A CALL FOR CLOTHING

There are a number of children in the community that are in great need of clothing. Some 15 or 20 of these are in our grade school. The need is great and anyone with clothing that they ran do without will help these call for them. If they miss you and do not call for them, won't you bring them to the Methodist Church, where they will be made over for the children. Anything you have that is useful will help. If you have any shoes that can be used, bring them.

The fadies of the Methodist church are going to work the things over as best they can and then give them to the children. They will suit them out the best they can, and give them only the things that they can use.

This is to help the children that need help. If you have things to give and we don't get them and you can't bring them to town, call Rev. Jim H. Sharp, Phone 18.

Buenos Aires Receives Mr. Roosevelt Warmly

AS THE cruiser Indianapolis and its convoy, the Chester, entered the harbor of Buenos Aires, a salute to President Roosevelt boomed from the guns of eleven warships, ten squadrons of airplanes wheeled overhead, and thousands of citizens cheering crowded the water front. Argentinians generally approve of Mr. Roosevelt's policies and he was welcomed to their capital as "a great benevolent dictator." They had planned to give him an elaborate reception, but it was toned down somewhat at his request. President Justo, who already had greeted the distinguished guest by wireless, met him at the dock and accompanied him to the American embassy. Then Mr. Roosevelt, Secretary of State Hull and members of the American delegation to the peace conference made a formal call at the govern-

Next day, after a ride about the city, President Roosevelt attended the extraordinary session in the legislative palace to open the Pan-American peace conference which he initiated. A formal dinner for him at the government house and a reception for all conference delegates followed. The event of the third day was a luncheon at the American embassy in honor of President and Mrs. Justo. Then Mr. Roosevelt embarked and started on the return trip, with a brief stop scheduled for Montevideo, capital of Uruguay.

"Mystery Man" Zaharoff Dies in Monte Carlo

THE cause of world peace should be the gainer by the death of Sir Basil Zaharoff in Monte Carlo. Known as the "mystery man of Europe," he was for many years the master salesman of armaments and amassed an immense fortune in that and other business enterprises. Born in Odessa, Russia, of Greek parents, Zaharoff had all of Europe for his field of operations. He was knighted in England, became a citizen of France and married a Spanish duchess. He gave valuable aid to the Allies during the World war, founding chairs of aviation at Paris and Petrograd and presenting 25,000 pounds sterling to the British government for a similar purpose.

With Spanish War

SPAIN'S government appealed to the council of the League of Nations to deal with the menace to 'peace and good will among nations" allegedly created by Italo-German recognition of the fascist rebel junta. Secretary J. A. C. Avenol thereupon convoked the council, though at this writing the date for the meeting is unsettled. It was believed Italy would refuse to attend the session; Germany is no longer a member of the league. French statesmen didn't approve the Spanish action, feeling that it complicated an already serious situation and could do no good.

Excitement over the torpedo attack on a loyal Spanish cruiser by a submarine which the Madrid government more than hinted was a German vessel was allayed by the report that the undersea boat was a Spanish submarine that had gone over to the rebel side.

Madrid was being continually hammered by rebel shells and bombs, and there was intense fighting daily in University City, the northwest section of the capital, where the insurgents had penetrated. The American embassy was closed on orders from Washington and Eric C. Wendelin, charge d'affaires, gave protection to those Americans who wished to go to Valencia to board a United States warship. The German and Italian embassies, abandoned by their staffs, were seized and sealed by the defense junta and a number of Fascist refugees were arrested in the former. Berlin scoffed at this action but Rome called it banditry.

A Twenty Dollar Bill" By FLOYD GIBBONS

HERE are some things that money can't buy, but there are lots more things that you can't buy without money. This is the story of the money a man didn't have and how the lack of it almost cost him his life. And it's the story of a twenty dollar bill and how it came to the rescue of Ignatius Craig of Bronx,

And when I tell you that Brother Craig produced that twenty smacker note at a time when he didn't have twenty bucks to his name-wellthat just makes it all the more puzzling. As a matter of fact, it sounds just plain impossible. But here's the story and you can judge for yourself.

For six years, Ignatius Craig owned and operated a grocery store. And in that grocery store, on a bitter cold night in November, 1932, he had the adventure and the twenty bucks he didn't have.

In Came the Two Hold-up Men.

