Funeral Rites for S. B. Fast This Afternoon

Funeral services will be held at the Presbyterian Church this afternoon at 3 o'clock for S. B. Fast, McLean resident, who died at home north of town last night, after a lingering illness, at the age of 78 years, 3 months and 4 days.

W. A. Erwin, minister of the church, will be in charge of the services.

Bearers will be: J. A. Ashby, Wilson, J. E. Cubine, J. M. T. J. Coffey and C. M. Carpenter.

Fast was married to Miss Cora Erwin, Nov. 15, 1881, who preceded him in death March 14, 1925. One son was born to this union, Mrs. M. Quest, who lives at Taweh.

Fast married Mrs. Floy Getter in 1928, who survives him. He deceased was a progressive community worker and was an elder in the Presbyterian church at the time of his death.

Besides his wife and daughter, other survivors include a brother who lives in Adolphus, Mich., 4 sisters, two in Iowa, one in Michigan, and one in Arizona.

Funeral will be held in Hillcrest cemetery, Rice Funeral Home in charge.

What a Scrap This Is Gonna Be

Tigers to Play Matador at Paducah, Friday

The McLean Tigers will play the Matador Bull Fighters for bi-district honors, at Paducah, Friday of this week, beginning at 3 p. m.

The decision to play on neutral territory followed a conference of McLean and Matador school officials at Childress late Sunday night.

Matador fans will have a decided advantage over McLean, in the matter of distance from home, but it is expected that hundreds of McLean fans will make the 120 mile trip with the team.

The Tigers are undefeated in this section. Matador holds a similar record, but has dropped a game to a class A team. Matador has a slight weight advantage, but on the whole it is thought that the teams are pretty evenly matched.

The winner of this tilt will meet the winner of the Hereford-Panhandle game. McLean won from the Panhandle eleven in an early non-conference game this season.

JONES RETAINED AS McLEAN GIN MANAGER

Bennet Pond, district manager of the line of gins of which the McLean Gin is one, was in McLean Monday and made a contract with S. R. Jones, present manager, for the season of 1936-37.

This is Mr. Jones' first year as manager of the McLean Gin and his many friends will be glad to know that he is to be retained as manager another season.

ELLISON-McCRACKEN

Alanreed, Dec. 3.—Mr. F. R. McCracken of Houston and Mrs. Maude Ellison of Houston were married on Thanksgiving evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. James at Alanreed, in the presence of a few friends. Rev. S. T. Greenwood performed the ceremony.

Following the marriage, a social hour was spent, and refreshments of ice cream and angel food cake were served.

Mrs. McCracken has lived near Houston for many years, and was popular among church and social circles.

Mr. McCracken, or "Uncle Mack," as he is familiarly known, is a pioneer settler of the Panhandle, having come here some fifty years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Killingsworth of Shamrock visited their son here last Thursday.

Kay Bayouth made a business trip to Memphis Monday.

J. H. Wade made a trip to Canyon and Amarillo one day last week.

Mrs. Bryan Roby Funeral Rites Said Sunday

Funeral services were said at the First Methodist Church Sunday afternoon for Mrs. Irene Mattie Roby, aged 23 years, 2 months and 5 days, who died at an Oklahoma City hospital November 29, 1935, following a lingering illness.

Services were conducted by Mrs. Maude Busby, pastor of the Post Nazarene Church, assisted by Rev. J. H. Sharp, W. A. Erwin, E. L. Bonine, and Cecil G. Goff, local pastors.

Pallbearers were: J. A. Ashby, W. W. Wilson, W. M. Morgan, John W. Cooper, Pete Fulbright and Reo Heasley.

Flower bearers were: Miss Edith Brewer, Mesdames Earl Norris, Lee Wilson, Sam Hodges, A. B. Christian, E. L. Bonine, Cecil Pullum, C. P. Callahan, Jack Laughter.

Mrs. Roby leaves her husband, Bryan Roby; two small sons, Tommie Gene 3, and Charles Lee 19 months; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bawcom of Wellington; three brothers Jack Bawcom, Wellington; Eugene Bawcom, Pampa; Jimmie Bawcom, Wellington; three sisters, Mrs. Denziel Duke, Margaret Ann and Naomi Ruth Bawcom, Wellington; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cotton, Cisco; several uncles and aunts, and a host of friends to mourn her passing.

Interment was made in Hillcrest cemetery, Rice Funeral Home in charge.

PARTY AT BURROWS HOME TUESDAY NIGHT

A party, with six o'clock pot luck dinner, was given at the Bryan Burrows home Tuesday evening.

Games were played and the guests left for their homes at a late hour.

ERWIN SPEAKS AT PAMPA

Rev. W. A. Erwin, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, was the principal speaker at the men's brotherhood meeting at Pampa Tuesday evening.

Mrs. H. E. Franks and daughter and Miss Mattie Howard of Ende, N. M., visited relatives here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Thompson of Wellington visited the lady's parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Hunt, Thanksgiving.

James Massay and Donald Butler of Canyon visited home folks here during Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris King and daughters visited in Mangum, Okla., and Childress over the week end.

Gov. Randel Makes Talk at Lions Club

District Governor of Lions International, Ralph E. Randel, of Panhandle addressed the local Lions Club in session Tuesday.

Governor Randel brought greetings from the Lions International and made one of the best talks on the aims and objects of Lionism ever heard in McLean.

The district governor made a plea for a well balanced club life, paying particular attention to the serious side of Lionism. He also spoke on the three quests of every man's life: health, happiness and heaven; and told of the assistance a good Lions Club can be in each quest.

Following the luncheon, Governor Randel met with the executive board and made several suggestions for better and more efficient club management by the local directors.

The governor was a charter member of the McLean Club, being a former business man of McLean.

MISS KUNKEL HOSTESS SIGMA GAMMA, MONDAY

Miss Odessa Kunkel was hostess to the Sigma Gamma Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Chas. E. Cooke.

A very interesting program was given on Our Public Works Program, with Floy Wynn as leader.

Miss Wynn outlined the W. P. A. as it is now carried on, and named some of the projects McLean has applied for.

The Boulder Dam project was discussed by Lillian Abbott, and Mildred Bessire told of the Tennessee Valley experiment.

Miss Ruth Hess was welcomed as a new member.

Those enjoying the occasion were: Misses Lillian Abbott, Clara Anderson, Mildred Bessire, Jewell and Nona Cousins, Vera Hamilton, Pansy Harris, Elizabeth Kennedy, Odessa Kunkel, Alynne Mallow, Alne McCarty, Frances Noel, Eunice Stratton Elizabeth Wilkerson, Floy Wynn and Ruth Hess.

Delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Simmons and children of Amarillo visited the former's sister, Mrs. R. P. Cunningham, one day last week. They were enroute to Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Crooks of Amarillo visited the lady's mother, Mrs. W. B. Gregory, and family over the week end.

Lloyd Hunt and Arthur Ray Ledbetter of Canyon visited home folks here over the week end.

Miss Martilene Riddle and Leon Steger visited in Pampa Thursday.

C. of C. Hears Reports and Talks, Monday

Reports and talks took the time at the regular monthly meeting of the chamber of commerce Monday night, with President Boyd Meade in charge.

It was voted to have a Christmas program this month, with details being left up to the advertising committee; however, it was ordered that colored lights be placed over Main street this week.

