WITHOUT INTERFERENCE, TOO

Mass Raid By Superforts Is Reason For No A-Bomb Blow

By MAX BOYD AP Staff

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The bombing of massed Korean Communists by B-29 Superfortresses underscores some of the reasons why atomic bombs are not now being used in support of American and South Korean soldiers. With around 100 B-29s the Air Force was able to spread approximately 1,000 tons of conventional bombs over an area in which North Koreans were concentrated for an expected attack.

The superforts' bombing runs were made without interference by enemy fighters, since U. S. and Australian planes completely control the air over Korea. Whether the expected Communist attack will be stopped indefinitely by the single massive bombing is a question.

But should the Communists reorganize and reform for a drive to cut the American and South Korean defenses the superforts can strike again. Their ability to do this is limited only by the need for continuing attacks on more distant reinforcement and supply centers, by the amount of bombs the U. S. has in the Far East and on the way, and by consideration of crew endurance and mechanical maintenance.

In an emergency, not only could the B-29s be used against troops massing for an attack; they could be joined by the hundreds of light bombers and fighter-bombers which the Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps are operating in support of ground troops all along the front. Airmen say the total number of planes flying in Korea is not the maximum that could be used effectively there. But it is large enough to strike an enormous blow with conventional bombs when concentrated on a single target area.

Unless and until this conventional striking power proves inadequate, the use of atomic bombs is unlikely.

In the massive superforts bombing, the area attacked was seven and a half miles long and three and a half wide.

To cover such an area with atomic blasts of fatal force, it would take not one but something like half a dozen A-bombs of the power used at Hiroshima. Authorities agree, however, that they would kill far larger numbers of the enemy than would ordinary bombs.

For safety's sake, American troops facing an area under atomic attack would have to remain at a greater distance than if the zone were under attack with conventional explosives.

Some American authorities also are fearful that use of atomic weapons even against purely military targets rather than city masses, would tend to turn people elsewhere in Asia against this country.

Furthermore, President Truman has said that the use of A-bombs in Korea is not under consideration. But if the United States were fighting an army that had control of the air, stronger arguments could be advanced for using the atomic bomb against critical troop concentrations.

In such a case, fast jet bombers carrying the bombs could undertake individual sneak attacks. The 600-mile-an-hour Boeing B-47 might be used on such missions. Even if only one or two atomic bomb carriers got through to the target, they would exert as much destructive power as a substantial force of bombers battling their way through an enemy Air Force with conventional explosives.

Big Push On To Get Congress Out Of Town By End Of Month

By EDWIN B. HAARINSON AP Staff

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—A big push to get Congress out of town by the end of this month—or just before the Labor Day holiday—gained influential backing today. Sen. Myers (D-Pa.), acting majority leader of the Senate, told a reporter that congressional chiefs are aiming at a legislative shutdown Saturday, Sept. 2.

"We've got an awful lot of important things to consider before we can quit but that's what we are aiming at now," he added. This confirmed earlier reports by Senate Republican Leaders Wherry of Nebraska and Taft of Ohio that they would cooperate in an effort to wind up major congressional business during the next two weeks.

It was the first time since the Communist invasion of Korea on June 25 that Senate leaders of both major parties agreed it might be possible to quit lawmaking on a certain date.

House leaders previously have urged an outright adjournment of Congress at the end of this month but Senate bosses doubted they could finish before Saturday, Sept. 2, just before Labor Day.

Even then senators favor a series of three-day recesses under an agreement that no major business would be transacted, unless congressmen were given a week's advance notice.

That would enable lawmakers to hurry back here. Most of them are working about political campaigns back home with all House seats and 36 of the 96 Senate places at stake in November.

Some individual senators and representatives are publicly opposed to any adjournment of Congress during the present Korean fighting.

GOP Leader Wherry said the series of recesses "actually would permit Congress to stay on the job because we could be here in a hurry if necessary."

"I'm certain that a big majority of the Senate favors winding up all major business, if possible, before Labor Day," Wherry said. "I'm also certain that the majority of Republicans will cooperate in the big push."

First notice of the new drive to wind up lawmaking Sept. 2 came from Chairman Taft after a closed-door session of the Senate Republican Policy Committee later yesterday.

Taft listed the long program of measures still facing Congress and then added: "There is a chance of getting these things done but it would be a tight squeeze."

The secretary, who said Mr. Truman approved his request, made no estimate of the program's cost. Recent official estimates have placed it at about $2 billion a year.

The bill which Johnson submitted to the Senate and House Armed Services Committees would divide the proposed training into two phases. After six months of continuous paid training, youths could elect a number of courses including active duty or service in reserve or National Guard units.

Sen. Gurney (R-SD), senior Republican on the Senate committee, expressed some doubts as to whether UMT could be approved this year. He said it is his personal feeling that Congress should stay in session long enough to do so.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House committee has said he will introduce any UMT bill the Defense Department wants, but that his group is so busy with other legislation he thinks the Senate should act first.

Chairman Teddings (D-Md.) of the Senate committee, saying he had not yet seen Johnson's letter, declined to speculate on prospects for action this year. He promised, however, that "we certainly will give it a hearing."

UMT has stirred up heated controversy several times over the last few years. Despite a growing congressional concern with the nation's security, it would be certain to do so again.

And since the lawmakers have already stayed in Washington longer than they had planned, leaders conceded privately there was little or no chance that Johnson's request would get any priority before next year.

Russia Will Grab North Korea Before UN Can Restore Peace

By JOHN M. NIGHTOWER
AP Staff
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. — Many of the best informed American officials now believe Russia will open grab North Korea—above the 38th parallel—rather than let a victorious UN restore peace and unity to the country.

It is assumed here that the precise steps to be taken have been under negotiation between the Soviet Union and Communist China. It is also assumed they will act jointly when the time comes.

Administration officials, however, give little credence to reports which have come mainly from Chinese Nationalist sources that Russian Vice Premier V. M. Molotov has been in Peiping, Red Chinese capital, negotiating with Premier Mao Tse Tung and other officials on this and related problems. Whether Molotov has or has not been there, the belief of responsible authorities here is that the Soviets and Chinese must be deeply involved in fateful talks at this time, concerning not only Korea but Formosa and other far eastern political questions.

Increasing evidence of the buildup of UN power in Southern Korea, it is believed, must now give the Russians and the Chinese virtual proof of the determination of the U. S. and other countries associated in the Korean struggle to drive the invaders out of the south. In other words, the Red strategists must now decide what means they will use to deal with a victorious UN coalition in Korea whereas up to this time they may very well have counted on a Communist victory.

For the UN the prospect of eventual success in South Korea has already raised the question, thus far unanswered, as to what UN forces should do when they reach the 38th Parallel. Should they then stop short on the theory that the invader has been driven out of South Korea? Or should they drive on in the belief that only by crushing the Communist military power can real peace be established in Korea?