It was late in the evening. The last customer had left the store, and he was getting ready to close up. He stepped out from behind the counter to lock the door, but before he could reach it, two young plans department" will try to store men walked in

One of them stuck a gun in his side and hissed, "Get into the back room-and if you want to live, don't try any funny stuff." And he did as he was told. Then, while one of them held the gun on him, the other took the money out of the cash register.

There was only thirty dollars in the register. The second bandit looked at it and cursed. Says Ignatius Craig: "As a rule during the day I would take the money out of the register and hide it in some part of the store, just in case there was a hold-up. That day I had paid a sixty-dollar grocery bill, so the cash in the register was every cent I had. But the bandits must have known of, or suspected my trick of hiding money

Gave Him Ten Seconds to Produce.

"The fellow outside now came into the back room. He walked over me, stuck his gun in my side and said: 'Where is the rest of the dough'? The other fellow pushed his gun in my stomach. 'We'll give ister of propaganda cannot control you ten seconds to make up your mind,' he snarled. Then if you don't that, tell us where the rest of the money is, we'll shoot you like a dog "I shall never forget the looks on those thugs' faces. I knew they would make good their threat if I didn't produce more money. But there was no more money in the store. Five seconds ticked by while I stood like statue, terror-stricken and afraid even to breathe

'Then the first crook said: 'You won't be the first rat we've shot either. And don't make any false moves or one of these guns might go off before your time is up.' The clock ticked off a few more precious seconds. Still I held my breath. I was in the worst predicament of my life."

Yes-Ignatius Craig was in a spot-and well he knew it. If he wives get along better than Americould only gain a little time! His voice shook so badly that he could hardly get a word out of his mouth, but he tried as best he could to explain why he had so little money in the store. He even offered to show them the receipted grocery bill he had paid earlier in the day. But all petition ends and the Harold Vanthe answer he got was another poke in the ribs from the muzzle of derbilt cup goes to four players

Useless Plea for Mercy.

The terror in his heart was too much for him then, and he broke down completely. "I'm a married man with a wife and kid," he cried. "Please-for God's sake-don't shoot me. I'm telling the truth." And the first bandit growled, "We're not interested in your wife and kid. see. We know you've got money here, and you can produce it or it'll be just too bad."

That sounded like a death knell to the helpless captive. How he prayed that a customer would walk in! These men had murder in their hearts, and if he didn't produce money he was done for. Yet he knew there wasn't a dollar in the place. One of the men said, "I'll count up to three. Then if you don't talk, you'll get plugged. The other one said, "Never mind the counting, Jack. Let's give it to him right now!" And then, suddenly, Ignatius Craig had an idea!

Understand, he knew there was no money in the store. And I know there wis no money in that store. Both of us will swear it on stack of bities as high as an undertaker's hat. But nevertheless he said, "Wait a minute. I have money. There's a twenty dollar bill hidden under a can of tomatoes on the shelf right back of the cash register."

The Bill Satisfied Them-Then.

One fellow nodded to the other. They marched their captive out of the back room and made him point out the can. One of the men lifted the can, picked up the bill beneath it, glanced at it and put it in his pocket. The thugs pushed him into the back 100m again, and their differences may be settled, one of them said: "We ought to shoot him anyway." But the other said, "We've wasted too much time already. Leave him alone and let's get going

Then they pocketed their guns and walked calmly out of the store, apparently satisfied at getting that extra twenty dollars that Ignatius Craig swears to you-and I swear to you-that he didn't have!

A call to the police brought no results. The two men were never caught. Ignatius Craig sold his business a short while later, because he was afraid those fellows would come back. You see, all those bandits got was the thirty dollars in the register. Craig told the truth when he said he had no more money. The twenty dollar bill under the tomato can was a counterfeit—one that he'd been stuck with and wanted to keep separate from the real money in the cash drawer.

"Bad money," he says, "is usually hard luck to the one that gets it-but not always. I'll swear to this day that my life was saved by a counterfeit twenty dollar bill." @-WNU Service.

The President's trip to South America proves to have been a most useful idea. Great crowds welcomed him in his brief stop at Rio de Janeiro, as he drove through the streets with the Brazilian President Getulio Vargas, bands playing "The Star-Spangled Banner.

The President will talk peace and business, at least as much business as peace, and he will make friends for us all in South America.