An auctioneer presented a trading plan that was referred to the advertising committee, with instructions to report to the board of directors.

Several spoke on the football situation.

Geo. W. Sitter, president of the American National Bank, spoke on the need of road improvement to the Bar Lo Ranch. This matter was referred to the road committee for action.

The next meeting will be held January 6, 1936, at which time the annual election of officers will be held.

Santa Claus Will Be Here December 20

Old Santa Claus will visit McLean Friday December 20, with a free present for every child in the community.

Old Santa expects to make his visit in an airplane and will circle the town a few times before landing and opening his sack of gifts.

Old Santa recommends the stocks of the merchants of McLean and invites every little boy and girl to visit the stores and make selections while the stocks are complete.

Watch for the airplane in the afternoon of the 14th, and be present on Main street for the distribution of gifts.

More particulars will be in next week's issue of the home paper.

BOY SCOUTS WILL ASSIST SANTA CLAUS

Boy scout troop 25, sponsored by the Lions Club, has undertaken the job of Santa Claus helper in McLean for some of the kiddies. This group of boys has planned to mend broken toys for those children who are not so fortunate around Christmas. They will drop around to all local homes Saturday morning for toys, also paint or anything that would help in the process of mending such toys as they collect, would be appreciated. Do your part toward helping bring a happy Christmas to some children who would otherwise be cheerless.

The mending will be done under the supervision of John Harding, high school principal, in the shop behind the high school building. In an interview, Mr. Harding stated: "We have several industrious boys and I am sure we can be very successful in this project if the local people will cooperate by turning broken toys over to the boys to be mended."

By helping the boys in this commendable undertaking, you may have a part in making some poor unhappy child really believe in Santa Claus.

JOHNSON FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Johnson were very agreeably surprised on Thanksgiving morning by having their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren arrive, laden with all kinds of good things to eat, including turkey with the usual trimmings.

There were eight children, twenty-two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren present.

Cagle Hunt and Miss Zelma Richardson of Abilene spent Thanksgiving with the former's parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Hunt.

Mrs. E. L. Turner and little son spent Thanksgiving with relatives in Pampa.

Mrs. L. S. Chism, Mrs. J. C. Payne and Mrs. Chas. Reed were Amarillo visitors Wednesday.

Miss Nora Ashby visited her brother Norvin, in Amarillo last week.

George McCarty of Amarillo spent the week end with home folks here.

Tigers Win Again, 6-0, over Shamrock Team

The McLean Tigers won their second game with the fighting Shamrock eleven at Pampa last Friday afternoon, with some 2500 cheering fans in attendance.

The lone touchdown that decided the game came in the third quarter when Stratton, Tiger fullback, took the ball on a single reverse and began a 47 yard run around his own left end. The fans arose with a roar that was prolonged until the player galloped home for the score.

Stratton was afforded efficient blocking by his running mates and was able to shake off the Irish line backers and outrun their safety man. Stratton kicked for the extra point, but the ball hit a goal post, falling to register.

While the touchdown was the high point of the game, there were thrills aplenty all through. The Tigers were so eager to go that they drew several penalties for offsides, and they were tight at the Irish goal at the end of the last quarter.

No extra charge was made for seats, and the big crowd fully enjoyed the comfortable seats and the warm sunshine.

Football experts claim that the game was of college calibre all the way through.

The Tigers will meet the Matador eleven at Paducah Friday afternoon of this week, playing for bi-district honors.

JUNIOR STUDY CLUB WITH MRS. LEE WILSON

Mrs. Lee Wilson was hostess to the Junior Study Club Friday afternoon, Nov. 22, in their regular meeting.

A Thanksgiving program was led by Mrs. Leslie Jones. Roll call was answered with "things we are thankful for."

Other members on the program were as follows:

The Landing of the Pilgrims—Mrs. John Hildreth.

Reading—Mrs. W. H. Robertson.

The Origin of the Peace Pipe—Mrs. Roy Barker.

Lovely refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames W. H. Robertson, Roy Barker, Ben Page, Leslie Jones, Vernon Johnston, Murry Boston, Frank Howard, Norman Johnston, Travis Stokes, John Cooper and John Hildreth.

The next meeting of the club will be held on December 13, at the home of Mrs. Roy Barker, at which time a Christmas program will be given.

STITCH AND CHAT CLUB ENTERTAINS HUSBANDS

The members of the Stitch and Chat Club entertained their husbands at a Thanksgiving dinner last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ruel Smith.

The tables were colorful with various Thanksgiving decorations and were filled with many good things to eat. After dinner, forty-two and bridge furnished entertainment for the remainder of the evening.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Condat, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Stokes.

Members and their husbands present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Ernest Beck, Fred Bentley, Ralph Caldwell, Harold Heeren, Vernon Johnston, Durwood Riddle, John B. Rice, Frank Rodgers, Ruel Smith; and little Miss Glenda Joyce Smith.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Story had as dinner guests on Thanksgiving, the following: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lowry and children of Clarendon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cousins, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Beck and baby.

Misses Neva Flowers, Dorothy Jean Clair and Jaunita Brooks of Amarillo visited home folks here over the week end.

Misses Juanita Carpenter, Charlie Marie Beck and Faye Huff of Abilene visited relatives here over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rodgers and Mrs. Callie Haynes were Pampa visitors Sunday.

Miss Valeta Barnes of Skellytown visited Miss Georgia Stratton over the week end.

NEHEMIAH REBUILDING THE WALL OF JERUSALEM

Text, Nehemiah 4:6-9. 15-21
Text, "The people had a mind to say, 'Nehemiah 4:6."

Ninety years passed from the return of the first group of Jews to Jerusalem until the time of the present lesson. For one period of this time there is no record at all of how the people of Jerusalem fared. Last Sunday we learned something of the work of Nehemiah as he instituted the religious services among the newly established Jewish people. God had further decreed for His people from a general standpoint, also.

Far off Persia He had a faithful man who was cup bearer to the king. Nehemiah was interested in the activities of his people. His brother Hanani brought him some news who had returned from Jerusalem. From them he learned of the plight of the city with its walls in a tumbled heap. God moved his heart. The longing was so great he was unable to conceal it.

It became known to the king, and Nehemiah governor of Judah was ordered him to go restore the walls of the city of his forefathers.

Nehemiah went out with letters to the Persian governors on the way to Jerusalem. But while he had the authority of the king, his mission also incurred the jealousy of the other governors.

Thus Nehemiah arrived in Jerusalem to set about his task in the ill will of many who could have been of great assistance to him in the beginning for three days Nehemiah kept his counsel and went out the city at night, estimating the work needed to complete the walls, and making his plans to appeal to the people and carry it on. The people were ready to cooperate with him and they began the work. Nehemiah very wisely placed each man to work on the part of the wall nearest his own dwelling place.

When the work began the governors of the provinces round about laughed at the attempt. But when it grew day to day with astounding rapidity, they became alarmed. They used every method they could devise to stop the work. Of the many methods they employed there was only one that seemed in any way to affect the work. They threatened to destroy the walls already built and then defeat the people. To this Nehemiah answered by arming his men. Each man took his arms to work with him. The trumpeter was kept close to the leader, ready to give the alarm at any moment. At night the men did not remove their clothing, but slept in readiness in case the guard spied the oncoming enemies. The fact that each man kept at work near his own home, thus protecting his own loved ones and property, was the part of wisdom on the part of Nehemiah. Thus the wall was completed and the adversaries of God's people were brought to shame.

