2, 1933.
Mr. D. A. Davis,
McLean, Texas.

Dear "Lop-sided, Bow-legged, Narrow-contrapted" Davis:

You wrote an article about me in Thursday's McLean newspaper which is a disgrace. You never saw me bum a single "chaw" of tobacco from Judge Rice in your life, for two reasons: First, the Judge never had more than one chew; and second, you can't see more than two feet from you. Another thing, I have not quit playing golf. I have been going out down here and my score has not been higher than 44. Now, D. A., it is all right for you to pop off but be sure you know that you are right, then go ahead. That bunch of school teachers should mob you anyway, and all the editors in the country should fix your fingers so that you could not use your dirty pen any more. If you must write, why don't you discuss some questions that are important? Why call me "Old Grover," Bentley "Brindle Face," and Davis "Pudden Foot," when all of us have good names, and as far as I know are all upright citizens?

Any way, Davis, I enjoy your column, if it does not contain anything worth while, and really I would like to play a round with you now. I am making my plans to be at the conference which meets at Clarendon. If you cannot come there I may come to McLean and give you a red-hot sermon, since I know the church needs some of my messages.

With best wishes, I am, your friend,
O. C. BOSWELL, Dean of Faculty.

Folks, ain't it funny how hard it is to quit a profession, no matter how hard you try, once you get started? Here I have been trying for over a month to forget all about golf and golf gossip, and what is the result? Just about the time I think I am about completely quit something has to happen to start me all over again in self defense, so this week, folks, I have to defend my honesty and veracity as a golfer and gossip by taking "Old Grover" to task.

In the first place, he has me completely bested because of his better book learning, and naturally uses words and calls me names that I don't understand the meaning of. So the only recourse I have is my trusty dictionary. I have to rely on my old trusty dictionary just like some lawyers I know that live less than a thousand miles from here have to depend on their trusty law books for their inspiration and guidance.

Old Grover calls me "lop-sided, bow-legged, narrow-contrapted." So, folks, being as I am not used to being cussed in this kind of language (I railroaded eighteen years and do not know the meaning of any kind of cuss words only the words that most railroad men use), naturally the only thing I know to do is consult my dictionary and find out just what "Old Grover" means. First we will take up the word "lop-sided." Mr. Webster says "lop-sided means heavier on one side." Folks, do you think I am heavier on one side than I am on the other, and if so which side? And the word "bow-legged." Mr. Webster defines a "bow" as the forepart or prow of a ship, and "legged" as having legs. And do you really think I look like "the forepart or prow of a ship having legs?" And the word "narrow-contrapted." I find the word "narrow" means "a straight or narrow passage between two seas," and the word "contrapted" simply is not an English word, but is strictly a slang word that might mean anything and could be taken to mean nothing at all.

Naturally, in summing up "Dean of Faculty Boswell's" meaning as to what I "yam," I find that I "yam HEAVIER ON ONE SIDE LIKE THE FOREPART OR PROW OF A SHIP HAVING LEGS WITH A STRAIGHT AND NARROW PASSAGE BETWEEN TWO SEAS." And honestly, folks, I don't believe he knows what he's talking about anyway, but in conclusion I wish to say that if anybody, no matter who it is, will talk to me in plain English language or cuss me in plain old United States cuss words, using the railroad man's code or the sailor's code or the NRA code, I can very easily understand what they mean, but I sure do hate for any of these school teachers to use these high-falutin' words on me that I simply can't understand.

And now, "Grover," since you are planning on coming over, just come ahead and I will meet you anywhere and under any conditions. If you want to shoot it out, well and good. I'll allow you to choose the weapons and will let you shoot first, just like I always did in playing golf with you, and furthermore, I had just as soon or a little sooner shoot it out with you as not, because I had rather be shot anyway than to play golf with you or listen to any of your church or school speeches.

And now in regard to this bunch of school teachers mobbing me. As far as I know these school teachers understand me perfectly and not a single one has said a word to me about anything that I have ever said about them. I am perfectly convinced that these school teachers are endowed with sufficient knowledge to know that all cannot be smart. Naturally some school teachers have simply got to be good looking.