There is wide-spread belief here that the latter course is the only desirable one. This belief, however, is based on an assumption that neither Russia nor Communist China will become directly engaged in the Korean conflict.

If the Russians, perhaps in collaboration with the Chinese Reds, reoccupy northern Korea which the Soviets left about two years ago, the whole problem for the UN powers will take on a new color. They will then have to decide whether to accept Russian domination of northern Korea as a fact to live with, or whether to try to drive the Red occupation forces out—which would mean fighting with Russia directly and which appears to be an unlikely course.

Informed officials based their speculation about Russia's probable action on the fact that Korea has great strategic importance in relation to Manchuria and the Soviet Pacific ports. They believe that if Moscow cannot dominate the country through Korean Communists it is determined to rule the northern half by occupation.

Speculation over Soviet-Chinese policy toward Formosa is much less definite. Mainly official Washington is trying to figure out why the Chinese Reds have not attacked the island yet—with the period of favorable weather for an amphibious operation about at hand.

One line of reasoning is that the Chinese Reds were not only ill prepared to launch an assault but also did not desire to become engaged in more fighting at this time even though the Russians may have been urging them to act in order to involve American forces on still a second front in the Far East.

Another line of speculation is that the Chinese Reds have been straining at the bit but that the Russians have prevented them from making an attack on Formosa because that would increase the dangers of bringing on a general war.

Kettle Creek Folks Still "See" Headless Frenchman

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Aug. 17. — So you don't believe in ghosts? Well, maybe that's because you don't live near Road Hollow. For the headless Frenchman of Kettle Creek still roams the wilds in these parts.

At least, that's what the folks of Clinton County and a reporter and photographer for The Lock-Haven Express, who checked the authenticity of the legend, aren't saying yes or no.

Legend has it that the ghost belongs to a French explorer who robbed a secret cave of Indian silver some centuries ago. The Indians, it seemed, avenged their loss by beheading the Frenchman when he returned for more silver.

Reporter Pete Stevenson and Photographer Jim Patterson, acting on instructions from Hy Crammer, postmaster of the hamlet of Hammersley Fork, set out to track down the ghost.

On a chilly, misty night they parked their car near the bridge spanning Kettle Creek at Road Hollow. As they sat waiting, the only sound filling the night was that of the distant pounding of a gas well drill working the night shift.

Suddenly a flickering, wavering form reared up less than 100 feet away. They edged toward the eerie, reddish-white figure for a better look. A sound like that of a low, almost painful, moan could be heard.

The figure glided away, up the bank and onto Road Hollow. It moved quickly in the faint moonlight. They ran to keep it in sight. A metal filmholder fell from Patterson's pocket. They stopped to pick it up. When they looked up again, the headless Frenchman was gone.

Some say the Frenchman still roams the wilds of Clinton County looking for his head. Others say he's angry because "wildcatters" are drilling for gas.

As one valley resident put it: "It's his life blood, that natural gas, and these drillers are eating it all up. If they keep piping the gas out, the headless Frenchman will die."

Some scientifically-inclined folk scoff at the legend. They say the moan is nothing but methane gas seeping from crevices. A forest ranger offered the suggestion that the eerie, ghostlike figure is caused by glowing phosphorous clinging to moss and rotten logs in the damp woods.

And then there's the story of the silver. Woodsman Harry Walters showed Stevenson and Patterson a piece of silver the size of a golf ball. He said he found it in the woods. And there's a lot more of the Indian silver around, he said.

Disbelievers have an answer for that, too. They suggest it's some manner of ore which has become silverized over the years.

Anti-Red Bill Compromise May Untangle Issue

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
AP Staff
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. — Senate Republicans sponsors of an anti-Communist bill offered today to abandon their efforts to tie it to a home front mobilization measure—in exchange for a Democratic pledge.

The compromise proposed by Sens. Mundt (R-SD) and Ferguson (R-Mich) calls for a flat promise by the Democratic leaders to bring up the curb-the-Communists bill later for separate action.

"Those are the only terms on which we will withdraw the bill as a rider amendment to the economic controls bill," Ferguson told a reporter.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC), floor manager of the controls measure, said the Mundt-Ferguson proposal would have to await the return to Washington of Sen. Lucas (D-Ill.), the majority leader, who is in Illinois, is expected later this week.

Senate Democrats have arranged a conference for next Monday to discuss the tangled situation. The party's leaders, and Lucas particularly, have shown little sympathy for the Mundt-Ferguson version of internal security legislation.

Foes of the bill have argued that it would drive the Communists underground and make the problem more difficult to handle.

Maybank said that in his opinion the Mundt-Ferguson bill "doesn't stand a chance" of being adopted as a rider. However, he predicted approval of the bill, or similar legislation, if it comes up separately.

On the other hand, both Mundt and Ferguson said they are optimistic about the chances of nailing their program into the economic controls bill.

Their measure would require registration of Communists and Communist-front organizations, and would outlaw conspiracies aimed at overthrow of the government.

The home front mobilization bill scheduled for a Senate vote Monday would give President Truman an almost free hand to invoke wage-price-rationing controls whenever he saw fit. It also would authorize credit or allocation of scarce industrial materials, and other production controls.

Mundt and Ferguson, backed by the Senate Republican Policy Committee, have been trying for weeks to get action on their anti-Communist bill.

Big Push Is Getting Underway And Much Depends On Outcome

Korea War Part Of World Fight Between Democracy, Communism

YOU ARE A UNITED NATIONS SOLDIER (say American) on a battle line across the inhospitable terrain of Korea, half a world away from home.

YOU OUGHT TO KNOW THE ANSWER to that, as you fight through the mud of the rice paddies or over the precipitous heights against a foe whose language and ways of life are wholly strange. What does he mean to you?

Well, idealism of course does enter into the sacrifice America and other countries again are fighting "to make the world safe for democracy" — to protect a small state against aggression which it couldn't deal with alone.

WE FIND A FAR MORE SUBSTANTIAL reason in the fact that the Korean War is part and parcel of the world conflict between communism and democracy.

GOP, Dixiecrat Alliance Seeks To Capture Congress Control By 1952

WASHINGTON. — Right-wing Republicans and Dixiecrats are secretly plotting a political alliance to capture control of Congress by 1952, then to take over the electoral college—key to the Presidency.

In brief, the plan calls for Republicans and Southern Democrats to join forces without changing party affiliations. However, they would merge their seniority and run Congress jointly.

Williams explains: "In effect, this realignment would create a new party, but without the necessity of any change in party names. This realignment is legally possible now.

"Similarly," he continues, "presidential electors are elected under the laws of the several states. The 1948 'secession' of the Democratic parties in four Southern states indicates the method and the possibilities of extending realignment into the election of the President."

Williams has already formed a "front" organization to carry out his plan. He calls it the Citizens Political Committee, though he admits frankly "its title does not disclose its purpose."