We would not neglect the part God had in the work. The people were doing His will, and He was ever ready to lend the help of His power. The leader, Nehemiah, was a devoted servant of God. He depended upon the power of God and spent much time in prayer. He had a firm conviction as to what God wanted, and was fearless in proclaiming the will of God and leading the people into that will.

The people accepted the leadership of God's servant and went to work with a will. This was the reason that the task was completed in so short a time. We find here a lesson for our own lives today. Too many of us have set ourselves up as heroes like Sanballat, rather than workmen accomplishing the things of God. There are men who seem never to be able to follow a spiritual leadership. Like the objecting governors in this lesson, they are in the first place unable to see and recognize spiritual leadership. In the next place they would rather try their own ability of breaking it down rather than honestly following it.

God longs through the ages for a people that will continually follow the leadership of His will and march on in constructive building. Such following merits "well done thou good and faithful servant." Such it is among us who will feel the warmth of the smile of appreciation of the Father in the eternity to come, and who having been faithful over a few things will be made ruler over many.

Compare—"Could you lend me $5?"
Ouzbusta—"No."
Compare—"Have you a friend who could lend me $5?"
Ouzbusta—"Yes, but friends like that are so rare that I can't afford to share this one with you."

Mrs. J. G. Davidson and children attended church at Shamrock Tuesday night.

About Thanksgiving time it seems that the nation is football crazy, as the championship teams are engaged in the final games for supremacy. Unfortunately in Texas the high school championship battles are really just getting started as the bi-district games get under way toward the state championship game. As a result, too little school work is being done in those schools which produce winning teams.—Canyon News.

Text: "And when He was come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying, Who is this?"—Matt. 21:10.

WHO IS JESUS?

Advent season has again crossed the threshold of the new church year. The glorious entry of Jesus into Jerusalem was beautifully described in the Gospel for last Sunday. The same Gospel is also used for Palm Sunday. Christ's entry into Jerusalem signifies His entry into the hearts of believing Christians.

But, you ask, why should this very Jesus enter your heart? Who is Jesus? This question is similar to the one asked by the people of Jerusalem. "And when He was come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying, Who is this?"

Are you still asking, Who is this Jesus? Do you still want to know who He is? He, the One of Whom the people said at His entry to Jerusalem, "Hosanna to the son of David; blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord; hosanna in the highest." Matt. 21:9.

Whoever rejects Jesus, the Savior of all men, rejects all blessings which come with Christ's entry into the hearts of men. Without Christ there is no salvation. No one can be saved by believing in Mohammed, Confucius or others. There is no salvation without Christ. This is not our philosophy, but the clear statement of Scripture which says: "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." Acts 4:12. Scripture speaks plainly so that even a child may understand. There is no salvation in anyone else except in Jesus Christ, the chief corner stone, the personal Savior of all people. God grant that all people learn to know Jesus and accept Him at once.

All of us have a desire to know the other fellow's business—how he lives, how much he makes—all the things we hope our neighbor will not find out about us.—Canyon News.

PARENTS' NIGHT OUT

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

Fishermen Stranded for Five Days on Sea

Thousands of fishermen return to Caspian ports recently told an astonishing story of having been stranded on the bottom of the sea for five days. They reported that at the busiest period of the fishing season the sea itself retired from under the fleet.
The sea receded along 150 miles the northern shoreline, leaving boats stuck several kilometers from solid earth. Airplanes dropped food to the stranded men until the sea flowed back and allowed them to feast their ships.

Just do what hospitals do, and the doctors insist on. Use a good liquid laxative, and aid Nature to restore clocklike regularity without strain or ill effect.
A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Relief dosage is the real secret of relief from constipation.
Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has become. It gives the right kind of help, and right amount of help. Taking a little each time, gives the bowels a chance to act of their own accord, until they are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.
Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit. The action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve any sluggishness or bilious condition due to constipation without upset.

MEET THE SENIORS

Name—Pauline McCracken. Age—17. Birthplace—McLean. School attended—McLean. Outside activities—playground ball and Tigarettes. Hobby—swimming. Ambition—to be a home economics teacher. School I should like to attend—Texas Tech.

A SOPHOMORE MOVES

The sophomore class reports the withdrawal of Harrel Williams, who moved to Shamrock.

HOME ECONOMICS REPORT

Miss Alynne Mallow reports a very interesting and profitable series of meetings in San Antonio. Some improvement was made in the home economics closet during the holidays. New shelves were added and a compartment was built for the storage of linens and aprons. New books and pamphlets were secured for this department. The second year girls are serving dinners. The first year girls are making wash dresses.

AGRICULTURE BOYS WORK ON PROJECT BOOKS

Boys who are enrolled in the agriculture classes are completing last year's project books. When these are finished they will select projects for this year. They are studying carefully the selection for the year. It is necessary for the boys to have a well-rounded program and carry out their projects before they can receive credit for this course. The F. F. A. boys will participate in a district F. F. A. basketball tournament to be held in Clarendon Saturday, Dec. 7.

TIGERETTES AND BAND PERFORM AT PAMPA

The Tigerettes and band accompanied by Mr. McHane, Mr. Leeds and Miss Kennedy, went to Pampa by bus to attend the McLean-Shamrock game last Friday. Between halves of the game they paraded on the field and formed an S and an I for the visitors. They also gave yells for both teams. These two school organizations have been faithful backers of the Tigers during the entire season and will accompany the team to Paducah Friday.

MUSIC LOVERS CLUB MEETS

The Music Lovers Club met Wednesday in the music studio with Thelma Jean Dishman and Joyce Dowell as hostesses. After the usual business procedure, the program was presented. Stickers have been given since school began for each good lesson and each report on practicing. The stickers from each notebook were counted, and those who had the greatest number were Johnnie Mae Scott and Thelma Jean Dishman. Each was presented a prize. Each member then played her selection.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The girl scouts are working on a play, "Tilly Listens In," directed by Mrs. Adkins. They hope to present it in the near future. Proceeds will go to help with Christmas baskets. Miss Froy Wynn is lieutenant for the scout troops and Miss Madge Landers is captain. On last Monday evening the girls presented a party in the gymnasium. Refreshments were served for an hour, decorations were arranged.

WITH "EASE"

Carl Chaudoin gave me a copy of the Quail school paper last week, and I was pleasantly surprised with the new little sheet. It contained much of notable features, including the following item which I steal from them, just as I suspect they lifted from someone else: "Someone wrote stating that the letter 'E' is the most unfortunate character in the English alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger and in hell all the time. But we would call your attention to the fact that 'E' is never war and always in peace. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease, and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no life and no heaven. It is the center of honesty, makes love perfect, and without it there would be no news."

JOKES

Marie L.—"Do you love me, Larry?" Larry—"Sure." Marie—"Then why don't you cheer up and go down like the heroes in the movies?" She—"Would you leave your home for me?" McLean fan—"I'd leave a football game between the Tigers and the Irishmen with the score a tie, for you." "How do you suppose Solomon got his great reputation for wisdom?" asked Mrs. Adkins. "Oh, I'm sure it was not from anything he thought up himself," responded Mr. Adkins, meekly. "You know he had a great number of wives, and he probably listened carefully to all of them."

