The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Fern Boyd gave the treasurer's report.

Ruth Magee asked if the Guild could help pay for the washer and dryer in the parsonage. Isabel Cousins moved that we pay $25.00. The motion seconded by Dorothy Beck and carried.

Sinclair Armstrong, Frances Kennedy, and Johnny Rodgers reported on the district Guild meeting in Pampa October 13. Three other members from the local chapter also attended.

The next meeting, October 28 will include celebration of the Charter reading and signing. All members are urged to attend in order to be charter members of the Women's Society Guild of the United Methodist Church. New membership cards will be provided.

Sue Cubine gave the Heritage of our Women's organizations summarizing the work done by the women in the Evangelical United Brethren's Church and the Methodist Church before the groups united.

WOULD YOUR CONGRESSMAN VOTE FOR GEORGE WALLACE?

Some fine Texans are tempted to vote for the 3rd party candidate because they admire his stand and his statements on some of the major campaign issues...

STOP AND THINK WHAT WILL ACTUALLY HAPPEN...

The best that Wallace supporters can hope for is enough strength to throw the election into the turmoil of a Congressional election by the House of Representatives...

THEN WHAT HAPPENS?

The answer is certain and simple. Wallace supporters are at the mercy of Washington Politicians! Every vote for George Wallace automatically becomes a vote for Hubert Humphrey!

THERE IS A BETTER CHOICE...

A vote for the NIXON-AGNEW ticket is a positive vote for "change" with the definite promise that our National Affairs will take a new direction... the direction you want it to take!

YOU CAN TAKE OUR WORD FOR IT!

IF YOU REALLY WANT A CHANGE... NIXON'S THE ONE!

NEWS

County Agricultural Agent Texas A & M. College Extension Service

By FOSTER WHALEY
Each year we ask sub-committees on beef cattle and field crops to sit down with us and help plan activities in each of the fields. We come up with our county extension program.

This year we added another committee - swine. We have Elmer McLaughlin, Laketon, commercial swine producer as chairman of this committee. Fred Vanderburg, a registered swine producer south of Pampa is on the committee. Bob Skaggs, Pampa Voc. Ag. Teacher and Ronnie Rice, farm store operator make up the rest of the committee.

One of the things this committee and yours truly will do with reference to a swine program in 1969 is to try and make potential swine producers aware of the opportunities in swine. We hope to have a short course in early January. In addition to having McLaughlin on the program we hope to have a swine specialist from the college and other successful swine producers from over the Panhandle. We hope to cover such items as 1. what does it cost to get established in a full time swine program? 2. Cost of producing feeder pigs to a given weight. 3. Cost of taking feeder pigs up to top hogs. 4. What equipment is necessary in hog production and wheat does it cost. 5. Financing swine project. 6. Nutritional aspects.

We plan to use a local banker in the financing aspect. Watch the paper for further notice on when this short course will be held.

Beef Consumption
Beef consumption per person in the U.S. has ran higher in every month except January, April, and July this year. Total consumption is expected to run from 107 1/2 to 108 pounds per person. This is about two pounds more than for 1967. In 1968 only 80 pounds of beef was consumed per person. We have two million more people to feed than we did one year ago. To put it another way, it will take an additional 432 thousand head of one thousand pounds steers to furnish the two million more people each year their allotted 108 pounds of beef. Of course new babies don't eat 108 pounds of beef but don't forget everyone advance one year in age each year.

Each year beef consumption per person is increasing by about two and eight tenths pounds. When you multiply this times the two hundred millions plus people in the U. S. you will find it will take an additional 112 thousand steers weighing one thousand pounds just to take care of the increased consumption per capita.

These figures do have a real implication to anyone engaged in the cattle business. We can stand more cattle on feed and an increase in cattle numbers and a considerable increase in beef production without materially affecting price. There is a limit however.

A person receiving a transplanted kidney from a relative donor has a 75 to 80 per cent chance of living one year and a 50 to 65 per cent chance of living two years or more.

ATHLETES SHOULD DRINK MORE WATER

In order to get the best performance from athletes, coaches should insist that they drink more water than their thirst demands, and as frequently as possible. The above idea, I am sure, will shock some athletic coaches and others since most of us have been brought up on the concept that too much water in the belly will waterlog a man and he will not be able to perform. The reverse is true. An athlete's performance is severely limited if he loses too much body weight through sweat and his performance begins noticeably to decline when he has lost only 2 percent of body weight. This, for a 200 pound football player, is only 4 pounds, and for a player who is putting out any effort at all, he will lose 4 pounds and more by the end of the first half. For him to go out and perform well in the second half is hopeless since he doesn't have enough blood volume left to stick in your eye.