GOP Attacks On Handling Of Foreign Policy Makes Cooperation Doubtful

WASHINGTON. — Republicans kicked off their 1950 campaign with the denunciation of administration foreign policy by the Republican membership of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

At the same time they placed in doubt the future of the bipartisan foreign policy. Those who think that policy is an imperative in America's battle with the Russians at Lake Success are eyeing the irate Democrats with apprehension.

Peace Can Be Attained, But There Must Be No Compromise

Early this week the nation quietly observed the fifth anniversary of V-J Day. Just five years ago a happy and exultant people tore up and down the streets—from New York to California, from Portland, Maine, to Florida, and from Wisconsin to Texas.

He will, in time, find out that you can take a person's body, but you cannot take his mind and soul. These two, no man on earth can take from you. They are yours, to keep and hold, until the day you die.

Non-Operating Trainmen Seek Similar Gains As Brethren

WASHINGTON, (U)—THIS IS AN ABC on the threatened rail strike. The dispute involves most of the railroads and two big unions—the conductors and trainmen—with 250,000 or more members.

Most workers are covered by the 40-hour week law—the wage-hour act—passed in 1938. It says a covered worker must be paid time-and-one-half for every hour worked over 40 a week.

There are 21 railroad unions, numbering 1,250,000 men, divided into two groups: Five operating unions, and 16 non-operating.

THE NON-OPERATING MEN GET paid on an hourly or daily basis. The operating ones get paid by trip or mileage.

About two years ago they demanded a 40 hour week, with the same pay they got for working 48 hours.

When they and the railroad disagreed, the President appointed an emergency board to look into the dispute.

THEY WERE GETTING PAID ON A TRIP or mileage basis but two of them, engineers and firemen, get something extra: The bigger the engine which pulls

Donna Reed Now Happy After Real Romance Scenes In Film

HOLLYWOOD.—(U)—After years of puppy love with Mickey Rooney and Platonic affairs with Alan Ladd, Donna Reed is finally getting some real romance on the screen.

"I feel like a new woman," she glowed. "I've got a new home, a new baby, a new contract and a new kind of role—the first I've ever had with any sex in it."

Donna did 20 pictures in eight years at MGM and she was inevitably cast as the home-type girl. Either she ended up in a nunnery, as in "Green Dolphin Street," or she held hands with Mickey Rooney, "Or I was a mother with three children."

For those members of their unions the conductors and trainmen demanded what the engineers and firemen get. The bigger the engine which pulls the train, the more pay they get.

Only the conductors and trainmen are involved in the present strike threat, so the switchmen will be treated separately here, later.

Forty-eight hours' pay for 40 hours' work. The railroad refused to agree. The government mediators tried to settle it.

Forty hours' pay for 40 hours' work (not 48 hours' pay for 40 hours' work) but to make up for the loss of the eight hours pay, the board suggested the yardmen get an increase of 18 cents an hour.

AT THIS MOMENT, THAT'S WHERE the case stands with the 250,000 members of the trainmen's and conductors' unions threatening to strike.

But—as for the demands by the trainmen and conductors that they get extra pay, according to the size of the engine which pulled their train, the President's board said "nothing doing."

The studio felt veterans would resent it if Alan tried to make love.

"And in 'Chicago Deadline' I was dead when the picture started. Alan and I were supposed to have some love scenes in fantasy had failed at the box-office and the studio didn't want to take a chance on it."

HELP IS BIG WORRY

Weekly Newspapers Face Rough Time

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff

Rough times are ahead for weekly newspapers in Texas and, more than ever, publishers of the little papers should help each other.

If the annual convention of the West Texas Press Assn. at Abilene last week end had a theme, that was it.

Roy Craig, Stamford publisher and new president of the association, told convention delegates:

Papers Delivered By Aerial Newsboy From House-to-House

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP)—Editor Jefferson Jones of the Bozeman Chronicle thinks Al Newby may be America's only aerial newsboy serving a house-to-house route. Since last winter, Newby has been "bombing" Gallatin Valley Ranch homes with the Sunday Chronicle. When he started, he wrapped the paper in red muslin socks with six foot tails so subscribers could find the papers in the snow. Now he's experimenting with waxed paper wrappers.

Newby says he makes his drops from about 50 feet, and often has whole families out to watch the process. Occasionally a gust of wind upsets his aim and the paper lands on a rooftop or some other inaccessible place. But when that happens he circles and drops another copy.

Stonecutter Rests On Off Time By Chipping Stone

LOS ANGELES (AP)—By day, Peter Zeolla fashions fireplaces of marble for the homes of the wealthy. By night the 52-year-old stone cutter relaxes with a hobby—chipping stone.

His idea of resting is to etch with his tools and chisel delicate designs on a rough slab of marble or onyx. Handmade ashtrays, bookends and lamp stands are his specialty. His latest creation: a scale model of a C-47 twin-engine transport plane, fashioned out of brittle onyx—even to the wings. It took him two months to complete.

A leopard usually becomes a man-eater only if it becomes acquainted with the taste of human flesh by accident.

"Next year is going to be pretty rough. More than ever we're going to have to stick together. We'll be borrowing help, back and forth. We'll be borrowing newsprint back and forth.

"But we'll get by and we'll do our share to maintain the freedom of the press... and of the country.

Later, at Stamford, we sat in on a coffee session with Craig, Forrest Weimhold, Levelland publisher and retiring president of the association, Allen Hodges, Littlefield publisher, and their wives. Such informal discussions among owners of little papers are held all over Texas. They get together to talk over mutual problems.

"The help problem is a major one," said Weimhold. "Country newspaper plants have long been the training grounds for printers. A young man will learn the trade and when he gets good enough he moves on to the daily papers. But war speeds up the moving-on process of the trainees. When I went into service in the last war, I left Mrs. Weimhold to publish the paper. There were nine employees. By the time I got back, she and one man were getting the paper out."

"This is a day of specialists," said Hodges. "When I was a boy, kids grew up in a newspaper shop and they got a well-rounded education in the newspaper business. Today child labor laws interfere with such practices and a fellow gets a late start. So he specializes, running a linotype or a press, or doing some other work in the composing room."

Hodges cited Weimhold as an example of a man who started early. Weimhold was running a linotype by the time he was eight. By the time he was 12, he was a full-fledged expert.

Craig, also an expert printer said: "Things have reached a point where a country-town publisher must be either a good advertising man or a good printer to make a success of the business."

"Look around the Texas newspaper field," he added, "and you'll see many a publisher who has weathered tough times. Some almost starved to keep their plants going. They know what it is to work around the clock... and to help the other fellow when he needs help. They are ready to lend newsprint or men and if a fellow publisher's press breaks down, they'll print his paper. Difficult times are coming, but we'll get along because we stick together."

Advances Idea That A Wound Is Necessary To Get Polio

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—A Washington doctor advanced the theory today that you have to have some kind of a wound in order to get infantile paralysis.