You may count that day rare on which Chancellor Hitler's government does nothing new and queer. Dramatic criticism and literary criticisms are now forbidden in Germany. Constructive criticism is of greatest value to actors and writers; the intelligent among them are grateful for it.

The Ruler of the universe was his own critic, "and God saw everything that He had made, and, behold, it was very good." All need criticism, the powerful need it more than others, and Hitler will have it when history is written. His min-

Tokyo reports for Japan the world's highest birth rate; 2,180,-703 new Japanese babies arrived in 1935, more than in 1934 by 148,931. Japanese marriages are increasing, divorces decreasing; the latter down to less than one in 1,000 marriages. Japanese husbands and

Business is picking up and that includes marriage, most important. Chicago university says 750,000 fewer weddings have taken place during the six depression years than would have occurred in normal times. Hence the loss of about one million new American babies that would have been born. Seven hundred and fifty thousand young couples have missed, among them, more than three million years of marriage bliss.

The tide turned in 1935 with 1,327,-000 marriages, highest total in our history.

Mr. Green's and Mr. Lewis' union labor organizations indicate that which is good news. Organized labor should present a united front against too-short pay and long hours.

The prosperity of the nation depends on how much the workers have to spend.

China says she will risk war with Japan rather than let Japan take more of her territory. If that war comes it will illustrate the difference between a country prepared, Japan, and one unprepared and disorganized, China.

Japan's unspoken answer to China's war threat is her birth rate. Those millions of new babies must go somewhere.

Steam Engine in Air

Two California brothers have made several very successful flights in an airplane driven by a steam engine, a type of motor not generally considered available for flight. The engine made use of was an old automobile motor and weight, but the men have several improvements in view which willcut down the weight of the engine. The plane was ready for flight in a remarkably short time. In five minutes it was ready to take the air. In landing a great advantage is to be had in the ability to reverse the engine, which acts as a very efficient brake. There is also an absence of noise in operation.

The Glen Rose Reporter is under new management and appears with new style heads and all advertising off of the front page. We congratulate the new editor on the improved appearance of the paper.

The News is glad to give publicity to all community programs, but where an admission is charged, publicity then comes under the head of advertising A good rule to remember is, it you charge the editor admission then you should pay him for the advertising. This is a rule with practically all worthwhile news-

It is pleasing to note that this year sees very little use of abbreviation X m as for Christmas. A few years ago a movement was started to disword carrying a spirit of irrev erance, and it is becoming obsolete on cards and in the reading columns of newspapers and magazines.

Newspaper advertising is not only the best way to get business for a good product of service-but it is also the best way to hold it. It is only natural that those concerns using newspaper advertising, uninterrupted year after year, do retain the highest confidence of the public they serve. Their customers have found out that they can rely upon the truthfulness of the product of service so advertised, and they find it a genuine pleasure to do business with such concerns.

Several states have passed laws prohibiting whiskey advertisements picturing Old Santa Claus, but we note that some magazines are still accepting such advertising. Aside from the bad taste displayed by the liquor manufacturers, the fact remains that the use of whiskey at Christmas has meant, in thousands of cases, that the children of the family had to go without anything at Christmas while the father got drunk Drinking is foreign to the spirit of Christmas, and it is proper and right that such advertising should be frowned upon by right thinking people.

Everything is going up, and subscribers to their favorite newspaper should protect themselves against seemingly inevitable rises in subscription prices by renewing now. Magazines are back to former levels and newspapers will be forced to follow by raising both their subscription and advertising rates, if the present trend continues. Rises are seen in all | lines, including the farmer's products, and there can be no valid objection to a raise in newspaper rates. There is an opportunity now to renew subscriptions for a number of years as insurance against the coming era of higher prices.

The knife-edged metal strip, tortured into strangely irregular shapes, pauses a moment over the neatly piled printed stock. The lever is then pulled. The metal die descends, and the irregularly shaped scraps of paper fall away.

"Yes," Professor Carlisle assented. He was grave now. "There have been persons found dead, their bodies charred to a cinder, their clothes not burned at all. There are even one or two cases reported of men killed by a bullet, or stabbed, but with no rent in their clothing to correspond with the wound in their bodies."