Dehydration Causes Stress
Dehydration places a stress on the circulatory system, partly because of the decrease in blood volume. This stress is reflected in rises in pulse rates and of body temperature. External symptoms include generalized discomfort, fatigue, apathy, low morale and unwillingness and inability to undertake strenuous activity. These symptoms become evident after the dehydration has reached 2 percent of body weight.

Fortunately, there is abundant scientific evidence, much of it from U.S. Army research on soldier performance, to indicate that this need not be the case. Give the athlete a quart jug of water and let him drink all he can hold, and let him do this as frequently as he can.

Note this quote from an Army technical manual: "Healthy men suffer decidedly if there is a loss of only two liters (a liter is 1.057 quarts) of body water. Their reaction time is slowed. In hot environments, with strenuous muscular activity, they may or may not be aware of thirst and hence may not drink enough to

by Vera Featherston Back

Don't you just love family reunions? There have been several in McLean this past summer: the Kunkels, the Kinards, etc. Just a few weeks ago there was a family get-together in Kingsville, Texas that involved several McLean people. C. A. flew his mother Lavada his aunt Effie Phillips, his uncle and aunt, Floyd and Lorene Phillips of Dunas, down to this southern town where they attended a family reunion. Bill and Tom Bodine were already there and the group was entertained by the oldest member of the Phillips family—Marcus who has already celebrated his 93rd birthday. We wish we could claim Marcus for McLean but this man, dubbed "Father of Kingsville" by the historians there, never lived in McLean.

Margaret Gray of Denton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Johnston, was the first of the Johnston children to be born in McLean. Margaret reminisces in a recent letter: "I remember the old city well, the first paved street, the advent of electricity, the first ice house, the old railroad snow plow. I recall riding horseback to school, of falling out of a Model T Ford owned by Winifred Rice's father, J. S. Howard."

Margaret also tells of her father's planting his first cotton in this vicinity and broadcasting the seed. He once bought a whole car of six Buick cars and sold five of them to his friends. One of these friends was Mont Noel.

Come up some fourth Sunday, Margaret, and attend our historical meeting. You'll meet a number of "old-timers" who will remember many things about you and your wonderful family.

Most old-timers did their courting on horseback or in a buggy, but Ross Lisman, freshman at MHS says his grandfather, E. C. Lisman, did his lovemaking on a bicycle. Mr. Lisman went to school in Sherman, Texas. He began his education at the age of six, but he had to wait until the cotton was out each fall before he could enroll in school. The school was a one-room building where one teacher taught all seven grades. His first writing and ciphering were done on a slate. For his first two years he had only one book for studying. He carried his lunch to school in a gallon syrup bucket with holes punched in the top to keep the food from "sweating." His lunch consisted of biscuits, bacon, and eggs. Most of us can remember those syrup-bucket lunches at school.

James Douglas Brock, long time familiar figure on the streets of McLean, started walking when the horse and buggy went out of style. Mr. Brock would be in style today, for he walked everywhere he went. He picked cotton when he was 86 years old and believed in work and walking as "helping to keep my body resistance."

Mattie Colebank Back recalls the first school house built in the vicinity of what is now known as the Back Community. The one-room 12 x 14 building was built by the Owens, Colebank, and Shelton families. The cost was $100.00. The first teacher was Miss Fannie Womble. She was paid $25.00 and, in turn, paid five of this for board. There was only enough state money to pay her for three months, so the families made up enough to run a longer school for its seven pupils. Water was hauled from the Owens well, half a mile away. There was a common water-bucket and only one dipper.

Salaries had gone up some by 1912 when I taught the Back school for $65.00 a month and paid Mrs. S. A. Cobb and Mrs. Ella Cubine during the winter months $14.00 for board.

See you the fourth Sunday at the school cafeteria for another interesting meeting.

Veterans Administration physicians have performed about 250 of about 1,000 kidney transplants made in the United States since the first such operation was performed in 1952.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We enjoy getting the McLean News every week to keep us in touch with the folks back home. Would like to take this way to thank all the friends in McLean and Alanreed for letters, cards, gifts and the many prayers I know were offered for me while I was in the Hospital for 18 days for surgery on a broken hip bone and after I came home.

It helped me so much and brightened the days when I was blue and in pain. I am now able to use a wheelchair and a walker to hop along with. Will be November 1 before I can walk again. The people here have really been swell too. God bless each and every one of you.