And, says Dr. James G. Cumming, the tendency of children toward a higher injury rate during summertime—when they have full freedom of play—may account for the fact that polio is more prevalent during the summer months.

He believes that direct damage to nerve fibers is necessary to allow the polio virus to invade the nervous system and produce disease. Dr. Cumming said natural wounds like the cavities of lost baby teeth could provide such damage.

He also said tonsillectomies and other surgical operations, as well as accidental wounds could disrupt these nerve fibers and lay the nerve system open to attack—provided sufficient virus got into the wound.

(Many doctors advise against tonsillectomies and other surgery during the polio season—if they can be avoided—on the theory that such patients might be made more vulnerable to polio.

(But no one has previously advanced the theory that an open wound of some kind is requisite of polio invasion.)

It is Dr. Cumming's theory that the virus of polio is transmitted from person to person by direct or indirect contact—and then develops on the lining of the mouth, throat and intestinal canal.

But in this stage, he theorizes, the virus does not produce disease. It feeds, as a parasite, but remains passive. It is only when nerve fibers become sufficiently disrupted to enable virus invasion of the nervous system that disease can occur, Cumming suggests.

He further theorizes that there would have to be sufficient concentration of virus invading the nervous system to cause disease.

Dr. Cumming, now retired, was formerly director of the Bureau of Preventable Disease, District of Columbia Health Department. He set forth his theory in "The Military Surgeon," official publication of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States.

In some respects, he says, poliomyelitis resembles rabies in which the disease is transmitted by the bite of a dog. The virus of rabies, said Cumming, can be fed by mouth or injected carefully with a small, smooth needle—without producing the disease. But if a large barbed pointed needle is used, infection may occur—because of the damage done to nerve tissue by the needle.

Cumming says "the very large percentage" of fatal cases of the "bulbar" type of polio following tonsillectomies offers support to his theory of self-inoculation through wounds. The "bulbar" type is the choking form of polio, requiring iron lung treatment.

They are charged with slaying Gustave K. Beauseau, 36, Los Angeles and Boise, Ida., photographic salesman

Under questioning of his attorney, Oplie told of attempting to rob Beauseau, of the shooting and then forgetting everything in his attempt to escape

Showers Bring Relief From Summer Heat

Thundershowers skipped about over the area Wednesday afternoon and night, bringing relief from summer heat and beneficial seasoning to several areas

The U. S. weather bureau reported that at least two inches of rain were other sectors which had much more

Stanton had an inch and a half and northwest of there the fall was well over an inch

The Moore-Fairview-Center Point belt through north central Howard county reported approximately an inch

Forsan had a good shower Wednesday evening

Some sections, however, did not get such rain. The heavier areas had enough to benefit feed and keep ranges in top condition

Arrival of showers, after a respite of more than a fortnight, was timed with the initial batch on a new crop of boll leafworms in cotton fields

A prolonged spell of showers might pose some problems in poisoning

Revival Meeting

A revival meeting is now in progress at 1100 W. 3rd in the Church of God, Rev. G. E. Franklin, San Antonio, is the evangelist

The public is invited to attend the daily services

Old Timers Gather Today At Colorado City Rodeo Festival

COLORADO CITY, August 17. (Sp)—Oldtimers gathered at the Legion Hut today for the Old Settlers' Reunion, the Thursday event of the annual Frontier Roundup and Rodeo.

Rain which had threatened all day canceled only the final event of the opening night rodeo performance. The four-day celebration opened at 6 p. m. yesterday with the parade which included floats of business, fraternal and civic organizations, the Big Spring Sheriff's posse, and hundreds of other local and out-of-county riders. Several thousand people gathered to watch it.

The fifty dollar first prize for the best float went to the Jayceettes, the thirty dollar second prize to the Zetaganthian Club, and third prize of twenty dollars to the Futura Homemakers of America.

Six contestants made a ride in the opening event of the rodeo, bareback bronc riding. They were Harold Watson, Belton, Roy Callaway, Raymondville, Bud Clark, Sterling City, Jimmy Moore, Snyder, Jimmy Morton, Colorado City, and Bill Barton, Abilene.

In the calf roping event, low times were posted by Jack Newton, Abilene, 14.1 seconds; Vernon Miller, Gail, 11.2; and Ralph Russell, Merkel, with 16.5. In saddle bronc riding, Cotton Proctor of Belton, Jackie Gerwick Hobbs, New Mexico, Clinton Hill, Canadian, Wari Raughman, Clovis, New Mexico, and Harley Max, Deming, New Mexico, outlasted their mounts to receive further consideration in the judging.

Cotton Proctor was low in the bulldogging contest with 62 seconds, Forrest Smith, Colorado City, second with 11.2, and Russ Mathers of San Angelo, third, with 12.4.

Amy McElvany of Merizou led in the cowgirl's barrel race with a time of 20.3 seconds. Sally Taylor of Doole with 21.3 and Mrs. Wilson McBride of San Angelo with 21.9 followed.

Clouds and a few drops of rain began to empty the stands at 9:30, but the Mitchell County calf roping was completed with B. L. Pruitt turning a low time 18.2 seconds while Pete Rasco placed second with 20.4 and P. C. Smith third with 21.2. It began to shower, but the bull riding was completed just as the rain began to fall hard.

Ray Roberts of Colorado City was the only contestant to make his ride.

The cutting horse contest, final event, was rained out and contestants and spectators went for shelter. About 75 inches of rain fell, not covering the rodeo stands.

Mrs. E. A. Barcroft was in charge of the registration and entertainment of the Old Settlers' Reunion today.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slow down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headache and dizziness. Often, these ailments are caused by kidney trouble. From minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 45 years. BANK SPECIAL PROVES RIGHT

WAYNESBORO, Pa., Aug. 17. (AP)—The Waynesboro First National Bank and Trust Co. set up a display over one of its cages, advertising "Special—today only $1.98" over a stack of crisp new $2 bills.

The display went up when the bank opened at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Hundreds read the sign, laughed and walked on. Finally, at 2:30 o'clock a half-hour before closing, an unidentified woman stepped up and "made a purchase of the special."

It was no gag. She made two cents on the transaction.

Report Leafworm Increase All Over Howard County

Leaf worms have increased all over Howard county to join bollworms in their attack on cotton crops. County Agent Durward Lewter reported today.

However, the farm agent said he believed the bollworms were at their peak now, and that dusting and spraying during the next few days would get a combination kill. Many farmers probably will find it necessary to distribute poison at least two more times, and maybe three times, for good control of leaf worms, Lewter predicted.

"Many farmers are worried about the small amount of bollworms killed," Lewter advised. "Close inspection shows that 50 percent to 90 percent have been controlled in most of the fields. It does appear sometimes that many did not get a kill, but when fields that have not been poisoned are checked it is easy to see that dusting or spraying has paid off."