"I wonder whether it is," Doctor Greeding stubbornly demurred; and he said thoughtfully: "You know, the human body has an infinite capacity to rise to emergencies. If a man loses sight, or hearing, his other senses become more acute. If a vein is destroyed, even the jugular, others take up the burden. If fingers are amputated, the thumb redoubles its usefulness. Isn't it possible that in some cases, when a man approaches old age and the impairment of his muscular strength, he may by way of compensation develop such a-power?"

"Old men acquire wisdom," the Professor pointed out. "That is weapon enough!"

"But in a primitive society," Doctor Greeding urged, "old men, when their increasing weakness made them a burden to the tribe, would have been eliminated, unless as vesugial organs . . . Of their strength failed they learned other ways to defend themselves. For instance, to imagine a wound, and have that wound appear-"

And he said, his eyes gleaming strangely: "A man able to do that would be a dangerous enemy."

Professor Carlisle said reflectively: "I expect he would be more dangerous to himself than to others. The world seems to be organized for the general rather than the individual benefit. Probably some counter-force would arise to deal with him.'

"Yet it's a fascinating thought," Doctor Greeding insisted.

And after a moment she remarked, half to herself: "Sometimes a girl is wiser to choose a proved man. Then she knows what she is getting. Young men may change as they-mature."

He laughed in a sudden swift delight; but when she asked why he laughed, he would not tell her. Silence embraced them again, drawing them together; the car ran smoothly. The moon now was low; and Doctor Greeding's eyes fixed his thoughts elsewhere.

It may have been that for a moment he slept. But at a certain point where the road forked and their way lay to the left, he kept straight ahead; and where just beyond the fork, this right-hand road turned, he did not turn. The car plunged through a shallow ditch and into the meadow beyond. His foot jammed home on the brakes, and he came to a breathless stop, thrown forward against the wheel. Mary Ann in a heap on the floor of the car beside him.

He looked at her hand on his, at her. "I'm not tired," he said huskily, breathlessly.

She withdrew her hand, abruptly; but his eyes held hers. He thought that even in the moonlight he could see her cheeks flaming. Then she spoke defensively, laughing, her head high. "Give me the wheel," she insisted. "You men tonishment, been near forgetting are all idiots-don't know when

The average time from one full moon to another is twenty-nine and one-half days, and the time from less than seven days to more than eight. About every six years Feb ruary has only three phases. When it is without a full moon, the preceding January and the following March may have two full moons each. This remarkable sequence. astronomers estimate, will not occur again for some 2,500,000 years. February was without a full moon in 1885, 1915 and 1934, and from approximate computations made by the United States naval observatory almost daylight, and we've lost a lot | that month will be without a full moon in 1961. Februaries without new moons or either of the other two phases occur at about the same intervals, but, o course, in different years.-Indian

Are you for your McLean high school? Are you working with every ounce of your vitality to see that your school is on a top rung in the ladder of fame? Do you really want your school to be on top? The way to do your part toward that goal is to support all school activities. Perhaps you have attended the football games and pep rallies, etc. If so you naturally feel proud of yoursel for being loyal. That is all very well and as it should be, but the way to be loyal now is to be basketballminded. A new season is coming up In recent years basketball has been acclaimed a national favorite. There is plenty of good material in McLean high school to develop great basket ball teams, but the boys and girls on the court cannot uphold the traditions of your school without the support of every student and every fan. The fans made the footbal year great. They will either make o break the basketball spirit. There it is left to the students and the fans to make a wonderful basketball season. Personally, I think that we will win out.

16 BEGIN BASKETBALL PRACTICE

The first girls' basketball practice was held last Monday afternoon. They will practice in the afternoon from 3:30 until 5 o'clock. The following rules are to be followed explicitely:

- 1. Practice four days.
- Not excused from practice unless by written excuse.
- 3. Be in bed at 10:30. Get eight hours' sleep.
- 4. No candy. 5. No soft drinks.
- 7. Have physical examination and receive written permit from your physician

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL CUNDAY JCHOOL Lesson

By REV. HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST. Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. O Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for December 13 JOHN'S VISION ON PATMOS

LESSON TEXT-Revelation 1:4-18. GOLDEN TEXT-Fear not; I am the first and the last:....behold, I am alive for ever-more. Revelation 1:17, 13. PRIMARY TOPIC-When John Saw Jesus

JUNIOR TOPIC-Jerusalem, the Golden. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC-Listening to the Ever-Living Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC-The Living Christ Among the Churches.