CUR BRITISH COUSINS HAVE IT ON US

One advantage of the British system of government is that elections are irregular and unexpected and are usually held with a minimum of disturbance. For instance, there has been no election there since 1931, and none needed to occur by law until expiration of a five year period. Thus during the depression, Great Britain has been free from campaigns and candidacies of panacea shouters, although the prime ministership and cabinet quietly changed hands last summer. Prime Minister Baldwin, feeling his policies generally approved, decided to call an election now instead of waiting until opposition strength might improve. Consequently, on October 23, he announced that a common election would be held on Nov. 14. Three weeks' notice! How different from the United States, in which with our fixed election date the county begins to feel election fever from eight to fifteen months ahead of time. Likely candidates accept more invitations to make public speeches, while announcements and policies of the administration are gauged for their effect on the electorate. A haze of uncertainty and hopeful expectancy settles over affairs not unlike a fog, until the opening and closing of the polls clarifies the atmosphere. Our British cousins have it on us in this respect. Instead of knowing for months ahead of the necessary visit to the dentist, they are given short notice and consequently little time for apprehension and worry. "This may hurt a little," says "Doc" Baldwin, "but we'll be finished in three weeks."—Star-Herald, Scotts-bluff, Nebraska.

HOW NOT TO DO BUSINESS

A wright county merchant once went out of business. While in business he made no money for himself. He succeeded in keeping his competitors from making money. He landed in the county with a stock of goods, and announced that he would undersell his competitors. If his competitors offered merchandise at a dollar, he announced that he would sell for 90 cents. When he went out of business he owed a large sum of money. He settled with his creditors on a basis of about 10 cents on the dollar. His idea of business was to cut the price. That is all that he knew about business. As a result he chalked up a miserable failure, folded his tent, and quit. Not only did he lose money but he deprived his competitors of a profit, and the trade was demoralized. And his creditors footed the bill. It even caused other business houses to fail, and because of no fault of their own. No community can thrive unless people who do business make a profit. This applies to merchants, farmers, industrialists, and all. When some fellow thinks he can outsmart the rest of the crowd by elimination of profit he is nothing short of ridiculous. It costs money to operate a business, and anyone who thinks he can escape this cost is absurd.—Independent, Belmond, Iowa. Mrs. J. E. Lynch and daughter visited in Shamrock Saturday.

Most men are glad to offer financial assistance to those who do not need it.

Usually when a man gets mad at the newspaper because it does not print everything to suit his opinions, it is a sign that he is not sure of his opinions.

Readers of this paper constitute the greatest buying power of the community, and merchants have an opportunity the next two weeks that will not occur again for a year. More money will be spent in the two weeks following the next issue of the home paper than in many months of the year. No merchant should allow his advertisement to be out of the home paper at this time of the year.

Public opinion seems to be slowly becoming aroused over the heavy death toll by automobile accidents. Right now the speed demon is coming in for a lot of criticism, and when we get this question ironed out, there is still the old wrecks of cars to consider. The accident ratio goes up as the number of old cars increase. This is one of the products of the depression, as there are more old cars on the road now than ever before. The average life of a car is six years, and during good times not many of that age were seen on the roads, and the accident rate was much lower.

Another contributing cause is too narrow highways. Eighteen foot highways have many more accidents recorded than 20 foot. It will soon be necessary to build much wider highways, if the death toll is to be lowered.

Curves are also dangerous and must be eliminated as far as possible if highways are to be made safer.

Automobile manufacturers are now playing down speed on their cars and playing up safety, convenience and economy. This should help, as for the past few years speed was the greatest talking point demanded by customers.

With the Churches

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Jim H. Sharp, Pastor
 Next Sunday is Universal Bible Sunday, which will be marked by a wide celebration this year of the four hundredth anniversary of the printed English Bible. The character of men will be determined from now on as it has been in the past by the way they think of and treat the Bible. Now as much so as ever, and I believe more so, do we need the Bible's priceless contribution to self-discipline, its capacity to release great moral and spiritual power, its searching of motives and standards. Let every one bring their Bible with them next Sunday, and we want as many as we will have time for to tell in a few words what help the Bible has been to them. Be sure and bring your Bible.

Our first quarterly conference will be held December 12, at 7 p. m.

This year we want every Methodist family to take the Southwestern Christian Advocate. As much cheap reading as we have coming to our homes, I don't think that any home should do without some good church paper. The price of the Advocate is only $1.00 per year, and I hope that you will bring your dollar with you Sunday if you can, or hand it to me most any time.

We will take the Christmas offering for the Methodist orphanage at Waco on December 22nd. If there are those who are interested in giving to the orphanage that are not members of the church, we will be glad for you to see the pastor or some of the stewards and give what you want to.

We welcome all to our services. Sunday school 9:45, preaching at 11 a. m. League 6:15, preaching 7 p. m.

MRS. RIGDON IMPROVES BEDROOM, CLUB PROJECT

"Improving a bedroom gives one many fields of adventure," said Mrs. E. R. Rigdon, bedroom demonstrator of the McLean Home Demonstration Club, to friends who visited her achievement event November 22nd.

Mrs. Rigdon continued: "I had to make the whole room over, consequently there were many problems for me to solve."

Taking an inventory at the beginning of the demonstration, Mrs. Rigdon discovered the only good features were two large windows which afforded cross current in ventilation as well as plenty of light, and the wall paper was in good condition.

The inventory showed improvement should be made to the closet, a new mattress was needed, the bed was short of linens, needed a mattress pad, a spring cover, as well as securing a suitable bedspread. The dresser was in poor condition, there was not a chair, poor artificial lighting, the floor was rough and unfinished, and poor curtains and shades.

Many would have been frightened to have started on such a task when money was conspicuously absent, but not true of Mrs. Rigdon. It only seemed to spur her on.

"My mattress is my greatest joy," Mrs. Rigdon told Miss Ruby M. Adams, county home demonstration agent.

The mattress was made December 1, 1934, at a public demonstration in McLean. The cotton used was some that the Federal government had sent out for such demonstrations. This mattress cost Mrs. Rigdon $2.50 and has been used regularly for a year, and is still in perfect condition.

Mrs. Rigdon explained to Miss Ruby Mashburn, district agent, that the mattress was easy to care for, as she could open both windows and beat the mattress about five or ten minutes and it would "fluff way up," she concluded.

To aid in caring for the mattress, Mrs. Rigdon made a spring cover from the good parts of cotton sacks and her mattress pad from a cotton blanket and quilted on the sewing machine.

The candlewick bedspread is made of excellent quality green sheeting and tufted in 6 inch squares, using yarns of a darker green, a light brown, white, and gold.

Mrs. Rigdon needed a dressing table, and taking two pieces of new material 11 by 38 inches, placing together and finishing in gray paint and a green and brown plaid cretonne curtain around edges and reflecting to the floor, the dressing table was almost solved. The dressing table top was fastened to the wall by braces and four inches higher than a sewing machine. The machine is rolled under the dressing table, a box made in sections is placed on top of the machine, and in here Mrs. Rigdon can place the necessary articles needed around a dressing table. This bit of ingenuity has solved two problems—a dressing table and a place for the sewing machine. It saves floor space.

The floor was painted a light oak color and a rag rug is used by the bed to add warmth and comfort.

The dresser had been painted several times and proved quite a task to remove it all before refinishing with gray paint.