Dr. H. G. Johnson, state entomologist, told the Howard county agent that bollworms can be controlled if they are poisoned every five days through the hatching period. Lewter said it appears now that bollworms will continue to hatch for another 10 days or two weeks. Farmers who poisoned early this week may find it necessary to repeat later this week or during the early part of next week, the county agent advised. They will have the satisfaction of knowing that both leaf worms and bollworms are being killed, however.

Sheriff's Posse Takes Part In Colorado Rodeo

Twenty-eight Big Spring Sheriff's posse paraders formed a part of the two-mile-long parade which opened Colorado City's 15th annual Frontier Roundup and Rodeo Wednesday.

They also participated in the grand entry for the first performance of the rodeo, among 291 horsemen taking part in the event. The opening parade was the biggest ever held in Colorado City. Witnessed by some 10,000, it extended for two miles and included dozens of floats and hundreds of horsemen.

M. H. Bennett, posse president, led the Big Springers. Mary Robbins carried the colors and E. L. Powell held the Texas flag. E. L. and W. R. Newsum, mounted in matched horses, carried the Sheriff's posse banners.

Others in the Big Spring group were Louise Ann Bennett, Shirley Robbins, H. W. Wright, Bugs Wright, Elton Taylor, Mrs. Taylor, Zack Taylor, Bobbie White, Maxine White, Thelma Howe, Frank Powell, T. J. Williamson, Franklin Williamson, Tommie Joe Williamson, Dike Tolbert, Dee Davis, Doyle Vaughn, Roy Carter, John Billings, L. I. Stewart, H. P. Wood, Dale Douglas, and Joe Pond.

Glasscock Rain Aids Range Land

GARDEN CITY, Aug. 17.—Spotted showers brought considerable moisture and benefit to sections of Glasscock county Wednesday afternoon and night.

All areas were visited, but there were skips and light spots in between.

Where sizeable showers fell, they were most timely to keep ranges coming along.

Garden City reported 1.39 of moisture. Bill Currie's ranch, east of here, reported a whopping 2.6, inches that really helped the pastures.

The Shell station southwest of town had .9 of an inch, and St. Lawrence, on the south border reported an inch and a half. West of town the Sam Ratliff ranch reported 1.2 inches, and the Lloyd Hardy ranch, 10 miles west, had .8 of an inch.

J. D. Ratliff to the northwest reported .65 of an inch and the Carter ranch, on the north, had an inch and a half.

IF AN H-BOMB HIT NEW YORK CITY — The outer circle, 40 miles in diameter, covers the approximate area the flash of heat from an H-bomb hit over Broadway and 42nd Street, Manhattan, would be fatal to anyone without shade. The inner circle, 20 miles across, is the area in which all but the strongest buildings would be flattened. Broken circle on Manhattan, two miles in diameter, compares to extent of fatal flash burns from A-bomb similar to one dropped on Japan. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Hydrogen Bomb May Be Like A Fireworks Show

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
NEW YORK, Aug. 17. — The hydrogen bomb, if 1,000 times more powerful than an A-bomb, is like a July Fourth fireworks piece that shoots more than once.

The first shot is a flash of heat at the speed of light. This shot covers a circle 40 miles in diameter with heat that can be fatal to anyone without shade. In Japan the similar area of fatal flash burns from the A-bomb was less than two miles in diameter, but it accounted for 20 to 30 per cent of the deaths.

The 40-mile circle is not the limit of H-bomb flash heat. In Japan the A-bomb flash caused serious skin burns up to 10,000 feet. This means that a thousandfold greater H-bomb would burn the flesh painfully within a circle of 100 miles.

The second shot is blast or concussion. This is a wall of compressed air about 1,000 feet thick for the A-bomb, much thicker for the H-bomb. The wall is followed by big winds, blowing out and back.

This blast starts with the heat flash but travels much slower. The blast will flatten nearly every kind of man-made structure inside a circle 20 miles in diameter.

The circle is not the limit. The H concussion goes 10 times farther than the A concussion, and at Nagasaki a barracks collapsed at five miles. Buildings near the barracks were unharmed. This means that in a circle of 100 miles some buildings will topple.

Steel skyscrapers probably would not fall. Their walls would be blown out. Their upper story steel ribs would stand bare and twisted. Other buildings of similar sturdy reinforcement would not collapse, but their interiors would be both blown out and burned out.

In canyon streets lower floors would escape direct blast, but reflected blast waves here and there could cause amazing wreckage.

The blast will not push down the surface of the earth. It will not likely break down the roofs of underground shelters. Bridges because of streamlining may stand. The flash would have started tens of thousands of fires.

After the flash and blast, comes the fire ball. This is incandescent air. From the A-bomb the fire ball diameter is nearly a thousand feet, the initial temperature 300,000 degrees, and for 10 seconds this ball is mostly hotter than the surface of the sun.

No predictions have been made about the size of the H fireball. It will be bigger, and hotter and last longer.

If—and this is a big if—the fireball size increases at the same rate as the heat flash, then this flaming piece of artificial sun would be 30 times greater.

The H fireball will add to the deaths from burns, and to the fires in the blasted area.

The radioactive dangers are not on the same scale. They do not increase at the terrific rates of blast and heat.

Kind Old Man Turns Into Rich Old Man
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17. — Old Charles Babonet, 66, was the neighborhood favorite. Wheel-chair bound, he had a kind word for all. Evidently mourned when Babonet died Aug. 6.

But now the neighborhood really has something to gab about: The old man was worth $250,000. Public Administrator Ben H. Brown says investigators found $130,000 in cash secreted in dressers, sacks and a desk in Babonet's small frame house. Bonds and bank accounts indicate an estate of about $250,000. No will has been found.

Chinese Reds Draw Up New Customs Law

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — Red China is drawing up an entirely new set of customs laws, reports the Communist radio in Peiping (Peking). A broadcast heard here states that the Chinese Maritime Customs Administration has spent four months drafting the new code. It will be submitted to a national conference.

No details of the new law were given, but the broadcast commented: "This will be the first truly Chinese customs law in a century. The forthcoming law now marks the fundamental change in the political and economic character of China." Until the Communists gained power, the Chinese Customs Administration was partly foreign-staffed, and revenues were partly secured by treaty in order to protect certain foreign loans.