The first chapter of the Revelation, while it is an introduction to the entire book, is worthy of study by itself as a giorious revealing of Jesus Christ, his person and work. Some will wish to use the chapter as a preface to the study of the solemn and instructive messages to the seven churches of Asia which are found in chapters 2 and 3; but for most schools it will be better to concentrate on the messages of the chapter itself.

I. His Person.

While many of the characteristics of the Son of God are here presented, two are particularly emphasized.

1. His eternity (vv. 8, 11, 17). In a world which understands but little of the meaning of its past, which lives in a badly befuddled present, and admittedly knows nothing of the future, it is a source of the deepest satisfaction and peace of heart to know and serve the One dapper designs for home who "is and was and which is to sewing. It's not a bit too come, the Almighty." He already early to be anticipating "was in the beginning," and is to your first-of-the-year rebe through all eternity.

2. His glory (vv. 5, 13-16). 5 as "the faithful witness and first begotten of the dead," who is the 1909, consists of just six simple requires 31/4 vds. of 54 inch or 51/8 ruler "over all the kings of the pieces including the shoulder yds. of 39 inch fabric earth." 2. His love (v. 5) How deep and rich was his love

3. His redemption (v. 5). He "washed us from our sins in his own blood." We read in Hebrews 9:22 that "without the shedding of blood there is no remission." The cults and creeds which deny or ignore the need of cleansing in the blood of Jesus Christ may be religious but they are not Christian.

4. His fellowship (v. 13).

The candlesticks are churches and the stars are God's messengers. They are not alone in the world; he is "in the midst." Do we recognize his presence? 5. His return (v. 7).

"Behold, he cometh with clouds." How can anyone read the New Testament and fail to see, and to teach and to preach the Lord's return? He is coming again. What is our duty in the light of his coming? To live lives of purity and

Love of Nature

The presence of the love of Nature is an invariable sign of goodness of heart and justness of moral perception, though by no means of moral practice. When it is originally absent from any mind, that mind is in many respects hard, worldly, and degraded.-Ruskin.

There is one name which I can never utter without a reverence due to the religion which binds earth to heaven-a name cheered, beautiful, exalted and hallowed-and that is the name of wife.-Bulwer.

Pride and Humility Pride is not the heritage of man; humility should dwell with frailty, and atone for ignorance, error, and imperfection.-Sydney Smith.

Great Duties Great trials seem to be a neces ary preparation for great duties. E. Thomson.

Ability and Opportunity Where there exists honest ability there exists also real opportunity .-G. C. Golden.

Seeing Happiness

Happiness is the gift of seeing the good things of life in such high relief that the rest is unimportant. Approve not of him who commends everything you say.

When a man with an air as if it were natural to him to give orders is found, it isn't long before the meek put him in a position to do

If you have savage opinions, people will be hypocritical to you to keep on good terms.

Philosopher's Task

It is the work of a philosopher to be every day subduing passions and laying aside prejudices.

Nature doesn't eliminate foolishness. Civilized man has to learn how, some day. When a boy gets up to his ears in love he is more careful about washing them. The well-bred man keeps his beliefs out of his conversation.

Using Abilities

The art of being able to make good use of moderate abilities wins esteem, and confers more reputation than real merit.

What men say when they are angry is either the blazing truth or very unreliable.

MIS-FORTUNE

Into a room at a hotel in Newark N. J., walked Vincent Kolshorn and anxiously asked the woman occupant to tell his future. She peered into the cards and talked of marriage and wealth. Finally Kolshorn announced that he was pretty good at telling fortunes, also. He held up the ace of clubs and said: "You are going to be arrested very soon for telling fortunes. Modern Educators

Newspapers are the greatest of all modern educators. They teach history in its making. The exploits of exceptional people, the press of unusual events, the ebb and flow of political experience—all are made public knowledge within a few hours after the happening. This information is instant and complete.

That is why men and women who are eager to be fully informed read the newspapers-not only the news of the world, but also news of what to buy, where to buy and how to buy.

You cannot be abreast of the times if you overlook the advertisements. For advertisements give you the real news of business. They are the messages of business to you. They tell of the new and wonderful things created for your convenience and pleasure—of merchandise gathered from the myriad markets of the world for you and your family.

Advertising teaches how to get the most in value and enjoyment for the least money. It shows you the merchants who are eager to be of service and who can give better values.