A home made bedside table for books, magazines and a bedside light was made and painted gray. An old high back rocker was painted gray and a practical linen pillow is placed in this chair. By the side of the chair is a small table for a magazine and a bowl of nuts.

The artificial lighting was improved by adding a bedside lamp and a pair of lamps on the dressing table.

New shades and plain panel curtains in white were added.

For $10.00, the room is now one of beauty, comfort and joy.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The McLean Home Demonstration Club will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chas. Eidey.

Mrs. N. A. Greer attended the funeral of her mother at Colorado, Texas, Thursday. She was accompanied by her daughters, Miss Annis of Plainview, Mrs. Henry Benson of Shamrock, Mrs. Harold Clement of Kellerville, and Miss Peggy; and her son, Mackie.

Dr. H. H. Latson and children, Agnes, Bill and Joe, visited the former's mother, Mrs. Z. W. Latson, on Thanksgiving day.

Mrs. H. R. Trimble, Mrs. E. J. Windom and children, Jerry and Marcella, visited in Shamrock Tuesday.

Nell Jackson, Kelly Newman, C. C. Bogan, Christal Christian, C. W. Bogan, all of Abilene, visited home folks here over the week end.

BAKING TEMPERATURES

Here are a few baking temperatures that will come in handy some time when you are not certain of the degree of heat that you should have:

A hot oven, 350 to 375 degrees F., gives the best results when baking layer cakes, muffins and cup cakes. A medium oven, 325 degrees F., is best for a loaf cake.

A slow oven, 275 degrees F., is best for an angel food and sunshine cake.

LEMON CREAM PIE

Grated rind of one lemon
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch (stir smooth)

Add the juice of one lemon and the yolks of two eggs. Beat well. Add one cup water. Boil all together and then let it cool.

Put in crust and cover with meringue made of three egg whites, beaten stiff, and sugar to taste.

Place in the broiler and brown slowly.

GRANDMA MUELLER'S COOKIES

1/2 pound molasses
1 pound sugar
1 pound lard and butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves

3 1/2 pounds flour mixed in gradually. Dissolve 1 ounce soda in hot water. Add a small amount of candied orange peel, lemon peel, citron and almonds, all chopped fine.

FRUIT CAKE

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter
2 eggs
2/3 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon soda
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon allspice

1 pound raisins
1 pound currants
1 pound dates
1 pound figs
Candied orange peel
1/2 pound nuts
Dredge with a part of the flour. Bake slowly from forty-five to sixty minutes.

RICE PUDDING

1 quart milk
7 teaspoons rice
Pinch of salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon over the top
Sugar to taste
Bake in a very slow oven for about three hours.
Serve while hot.

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

1. Custards should be baked slowly and removed from the oven as soon as they are done, as they will become watery if left in the oven?
2. Ecru linens should be ironed on the wrong side or they will lose their lustre?

Money makes the mare go—and it takes a lot more money to make the auto go.

TIGERS DEFEAT IRISH, 6-0 FOR DISTRICT 3-B CHAMPIONSHIP; MEET MATADOR FRIDAY

In a bitterly fought game from start to finish, the McLean Tigers held the Shamrock Irishmen scoreless while they went across the goal line once to win the game 6 to 0, on Harvester Field at Pampa Friday afternoon. A week ago the teams fought to a 7 to 7 deadlock on Tiger Field.

"Hokey" Stratton, Tiger full, who has dealt out misery to opponents all season, broke through the left side of his line on a reverse from double wing back formation, shook off a secondary man, and outran all other backs for the lone tally.

Stratton attempted to kick goal for the extra point but it fell short. McIntyre, Davis, Wells and Rock Shamrock backs, remained dangerous through the game. Four times during the game they penetrated the Tiger 20 yard line and once came down to the 12, but the McLean forwards tightened up and the Irish wasted their downs trying to pass.

Brawley, McLean left end, was a wizard at snatching passes from Laswell. Two long passes. Laswell to Brawley, carried the ball into striking distance of the Irish goal late in the second period.

Both teams played entirely above their class on defense, each team being caught for many losses. King and McCarty stood out on the Tiger line, while Grady and Trostle appeared to be the best for the Irishmen. McIntyre and Stratton were the best ground gainers for their respective teams. Besides the 47 yard run Stratton made for the touchdown, he gained 37 yards from scrimmage, making a total of 84 yards for the game. McIntyre gained 78 yards, a 25 yard run near the middle of the second period being the longest.

McLean completed three passes of 11 tried for 52 yards gain, and Shamrock completed five of 16 tried for 27 yards. Each team intercepted one of the other's passes late in the fourth quarter.

By taking the district 3-B title, Coach Allen's Tigers won the right to play Matador, district 4-B champion.

Officials of the two schools got together and arranged to play the game Friday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock, at Paducah.

The winner of this game will earn the right to meet the winner of the Hereford-Panhandle game, which will be played at Hereford at the same time, for the regional championship.

The Road to Better Health

By Dr. Robert Ambrose Elliott

HEADACHES

Probably the most common of the everyday disorders is headache.

A book, and a large one at that, could be written on this subject alone; the different types and causes are almost without number. Congestion is responsible in more than 90% of all ailments. Technically speaking, every headache is the result of some form of congestion, the common source of which is improper eating along with poor elimination.

Eat Simple Foods

A simple food schedule may be arranged for yourself by noting the various things that do not agree with you. A good suggestion is never to combine starches with fresh fruits or raw vegetables. This one idea may save you many a headache.

There are many food schedules abroad which, when carefully followed, are well worth the effort. The best idea, in my estimation, is to avoid eating foods during the meal which are not digested within the same period of time. An example of this is fried chicken and mashed potatoes. The potatoes digest within an hour and the chicken requires at least two hours. It is lying in a perfect temperature for decomposition, which actually takes place while the potatoes are digesting. Milk will sour very quickly when exposed to a temperature of from 90 to 100 degrees, and so does any other product of a perishable nature. Decomposition produces a gas that in turn charges the blood stream, which comes in contact with every cell in your body and likewise the minute nerve endings. This transmits an irritated impulse to the "central station"—the brain, as millions of other nerve endings are doing at the same time and the combined result is—a headache.

Get Out in the Open

The treatment for this type of headache is "action." Stop eating—do not add more fuel to the flame. Take an enema—even if the bowels have been regular. Take a sponge bath to be sure the pores of the skin are not clogged and working freely. Dress comfortably, but do not go to bed—get into the open air—breathe deeply with the head well thrown

News from Whitefish

Last Thursday, Mrs. Charlie Murtry entertained the Wednesday Bridge Club, of which she was formerly a member. Members of the club present were: Mesdames C. P. Hamilton, Eddie Johnson, Claude Fulton, Enloe Crisp, Oscar Bell, Robt. Crisp, Frank Crisp and Albert Sanders. Other guests were: Mrs. Leo Ray of this community, Mrs. Dee Davenport of McLean, and Mrs. Earl Nickerson of Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crisp and family spent Thanksgiving day in Pampa, with Mr. Crisp's sister, Mrs. Jim Turner.

Thursday evening, Nov. 28, Misses Marguerite Crisp and Lulu Mae Dunkel entertained a few friends with a dinner party. The guests were: Glenn Reece, Burnette Greenwood, Harvey Craig and Pauline Crisp. After dinner, the party went by motor to the theatre in McLean.