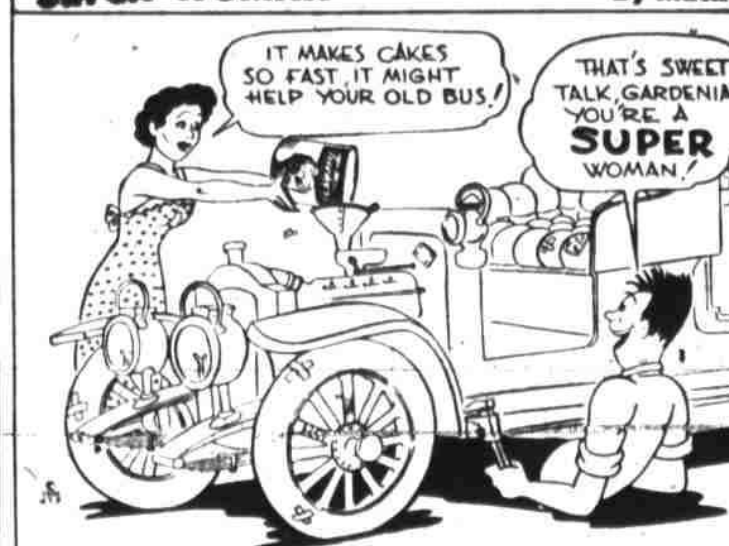

Don't Bar Entrance

CHICAGO, (AP) — Charles Pedersky is a man who takes precautions. He placed heavy iron bars across the rear door of his west side clothing store. Three weeks later burglars climbed up the bars and wriggled through a transom. Then, opening the barred door from the inside, they hauled away $6,000 worth of goods.

PEOPLE WONDER

How Many Losses Can Reds Stand?

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. — How can the Korean Red army have casualties estimated at more than 40,000—yet continue to strike hard and have far more men than when it started?

There are several explanations, some obvious and some assumptions, among them these:

1. Conscription of men in both North and South Korea, a practice used widely in Asiatic wars, has replaced battlefield losses and swelled the over-all strength.

2. Manpower may be filtering down from Manchuria and from Communist China, fed into Red army units in small but steady numbers to augment the North Korean force.

3. The estimates of Red casualties may be too high. Perhaps the original estimate of 50,000 to 100,000 men in the Red army at the start of the war was too low. There may have been many troops in reserve that are just now being sent into action.

Last week the Far East command sent the Pentagon an estimate of about 27,500 total casualties for the Communist forces. Communiques since then contain figures totaling about 3,000 more.

For 50 days of fighting by an original force of 100,000 men that would be a high rate. But it is not at all impossible that the Communists would have been able to replace them from the manpower pool in and outside of Korea, using the conscription method and providing little or no training of such "recruits."

Although the casualty estimate comes from headquarters and field commands, it is, at best, only an estimate. An accurate count of enemy dead and wounded is difficult, even when the forces making the estimate are moving forward in former enemy territory where noses can be counted. It is even more difficult when the force is in retreat or standing at a fixed position, as is the case of the United States and South Korean defenders.

It is much easier to estimate the strength of the enemy's troops and units in action. They can be seen across the firing line. Captured prisoners give information on identity of units. Estimates of the present strength of the Red army, therefore, is interesting.

A dispatch from Tokyo yesterday said 15 Communist divisions, with a total strength of possibly 150,000 men, have been identified in and around the Korean front.

That would indicate that the enemy not only has made a net increase of about 50,000 in his manpower strength, but has doubled the number of his combat units. His original force was reported to have been composed of seven divisions and five brigades. He could have formed some of these brigades into divisions.

Such an increase in troop and unit strength must mean that the Red army has found ways, along with expanding manpower, to arm the enlarged force. North Korea has some ammunition factories, but beyond that her munitions production is limited. She must get her arms from outside the country.

The Russian spokes-man at the United Nations claimed recently that material in North Korea could be only that sold by Russia when her occupation forces withdrew two years ago from the area north of the 38th parallel. His explanation stood only until the Pentagon received from the front a picture of a captured Russian mortar shell, bearing the manufacture date of 1950. The picture apparently confirmed what had been suspected since the early weeks of the war, that Russia continues to be an arsenal for the Korean Red army.

Some questions have been raised about the means by which the Reds continue to get ample supplies of ammunition and food to the front line troops when American air attacks constantly cut up highways and rail routes from North Korean depots. The explanation given at the Pentagon and at Far East headquarters seems simple enough: The enemy's supply problem is quite different from ours. He lives off the land, requisitioning food as he needs it. Conscription labor carries his ammunition, back-packing it along trails when highways and rail lines and bridges are bombed out. Even his gasoline requirements are modest compared with ours. He has lost a quantity of tanks and vehicles, reducing the amount of fuel needed. His aviation is negligible, so he doesn't worry much about aviation gas.

What about the picture on our side?

Casualties? The most recent report (issued on Aug. 7) gave a total of 2,616 for the American army. There never has been any attempt to estimate the casualties for the army of South Korea. That army, originally numbering about 90,000 troops and organized in eight divisions, was badly cut up in the early stages of the war and has seen continuing heavy action since. Some of the divisions virtually disappeared.

Firepower and weapons? Bigger tanks have been sent into Korea, new and more powerful bazookas, more artillery, more of everything. Planes and ships of the United States and participating United Nations members have complete domination of the sky and the sea.

Troop strength? Since the original little United States Army battalion took position in the line with the South Korean army, the flow of units has stepped up steadily, with whole divisions sent in. How many more have gone or are going is now blacked-out for security reasons.

One high ranking officer, asked today about the constantly growing strength of the enemy and our situation in the Korean beachhead, made two points:

1. We too are building up, toward the time of offensive.
2. We still are about two weeks ahead of the position we thought we might be pushed back to when the enemy began his all-out offensive with a surge past Seoul and then later across the Kum River line.

Pole DP Who Won't Fight For America Can't Become Citizen

CHICAGO, Aug. 17. (AP)—A young Polish displaced person who says he doesn't want to fight for the United States has lost his right to become an American citizen.

Ted Wyrwa, 25, who on Aug. 3 refused to take a pre-induction physical examination, yesterday signed an application for relief from training and military service. He thus is exempt from military service and bars him from becoming a citizen.

Under present laws, Wyrwa cannot be deported for refusing to serve in the Army. Wyrwa said that because of his attitude he had lost his job as an assembler in a factory.

Secret Yokosuka Turns Out To Be Cut Rate Navy Base

AP Newsfeatures
 TOKYO—The United States acquired a cut-rate naval base and the Japanese got a new industrial city when once-secret Yokosuka was turned over to the occupation.

This in effect was the description given by Rear Adm. Benton W. Decker, Yokosuka commander in an Armed Forces radio station interview.

Decker said Yokosuka probably was the only naval base saving money for the United States. This $60,000,000 base initially cost us nothing," he said. "To maintain it costs us only the pay of our officers and men and a very small part of the materials for repair purposes."

The base, capable of drydocking large ships, has handled many vessels the past three years. Decker took command more than three years ago with orders to destroy Yokosuka. He didn't want to and finally convinced authorities in Washington.

This is what Decker said the Navy has done:

 Converted former naval buildings into more than 80 Japanese factories.

Diverted to civilian economy 150,000 tons of iron scrap and thousands of tons of other materials.

In all, returned to the Japanese people 90 per cent of the naval arsenal for peacetime use.

Opened commercial harbor facilities.

Raised more than 380 hulks. Provided wood (from old naval buildings) for Yokosukans during the first postwar winter.