And another thing. The Judge says the statement you make in your letter that he never did have but one chew is correct, because it took a plug to make you a chew.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

By E. E. Kelley
Believe it or not, Patrick Henry was 27 when he made his speech against the Stamp Act. Thomas Jefferson was 33 when he drafted the Declaration of Independence. Napoleon was 27 when he was given command of the army of Italy and 35 when he crowned himself Emperor of France. Charlemagne was master of France and Germany at 30. Charles Dickens was 24 when he began "Pickwick Papers" and 25 when he wrote "Oliver Twist." Poe was going his best at 25. Stephenson had completed "Treasure Island" at 33. Benjamin Franklin had written "Poor Richard's Almanac" at 25. Spinoza was a notable person at 24 and a renowned philosopher at 33. Lindbergh was 25 when he flew across the Atlantic.—"Ex" by way of Peabody Gazette.

Yes, yes, and, believe it or not, Bismarck, who died at 83, accomplished his greatest work after he was 7. Titian the famous Italian painter, painted "old masters" right up to the time of his death, and we was 99 when he died. Goethe died at 83 and had written his "Faust" a few years before he died. Gladstone took up a new language when he was 70. Vanderbilt built his railroad system up from 120 to 10,000 miles after he was 70. Stradivarius was still making fiddles after he was 80. His greatest violin, "The Piatti," he made when he was 76; and "The Bandiot" and "The Gally" when he was 81. And Schumann-Heink yet is singing.

MAKES GOOD

"The last speaker," said the chairman of the Health Congress, "is a striking example of the efficacy of the doctrines he so eloquently advocates. Hale and hearty at eighty years of age, he could tire out many a man younger than himself."

A Voice from the Audience—"He did."—Prince Albert Herald.

All truth is safe and nothing else is safe; and he who keeps back the truth, or withholds it from men, from motives of expediency, is either a coward or a criminal, or both.—Max Muller.

A Fair Question

A WORD ABOUT FATHER

A father hides his hurts as a warrior binds his wounds. Your father may suffer a whole lot of disappointment, but he wears his heart turned outside in. You will probably never know his hurts.

His voice may not reflect his inmost thoughts, for he is a real man. His face may reflect pride, love, joy; but there is mysteriousness about your father when it comes to things that hurt.

Do not think for one moment that he has no heart. He has a heart bigger than you think. Your father is what nature gave you as a private banker.

How often have you regarded the prohibitive mind of your father as a wall between you and some pleasure, and have found it later a shield to protect you, to lead you to higher happiness.

Have faith in your father, for he knows. He has paid the penalty. He is not an angel, nor does he want to be one just now. He wants to be a support, a living help, and you know he has been.

When you help your father, you help yourself. He is the man who hurried home when you were a babe, and held you while you kicked. Why kick now against your father?

Dad is your father, your friend. It was Benjamin Franklin who said: "My father convinced me that nothing was useful which was not honest." Benjamin had a good father, and it's dollars to doughnuts that your father today is a better man than you are.—From the Good Samaritan, courtesy C. S. Rice.

TRY A DINNER GONG

A local citizen burst into the office of a railroad official and demanded: "I want you to give orders that the engineer of the express that passes through Elm Grove at 11:15 be forbidden to blow the whistle on Sunday mornings."

The railroad official retorted: "Why, that's impossible. What leads you to make such an unreasonable request?" "Well, our preacher preaches until he hears the train whistle blow—and that confounded express was 35 minutes late last Sunday."—Boston Globe.

PUT FRILLS ON THE PANTS

A man, accompanied by his wife, visited a tailor to order a suit. The couple disagreed over the material and style of making, and his wife lost her temper.

"Well," she said, turning away, "please yourself; I suppose you are the one who will wear the clothes." "Well," observed the husband meekly, "I didn't suppose you'd wear the coat and waistcoat."—Tit-Bits.

IMAGINE HIS TERROR

Miss Gushin—"It must be wonderful to be a parachute jumper. I suppose you've had some terrible experiences?"

Parachutist (fed up)—"Yes, Miss, terrible. Why, once I came down where there was a sign 'Keep off the Grass.'—Boston Transcript.

Isky—"When I began in business I had nothing in the world to guide me but my own intelligence."

Bascom—"That sure was a bad start."

Sam McClellan has renewed his subscription to the home paper.

UNDERSTOOD

He—"Of course, you understand, dear, that for business reasons our engagement must be kept secret."

She—"Oh, yes, I tell everybody that."

T. W. Gilstrap and children of Amarillo were visiting in this community Sunday.
