Text: "He that endureth to the end shall be saved."
—Matt. 10:22b.

IS SUICIDE JUSTIFIABLE?

A great deal of publicity was given 1200 miners at Pecos, Hungary, who threatened mass suicide. After being rebuffed for 110 hours without any food or water they finally came to an agreement. It is true that there are ways and means for poor, starving workers to obtain a living wage, but to threaten with mass suicide—that is contemptible horror and ruthless blasphemy against their God and Creator!

No one has the right to take his own life—no matter how pitiable his plight may be in the world. God is the Author and Giver of life and He only has the right and privilege to take it away. One man does not have the right to murder another man; he has less right to snuff out his own life.

No matter how miserable we may be in this world, we are to seek help from God. It is true many who were usually rich and did not lack anything which this world could offer, took away their lives simply because they did not have the desire to live any longer. Such people did not know why they were placed on this earth. We are here to do God's will and to glorify Him, regardless of how poor or rich we may be in earthly goods.

Earthly goods and welfare do not save anyone from his sins. Even though we may be miserable in the eyes of the world we may be unusually wealthy in spiritual goods, in our spiritual life. That is something which worms and rust cannot destroy; something which cannot be stolen by anyone.

If a person lives for this world only he may have an end similar to Judas or King Saul. Judas did not truly repent. He succumbed to remorse and went out of the gates of Jerusalem. His body was found dangling at the end of a rope. Saul's pomp and glory were taken away. Instead of repenting of his misdeeds he thought he would take the easiest way out of life, and, consequently after falling in the attempt of having someone take his life, he deliberately fell on his own sword. In this daring and tragic manner he—like other souls who imitated him—took away his life which he did not give to himself and of which he was not supreme master. In this manner he deliberately insulted his God and Creator. His act of suicide was not justifiable. No suicide can be justifiable.

God wants us to remain faithful to Him unto the end of our life, up to the point when He takes our life from us, the life which He gave to us and which He only has the right to take away.

A person who deliberately takes his own life cannot be saved. If a person is faithful to God for 59 years and then takes away his own life, he is not saved. He cannot be saved. Jesus says: "Thou shalt not kill." The moral law is binding on all time. This law has not been changed. And so, a person who kills himself goes directly to hell. There is no place in-between where one can get another chance. The soul of a self-killer goes to hell immediately. His body shall join him on resurrection day. This the Bible teaches very clearly. We must enter with everything unto the end. "He that endureth to the end shall be saved." When in temptation turn to God for guidance and strength without ceasing.

News Review Current Events over the World

By Edward W. Pickard

LOUISVILLE'S sensational kidnaping case came to a climax with the return of the victim, Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, to her home.

IN DETROIT one Edward Lickwala, a youth with a police record, was arrested for attempting to extort $5,000 from Edsel Ford under threats of death.

WITH overpowering pomp and ceremony Alexander I, assassinated king of Yugoslavia, was laid to rest with his fathers, the founders of the KaraGeorgevitch dynasty.

BEGRAD was thronged with many thousands of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes. One entire village of 900 peasants arrived from Herzegovina, a picturesque crowd, many of whom had sworn not shave for three months in token of their grief.

FOR TWO days Alexander's body lay in state in the palace while the people passed by the bier. Then it was removed to the cathedral for requiem mass, after which there was a two mile procession to the railway station.

FRENCH police having caught three of the companions of "Kalemen," really Tschernocemsky, who slew Alexander and Louis Barthou in Marseilles.

FROM the confessions of those captured and from the investigations of the police of France and Belgrade it was learned that Kalemen was a notorious Macedonian terrorist named Valda Georgieff Tschernocemsky who killed two Bulgarian political leaders several years ago.

DR. ANTE Pavelic, described as the leader of the Croatian terrorists, and Eulent Kvaternik, his aid, were arrested in Turin, Italy, just as Alexander was being buried in Yugoslavia.

CONTINENTAL police were still hunting for Maria Vjoudroch, blond siren, who is supposed to have smuggled into France the murder weapons, and Gustav Perchee, alleged to have conducted the Croatian exile "murder farm" at Janka Bufta, Hungary.

PREMIER Doumergue's French cabinet was considerably changed as a result of the tragedy in Marseilles. Albert Sarraut, minister of the interior, and Henri Claron, minister of justice, resigned and were replaced respectively by Paul Marchandeau and Henri Lemery, Pierre Laval was made minister of foreign affairs to succeed Barthou, and his place as minister of colonies was given to Louis Rollin.

FRANCE lost another of her elder statesmen in the death of Raymond Poincaré, who was president from 1913 to 1920 and returned later to public service as premier. It was during that period that he seized the Ruhr in an effort to compel Germany to pay the war reparations to France.