Established hospitals and schools. Encouraged civic organizations.

Before the war, the Imperial Navy was the sole enterprise permitted in this city of 270,000 persons.

Argentina averaged 260 pounds of meat per person in 1948, Uruguay 227.

Gathings Wants More Counter-Propaganda Against Russians

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—Rept. Gathings (D-Ark) called today for something stronger than the "Lain't so" line of defense against Russian propaganda.

"The Russians tell the most outrageous lies about us," he said, "and about all we do is yell 'Lain't so, Laint so!'"

"What we ought to do," Gathings told a reporter, "is to ridicule these lies and laugh the Russians right out of the picture."

"They can't stand to be made ridiculous," he said. "Let's take the offensive in this propaganda."

Peaches, Plums Make Good Jam Combination

PEACHES AND PLUM JAM is one of the new taste treats.

BROILED PEACHES glorify a mixed grill.

by CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor
Peaches may be scarce this year, so you may want to store some of their sunny goodness for later use. Here's how to stretch them with plums in a good home-made jam. And for a special summer treat glorify the usual ground meat patties by broiling fresh peach halves to serve with them.

Plum Bake Makes Good Variation For Summertime

Plums are plentiful — that's the good news from the Department of Agriculture. So, it's time to make all the good treats that plums offer. There's Plum Betty — made with bread crumbs, plums, sugar and butter. A novel twist to Plum Betty is to add some apple slices and cinnamon to a Plum and Apple Betty that's delicious. But favorite of favorites in foreign lands is Plum Kuchen, with its rich sugar-nut topping. This delectable treat may be new to you, but to those who know it, it's something they dream of all year round but can only enjoy at plentiful-plum time.

A perfect summertime, lazy day variation of Plum Kuchen is Plum Bake made with bread slices. Try one and join the devotees of good Plum Kuchen.

PLUM BAKE
12 slices bread
margarine or butter
sugar
2 lbs. plums, halved, pitted and sliced
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup chopped nuts
Trim crusts from bread slices; spread both sides of bread with margarine or butter; sprinkle with sugar. Line bottom of buttered baking dish with prepared bread slices. Arrange plum slices over bread. Cream together brown sugar and butter, stir in salt and nuts. Spread mixture over plums. Repeat layers ending with sugar topping. Bake in moderate oven (350°) about 30 minutes. Serve hot. Serves 6 to 8.

Cold Fruit Dishes Give Tangy Flavor

Fruits plentiful in the summer are too often just served plain or in simple salad combinations. Besides just storing them in the refrigerator for between-meal snacks, you can get quite a tangy flavor from them in desserts or chilled dishes.

FRESH PLUM SNOW
1 package raspberry gelatin
1 pint hot water
1 cup ripe plum pulp
4 tablespoons powdered sugar
2 egg whites, unbeaten
Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Chill. Combine plum pulp and sugar. When gelatin is cold and syrupy, place in bowl of cracked ice or ice water, add egg whites and whip with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Fold in plum pulp and let stand until slightly thickened. Turn into individual molds or pile lightly in sherbet glasses. Chill until firm. Serve with whipped cream or custard sauce, if desired. Serves 12.

AMBASSADOR STRAWBERRY TARTS
1 cup cream, whipped
1 egg white, stiffly beaten
4 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 can shredded coconut
1 cup sweetened sliced strawberries, or 1 box quick-frozen berries thawed
6 baked 3 inch tart shells
Combine cream, egg white, sugar, vanilla and 1 cup coconut. Place strawberries in bottom of tart shells, pile cream mixture on top of fruit, and sprinkle with coconut. Serves 6.

APRICOT WHIP
1 package strawberry gelatin
1 pint hot apricot juice and water
1/2 pound dried apricots, cooked and sweetened
Dissolve gelatin in hot apricot juice and water. Chill until cold and syrupy. Place in bowl of cracked ice or ice water and whip with rotary beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Force apricots through sieve. Fold into gelatin. Pile lightly in sherbet glasses. Chill until firm. Serve plain or with whipped cream or with custard sauce. Serves 12.

ROYAL PRESENTATION — Queen Elizabeth of England presents new colors to the Royal Irish Fusiliers at formal ceremonies during her recent visit to Northern Ireland.

Freezing By Proper Methods Is One Of New Ways Of Preserving Peaches

Freezing is one of the newer methods being used for preserving peaches and when properly done is very satisfactory. According to Louise Mason, extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A. & M. College, several factors are involved in the selection and preparation of the fruit and in the freezing process that must be given careful attention if the results are to be satisfactory.

She says the best varieties for freezing are Elberta, Hiley, J. H. Hale, Hale Haven and Frank. The peaches to be frozen should have reached the choice eating stage. This means firm, evenly ripened fruit of good quality.

After the peaches have been selected, they should be carefully washed and peeled. They should be treated to prevent discoloration and she says there are several products available for doing this job.

Ascorbic acid, vitamin C, is one of them. It is available in powdered and tablet form and she says that one and a quarter of the 100 milligram tablets should be used for each pint of fruit or one-half teaspoon of the powdered ascorbic acid for each quart of syrup. The ascorbic acid should be dissolved in the syrup before it is poured over the fruit, she adds.

Citric acid is also recommended for preventing discoloration. She says to dissolve one-fourth of a quart of cool water and to leave the fruit in the solution only 15 or 20 minutes, then remove, place in containers and cover with sugar syrup.

Miss Mason says there are several commercial preparations available on the market that are recommended for preventing discoloration but if they are used, the manufacturers' directions should be carefully followed.

She lists the following as the essential steps in freezing peaches. Select fresh, firm and ripe peaches. Wash them well, peel and remove the seed and half of what. Then treat to prevent discoloration. Package the fruit in the containers for freezing and cover with sugar syrup. The syrup can be made by dissolving three cups of sugar in one quart of water or she adds, dry sugar may be preferred to the syrup.

Next, she continues, place crushed waxed paper or cellophane on top of the peaches to keep them under the syrup. Seal the containers and quick freeze immediately. Miss Mason says that when frozen peaches are properly prepared and stored, they will retain their good quality for at least one year.

Research on radar, wear-level, oped detection device, actually began as far back as 1932. First telecast of a political convention was the Republican assembly in Philadelphia in June, 1940.

Waegwan Is Now No-Man's Land

By HAL BOYLE
 WITH U. S. FORCES IN KOREA, Thursday, Aug. 17. (AP) — The one-time city of Waegwan, focal point of the war in Korea, is a ruined no-man's-land today.
 If anyone holds it he is in an uncomfortable position, to say the least. For a week or so U. S. First Cavalry units and North Korean Reds both have sent patrols into the city. After the B-29s delivered their saturation load of bombs on the Waegwan sector, the first cavalry sent a tank into the fairly large city to look it over. The American tank knocked out a Red tank on the city's edge and chased another into the north. The runaway Red vehicle seemed to be making at least 40 miles an hour. Waegwan (everybody pronounces it Wigwam) is 12 miles northwest of Taegu, key American base on the road to Pusan.