Misses Mildred Tibbets, Lulu Mae Dunkel and Marguerite Crisp spent Sunday with Miss Pauline Crisp.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Turner and daughter, Joyce, of Pampa spent Sunday in the Robt. Crisp home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Hamilton spent a few days of the past week in Mangum, Okla., visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Byerly and son, formerly of this community, have moved near McLean, where Frank Bush lived the past year.

Miss Lois Kirby of Wheeler spent the week end with home folks here.

Glamour, Romance in Evening Dress

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THE revival of the luxurious, the more elegant, the romantic, the dramatic, the glamorous in fashion indicates a turning of the tide as they say it does, from a season of depression to an era of prosperity and good times. Then indeed have we cause to rejoice for the present signs in the matter of elegant dress are most propitious.

The new fashions, especially formal modes, are not only glamorous and elegant beyond anything known for years but they add to their fascination in that they seem to have recaptured the glories, the poetry, the vision and the imagination, the art, as expressed in lovely apparel created throughout the ages.

At a recent style showing given by the Chicago wholesale market council the gowns for formal wear, three of which are herewith illustrated, confirmed the feeling that we are entering a fashion era wherein a new spirit of elegance pervades.

Eloquent of classic beauty and statuesque dignity which carries the grace of sculptural lines are the new evening gowns of Grecian inspiration. Extreme interpretations of modes a la Grecque are seen in the draped themes of Yvonne and other Paris designers. Long flowing scarfs, huge wing sleeves, draped side pleatings are all shown in the new soft quality-kind silk crepes and velvets. Other gowns show skirts pleated all around of floating billowy masses of chiffon, or slim dresses with drapes (often pleated) in long cascades from the shoulder, to form a short train at the side or back.

Sumptuous fabrics, for which the present season is noted, bespeak the rich beauty of Italian influence, especially the magnificent velvets in warm deep purples and reds and greens, such as have lived through the centuries in old master paintings and frescoes.

The versatility of the present mode would make it appear as if Oriental princesses had come to life. In the new harem drapes and metal cloth turbans and sari scarfs and head coverings. Persian colorings and patternings. Chinese embroideries carry the spirit of the Far East into the immediate fashion program. Then there is the Russian influence which has an all-important influence on current style trends, as manifest in the smart high tussled turbans and fur bordered tunic blouses and coats and suits.

Of course we must not neglect to make mention of the picturesque robe de style gowns which have and are bringing so much of romance into the modern fashion picture. In these you may be as bouffant and rococo as were lovely ladies in the king's court in olden days of pomp and glory when George the Fourth was king.

Speaking of the bouffant we are minded to call your attention to the charming dress centered in the illustration. It demonstrated at first glance to the audience gathered at the style revue held in Chicago, the fact of high quality emphasized in a superb taffeta glinting with metalized highlights. To the right, in the picture, is a very lovely evening ensemble fashioned of one of the new rapturous, scintillating silver lame weaves such as are so smartly in vogue this season. Its styling accents a to-be-envied slenderness figure. Front skirt fullness, high-front, halter-neck bodice, extreme low-back décolletage, jeweled belt buckle are all highspots of note. To the left, a gown of pearl dot satin bespeaks Grecian inspiration via heavy golden cords and tassels.

AT FOOTBALL GAME

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

For the football game, school, shopping or any daytime wear the above coat is always correct. The coat is made of brown and red. The accessories are a brown hat to match the coat which may be worn with a suit on cold days. The sweater coat with its youthful lines is one of the tailored woman's highspots this season. Its smart simplicity and distinction her wherever she goes, with no fussiness, but pleasing simplicity.

FABRIC KNOWLEDGE AIDS WISE BUYING

Fabric knowledge is part of your fashion education. The smart woman knows that. It isn't the initial cost of a dress, it's the upkeep that counts. When you are confident that your taffeta will stay crisp; that your satins will hold their luster; that your chiffons will retain their loveliness and never get sleazy or stopy; when you know that your sheers will hold their shape and that your crepes won't ultimately sag under an avalanche of beading or braid, that your cloaks will stay in, and that your drapes will not sag—then, and only then, are you well dressed.

Women are rapidly learning to find out all these things before they buy a dress. They are learning to buy predictable merchandise.

U. S. Designers Following Glittering Fabric Trend

The French started it, but American designers were quick to follow the new trend of glittering fabrics for afternoon and evening wear. A survey just made of American textiles discloses that every important manufacturer in New York has designed and presented materials to achieve unusual brilliant effects. Cabot reports on the first fall openings of the Paris dressmakers still further indicate the advent of sparkling fabrics.

Tailor-Made Influence Is Shown in Evening Gowns

Paradoxical as it may appear, the tailor-made influence has extended to dinner gowns this year. Worth launches wool-back silk velvet in dinner gowns with wrap around skirts and bloused bodices, and Patou and Schiaparelli also favor evening tailoring in silk velvet.

EVERYDAY NEW YORK

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK—Thoughts while strolling: Gargle address: "Tumalum Lumber Co., Walla Walla, Wash." Joe Cook and his four children soda watering at Schraff's. Somehow I always expect Norman Bel Geddes to be wearing a fez. Tit-tat-toe name: Ray Vir Din. Memory: "Maple Leaf Rag" on the mandolin.

Look alike: Frank Knox and W. W. Hawkins. And in a few more years Fred C. Kelly can pass for Dr. John Finley. Always a laugh to those sudden pictures in the Saturday Evening Post. At the end of a jazz story a cut of a rocky Vermont farm. Or sunrise on the Amazon.

Whatever became of Ashton Stevens' club—made up of fellows who had fallen in love with Julia Marlowe? A derby named for Earl Carroll, who never wears a hat. Will Rogers' Mary suggests Maud Muller. Bernard Baruch has the erect, springy stride of the Indian.

Herb Roth's button nose and hippo shoulders. Never pass one of those dynamite wagons without expecting it to happen. A Sulka is the avenue's youngest looking septuagenarian stroller. Cornelius Vanderbilt always seems to scurry down the steps of his mansion. I'd stand and show off a little.

Study in shyness: Billy Rose. Dean Cornwell is the thin man of the illustrators. Churchill's old restaurant stand dark. Not many more popular in the theatre circles than Sam H. Harris. And such a glum, silent fellow, too. What became of sassafras tea? On second thought, never mind.

Gil Boag dusted himself off from his Place de L'Opera explosion with little left but a philosophic smile and $16. It required only a few weeks to decide the fate of what was mirrored and chromolimed into New York's smartest restaurant. Too smart, too expensive for the times. To profit, the enterprise on the old Embassy site had to gross $1,000 daily. The first night's intake was $1,500, but never more than $500 after that.

That strange residential looking cafe with high iron fence, grass plot and signless, known merely as "No. 21," continues the current gold mine in caviar catering. It is cramped, awkwardly arranged and often drafty, a hold-over from the tacky speakery era, yet it turns "people who matter" away almost daily. Indeed, a half dozen places in the crowded block of cafes were opened solely to catch the overflow from "No. 21." Among regulars dining are John O'Hara, the novelist, Robert C. Benchley, Joseph Bryan III, Libby Holman and Heywood Brown.

The radio crowd is partial to a cafe called Lebus, Inc., fairly dripping Venetian blinds a few steps off Madison avenue in the 50's. Kate Smith is often there. Also Ted Husing, Burns and Allen, and Amos 'n' Andy. The proprietor is C. P. Lebus, a thin blade from the Kentucky Blue Grass. He specializes in the famous cured hams of his state and is reported to have started the black bean soup vogue, a potage long neglected but now on almost every swank menu.