SECRETARY of State Hull is vexed by what he calls the "indefensible practice" of certain countries in boosting tariffs or other restrictions to obtain concessions by reducing them again in negotiations with the United States for trade agreements.

ALTHOUGH no nation was named, Germany has begun a program for controlled imports and has denounced its most-favored-nation treaty with the United States, and France is increasing tariffs.

FIRST shot in the coming contest between the automobile manufacturers and the American Federation of Labor fired by the General Motors Corporation in the form of an offer to pay to its 130,000 employees of its own plan for collective bargaining.

THE plan, which actually is already in effect, was designed to meet all requirements of section 7A of the national industrial recovery act. Though the company in its communication did not mention the A. F. of L., it declared that "membership in a labor union or other type of labor or employee organization does not in itself establish the right of any such union or other organization to represent employees in collective bargaining negotiations."

THE management may, however, assist any employee organization in plans for employees' mutual benefit, provided that in the determination of the right of employees to participate in the benefits there is no discrimination by management on the ground of affiliation with any labor organization.

PRESIDENT Roosevelt went to Williamsburg, Va., and took part in the ceremonies attendant on the inauguration of John Stewart Bryan as president of the old College of Williams and Mary. In return for his courtesy Mr. Roosevelt was given the honorary degree of doctor of laws. The same honor was conferred on Gov. George C. Peery.

ON THE same day took place the formal rededication of Duke of Gloucester street, the city's main thoroughfare which has been restored nearly to its original appearance as the last major construction project of the restoration of colonial Williamsburg.

REPUBLICAN senatorial candidates in five states have incurred the displeasure of organized labor, and President Green of the American Federation of Labor has called on the members to work for the defeat of those men in the November elections.

CIRCULAR letters signed by Green review the records on congress of Reed, Walcott, Fess and Hatfield. They say the candidates voted against the 30-hour-work bill, for reduction of federal salaries, for the sales tax and for confirmation of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina to the Supreme court after he had upheld what union men call the "yellow dog" contract between employers and workers.

ORGANIZED labor doesn't like S. Clay Williams, chairman of the new national industrial recovery board recently appointed by President Roosevelt. At the San Francisco convention of the American Federation of Labor, a resolution was adopted demanding an investigation of Mr. Williams' attitude as vice chairman of the board of the R. T. Reynolds Tobacco Company of Winston-Salem, N. C., the charge being that he was opposed to trade unions and to collective bargaining with them.

IT IS NOT considered likely that the federation will get far with its fight on Mr. Williams. He was deliberately selected for membership on the board because his conservatism will be a foil to the comparative radicalism of other members, especially Sidney Hillman and Leon C. Marshall.

THE new board is hard at work on the problems which beset the NRA. It has devised methods for quicker transaction of business and has strengthened the subordinate executive personnel, and in the matter of enforcement, it has agreed not to interfere in labor disputes, these being relegated to Secretary Perkins and the labor relations board.

TO THE White House correspondents President Roosevelt said that a federal housing program with a great many ramifications undoubtedly would be submitted to the next congress and also would constitute an important part of the administration's future relief policy.

THE President expressed approval of the latest undertaking of the Federal Emergency Relief administration, which is to develop small communities of from 100 to 500 families. The families are taken off the direct relief rolls and moved into small houses, where they are intended to become self-supporting on communal farms provided by the government.

ALL THE members of the German cabinet took the oath of loyalty to Chancellor Hitler at their first meeting, and then Dr. Hans Heinrich Lammers, chief of the chancellery office, announced that "Adolf Hitler is fuhrer for life." He added that the Weimar constitution no longer exists. Many laws were decreed by the cabinet to carry on Hitler's policies. These included laws reducing the tax burdens of the big families and the cost of tax administration, laws organizing cooperative associations and "purifying the auctioneer's trade," laws altering bankruptcy sales, reorganizing the traffic in grain "to enable the National Grain company to control grain even when the harvest is reduced."

SENATOR James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, chairman of the senatorial campaign expenditures committee, announced that an investigation would be conducted in Pennsylvania as a result of reports that the Republicans are spending a large amount of money. Reports reaching the committee, according to Byrnes' statement, are that Republican expenditures for the May 15 primary were much larger than the amount filed with the secretary of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

CHINA'S Nationalistic government has retaliated against the silver policy of the United States by imposing a 10% tax on all silver exports from China. This action followed upon receipt of the American reply to a recent note from China pleading for United States cooperation in maintaining silver prices and halting the drain of silver from China.