 It is flush on the east side of the Nakdong River and is under direct observation and fire from the Reds' west bank.
 It has never actually been captured or recaptured during recent battling in the first cavalry area.

The Reds never sent enough forces in there to hold it. The Americans haven't kept enough troops there either to call it their own.
 The Reds have a force in the hills to the north and they lob mortars into the city.
 Waegwan is too vulnerable a target for anyone to hold for long. Anyway, it's much easier to dig in outside a city that is so exposed. The capture or recapture—today or tomorrow—of Waegwan has no real significance.
 Waegwan is a gutted point on a map between two armies.

Officers Not Assigned To Units Will Get Call To Active Duty

Officers of the Army officers reserve corps, not assigned to organized troop units, will be ordered to extended active duty, according to Col. Oscar B. Abbott, chief of the Texas Military district.
 They will be called for 21 months service, or such other period as may be authorized by law, with or without their consent. Male officers in all branches, including medical and veterinary service, are affected. Only company grade officers will be called in combat and service branches. Grades up to and including lieutenant colonel are callable for medical and dental service.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Aug. 17, 1950
 Officers assigned to organized reserve corps troops units will not be called under this authority, but two ORC units have been called from Texas City and Kilgore.
 Processing of physical examinations will be expedited. One-third of the officers are to report to stations by Sept. 22, another third by Sept. 29, and the final third by Oct. 6. The Fourth Army area has a quota of 182 captains and 612 lieutenants. The breakdown is as follows: Armored 15 captains, 75 lieutenants; field artillery, 16 captains, 65 lieutenants; infantry 52 captains, 273 lieutenants; corps of engineers, 23 captains, 47 lieutenants; coast artillery, 3 captains, 9 lieutenants; services 64 captains, 143 lieutenants. Quota is for all medical branches in 50 of which 25 are for rank above captain, 74 captains and lieutenants. Dental quota is 4 above captain, 20 captains and lieutenants. Other medical quotas are two field grade officers and 70 captains and lieutenants.

Boy Makes A Flying Saucer Fly

AP Newsfeatures
 Charleston, W. Va. — Department of Defense officials please note: There is such a thing as a flying saucer.
 Joe Ward, 14-year-old son of a pilot, has one.
 He made it himself.
 And it flies.
 The youth, who lives at Belle, about 10 miles east of Charleston, is a model airplane builder of years standing. Intrigued by the thought of a flying saucer, he started out to make one. He had no model to work from, obviously.
 He wound up with a doughnut-shaped contraption made of balsa wood and silk and equipped with a motor, flaps, landing gear, wheels and propeller.
 The boys of his gang scoffed at the idea that the contraption would fly. So did his father, who bet Joe two cans of gasoline that the saucer would be a flop.
 The payoff came at a large cinder plant field near the Dupont plant. The saucer, attached to 50 feet of wire so that it would not be lost, not only flew but it looped, hovered, circled and dipped.
 Joe now has plans for a larger radio-controlled saucer that would put the skeptics to rout.

Full Faculty Likely When School Opens

Prospects of approaching the start of the current school term with a complete faculty are excellent—for the first time in a decade.

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, said that the gap had been narrowed to seven positions. Some are for special subject spots, but most are for elementary assignments. If possible, the latter will be filled in part with men teachers in order to tie in with an expanding program for the physical education department.

The superintendent said there appeared little doubt that the faculty would be completed well in advance of school opening on Sept. 5.

He is taking into account the possibility of an increased enrollment. If it materializes, two or three additional teachers may be needed. Last year's beginner enrollment jumped about 100 over the census total for six-year olds. This year's census total for the beginners is slightly down, but Blankenship has a feeling that in reality the load will be up.

Walter Reed, principal of the high school, said that within the past week 18 new students had applied for admission. Each day is bringing several prospective additions. Whether there has been any loss from the student body cannot be determined until the start of school.

Meanwhile, Reed urged that youths who are moving here from out of town and who will enter the Big Spring high school for the first time apply at his office. This will enable him to write for a transcript of credits and to help arrange schedules in advance of the opening. Most of the new pupils are from families connected with the VA hospital and with oil companies, he said.

ENEMY APPEARS STUNNED

Bomber Raid Turns Target Into Gigantic Smudge Pot

By HAL BOYLE
AP Staff
IN A FIFTH AIRFORCE PLANE OVER WAEGWAN, Korea, Wednesday, Aug. 16 — A force of 98

B-29 bombers striking the mightiest air blow of the Korean war is turning a 21-square-mile target north of here into a gigantic smudge pot.

That's how it looks from a grandstand seat in this transport plane—or as if the earth had parted in a sudden volcanic burst.

It is now 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon and the great superforts have been coming over in waves of eight for an hour and a half. Not one single flak shell has been thrown up against them here where ack ack is ordinarily reported heavy.

The enemy appears stunned and paralyzed by the shock of the massive air attack. The bombers, glinting like sleek swans as they swim with lazy grace through a blue sky flecked with light clouds, have dropped to 7,000 feet now to unload their bombs—10 tons for each plane. And still there is no enemy challenger of any kind.

Somewhere hidden in that inferno of smoke, flame and concussion below are some 40,000 North Koreans massed for a knockout blow at Taegu. But today they are keeping their heads down.

As another flight lets go its cargo our pilot, Capt. James R. Young, Denver, Colo., calls:

"Look—right on the nose!"

As the bombs strike the ground they unleash a series of bright flashes like tremendous firecrackers. The flashes stair-step to a village in the foothills and blow it apart as though it were a town of paper.

Then great columns of dirty gray brown smoke mushroom up and merge into a vast pall that covers the hills and fills the valleys and still keeps rising. Hardly a dozen flaming villages add to the pall—and some of the smoke is deep and black. It comes from burning enemy vehicles and fuel dumps.

On ridge lines east of the Nakdong River scattered American infantry patrols cheer and wave at the B-29s. It isn't every day the doughboys see these big bombers ride to his help and blast the enemy with the equivalent of 30,000 heavy artillery shells in two hours.

The target is well defined and so far there has been no mishap such as marred the low level mission of heavy bombers in the St. Lo breakthrough in Normandy. Then hundreds of American soldiers were killed or injured by bombs falling in our own lines.

The bombers are hitting about a mile west of the river, beginning three miles north of Waegwan, in a strip seven miles long and three miles deep, where the bulk of the North Korean attack force of infantry and tanks is believed centered. It is hard to see how it can take a battering such as it is getting now—and mount an offensive soon. In the deepening smoke pall nothing of light can be seen.

As our plane turns homeward the pilot swoops down to within 50 feet of the sandy Nakdong River and races down the eastern bank in an area where the enemy has put across troops repeatedly in an attempt to force a beachhead.