I've wanted to talk to the sad-eyed Niobe who takes seven dogs, ranging from Peke to Airdale, for an airing in the sitting dusk along the upper reaches of the park side of Fifth avenue near Carnegie's. She is a shawled Dickens character, hobbling on a cane, but man aging her lead straps with deftness of a Roman charioteer. Evidently too many question her, for she meets a proach with forbidding scowl. Who has, by the way, seen a Mexican hairless dog lately?

For realism in writing my choice is Conan Doyle. The way he could make the drab rooms of Sherlock Holmes mellow and inviting was sheer writing drama. When in London I have a feeling I could stroll down Baker street, turn almost without looking into No. 221, walk up the stairs and meet, if not the great sleuth himself, at least the capable Mrs. Hudson, his housekeeper, or perhaps Watson warming himself with a whiskey and soda while awaiting the return of his celebrated friend. Too, no one could make an open fireplace glow so entrancingly in print as Doyle. One could almost hear the crackle and hiss of logs and behold the shooting embers.

A great open fire always recalls Grandpa's hired man, Ed. I remember him last on one of those fallish mornings, rubbing his hands before the blaze and sighing: "This makes a feller think 'what he's done with his summer wages.'" what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Our Scotch Neighbor

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—When I first knew him, he was plain John Buchan, writing the best Scotch novels since Robert Louis Stevenson. Then, in 1918, he was Colonel John Buchan of the British wartime press bureau. shrewd, kindly, and deft, handling a bunch of rampaging American correspondents as gently as though they were so many new-laid eggs and he, personally, had laid every last one of them. When he became Sir John Buchan, a lot of us said: "Well, he earned his honors but no title ever can swell that Scot's head." Now, at Ottawa, the flags fly and the cannons roar for Baron Tweedsmuir, governor general of our noble neighbor nation to the north, but, if his lordship doesn't mind, I'd like, personally, to go on thinking of him as my friend, John Buchan, a very great gentleman.

They'll like him up there, we're going to like him down here. And, if any of you Canadians has any doubt as to his diversified talents, wait till you see him casting a trout-fly across a likely pool.

Casualties in the News

Even as between the New York gang war and the Ethiopian war, but the New York dispatches make spicier reading. They print the names and addresses of the deceased.

Borah's hat is in the ring. It may be distinguished from some of the other hats in the ring by the fact that his is not a size six and five-eighths.

So there's to be another new "empire" hatched in the Orient, with China furnishing the eggs and Japan the incubator. This certainly is a great year for weaker nations to wake up of a morning under a strange flag.

At Panama, a deadly serpent bit an army lieutenant. He took serum and went to a party, and the snake died in 20 minutes. Whereas, heretofore lieutenants have been regarded as comparatively harmless.

Fashions for Men

TRUE to recent promise, we now offer our winter fashion hints for American men:

Lounge effects will be in evidence on park benches.

The morning suit will be used throughout the day. Also every morning.

Unless prosperity returns mighty soon, expect a continuance of the high polish noted during recent years in connection with the seats of blue serge pants. Elbows also will display a bright sheen or patina.

Trousers may or may not be turned up at the bottoms. It depends on whether wearers are sensitive about fringes or just naturally don't give a darn.

There will be very little change—in many cases, no change whatsoever—in the pockets of business suits.

However, the careful dresser will ask the tailor to install a special receptacle for carrying tax notices in. A favored perfume will be attar of moth balls.

The Family Influence

SIX members of the Virginia-born Lady Astor's family are now in the British parliament, if you include Lady Astor herself—and you'd better. So hereafter her ladyship can rest the voice occasionally and there'd still be an Astor to carry on.

She's not like some equally determined conversationalists, though. When she speaks, she has something to say—and says it.

On the other hand, only three members of the Lloyd-George household won seats at the recent English election.

Maybe it's a good thing to elect a whole family group, by the crate-load, as it were. It saves having to remember a lot of different names.

Now you take our congress, wherein always there are so many names that don't mean a thing on earth except for roll call and salary purposes. Often, toward the end of a congress, the Congressional Record is merely a symposium of the last words of the unburied dead.

Being an Actor

A MAN spends half a lifetime trying to learn to write, and, if he succeeds, he's lucky; and if he doesn't, he's like a fellow whose wife is being talked about—probably the last man in town to hear the bad news.

But, overnight, you can get to be an actor—at least you can get the actor's viewpoint. For instance, I've just finished a very bitter argument at the studio over the next picture we're going to shoot. There's a director who insists on cluttering up the show with a lot of other people. He's also very tiresome about dragging in a plot.

I still feel I have the right idea about a proper vehicle for the display of one's theatrical talents.

It's a two-hour monologue. Inter-rupted only by tumultuous applause.

WAR'S MENACE

By VISCOUNT CECIL

THE nations, in America no less than in Europe, are preparing for the present time being spent for armies, navies and air forces than ever before in peacetime. Moreover, our great country, in defiance of all treaty obligations, has launched a war of conquest against another. And yet the contest which finished in 1918 was a war to end war.

We are drifting toward another world catastrophe worse even than the last. Can nothing be done to prevent it? Certainly good intentions and pious aspirations are not enough. No doubt the peace-loving nations will wish to remain at peace. But we found in 1914, and you found three years later, that in spite of our wishes we were driven into war.

What happened then may—may will—happen again unless we take adequate steps to prevent it.

PRESENT AMERICAN ECONOMY

By SECY. HENRY A. WALLACE

THERE is as much need today for a Declaration of Independence as there was for a Declaration of Independence in 1776.

The typical New England farming community of the Eighteenth century was 95 per cent economically independent of the rest of the nation and the world. The rest of the colonies might have suddenly disappeared, and the community could continue to function. Of how many communities in America could that be said today? Merely to ask the question is to answer it. And if farmers, with the help of government, should today achieve even a 50 per cent economic self-sufficiency, as compared with their present 20 to 30 per cent, the result would be the starvation of many millions in our cities. A change of this sort might be brought about slowly, but brought about rapidly it would prove a catastrophe.

AMERICAN TRADITIONS SOUND

By DR. HANS KOHN

THE philosophy of Fascism glorifies the nation, to which the individual is expected to sacrifice himself; therefore the gesture by Mussolini, to impress the Italian people with the great traditions and the splendor of their country's conquests.

I believe that the courage which is asked of youth in a democracy, the courage to think things out for themselves rather than to depend blindly on their leaders, is a far greater courage than is asked of young people going into a war.

It was the traditions of Germany, of Russia and of Italy—the tradition of obedience to a kaiser, a czar, a king, which made it possible to set up Fascism, Communism, Nazism.

The traditions of the American people, on the other hand, the principles of liberty, justice and equality for all of which your ancestors fought in 1776, would prevent such a happening in America. Youth, think for yourselves, even though American ideals have never been completely realized.

FAITH IN THE LEAGUE

By GEN. JAN SMUTS

THE league is not moribund or on its last legs, but only finding its feet, only beginning its career. Henceforth more and more it will stand forth as the determined foe of imperialism, of that spirit of aggressive expansion and annexation that characterized the old pre-war order and which was fondly thought to have been killed in the World war but is again showing its horrid head in world affairs.

No, the message of Armistice day isn't forgotten. Long live the League of Nations!

GAS, GAS ALL THE TIME, CAN'T EAT OR SLEEP

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart hurt. A friend suggested Adierka. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."—Mrs. Jas. Miller.

Adierka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adierka gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierka greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing with Adierka and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

INTERSCHOLASTIC FOOTBALL

Whenever public interest in an interschool contest reaches a high and dangerous pressure point, there are two safety zones, either of which may be used to let off the steam and prevent a possible explosion: (1) lessen the competitive drive by decreasing the area covered by the championship; or (2) provide enforceable rules for the competition to insure its functioning strictly as a school activity in support of the general school program.

Taking league football as an example, if the championships were reduced in area, the temperature would be lowered perceptibly, easing up the problem of control. Long and expensive trips, undue consumption of school time, the principal-coach feuds, competitive recruiting and other evils are reduced. Most of the other, especially the larger, states in the union have chosen to abandon the state championship in football as too hard to control and as exciting too violent a partisanship and as lending itself to crasser forms of commercialism, thus interfering too much with the school program.

On the other hand, many of the values of a really high powered sport are lost with the relaxed tension. If the sport can be kept strictly a school boy affair, and scholastic ideals in a measure maintained, we should not abandon the strong motivation which the present system of championships furnishes.

For many years abuses have been met by new rules, and each new rule has encountered more or less violent opposition and eventual circumvention. Moving football players of exceptional ability from one community to another was checked by the transfer rule. Then it became the fashion to move parents of players, since eligibility was based on residence of the parents. The "one year transfer" rule was adopted to meet this situation, making such recruiting rather expensive. Delaying graduation for the purpose of further participation became a quite general abuse, interfering with the school program, and to cure this the eight semester rule was adopted, also over the quite strenuous opposition of those who, we believe, misconceive the main purpose of interschool contests.

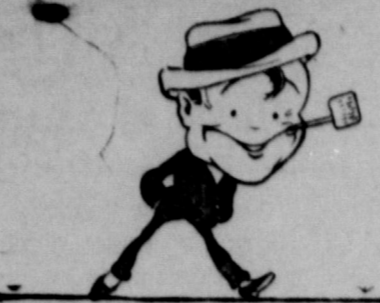

Then it occurred to the more thoughtful that nine-tenths of all this legislation was made necessary on account of the drive to secure pupils who were above high school age. In a sport in which brawn and physical maturity count for so much, the competition for the services of men eighteen to twenty years has reached alarming proportions. Thirty, 40, and even 50% of some school squads are composed of individuals eighteen or over. Such squads, of course, have an insuperable advantage over a squad made up of boys. Mature football players are gotten by retarding the normal progress of the pupil through school. This can be done no longer by the simple method of failing in a few subjects. The eight semester rule takes care of this. Hence, to circumvent the eight semester rule, youngsters are persuaded to drop out of school for a couple or three years, and return to high school, no longer boys, but men. An "intelligent parent afflicted with "footballitis" told me the other day he was holding his boy out of school until he was eight years old so that he would have some chance to "make the team" during his high school years.

Is it not obvious that a school activity which thus works at cross purposes with the school program as laid down by the State Department of Education cannot long endure? It must be brought into conformity with that program or done away with entirely. The eighteen year rule will insure players of high school age, and age is the most significant factor in determining whether or not a given individual may be considered a bona fide high school pupil.

If the school program now in effect is too difficult for pupils to finish in the prescribed time, i. e., by the time they are eighteen years of age, then let us change the program. Every principle of correct administration decrees that no one activity of the school should be allowed to operate at cross purposes with the program as a whole. On the other hand, every activity, under proper administration, is made to coincide with and strengthen that program.

If all schools used the retardation device to secure a man sized football team, if all schools were dragging in men nineteen and twenty years of age with no previous high school attendance and no high school credits and were putting them forward as representative pupils, it would at least be as fair for one as for another. Our sense of sportsmanship would not be offended. But such is not the case. Apparently only about 10% of the schools yield to public pressure in this matter. About 90% adhere to sound educational practice and neither recruit men for their teams nor retard pupils so that they may get their physical growth while still eligible for participation. So some schools have teams of men eighteen, nineteen and twenty years of age competing against other teams of boys fifteen, sixteen and seventeen. By no means or standard is this fair. It is not sportsmanlike. It is vicious in that it rewards the chiseler and penalizes sound educational practice. Thoughtless persons often rebuke us by asking why we don't kick schools which retard pupils out of the league. If we had a rule against retardation it would be a dead letter because no enforcement agency can go into the personal history of individuals and determine why they drop out of school. Rules, to be effective, must be enforceable, and that is why the age rule is causing so much excitement. An age rule can be enforced.

Smilin' Charlie Says --

We shouldn't condemn the girls with bobbed hair in the boys with the big buttoned pants too hastily—remember they're still young! Most of them will out-grow it.

I am familiar with the "discrimination" argument. We are told the rule will discriminate against eighteen to twenty year old pupils. But how about the "discrimination" of the present twenty year age rule? It discriminates against the normal high school pupil by placing him in competition against pupils two, three, four or five years his senior. If we are to have interschool competitions at all, a few are chosen to be put forth in a representative capacity. From which group shall we select these "representative" students, from those of normal high school age, or from those who for one reason or another are lingering in school after passing the average graduation age? Is it not clear that:

1. The present age limit of twenty years is more than two years above the average age of all pupils beginning the senior year;
2. That in any high powered contest in which more age gives a better chance of successful achievement, some schools (human nature being as it is), will fill in the ranks of their contestants with pupils possessing this superior advantage of age;
3. That the great majority of school executives will not tolerate such sharp practice in their own schools;
4. That with these two recruiting years wide open, we are setting up a competition not confined to the activity in which we hope to develop skill, but a competition in recruiting old contestants and in retarding promising contestants in their school progress in order that their advanced age may bring them advantage;
5. That we are setting up a competition not so much in superior coaching as in superior promotion of a practice which works at cross-purposes with the school program as laid down by the State Department of Education;
6. That no organization calling itself educational can afford to set up attractive honors in a competition which favors the "chiseler" over the competitor who will not chisel.—Excerpt from article by Roy Bedlichek, Bureau of Public Interests, University of Texas, in Texas Outlook.

Best Advertising Results Are Obtained Through Your Newspaper

Repeated tests have proven the superior advantages of newspaper advertising!

The prestige, news content and confidence of its readers is found only in the newspaper. Any reputable newspaper has its good name to consider; therefore, since it is an established fixture—with investment, payroll, taxes and other overhead expenses to meet—it must be conducted in a business-like, legitimate way. It is not an institution here today and gone tomorrow. While maintaining its own identity at all times, the newspaper performs a community service in the dissemination of advertising and community-building that no other agency can fulfill.

Of course, it depends a lot upon whom you want to reach. In McLean, as in other towns, the handbill and guttersnipe reaches only those within the immediate limits of the town—and not always all of those. If your ambition and horizon is bounded by the narrow confines of the city limits and you do not cater to or want the patronage of people living throughout the county and trading area, then the handbill and guttersnipe might partially serve your needs. But remember, the newspaper will not only reach these prospects but also the vastly wider circle of people—and at very little if any more cost, actual potential buyers considered.

Go after that prospect with the recognized choice of modern merchants—use your newspaper to increase sales—and don't advertise it in the newspaper if you don't want to sell it.
